LISTEN TO LUKE

By Albert ---
This week we got quite upset when we read all the news allegations of possible shady or crooked deals by certain political leaders in the state. There are several unanswered questions yet to be answered - we hope. And until those questions are answered we will hold our decisions to ourself for a while, at least.

We realize that some politicians are subject to the temptations of using their influence in getting certain legislation passed, and/or just helping in some way some individual or group. But we wonder why so many have to be found guilty of yielding to that temptation.

The news from the capital in Austin is that certain officials in very high office made up to $175,000.00 without a penny's risk, or without spending a penny of their own money. This kind of "landfall" certainly has a stench of "foul play" to it.

We feel that there will be a full-scale investigation and if so we also hope that the right thing will be done following any investigation - that they will suffer the pains of trial by proper courts if they are indicted, and complete exoneration of any guilt if investigation indicates they are connected with no wrong-doing.

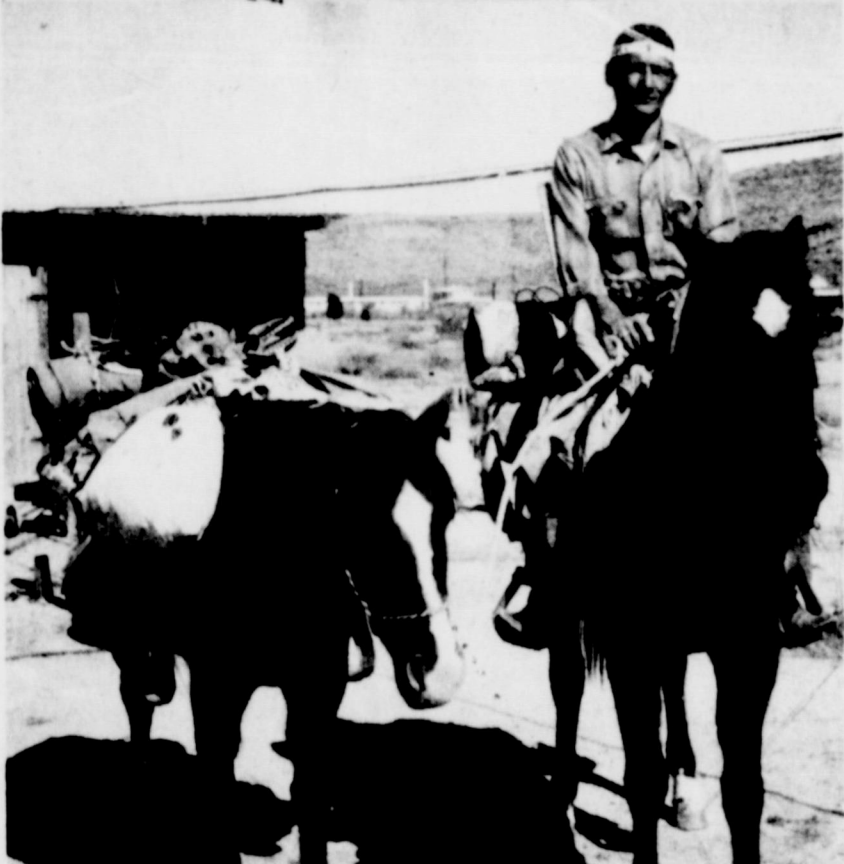

They stuck their necks way out any way you look at it, by placing themselves in a position to be criticized - something that even the youngest politician should not do.

Another thing that irked us is the fact that the legislative talk all concerns more taxes, more expenses, and not one word of cutting out something here or there. This is the case in the state and national government.

We would like to know that there is a concerted effort just once in a while to try to eliminate some waste and overlap and cutting of some costs of a few areas of government, even though there is to be an increase in some other areas.

And, on top of that, anotherirk came from the fact that the state legislature passed a welfare bill from beginning to end in about the time it takes from the writing of this column to the reading of it by you. We are reserving comments and opinions on the welfare bill for some more information about it, but suffice it to say that the passage of the bill shows that when the legislature gets ready to do something they can get it done without a lot of fall-de-rall (sp?) and have it on the desk of the governor for his consideration in jig-time. How about accomplishing other legislative chores with the same dispatch?

We have had some more response to the plea for pictures, but if you had planned to bring some down to us, don't delay, please, we will keep them, and while you have them ready is the best time to bring them in.

Bill Little Owl is pictured with his entire equipment for a planned trip "around the U. S. A." which began in Phoenix, Ariz., his home. He left there Nov. 20 and plans to be gone about two years, traveling by horseback, sleeping out of doors, and living off the land when and where he can. He said he was a full-blood Ottawa Indian and that he was going back in time about 100 years in his effort to make the longest horseback ride in history. He makes about 30 miles a day, but rests or visits where he likes as long as he likes, he said.

RANGLES SWEEP CLASS IN JUNIOR STOCK SHOW

The junior breeding show of the Pecos County Livestock Show, January 15 and 16, was swept by Tate and Suzane Randle who exhibited Rambouillet entries bred by Pat Rose III of Del Rio. Tate showed the champion ewe and Suzane, his older sister, showed the champion ram in the Rambouillet class and then won grand champion honors for both the ram and ewe in competition with other breeds. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Randle who ranch in Terrell and Pecos Counties.

JOE N. BROWN TRAPS LOBO WOLF

Joe N. Brown, who ranches west of Sanderson in Pecos County, trapped a large lobo wolf on his place on January 15. He has several good color pictures of the dead animal, but none would reproduce for the paper since they were in color.

The animal's head was donated to Sul Ross State University for mounting after they had identified it.

The exceptionally large animal was a male and Brown is now concerned of the whereabouts of the female.

Voter Registration Ends January 31

Mrs. A. J. Hahn, deputy tax assessor-collector, reminds citizens of Terrell County that voter registration deadline is January 31. Only 488 voters had registered by Monday and the normal voting strength of the county is around 700.

This year all 18, 19, 20-year-olds are eligible to register. Also those who will be 18 before March 1, 1972, may register. All 18-21-year-olds are eligible to vote in federal elections. This happens to be an "off year" but there is always the possibility of a special election to fill a vacancy and there is a school board and water board election set for the voters who register before January 31.

Mrs. Hahn has also advised local residents that her office is closed on Saturdays and registrations in person will have to be made not later than Friday. Registrations bearing a postmark of not later than January 31 will be accepted, she said.

Chili Supper To Be February 4

The Band Boosters are sponsoring a chili supper at St. James Hall Thursday, February 4, with serving from 5:00 to 7:00 p. m.

Children up to the 6th grade will be charged 75¢ per plate and all over that age will pay $1.25 per plate which will include chili, beans, pickles, onions, tea or coffee, crackers, and this year, tortillas have been added to the menu.

All of the bands will play at times during the supper and between band performances there will be a style show. The club has also made a collection of old pictures of the band to be on display in the hall.

Everyone in the community is urged to come out for the supper, entertainment and visiting.

Miss Mansfield Interred Tuesday

Miss Winnie Mansfield, 48, of Sanderson was pronounced dead on arrival at Brewster County Memorial Hospital in Alpine Saturday night after apparently suffering a heart attack. She became ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. T. She was taken to Alpine in the ambulance.

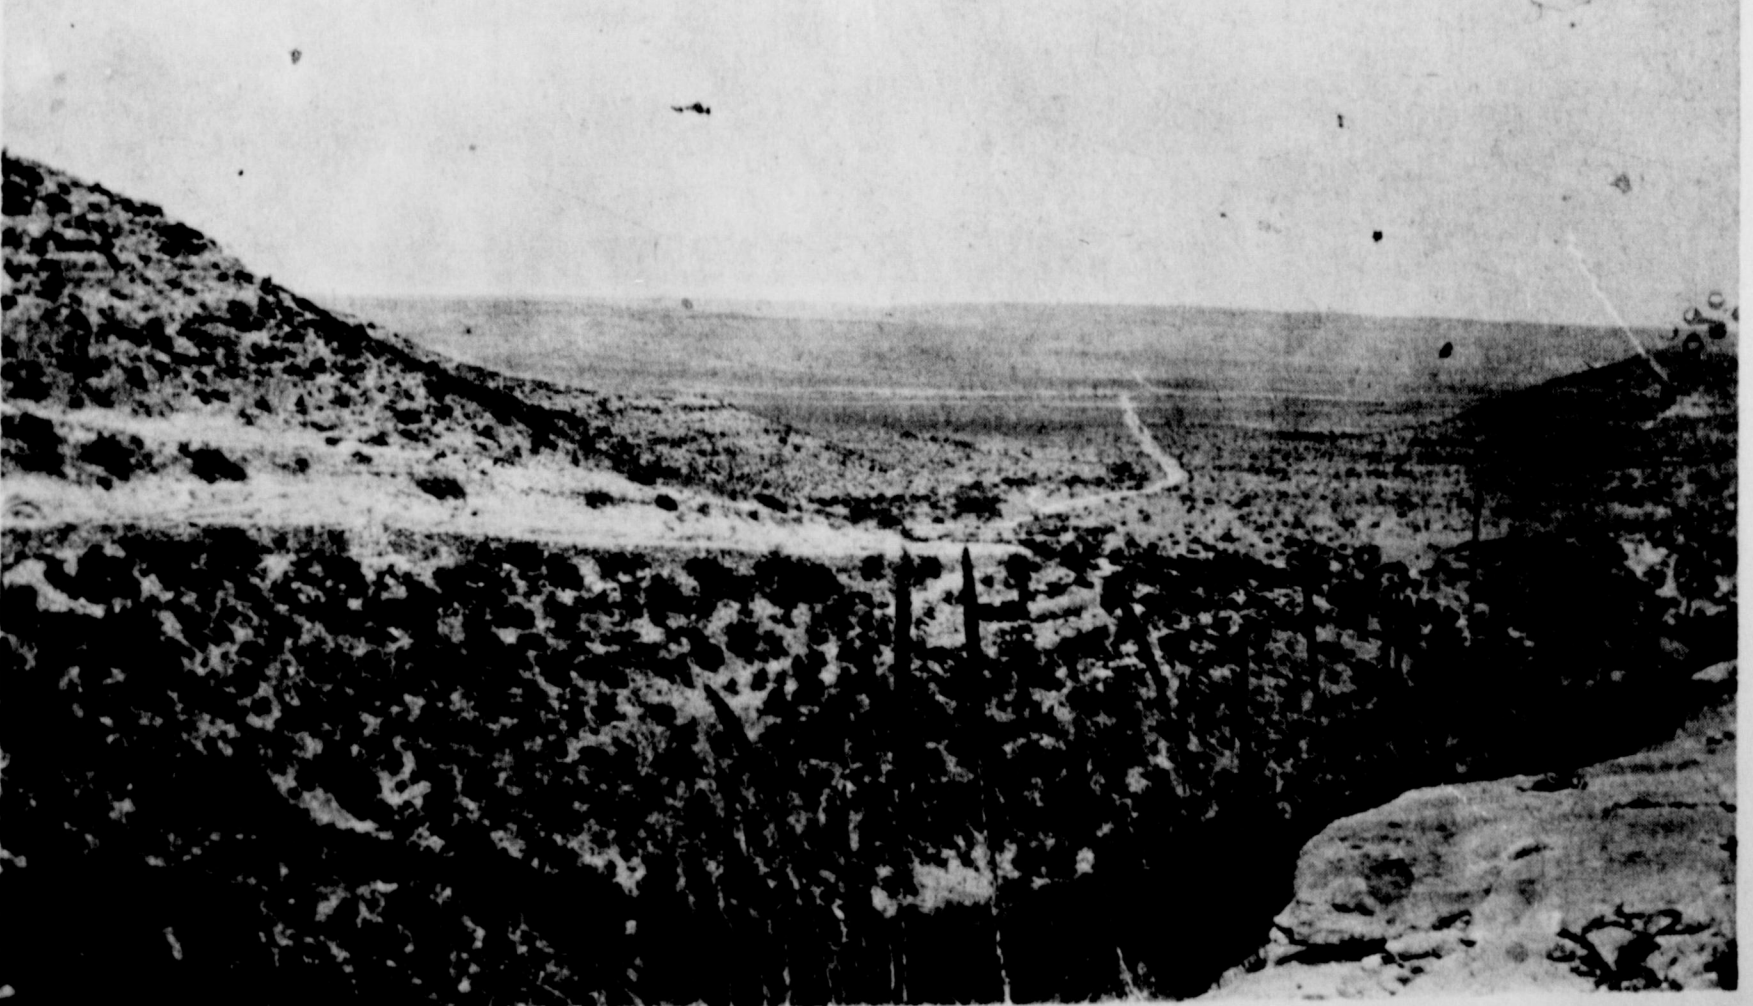

Funeral services were Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock with Rev. E. H. Carson, pastor, in charge of the services in the First Baptist Church here and the Geeslin Funeral Home of Alpine directing arrangements for burial in Cedar Grove Cemetery.

Miss Mansfield was born on December 13, 1922, in Sanderson, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mansfield. She had been a life-long resident of Sanderson and was a member of the Baptist Church and Woodmen of the World.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. Frazier, Mrs. J. W. Hooten of Del Rio, and Mrs. F. E. Cautrell of Andrews; three brothers, Francis Mansfield and J. A. Mansfield of Sanderson, and Henry Mansfield of Tyler.

The other half of the picture used last week is printed below and shows Big Hill with the road used by the Allens on their trip to town and the older road, the first road up the hill. The scene is looking north from the top of the hill north of Sanderson. A later road down the hill was alongside the two in the picture, and the current road down the hill is on the right of the header pictured in the area where the photographer was standing for the picture below. Mrs. E. W. Hardgrave of Abilene loaned us the picture.

Mr. Daniel Raymond Hodgkins ... was Miss Judy Riggs Double-ring marriage vows were exchanged on Saturday, January 16, between Miss Judy Riggs, daughter of Mrs. Mary Riggs of Bloomington, and Daniel Raymond Hodgkins, son of John R. Hodgkins of Sanderson and the late Mrs. Hodgkins. The Rev. Dan Solomon officiated at the ceremony at three o'clock in the afternoon in St. John's United Methodist Church in Corpus Christi. The bride chose a formal gown of candlelight white silk accented with English silk net and Alencon lace. The fitted princess silhouette of the gown had an inset yoke of the lace and net with the neckline edged in scalloped lace. The three-quarter length sleeves were fashioned of the lace and silk and edged with the scallops. Princess gores of silk fell from beneath the high inset yoke and widened into an A-line skirt. Scattered hand appliques of lace trellised on the gown and she wore a matching bandeau of Alencon lace holding a long veil of candlelight silk illusion forming a full-train effect in back. Miss Jayne Lamson of Harlingen was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Gingerich and Mrs. Mike Davidson both of Corpus Christi. They wore gowns of light turquoise velvet with high waists, gathered skirts and rounded necklines. Roy Butler of Houston was the best man and groomsmen were Arthur Settles of San Antonio and Steve Jones of Corpus Christi. Ushers were Richard and Johnny Hodgkins, brothers of the bridegroom.

At the reception which followed in the church fellowship hall, Mrs. Bill Shepp, of Portland, sister of the bridegroom, was at the bride's book to register the guests.

After returning from a short wedding trip, the couple is at home in Corpus Christi where she is employed as a teacher in the public schools and he is an accountant with a Corpus Christi firm.

The bride is a mid-term graduate of Texas A&I University, Kingsville, where she was a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority, Gold Jackets service organization, and Alpha Chi honor society. She is a Sanderson High School graduate.

The bridegroom, a graduate of the Sanderson High School and of Texas A&I University, was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, Intra-Fraternity Council and the Accounting Society.

Mr. Hodgkins and another son, Thomas J. Hodgkins of the USS Taluga also attended the wedding.

Linkletter Urges Parents To Learn About Drug Abuse

Art Linkletter looks to the young to turn off on drugs—by themselves.

Speaking at the 75th annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, the famed television star cited some of the more successful programs young people are promoting to fight drug abuse. Mr. Linkletter mentioned volunteer organizations whose teenage counselors give periodic lectures and aid students who need information and help. There should be more such organizations, he says.

Mr. Linkletter's speech before the NAM's membership was entitled "The Role of Business in Drug Control." He urged the industrial leaders to "become the leaders in the fight against drug abuse."

"There is no parent in the United States today of whatever power, wealth, fame, neighborhood, education or religion whose child is not in danger of being tempted to experiment with some kind of drug," he said.

How to solve this menace? Mr. Linkletter urges parents to find out all they can about drug abuse, and then to do everything they can to communicate with their children so that they can help them when necessary and exchange ideas before it is too late.

He makes a special plea to educators who, he says, are often the last to know what is going on in their schools. They, too, must face up to the problem and help eradicate it in the schools.

But it is to the youngsters themselves that he looks for the best solutions. They can turn it off just as easily as they can turn it on, he believes.
