LISTEN TO LUKE

By Albert---

Our friends have been so kind to ask about dad and if the printed report is the latest, and we are so very thankful for this interest. We are happy to report that his condition is a little improved. He is using a walker twice a day, using both the right hand and leg better, and saying some more words better and easier. His doings include laughing if the occasion warrants, picking up water glasses with his right hand, and more of his old self generally.

It is impossible to know the worth of friends, really, ever. But when one needs friends or realizes how nice it is to have friends, then we become aware of the need to try harder to cultivate friends and try harder to keep from making enemies.

These thoughts prompted us to think about the fact that if every person in the county was a good friend, we would have less than 2,000 friends, and of this number, there is not a one that can really be spared when it comes to a need. We had much rather our friends were to us as they would like for us to be to them, and we had rather be to them as we would like for them to be to us, but since there are people involved, there will always be the human element that reveals us to be untrue to ourselves as well as to others.

Maybe this will put it a little plainer as to what we mean: We don't know anyone who has so many friends that they can afford to make some of them unhappy and alienated.

We don't have that many!

Sanderson residents, sport fans, parents, school patrons, and friends of the young people in any and all ways, can well be proud of the accomplishments of all of them in many ways, and particularly of those who are swelling the ranks of the regional competitors in their respective sports or events.

Last week there was the announcement of the tennis players who would go to regional, this week we have the information about the girls' track team members - 8 out of 10 who will compete at the regional level, the boy trackmen who placed 1st or 2nd in the district meet, and the UIL literary events winners who will go to regional; and we already had the announcement of the journalism students who will compete at a higher level.

All in all, there are a bunch of the young people involved. And there were many more involved who failed to qualify for further competition, but put out a good effort and made someone else work harder in order to beat them. Most, if not all of the competitors who did not qualify for regional competition in at least one event are students who will have another shot at the sport next year and maybe the crown of victory will be theirs then.

N. M. Mitchell Jr. ... speaks to cattlemen

Terrell County rancher N. M. Mitchell Jr., chosen as one of a panel of nine top commercial cattle producers in the nation, spoke to 600 Polled Hereford breeders at the American Polled Hereford Association's 8th National "Pattern for Progress" Clinic at the University of Missouri in Columbia, April 5 and 6.

Speaking on the problems of the commercial cattle breeder, Mitchell said the industry needs an availability of good performance tested bulls in quantity in order to produce the beef today's consumers are demanding for their tables.

Central theme of the clinic was a study of the American Polled Hereford Association's new Superior Sire Program. This is a testing procedure to evaluate the ability of individual bulls to produce calves that will grow quickly and efficiently to a choice weight and grade, yielding a high percentage of their body weight in retail cuts.

The panelists agreed that the new "Superior Sire Program" was a major step forward in locating individuals in the breed with potential for outstanding performance, the first step in developing a better national beef cattle herd. They pointed out a great need for wider use of superior performing bulls.

Assembled in the ultramodern livestock facility on the University of Missouri campus before the largest crowd ever to attend an APHA Clinic a majority of the commercial cattlemen concluded that they have bought their last bulls of any breed that don't have complete performance records.

The meeting provided an opportunity for the purebred Polled Hereford breeder to look distinguished commercial cattlemen in the eye and discuss frankly and openly the part each segment of the beef cattle chain must play in achieving the goal of providing a maximum amount of high quality red meat in the short-

Sanderson Wool Prices Off Sharply

Market on West Texas 12-months and eight-months wool was off sharply and demand was poor here Wednesday of last week at the first 1971 sealed wool bid sale held at the Sanderson Wool Commission Co.

Although the wool clips were described as "clean and good quality" by buyers, when compared with prices payed here in 1969 and 1970 some of the qualities and types were off as much as 20-40 cents per pound on the 12-month wool and from 20-23 cents on the below prices of the 12-month clips.

Owners of wool companies and buyers from Boston, Mass., and the east coast and also from Texas attended the sale but only five buyers were purchasing the wool.

Top price paid for the 12-month wool was 22 and three-quarter cents per pound, grease basis, on a lot of 4,210 pounds. Most of the 12-month wool sold for 17-22 1/8 cents, with a total of 35,076 pounds bringing between 17-20 cents per pound, and a total of 73,258 pounds selling for prices 20 1/8 - 22 3/4 cents per pound.

This compares with the 1969 top price of 64 3/4 cents per pound paid for two lots and prices on 12-month wool ranging between 44 and 64 3/4 cents per pound.

The 1970 prices on 12-month wool range between 46 and 53 1/4 cents per pound.

Top price paid on 8-month wool was 21 1/8 cents per pound on a lot of 3,554. A total of 11,086 pounds sold between 20 1/8-20 1/4 cents per pound and 19,402 pounds sold between 15 and 18 1/2 cents per pound.

This compares with top prices on eight-month wool of 55 5/8 cents in 1969 with most of the wool selling between 50 and 55 5/8 cents per pound. The 1970 eight-month wool sold between 40 3/8 and 50 1/8 cents per pound. Top buyers at Wednesday's sale on 12-month

About one and one-half inches of rain fell in Sanderson Thursday night and Friday morning of last week, the first precipitation that had been recorded here since October of last year.

Up to three inches of rain was reported from some parts of the county, particularly the northwestern part of the county, and also in the far eastern part of the county.

The rain locally was in two separate showers, as was most of the rain that was reported, the first shower falling late in the afternoon and the second shower falling during the night and Friday morning.

There was little run-off reported from any of the rain in any part of the county.

All of the reports we have indicate that south of US90 the rains diminished considerably and few areas as much as five miles south of the highway received any appreciable amounts of moisture.

LISTEN TO LUKE

With the end of school drawing near for the three-months' vacation period, there will be more and more of the spotlight placed on the academics accomplishments of the students, particularly the students of the 8th and 12th grades, and of those two, particularly of those of the 12th grade graduates. And the trouble is, that it's usually the last month or days of the last year in high school when a student gets enough hindsight to say: "I'd like to start all over again!" With some of them, at least, there is the abiding regret that they might could have done better if they had tried, or if they had known how much it really meant.

And there is always that ever-abiding fact from then on at the end of every day - "I could probably have done better if I had tried, or if I realized how much it meant!"

Every once in a while something comes along that is worth boosting big in this column, and this week it is the TB X-ray unit that will be here Wednesday, April 28 on Oak St. at First, or nearby.

There is no charge for the X-ray and everything is to be gained and nothing lost. The X-ray sees many things, none of which are bad. If there is a spot on the chest cavity that shouldn't be there, it should be seen to, and the quicker the better. If there is a negative reading then all is well, indeed!

Urge your friends to get an X-ray. You could be doing them a big favor!

MRS. JOE LESLIE BROWN
...nee Debra Arledge

Miss Debra Louis Arledge became the bride of Joe Leslie Brown in a ceremony at the Ozona Church of Christ Friday, April 9.

Darrell Brawler, former minister of the Ozona Church of Christ, now of Del Rio, performed the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Arledge of Ozona and Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Brown of Sanderson.

Delicate loveliness was captured in the bride's gown of white imported pure silk organza over peau de soie and flourette designed Venetian lace. Tiny tucks enhanced with a row of lace created a bib effect and enhanced the sculptured empire bodice that featured a tucked Victorian neckline. The lace edged the collar and full bishop sleeves.

An elegant full-length chapel train flowed from the softly gathered silhouette and was also edged with the lace trim.

Butterfly petals of silk organza scattered with rhinestones and bridal pearls created the bride's headpiece and was attached to the bouffant veil of English illusion.

Serving her sister as maid of honor was Lara Sue Arledge and the bridesmaid was Bea Lea Somerville of Midland. Leanne Arledge, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

Best man was Randy Brown, brother of the groom. Kenny Waits of Uvalde was groomsman and Dennis Iley, George West, George Gries of Denison, and Dennis Rowland of Del Rio were ushers.

A reception followed the wedding at the home of the bride's parents. In the house-party were Mrs. Herman Knox, Mrs. Fred Hagelstein, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Watson, Mrs. T. W. Iley, Mrs. Frances Arledge, Mrs. Phillip Arledge, Mrs. Lewis Arledge, Mrs. Buster Deaton, Mrs. Al Mills, and Mrs. C. O. Walker.

After a wedding trip to Alpine and Fort Davis, the couple will be at home in Sanderson where the bridegroom is employed by the Southern Pacific Railroad. The Browns are living in the T. O. Moore Jr. mobile home.

The bride is a graduate of Ozona High School and has completed a secretarial course at Lubbock Christian College.

Her husband attended Southwest Texas Junior College at Uvalde and Sul Ross University in Alpine.

Mrs. Gene McSparren and son, Cliff, Mrs. E. McSparren, and Mrs. E. E. Farley attended the wedding.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Thursday night at a cafe in Ozona.

Parties honoring the bride in the days before the wedding included a kitchen shower, a gift tea, a pantry shower and rice bag party, and a luncheon.

BUICK BARGAIN DAYS ARE HERE

Buick Bargain Days are saving days.

A bargain price on a stripped-down car is no bargain. But a Buick or Opel at a bargain is something else again. Because we're not selling some special stripped-down model. We're selling Buicks and Opels, the same great cars we've sold all year.

With one difference. The deals have never been better. Which means that you can move out in a new Buick or Opel at a price that's hard to believe. When Buick talks about a bargain, we give you something to believe in.

Opel 1900 Sport Coupe. With a 1.9 liter engine that operates efficiently on low-lead or no-lead gasolines, hydraulic valve lifters for quiet engine operation, power front disc brakes and more.

Skylark Custom. With Buick's exclusive nickel-plated engine exhaust valves for smoother operation on today's cleaner fuels. Comfort-Flo ventilation system and more.

BUICK MOTOR DIVISION

Your Buick-Opel dealer will give you better reasons to buy a new car now than anybody else.

The business of auto safety.

Auto safety is everyone's concern. But it's our business.

And we think the attention that's being paid to auto safety now is a good thing. Because it will result in better driving for everyone.

And, frankly, better driving for everyone means better business for us.

We say Buick is something to believe in. That's why we're trying to make it easy to be safe by putting in safety features that work by themselves. You don't have to do anything to make them work.

Like side guard beams. And the energy absorbing steering column. And the cargo guard between the trunk and back seat. They start "working" even before you get in the car.

But two safety features, two of the most vital, are worthless unless you do something first.

Seat and shoulder belts. Unfastened they do nothing. And you've seen enough statistics to know what a difference they can make. So use them.

But that's not all you can do. Because the most effective safety feature of all can't be added to our cars or anybody else's.

That feature is you. And the way you drive.

Which should be defensively. And rested. And sober.

We're all in this together. And together we can solve the auto safety problem once and for all.

And the time is now.

EARTH WEEK - 1971

Is it possible to place our world into perspective? Adlai Stevenson said that "we travel together, passengers on a little spaceship, dependent on its vulnerable reserves of air and soil; all committed for our safety to its security and peace; preserved from annihilation only by the care, the work, and, I will say, the love we give our fragile craft. We cannot maintain it half fortunate, half miserable, half confident, half despairing, half slave to the ancient enemies of man, half free in a liberation of resources undreamed of until this day. No craft, no crew can travel safely with such vast contradictions. On their resolution depends the survival of us all!"

Books tell us of nearly forgotten civilizations in a land where most of us have never been. A man called Columbus was credited with the discovery of a new land that was called America. Its inhabitants were named Indians. Those people were dependant upon the earth and all that it contained. They themselves were products of the land. But times have changed since Columbus. And times have changed since Benjamin Franklin, Abraham Lincoln, and dozens of other builders of our civilization. Today, the attitude of "take what's mine" and disregard for the next fellow has led us in a new direction. Today, our perspective of life and nature's laws has changed. The earth is smaller now than it was a few decades ago. Man's own activities and expansion have made the difference. It is now possible to view this distant planet from 200,000 miles in space. We are told that the population of mankind is approaching three billion. Except for the few who visit the moon, our population is here to stay.

The physical sphere we call earth has not changed, however. We are still confined to a planet that has a fixed surface of approximately 200 million square miles. It is still 7,927 miles around the earth at its equator. And the supply of life-supporting materials is in a fixed proportion. The elements of our earth remain constant. In a sense, the earth's energy is rationed and distributed to living organisms through a complex web. Living organisms are depleting the earth's energy faster than new energy can be developed. Mankind has reached a point at which the earth's resources that support our way of life are beginning to become short. The finely tuned "web of life" already has begun to tear. Comparing our population to the size of the earth, it immediately becomes apparent that mankind is in trouble!

Man himself has grown so numerous that he has put an unbalancing strain on the strands of the web. At this stage in our population growth we must begin to understand the consequences of eliminating even one strand of our web. It is a vital necessity that we begin to realize the importance of the cyclic world in which we live. Because everything we do effects everything else. Many of the animals with comparable energy and material requirements have already been eliminated or seriously reduced. The great whales and large fish; major ungulates such as the bison; our fellow primates, such as the orangutans, chimpanzees, and gorillas; and predators whose competition is feared beyond reason, have been usurped by man.

We cannot destroy vast areas of plantlife, such as polluting our great lakes and seas where two-thirds of our plantlife exist in microscopic forms, and cementing over vast surfaces of our land, without destroying processes that give us the necessary oxygen we must breathe to survive. Americans cannot continue to consume more than our share of the world's food products without it gradually depleting energy so necessary in other places. Our population is increasing about one percent per year, while America's energy requirements are increasing at a rate of nine percent.

Where do we go from here? Many environmental specialists believe that it is already too late. But America's greatness has always been in that accomplishment of getting a job done when it really needs to be done. There is no question that here is a job that needs doing! If it is possible to place earth into any kind of perspective today, it is this. Education about environmental matters should be—must be—our highest priority!

A barbecue supper was given as a going-away party for Tommy Lowrance Thursday evening of last week. Lowrance has been stationed in Sanderson as a Texas Highway Patrolman for almost a year and is going into the armed forces the last of the month.

Local law enforcement officers and their wives were hosts for the supper and those attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Jack Riggs, Charles Stegall, Dudley Harrison, A. N. Clanton, Bill C. Cooksey, Dalton Hogg, F. D. Fisher, Ben Lockhart, A. J. Pagitt, H. P. Boyd, Bert Williams, Steve Young, A. J. Hahn, and Bill Querin and L. V. Smith; Texas Highway Patrol Sgt. and Mrs. Leon Roberts of Fort Stockton.

Credit Card Holders Told Of Liability When Their Cards Are Lost or Stolen

Credit card holders are not liable for any losses resulting from stolen or lost cards if they notify the issuer of such card before anything is charged, according to information received last week. This provision was stipulated in a law which was passed on January 24, 1971, according to the information received. Also included in the provision is the limit of liability at $50.00 even if the card is used before the holder notifies the company issuing the card that the card has been lost.

According to the information received, the law passed in 1970 which stipulated the liability of the courtesy card holder, stated that the issuing company must notify the holder of his liability and furnish the card holder with a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reporting a lost or stolen card, and that without such notification, the holder is not liable for any amount that is charged after his card is lost or stolen.

Many credit card holders, it is reported, are deciding to take the loss from stolen or lost cards rather than go to the expense of notifying the card holders of their rights and liabilities under the law. This is termed as a bonus for all card holders.

An attorney in the consumer credit division of the Federal Trade Commission, is reported as saying that noncompliance with the provision of notification is very widespread among the big credit card issuers.

It was also stated that some credit card issuers had recently been issuing cards with the wrong liability information on the back of the card.

The information received stipulated that it was the responsibility of the issuing institution to notify the credit card holder of their liability under the law - which would not exceed $50.00 under any circumstances - and that failure to do this cancelled any and all of the holder's liability for charges made on a lost or stolen card.

$519,157.54 - Record Received in Incentive Checks by County Ranchers

Terrell County sheep and goat ranchers were mailed drafts April 9 in the amount of $519,157.54 as production incentive for wool and mohair marketings during 1970.

The payment rates were the highest in the history of the program. 71 producers of shorn wool received $347,067.55 on 891,837 pounds of wool sold through normal trade channels. The rate of payment was 102.8%, the amount needed to bring the national average price up to the desired 72¢ per pound.

54 producers selling unshorn lambs received $56,896.48 on the sales of 4,112,846 pounds at the rate of $1.46 per hundredweight.

The above mentioned producers in addition paid $16,415.96 into the promotion fund administered by the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc. to promote the sale of wool and the improvement of the product through research. These funds amount to 1 1/2¢ per pound for shorn wool and 7 1/2¢ per hundredweight for unshorn lambs.

April 30 Deadline For Mohair Vote

Mohair producers have until April 30 to vote on a referendum on continuation of the promotion for mohair and mohair products during 1971-73. If producers vote approval, the U. S. Department of Agriculture will deduct up to 1 1/2 cents per pound from producer price-support payments for mohair promotion by the Mohair Council of America.

The vote will decide the fate of the mohair promotion program for the next three years. The referendum does not affect the mohair support payment which was extended by law through 1973.

If producers accept a proposed new agreement reached by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin and the Mohair Council of America, Inc. the Council will continue to use the payment deductions for advertising, promotion, and market development. The promotion program, authorized under the National Wool Act, was first approved in a 1967 referendum by 80% of the growers who voted.

The referendum is being conducted through the county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Any corporation, partnership or individual who owned Angora goats, 6 months old or older, for at least 30 consecutive days during 1970 may vote. The agreement requires approval by two-thirds of the total number of producers voting, or by producers accounting for two-thirds of the volume of mohair production represented by the vote.

Ballots have been mailed to all known mohair producers in Terrell County. Any one who thinks he meets the requirements but has not received a ballot should check with the county office in Alpine, Box 397, or call 915-837-2325.

To be counted, ballots must reach the county ASCS office by the close of business April 30, 1971.

The mohair rate was 105.1 percent of the growers' net proceeds from 1970 sales. The support price for mohair had been set at 80.2¢ per pound. Terrell County producers marketed 343,253 pounds of mohair in 1970.
