LISTEN TO LUKE

By Albert---
Somewhere last week between the accumulation of figures and the printing of the paper, there was an error of $1,000.00 on the price paid for the ambulance. The figure should have been $3,540.00. The other figures about costs of equipment came from commissioners' court records and published reports; and the figure about the total received came from Mrs. Litton, as reported in the story.

Many people do not bother to read forms, financial reports, and even news stories about things that do not interest them at the time, then later begin to express a great deal of interest in something that should have aroused their interest in the first place.

The fact that the federal government would hand Terrell County $61,119.00 within two years to spend within the limits of the law should be sufficient reason for many people to sit up and take notice.

This money belongs to the county the same as does tax revenue from other sources. And some of the other tax revenue, like the revenue sharing fund, is ear-marked for only certain causes, so it is not too different in all respects from other tax money. All tax money is restricted in its use to certain limitations, by law.

There are "Operating/Maintenance Expenditures" under which is listed eight categories; and "Capital Expenditures", under which is listed 10 categories, and three spaces for "other", and under any one of the categories, there probably is a lot of room, e.g. "Social Development".

We are making no inuendos, implied or misunderstood, that any of this money has been spent illegally or dishonestly. There have been some questions, and there should have been, or should be a lot of interest in this and in all other phases of our government and community life.

There were those, and maybe there are still those, who were opposed to receiving the money, but there are few who would look at the total figure received now and say that we should stop receiving it. And one thing that maybe would be real convincing of this fact is that on the form of planned use - the one last published - is a check in the box beside "will prevent increase in rate of a major tax".

It may be that all will not agree, but it seems that we should all have as much interest in how the money is spent as we have willingness to accept it. If there are only 4, or 18, or 29 people who are interested in how the money is spent, then those people are going to determine how it is spent.

At least, that's the way we look at it!

There are others who are expressing concern over the growing dog population here. And to boot that, we watched a talk show Friday that was

More Rain Falls During Past Week

More rain fell locally and in areas of the county during the past week.

Rain fell here Thursday afternoon of last week, a light shower fell Friday and another shower fell Sunday morning early, adding about one inch of rainfall to the total received during the year. The heaviest downpour of the three days mentioned above was on Thursday afternoon.

Up to about four inches of rainfall has been reported to have fallen in some parts of the county and may be generally considered to be in a band across the central part of the county. At least the heaviest reports of rainfall have come from this area, though some have fallen a little short of the four-inch maximum.

The Falcons formerly lived in Sanderson when he was employed on the railroad.

Information received indicated that the assailant came to the Falcon home and was threatening the deceased woman's daughter and Mrs. Falcon stepped between the assailant and the threatened.

It was also reported that the assailant had surrendered to police in Monahans and confessed the shooting.

Funeral services were unknown at this writing.

The Sanderson Eagles blasted their way over the Clint Lions there Friday night, also spoiling homecoming festivities for the host team. The score was 35-8.

Sanderson had two touchdowns in the first period, both by Carlos Munoz, one in the second period, also by Munoz, and two in the fourth period, the first on an intercepted pass and 70-yard run by Kendall Billings and the second a short run by Robert Kline.

Bill Mott added all the extra points on kicks. The Clint touchdown was in the fourth period and was on a short pass play.

Sanderson's win was also reflected in the statistics which showed the Eagles leading in first downs 23-12, yards rushing 276-37; passes completed, tried, and yardage, 3-14-33 to 12-20-158 for Clint. Each team had p interception, Sanderson lost 1 fumble and Clint 2. Eagles had 3 penalties for 17 yards and Clint 4 for 35.

Commissioners Promise Completion Of Redistricting Plans At Next Meeting

The Terrell County Commissioners' Court promised to have the lines drawn by the time of the next meeting to divide the county into four precincts equalizing the voters within the limits demanded by the law. The decision to go ahead with the redistricting followed some discussion on the subject by the commissioners at their regular meeting Monday of this week.

The discussion concerned feasibility of following section lines, or block lines, and natural boundaries, such as highways, railroads, etc., and efforts to keep ranch houses and the roads on that ranch in the same precinct.

The Times will publish a copy of the re-districted county as soon as it is available, so that voters will know in which precinct they will be voting in up-coming elections.

Other business conducted by the court included raising Justice of the Peace W.G. Shoemaker's salary from $150.00 per month to $200.00 per month; and he was also notified of the auditor's report and statement that the reports of the JP should exercise more care in the preparation of reports; raised the salary of the county treasurer, Mrs. Ginette Litton, from $221.55 per month to $271.55 per month; accepted minutes of the Texas Highway Department concerning construction of a surfaced highway on RM2886, which runs north from FM2400 north to US285 near Bakersfield, a routine bit of business, they also voted to allow the bills presented to the court.

Sheriff Dalton Hogg appeared before the court to ask for a water heater to be installed in the jury room on the second floor of the courthouse and connect the shower there for use by those who are kept in jail.

After some discussion, it was decided to turn over the purchase and installation of the water heater to James Caroline.

The report was given that there was nothing new in the flood control project for Sanderson Canyon.

Iraan Juniors Beat Little Eagles in Rain

The Iraan Braves junior high school team won over the Sanderson Eagles here Thursday of last week by a score of 12-8.

Sanderson threatened first, early in the game when they had the ball inside the 5-yard line, but the Iraan defense held and the Eagles tried for a field goal, which was no good.

During the early part of the second quarter, rain began falling, hampering the efforts of both teams. Iraan was able to cope with the falling rain and Eagle defense and pushed the ball across the goal line. Their second touchdown was in the third period and they were unable to convert either of the extra points.

Sanderson's touchdown was about one minute before the final buzzer and was a pass from Marvin Davis to Frankie Flores and good for about 50 yards and six points. Flores converted the extra points on a running play.

Coach Larry DeVasto will take the boys to Imperial Thursday of this week.

In 1912, Mrs. W.F. Bohlman, her daughter, Mary Ellen, and son, William Francis, had their picture made on some sort of vehicle. Mary Ellen has her hand on what looks like the bulb of a horn, possibly. She is now Mrs. John Simmang, and she loaned us the picture. The Bohlmans built the building now housing the drug store which then housed a confectionery, theatre, and upstairs was a hotel.

condemning the killing of unwanted dogs and cats and proclaiming their right to live, etc., etc. All of which is good and true, except their right to live does not include the right to deprive other animals of life.

The same as the fact that my rights do not include the taking of equal rights from others.

There are lots of things involved in this realm, and one of those things is plain old honesty. Most people think of honesty only as truthful or not stealing. Many shades of honesty come in the form of the lack of deception. To pick any single phase of life and say that this has nothing to do with anything else, is like saying my heartbeat has nothing to do with my depth-perception.

To say that all dogs have a right to live is an effort to deceive, also!

And that, too, is just an opinion.

Medicare Change Noted for Patrons

The social security beneficiary who receives his red, white, and blue Medicare card by mail need take no further action, according to Erven L. Fisher Jr., Social Security district manager in Odessa. The beneficiary will be entitled to both the hospital insurance (Part A) and medical insurance (Part B) of Medicare. He should cut out the card and put it in a safe place.

When a beneficiary reaches 65 or receives disability payments for 2 years, he is automatically entitled to the hospital insurance part of Medicare. Fisher explained that, under a recent change in the law, this individual is now also automatically enrolled in the medical insurance program. This is the part that helps with payment of doctors' bills among other medical services.

There is at present a $6.30 monthly premium for the medical insurance coverage. The beneficiary still may refuse this part of Medicare. In this event, he should complete the back of the card and drop the entire form in the mail. Another card will be sent showing hospital insurance only.

Beneficiaries who return the card to decline this medical insurance should be aware of what they are losing and also of the penalty for signing up late.

Part B of Medicare pays for medical services and supplies. Some of these are physicians' services, out-patient hospital services and other health and medical services prescribed by the doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. O.D. Gray visited in Iredell last Thursday with her father, R.L. Adkison, and other relatives and then went to Bay City for a weekend with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Gray.

Wedding vows were exchanged by Donald Ray Wilson and Alice Marie Goldwire at a formal wedding Saturday morning at 10:30 in the First Methodist Church. Rev. Richard White, pastor, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey (Bill) Goldwire and a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Goldwire, pioneer Terrell County ranchers. The bridegroom is the son of Harold Don Wilson of Denver City and Mrs. Ruth Wilson of Snyder, who was here for the wedding.

Tall white floor baskets filled with spider mums in autumn colors, white and pale yellow gladiolus and greenery and similar arrangements in white urns on the newel posts decorated the altar space with smilax banked on the altar rail. Spider mums were on the ends of the pews in the reserved section for the families. Potted mums were arranged across the front of the platform in the back of the sanctuary.

Mrs. W.H. Schooler of Big Lake, great-aunt of the bride, was the organist, playing appropriate selections and the traditional wedding marches.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of peau d'ange lace on dulcette satin with natural waistline and long fitted sleeves. Lace veiled the bodice and formed the high neckline above the sheer yoke. Lace re-embroidered in pearls trimmed the edge of her Juliet waist-length veil. She carried a white Bible topped with a cascade of white roses and later lifted from it a corsage to wear with her going-away costume.

Serving as the maid of honor was Miss Sheryl Stewart and the bridesmaids were Misses Debbie Fambrough of Sweetwater, and Janet Harrell and Jackie Bob Riggs. Miss Stewart's formal gown had a fitted bodice of lime satin with round neck and short sleeves and the skirt was of floral printed organza in autumn shades. The bridesmaids' gowns were identical only featuring gold color. They wore matching Dior bows in their hair and carried arm bouquets of spider mums in matching shades.

The best man was Jerry Knous of Big Spring and the groomsmen were Roy Mac Powell of Kerrville, Dennis Baird of Wichita Falls and Al Taylor of San Angelo.

The reception following the wedding was in the Legion Hall. Potted mums were on graduated shelves in front of the fireplace and arrangements of spider mums and gladiolus on the mantel and piano.

An ecru linen cloth covered the table where Mrs. Buck Dorsey of Ozona, a great-aunt of the bride, presided at the bride's book. Yellow and white flowers in champagne glasses tied with matching ribbons provided the decor.

The bride's table, laid with an ecru linen cutwork cloth, had a centerpiece of white daisy mums, roses, and gladiolus arranged with greenery in a silver bowl and it was flanked by white tapers in silver holders. The three-tiered bride's cake was an all-white confection decorated in yellow sugar-spun roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Continuing the colors of white and yellow, golden punch, mints, nuts, finger sandwiches, coffee, and champagne were served. "Don and Alice" was imprinted in gold on white napkins. Mrs. Schooler and the bride's sisters-in-law, Mrs. Ronnie Kight, served. Nine Changes In Texas Constitution Are Proposed

In the 97-year history of our state's Constitution a total of 334 amendments have been proposed. So far, 212 of them have been adopted by Texas voters.

Nine amendments will be on this fall's ballot.

The amendments contain the following provisions:

Amendment 1 provides for annual regular sessions of the Legislature and for an annual salary for legislators of $15,000 and a daily allowance of $18 when the Legislature is in session.

It would also provide for regular legislative sessions of 180 days during odd numbered years and of 60 days, mostly for budgeting matters, during even numbered years.

Amendment 2 would permit single adults, who otherwise qualify, to claim homestead protection of their property.

Amendment 3 would extend the $3,000 ad valorem tax exemption to the homesteads of unmarried adults.

Amendment 4 provides that cities and counties be given notice of and approval or disapproval of the creation of conservation and reclamation districts within or partially within their boundaries.

Amendment 5 would allow cities and counties bordering on the Gulf of Mexico to levy taxes for building sea walls and breakwaters if such projects are approved by a majority of the resident taxpayers.

Amendment 6 grants district courts the general jurisdiction of a probate court and authorizes the Legislature to adjust the jurisdiction of the courts in probate matters.

Amendment 7 provides authorization for the Veterans Land Board to extend its lending authority by $100 million.

Amendment 8 authorizes and requires cities and towns to levy ad valorem taxes sufficient to pay the principal and interest on their general obligations.

Amendment 9 allows the Legislature to exempt certain water supply corporations and cooperatives from the property tax on certain facilities.

Caterpillars Pose Threat to Pecans

Sanderson will probably be invaded next year and plagued with an epidemic.

The invaders are walnut caterpillars. Voracious, they defoliate walnut and pecan trees completely stripping them of their leaves. That in turn can ruin the crop for up to five years.

They begin as tiny eggs. Once hatched the battle is launched in three stages. The first attack generation springs into action in May. The first generation begins as small, reddish insects, barely visible.

They grow fast on the succulent pecan leaves and can consume up to ten times their own weight in a single day.

The second generation hatches some fifty days later. Their onslaught is a duplication of the initial attack.

Some fifty days after the second generation comes the third and final assault group. Unlike the first two generations who eat and perish, the third generation turns into full fledged caterpillars and grows to two inches long. Black and hairy, they devour whatever pecan tree, or if no pecan leaves are about, whatever suits their fancy.

Fortunately they are easy to kill. Malathion, Diazanone, Zolone or any other number of insecticides can exterminate the caterpillars, according to some growers.

They recommended Zolone, however. "It has a residual effect the others don't. That means it will last long enough to kill any that are missed on the initial spraying. Also it will destroy any late comers."

The tree should be covered and sprayed. A definite spraying program is best for producing the best crop. Most owners of individual trees in the city don't have yearly crops because they don't follow programs of fertilization and spraying. The trees should also be irrigated.

The trees should be sprayed in the early spring.

The early spring spray repels the advance guard of the first generation for the year. The last generation of foragers burrow into the ground in September and emerge early in the spring to lay the eggs that start the cycle of war all over again for the season.

Mrs. Lizzie Billings received word this week that her son, Luther Billings, of Dripping Springs, had suffered a mild heart attack and had been in an Austin hospital, but is improving.

Planned Grazing Helps Production

By Jerry Wenmohs
Soil Conservation Service
Work Unit Specialist

Rising operating costs are forcing livestock producers to develop more scientific management programs. Improving rangeland is a must if an increase in livestock production is to be realized.

Ranchers and range specialists are talking about "Planned Grazing Systems". A "planned grazing system" is a system in which two or more grazing units are rested from grazing in a planned sequence throughout the year or during the growing season of the key grass.

The purposes of a "planned grazing system" is to maintain or speed up improvement in plant cover while properly using the grass on all grazing units; to improve efficiency of grazing by uniformly using all parts of each grazing unit; and to insure a supply of forage throughout the grazing season and to improve or maintain the habitat for wildlife.

The most successful grazing systems are custom-made to fit the ranches where they are used. But they all have two things in common. They must be flexible enough to be adjusted as changes occur. And they are based on certain basic principles.

The system must fit the operation the system. The person making the management decisions for operating a ranch must work at developing a grazing system that meets his satisfaction. Then he should give the system a fair trial, and adjust when he sees the need.

The stocking rate must fit the range. If the rate is too high at the start, deferring certain pastures will only put more pressure on the pastures that are grazed. If the stocking rate, including wildlife, is correct at the start, livestock numbers need not be reduced.

The animals must be right for the forage. All forage should be grazed uniformly, so that no one plant species benefits more than another. This may require use of several kinds or classes of animals depending on their grazing habit and hustling ability. Woody species benefit as much from deferment as grasses and forbs.

Grazing periods must be keyed to the major plant species. Different plants have different growth habits. A planned grazing system is tailored to encourage growth of the major species on the range.

A well-balanced livestock operation requires careful livestock husbandry; it requires equally careful management of the grass. The ranch that is not given good care cannot provide a good livelihood for the operator.

Miss Rosalie Kerr, who is a student at Texas Tech University, visited here last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kerr, and family.
