It Depends on How You Look At It!

Things happen daily that we do not understand, so we try to restrict our admissions of not understanding to the items that we do not understand the most - or is it the least!

The lack of understanding is the news about the work of committee that has been investigating the possible impeachment of the president and the fact that they fired the Republicans' counsel and got a new one because the old one was not representing the GOP to their satisfaction. And another bone of contention is that some of the members of that committee and of the House - if and when it comes to a vote - are expected to follow party lines in their vote!

It was our understanding all the time that the committee headed by Rodino was similar to a grand jury in that they were to ascertain if there was or was not sufficient evidence in their opinion to impeach (another word is "charge", or maybe even "indict").

What we don't understand is how could party lines be followed in a fair decision of this nature?

We know that individuals or personalities enter into the picture at the time of investigations or hearings or grand jury meetings - sometimes - but we put this under the same title of "unfairness" as the impeachment considerations.

Man's unfair treatment of other men crops up in some of the most strange places and at some of the most strange times that one often wonders if people realize - in their observances from the outside - that both the offender and offended belong to the same order of species.

What kind of a world would we have if we treated every person as well as we now treat a select few of our best friends?

And treatment of our best friends can and should be in criticism at times, or outright condemnation or punishment at times. "Friendship" to some people means "don't ever oppose me, regardless of what I do". But this is "friendship" according to the strict egotist!

The examples of the greatest love in history show love associated with correction, reproof, condemnation, and then forgiveness.

At least that's the way it looks to me:

Dad recently received a nice pin and certificate denoting 50 years of membership in the International Typographical Union - the oldest labor organization in the U.S. The benefits of that organization have been far greater than the presentation of the pin and certificate, but it was nice of them to send the two

Local Baptists Plan New Church

The congregation of the First Baptist Church of Sanderson approved the initiation of a building program for the church at a meeting Sunday morning, according to Rev. Paul Tatum, pastor.

Rev. Tatum stated that the congregation decided to raze the present building and nursery and rebuild on the present site, possibly extending the building to an L-shape north from the present nursery and double-garage site, having all the building on ground level.

Rev. Tatum stated that a denominational architect will be contacted immediately to come to Sanderson, appraise the situation, needs, and desires of the group and present plans and specifications for the building for approval by the local congregation.

The type of material, design, etc., will all be approved after considering alternatives, costs, etc., at subsequent congregation meetings, the pastor stated.

Rev. Tatum stated that most all of, if not all of the financial needs for the building are in savings accounts and the congregation expects no problems in financing any remaining indebtedness that may be involved in the building.

Rev. Tatum stated that the congregation anticipates an expenditure of some figure "in the neighborhood of $100,000.00", and hopes to have the plans completed ready to let a contract by January 1, 1975.

items of recognition. Mother took them over to Fort Stockton on a recent visit and showed them to him, but there was little or no significance of appreciation in his reaction. This is not to belittle his appreciation of former years of normal mental reactions, but to reflect the deterioration of his mental processes. His ITU membership was something that he was proud to show and claim. But at the time referred to above, he was just unable to grasp any thoughts of recognition or displaying the significance.

We are sharing our pleasure for his having received these awards, as well as sharing something much more intimate, also, with understanding friends.

Mother wrote a letter to each of our congressmen in Washington about the lack of mail service in and out of Sanderson. She has received an answer to three of the letters, stating that the recipient was concerned and looking into ways and means of getting the facts concerning the same to the proper authorities for investigation, and hopefully, remedies. She said she got "steamed up" and wrote them after deciding that unless some voices were heard, no one would ever know what our situation was, and that we were unhappy with it.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

TIN, Tex. — Oklahoma temporarily stopped movement of Texas cattle into the neighboring state due to an outbreak of dread anthrax in the County.

About 200 animal carcasses have been burned in the county since the anthrax quarantine was imposed on 28. The quarantine covers only that portion of the county east of the Brazos River.

USDA spokesman said "suspected" cases were discovered in surrounding Texas counties and in an Oklahoma stockyard.

Animal Health Commission officials recommended continued vaccination of cattle in Falls, McLennan, Leon,estone, Robertson, Bell,am, and Limestone counties. They were optimistic about control of the outbreak.

Oklahoma first placed an embargo on Texas cattle, limited it to movement in the eight counties.

About 300,000 cattle were scheduled for vaccination in the Central Texas area, and only 250,000 doses of the vaccine were initially available.

An estimated 110,000 head of animals were in the quarantined zone. Forty-one roadblocks were established to prohibit movement.

Texas National Guard, the Department of Public Safety and the State Department of Agriculture assisted in efforts to control spread of the disease.

ALLOWABLE SET — The Railroad Commission once more set the statewide oil allowable at 100 per cent, amid reports Texas is leading all other states in the search for oil and gas.

Texas has been operating under wide-open production orders for more than two years.

Commission Chairman Jim Langdon said the agency has handled 10,600 drilling applications this year, compared to 6,600 by July of 1973. The number of drilling rigs has increased 42 per cent from a year ago — to 511 on location — twice as many as any other states, according to Langdon.

Thirty five percent of active rigs in the national are in Texas, by Langdon's count.

CONVENTION NEARS END — Whether delegates ever agree on a new state constitution or not, the Constitutional Convention of 1974 is about to wind down.

July 30 is the deadline for completion of the revision effort.

Delegates continued in pursuit of illusive compromise, voting down proposal after proposal, yet knowing that by the end of the month they probably would accept a revision package, like it or not.

ABC ADMINISTRATOR RETAINED — Alcoholic Beverage Commission Administrator O.N. "Newt" Humphreys Jr. weathered another effort to oust him from his $28,500-a-year job.

ABC Member R.L. Thornton Jr. of Dallas, for the second time, failed to get a second to a motion to fire Humphreys. Thornton made his first move last May.

Thus, Humphreys, 50, got a shaky two - to - one vote of confidence.

Thornton claims Humphreys is not as competent an administrator as he should be to head up a major tax-collecting and enforcement agency.

Humphreys said he will stick as long as he can.

COURTS SPEAK — Fuller Springs area annexation by Lufkin is invalid, the State Supreme Court held.

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a theft conviction of a Dallas man accused of stealing a blinker light from a construction site.

The Supreme Court upheld an $18,000 damage award to a Farmer County man injured when he fell while delivering oil.

BONDS SOLD — Fifteen million dollars in student loan bonds were sold by the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System in spite of a member's advice to delay.

An interest rate of 6.2841 per cent offered by a Chase Manhattan Bank and First National Bank of Chicago group was accepted.

Bonds will mature in 20 years, with net interest calculated at $14,229,740.

Students will be charged seven per cent simple interest to borrow money from the loan fund. An estimated 18,000 students will apply for about $24 million in aid during the coming school year.

More than $160.5 million in student loan bonds have been sold since 1965.

REFUNDS WAITING — Some 18,500 South Texas area residents have undelivered income tax refunds awaiting them for 1972 and 1973.

Most of the taxpayers moved without leaving a forwarding address.

Internal Revenue Service urged taxpayers who think they may have money coming to them to contact IRS immediately.

The checks will be cancelled after October 1.

AG OPINIONS — Atty. Gen. John Hill, in a controversial opinion, held the State Board of Insurance has no regulatory power over prepaid health care delivery systems (HMO'S).

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- A Constitutional Convention delegate may be reimbursed for actual expense in chartering an airplane for an official trip if that means of transportation is reasonably necessary.

- Long Distance telephone calls by legislators charged to contingent expense accounts are public information.

- A county may assume responsibility for maintaining city streets which form an integral part of the county or state road system, and a city may agree to pay a representative portion of costs incurred.

- A district court cannot designate the county attorney as registry of the court to receive child support payments.

THOUGHTS

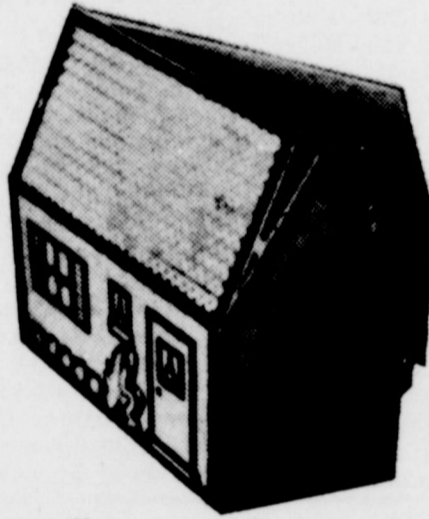

From The Living Bible

Some believed, and some didn't. But after they had argued back and forth among themselves, they left with this final word from Paul ringing in their ears: "The Holy Spirit was right when he said through Isaiah the prophet, 'Say to the Jews, 'You will hear and see but not understand, for your hearts are too fat and your ears don't listen and you have closed your eyes against understanding, for you don't want to see and hear and understand and turn to me to heal you.'" to save money and energy when building a home

10 TIPS...

A substantial energy and money savings can be achieved by more efficient home design, construction and operation. Therefore, Community Public Service Company offers these suggestions to help you plan your new home for economy and energy conservation.

1. Install tight-fitting dampers in fireplace flues.
2. Seal all openings between unfinished attics and conditioned spaces, including cracks around attic doors.
3. Insulate exterior walls and ceilings.
4. Provide adequate ventilation in attics to lessen solar heat gains.
5. Consider having fewer and smaller windows since much heating and cooling waste occurs at windows and doors.
6. Roof with light-colored materials to reflect the sun.
7. Insulate hot water pipes to lessen heat loss.
8. Preserve as many trees as practical during site preparation. Trees screen the sun's rays to lower summertime heat gains.
9. Choose fluorescent lighting fixtures where possible since they're more efficient than incandescent.
10. Consider using an electric heat pump. It delivers more heat output than the energy it uses.

Diocese Plans Catholic Deacons

Deacons in the Catholic Church in this west Texas diocese of San Angelo may become a reality within the next two years.

The Most Reverend Stephen A. Leven has announced plans for the ordination of deacons for this Catholic Diocese of San Angelo. A two-year training program prior to ordination of the candidates will be required.

The restoration of the permanent diaconate, which had become only a stepping stone for men on the way toward the priesthood, was restored as a permanent office by Pope Paul VI in 1967. Since then many bishops in the nation have initiated the diaconate in their dioceses and some areas have already ordained men in this order of service.

The Order of Deacon may be conferred on men, married or unmarried, who are 35-years of age at the time of ordination. Deacons will be required to remain unmarried and to remain unmarried should they be single at the time of ordination.

The deacons will be ordained to do those functions usually performed by a priest with the exception of saying Mass, hearing confessions and administering the Sacrament of the Sick.

Working in parishes with their pastors, deacons in this diocese will perform in ministries of liturgy, charity, teaching, administration and many other services.

In small, rural areas or in mission communities where a priest is not in residence, the deacon may act as the spiritual leader of the community.

In other parishes he may assist the pastor in whatever needs exist. He may conduct religious education classes, visit the sick, conduct marriage instruction for those contemplating marriage, assist with the administration of the parish or do any number of things now performed by the priest. He may also officiate at funerals, marriages, baptisms, and may preach.

The Commission for the Permanent Diaconate for the Diocese of San Angelo is headed by the Very Reverend Timothy J. Murphy, San Angelo. Mr. Callan Graham of Junction is Executive Director of the Commission. Reverend Russell Schultz of Menard is chairman of the Academic Committee operating under the commission. Others from throughout the diocese form the body of the commission.

DICK McDONALD WRITES STORY FOR 'OLD WEST'

The Fall 1974 issue of "Old West" published in Austin by Western Publication, Inc. carries a story about this area entitled "River Rider", by Dick McDonald, a former Sanderson resident. This magazine has national distribution, as well as many readers in foreign countries. It is devoted to the life and times of the frontier days in this country. Copies are available on local newsstands or by order from Austin at 60¢ per copy pp.-- Western Publications, Inc., P. O. Box 3338, Austin, Tx. 78764.

Training is expected to cover a two year span. Facilities located at the former Catholic High School in Abilene will be used to provide housing and classrooms for intensive weekend training for the candidates once a month. During summer, special, two-week sessions will be held.

"A high school education is desired for the candidates," said Father Murphy, "but final selection of the candidate will depend upon the individual talents and abilities rather than his academic background."

Those interested in the program must submit their names to the Commission as soon as possible. A meeting of all those interested will be scheduled in August where formal applications will be distributed to those desiring enrollment.

COMMENTARY ON THE HOLY SCRIPTURES

LEVITICUS
A thorough understanding and genuine acceptance of the book of Leviticus will do much to produce a true piety in one's life, perhaps more than the reading of any other book in the Bible. It is a book describing the religious ritual and significance of sacrifice. Its theme is stated in verse 20:26: "You shall be holy to me; for I the Lord am holy, and have separated you from the people, that you should be mine." The people of God are admonished to consecrate themselves and to be holy.

The essence and meaning of sacrifice is the returning of life to God who made it and who alone is life's rightful owner. The idea which undergirds sacrifice is that all life belongs to God. Sacrifice is the return and consecration of life to God, its creator. The beginning of a right understanding of sacrifice lies with the sacrificial animal and its blood, which is poured on the altar. "For the life of the flesh is in the blood..." (17:11) -- the Hebrew saw life to belong to God, and he saw that life to be in the blood; therefore, he returned life to its rightful owner by pouring the blood out upon the altar of God. Man has no right to take for himself that which belongs to God.

All slaughter of livestock was an act of sacrifice because the life of the food which the Jew ate belonged to God. In sacrifice the Jewish person returned the life blood to its creator, thanking him for sustenance. This is the first point for understanding sacrifice. But the understanding goes to a far deeper and profound level. As the life of an animal belongs to God, so does the life of man who was created by God. The deepest meaning of sacrifice on the part of man is the return of his own life to God who gave it. That return is done by the consecration of one's life to God. The life of the animal slaughtered at the altar of God was the symbol for one's own life sacrificed to God. The pouring out of the blood on the altar was the symbol for the pouring out of one's own life for God.

In the act of sacrifice the person was to lay his hand on the head of the sacrificial animal (4:4). "Whatever touches its flesh shall be holy..." (6:27) By placing himself in contact with the consecrated animal, the person was also consecrated to be holy.

The act of sacrifice, the act of returning life to God, is necessary because man has separated himself from God by his sin. A sacrifice is the atonement for sin; it is the re-uniting of one's relationship with God after that relationship has been broken by sin. But note this: Leviticus discusses sacrifice for unwitting sin. "If anyone sins unwittingly in any of the things which the Lord has commanded not to be done..." (4:2) -- from this example you will see that the writer of Leviticus had not thought of a man knowingly and intentionally committing sin against God. Such a thing was unthinkable. It is for the sins that one commits unknowingly and unintentionally that Leviticus is concerned. Once a man of God learns that he has done wrong he will want to reconsecrate himself to God through sacrifice.

Make the application today. First, if you are one of God's people you will not sin against him intentionally. And you will want in all instances to dedicate your life to God and to his kingdom. The offering that you make at worship service is a symbol for your while life given over to God. Admittedly, this worship and sacrifice is costly and at times difficult. But we are to do it nonetheless. "...you shall afflict yourselves and present an offering...to the Lord" (23:27). And know this, worship pleases God. If you have ever questioned worship, be assured by the fact that Leviticus states that worship and sacrifice are pleasing to the Lord.

Sacrifice is the atonement for sin. With sacrifice there was forgiveness. When the sacrificial animal was burned its ashes were taken outside the city (4:12), as a symbol that our sins are removed from us. As far as the East is from the West, as high as the heavens are above the earth, so far will God remove our transgressions from us. The best illustration is found in the symbol of the scapegoat, described in chapter 16. On the Day of Atonement, the priest sacrificed two animals, the one was killed and its blood poured on the altar as a symbol for dedication to God, the other was led out into the wilderness. This latter animal lived, to walk off into the wilderness, first as a symbol that the sins of the people were carried away from them, but also as a constant reminder that the forgiven person must now live. He must live with his life dedicated to God.

The religious ritual of sacrifice was a symbol for the giving of one's life to God. That gift needs a practical form. "I am the Lord your God, who have separated you from the peoples. You shall therefore make a distinction..." (20:24-25). In broad application the meaning of this statement is that there must be a distinction between God's people and the common man. Yes, there is a difference between God's people and other people. They treat God differently and they are treated by God differently. The book of Leviticus gives much attention to the function of the priest. One major function of the priest is to teach his people the distinction in conduct between God's people and the other peoples of the world.

God's people avoid sin. When they unwittingly fall into sin they seek forgiveness by the reconsecration of their lives. The major arena of sin and of righteousness is one's relationship with other people. The phrase in Leviticus 6:1, "if any one sins and commits a breach of faith against the Lord by deceiving his neighbor..." shows that we sin against God in the wrong that we do to other people. Again, "You shall not hate your brother in your heart..." (19:17). And, "...you shall love your neighbor as yourself" (19:18). This is the great commandment for God's people.

Of course, you realize from this last statement that Jesus Christ knew the book of Leviticus very well and that he taught from it. More than that, Jesus lived the faith described in Leviticus. He gave his life completely to God. He even poured out his blood as the sacrifice for our sins. By our contact with him we become holy and are separated from all the people of the world to be a distinct people consecrated to God. "You shall be holy to me; for I the Lord am holy, and have separated you from the people, that you shall be mine."

Mrs. J.A. Gilbreath spent several days in a Fort Stockton hospital during the past week for treatment of a stomach disorder.

"Families used to be considered shiftless if they lived from payday to payday. Now they wish they could." -- Fred W. Grown, The Bergén (N. J.) Citizen.
