It Depends on How You Look At It!

The time is drawing closer for the arrival of Dr. Michael P. Longley and people in the county are looking forward to his arrival and all of the advantages that will result. The plans are being worked out for his occupancy of the Trans-Terrell Medical Center Building and for Dr. Jerome F. Svajda, D.D.S. to continue his practice of dentistry there also.

Alfred Greenleaf Tennyson, or some other famous poet, once wrote: "O, what tangled webs we weave, when first we practice to deceive".

It would be difficult for us, in our limited knowledge of history (we spent most of the time learning authors' names) to find a time when there was a greater waste of men, time, money, talent, and lives, than that which resulted from the useless, silly, needless, illegal break-in of the Watergate offices of the Democratic Party and the resultant efforts to then cover the crime by the use of the highest office in the land.

The entire fiasco, with all of the interpretations and opinions about who, what, why, where, and how, only proved again that people usually disapprove of deceit, illegality, continued misjudgments, and unconcern for the truth of honesty, and the rights of others.

It also proved that no man is above the law, that no man has the power to say who is to be punished by the law.

We are glad to have a new tenant in the White House and hope and pray for the wisest and best decisions possible by him.

We appreciated the remarks of those who expressed similar sentiments to ours about keeping Sanderson and Terrell County as clean and free of bad influences as possible. If some people don't have the "what it takes" to resist the temptations of things like drugs, then nothing should deter us in our efforts to remove the temptations.

All of Sanderson and Terrell County is elated to know that the mail truck has been re-instated from Dryden to Sanderson every day except Sunday. Since the arrangement is temporary - as most all government arrangements are - the service may be resumed on Sunday. And it may be cut off on Saturday - or the other days. But at least it's on now for six days.

There are differences of opinion as to how the service was re-initiated or by whose influence. If anyone gets any pleasure in claiming that accomplishment, let them do it; but we KNOW who was responsible!

Truck Resumes Sanderson-Dryden Mail Delivery

The truck delivering mail from Dryden to Sanderson was re-instated as a regular run every day except Sunday recently by postal officials in the eastern zone. The first run of the truck was Wednesday of last week.

Service had been halted between Sanderson and Dryden by the truck, thus breaking the link of delivery of mail between the two Terrell County towns and necessitating the re-routing of all east-bound mail westward to El Paso, then sent eastward. By the same reversal of direction of mail flow, all mail from the east was going to El Paso before coming to Sanderson. Thus, mail to Dryden, Pumpville, Langtry, Comstock, Del Rio, etc., was going to El Paso, then to San Antonio and westward to its destination, usually taking at least three days.

Local residents and residents of Dryden were happy over the reinstatement of the service for the six days and the rapid flow of mail into the two towns in the more-direct routing and delivery process.

Commissioners Order Seal-Coat, Set Voting Sites

The Terrell County Commissioners Court met Monday morning at the court house in regular session. County Judge R.S. Wilkinson, W.W. Suduth, Austin Chriesman, and David Mitchell were present. The last three named are commissioners of precincts 1, 2, and 3, respectively.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved, then the bills were read and they were allowed and ordered paid after a vote by the group.

Judge Wilkinson stated that $77,000 was on hand in the Permanent School Fund and it was ordered that this money be invested in U.S. Treasury Bonds and that until further action by the court, that upon accumulation of $10,000, the money be invested immediately in the same way.

After some discussion about the general election in November, it was decided to name the existing commissioners' precincts as the election precincts for that election, with James Caroline, Lewis James, Monty Harkins, and Mrs. James Cooper the election judges for precincts 1-4 respectively. The voting places were specifically named as: court house for precinct 1; for Precinct 2 the old store building on the northeast corner of the intersection of Fifth and Pine Streets; precinct 3 at the elementary school; and precinct 4 in the band hall. All the voting places are those used at the last election held in the county. It was noted in the discussion that a separate voting box could not be set up within a voting precinct for less than 100 voters, and that voting precincts could not cross commissioner

Heavy Rain Falls In Dryden Area

Heavy rains fell in the Dryden area early Sunday morning, with as much as five inches reported in some gauges. There was considerable damage reported from the run-off.

Water was over US 90, causing a truck loaded with plums to miss the topping on a curve. Another truck had to come out to transfer the load, as the stuck truck could not be extricated with available equipment.

The highway north of Dryden, toward Sheffield was under water just out of Dryden, halting traffic over that road.

Rainfall up to two inches was reported in some gauges more in the vicinity of Sanderson. North of Sanderson, Downie Draw ran big from rains to the west from there. Some ranchers that had reported little or no rain before the weekend reported some rainfall Saturday night.

Sanderson Canyon ran Monday morning, but was contained within its banks.

Mrs. W.H. Choice and children, Billy and Cindy, of Houston arrived Wednesday of last week to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jolly Harkins.

The 4th grade of Sanderson Elementary School in 1940-41 was taught by Miss Anita Harrison, in the back of the group. On the front row are: Beverly Thorn, Evelyn Netherlin, Margaret Newton, Ruth Ann Kelly, Ernestine Jessup, Lizziebell Phillips, Joann Lemons, LaVerne McDonald, Emma Jo Locke; 2nd row: Jimmy Clyde Carter, Cy Banner, Jack Harrell, Frank Harrell, Bart Calwell, Billy McDonald. 3rd row: Bobby Neil Morris, Walter Lee Carruthers, Jimmy Harris, Wade McDonald.

able to ascertain - covered that part of Terrell County that was not benefitted in the earlier days of last week. And there was a repetitive coverage of parts of the county, but no one received rain that did not need it.

It was interesting to hear the discussion about "unitizing" county equipment at the commissioners' court meeting Monday morning. If the commissioners were to adopt that method of operation, among other things, it would put all of the equipment under the supervision of one person or the group as a whole, rather than having a maintainer and loader, etc., in each precinct for use when needed or when operators were available. The system is used in some neighboring counties and other of our neighbors do not use it. Some have tried it, or are trying it, and some have not tried it.

It would be our opinion that just because some have or have not tried it, means only that fact. It does not mean that it would or would not work in Terrell County. But one could hardly say that it could not possibly work until after four commissioners and a bunch of residents had tried real hard to make it work and failed to do so.

We know from bitter and sad experience that we have wanted things done a certain way and by a certain time, and it was not done sometimes that way and sometimes not by a certain time, and sometimes it was not done at all! And we know, also, that our needs are the most important needs of all. The only trouble was, we had trouble making someone else look at it the same way we did!

precinct lines. Plans are also underway to name a deputy county clerk to take absentee votes at Dryden and at the El Paso Natural Gas Co. plant.

The court passed an order calling for bids for the seal-coating of approximately eight miles of local streets and double-shooting about one mile of new topping. It was noted that persons who want topping applied to their private property - not a part of the 20-foot wide street - are asked to contact their commissioner for details of possible cost and to let their wishes be known so that the contractor may possibly be able to do the work at the time that the other seal-coating is done.

Following a lengthy discussion of the need for a loader in precinct 3, and the possible conversion to the unit system in the county, the court was told by County Attorney Jack Hayre that they could not order bids on a loader at this meeting, as the business had not been named specifically in the official notice of the meeting and agenda of business to be discussed. A decision on the loader was tabled to a subsequent meeting. The court received a notice from the State of Texas that there was $19,000 surplus in the lateral road fund that could be refunded to Terrell County, and the court ordered the request made for the refund.

The Sanderson State Bank had offered the use of the shed in back of the building as a parking place for Terrell County's ambulance, and also offered one of the rooms on the back of the building as a supply and store room for the ambulance. Sheriff Dalton Hogg recommended the acceptance of the offer of the parking area and stated that in his opinion, the arrangement offered by the bank was sufficient for the needs at the present.

There was some discussion about the food for prisoners in the Terrell County Jail on weekends, following a report by Sheriff Hogg and he was asked by the court to relay the information to the contractor.

A motion was passed by the court authorizing Mrs. T.O. Moore to serve as office deputy trainee in the office of the sheriff, tax assessor-collector and the pay was set at $2 per hour during the training period.

Other than those mentioned above as present, visitors included LeBaron Smith, Dudley Harrison, and J.A. Gilbreath.

Miss Sheryl Bennett of San Angelo was a weekend visitor here with Miss Barbara Brown.

Miss Wynne Massey went to Fort Worth last week to complete plans for going to school this fall, planning to leave August 23. Darrell Cooke went with her and then they went to Lubbock for him to register at Texas Tech for his freshman year.

Extension of RM2886 Is Set

The Texas Highway Department in Odessa announced this week that a construction project is planned for Pecos and Terrell Counties. RM 2886 is to be extended from the end of the existing route southwest approximately 6.0 miles to a point 3.8 miles southwest of the Pecos-Terrell County Line in Terrell County.

The proposed project is for the construction of two nine-foot traffic lanes on 120 feet of right-of-way. The proposed project will generally follow the route of the existing county road, departing only to provide for a desirable alignment.

Maps and other drawings showing the proposed location and geometric design, environmental studies, and any other information about the proposed project are on file and available for inspection and copying at the Resident Engineer's Office at McCamey. Also, the drawings showing the proposed route and geometric design have been placed on file with Pecos and Terrell Counties.

Any interested citizen may request that a public hearing be held covering the social, economic, and environmental effects of the proposed location and design for this highway project by delivering a written request to the Resident Engineer's Office on or before September 6, 1974. In the event such a request is received, a public hearing will be scheduled and adequate notice will be publicized about the date and location of the hearing.

Mrs. James I. Payne Jr.
...Miss Janice Carter weds

Miss Janice Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Carter, and James I. Payne Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J.I. Payne, were united in marriage Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church at 6:00 o'clock. Rev. John Henry Cash, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Comstock, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers were in the back of the altar space and on each side of the white satin-covered prie dieu was a white wicker floor basket filled with gladiolus, spider mums, and daisies carrying out the bride's color scheme of yellow and white.

The candles were lighted by Larry Payne, brother of the bridegroom.

Miss Cynthia Johnson of Olton was the organist and played the traditional wedding processional and recessional.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage. Her floor-length gown of white crepe and chiffon was designed and made by her aunt, Mrs. W.A. Queen of Kennedale. The empire-style bodice was trimmed with pleated nylon ruffles edged in seed pearls on the high-standing collar and chiffon insert forming the yoke. Two rows of lace with yellow daisies centered the 18-inch chapel train with the nylon ruffle trim which was attached to the skirt in princess style. Her finger-tip length veil of illusion cascaded from a coronet of the same material as her gown and trimmed in seed pearls. The bouquet which she carried with her Bible which was covered in white and trimmed in the chosen colors, was of white and yellow daisies tied with ribbons in the same shades.

Miss Brenda Carter, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor; Mrs. Steve Caldwell, sister of the bridegroom, the matron of honor; Miss Jeanine Carter, sister of the bride, the bridesmaid.

Their floor-length gowns were of flocked voile in white, green, and yellow respectively with short puffed sleeves. Gold ribbons laced the insertion trimming the square neckline and waistline with a long sash in the back, and attaching a ruffle at the hemline. Each wore a floppy-brim hat with bands of self-material and they carried bouquets of yellow daisies, fern, and white ribbons.

Best man was Jim Payne Sr., father of the groom, and the groomsmen were David Carter, brother of the bride, and

Steve Caldwell, brother-in-law of the groom.

Miss Selene Farley was at the bride's book to register the guests for the reception which was in the undercroft of the church following the wedding.

From the bride's table, covered in a white linen cloth, lime frosted punch, mints, and nuts were served with the bride's cake which was a three-tiered confection decorated in yellow roses with the layers separated by white columns. Doves and roses decorated the layers and on the top layer were wedding bells and orange blossoms in a mist of white net. The center piece on the table was of white spider mums, gladiolus, and daisies, and yellow carnations.

Alternating at serving were Misses Nancy Harkins, Sheryl Stewart, Wynne Massey, Bryanann Stavley, and Debbie Tulk. They wore corsages of white wedding bells tied with yellow ribbons.

After a wedding trip to Breckenridge, the couple will live on the campus at Sul Ross State University in Alpine which both will attend next term, the bridegroom being on both a track and football scholarship. He graduated from Corsicana High School in 1971 and attended Arkansas State College for one year before going to Sul Ross.

The bride was a May graduate of Sanderson High School.

Out-of-town relatives and friends here for the wedding included: Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Carter with Robin and Melanie, of Fort Worth; Mrs. W. A. Queen, Billie Sue and Jes-

THOUGHTS

From The Living Bible

Everyone must make up his own mind as to how much he should give. Don't force anyone to give more than he really wants to, for cheerful givers are the ones God prizes. God is able to make it up to you by giving you everything you need and more, so that there will not only be enough for your own needs, but plenty left over to give joyfully to others. It is as the Scriptures say: "The godly man gives generously to the poor. His good deeds will be an honor to him forever."

Mrs. James I. Payne Jr.
...Miss Janice Carter weds

Miss Janice Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Carter, and James I. Payne Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J.I. Payne, were united in marriage Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church at 6:00 o'clock. Rev. John Henry Cash, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Comstock, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers were in the back of the altar space and on each side of the white satin-covered prie dieu was a white wicker floor basket filled with gladiolus, spider mums, and daisies carrying out the bride's color scheme of yellow and white.

The candles were lighted by Larry Payne, brother of the bridegroom.

Miss Cynthia Johnson of Olton was the organist and played the traditional wedding processional and recessional.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage. Her floor-length gown of white crepe and chiffon was designed and made by her aunt, Mrs. W.A. Queen of Kennedale. The empire-style bodice was trimmed with pleated nylon ruffles edged in seed pearls on the high-standing collar and chiffon insert forming the yoke. Two rows of lace with yellow daisies centered the 18-inch chapel train with the nylon ruffle trim which was attached to the skirt in princess style. Her finger-tip length veil of illusion cascaded from a coronet of the same material as her gown and trimmed in seed pearls. The bouquet which she carried with her Bible which was covered in white and trimmed in the chosen colors, was of white and yellow daisies tied with ribbons in the same shades.

Miss Brenda Carter, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor; Mrs. Steve Caldwell, sister of the bridegroom, the matron of honor; Miss Jeanine Carter, sister of the bride, the bridesmaid.

Their floor-length gowns were of flocked voile in white, green, and yellow respectively with short puffed sleeves. Gold ribbons laced the insertion trimming the square neckline and waistline with a long sash in the back, and attaching a ruffle at the hemline. Each wore a floppy-brim hat with bands of self-material and they carried bouquets of yellow daisies, fern, and white ribbons.

Best man was Jim Payne Sr., father of the groom, and the groomsmen were David Carter, brother of the bride, and Steve Caldwell, brother-in-law of the groom.

Miss Selene Farley was at the bride's book to register the guests for the reception which was in the undercroft of the church following the wedding.

From the bride's table, covered in a white linen cloth, lime frosted punch, mints, and nuts were served with the bride's cake which was a three-tiered confection decorated in yellow roses with the layers separated by white columns. Doves and roses decorated the layers and on the top layer were wedding bells and orange blossoms in a mist of white net. The center piece on the table was of white spider mums, gladiolus, and daisies, and yellow carnations.

Alternating at serving were Misses Nancy Harkins, Sheryl Stewart, Wynne Massey, Bryanann Stavley, and Debbie Tulk. They wore corsages of white wedding bells tied with yellow ribbons.

After a wedding trip to Breckenridge, the couple will live on the campus at Sul Ross State University in Alpine which both will attend next term, the bridegroom being on both a track and football scholarship. He graduated from Corsicana High School in 1971 and attended Arkansas State College for one year before going to Sul Ross.

The bride was a May graduate of Sanderson High School.

Out-of-town relatives and friends here for the wedding included: Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Carter with Robin and Melanie, of Fort Worth; Mrs. W.A. Queen, Billie Sue and Jes-

THOUGHTS

From The Living Bible

Everyone must make up his own mind as to how much he should give. Don't force anyone to give more than he really wants to, for cheerful givers are the ones God prizes. God is able to make it up to you by giving you everything you need and more, so that there will not only be enough for your own needs, but plenty left over to give joyfully to others. It is as the Scriptures say: "The godly man gives generously to the poor. His good deeds will be an honor to him forever."

Seven Counties Are Brucellosis Free

Seven counties of southwestern Texas are the first in the state to be declared "Certified Brucellosis Free" by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. They are: Crane, Ector, Jeff Davis, Loving, Terrell, Winkler, and Ward.

The Brucellosis Free certifications were awarded on the basis of recommendations by Dr. E.S. Cox, in charge of Veterinary Services in Texas for USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, and Dr. H.Q. Sibley, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission.

The attainment was due largely to the cooperation and diligence of local cattlemen in testing and eliminating brucellosis-infected cattle from their herds, and two veterinarians said:

"Being designated Certified Brucellosis Free," they explained, "means not more than one percent of the counties' herds and not more than 0.2 percent of their cattle were found to be infected during the 18-month testing period immediately preceding the requests for certification. In addition, all herds found affected during the period were freed of the disease, as required, before the Brucellosis Free certifications were recommended."

Brucellosis, also known as Bang's disease, affects both animals and man. In addition to causing economic losses to cattlemen, largely from infertility and abortion of breeding cows, the disease can be transmitted to humans as undulant fever. Human infection is usually acquired by direct contact with infected animals or by consumption of raw milk.

COMMENTARY ON THE HOLY SCRIPTURES
 Dr. Edward Lang Jr.

DEUTERONOMY

It is easy to read any book of the Bible and come to the conclusion that it is the best book of all the scriptures. Especially is this true of Deuteronomy for the Old Testament. A careful reading shows the book to have been written as part of a great revitalization in the faith of Israel. From a low ebb there was a great surge of faith in Israel. Deuteronomy is the record of that revival.

Students of the Bible know that under the leadership of King David and his son, Solomon, Israel became a great nation; but that nation deteriorated and in war fell to the king of Babylon. All the leaders of the nation were taken into exile in the Babylonian captivity. When in turn, Babylon fell to a great nation, Persia, the Jews were allowed to return to their homeland. Under the leadership of Ezra and Nehemiah, the nation was re-established and the city of Jerusalem was reconstructed with its walls and with the Temple.

During the rebuilding of the Temple, workers found in the rubble of the old ruins a copy of the Law, the Holy Scriptures lost during the ruin of the city. The reading of that book of law spurred a revival of faith. As a second edition of the Law, Deuteronomy was written to interpret the law and to spread a revitalized faith throughout the people of Israel. When read attentively, it has that power yet today.

The fall of Jerusalem was a traumatic shock to the Jews.

That God would allow its destruction was hard to understand. The question, "Why did Jerusalem fall?" was very important to the writer of Deuteronomy. The Jews wanted to avoid such a tragedy in the future. Read chapter 28, especially verses 47-57, and there you will find in gruesome detail a description of the fall of Jerusalem. The account is truly horrible. Why did it happen? What would cause it to happen again? "If you do not obey the voice of the Lord your God or be careful to do all his commandments and his statutes which I command you this day, then all these curses shall come upon you" (28:15). In the judgment of the Deuteronomist, Israel had fallen because she had not been faithful to God. Even though rebuilt, Israel would fall again if she were not faithful.

The theme of Deuteronomy is stated in 11:26, "Behold, I set before you this day a blessing and a curse: the blessing, if you obey the commandments of the Lord your God, which I command you this day, and the curse, if you do not obey the commandments of the Lord your God." The course of future history would hinge upon faith and obedience.

From Deuteronomy we can learn much that is important today. First, see that the Law is not some ancient curiosity but the substance of a faith presently valuable for us. "Not with our fathers did the Lord make this covenant, but with us, who are all of us here alive this day" (5:3). And second, like the Israelites working to re-establish their nation, we have the opportunity for repentance. If we return to the Lord and obey his commandments, God will restore his blessings and have compassion upon us (30:1-3).

As incredible as it may seem, there was a time during the Babylonian captivity when the Israelites had actually lost their holy scriptures. Not until the time of Deuteronomy was this vital element of the faith restored. For all practical purpose, a vital element of faith has been lost today. It, too, can be restored by the book of Deuteronomy. That vital element is the knowledge of God's activity in history. Although people no longer view history as the work of God, the writer of Deuteronomy thought God to fashion history. You ask, Why is the world in the shape it is? or perhaps, "Why is my own life the way it is?", and the Deuteronomist would say to you that history is molded by God. The events of the day and the events of your life are fashioned by God. The context of your relationship with God is day-to-day history.

The question is raised in Deuteronomy: how does one teach faith to his children? (6:20). The answer given is that one must teach the history of his people. This is the method used by Deuteronomy in presenting the Law. The book begins with the story of Moses and with the story of the Hebrew people escaping the Pharaoh in the Exodus. Only after the history of God saving his people does the Deuteronomist give an account of the Law. If you want to teach the faith to someone you must first show that person the history of God's blessings. If you want faith for yourself, you must first see how God has been at work in your life. Never are you asked in the Christian faith to make a leap into the dark. First you are shown how much God has already done. And then you are asked to obey his law.

Beginning with three chapters of history, Deuteronomy then gives an account and an interpretation of the Law. In essence, the law is a matter of the heart. "This day the Lord your God commands you to do these statutes and ordinances; you shall therefore be careful to do them with all your heart and with all your soul" (26:16). "And the Lord your God will circumcise your heart and the heart of your offspring, so that you will love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul, that you may live" (30:6). "You shall be blameless before the Lord your God" (18:13). Jesus said that you must love God with all your heart and soul, that one is guilty of murder and adultery when he feels hate and lust in his heart, and that you must be perfect. Jesus was only stating the law as it is written in Deuteronomy.

Some points from the statement of Law in Deuteronomy are important to the controversy disturbing today's church. Beginning with chapter 15, it is stated that there is a social dimension to the law. One is to care for the poor (15:7). The society must preserve legal justice, for the poor and the rich alike (16:18; 24:17). The minister is to take a hand in the exercise of law and justice (17:19). Where there is biblical faith there is social welfare and justice. Where the ministry is faithful to God, the pastor speaks about social issues.

One point in the biblical statement of the law has caused no controversy. But there is need. The Deuteronomist had a great concern which we must hear: there is to be no practice of astrology. Newspapers, magazines, books, radio, and television all publish horoscopes. They are part of the practice of astrology and are specifically prohibited by the biblical injunction against the Asherim (12:1).

How good it would be if once again people would discover and read the law of God. In chapter 8, Deuteronomy gives an interpretation for all of life. "Know then in your heart that, as a man disciplines his son, the Lord your God disciplines you. So you shall keep the commandments of God by walking in his ways and by fearing him" (8:5-6). One is led by God into an abundant history, or to an unhappy one, according to his observance of the law.
