VOLUME 68, NUMBER 43 SANDERSON, TERRELL COUNTY, TEXAS 79848 OCTOBER 23, 1975

It Depends on How You Look At It!

If you have never thrown a lure at a likely bass spot and seen a good-size bass come up out of the water and take the bait, then you have not seen it all!

We saw such a sight last Thursday afternoon - mid-afternoon - on a blue and silver Roger's Deep Jim bait. The lure had no more than hit the water when the fish came out after it. He took it all and was all the way out of the water on the strike. That's what makes fishing fun!

Another thing that is really pleasant is the view of the Rio Grande canyon downstream from the Pecos River confluence. The solid-rock bluffs, the vegetation growing on the bluffs, the colors, and the beautiful blue and placid waters are something else! We really enjoy that.

Or had you guessed?

We had another experience that was a "first" for us. We had never used a spinner bait before in trying to hit a bass' mouth, but we did just that the other afternoon - also in the middle of the afternoon. But that's another story, and we'll use it at some other time, in case we don't get to go fishing before then.

We are more than just a little anxious to see work begin in the clearing of the Bicentennial Park and related activity.

We would like to propose an area turn-out of all the population to bring a sack-lunch and have a "fun" day of just a little work and fellowship and get the whole thing done easily, properly, and with so little effort.

There are some real enjoyable occasions that come out of gregariousness of that sort.

And the community spirit that could and should develop in the construction and use of that facility could begin on a good note, a cooperative attitude, and a healthy activity.

Would someone want to push that project?

Every once in a while, there is an attitude expressed in this column and we frankly wonder just how many people agree or disagree with that particular expression. Some of them may be far out, and not a rigid and firm opinion of ours, but an effort to cause someone to do a little thinking about a particular subject. Sometimes we get some feed-back verbally, and at times we get some written feed-back, but not very often. We know the risks taken in writing something and putting your name on it, we have known that risk for a long time and have taken it weekly for a bunch of years, but we would like to let some of our readers hear another opinion that is not expressed just around a coffee table or on a fishing trip.

Eagles Win District Opener Friday At Homecoming

The Sanderson Eagles won their district opener here Friday night and pleased a "homecoming" crowd by defeating the Anthony Wildcats 34-0.

In the first period Marvin Davis went over the goal line from 10 yards out early in the game. Sanderson got possession of the ball soon after the ensuing kick-off and again went goalward with Kendall Billings carrying over from four yards out. Billings missed both attempts at extra point boots.

In the second period Frankie Flores ran into the end zone from four yards out and Billings converted on a plunge through the middle for two bonus points.

In the second half, Billings ran 22 yards for a score and plunged through the middle for two more. Flores tackled on the final score on a 2-yard run and he failed in the effort for two bonus points.

The visiting Wildcats were not able to effectively move the ball against the Eagles who held the advantage in every department and completely dominated the play.

Sanderson will host the Grandfalls Cowboys in their next game, having an open date on Friday night of this week.

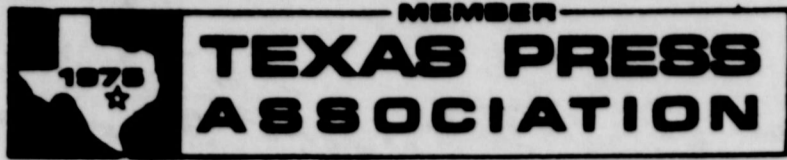

Sanderson made 28 first downs to 13 for Anthony, had a total yards-rushing figure of 325 to 68 for the visitors. The Eagles punted only once, while Anthony punted eight times. Each time had a turn-over by fumbling and pass interception during the game.

F.G. Grigsby loaned us the picture of a group of cowboys a long time ago. "Doc" Turk is the third from the right, standing, according to Grigsby, and Charlie Turk is the fifth from the left, standing. The photo evidently includes all the "hands" at that particular "work".

It Depends on

How You Look At It!

Just write it down, put your name on it, and take the consequences!

Ballotting for the proposed changes in the constitution for Texas is a serious thing and something that is not put up for consideration every two or four years. This is a brand new one and one that - if accepted - will be with us, with amendments, probably for a long time. This causes us to give some serious thought to what some are saying about the merits of the new writing.

Frankly, we expect the state to reject it!

We have been wondering for some time if any election held in Terrell County is valid since the changing of the precinct boundaries a couple of years back, since there was no publication by the county setting the legal description of the precinct boundaries.

We are and were of the opinion that it was necessary to publish such changes.

The laws governing such things are maybe a bother to many and deemed unnecessary and foolish, but those laws like others governing public meetings, publication of public funds financial statements, election laws, etc., are still laws and should be adhered to until changed or invalidated.

According to information received by The Times last weekend, all legal publications pertaining to an election must be printed in both Spanish and English. Any changes in voting procedure or voting precinct lines must be cleared by the U.S. Attorney General's office. We do not know if the information is correct or not, but if it is, then it is going to be necessary for all counties in the state affected to be sure they have someone available to do the translating, and the printers of the state to be sure they can print Spanish, and we suppose that what will follow will be the necessity to have someone at each polling place to serve as an interpreter, if necessary.

And we wonder if the voting registrar should not be bilingual, also; a fact to which we alluded several weeks ago.

It is a complicated world we live in, and maybe it will get complicateder!

Elias Calzada, who is working and attending Odessa Junior College, was a weekend visitor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L.G. Calzada.

Heroic Captain Escapes Shark Attack

Captain Harold Medina aboard the Kerri M., displays his "Medina Panel" now in use by the entire U.S. tuna fleet.

Americans who fish for tuna on the high seas are known for their resourcefulness and daring.

But who could expect a fisherman to dive into a school of 75 sharks to untangle a fouled propeller?

Not Captain Harold Medina.

He did the job himself. A native of San Diego whose first tuna fishing voyage was on his father's boat when he was seven, Medina has his own "Jaws" tale to tell.

Fifteen years ago U.S. tuna fishermen devised a maneuver called "backing down" which helps free porpoise accidentally entrapped in the purse seine nets used to catch the prized tuna. "Backing down" is a time-consuming procedure involving delicate handling of a large boat (250 feet-plus and a much larger net.

During one such "backing down"—as can happen during a heavy sea—the net and cable on Captain Medina's vessel, the Kerri M., caught on the propeller.

A diver was sent below to survey the damage and he quickly bounced out of the water, reporting a school of sharks astern the boat.

Medina donned the diver's gear and went into the eastern tropical Pacific waters, leaving orders for a pair of sharpshooters to "knock off any sharks" they saw. The riflemen had a field day, but every time a shark was blasted, it was immediately devoured by the killers who returned to menace Medina.

Says the captain: "It was either clear the propeller and get the boat out of there—or lose thousands of dollars in fishing time."

Medina got the mess free and his reaction is a masterpiece of understatement. He comments: "It surely wasn't a good feeling. I can tell you that."

Stories like this are commonplace in the U.S. tuna fleet and because porpoise help the fishermen locate their "harvest", their protection has a number one priority.

It was just that concern which motivated Medina to develop a gear modification that has earned him an international reputation in the world tuna fisheries. In 1971, he devised a strip of close-mesh webbing which greatly lessened porpoise entanglement and assisted in their escape to open seas.

The "Medina Panel" is now required by the U.S. government for all purse seiners fishing on tuna schools associated with porpoise, but the majority of the U.S. fleet had voluntarily adopted the innovation before it became mandatory.

Bravery, inventiveness and concern for the marine mammal—all are factors which continue progress in an industry whose product—canned tuna—is enjoyed in 80 per cent of American homes.

AUSTIN — Gov. Dolph Briscoe rocked proponents of a new state constitution by coming out firmly against all eight revision propositions on the November 4 ballot.

Briscoe's announced opposition may have applied the finishing blow to revision this year, many observers of the campaign feel.

Others insisted the Governor's resistance will not be crucial.

Briscoe centered his criticism on proposed annual sessions of the legislature.

He said he feels yearly meetings of lawmakers would be counterproductive, would sharply increase state spending and lead to a fulltime legislature.

The Governor also specifically criticized the judiciary article (merging of top courts), lifting of welfare spending ceilings, increasing bonding authority of the Permanent University Fund and continuing constitutional authority for a two cent property tax dedicated to state buildings.

He said the proposed new document would be subject to endless court tests and interpretation, confusion and chaos in state government and reduced checks and balances on government.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Atty. Gen. John Hill, House Speaker Bill Clayton, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and other revision proponents disagreed entirely with the Governor.

Insurance Up

Auto insurance rates are going up again—away up—by a statewide average of 17 per cent.

The increase just ordered by the State Insurance Board effective January 1 is the largest in more than 15 years.

Texans will be paying $112.8 million more in premiums next year.

At that, the hike is less than the insurance industry wanted. Industry spokesman asked a 24.9 per cent increase which would have meant $165.4 million in additional premiums.

Total state premiums at the elevated rates will come to about $663.6 million a year.

Actual increases vary according to age, residence, make and model of cars, driving records and use of vehicles. They will range from $8 to $43 more annually for a typical auto owner. But a young, unmarried male driver in Houston may see an increase from $581 to $706 in his total premiums.

Courts Speak

The Court of Criminal Appeals ordered new trials in three murder cases.

Errors by prosecutors were noted in San Marcos and Odessa cases where husbands shot their wives to death. A Harris County man won a reversal of a conviction for slaying his sister-in-law because the trial jury was not told specifically that evidence offered was circumstantial.

An improper search of a motor vehicle near New Braunfels brought a new trial for a man sentenced to seven years and $5,000 fine for possession of 650 packages of marijuana.

The Court of Criminal Appeals allowed an El Paso County probation officer to appeal an embezzlement conviction, even though the normal deadline had passed.

STOCKTON SCOUTS JOIN LOCAL TROOP ON HIKE

About 25 Boy Scouts and their leaders from Fort Stockton joined Sanderson Scouts on a weekend outing at the Hagelstein ranch. The leaders of the Fort Stockton troop included Felix Cooke Jr., O.R. Bradley, and Roy Armstrong.

Chris Hagelstein and Fred Prano are the local leaders and boys making the trip from Sanderson included Ele Chris Hagelstein, John and Marvin Prano, Raymond Adauto, Joe Roark, Steve Falcon, Carlton Hagelstein, a Cub.

The Sanderson Scouts worked on merit badges and achievements on the trip and among their accomplishments included emergency preparedness, orientarian, camping skills, hiking, cooking, and first aid.

At a Scout meeting Monday night Cato deLeon, Steve Falcon, Ele Chris Hagelstein, Jose and Johnny Daniel received the Family Living Skill award. The troop planned to attend a District Camporee at Fort Stockton on November 7-9; planned a booth at the Hallo-we'en Carnival; and will sell candy to pay for summer camp program.

CUB SCOUT ROUND-UP AND PACK MEET SLATED

There will be a Cub Scout Round-Up and Pack meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the elementary school.

All parents and boys of that age are urged to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Bill Goodwin took Mrs. Ola Penny to Midland Friday to have the cast removed from her foot which was fractured in a fall in that city several weeks ago. She continues to improve satisfactorily.

Jr. Hi Eagles Lose To Grandfalls

The Sanderson Junior High School team lost to Grandfalls here Thursday of last week.

The 7th graders played two quarters and lost 6-0 to the visitors.

The 8th graders lost 20-0 in their game. The Grandfalls boys made all their score in the first half, and the second half was a defensive battle all the way.

Sanderson recovered a fumble by Grandfalls and threatened to score, but lost the ball on a fumble back to the Cowboys.

Junior High Eagle Coach Carlos Garza said that the boys learned some good defensive football last week and they also learned that they had some offensive mistakes. He said that the 7th grade tilt was a good one and enjoyed by both the players and the fans, and that the second half of the 8th grade game was one of which the boys could be proud, but that they did not dig in on their defensive play during the first part of the game and got behind.

The Junior High Eagles will play their last game of the season Thursday afternoon in Balmorea.

Krueger Names New Assistant

U.S. Congressman Bob Krueger announced the appointment of San Angeloan Daniel Dutko as his new District Administrative Assistant, replacing Tom Henderson who has resigned effective November 1.

Dutko, presently field manager of a 16-county office for the state comptroller, has held other important management posts in various industries. He majored in political science and journalism at Angelo State University and was named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities".

Dutko will be responsible for the Del Rio, New Braunfels, and San Angelo offices, according to Krueger, as well as 31 counties of the 21st District. Krueger also emphasized the importance of having someone with a "keen understanding and awareness of other people's problems," qualities he attributed to Dutko.

Mrs. H.B. Louwien and her son, Randy Louwien, of Midland were here last weekend to visit friends and relatives. They were joined here by her daughters, Mrs. Skipper Chamberlain of Houston and Mrs. "Bimbo" Babb of Del Rio and their husbands.

We're always looking for more notches to tighten...

For years, we at Community Public Service Company have been tightening our belts, trying to cut costs and operate more efficiently. And it's worked.

The number of kilowatt hours we provide jumped from over 1½ billion in 1964 to over 3 billion in 1974... a whopping increase of 91%. Yet during that same ten years, the number of our employees increased only 17%.

In 1964, Community Public Service Company's electric customers numbered 97,000. Today we serve 133,000 customers... an increase of 37%. So you see... over the past few years, when the cost of many products and services has risen so rapidly, Community Public Service Company has been working to hold costs down, while providing the most efficient electric service possible.

Now, and in the future, we will continue to provide the best possible service to our customers. At Community Public Service Company, efficient service is what we're all about.

Report of
BOB KRUEGER
U.S. Representative

President Ford has called upon Congress to enact a tax cut of $27.7 billion, effective immediately and applicable to the tax returns which we all must file in April of next year. At the same time, the President has asked the Congress to cut federal spending in fiscal year 1977 by the amount of the proposed tax cut. The Congress has its own ideas about tax reform and tax cuts, and the Democratic majority on the Ways and Means Committee will introduce a counter-proposal within the next month. That committee has been studying tax reform proposals for several months, and the specifics of the counter-proposal will merit close study and comparison with the Administration plan. As a fiscal conservative, I approach the idea of a tax cut with some apprehension, but I do want to encourage the President to pursue the goal of reduced federal spending, which has been introduced into the discussion of tax reform by the President's suggested spending ceiling.

The economic theorists who have held sway in recent years contend that the federal treasury should serve as a temporary depository for tax receipts collected from taxpayers like you and me. Once the money is collected, the theory goes, the federal government recycles it to the taxpayers via the many federal assistance programs. The fallacy in this argument is that most Americans get very little back in government services for their tax dollars. The average American working man and woman do not benefit from the food stamp, school lunch or black lung benefit programs, to name just a few. Social Security is one federal program which benefits most taxpayers, but the average taxpayer will contribute far more to Social Security than he or she will ever draw from it. Even if the federal assistance programs were to benefit only those who paid for them, there would be no 100% return in services for cost, since the taxpayer and putative recipient of the programs must also underwrite administrative costs.

Thus, most American taxpayers are placed in a no-win position by the present system, and this condition is getting worse instead of better. The President suggests that we begin to call a halt to this situation by curbing growth of the federal budget. I agree. We should let the taxpayer spend his own money for his own purposes, and we do not need to channel an ever-increasing portion of his earnings through the federal bureaucracy, from where it never returns.

The character and dimensions of this proposed tax cut may well change before the matter comes before the House for a decision. I will have to study the final proposal in its entirety before committing myself either way. Nevertheless, the significance of the President's request to me is that it emphasizes responsibility in government spending. If a harbinger of economic sanity and a return to a balanced budget, the President's message hasn't come a moment too soon. I hope that my colleagues in the House and Senate agree.
