WOODWORK

by Dalton

WE DIDN'T make it to church on Easter Sunday. In the first place, we didn't get home from our 9-day trip until 6 a.m. Sunday, and we'd been through a sleepless night (18 hours of darkness) and besides, we came home from Europe with a terrific case of the Continental Crud.

Really I don't suppose it has a name like that, but it was just about pneumonia for my wife and me by the time we arrived at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport. Still, we didn't get sick until the last day of the trip, so we had a fabulous good time in Europe.

Want to hear about our trip to Europe? Trying to tell others about one's vacation trips, whether it's to Europe or Canada or Mexico or just to Amarillo, is a good way to wind up talking to yourself: it's kind of like people telling each other about their surgical operations. It just doesn't mean as much to anyone else as it does to the one involved personally.

Consequently, I'm putting the detailed story of the trip elsewhere in this issue, so that those 27 persons who made the journey can read all about it at leisure, and all the rest of you can just skip the whole thing. There's nothing more boring than to read about someone else's trip and how much fun they had while you were at home working like a dog. (Normally, in fact, we refuse to print detailed stories of people's vacation trips. But we'll make an exception whenever there are more than 20 local persons involved.

Besides, I went on this one and that makes it different...

Here are a few capsule reports and impressions we received on the trip, however: If you don't learn anything else on a trip to Europe, you learn to never, never pass up a toilet, especially a free one. In many places you have to pay to use the toilet (they don't call them restrooms), and an attendant is on duty to see that you do. And on a tour bus, you sometimes would part with just about all your worldly goods for a toilet. (Wagner and some of those other European musical masters were always writing operas about some princess or prince dying because they couldn't have the love life they wanted, or some mythical beauty luring sailors to their deaths, or some such things, mainly just a framework around which they build all the beautiful classical music. Were I writing one today, I'd write about some tourist going up and down the Rhine River in an endless quest for a restroom, until he finally explodes in the last act.)

Incidentally, those castles on the Rhine are quite a sight, and the whole trip was an educational experience to culturally illiterate me. (Before last week, I thought the Rhine was something which holds a watermelon together.)

My impression of Paris is a giant city of incredibly huge and ancient buildings steeped in more history than I'd care to remember, and the traffic and driving habits are impossible to describe to anyone who hasn't seen them. Switzerland is a beautiful place. And Holland and Belgium and Switzerland (in fact, most of Europe that we saw) are very clean, with no trash littering the streets and highways, and no stray dogs, although many have dogs, always on a leash.

The British poet Lord Byron wrote an interminably long poem about the "Prisoner of Chillon" which some of you probably have read. It would mean more if you saw the castle where the prisoner was chained for so many years, as our group did. It was a grim place.

France is a land of art well done, and meat cooked rare; Switzerland a land of old castles and new watches, excellent chocolate and terrible sausage; and Holland is a land of smooth butter and rough toilet paper; all of these countries and Belgium and Germany, too, are places where "W.C." means "water closet," or "wonderful commode," depending upon the degree of one's need. And everyone eats hard bread and salami for breakfast.

All in all, it was a delightful trip, and one really gets a new appreciation of other peoples by contact with them. They're all fine folks, and we hope to visit them again.

City, Area Raked By Vicious Winds

Weather warnings were issued Monday for the area and a wide portion of upper Texas until after 2 p. m. The day began with strong winds and lots of sand. However, soon after 12 o'clock noon, a calm settled over this particular area, and skies darkened with street lights coming on. Then heavy sheets of rain poured from thunder clouds but lasted only a few minutes.

Surrounding schools issued plans for parents to pick up school children as soon as they could, or that they were dismissing school early as the turbulence continued. Several tornadoes were reported around the country. The persistent sand and wind returned following the short shower. Damage reported here was the two plate glass windows blown out of City Chambers into the street. They were replaced by plywood for the time being. The shop is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Parrish. Some television antennae were bent, garbage cans blown over, and things blown into driveways, streets from vacant buildings on Main Street here.

FARMERS CUTTING ACREAGE OF GRAIN

The probability of continued depressed grain prices and lack of confidence in adequate governmental protection against soaring production costs are pushing grain farmers to cut back on their plantings by as much as 25 percent.

Based on the current grain situation, officials of Great Plains Farmers Association believe average cutbacks from the March USDA intentions report are essential, if strong prices are to become a reality again.

GSFA mailed 5,200 surveys to 5,200 grain producers in five states of the sorghum production area. As of March 24, 95 percent of farmers responding said they are ready to cut back on their plantings because of the existing price trends which have resulted in drops of as much as $2 per hundred pounds in the past three months.

Only five percent thus far have indicated they are not in favor of the program and many of those said they are committed to their original planting intentions because fertilizer is already spent.

"Farmers are tired of being told to produce all they can for 'free markets' only to find they have two children, Michael Craig, 11, a sixth grade student, and a daughter, Robyn, 4.

Mrs. Summers also has a B.S. Degree from S.N.M.U. in Dallas, N.M., and attended the seminary in Fort Worth.

CHURCH'S EVANGELISTIC CRUSADE CONTINUES

Rev. Wesley Brown, pastor of the Church of God of Bethlehem announces that their Evangelistic Crusade with Don Stephens, leader, is continuing through Sunday night. He states that the public is cordially invited to attend.

School Board Election

Incumbent James Withrow and candidate Connie Hill were elected to positions on the Board of Trustees of the Sudan Independent School District at the district election here April 5.

CITIZENS SHOULD BE ORGANIZED HERE

Local Citizens Band Public opinion assisted in the recent Texas Boys Ranch Relocation of Radio City building 1962. The names of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bennett served as host for the group which included Carl Bennett, Ronnie and Colby Gilbert, Tommy and Tracy, and Betty Chen.

A Citizens Band Public Opinion is the organizational process at Sudan. A meeting will be held Sunday, April 20, at 5 p. m. in the Sudan Community Center for this purpose. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Donor Baker has expressed interest in the Sudan school building at the next regular meeting of the Board of Trustees following a review of the votes.

Some 24 voters cast ballots at the polls with more than 50 at their voting stations. This was reported to be a better turnout than had been expected.

Withrow received 58 votes, Hill 74, Jim Bob Ferguson 44, Wayne Doby 5, and B. Ward Fisher 27.

Margaret Smith served as presiding judge. Other voters were Louise Parrish, Don and Betty Gilbert, Don and Betty Chen, and Betty Chen.

TRUCK REEFERIES HAVE NO EFFECT ON FOOD STAMP RELIABILITY

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) writes today a release to the states saying that the increase in vehicle and fuel payments will have no effect on the reliability of food stamp participation.

These vehicle and fuel payments were provided for in the Tax Reduction Act of 1975 which President Ford signed into law on March 29, 1975. The law provided refunds on 1974 federal income taxes and a special $50 payment to recipients of social security, railroad retirement, and SSI benefits.

The Tax Reduction Act of 1975 requires that refunds and special payments shall be credited to the states on the basis of the amount of benefits received under any federal assistance program. Therefore, these refunds and special payments will not be included in income or reported on the Food Stamp Program.

A positive and aggressive program of vehicle and fuel development, they said. The reduction in average will only be to help states to balance with the increased income tax revenue from the special $50 payment.

ing. For example our word "love" can be used in several different senses; the love of a mother for a child, the love of a boy for his dog, or the love of a boy for a girl, etc. Each of these is love but in a different sense. In the Greek language there are four different words for our word love. If someone was to say to us "I phileo you", they would be expressing brotherly love. (Hence the name Philadelphia, city of brotherly love.) Natural affection as in Mother and child love is "storga" in the Greek. The highest form of love expressed in the Greek language is "agape". If we have agape love, we love because of what WE are, not because of what or who someone else is. It doesn't matter if a person is black, white, short, tall, fat, skinny, rich or poor. It doesn't matter if they wear the "dry look" or put on "greasy kid stuff". This is the Love God has for us. "But God commendeth his love (agape) toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners (unlovable), Christ died for us." (Romans 5:8) "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3:16) Agape is the love of God. It comes only from God living in us through our obedient faith in His commands. There are many words such as this which take on a deeper meaning when we see the Greek word. Next week next week the word "rock" is found in Matthew 16:18.

SURVEY-----

Millard, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Dallas, announced today.

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, the April survey will have additional questions about the use of food stamps in 1974, and the first quarter of 1975.

The monthly employment survey is conducted by the Bureau for the U. S. Department of Labor and provides a continuous record of activity in the labor force. The February survey showed that total employment declined by nearly 540,000 to 84.0 million since September 1974, employment has dropped by 2.4 million, the largest 5-month cutback recorded in the post-war period. The civilian labor force decreased by 580,000 from January to February.

Households in this survey are among the 50,000 nationwide that have been scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all U. S. households. All information they supply is held confidential by law and is used only to compile statistical totals.

Interviewers who will visit households in this area is Rosemary McNeese, Rt. 1, Amherst, Tx. 73912.

April 17 is the date set for the 1975 Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. Annual Meeting, beginning at 2:00 p.m. at Lubbock's South Park Inn. Over 500 PCG members and guests are expected to be on hand for the 25-county cotton producer organization's 18th annual gathering.

Emphasis at the meeting will be on cotton markets, with the "first team" from the staff of Cotton Incorporated on the program. Cotton Incorporated is the national cotton producer's research, product development and marketing company with offices in Raleigh, North Carolina, and New York City.

Also, 1975-76 PCG directors, elected over the past several weeks at meetings in individual counties, will be confirmed by the membership and the new directors will convene at 6:00 p.m. following the membership program to elect 1975-76 officers. PCG has two directors from each of its counties, elected on alternate years.

Current PCG officers include Don Marble of South Plains, President; W.B. Criswell of Idalou, Vice President; and Lloyd Cline of Lamesa, Secretary-Treasurer. Immediate Past President Ray Joe Riley of Hart is Chairman of the Board.

Dukes Woollers, Cotton Incorporated President, will have remarks on "Cotton's Total Marketing Thrust" and will introduce others of his staff who will treat cotton's current and pending market position, new cotton products being developed, and the techniques being used by C.I. to market those products.

Speakers will include Dave Cox, C.I. Director of Supply and Demand; Hal Brockmann, Director of Textile Research and Development; and Don Kleckner, Vice President for C.I. Marketing Services.

Don Marble will present the president's annual report and PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson will give the annual report from the PCG staff.

"Markets are the only thing that can keep us in business for the long-term," Marble said in urging attendance, "and we owe it to ourselves to learn all we can about the efforts being made to expand those markets and to cooperate with those efforts in every way."

Producers on the Plains pay 15 cents per bale dues to finance the operations of PCG on behalf of High Plains cotton, and growers nationwide pay $1.00 per bale to support Cotton Incorporated.

Tips from Nancy Topp

THE FLOOR CHORE—A BORE NO MORE

As warmer weather approaches, you can expect your kids and pets to bring in plenty of mud and dirt from outdoors. Now, thanks to the many recent developments in the floor care field, housewives can save a lot of time and work in floor cleaning.

According to Nancy Topp, home economist for Stanley Home Products, Inc., of Westfield, Mass., experts in the home/cleaning personal care field:

"If every time you've cleaned your floor you've thought, 'Oh, golly, what a bore, you'll think this dreadful thought no more. As One-Two polish does your chore."

She says, "It is possible to save yourself time and trouble by doing two jobs in one operation. Find a one-step product which cleans and shines at the same time."

There are certain characteristics which you, the consumer, should demand from the floor care product you use, according to Nancy Topp. "Use a product which makes maintenance easy," she says. "A damp-mopping should take the soil but leave a non-yellowing shine. Touch-ups should be easy, too."

Most dual purpose or one-step floor care products perform the same functions—they remove the previous application of polish as well as dirt, heel and scuff marks and also leave a new coat of polish on the floor. There are, however, differences in quality. Hundreds of Stanley consumer advisors throughout the country have indicated a three to one preference for one floor care product in particular—Stanley's "One-Two" Floor Polish.

Nancy Topp says, "If you want to enjoy the warm weather more by saving time and work, use a one-step floor cleaning product which both cleans and shines—and does both effectively. Warm weather, kids, and pets are no longer excuses for a floor that is anything but sparkling."

NEW INVENTION THE PERIMITECTOR

Nationwide Scientific, the nation's leader in line-carrier (ac transmission) alarm equipment was recently awarded a U.L. listing for the new PERIMITECTOR alarm system. This unique system provides perimeter protection that scares off intruders before they set foot inside. The PERIMITECTOR will provide professional security for the first time at an extremely low price by eliminating internal wiring and large labor bills. This new concept is achieved by transmitting the violation signal over the buildings existing ac wiring through new plug-in transmitter-receiver modules. Result - an extremely effective very low cost alarm system for home or business that accepts all fire and burglar alarm detection devices available.

Dollars & Good Sense

Bills for all home utilities are at an all time high, and electricity is no exception. Here are a few simple guidelines that may help you keep charges to a minimum.

You may be using more electricity than necessary because your room lights are not well placed. Instead of using a lot of lights to illuminate your work areas, consider using moveable lights instead. Clamp on units, available at most hardware stores, are an economical solution. They go anywhere the work is, and are easily positioned for maximum brilliance where needed. The units are not very attractive, but their overall efficiency more than makes up for that.

Make sure that the wattage of all your light bulbs matches the job. Very often people make a rule of using "only 100 watt bulbs." This is a definite energy waster. For instance, high wattage bulbs are not necessary in hallways, TV rooms, or garages. Also, make sure your light bulbs are clean and dust free. They'll burn much more efficiently that way.

You'll find that you can save energy by consolidating your uses of the washer and dryer into full loads. For permanent press items, use the "damp dry" setting on the dryer. You'll save money, and if you get the clothes out of the dryer quickly, you won't need to do much ironing. This saves energy, too. Yours.

Readers' questions are welcome and should be sent to P.O. Box 2210, Newport Beach, CA 92663.

God seldom makes Our loads in life Too great for us to carry He's always there To help us out - So "let thine heart be merry!"

He knows when we Have need of Him, He knows the loads we carry, So trust in Him, Hope for the best - And "let thine heart be merry!"
