Trees Available

Order time is at hand for this season's tree planting. Seedlings can be obtained thru the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Species that can be ordered are: American Plum, Arizona Cypress, Austrian Pine, Black Walnut, Green Ash, Honeylocust, Mulberry, Ponderosa Pine, Russian Olive, Shortleaf Pine and Virginia Pine.

No order for less than 500 trees of any one species or genetic quality will be accepted. For a total order between 500 and 999 trees, the rate of payment is about $1.20 to $1.80 per hundred plus freight charges. (There could be a slight increase in price over last year's prices.)

Should you need any information about ordering any number less than the 500, please contact JoAnn Chester or Hoyt Robertson. They plan to take orders and see that your shipment arrives in time for planting.

Some of you might wish to start a few in your yard or a farm windbreak. These can be used for anything except Christmas trees.

These will be secured through your Sudan Community Improvement Association or your Memorial Fund of Trees for Century III.

Why not think this over and turn your order in?

Local youngsters are back in the spotlight again. Their footballs are inflated and they are loosening up their throwing arms for the 1978 Punt, Pass & Kick Competition.

This year the local level of PP&K will be sponsored by Marion Williams Ford Inc.

Nationally, PP&K is celebrating its 18th anniversary. It is sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America in cooperation with the National Football League. Since it was started in 1961, the program has attracted millions of youngsters.

Participants in the Punt, Pass & Kick program compete only against others their own age. Any youngster 8 through 13 years of age, accompanied by a parent or guardian, may register to compete in PP&K at any participating Ford Dealer. There is no entrance fee and no body contact during competition. No special equipment is needed and participating does not impair a youngster's amateur standing.

Scoring is based on accuracy and range with one point added for every foot of punting, passing and kicking distance, and a point subtracted for every foot off a center line.

Twelve national finalists will compete for the National Championship in their age group during the half time of the NFL Championship game in January. Winners will have their names permanently inscribed in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio. Their trophies will be presented by Football Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Hornets Lose Opener 12-19

The Sudan Hornets opened the 78 season on a losing note Friday night as they were upended by the Shallowater Mustangs by a score of 19-12.

Shallowater got on the board on their first offensive series with a 5 yard TD pass after a sustained 77 yard drive. The extra point was blocked by Mike Jones and the Mustangs had a 6-0 lead. The Hornets quickly retaliated with a 68 yard march of their own with the score coming on a 10 yard sprint by John Miles. The extra point was blocked and the game was tied at 6.

The Mustangs took a 12-6 lead at halftime on a 3 yard run by halfback Pete Alvarado. Shallowater increased the lead to 19-6 on a 5 yard run by QB Andy Blackman in the 3rd quarter. The Hornets again came back within striking distance on a 3 yard run by Miles to bring the score to 19-12.

Offensively the Hornet stopped the Mustangs with 268 yards rushing to 245, and passing with 85 yards to Shallowater's 20, but could not overcome several mistakes which set up two shallowater TD's.

The Hornets were led by Miles with 146 yards on 23 carries and Bob Graves with 50 yards on 13 carries.

Outstanding defensive performances were turned in by Mike Jones, Bob Graves and Ivan Gibson. Players of the week were Randy Scott, Bob Graves and Mike Jones.

Kiss Your Baby Week

Kiss your Baby Week will be sponsored by The Sudan Community Improvement Association.

You can't help but kiss your baby. He's so lovable. So wonderful.

And, he needs you so much.

That's just why we ask you to "kiss your baby." If he should have cystic fibrosis, he needs you to do something about it.

One of the signs of cystic fibrosis, the most serious lung-damaging disease, is a salty taste of the skin.

If you taste salt on your baby, see your doctor. Make sure your baby has a test for CF.

Chances are your child does not have CF, but if he does, diagnosis and immediate treatment are vital to his life.

For more information, contact your local Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

What is Cystic Fibrosis? The most serious lung-damaging disease in children. It is inherited.

Why does a baby with CF taste salty? CF affects the glands which produce mucus, tears, saliva, and sweat. The sweat of CF patients is unusually salty.

Early diagnosis is vital...that's why we ask you to "Kiss Your Baby" and watch for all these signs of Cystic Fibrosis and other diseases which damage children's lungs:

- *Recurrent wheezing
 - *Persistent coughing/excessive mucus
 - *Pneumonia more than once
 - *Excessive appetite/poor weight gain
 - *Clubbing (enlargement of fingertips)
- Cystic Fibrosis signs may also include:
- *A salty taste of the skin
 - *Persistent, bulky diarrhea
 - *Nasal polyps
- Watch for dates sponsored by the Sudan Community Improvement Association.

Auto Insurance Rates

Adjustments to rates charged for auto insurance will be made on policies written November 1, 1978 and thereafter, according to new schedules adopted September 6 by the State Board of Insurance.

Of the forty rating territories in Texas, twenty will receive increases, eighteen will be reduced, and two will not change.

The average passenger car rate for the entire state will be 3.2 percent greater than rates charged during the past two years.

Present rates run from $226 in the Southeastern territory to $363 in Harris county. New rates will be $224 in the Southeastern territory, a $2.00 reduction, and $377 in Harris county, a raise of 3.9 percent or $14.00.

For the purpose of calculating the averages, the risk was assumed to be a 1978 medium priced Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth, not used in business, but driven to and from work. No male operator under 25 included in the family, and the coverages were assumed to be $10,000/$20,000/$5,000 liability, $5,000 personal injury protection, $50 deductible comprehensive, and $200 deductible collision. Actual rates will vary according to the type of car covered, coverages ordered and the driving records of the individuals buying the insurance.

Insurance industry requests for increases were for an average of 8.9 percent on passenger cars, and the total on that basis would have been $95 million in additional premiums. The amount granted by the Board is a $35 million increase, about $60 million less than was sought by the insurance industry.

You Ought To Be Locked Up

...or at least your home should be, even when you are in it! Many thefts occur from rooms in front of residences when the occupants are outside on the back patio or deck or are working in the yard. A thief seeing that the family is busy in the yard knocks on the front door and enters when no one answers and pilfers the home while the residents are busy outside. Locking the front of the house while you are out back will normally prevent this type of burglary.

Keeping the doors locked while the family members are in the house, especially if one member is home alone, will reduce the possibility of an intruder entering the residence and committing a crime against whoever is home.

It is a good idea to determine who is knocking on the front door before you open it. An intercom system or a peephole door viewer should be utilized. At the very least look out a window to see who is on the porch before opening the door. Many criminals have used a pretext of being a repairman, policeman, salesman or even a clergyman to gain access to a residence to commit a crime. If you are not certain who it is at the front door, do not open the door and admit that person if you are home alone. Do not admit to anyone that you are home alone. If necessary, call a neighbor and have that neighbor come out on their porch and watch while you open your front door and speak to whoever it is on your doorstep. You, of course, should offer to do the same thing for your neighbor.

Many times one expects to become the victim of crime if they go downtown or go shopping or go on a trip. But all too many times people become victims of crimes when they least expect it, when they open their own front door. Lock on to a good idea, keep your front door locked.

Annual Ranch Day

A 72-year heritage of ranching and cattle breeding will be shared with participants at the ninth annual Ranch Day beginning at 9 a.m., September 23, at the Ranching Heritage Center of The Museum of Texas Tech University.

Wray Finney, a cattle industry leader and seventh-generation Oklahoma rancher, will speak at the Ranch Day noon luncheon.

Luring people to the chuckwagon-style barbecue lunch will be the tongue-tingling smells of homemade sourdough pancakes, sauerkraut, applesauce and tea cakes.

prepared in the historic houses on the 12-acre site. The Center chronologically traces the development of the West through more than a score of structures originally used by the Southwest's first ranchers.

Center visitors will be able to watch docents in authentic costumes as they prepare epicurean delights from the pioneer days. Best of all, there will be taste tests for everyone.

Vats of handmade lye soap may revive not so fond memories of squirming.

T.J. Nabors-Pearson of Lubbock will also be on hand to demonstrate the art of spinning at the Hedwigs Hill double log cabin.

Square dancers and fiddlers will add to the pioneer atmosphere during the day.

The entertainment will continue during the luncheon, which will be followed by Finney's speech and the annual business meeting and election of officers for the Ranching Heritage Association.

All events, including the luncheon, will be open to the general public. Finney, his son and his father operate the family ranch near Fort Cobb, Oklahoma. The ranch, a cow-calf and yearling cattle operation, was established in 1906. Finney is also a managing partner of the Western Trio Cattle Breeding Firm, a cattle management firm in Guymon, Oklahoma.

Not only has he raised cattle for many years, but Finney has also had a hand in directing the cattle industry for some time. After serving two years as first vice president of the American National Cattleman's Association (ANCA), he was elected to two terms as president.

He has also served on such committees as the Agriculture Standards Advisory Committee of the U.S. Department of Labor and the Cattle Industry Advisory Committee of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Finney was inducted in 1977 into the American Polled Hereford Association's Hall of Merit for public affairs service to the cattle industry. He has also been a recipient of the "Progressive Farmer" magazine's "Man of the Year in Southwest Agriculture" award.

Tickets for Ranch Day, including the meal, are $4.50 for adults and $1.75 for children for members of the Ranching Heritage Association, and $5.50 for adults and $2.75 for non-members.

Tickets are available from the association, P.O. Box 4499, Lubbock, Texas 79409, 806/742-2495.

The Beautiful People

American's newest "diplomatic" position will be filled on September 30 when the new Miss World-America is crowned. Among her prizes is the title "Ambassador Beauty" bestowed as part of a $10,000 performance contract from Merle Norman Cosmetics, one of the pageant's principal sponsors. As the company's representative, the new ambassador-queen will tour American cities encouraging young women to become independent business women.

"Merle Norman has a long history of promoting women in beauty and business," said Gary Hollister, Merle Norman president, in announcing the pageant sponsorship. "Our business is self-enhancement, both in physical appearance and mental out-look. About 90 percent of our 2,500 cosmetics studios are owned and operated by women."

The Miss World-America pageant will be held September 24 to 30, at Huntsville, Ala. Fifty-one women, ages 17 to 25, representing the 50 states and the District of Columbia will vie for the crown. Besides the $10,000 performance contract, the winner receives an array of prizes, including jewelry and a trip to London to compete in the Miss World pageant in November.

The pageant will be syndicated nationally as a "Miss World-America television special."

decrease will have little effect on the price picture, believes Smith.

While food consumption of wheat should continue near last year's pace, wheat feeding likely will be down due to stiff competition from the large feedgrain crop.

"Putting pressure on U.S. wheat prices are production and trade prospects for world wheat," points out Smith. "Foreign wheat production by major U.S. competitors could be up as much as 20 percent over last year. World wheat production for the current marketing year is estimated to be up 8 percent while wheat use is forecast to increase only 3 percent."

One thing that may partially counter the negative aspects of the larger wheat crop on U.S. trade is the decline of the value of the dollar relative to world currencies, notes the specialist. This could give importers "bargain" prices for U.S. wheat in the year ahead.

Much of the current year's wheat-about 80 percent-is still being held by farmers in anticipation of some price improvement. However, with a good world crop in the making, the chances for stronger prices are dim, contends Smith. Therefore, he suggests some wheat selling at current prices while keeping a wary eye on the market just prior to the feedgrain harvest.

The 1979 wheat program announced recently by USDA is similar to that for last year. "If a farmer wants to be eligible for the $3.40 per bushel target price and the $2.35 loan rate, he must set aside land equal to 20 percent of his planted wheat acreage for harvest," notes Smith. "In other words, if he

Little Mary had been sent to the country store to get some fly paper, but she tarried. Worried, her mother went to the porch to look for her. When she saw her coming, she asked, "Mary, do you have the fly paper?" "No, ma'am," she answered; "it's got me."

What a picture of sin. It charms, but it chains; it delights, but it destroys; it enchants, but it enslaves; it fascinates, but it fastens.

Our Lord, who knew men and their mischief, their haunts and their habits, said, "Whoever commits sin is the servant of sin."

A man can let a habit get such a hold on him that he cannot break it. He can allow a pleasure to master him so completely that he cannot do without it.

But the Lord is stronger than Satan and sin. There is no habit that He cannot break, no sin that He cannot forgive, and no soul that He cannot save. Accept the Victor, and you will have the victory!

Reese Holds Open House

Reese Air Force Base will host a public open house on Saturday, September 16, 1978 between 10:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

The event will honor the thirty-first anniversary of the establishment of the United States Air Force as a separate service on September 18, 1947.

The Thunderbirds, the official U.S. Air Force aerial demonstration team will be the day's featured attraction. Their show will begin on the flight line at 3:00 p.m. sharp and will last until 4:00 p.m.

The Thunderbirds will be flying the same type of T-38 Talon jets that are flown by the student pilots at Reese in the later stages of their year long training program.

To date, a number of aircraft that are flown from Air Force bases throughout the United States are scheduled to be on static display for public inspection along the flight line. They will be joined by a number of the Confederate Air Force's historic aircraft and by craft flown by members of the Experimental Aircraft Association. Reese's own T-37 and T-38 jet trainers will be included in the static display.

A number of exhibits depicting the activities of all the military services will be on display either on the flight line or in the hangars. Other training areas such as the new Instrument Flight Simulator will also be open. Guides! tours will be available at the Simulator.

If transportation arrangements can be arranged in time, a U.S. Navy Parachute Demonstration Team will perform at 12:30 p.m.

The Lubbock SPARKS, a radio controlled model airplane club will demonstrate their aerobatic flying skills at 2:00 p.m.

Music for the event will be provided by the bands from South Plains College and Frenship High School in Wolfthorpe.

Among the aircraft scheduled for display are the A-4 Skyraider, F-105 Thunderchief, F-106 Delta Dart, F-4 Phantom, KC-135 Stratotanker, and CH-47 helicopter. There will be historic models on display.

The Antique Car Club of Lubbock will also have a large number of their automobiles on display along the flight line.

Mayors Giles McCrary of Post, and Dirk West of Lubbock will join Colonel Charles E. Bishop, the commander of Reese's Flying Training Wing as members of the Thunderbird inspection party before their show. They will be joined by J.G. Stacy of Levelland and Dave Collier and John Scoggin of Lubbock.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Thirteen certified cotton interest organizations caucused in Dallas September 6 and selected 20 cotton industry leaders, 14 of them from the High Plains, to fill important positions and serve as alternates in national cotton industry groups.

The High Plains area was represented at the caucus by Lloyd Cline of Lamesa, President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. Cline was named the official PCG representative September 5 at a meeting of the organization's Executive Committee. He was accompanied by PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. Three members and three alternates were named as directors to Cotton Incorporated (CI), the national cotton producers' fiber company which conducts research and market development programs under the Cotton Research and Promotion Act.

Four members and four alternates were nominated for two positions on the Cotton Board, the administrative body responsible for collections, disbursements and project approval in the CI program. The Secretary of Agriculture is required by law to appoint two of the "pairs" submitted by interest organizations and normally chooses the two for whom the organizations express a preference.

Three producer delegates and three alternates were named to the National Cotton Council (NCC), the industry's seven-segment research, promotion and service organization.

On the CI governing body the group placed J. D. Smith of Sudan, L. C. Unfred of New Home and Donnell Echols of Lamesa. Alternates to these directors were named as Gerald Caswell of Meadow, Clifford Hoelscher of St. Lawrence and Don Marble of South Plains.

Nominated as first choice for members and alternates, respectively, of the Cotton Board were Dan Davis and Donald Johnson, both of Lubbock, Mike Burkholder of Pecos and A. D. May of Rule. For second choice members and alternates, respectively, the caucus submitted T. W. Stockton of Crosbyton and Marion Bowers of Seminole, and Homer Easterwood of the Texas Coastal Bend area and Norris Anders of Rule.

As producer delegates to the NCC, the organizations named Cline, W. B. Criswell of Idalou, and Wilbert Braden of St. Lawrence. Alternates to the three will be Joe Pate of Lubbock, Gary Ivey of Ralls and Rusty Andrews of Brownfield.

In addition to PCG, six other regional cotton producer associations and the Texas Farm Bureau take part in the naming of producer delegates to the National Cotton Council. All of these, plus the Texas Farmers Union, the Texas Federation of Cooperatives, Texas Cotton Growers Cooperative, Southwestern Irrigated Cotton Growers, and Greenbelt Cotton Growers are certified by the Secretary of Agriculture as interest organizations for the selection of Cotton Board and CI Board members.

CANCER ANSWER LINE American Cancer Society
M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

A senior citizen writes: "I know a lot of people who have had cancer and been treated and lived to a ripe old age. Now I know someone who is refusing to be treated and is going to have some quack cure. Why on earth do intelligent people go to quacks?"

ANSWERline: There are many answers to that question but perhaps one of the most insightful comes from Orville Kelly, a cancer patient who founded "Make Today Count," an organization of people with life-threatening illness. When he became a public speaker telling about his personal cancer experience and emotions, he was besieged by people pushing "miraculous" cures including "magic sleeping boards," asparagus diets, psychic surgery, and laetrile, a substance made from apricot pits. "I think that I would rather have cancer," Kelly said when one woman suggested a tumbler full of castor oil mixed with olive oil, every hour on the hour. But, he has noted, "desperate people do desperate things - when a patient's life is involved - emotions overcome skepticism." People advocating "miracle" cures often prey on these emotions. This can lead to tragic results, especially when legitimate treatment that might make a life or death difference is withheld. Perhaps a talk with the people at your local American Cancer Society Unit would break the hold the "miracle cure" has on your friend's thinking. It's worth a try.

A consumer advocate asks: "Has the Food and Drug Administration banned the red dyes that seem to be a health problem?"

ANSWERline: Early in 1976 the FDA banned Red Dye No. 2, the nation's most widely used artificial coloring, and in September, Red Dye No. 4 was banned for use in foods. At the present time both the FDA and industry are conducting testing of many other colors used in food, drugs and cosmetics, to make sure that whatever is used has been adequately shown to be safe.

Texas Oil & Gas...

Refining-Processing Critical to Economy

By H.B. (Hank) Harkins, President, Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association

Texas long has been famous as a producer of petroleum energy. Fortunately, its involvement with crude oil and natural gas does not end with production of these resources in their raw state.

Petroleum refining and processing, including the manufacture of petrochemicals, strengthen the state's economy as Texas plants upgrade raw petroleum to finished commodities or feedstocks.

Although this industry is highly automated, it accounts for one of every four jobs and $1.00 of every $3.00 in wages paid by Texas manufacturers. The U. S. Interior Department notes that in 1977, the mineral refining and processing industry in Texas employed an average of 195,000 workers. Texas refiners and processors paid these workers wages totalling approximately $3.2-billion.

The petrochemical industry alone creates about 60,000 direct jobs. It necessitates an additional 300,000 jobs in supporting trades and services in the state.

Texas refinery workers last year numbered approximately 41,250. They earned wages amounting to $844-million.

Texas' 52 refineries have a daily capacity of approximately 4.6-million barrels. This represents 27.2-percent of U.S. capacity; 5.9-percent of world-wide capacity.

During the four years between 1973 and 1978, Texas' capacity to refine crude oil increased 23.2-percent. But, refining capacity in several other states and foreign countries has increased at a faster rate since the 1973 Middle East oil embargo. The rest of the United States increased its capacity 26-percent; countries in the Middle East and Africa increased their capacity 25.1-percent.

As a result, Texas' share of the market is in jeopardy of declining. Increased capacity elsewhere means more competition for available crude oil.

However, the Texas refining industry holds the promise of continuing as a processing center for imported crude oil. Since 1972, a predictable but basic shift has occurred. Prior to that time, Texas refiners refined crude oil from Texas fields almost exclusively. By last year, that percentage had dropped to 49.6-percent. Some 8.9-percent came from other states, with approximately 41.5-percent from other countries.

A pipeline bringing Alaskan crude oil from California to Texas, a natural gas pipeline from Mexican fields to the Rio Grande; large tankers carrying crude oil and natural gas from the Middle East off-loading on the Texas Gulf Coast; these developments, scarcely imagined only a few years ago, offer the best hope for a viable petroleum refining and processing industry in Texas in the years to come.

Proposals That You'd Love to See Become Law But Know You Never Will Dept.:

Calling the United States "the fiscal laughing stock of the world," Sid Taylor, research director of the National Taxpayers Union, called upon President Carter to demonstrate fiscal leadership by taking a 20 per cent cut in pay.

As if that wasn't enough, Taylor also revealed his Budget-to-Deficit formula. "The federal budget is now about $500 billion and the deficit is about $60 billion—that's 12 per cent. Whenever we have a deficit, then Congress should have its salaries reduced by that budget-to-deficit formula. That would encourage them to cut the budget-to-deficit ratio."

Now that's a proposal every taxpayer would support!

Regulations Add to High Home Prices

New houses, already out of reach to the average American, cost between $1500 and $2500 more due to regulations imposed by federal, state, and local governments, according to the Tax Foundation.

Ranging from permit and inspection fees to time-consuming and excessively detailed environmental impact studies, these regulations cost homeowners $4 billion in 1977.
