How It Looks From Here By Ray Freedman

When in the course of events, the postal workers deem it necessary that they demand a raise in their already astronomical salaries, we again hear the hue and cry that the businessman has caused the increases in mail rates by their voluminous transmissions of junk mail. Now, it has been transmitted through the system is indeed or free mail sent out by the literally thousands of agencies and bureaus of the state and federal governments. This mail provides reams of information for publication by newspapers. This is where it becomes the editor's problem of determining the difference between advertisement and publicity.

The worst offenders are those officials, who are seeking public exposure in the hope that they may gain election to a higher office, or retain the one they have. These folks are just about as subtle as a bull elephant in providing all manner of

The second quarter allowed both teams to get on the scoreboard. Sudan, on their first possession of the second quarter, scored on a 65-yard run by Victor King. Mike Jones faked the extra point and completed a pass to Joey Bellar in the end-zone for two points. A Wolverine punt was blocked and recovered by Sudan in the end-zone for a safety making the score 16-0. With 1:52 remaining in the first half, Springlake scored with J.D. Randolph going over on a 2-yard run. Mike Smith ran for 2 extra points. Sudan led 16-8 at halftime. The Hornets lost a little time in the third quarter when statistical information about monies being returned to communities, Social Security and other trivia that not very many of us either understand nor give a tinkers—about.

Maybe the next few years will provide a few days of slack time in which we can sit down and compose several hundred letters to some of the agencies and request that our name be eliminated from their mailing list, of which they have more than likely not updated in several years.

MOTTOS—Possibly one of the least publicized organizations in this country is called "Let's Have Better Mottos Association". The stated purpose of this association is to "do away with such mottos as 'THINK', 'A PENNY SAVED IS A PENNY EARNED', 'DO IT NOW', and replace them with some non-inspirational mottos". Here are some of the mottos that have received the most support from the organization. WHEN IT COMES TO GIVING, SOME PEOPLE STOP AT NOTHING. TO ERR IS HUMAN, TO FORGIVE IS AGAINST COMPANY POLICY. WHEN EVERYTHING'S COMING YOUR WAY YOU'RE PROBABLY ON A ONE-WAY STREET. KEEP BOTH FEET ON THE GROUND and you'll never get your pants off. The all-time best motto is suggested as: IT'S NOT WHETHER YOU WIN OR LOSE, BUT HOW YOU PLACE THE BLAME. OR JUST BECAUSE YOU HAVE A JOB, DON'T FEEL YOU MUST STOP LOOKING FOR WORK.

In the day to day operation of the welfare department, they receive some interesting and sometimes humorous letters. Some of them contain information so veiled that it may take an interpreter to decipher them. Here are a few that we have had called to our attention. "I am forwarding my marriage certificate and six children. I have seven, but one died, which was baptized on a half sheet of paper." "I am writing to welfare to see that my baby was born two years old. When do I get my money?" "Mrs. Jones had not had any clothes for a year and has been visited regularly by the preacher." "I cannot get sick pay. I have six children. Can you tell me why?" "I am glad to report that my husband who is missing is dead." "This is my eighth child, what are you going to do about it." "Please find out for certain if my husband is dead. The man I am living with can't sleep or do anything until he knows." "I am very much annoyed to find out you have branded my son an illiterate. This is a dirty lie, as I was married two weeks before he was born." "In answer to your letter, I have given birth to a boy weighing 10 pounds. I hope this is satisfactory." "I am forwarding my marriage certificate and three children. One of which is a mistake as you can see." "My husband got his project cut off two weeks ago and I haven't had any relief since. Why?" "Unless I get my husband's money pretty soon, I will be forced to lead an immortal life." "You have changed my little boy to a girl. Will this make a difference?" "I have no children as yet as my husband is a truck driver and works day and night." "In accordance with your instructions I have given birth to twins in the enclosed envelopes." "I want my money as quickly as possible I can get it. I have been in bed with the same doctor for two weeks and he doesn't do me any good. If things don't improve I will have to send for another doctor to help him."

There is, indeed, reason for genuine concern over excessive and growing regulation of our lives by government.

We haven't always had a problem in this country with over-regulation by government. But we sure have one today.

The first regulatory law wasn't enacted by Congress until 1887, the 100th anniversary of our Constitution—and 111 years after the Declaration of Independence was signed.

That law, the Act to Regulate Commerce, created the Interstate Commerce Commission which was the first and for 27 years the only independent regulatory agency in the Federal Government. The Federal Trade Commission was next, established in 1914. Then came other regulatory agencies: The Federal Power Commission, 1920; The Food and Drug Administration, 1930; The Securities and Exchange Commission, 1934; The Federal Communications Commissions, 1934; The Civil Aeronautics Board, 1938.

For more than 80 years, from the time of the first federal regulatory law in 1887 until this decade, government was concerned primarily with economic regulation.

Most of the mechanism for economic regulation was placed by the beginning of World War II.

But a wholly new type of government regulation came with the beginning of the 1970s: social regulation. Establishment of such agencies as the Environmental Protection Agency, 1970; the Consumer Product Safety Commission, 1972; and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, 1973, have made it a whole new ball game. The CAB, for example, has jurisdiction over a few hundred firms. The ICC over a few thousand. But EPA, CPSC and OSHA have an impact on hundreds of thousands of firms, non-profit organizations and state and local governments. The Federal Register is the book in which new government regulations are published. In 1955 some 10 thousand pages were published. In 1955 some 10 thousand pages were published each year in the Federal Register. By 1970, 15 years later, that number had grown to 20,000. But by 1977, following the advent of social regulation, the number of pages in the Federal Register had mushroomed to 70,000.

President Thomas Jefferson, in his first inaugural address 177 years ago, expressed eloquent opposition to excessive government regulation "... a wise and frugal government." There are a few pursuits the modern-day U.S. citizen is free to regulate for himself. Government regulates more facets to our lives these days and the trend is toward more of it.

In 1955 some 10,000 pages of regulations were published each year in the Federal Register. By 1970, 15 years later, that had doubled to 20,000 pages and by 1977 the pages in the Federal Register had grown to 70,000!

A study put the cost of federal regulations to consumers, taxpayers and businessmen at $102 billion a year.

We pay the price in several ways. The cost of maintaining 41 federal regulatory agencies is estimated to have increased from $2.2 billion in fiscal year 1974 to $4.8 billion '79; federally-mandated safety and environmental features have increased the price of the average automobile by $666 in 1978; and, federal, state and local government regulations currently add between $1,500 and $2,500 to the cost of a typical (Cont. on page 5)

Campaign Underway

Volunteers for the 1978 Kiss A Baby Campaign will call on their neighbors, Sunday, September 24, to encourage them to kiss their babies and ask their help in the fight for the millions of children across the nation who suffer from lung-damaging diseases.

Seeking volunteers are committeemen, Ed King, Pete Phillips, Billye Doty and Hoyt Robertson of the Sudan Community Improvement Association.

In conjunction with the campaign, a concert at 2:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon by Sudan's "Last Of A Kind" will be held at the city square next to the community center. It will be followed by the door-to-door canvas of town when packets will be issued to volunteers.

The campaign's door-to-door drive will be conducted in Sudan for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation as part of the annual effort to raise funds for programs benefiting children with cystic fibrosis and other lung-damaging diseases.

On Friday, September 22, booths will be manned in the lobby of the First National Bank and in the Post office with containers elsewhere for donations.

"Our cause is a very important one. Lung diseases kill more children in this nation than any other disease except cancer," said a spokesman from the Sudan Community Improvement Association who is sponsoring the local campaign.

"Cystic Fibrosis is the number one genetic killer of children, and approximately 40 percent of persons suffering from C-F are not yet diagnosed.

Contributions to the Kiss A Baby Campaign will help support a national network of over 100 Cystic Fibrosis Centers, research projects around the world and various educational programs.

Cystic Fibrosis Centers, most located at teaching hospitals affiliated with leading medical schools and universities, provide diagnosis, treatment, and referral to children suffering from cystic fibrosis, asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, "childhood emphysema" and recurrent pneumonia.

Hospitals dealing with gastrointestinal disorders related to C-F are located in Dallas, Houston and San Antonio.

Through research it is hoped to find a cure and control for cystic fibrosis. Another goal of the research program is developing better methods of treating children with lung-damaging diseases.

Most of the funds that are raised in the Kiss A Baby Campaign go to these very important national programs. But almost 50 percent of the monies stay in this Chapter area to support services for local children with Cystic Fibrosis and other lung-damaging diseases.

Cystic Fibrosis affects one out of every 1,500 infants born each year. Although incurable, cystic fibrosis can be effectively treated.

"Since the C-F Foundation was established in 1955, remarkable progress has occurred in treating children with cystic fibrosis," the campaign committeemen commented. At that time, most children with this disease died early in life. Today, more than 50 percent of the children with cystic fibrosis live past their 18th birthday, and that is a beautiful 20th anniversary gift of life.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir,

Would you please print the following letter in the next edition of the Sudan paper? We, as an organization, are trying to encourage each citizen to write the County Commissioner and County Judge urging them to purchase a "raised roof" ambulance for Sudan.

Hubert Dykes, Lamb County Commissioner, P.O. Box 34, Sudan, Texas 79371.

Sir,

We, the people of Sudan, being members of the Sudan Community Improvements Association, would like to bring a thought to your minds about the ambulance to be purchased for our community. It is our understanding that in spite of discussions to consider a "Raised roof" ambulance, you intend to purchase a short one.

Can you imagine yourself trying to apply pressure to a wound, CPR, hold an oxygen mask in place, tilt a patient's head back, or deliver a baby, possibly as far as Lubbock and all this time, be on your knees, or if trying to stand, being half bent? It puts one in mind of trying to blow your nose, scratch your head, tie your shoes, or take a bath with your hands tied. Or, even buying a vehicle with no heater, only 3 wheels, improper exhaust system, or even a police car with no police radio.

We would like to urge you, once more, to give more serious thought and even prayer toward the purchase of our ambulance. Consider the patients care as well as the men to administer aid.

After all, the ambulance will be managed by volunteers. All are competent men. Why should the patient suffer, or the attendant suffer for the lack of "A Few Inches" of room?

Thanking you in advance for your concern for our community, I remain,

Very Truly yours, Joan Chester

PUBLIC NOTICE SUMMARY OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS GENERAL ELECTION NOV. 7, 1978

"The Tax Relief Amendment" (H.J.R. 1)

H.J.R. 1 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution allowing the legislature to exempt intangible personal property, requiring the legislature to exempt certain household goods and personal effects, and allowing the legislature to exempt all or part of the personal property homestead from state and local property taxation.

The amendment requires the legislature to provide for the taxation of farm and ranch land on the basis of its productive capacity instead of its market value and allows the legislature to provide for the taxation of timber land on its productive capacity.

The amendment permits local governments to extend the present exemption of not less than $3,000 of the residence homestead of persons 65 and older to include certain disabled persons.

The amendment grants an exemption from public school property taxes of $5,000 of the market value of the residence homestead. It authorizes the legislature to grant an additional exemption from public school property taxes of an amount not to exceed $10,000 of the market value of the residence homesteads of persons 65 years of age or older and certain disabled persons. If a person 65 years of age or older qualifies for this exemption, the total amount of public school taxes imposed on that person's homestead may not be increased.

The amendment prevents local governments from increasing property taxes unless the governing body provides public notice and conducts a public hearing. The amendment requires the legislature to provide by law for each property owner to receive notice of the revaluation of his property and the amount taxes will be increased.

The amendment limits appropriations from state tax revenue to an amount not to exceed Texas' estimated economic growth rate, with the legislature authorized to make exceptions for emergencies.

The amendment prohibits the statewide appraisal of real property for property tax purposes. Enforcement of uniform standards and procedures for appraisal of property for property tax purposes is required to originate in the taxing authority where the property tax is imposed.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for tax relief for residential homesteads, elderly persons, disabled persons, and agricultural land; for personal property exemptions; for truth in taxation procedures, including citizen involvement; for a redefinition of the tax base; for limitations on state spending; and for property tax administration."

NUMBER ONE (S.J.R. 50)

S.J.R. 50 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to delete the archaic reference to the "Deaf and Dumb Asylum." The amendment would allow the State of Texas to purchase products and services done by handicapped individuals in nonprofit rehabilitation facilities without complying with bid requirements applicable to other state contracts. The amendment also would eliminate the formality of the approval of certain state contracts by the Governor, the Secretary of State and the Comptroller of Public Accounts.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment deleting the archaic reference to the 'Deaf and Dumb Asylum,' allowing certain products and services of handicapped individuals to be used by agencies and departments of state government, requiring the procurement of other products and services required in the operation of state government to be made under bids awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, making all such procurement processes subject to laws enacted by the legislature, and eliminating the requirement that the Governor, the Secretary of State, and the Comptroller of Public Accounts of Texas be personally involved with such transactions."

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

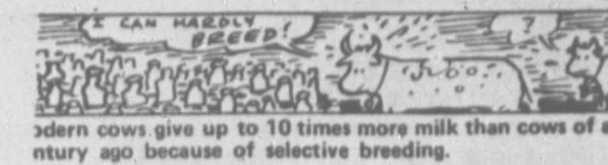

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to exempt from taxation solar and wind-powered energy devices."

NUMBER FIVE (H.J.R. 37)

H.J.R. 37 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to grant exclusive jurisdiction to justices of the peace in civil cases where the amount in controversy does not exceed $200, except where the legislature gives exclusive jurisdiction to another court.

The amendment grants justices of the peace concurrent jurisdiction with county courts where the amount in controversy is between $200 and $500, except where the legislature gives the county court exclusive jurisdiction.

The amendment also grants justices of the peace concurrent jurisdiction

Young Homemakers Week

The Sudan Young Homemakers is a chartered organization for young women interested in homemaking. The organization is sponsored by the Division of Homemaking education, Texas Education Agency, in cooperation with the school and Pam Bales who serves as chapter Advisor.

The Young Homemakers goal is to provide creative opportunities for young women in maintaining effective personal family, and community life. Any woman not enrolled in high school and who are not over 35 may become an active member upon payment of dues. Women over 35 may join and have all rights and privileges of active members except they may not vote or hold an office.

The Sudan Young Homemakers meet the first Monday of each month at the Homemaking Cottage. Young Homemakers have a program each month and serve refreshments. Once a year, they have a night out without children or husbands.

In October they have an ice cream booth at the Halloween Carnival. In December, they have a Christmas party for their husbands. In March, they sponsor the cancer drive in Sudan. In April they serve refreshments for the FHA Style Show.

The Young Homemakers make a float for the July 4th celebration and have a hamburger supper for their husbands each summer. In August, the Young Homemakers have a get-acquainted salad supper to recruit new members. In September they have a kidnap breakfast for new FHA girls. Each year the chapter gives a $150.00 scholarship to their little sister chosen from the Senior FHA class.

Young Homemakers week is Sept. 18-24.

FFA Plowgirl Sweetheart Named

The first officers meeting of the Sudan FFA was held August 28th. All officers were present.

Business at hand was the setting up of our local "programs of work" for the 1978-79 school year and organizing officers for the first chapter meeting to be held on September 12.

The Sudan FFA Chapter held their first meeting, Tuesday, September 12.

Twenty six members were present and Chapter Vice President, Mike DeLoach, presided over the meeting in the absence of Kevin Fisher who was unable to attend due to an accident.

The first item of business was the election of a new Sentinel. John Chester was elected.

The second item was the election of the Chapter Sweetheart and Plowgirl. Shelley Pickrell was elected Sweetheart and Tracey Hill, Plowgirl.

District officer candidate selection was the next item of business. Last year's District Reporter, Mike DeLoach was selected to represent Sudan. James Humphreys was elected a Voting Delegate and Gary Fields as Alternate.

Dues were set by chapter vote, and these need to be in by October 15.

The next monthly meeting will be October 15 when the program will be brought by the game warden.

The sales tax is collected by merchants and other sales tax permit holders along with the state sales tax and rebated monthly to the cities in which it is collected by the Comptroller's Office.

Survey Conducted

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey in this area during the week of September 18-23, to determine the extent people have been immunized against selected diseases, Percy R. Millard, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Dallas, announced today.

The survey is conducted throughout the U.S. every year to provide information on immunization against measles, influenza, polio, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, rubella, and mumps needed for administration of health programs geared to disease prevention. These health questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Results of the monthly employment survey provide data on conditions in the labor force, prime indicators of the economic health of the country. For example, in July the survey indicated that of the 100.6 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 94.4 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 6.2 percent, up from 5.7 percent in June, the lowest rate in nearly four years.

Personal information supplied in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and results are used only to compile statistical totals.

SMALLER CROP BRIGHTENS COTTON PRICE OUTLOOK-Prospects for a smaller cotton crop that was expected earlier this year have improved the price outlook despite sagging demand.

With deteriorating crop prospects in West Texas and California, U.S. production may be down to about 11 million bales instead of the 11.8 million estimated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture Crop Reporting Board on August 1. The 1977 crop totaled 14.4 million bales.

"The shortfall points to a price level somewhat higher in the second half of 1978 than the average of 49 cents per pound received by Texas producers during the first half of the year," notes Dr. Carl G. Anderson, cotton marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "However, supplies expected to be adequate to meet disappearance. This means that carryover of cotton at the end of the 1978-79 season will be only slightly less than the 5.4 million bales on hand when the season started."

While the Close balance between production and takeoff will cause the market price to be sensitive to news about any changes in worldwide production, the overall price increase will likely be small. Due to the sluggish demand, a much larger drop in production than now anticipated will have to develop to trigger a substantial jump in price, believes Anderson.

Even though planted acreage in Texas is close to that of last year, the crop is suffering from lack of moisture and hot weather. So it may fall short of the 3.7 million bale crop estimated by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in early August. This compares with 5.5 million bales last season and 3.3 million bales in 1976. However, production prospects are better in other major cotton growing areas.

"The higher price earlier this year has apparently encouraged foreign producers not to reduce cotton acreage as much as planned earlier," notes Anderson. "Foreign production is expected to slightly exceed the 49.3 million bale crop estimated for the 1977-78 crop year."

Foreign consumption is also expected to change little and will likely exceed production by about 5 million bales during the present year. That would be about the same size as the gap in 1977-78 and should maintain a strong export market for U.S. cotton, believes the marketing specialist. Cotton consumption in foreign countries is lagging as slow economic growth and a high rate of inflation are reducing the purchasing power of consumers, especially in Japan and several European countries.

In the U.S., mill consumption of cotton continues to shrink while use of man-made fiber is increasing, reports Anderson. During the first 10 months of this season, mill use was 5.3 million running bales, 4 percent less than in the same period a year earlier. During the same period consumption of man-made fibers by mills with cotton system spindles totaled 1.71 billion pounds, up 8 percent from the year before.

Economic conditions will likely continue to curtail the demand for cotton in the year ahead," says Anderson. "Current indicators point to a sharp slowdown in U.S. economic growth. An escalating inflation rate suggests less capital spending and a slackening in personal income growth that will dampen economic activity."

In the past, an economic downturn has resulted in a slump in demand for fiber, notes the specialist. The Gross National Product is constant dollars decreased 1.4 percent in 1974 and 1.3 percent in 1975 from the level in the preceding year. At the same time, total consumption fell 13 percent and another 4 percent in 1975 before rebounding in 1976 along with the upturn in economic activity.

COLLECT SOIL SAMPLES THIS FALL-Why wait until bad weather sets in this fall or the rush of spring work next year to collect soil samples?

Numerous studies have shown that nutrient levels and soil pH do not change rapidly so that samples can be collected well ahead of planting. Most important is to have a long range plan for sampling each field at two to four-year intervals. This can be accomplished by sampling 1/4 to 1/2 of the fields each year or sampling all at two to four-year intervals.

A farm map should have permanent field numbers and these numbers used each time samples are collected. Keeping results and observing changes over a period of time is essential for obtaining the greatest amount of useful information from soil tests.

To collect a representative sample, give careful attention to instructions on the back of soil sampling information sheets available at the county Extension office. Obtain a composite sample to represent the plowlayer in cultivated fields and the top 3 to 4 inches for perennial sod crops. This requires 10 to 20 slices or cores at random over the field.

Averaging the variation caused by past fertilization, liming, cropping and natural conditions requires a special effort to collect good samples. And a good sample is essential for satisfaction to be expected from soil tests.

So get the jump on next year's cropping program by collecting soil samples now.

BROWN PATCH HITTING LAWNS-With the onset of cooler temperatures and rainy weather, homeowners will once again be plagued with brown patch disease in lawns.

Brown patch is a fungus disease that occurs on St. Augustinegrass, Bermudagrass and Zoysiagrass in late spring and early fall.

Brown patch is characterized by three different types of symptoms in turf. The most common is circular patterns of dead grass from 1 to 50 feet in diameter. The second type of symptom is a diffused type of pattern of which small patches of grass will turn brown primarily in shady locations. The third symptom is where individual leaf blades turn yellow in turf; this is usually the way brown patch shows up in St. Augustinegrass.

In all three instances, both the blades and leaf sheaths may be pulled easily from the stolons because of deterioration in the attachment area. Stolons often remain green. New leaves may emerge in the center of circular areas within two to three weeks, giving the disease a doughnut shaped appearance. The entire spot may eventually become green during a long growing season.

The disease develops most rapidly when air temperatures are between 75 and 85 degrees F. when free moisture is present. Fungal activity stops when air temperatures reach 90 degrees F., which explains seasonal development of the disease.

Some lawns are affected almost every year while others are damaged only occasionally. Apply fungicides where brown patch is a chronic problem. In other areas where the disease occurs occasionally, apply fungicides when the disease first appears.

Among fungicides cleared for use in controlling brown patch are Benomyl and Terraclor PCNB.

By Mrs. Dan Gerber

Many health experts are concerned about tooth decay in young children. To protect your baby's teeth, avoid using a bottle as a pacifier at nap or bedtime. Prolonged contact of baby teeth with juice (or formula) can promote dental caries.

If the bottle remains in the baby's mouth, the saliva cannot neutralize juice acidity, which can harm tooth enamel.

Let me reassure you there is a place for juice in a baby's diet. Gerber strained juices are an important source of vitamin C and are naturally sweet. After the child is 6 to 8 weeks old, juices may be fed from a bottle or training cup. Remember that your child should be in an upright position when eating or drinking.

In 1963 the General Accounting Office conducted an audit for Congress and recommended that FHA and VA consolidate their property appraisal forms. These two agencies have been dancing around this proposal for 15 years now and have not yet implemented it.

In 1976 some 50,000 homeowners had to pay $75 to VA for an appraisal and then turn around and pay another $60 for an FHA appraisal because neither agency will accept the other's appraisal.

HAIR TRENDS

What's the current word in hairstyles? Curly, curly, curly. From the casual tous to the wild and wavy style, to the more controlled hard, the wave's the thing. How to get that look and maintain it too? Permanent, of course. Perms provide the "permanent" solution to easy care maintenance and long-lasting results. And hair stays healthy whether you're disco dancing or jogging.

Be a smarty! When you decide to have a perm, go to a professional hair stylist who will combine consultation, permanent waving and precision haircutting for a beautiful personalized hair design. This will ensure results that are tailored especially to your individual lifestyle requirements. Think permanent and you'll swing into season - in style!

You'll also find a little helpful free advice on styles and permcare in a special Perm Booklet by writing to Zotos International, Box 1005-P, Darien, Ct. 06820.

Don't throw out the liquid from canned vegetables. This is usually rich in nutrients.

John Hill is attacking State Budget waste . . .

"I've already started my search for waste in the state budget. I want to be ready to tackle overspending the minute I take office as Governor in January. My budget office already is paring down big state agency budget requests, to keep spending within available revenues. We'll have to live within our means, because I'll veto any new taxes."

. . . because he knows our taxpayers need relief from inflation.
