Band Takes 1 At UIL Contest

The Sudan Hornet Band won a "1" in UIL Contest at Jones Stadium in Lubbock on Tuesday, November 7.

The Community is very proud of our band and the Director, Kyle Ellison.

They performed Saturday, November 4 at the ACU Football game in Abilene to a capacity filled stadium of some 7,000 persons.

When the 64 member marching band from Sudan High plays "Conquistadors Grand Entry", they enter the northeast end of the field from two company fronts that form a right angle. Marching down the field, the band moves from the right angle formation to a box formation. The band now starts a precision drill that takes them from the right angle formation on the North 40 to 4 company fronts marching at a 45 degree angle to the West side lines in front of the press box. The 4 company fronts move to center field going into a block 8 band formation and halt.

For "LaBanda March", the band performs a step 2 maneuver marching at a 45 degree angle toward the south end of the field changing the shape of the band from a block 8x8 square to a parallelogram. Executing a reverse drill, the band moves back to a block band formation then to four company fronts at the South end of the field.

"March For A Festival", the four company fronts step off together moving north down the field to 2 company fronts on the North and South 40 degree lines. "Stars and Stripes Bequine", the band now executes a precision drill in the center of the field to an unusual Bequine arrangement of Sousa's famous Stars and Stripes Forever. "Somewhere-From Westside Stroy", the band now starts an exit drill to the side line on the East side of the stadium.

Hornets Lose Heartbreaker

The Sudan Hornets lost a heartbreaker Friday night as they dropped a 20-12 decision to the Amherst Bulldogs.

The Hornets drew first blood as they opened with a 42 yard pass and ran completion from Victor King to Joey Bellar. Two running plays gave the Hornets another first down at the Bulldog 24 yard line. From there the Hornets suffered the first of their 5 turnovers for the game as QB Mike Jones threw an interception on a 3rd down play. The Hornet defense opened strong and forced Amherst to punt after a first down. On their 2nd possession, the Hornets struck paydirt with the big play being a 26 yard scamper by John Miles. Jones finally reached the end zone on a 4th down 1 foot plunge. The X pt. snap was mishandled and the Hornets had a 6-0 lead.

Midway in the 2nd quarter, Miles broke loose on a 61 yard run only to have the play called back by a holding penalty. The Hornets got new life on a 4th down play as Miles ran 33 yards for an all important first down to the Bulldog 47 yard line. A 26 yard pass completion from Jones to Odell Johnson gave the Hornet another first on the Dog's 21 yard line. The drive was killed on the next play as the Hornets lost the ball on a fumble. Amherst came back to knot the score with 27 seconds left in the half on a 6 yard TD pass from QB Mills to their tight end Thompson. The scoring drive was aided by two 15 yard penalties against the Hornets.

The Bulldogs took the lead in the 3rd quarter as halfback Ronald Johnson scored from 27 yards. Wayne Johnson added the 2 pt. conversion to give Amherst a Applications have been mailed to the head coaches to purchase tickets for the team members at the special rate of only 50 cents per individual. All teams in attendance will be recognized at the game.

"We want the young athletes of the area to feel a part of our program," stated Dietl. "Thus, we felt this was a good way we could honor them. In addition, it should be a great football game and could have a bearing on the Missouri Valley Conference championship."

Dietl said coaches and athletic directors are requested to send their orders to the WT Ticket Office, Box 235, WT Station, Canyon, Texas 79016 as quickly as possible. Under state regulations, tickets cannot be mailed until payment is received.

Those requesting more information regarding the "Squad Night" festivities can contact Dietl or promotions director Jim Garner at the WT athletic department.

BOB GRAVES

Senior Spotlight

Robert Lynn Graves was born February 15, 1961. He is seventeen years old and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Graves. He was born under the sign of Aquarius.

Bob has brownish red hair, brown eyes, and is five foot eight inches tall. He loves playing pool.

His favorite food is steak and blue is his favorite color.

He plays varsity football and is captain of the team.

Prior to Bob's receiving a knee injury during a football game, he had been named as a Outstanding Hornet Player of the Week for the Sudan Farwell and Sudan-Springlake-Earth games.

Bob planned to return to classes this week following his recuperation from knee surgery.

The Bible Says--

"...but afterward he repented himself and went." Matthew 21:29

When I think of all the times God was patient with me as I lived in this world like I was going to live forever, I cannot help but be grateful for all the "second" chances He has given me. Just like this son who was told to work in the vineyard and at first refused, then repented and went. I have been often given another opportunity to repent of my hard heart and once again serve the God who loves me. I am always sad when I think of all the wasted years of seeking the pleasures of this earth which are so short-lived. In my pride I found it hard to admit I was wrong.

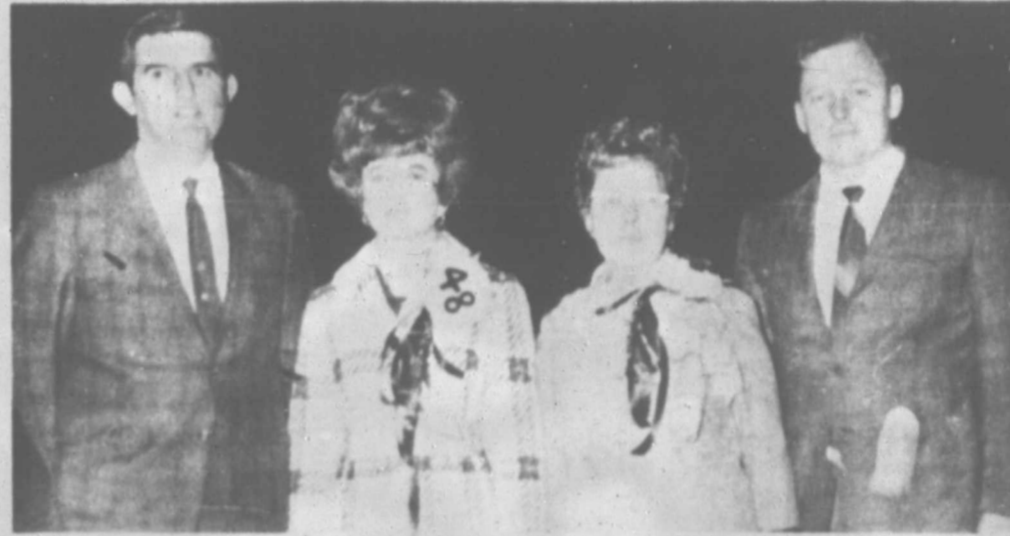

When Moses came down from the mountain after 40 days of carving out the two tables of stone, it was very discouraging to see the golden calf and God's people dancing around it. In anger and frustration, Moses threw down the tables and broke them to pieces. Just think of how he must have felt when he realized what he had allowed anger to do! All of that work gone in an instant!

Then God said patiently, "Hew thee two tables of stone like unto the first." He was to go back up into the mountain and receive the very same law and began again. God didn't give a different set of laws, nothing had changed, but Moses had to overcome his temper and selfishness and go back and carry out God's commands. God gave him another chance.

The fact that you are reading this today (if you do not belong to God) is evidence of a "second" chance. If you are not obeying God, do not continue on the wrong road. Study the Word of God. Our salvation is not based on our feelings or our moral goodness, but on the Word of God. What does the Bible say? God loves you, but a time is coming that God, because of His love, will not be able to give you or me another chance.

Do you remember these? Cheerleaders of days gone by!

14-6 3rd quarter lead. The Hornets roared back with a 72 yard TD drive highlighted by a 34 yard pass completion from Jones to Joey Bellar and the score coming on another 1 yard plunge by Jones. The try for two was no good and the Hornets had pulled to within two at 14-12 to begin the final quarter. Amherst added the final score on a 31 yard run by McDaniel to give them a 20-12 lead. The Hornets were unable to move the ball and Amherst sealed the win with an interception of a last ditch pass from Jones. The win brought the Bulldogs season record to 8-1 and dropped the Hornets to 5-4. Sudan finishes the season with a Homecoming game next Friday night against a tough Sundown Roughneck team.

The Eyes Of Texas

University of Texas Coach Fred Akers, sight saving chairman of the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness (TSPB), launches the "Save the Eyes of Texas" campaign with David Wells, TSPB's "Sight Saving Child". After screening and referral by TSPB's Preschool Vision Screening Program, David was diagnosed as having amblyopia or "Lazy Eye", an eye problem that must be treated as early as possible for full restoration of vision.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Wells, 40000 Silverspring Drive, Austin, and one of the 40,000 Texas children screened annually by volunteers trained by the Society to detect children's eye problems.

Organized in 1955 as an affiliate of the National Society to Prevent Blindness (NSPB), the Texas Society is a voluntary health agency devoted to sight conservation through a total program of research, public and professional education and community blindness prevention programs.

In addition to its Preschool Screening programs, TSPB also sponsors free glaucoma tests for people over 35 years of age.

Also under TSPB sponsorship is the Texas Wise Owl Club, which is a nation-wide safety program to promote the use of safety eyewear in schools and industry. Any school or company may apply for a charter in the Wise Owl Club. Membership is awarded to individuals whose sight is saved because of wearing safety eyewear at the time of a potentially blinding accident.

To obtain more information on any of the Society's sight-saving programs, please write Prevent Blindness, P.O. Box 13400, Houston, Texas 77019 or call 713-526-2559.

Baptists Take Action

Texas Baptists took action on issues ranging from support for farm workers to church-state separation at their annual state convention in undergirding Bold Mission Thrust.

Bold Mission Thrust is an ambitious effort by the 13-million-member Southern Baptist Convention to reach every person on earth with the Christian Gospel by the year 2000.

Texas Southern Baptists kicked off their 93rd annual session by pledging their financial support for Bold Mission with a record-breaking $31-million budget for the Cooperative Program.

The budget, which is $3 million greater than this year's, includes $10.9 million for home and foreign missions and more than $20 million for missions causes within Texas.

The more than 2,500 voting "messengers" from many of the 4,300 churches and missions of the Baptist General Convention of Texas also accented their mission support by re-electing Milton Cunningham, a former missionary to Africa as their president.

They elected Bob Edd Shotwell, minister of education at Hyde Park Baptist Church, Austin, as first vice president and Kenneth Patrick, pastor of First Baptist Church Big Spring, as second vice president.

Messengers refused to be derailed for long from their Bold Mission task despite a proposed resolution on oral genital sex which got sensational headlines in media.

President Cunningham, pastor of Westbury Baptist Church, Houston, had launched a drive for more lay involvement in annual sessions. The messengers put feet to the movement with a resolution suggesting that consideration be given to changing the convention dates to begin Thursday afternoon and end Friday night. They further encouraged churches to provide financial assistance to lay people who wish to attend the convention.

President Cunningham estimated there were about 30 percent more laymen attending the 1978 convention than the previous year's.

He pled with messengers and media not to permit the

LORETTA WOOD

River Ministry

Helping Others To ... Themselves" is the motto of a unique organization, Mighty River Handicrafts, managed by Loretta Wood of Van Horn, Texas.

Brownsville, and is divided into 3 regions, Upstream, Mid-stream and Downstream. Mrs. Wood manages Handicrafts in 300 miles of the Upstream Region, which includes the Big Bend area from Lomas De Arena to Boquillas, Mexico. The organization is supported by 400 Baptist churches.

Mrs. Wood became interested in the Handicrafts work about 14 months ago when she moved to Van Horn with her husband, J.C., who had become a voluntary missionary with the River Ministry, working as an agriculture consultant. Although they are both voluntary missionaries, working without a salary, Mrs. Wood says, "I believe we are just as called as professional missionaries. God can use those who are obedient and willing to serve Him."

oral sex resolution obscure the Bold Mission emphasis. Southern Baptists are seeking to recruit 5,000 lay volunteers for up to two years service in a Mission Service Corps, one of the Bold Mission emphases.

A Bold Mission goal within Texas, said Texas Baptist Executive Director James H. Landes, Dallas, is to begin 830 new congregations by 1982.

He called for "planting of small churches in communities of different cultural, racial and ethnic backgrounds" and said they would increase the Southern Baptist population in Texas by about 300,000.

A note of urgency for the Bold Mission Thrust goal to present Christ to the world by the year 2000 came from Dr. Wana Ann Fort, medical missionary to war-torn Rhodesia.

Speaking at the pre-convention session of the Texas Woman's Missionary Union, Dr. Fort said, "In Rhodesia we may not have that long."

A personal Bold Mission incident took place at the convention when a security guard at the Austin Municipal Auditorium found a peace he'd never known by accepting Christ as personal Savior.

The incident took place, said Lawrence Quinenez, 24, while he was talking with Bill Barnett who heads the Mission Service Corps in Texas.

"I felt a warm glow all over me," said Quinenez. "I came to work with a lot of questions, doubts and fears, and I'm leaving a different man."

Texas Baptist Messengers adopted updated guidelines on church-state relations, opposing government restrictions "that adversely affect the ability of the institutions to fulfill their distinctive purposes as Christ institutions."

The Christian Life Commission statements endorsed by the convention asked Texas Baptists to support legislation and programs which give Mexican farm workers power to improve their working conditions.

"It is not surprising that the wages for picking a sack of onions remained the same for 15 years," was part of the statement noting that the three poorest areas of the United States are in the Rio Grande Valley in Texas.

Another Christian Life statement approved by Texas Baptists supports "churches as they maintain the dignity and honor of women who choose to be homemakers while at the same time they affirm the expanding role of women in vocations outside the home."

The oral sex resolution followed in the wake of an action by Union Baptist Association (Houston area) the previous week, asking convention leaders to drop Author Charlie Shedd of Georgia, as a speaker at the statewide Conference on the Family March 29-31 in Dallas.

Houston Pastor Glynn Little charged in the Union Association resolution that Shedd condoned oral genital sex between husbands and wives in a series of tape.

Without debate, messengers adopted a toned-down statement from their resolutions committee requesting convention agencies to make sure that the emphasis of speakers who address the issue of human sexuality is "positive and Biblically sound."

Messengers voted on Amarillo for the 1983 convention site. They elected Russell Dilday, recently inaugurated president of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, to bring the convention sermon at the 1979 meeting in Lubbock.

ferent kinds of work, "from general maintenance to planting trees."

Bell hopes that by widening his skills, he'll increase his chances of employment when his 12 months with the corps end this fall.

The conservation organization is often thought of as a modern version of the Civilian Conservation Corps-highly regarded because of similar conservation work it did in the 1930's. However, enrollment in the Young Adult Conservation Corps is 39 percent female and it takes on a greater variety of tasks than the 1930's corps did.

But for the young people around the nation who have too little to do, the program offers more than birdcalls, bracing air, and $2.65 an hour. "We like to look back at projects we've completed," said one corps member, "and be able to say, 'I had a part in that.'"

YACC

"If YACC hadn't been available, I'd probably still be wandering around Leesburg, Fla.," said Ricky Smith, 18. Ricky is like many other people his age, driven by lack of opportunity from their home towns to work in the outdoors on some of the nation's conservation problems.

They find they like it. "I like doing different jobs and seeing different things. I've made new friends and I like the staff and the way they work with me and the rest of the crew."

many learn skills that allow them to compete in the job market. "I think this program's a good thing," said Terry Bell, an enrollee on the Cherokee National Forest in east Tennessee. "We've done a good job in this district and we haven't started a job yet that we didn't finish, even back in the cold weather."

LEARNING MANY SKILLS

Bell grew up in east Tennessee, graduated from the nearby high school and trained as a welder. His job with the corps is his first. He said he's learning many different kinds of work, "from general maintenance to planting trees."

ferent kinds of work, "from general maintenance to planting trees."

ferent kinds of work, "from general maintenance to planting trees."

A big fringe benefit is working in the fresh air and sunlight in the nation's huge national forests.

Throughout the country, Ricky and his colleagues are building miles of trails, picking up tons of litter, fighting forest fires, planting trees, developing and repairing picnic tables and completing scores of other conservation tasks that wouldn't be done without them.

In the process they're learning about themselves and about working with others. They're also learning skills to help them get jobs when their conservation work is done.

PREPARING CAMP

Ricky is a member of the Young Adult Conservation Corps. It started business a year ago to ease unemployment among young people and to do conservation work on public lands. Nearly 10,000 people like Ricky have worked in the national forests during the first year, gaining experience and developing an appreciation for the outdoors and for conservation.

"The projects I like best are construction oriented," says Ricky. "I'm kind of proud of the carpentry and plumbing work I've done on buildings here in the forest. I really enjoy what we're doing to get Camp Ocala ready."

Ricky and his crewmembers are fixing up the camp to accommodate 190 young people just joining the corps, plus a professional staff of 45. Ricky is helping to install new electrical and water lines, replace windows and roofs, and repair and paint camp cabins and support structures.

The corps has members, like Ricky, who live at home and commute each day to their forest "of-

NEWS Of Education

Prepared by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU), a national organization of public educators dedicated to expanded college opportunities and high standards of academic excellence.

Q. I'm thinking about going to college, but does a Bachelor of Arts degree still stand for high educational achievement?

A. Yes. Colleges are trying to expand opportunities for higher education while maintaining academic standards. A special AASCU task force established guidelines for more definitive standards of academic achievement and competencies necessary for a degree. Many state colleges and universities now are studying stricter qualifications for awarding baccalaureate degrees.

American Agriculture Movement

Representatives of the American Agriculture Movement (AAM) came down on President Carter recently for purposely dallying in signing the 1978 Meat Import Act.

"White House sources in Washington have indicated to American Agriculture representatives from Georgia President Carter has no intentions of signing the act before the November 7 elections," AAM National spokesman Eugene Schroder said.

He added, "The sources told the Georgia leaders Carter doesn't want to hurt anyone's election chances by signing the act. They say Carter intends to kill the bill through a pocket veto."

The National AAM spokesman went on to say Carter's actions show "how the administration is once again playing food politics with the American farmer and rancher."

The meat import act was devised to restrict the amount of beef which can be imported into the United States, tying it to fluctuations in beef production within the country. Congress passed the bill on October 16.

Good Nutrition by

Facts On Strokes

Q. Can I do anything to reduce the likelihood of my having a stroke?

A. There are no guarantees but there are some sensible precautions. To understand why these are suggested, it helps to understand what we mean by a stroke.

When a stroke occurs, part of the brain suddenly ceases to function because it is deprived of its blood supply. This can result in impairment of vision, speech, or hearing; loss of motor control; change in personality; and even death.

Ninety per cent of all strokes are a result of an obstruction in the vessels carrying blood to the brain. This is often associated with arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries). Sometimes there is thrombosis—formation of a clot in one of the brain's arteries. Sometimes an embolus (a clot from some other part of the body) gets stuck in a brain vessel. Some strokes result from stenosis—constrictions in the vessels. About ten per cent of strokes are caused by hemorrhage—due to congenital weakness, high blood pressure, brain tumor or leukemia.

Strokes account for over twenty per cent of the deaths traced to vascular diseases. It is estimated that some 364,000 Americans who are not in hospitals and nursing homes have some degree of paralysis or impairment due to strokes.

There is no sure way to prevent strokes. At present we don't know enough about underlying causes. But certain hopeful clues are emerging from studying decades-long medical histories of "well" people. Certain findings (risk factors) appear more frequently among people who eventually suffer a stroke.

Perhaps, by avoiding or controlling these risk factors, it may be possible to reduce the chance of having a stroke.

The risk factors include high blood pressure, diabetes, enlarged heart, elevated blood cholesterol, elevated levels of red blood cells, and cigarette smoking. Perhaps emotional stress, obesity, gout and oral contraceptive also may have an impact.

Little strokes are common forerunners of a major stroke. Signs of a little stroke may be sudden temporary weakness or numbness, speech difficulty which quickly passes, dimming or loss of vision, particularly if only one eye is involved, double vision, brief dizziness, loss of memory, unexplained change in personality or mental ability.

On the average, one third of the victims of a little stroke will have a major stroke in five to seven years. If you think you have had a little stroke, see your doctor—and start taking the steps to modify any risk factors you may have.

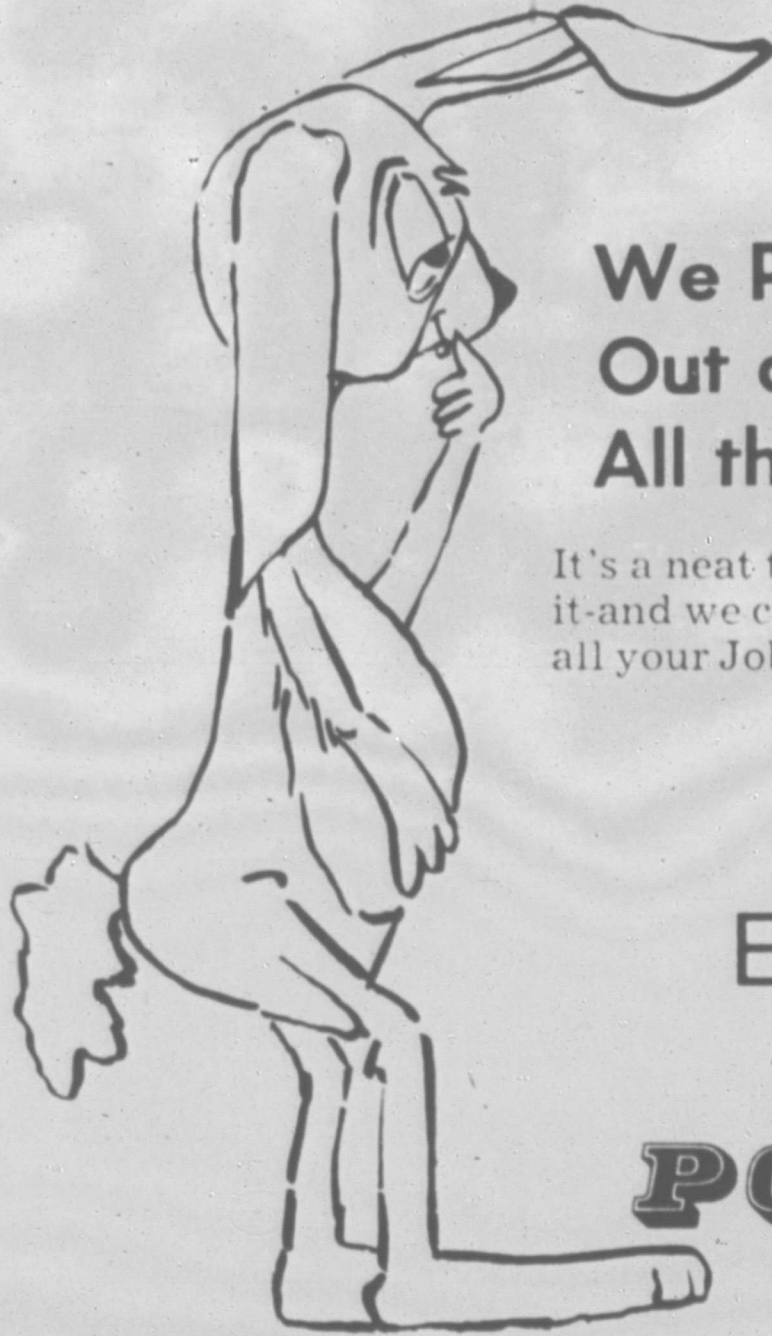

Your doctor may recommend that you stop smoking, correct obesity and readjust your diet—away from saturated fats, cholesterol-containing foods and salt—toward leaner, lighter meats, fish and poultry, more fruits, vegetables, cereals and breads, and more polyunsaturated fats like Mazola corn oil. It's worth a try!

For more about a lower saturated fat diet, write for "A Diet for Today," Dept. DT-GN, Box 307, Coventry, CT 06238.

New Hospital One Step Closer

South Plains Hospital-Clinic at Amherst received approval from the Texas Health Facilities Commission for the extension of completion deadlines as specified in their first exemption certificate, which was approved September 15, 1977.

A total of 29,042 square feet of floor space was approved in the October 5 exemption certificate, and the 35-bed replacement facility involved will be the construction of their new hospital.

The first exemption certificate (1977) was an approval of 6,120 square feet to correct the deficiencies, and which was to be completed in one year, the first of four different phases to be done on the present hospital site.

The new exemption certificate that was approved extends the time limit, and allows additional floor space because the hospital has decided to begin construction on a new location, and in one phase, instead of the four previously proposed phases.

Of the total square footage of floor space, 26,042 will be in the hospital facilities itself, while the remaining 3,000 square feet will be included in the clinic portion of the hospital, a grand total of 29,042 square feet for the entire hospital.

Cotton Prices Higher

Prices High Plains cotton growers received were around $5 to $7 per bale higher the week ending October 27, according to Paul Dickson, area Director at USDA's Marketing Services Office in Lubbock.

Growers sold mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and better, staples 30-63, mikes 3.5 - 4.9 around 58.35 cents per pound. New crop lots of mostly grades 42 and 52, staples 30 and 31, mikes 3.5 - 4.9 brought about 55.10 cents per pound, Dickson said.

High Plains Marketing Services Offices graded 39,800 samples this week, bringing the season's total to 71,600. This compares with 561,000 graded by October 27 last year, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Predominant High Plains grades this week were grade 41 at 19 percent, grade 32 was 15 percent, grade 42 accounted for 41 percent, and grade 52 was seven percent. Four percent were reduced one grade because of bark.

Staple lengths were mostly staple 30 at 24 percent, staple 31 was 32 percent and staple 32 accounted for 25 percent. Micronaire was mostly in the desirable 3.5 - 4.9 range at 92 percent of the total. Three percent was higher and five percent was lower.

FORMER HORNETS AND COACHES

plants, for topdressing the lawn, and for building up the soil in flower beds, shrub borders and vegetable gardens.

A simple method of composting leaves and other vegetable matter is to alternate four-to-six-inch layers of vegetable matter such as leaves or grass with two-to-four-inches of good garden soil. If available, add manure to the soil layer. Make the compost pile four-to-six feet wide and any desired length depending on material and space available.

Sprinkle a commercial fertilizer on each layer of vegetable matter to hasten decomposition. Use about one-half pound, or one cupful, of any good commercial fertilizer with a 1-1-1 ratio per 10 square feet.

The top layer of the compost pile should be soil and the surface of the pile should be dish-shaped, forming a basin to hold water. Water each layer of organic matter thoroughly before adding the soil layer. This is especially true when composting leaves as they can be extremely slow to decompose if too dry. Water the pile thoroughly when completed and add additional water as needed to keep the material moist but not soggy.

Turn or mix the compost with a garden fork or shovel every three or four months. This aerates the material and speeds up the composting process. Most compost should be ready to use in six months to a year. The use of commercially available compost activators will reduce the time required for decomposition only if used according to directions.

Well prepared compost can be used anywhere peat moss is used and is excellent way to dispose of garden debris, leaves and other organic material.

TREES ENHANCE LANDSCAPES - Landscapes almost always benefit from the use of trees, especially if proper placement and suitable species are considered.

Consider the scale and proportion of the tree species at maturity. If not properly planned, trees may become so massive that they have to be removed or they could visually overcome a small structure.

AMERICAN TRADITION

Gold School Rings

It may seem surprising to some, but today's sophisticated young people are still buying karat gold school rings—for generations of Americans the symbol of some of the best years of their lives—in great numbers: Over two million are sold every year.

STUDENTS STILL LOVE to buy gold class rings.

College and high school students are buying them for some of the same old-fashioned reasons their parents bought gold school rings: for a sense of pride in their schools and themselves, for a feeling of belonging and as a memento of peer group activities.

However, the traditional class ring has really changed with the times. Today's school ring has evolved into a highly customized piece of jewelry. Practically any sort of engraving or symbol, including the wearer's own signature, sign, or favorite activity, can be incorporated into the ring, and a wide variety of stone cuts and colors are available, too. Many people are buying gold school rings that feature their birthstone.

Another innovation in gold school rings is that while they're usually guaranteed for life, in many cases they can be traded. A high school class ring can be used as a trade-in for a gold college ring when the time comes.

It all seems like a good, traditional way to ring in school years.

The first bank run by women was founded in 1974 in New York City. Called the First Women's Bank and Trust Company, it has a woman president.

TEXAS 4-H CENTER TO BE DEDICATED—The Texas 4-H Center, completed in 1975 at Lake Brownwood, will be formally dedicated November 8.

Special ceremonies will begin at 11 a.m. and will include a "Burning of the note" indicating the final payment on the $1.5 million facility. A special plaque to be placed at the center will also be unveiled.

Keynote speakers on the program will be T. Louis Austin of Dallas, chairman of the Texas 4-H Foundation and chairman and chief executive of Texas Utilities Co. and Grant Shrum of Washington, D.C., executive director of the National 4-H Council.

The 4-H Center is owned by the Texas 4-H Foundation which is a nonprofit educational organization that arranges for financial support of the 4-H program. The center is staffed by Extension Service personnel.

Purpose of the center, built solely from private funds, is to provide a setting for training both youth and adults in a wide range of areas but centering primarily on leadership. Since the center opened its doors in 1975, some 8,000 to 10,000 persons have received training annually.

The facility is open the year round, with the summer months devoted mainly to 4-H camps and the school months used for volunteer training. Any organization with an educational program may use the center.

RECYCLE—DON'T BURN—Rather than burning leaves or hauling them to the dump this fall, why not use them for a compost pile? The resulting compost will provide a good source of organic matter for potted
