COOP HOSPITAL HOLD MEET FOR CITIZENS INTERESTED IN PLAN

The final meeting of the Cochran County Cooperative Hospital membership drive was held at the Morton Jr. High School auditorium at 8 p. m., Wednesday, April 10.

Mr. Glen Thompson, Chairman of the Board, addressing the audience said, "We are holding this second meeting at the request of interested citizens, in order that every citizen may better understand and become a member of the hospital if he so desires." Mr. Thompson pointed out that at a meeting of the Board of Directors on Monday, April 8, it was agreed that if the present rate at which the citizens are subscribing for memberships in the hospital is continued, there is a possibility that the membership will have to be closed in the very near future in order that the hospital may better serve its members. This plan is contrary to the one previously stating that memberships would be accepted at any time, because the membership thus far, has exceeded by more than one hundred, the anticipated number.

Those of you who haven't obtained your membership should do so as soon as possible before the allotted memberships are sold. A notice will be published in this paper when the membership goal has been reached. However, those who are unable to obtain one before that date will be placed on a waiting list upon request.

Mrs. Wesley Lackey has been in Lubbock with her mother, Mrs. W. F. Kirby who has been taking radium treatments at the Lubbock Hospital.

Morton's Fighting Indians Win Nine Out of Sixteen Fights Over Levelland Lobos Last Friday Night Here

Morton's fighting Indians won nine matches over the Levelland Lobos, dropped seven and two were called draws Friday night in the Morton High school gym.

It was the second meeting of the two fight teams, as both teams won eight and lost eight, with three even counts last Friday night in Levelland.

Babe Ritchie, of Lubbock, who was the third man in the ring, and who will be remembered by fistic fans as the man that fought Max Baer in Lubbock in 1939. He was a physical education director at Lubbock Army Air Field while he was in the armed forces.

Ritchie, J. D. Hawthorne and T. O. Petty of Levelland were the judges.

The first fight of the night between Bill Deavers of Morton, weighing 110 pounds, and Rex Maxwell of Levelland, who weighed in at 112, was won by Deavers by the technical route. The first round was about even, but Ritchie stopped the fight about midway of the third stanza, as Deavers was throwing everything he had in Maxwell's face.

Brooks of Levelland won a three-round decision over Lackey of Morton, after the first two rounds were about even. The boys weighed between sixty and seventy pounds.

Bob Johnson, 118, of Levelland fought Jimmy Winder, 119, of Morton to a three-round draw. Joe Kemp of Levelland, 88, won every round of his fight with Warren Patterson of Morton, who weighed 87. It was a wide open fight all the way.

Larry Roberts, 92, of Levelland, dropped a three-round slugfest to Teeny Weed, 90, of Morton.

Delmar Hightower, 72, of Levelland, who looked very much like he had lost his fight, came back in the last round for a rally to win over Roy Smith, 78, of Morton.

Bill McAllister, 145, of Morton, was edged out in a slugfest by Bill Ferrell, 138, of Levelland. Burl Deaver, 70, of Morton outpointed Harold, Phelan, 70, of Levelland in their three-round setto.

John Williamson, 168, blonde leather pusher of Morton dropped his fight to Jug Warren, 162, of Levelland. The first round was about even but the next two were in favor of Warren.

Buster Stevens, 126, of Morton, outslugged Gene Ferrell, 122, of Levelland throughout the contest.

Odell Baker, 92, of Morton was given a technical knockout over Ralph Bradshaw, 92, of Levelland, when Baker slightly injured Bradshaw's right arm early in the second round.

Ritchie stopped the fight due to the fact that Bradshaw was unable to continue the fight.

Sewerage Work Being Held Up

Morton's long anticipated and much needed sewerage is being held up because of the contractor's inability to secure the necessary pumps, high pressure lines and about 6,000 feet of pipe to the disposal plant, this in turn is holding up the paving of the square around Morton. The paving of the square will begin as soon as the sewer pipes are laid.

Cochran County's 4-H Club Aiding Food Crisis Here

The Food Crisis is being brought before Cochran County's two hundred 4-H Club Girls through demonstration on garden plantings that are being conducted by the County Home Demonstration Agent and Local 4-H Club leaders.

One of the goals that has been set up by the Girls is to produce enough tomatoes to supply the family table and can.

In demonstrations this month the home demonstration agent is giving the girls information concerning "tub gardens" in which to plant tomatoes as well as other gardening information.

The first guess of the 4-H'er when the question "what is a tub garden?" is asked is: "a tub with things planted in it." This answer, even though it seems logical, is incorrect. In a "tub garden" it is the tub that is planted as well as the plants.

"Tub Gardening" began a good many years ago in arid West Texas regions. In making the garden the tub or 5 gallon can is prepared by punching holes from the bottom up ten inches on the side of the tub with a large nail. The tub then is buried 12 inches in the ground and filled 2-3 full of good barn yard fertilizer, the fresher the better. Plants are planted approximately 8 to 10 inches away from the outside edge of the tub, four to the tub. Each morning or evening the tub is filled with water which filters through the fertilizer on to the plan to carry food as well as water.

It is estimated that if a girl will plant four tubs in her garden enough tomatoes can be produced for the family table and enough to can. Other vegetables such as cucumber, squash and melons do well in tub gardens.

LEHMAN FARMS PROJECT PLAN OFFICIALS HERE FOR STUDY

Mr. Sam McMillan and Mr. Wilson Dupy, Farm Management specialists from the Regional Farm Security Administration office in Dallas, along with Mr. John Key, land appraiser for this area and Mr. Marvin C. Wilson, District FSA supervisor, were in Cochran County last week to discuss the plans for the subdivision and sale of the 37,000-acre tract of land known as the Lehman Farms Project. The plans were discussed Friday with the local FSA Committee: Mr. Guy Weekes, W. A. Woods, and Floss Baldwin; Dick Perrin, Work Unit Leader for the SCS, and Mr. Glen Thompson and W. W. Smith, supervisors of this Soil Conservation District; and Mr. Roy Hickman, County Agent for Cochran County.

Mr. McMillan and Mr. Dupy returned to Dallas with information gathered from their council with these men and from their personal inspection of the land under observation, to work out detailed recommendations as to what disposition will be made of the land. They viewed with favor the proposal to subdivide the more fertile tight land into family-size units. However, the responsibility for the final subdivision of the land into suitable individual farm tracts, and the selection of applicants, will eventually rest with the local FSA Committee.

No applications for this land will be taken until the Farm Security Administration has worked out the final plans for the sale of this property.

Further information on the development of this project will be published in this and surrounding papers as it is received in the local FSA office.

Feed Summary Shows Good Supplies: Corn, Oats, Barley, Grain Sorghums

Although drought-stricken Cochran county produced little in comparison with usual farm production last year, supplies of corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums in the United States are the highest in 20 years.

The statement was released by County Agent Roy Hickman, who based his remarks on an extension service livestock and feed outlook report made by J. L. Matthews, assistant in agricultural planning.

Other parts of the feed summary were as follows:

"The large supply of feeds offset by reduced wheat feeding and reduced grain imports. More soft corn than usual was produced in 1945. The carryover of oats was larger due to an unusually heavy crop. The protein concentrate supply is slightly less than last season. The largest hay supply on record is available this season.

"Feed and hay prices for 1944-45 were the highest since 1919-21.

"Concentrates per animal will be slightly less than in 1945. Feed grains constitute 85 per cent of the feed concentrates.

"The demand may weaken due to lower livestock returns.

"Increases of exports to Europe may offset reduced food and industrial use of feed grains.

"Cottonseed cake and meal supplies are reduced from 1944-45. Quick relief if any in the protein situation will come from reduced egg prices and consequently marketing of birds together with reduced feeding.

"Prices of cottonseed cake and meal are expected to remain about the same until the fall of 1946. Feed grain prices except oats are expected to be about the same as they were during the 1944-45 season."

County Agent Reviews Anderson Seven-Point Plan To Aid Cotton Farmers by Illustrated Pamphlet Section

Cooperation of Cochran county cotton farmers in combating the year's problems of balanced farming, efficient production and better quality cotton is being sought. Key-note of the seven-point plan, as outlined by County Agent Roy Hickman, terms the suggestions "facing the future with cotton."

Increasing production of foreign cotton, rayon and other fiber products brings American - grown cotton face to face with a future beset with problems, said Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson.

A lengthy list of "maybes" are included in a bulletin released on the seven steps by the U. S. secretary of agriculture, which is being relayed to county farmers by Sherrill. The possibilities are directed to each individual farmer.

Anderson listed the possibility of labor saving through new and improved machinery, control in insects to save that one bale of cotton in seven that the pests take, cooperation with ginners in saving quality loss that results from bad ginning, protection and improvement of soil for higher yields, cooperation with other farmers, agreeing with neighbors on a uniform cotton to secure better market.

In prelude statements for the seven-point plan Secretary Anderson had this to say:

"We have about a year's crop of cotton on hand. A lot of it is low grade. Our foreign markets are uncertain. Other countries are growing more cotton, some of them growing cotton as good as ours, cheaper than we are. Rayon, paper and other products are taking the place of cotton in many uses."

The illustrated cotton pamphlet contains invaluable suggestions. Sherrill said, and the county agents stands ready to give helpful advice to localize Anderson's general ideas.

The seven-point plan, considerably briefed from the original content, for "facing the future with cotton" is as follows:

1.—Fit cotton into balanced farming—plant cotton only on land best suited to cotton, considering the land needed for other crops. Plan a combination of other crops, pasture, feed crops and livestock that will make the fullest use all year on your soil, labor stock and equipment.

2.—Take care of the soil—the soil is the foundation of the farm family's living. How well it yields will depend on how well it is treated. Soil is like a bank account. Build it up. Use crop rotation, cover crops, grassed waterways, contour farming, and terraces and fertilizer and lime where needed. Put steep or badly washed land in permanent cover crops or trees. Drain wet land.

3.—Get together on the best variety—plant a variety of cotton that will give high yields, strong fiber and good staple. Mills require uniform lots of cotton. When all farmers in the community grow the same kind of cotton they have a more uniform cotton, and that attracts buyers. They get a premium price.

4.—Make your labor count—what is done to increase yields usually lowers costs. Labor is one of the biggest costs in growing and picking cotton. Study every job. Use methods and improved machinery that will save labor.

5.—Control insects and diseases—cotton insects and diseases are profit-clippers. Insects such as boll weevil, aphids, bollworms, flea hoppers, plant bugs and leaf worms destroy one bale for every seven the farmer gets. Cotton diseases take another high toll.

6.—Pick and gin for high grade—too much U. S. Cotton is low grade. There is not enough high-grade, clean white cotton to meet market demands.

7.—Sell for grade, staple and variety value—not all cotton is alike. The longer-staple, stronger-fiber better spinning varieties and high-grade, clean white lints are worth more.

Cooking School To Be Held At High School Auditorium May 6 To 10th

"FOOD FOR TWO"
Do these words conjure happy visions: your husband home from work; the table cosily set for two; food that gives both of you renewed strength to push on with the world's work tomorrow?
Is yours a two member family? If it is or some day will be, perhaps you will be interested in a cooking school based on an emphasizing the planning and preparation of dishes for two."

These are the leading paragraphs in a letter sent out from the county home demonstrations agent's office to approximately fifty young women in the vicinity of Morton inviting them to attend a cooking school to be held in the Home Economics Department of Morton High School, May 6 to 10 by Miss Mabel Ann Manley, County Home Demonstration Agent, and Miss Mary Hope Norfleet, Home Supervisor for Farm Security Administration. The class will begin in the afternoon at five o'clock and continue until six thirty. A card has been enclosed in each letter which will provide each person with an opportunity for pre-registration. TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Young wheat is growing on the soil where my small feet once felt prairie grass wet with rain of another spring. The view did not fit the pattern of my childhood picture; so many years have rolled over the Oklahoma hills that they are no longer steep. A few scattered rocks remain where the house once stood. The windmill is gone. A piece of rusting pipe extends from the soil like a decaying tooth in the wrinkled face of a once-charming memory. Once I helped my mother drag the two-sack to gather prairie chips, and saw the snow banked against windows the following dawn. We did not know that deep beneath the very house, vaults of the earth held treasures of fuel, destined to become the greatest known gas field. No trace of the old water trough remains but the earth glows with a sacred warmth because my mother often walked there. The soul cries a little from the pain of returning to an empty stage where days of childhood once danced.

On the safe side of the strange and mighty river, Canadian rises with the hills to view vast prairies cut with cattle trails through forgotten years. The Panhandle's most picturesque town looks down on the dry river and sees written in the sands the unmistakable message of progress. Echoes of vanished spurs are muffled in silence when the moon swings high above enchanted hills and old Canadian sleeps to dream rich

WAYLAND COLLEGE TO BUILD NEW DORMITORY

A special called meeting of the Board of Trustees for Wayland Baptist College in Plainview, Texas, on April 2, 1946 authorized its Building Committee to award a contract for a dormitory for men. The building will house eighty-eight men and is to be constructed by Neill Singleton of Amarillo from plans drawn by architects Emmett F. and James F. Rittenberry of Amarillo.

The building will embody unique features in that each eight men will have complete living quarters, including rooms for each two with adequate storage closets, and a living room for the group. The building will have eleven such units besides the reception rooms and living quarters for the matron.

This is the first of a group of buildings planned in the current enlargement campaign for the college, and when the campaign is complete there will be adequate facilities for hundreds more students. The college has been in operation since 1910, being the oldest college now in operation in the great Plains-Panhandle country of Texas. Dr. John W. Cobb, dean of the college, is also chairman of the enlargement campaign.

Date for ground-breaking for this new dormitory will be announced as soon as priority permits and other arrangements can be made, and the contractor hopes to have it ready for use sometime during next school year.

Nature conducts classes in such strange places that I frequently forget to be sufficiently alert and fumble the answers. High wind drove the scurrying tumbleweeds against bright strands of wire, taut between the posts. They formed a brown hedge that continued to grow. Fate seemed to have settled on the little weed that moved faster than the others; it would become an unknown element in the mass of weeds caught against the wire. Instead, it bounced over the fence on other weeds, like a man touching lightly on the shoulders of fallen friends, to gain an objective.

It is pleasant to live in a country where a man can carry a coil of new lariat rope down the street without becoming an object of curiosity.

Life hides much of its pain; scars from wounds that are deepest never show.

Perhaps it is well that I shall never paint or attempt to capture the beauty of a golden windmill, motionless in garments of crimson cloud-cloth at the altar of a Texas sunset. Some splendor is too fierce to tame.

Laughter is a tonic that feeds the famished soul; tears wash the panes of our eyes that we may more clearly see the truth.

Food Handlers Given Warning

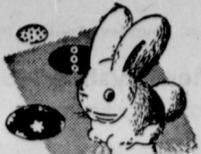

Additional of any poisonous or deleterious substances to a food is prohibited.

Art. 709 - Preservative Added - States in part "No person shall manufacture, sell, offer or expose for sell or exchange any article of food to which has been added ingredients injurious to health."

Following reports of a number of cases of illness in Georgia, Alabama, and Texas, investigation show that all who became ill had been drinking orange beverages. Samples of the sirups, concentrates and finished beverages were tested in chemical and pharmacological laboratories and were shown to have been the cause of the illness. The ingredient which rendered the products harmful was, in each instance, monochloroacetic acid. The victim suffered by vomiting and diarrhea, and in the opinion of pharmacologists, there was sufficient monochloroacetic acid in some of the finished beverages to cause death, had no vomiting occurred.

Experimental evidence shows monochloroacetic acid is five times as poisonous as carbolic acid; more poisonous than arsenic trioxide; five times as poisonous as barium carbonate, a common rat poison, and about one-half as poisonous as bichloride of mercury, or corrosive sublimate.

Man doesn't know what real happiness is until he gets married. Then it's too late.

Consultants Help Naval Veterans

New Orleans—Twenty branches of the Eighth Naval District's Civil Readjustment Office are located throughout the district to help the discharged naval veteran with problems, before and after, his return to civilian life.

At each separation center, Civil Readjustment offices and enlisted specialists are on duty. As general interviewers they review the past training, experience, abilities and ambitions of the discharged.

Nine other consultants available to the serviceman at the time of separation are: Educational Services Officer, Benefits and Insurance Officer, Legal Assistance Officer, the Chaplain and government and civilian representatives from the Veterans Administration, American Red Cross, U. S. Employment Service, U. S. Civil Service Commission and Selective Service Commission.

A month after discharge the veteran receives a letter from his District Civil Readjustment Office. It suggests that the veteran can get prompt answers to problems connected with civilian life from Veterans Information Centers, Veterans Administration Representatives or veteran organizations in or near his community.

However, if an answer cannot be obtained at one of these agencies, he is invited to contact the District Civil Readjustment Office, 302 Balter Building, New Orleans.

Civil Readjustment officers are also at the following district activities: Receiving Station, Galveston, Texas; Naval Hospital, Memphis, Tennessee; Naval Hospital, Norman, Oklahoma; Naval Hospital, Corpus Christi, Texas; Naval Hospital, New Orleans, Louisiana; Naval Hospital, Pensacola, Florida; Naval Medical Unit, U. Special Effort To Be Made To Get Armored Men

A special recruiting drive to reenlist men with previous service in an armored force for assignment to the famous Second Armored Division was announced today by Major General Harold N. Gilbert, USA, Director of Military Personnel Procurement Service, AGO, through his New York office the U. S. Army Recruiting Publicity Bureau.

The Second Armored Division, presently located at Camp Hood, Texas was one of the Army's best known fighting units—the famed "Hell on Wheels" Division. It first saw action in North Africa, and continued its exploits in successful engagements with the enemy in Sicily, France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. When the American Army began rolling into Berlin 32 months after the North African invasion, the Second Armored Division was the first United States force to enter the German capital.

General Gilbert announced that special recruiting efforts to reenlist experienced men in armored force activities will continue until midnight April 7th, characterizing the drive as an "urgent recruiting mission."

Enlistment and assignment to the "Hell on Wheels" Division is authorized regardless of the period of enlistment. However, General Gilbert pointed out that all men who reenlist for the famous unit will be shipped through reception centers in the usual procedure. Grades in which enlistments are accomplished will be governed by current regulations.

Army Releases Claim To Top Grade Meats

The 20 per cent set aside on choice and good grades of beef has been removed, according to E. A. McBryde of Amarillo, director of PMA.

Set-aside meat of the top grades has been purchased primarily by the army, but military services estimate they now have sufficient supplies to safeguard stocks, making current set-aside unnecessary. Since choice and good beef make up a large proportion of meat slaughtered at this time of year, somewhat greater supplies of both grades now should be available on the market he said.

Over 50 Students To Participate In Texas Tech Rodeo

One girl contestant, Miss Mary King of Graham, and fifty other student participants will perform in the all-student rodeo at Texas Technological College April 12 and 13. Miss King will enter the bull riding contest.

Troy Ford and James Kenney, both professional stars, will be presented in an exhibition match roping contest as the feature attraction of the rodeo. Kenney won top honors in the Southwestern Exposition and Pat Stock Show contest this year and Ford received second place honors.

Two rodeo performances, staged Friday night and Saturday afternoon, will highlight the two "all-Western days" on the Tech campus. All rodeo fans of West Texas are invited to attend the student "round up."

Panhandle Loses 165 Teachers To 'Attractive' Jobs

That 165 public school teachers have left their jobs in forty Panhandle towns since September to take more attractive positions is revealed in a recent study.

Among this number, 60 said they quit teaching to earn more money. Others mentioned that they felt their new jobs would be less exacting than teaching.

Superintendents of the schools studied said they had a total of 117 sub-standard teachers in their classrooms, said Dr. A. M. Meyer, dean of the graduate school of West Texas State college, Canyon.

In reply to a question concerning recommendations for getting and holding—teachers of ability and good preparation, the school heads gave three:

1. Raise teachers' pay to "respectable" levels.
2. Make teaching loads more reasonable.
3. Establish a social status for teachers comparable with that of other professional workers.

Resignation Of Pastor Rejected

Recommendation of the deacons of the First Baptist Church Morton, Texas.

After Brother Lovelace offered his resignation as pastor of this church, we deacons contacted him and asked for his reason. He said, "You brethren know of the gossip that is going as to my conduct, and I feel that my hands are tied as long as it shall continue." He further stated that it was his desire that we make a thorough investigation of the matter.

This we have done with much prayer and deliberation. As a result of our investigation, we wish to report to this church that we have found there is no truth in the unfair and malicious insinuations as reported in the gossip. Since this is the only reason that Brother Lovelace gave for his action, we the deacons of this church do hereby unanimously recommend that his resignation be rejected and that we ask him to continue as our pastor.

We furthermore recommend that he be requested to do the preaching in our spring revival.

Signed: Paul Arnold, Chairman, Truett McCuiston, Sec. Motion made by Brother Bill Whitman and seconded by M. B. Evans that this recommendation be accepted and that a copy be filed in the minutes of the church and one be placed in our county paper that all may know that we believe in, and are backing our pastor.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION

May I take this method of expressing more fully my appreciation to this church for your confidence which you have expressed by not accepting my resignation.

You have been so sweet to me and my family during these almost four years that I have had the privilege of serving you as pastor of this good church.

I am sure that there has never been a man save Christ himself who has not made some mistakes in life and I am sure that there has never been one even Him who has tried to do the right that has not met opposition.

Every since the first two sons were born into this world there has been a strife between the rich and the wrong. If you remember Cain slew Able, his brother because Able was righteous and found favor in God's sight. Daniel was cast into the lions den because he stood for the right. John the Baptist was beheaded because he revealed the sins of the King's daughter. Paul lost his head on a chopping block for preaching the Gospel of Christ. Christ was spit upon, scourged and crucified by the underground world; surely we hope to be no better than He.

We as Christians should feel honored to bear persecution for his name sake, and take on new courage for Him.

Always remember that as man builds the house and the termite seek to under mine it; God instituted His church and Satan has sought to undermine it with the human termites of this world.

Matt. 5, 11, and 12: Blessed are ye when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad; for great is your reward in heaven; for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you. I am not discouraged and have not been dissatisfied but I felt

A. At the nearest office of the United States Veterans Administration.

Q. Where are the Veterans Administration offices located in this area?

A. VA regional offices are located in Texas at Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Waco; in Louisiana at New Orleans; and in Mississippi at Jackson. Contact units may be found in most large centers of population by inquiring at local post offices.

A. Yes. Advice about veteran's benefits may be secured at the nearest Selective Service Local Board and at each United States Employment Service office. Also advice may be secured at Veterans Information Centers or from servicemen's organizations.

A. Initial application or communication should state the full name of the veteran, service grade and organization, serial number, date of entrance into service, date of discharge, and date and place of birth.

Q. What permanent plans of insurance are available to veterans who want to convert their National Service Life Insurance?

A. At present the permanent plans available are ordinary life, 20-payment life, and 30-payment life.

Sidelights From Washington

By George Mahon

On April 12th I plan to appear before the House Committee on Education in behalf of legislation to expand the vocational training programs in the high schools of the Nation.

Aside from the over-all national requirements, there is a need for the reopening of the 24 Vocational Agriculture Departments that were closed in our own Congressional District by reason of the war. Additional units are also being sought for other high schools in our area.

A number of additional Homemaking Departments are also needed. In fact, in the State of Texas it is estimated that more than 400 additional Homemaking and Vocational Agriculture Departments are required to complete the vocational training set-up in the high schools.

Texas schools have shown tremendous interest in vocational training. In the high schools of our 25-county Congressional District there are 51 Homemaking Departments and 36 Vocational Agriculture Departments now in operation.

Our Congressional District occupies a high place among the 21 Congressional Districts of Texas in the field of vocational training and in the number of vocational training departments. In the number of Homemaking Departments, we share top honors with Congressional District No. 7, represented by Tom Pickett of Palestine, which also has 51 Departments. In the number of Vocational Agriculture Departments, we rank No. 3 among the Congressional Districts. District No. 21, represented by Fisher of San Angelo, occupies first place, and Pickett's District occupies second place.

Vocational training departments in the schools are financed under a system of State and Federal cooperation, the system having been in operation since 1917. Benefits that have accrued to the Nation are immeasurable.

The chances are excellent that Congress will approve the bill for additional cooperation with the States in vocational training and that many new departments will be placed in operation in West Texas schools when the new terms open next August and September.

Congressman Adam Powell, the colored member from the Harlem District in New York, created quite a flurry in the House of Representatives a few days ago. He offered an amendment to an appropriation bill for the District of Columbia which would have put an end to the time-honored practice in Washington of maintaining separate schools for the white and colored children. After a half hour of heated debate, the vote was taken. Congressman Joe Martin, the leader of the Republicans in the House, and 48 other members, about evenly divided between the Democrats and Republicans, voted for the Powell amendment. The rest of us who were on the floor at the time, 122 in number, voted against the Powell Amendment. We voted to continue separate schools for white and colored children.

There is no likelihood that Congress would tolerate the consolidation of schools for the white and colored children in Washington, and Congressman Powell did a disservice to the cause of racial understanding and good will by offering his amendment. It should be pointed out that the same high standards of service apply in both the white and colored schools.

Of the 88,000 school children in Washington, 39,000 are colored.

Why Don't We Take An American View of Our Peacetime Regular Army?

Major General H. N. Gilbert When Franklin D. Roosevelt led for 100,000 airplanes, most our enemies laughed. They said it was impossible. But the American people did laugh. They built the planes! Now that the war is over, we are again going into the kind of peacetime that usually sweeps this country on military matters. We know we must shoulder world-wide obligations to protect the peace our wartime sacrifices have won. We know the Army must have approximately 300,000 men to carry out these responsibilities. Yet, almost every day, someone says it cannot be done. "You for the Regular Army soldier in peacetime equal to that given to our soldier during wartime. The peace is not yet secure and there is still a big job to be done by our Army. The Regular Army soldier's job compares favorably—and in some respects surpasses—with the job available to the average young man in business or industry. Our new Regular Army must be an Army of trained technicians composed of young men of intelligence and high standards. The soldier's job in the new Army merits the respect of all of us—it is one of the best jobs available to young men in the world today. The new Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act of 1945 is the most generous in the history of this country. It places the American Soldier on the highest plane of any enlisted man on earth. It provides for pay, allowances, and security that compare very favorably with the best that industry has to offer. It offers retirement, educational, and travel opportunities that are beyond comparison with anything in our history. During the war, there was no difference between a man who entered the Army through Selective Service and a volunteer. Both made excellent soldiers—the best, I believe, in the world. The reason for this was that the entire country was solidly behind both of them—respected them equally—believed in the imperative need for their services. Today, the country is dangerously near the point of letting down the peacetime soldier. People speak in a vague way of "letting the Regular Army do the occupation and other tasks"—without seeming to realize that the Regular Army is your Army—composed of your sons and husbands and brothers. Theirs is the job to see that our sacrifices were not in vain—to demonstrate that American, which fought to win the freedom, is determined to see that freedom shall exist in this modern world of nuclear physics and atomic energy. Your peacetime soldier must be a man of the highest mental and moral caliber. He must not only master the revolutionary advances of science—but he must also be a worthy ambassador for this country in strifing areas around the world. In short, he must be proud and eager to serve—and he can be that only if he is assured of the respect and understanding of his family, friends, and neighbors at home.

Give him that—and your new Regular Army's enlistment drive will reach its goal. It will attract more and better men than any enlistment drive in our history. It will provide the sound, highly trained force to secure the peace and for whatever program of national defense that the Congress may approve in the future.

With wholehearted public support and appreciation of the requirements for the Regular Army to provide personnel for occupational forces, our regular overseas garrisons, our Air Forces and our forces at home—I am confident that the goal of 1,500,000 volunteers can be attained.

Health Hints

This article is presented by the Cochran county Tuberculosis Association in the interest of better health.

Tuberculosis is called an insidious disease because it steals upon its victims unawares. Often it is well developed before symptoms appear.

It may attack any part of the body but most frequently it affects the lungs and it is called pulmonary tuberculosis. When tuberculosis germs reach the lung, the body fights back and usually succeeds in imprisoning the germs. If the prison wall breaks down or if succeeding infection occurs, the germs multiply and spread. All this time the individual may not know of the battle going on within his body. Months may pass before the disease reaches the point where definite outward symptoms are apparent and the individual knows he is ill.

Yes, tuberculosis is an insidious disease. By the time the victim realizes he is ill, grave damage may have been done his lung. This damage might have been discovered earlier by an X-ray, but if this precaution was neglected and the disease has reached an advanced stage, the process of recovery is slow.

Both patients and their families are constantly asking doctors if there is not a quick cure for tuberculosis, some medicine or drug that can be taken to kill the germs and speed recovery. Unfortunately, the answer is, "NO."

Despite years of research, despite painstaking experiments, scientists have not yet found a drug that will kill tuberculosis germs after they enter the human body or that will heal areas of the lung destroyed by the disease. The search for such a drug is still on and undoubtedly will one day be crowned with success.

Meanwhile, the only cure for pulmonary tuberculosis is rest. Real rest. That does not mean just "taking it easy." It means staying in bed 24 hours a day and resting while in bed. Any undue exertion on the part of the patient places a strain on the diseased lung which delays the healing process.

Complete rest can best be obtained in a tuberculosis hospital. Here the patient is under expert medical supervision at all times. He is taught how to relax and how to care for himself with a minimum of exertion. He is also given the proper food and the nursing care needed to build up strength and help him fight the disease.

For the patient's own welfare he should enter a sanatorium for treatment. He should also accept this type of care for the protection of his family and associates. Necessary safeguards are taken in a hospital to prevent the spread of disease, whereas in the home it is very difficult to protect others from the germs which the patient may cough up or which may cling to dishes or linen used by him.

People often think they can rest at home, but actually there are many distractions in the home. Again and again the patient will find an excuse to get up to speak to a visitor or to join the family at a meal. The safest thing for the patient and the family is to undergo treatment in a tuberculosis hospital.

Cancer will be discussed in the next article.

Friends ...

Your Dodge car (or truck or Plymouth car) has undoubtedly served you well during the war years and it may be that you are planning to replace it with a new one when that is again possible, and we will be very pleased to discuss that situation with you when you are ready.

The facts are, however, that the volume of new cars (or trucks) which are available now or which seem possible for the next several months will be so small in comparison to the demand that many of our customers will not be able to get their new car (or truck) as promptly as they desire. For this reason it may be necessary for you to continue to drive your present car (or truck) for quite a while longer, and it is our desire to aid you in maintaining the maximum in safety, comfort and economy in your present car (or truck) which prompts this letter.

Fortunately, there are some "tell tale" signs to indicate conditions which may cause delay, inconvenience and which, if corrected in time, may save considerable expense. We suggest you check the operation of your car (or truck) against the following questions—and if you must answer one or more of them "Yes"—we suggest that you drive to our Service Department and consult with one of us, we will be glad to explain that condition in detail and counsel with you as to the proper steps to take

- Yes OR No
1. Is your car (or truck) using too much gas?
 2. Is your car (or truck) difficult to start on cold or wet mornings?
 3. Does your engine overheat?
 4. Is the engine action sluggish?
 5. Do you notice excessive knock or "ping" on acceleration?
 6. Is your engine noisy when warm?
 7. Does your engine use too much oil?
 8. Do your brakes hold evenly and securely?
 9. Does your clutch engage smoothly and quietly?
 10. Does your car (or truck) steer well?
