Tannehill resigns post as head football coach

A resignation from the coaching staff of Morton High School which could have a profound effect on the school's future football fortunes was accepted by the board of education Monday.

Lane Tannehill, head football coach, tendered his resignation along with that of his wife Margie, a member of the teaching staff. No reason for Tannehill's resignation has been learned by the Tribune and no further details are known at this time.

In addition to the Tannehill resignations, those of Tommy C. Rosson and Carl E. Alsop were accepted by the board.

Three new members of the board, elected to their positions April 5, were administered the oath of office and took up their duties. The members beginning new terms are C. E. Dolle, David Rozell and John L. Fincannon.

Van Greene was elected president, Owen Egger vice-president and Don Lynskey secretary of the new board. All three were by acclamation.

One of the first orders of business was to approve the payment of bills in the amount of $57,542.37 for school system expenses for the month of March.

The use of the Steck Data Processing tax system was authorized for school tax assessor-collector Dub Hodge for the 1969 tax year. He and superintendent Bob Travis recently visited Crosbyton and Shallowater school systems to study their use of the Steck system and recommended to the board that Morton adopt it.

Considerable discussion was held on the subject before the board decided on a vote of 5-1 to stop charging tuition to students transferring into the Morton school system from other districts. The tuition, which had been charged in the past, will now be discontinued.

Superintendent Travis reported that the nine-week reporting period has worked so well in the high school grades that he would recommend its use in the junior high school. The board adopted the system for the junior high school by unanimous vote.

Travis also asked for and was granted permission of the board to use $1,663 in local funds to match a similar amount received from the National Defense Education Act funds for the purpose of buying equipment for the school system. The request was approved unanimously.

A motion carried unanimously to eliminate Texas History as a required subject and to replace it with a course in Health in order to meet Texas Education Association accreditation requirements. Texas History will now become an elective subject.

Mortonites hear details of school for mentally retarded

Mrs. Blanche Davis, representative of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, Women's Division, spoke on the West Texas State School for the Mentally Retarded at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office to interested Morton Citizens Friday.

Mrs. Davis described the physical plant for the school, which is nearing completion, and outlined the planned activities for serving the 28 counties in its area of responsibility.

'Festival of Harmony' to be in Littlefield for Girlstown, U.S.A.

A "Festival of Harmony" will be held in Littlefield Saturday, April 26. The benefit show will begin at 8 p.m. in the Littlefield Junior High Auditorium.

The school was located in Lubbock by the Texas Department of Mental Health under the over-all supervision of the U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare.

Some of the area talent will be participating in the fund-raising show from which the proceeds will go to Girlstown, U.S.A. which is presenting the show.

The plant presently consists of 16 buildings on 230 acres of land located on North University Ave. in Lubbock. The first students are scheduled to begin arriving Participating in the show will be: The Singing Plainsmen Chorus and Quartet, The Sweet Adaline Chorus and Quartet, The Littlefield Wildcat Stage Band, The Morton, Stafford, and Williams Hodowners, The Girlstown Trio Folksingers, and The Melody Makers — better known to Morton residents as the Brownlow Family.

Fire razes Whiteface lumber storage house, loss estimate high

The James Lumber Company warehouse, at 213 Taylor Street in Whiteface, containing lumber and other building materials, was razed by a sudden fire causing upward of $10,000 late Saturday afternoon.

The show promises to present some very fine entertainment and will be for a worthwhile cause, so all area residents are urged to attend. To obtain tickets contact either Mr. Lanier, assistant director at Girlstown, or any member of the Edward Brownlow family. The price of admission to the show will be $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students.

In addition to the warehouse, which was all but totally destroyed, the flames worked their way into the rear portion of the main store building and caused substantial heat and smoke damage.

Fire units from Whiteface, Morton and Leveland responded to the call for help. The sturdy stucco construction of the warehouse building caused firemen considerable difficulty in getting to the flames until they gained access by tearing holes in the walls.

A. L. James, owner of the lumber company, gave great credit in a Tribune interview to the Morton fire department for their highly efficient work and credits the men of the unit with saving the main building.

No exact estimate of damage had been completed by press time, but James said it had already passed the $10,000 mark and would probably climb even higher. He stated that he was only partially insured and his final loss would be a substantial one.

No definite cause of the fire has been determined, James said. See picture page 3b.

Morton will host the district tournament this year, Linder says, so it behooves us to show the district teams we can provide a first class park in which to play.

Player signups will take place at the park from 2-5 p.m. and a meeting will be held at the Wig Wam after the work day concludes.

Farm job placements show rise for March

More workers were placed in farm jobs by Texas Employment Commission during March than during the previous month, according to the monthly report of local office activities.

"The upswing in the filling of farm jobs stemmed largely from vegetable harvesting in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, and from vegetable planting in other areas of the state," said Richard L. Coffman, TEC administrator.

During a two-day shorter reporting month (February 26 to March 25), local offices received 45,618 non-farm job openings, about 1,500 less than in February, and made 34,157 placements in non-farm jobs, 1,600 fewer than the preceding month.

A total of 45,250 job applications were taken during March, down 8,539 from February.

Applications for journalism scholarship to ASC sought

Some West Texas journalism student will be awarded a $300 scholarship in Angelo State College for the 1969-70 school year.

Applications are now being accepted for the scholarship by Mrs. Maxine Henthorn, head of the ASC journalism department. Deadline for applying is April 30.

The award, known as the Marshall Cope Memorial Scholarship, is financed out of a $25,000 trust fund established by Mr. and Mrs. Houston Harte of San Angelo as a memorial to the late Millard Cope, publisher of the San Angelo Standard-Times at the time of his death Jan. 4, 1964. Harte is chairman of the board of the Standard-Times.

Scholarship for which applications now are being taken is for a freshman student. It will be renewable annually as long as the recipient is a student in good standing in ASC. Only other requirement is that the student must major in journalism in preparation for a career in newspaper work.

Scholarships also will be awarded to sophomore, junior and senior journalism students for 1969-70, but they will go to present holders provided they continue to meet scholarship requirements.

Mr. Cope, publisher of the Marshall News-Messenger prior to moving to the San Angelo Standard-Times, also was president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association and a director of The Associated Press at the time of his death.

Conservation District News

From the Office of BUDD FOUNTAIN

Most everyone you talk to these days sooner or later will get on the subject of water. The water they will talk about is irrigation water and how precious it is, yet the majority of the farmers you talk to are wasting water in one way or another.

For instance, take a loamy fine sand soil in Cochran county (there are 204,000 acres) of loamy fine sands of which approximately 51,000 acres is being irrigated by a sprinkler system. Relatively little water will be wasted if a sprinkler system is operated at the correct pressure for which it is designed and doesn't have too many lateral lines or too many nozzles on each line.

Also a fine sandy loam of which there are 185,000 acres if Cochran county and you have essentially the same thing.

Irrigation water management is not a problem in these above situations.

Take either of the above mentioned soils and surface irrigate down the row over 700 feet and water soaks so deep that it goes past the root zone of our plants. This is not practicing irrigation water management, this is wasting water.

On sandy loam soils and sandy soils the structure is such that it allows water to go further into the ground.

If a farmer wishes to surface irrigate he should have sufficient portable main-line pipe and gated pipe so water will not soak up in ditches of sandy and sandy loam soils. The rows should not be over approximately 1/8 mile long.

Too many farmers will put two or more tubes in one row, get the water out to the end of the row (1/2 mile long or longer) and think they are sufficiently watering their crop which they are. But at the same time where the tube first puts water in the row, water soaks 15-20 feet deep at that point and the further the row goes the shallower the water goes which wouldn't soak past the root zone.

At the same time we don't want to run sprinkler systems so long that they fill up the sandy top soil and part of the subsoil and have the ground so full of water that it begins to run off but we want to run them long enough to put water down to the bottom of the root zone then

Tech receives grant to check for pollution in Ogallala water

A federal grant of $32,936, announced last week in Washington, will be used by Texas Tech researchers to investigate the possible pollution of the Ogallala formation through the recharge of playa lake water.

The Ogallala supplies water for the people, livestock, crops and industries of the High Plains.

The $44,500 research project is supported cooperatively by the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration of the Department of the Interior, the Texas Water Quality Board and the university. If findings the first year of the investigation indicate the underground water supply could be polluted by lake water, funds will be sought to continue the study.

Project Director Dan M. Wells, who also is director of Texas Tech's Water Resources Center, said that the quality of water and sediments in the playa lakes will be checked this year to see if they contain significant concentrations of pesticides, herbicides, nitrates and phosphates.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

The cotton sales policies of Commodity Credit Corporation for 1969-70, contained in a March 28 announcement from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, are a small but definite step in the right direction.

This is the opinion voiced by Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

After stating that the loan maturity date for 1968-crop cotton will again be July 31 this year, the USDA announcement and cotton acquired by CCC on that date will be offered for sale on competitive bid basis at not less than 110 per cent of the loan rate plus carrying charges over current market price, whichever is higher, but in no event at less than 120 cents above the loan rate."

IT FURTHER WAS pointed out by USDA that it appears likely that production in 1969 will about equal or slightly exceed total consumption, "in which case production will be adequate to meet demand and offers of CCC stocks under the "sharefall" legal provision at market prices will not be required."

Carrying charges, according to the announcement, will be added from the following schedule: August, 90 points; September, 45 points; October, 0 points; November, 15 points and increasing at the rate of 15 points per month to a maximum of 135 points in July.

"These policies," Johnson believes, "will make the asking price for Government-owned cotton higher in relation to loan value and consequently will make production of cotton from the 1969 crop relatively more attractive to buyers."

CARRYING CHARGES on CCC cotton for the past several years have been added at the rate of 15 points per month, but charges at all were added until January of each year.

"More realistic carrying charges, coupled with the absence of sales at market prices to fill a shortfall, should put producers in a somewhat better position to compete with CCC-owned cotton as they market the 1969 crop," Johnson stated. "But he went on to caution that producers of some cotton qualities may still be faced with undue competition from CCC-owned cotton this fall."

"The 110 per cent above loan value provision," he noted, "applies to the base bidding-inch loan value, not to the loan rate for individual qualities. The exact procedure for determining premiums and discounts for CCC sales has not been announced."

"If the premiums and discounts used for CCC sales are allowed to vary with the 10-day moving average of spot market prices as they have in past years, some qualities can still sell at or below loan value."

THIS IS WHY PCG has for the past three years sought to have 110 per cent above loan value set as the minimum for all qualities.

Asked if the 120-points of "headroom" stipulated in the announcement would not help to alleviate this situation, Johnson said, "It will help, but the 120 points are to be in addition to the base loan rate and do not take into account the carrying charges that will accumulate. And as carrying charges mount, the effectiveness of this provision is seriously impaired."

Johnson is also Secretary of the Beltwide Cotton Producer Committee which urged Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin to institute cotton loans that would extend 14 months from the month the loan was made to a producer. He joined Don Anderson of Crosbyton, Chairman of that Committee, in expressing disappointment that this proposal was not accepted by the Department.

"THE NEW SALES policies are an improvement," Anderson said, "but it is unfortunate that substantially nothing has been done as yet to prevent the cycling of part of each year's crop through the CCC catalog."

CCC this year is expected to take title to approximately 3 million bales of cotton on August 1 and it is to the resale of this cotton that the March 28 announcement will apply.

DME 28,000 traps have been set this year for Old Man Boll Weevil, ready to rouse him the minute he rouses from his winter nap. Another 13,000 traps are ready for use at strategic locations later in the season.

The traps, bright yellow and sexily baited with live weevils, will be used this year in two separate but closely related projects. One is the largest-ever attempt at eradication, covering between 40,000 and 60,000 acres of cotton in an area 60 miles by 40 miles wide. This eradication run will utilize most of the total 40,000 traps.

The remainder will be scattered along a zig-zag survey and detection line longer than the road from Lubbock to Houston. The line begins at the northern edge of Briscoe County, drops south along the rim of the Cap Rock through Floyd, Crosby, Lynn, Garza and Borden counties, then turns West across Dawson county and follows the Gaines-Andrews County line to the New Mexico border.

FOLLOWING THE wandering route by auto, Dr. Dale Bottrell, Research Entomologist with the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center at Lubbock, clocked an amazing 549 miles.

Residents prepare themselves for six months daylight seige

Local citizens will join the miserable throng throughout the nation Sunday, April 27, as they roll out of bed at the crack of dawn to begin another six months of Daylight Saving Time.

They will be arriving at their respective churches — those that figure the time right, that is — with heavy sleep still clinging to them, and in many cases with a less than happy attitude.

The DST program, which provides additional daylight hours for various activities, will once again be met with mixed emotions by those that must abide by its dictates. Mothers will be the principal sufferers, as they struggle to get the young ones to bed in the sunlight and up in the cool, dark morning.

DST will officially arrive at 2 a.m. Sunday and all area residents are reminded to turn their clocks forward one hour before retiring.

There are a few who benefit by the prolonged daylight, however, such as golfers, fishermen, picnickers, etc. Legislators state that there is little that can be done about DST this year, but that legislation has been prepared for an attempt to get Texas out of it next session.

In a recent letter to Glenn Thompson of Morton, Rep. Bill Clayton of the 72nd Legislative district, stated "I have the telegram you sent me today, and I assure you that I will do all I can to see that Texas does not have daylight saving time." The letter was dated April 16.

There is little the ordinary citizen can do in the meantime but prepare himself as best he can to endure all that daylight for the next six months.

The Farmer's Wife

By Libby Mudgett

PENTAGON ADMIRAL into telephone: What's the matter out in your part of the country? We used to get the most recruits from you and I've always considered you one of our best recruiting officers, but here lately you haven't gotten us one single sailor.

NAVY RECRUITER on the other end of line: Sir, it's not my fault. The kids will hardly even talk to me anymore.

ADMIRAL: What's the matter? Bad breath?

RECRUITER: No, sir.

ADMIRAL: Well, we have the same programs as always and the Air Force is having to turn away the volunteers. More kids than ever are volunteering for the walking army. So it's bound to be something.

RECRUITER: Yes, sir, it is.

ADMIRAL: Go on.

RECRUITER: I think it's those Pueblo investigations, sir. One kid even popped his head inside the door, spit on the floor, said he was worth more than any — piece of paper, and went next door into the Air Force Recruiting Station.

ADMIRAL: That's ridiculous! The Pueblo wasn't carrying just pieces of paper. Those were highly secret documents!

RECRUITER: Another boy wanted me to sign a written promise that if he was beaten on, kicked, and tortured while being held prisoner by the enemy, he wouldn't have to go through the Admiral's Inquisition when he was set free.

ADMIRAL: There is no inquisition! Just an investigation. Don't those kids realize we have to find out what happened?

RECRUITER: Then there were a couple of punks who wanted to know if it was okay for them to bargain with the enemy for the highest price they could get for their whole ship and all information if they had the opportunity.

ADMIRAL: Did you sign 'em up?

RECRUITER: No, sir. Their parole officer wouldn't release them.

ADMIRAL: Have you been telling boys about seeing the world and having a girl in every port and all that?

RECRUITER: Yes sir, but they just give me the horse laugh. I think they've all talked to older friends who've been in the Navy already, sir.

ADMIRAL: That tears it.

RECRUITER: Several have asked why a ship should never be given up at any price when the Air Force thinks nothing of losing a plane here and there.

ADMIRAL: —!

RECRUITER: And one kid even told me that he'd rather be assigned to the planes that were supposed to have given protection to the Pueblo since he wouldn't ever have to leave the ground that way.

ADMIRAL: Have you been telling them about how awful the Army is if they fool around and get drafted?

RECRUITER: Yes sir, but they say they can stand almost anything for just two years rather than take a chance on being tortured by the enemy, finally rescued, and tortured again by the U. S. Navy.

ADMIRAL: The Pueblo crew is not being tortured by the U. S. Navy!

RECRUITER: I nearly had one kid swayed the other day, but he came back later and said he'd been thinking it over and decided he'd rather take his chances with a faulty M-16 rifle than those puny guns the Navy seems to provide it's ships with.

ADMIRAL: !!! Well, try to carry on. This thing is bound to blow over.

RECRUITER: Sir, I'd like to request some protection for myself.

ADMIRAL: What do you mean?

RECRUITER: Well, I was in the act of signing a kid up the other day when his relative came in, sent the kid over to the Air Force Recruiter and then beat the tar out of me.

ADMIRAL: Have you forgotten how to protect yourself and fight back?

RECRUITER: I haven't forgotten, sir, but I couldn't. It was the kid's grandmother and she was using her walking cane.

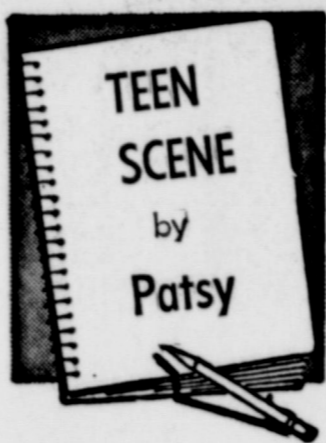

Diana Lee Self

Self-Dupler vows to be exchanged May 31

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Self of Whiteface are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Diana Lee, to Ronald L. Dupler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dupler of Pettit.

Both will be 1969 graduates of Whiteface High School and have set their wedding date for May 31 in the First Baptist Church of Whiteface.

Friends of the couple are invited to attend the wedding.

Hi ya'll! How's it been going? The activities around MHS have been fairly numerous this past week.

First of all, Student Council elections were held last Thursday. A campaign rally was held in the gym, where each candidate's speech was preceded by a nominating and seconding speech. The student body (8th grade through juniors) then voted by secret ballot for the candidate of their choice. Those elected were: Phil Barker — business manager, Terri Harris — Secretary, Larry Hale — Vice President, and J. Wayne McDermott — President. Congratulations to these people and good luck with next year's Student Council work!

An assembly was held Monday morning for the purpose of the acceptance speeches of the four new S.C. officers. But, an unexpected twist was made to the program when Rayla Griffith made the dedication speech for the new edition of the school yearbook, the Lohah. This year the dedication was made to a group of very deserving men. The last part of the dedication reads thus: "because Morton High School has contributed a part of these American soldiers who are giving so unselfishly of themselves, it is our wish that the 1969 Lohah be dedicated to all fighting Americans in Viet Nam."

The dedication speech was followed by the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the MHS sextett. The program was quite impressive, and the kids thought the dedication was an excellent idea.

The new Lohah has an overall theme of "reflections," and is a little different than any we've had before. One thing I especially liked was the explanation of each organization as well as pictures of them. Students were given a free hour after receiving their annuals for signing.

Several MHS'ers went to regional speech, last Saturday. In speech, Carol Freeland (persuasive speaking), Karen Fred (informative speaking), and Janella Nebhut and Donna Williams (debate team) attended the meet. These girls were all eligible to enter the contest because they won their events at the district level. However, they were unable to place at the regional meet.

Our boys' mile relay team attended in track. They are: Ralph Soliz, Alex Soliz, Stan Coffman, and David Carrasco. I'm not sure how they placed, but I do know that they were unable to win first.

The girls' sextett won first in contest Saturday. This sextett consists of: Deborah Miller, Ruthie Smith, Rheda Brown, Peggy Thomas, Vivian McDaniel, and Donna Williams, with Karen Rozell as accompanist. Also several ones were made in solos, but I'm afraid I might leave someone out, so I won't list those.

Congratulations go to all these kids for their fine representation of Morton High

Area 1 Young Homemakers to attend Activity Day

The Area 1 Association of Young Homemakers will attend a Special Activity Day, Friday, April 25, 1969, at the Holiday Inn, 4005 Olton Road, Plainview.

Approximately 200 Young Homemakers from a 36 county area of the Panhandle and South Plains will attend this all-day program. Registration will be from 9:30 to 10:00 A.M. Mr. Alton Higginbotham, Mgr. of Member Services, Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Floydada, will act as Master of Ceremonies for the day.

Miss Josephine Blanch, Staff Home Economist with the Product Information Department of Corning, Corning, New York, will get the program off to an exciting start with a very effective presentation concerning the "Counter that Cooks."

Following Miss Blanch, Miss Gwen Edwards and Mrs. Mary Stewart of Village Craft Corner, Lubbock, will demonstrate new ideas in crafts. These will include Gold Ceramics, Mod Podge, and Box purses.

After a salad luncheon buffet, courtesy of sponsoring electric cooperatives, Mr. Wayne Martin, Manager of Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, Castor Division, Plainview, Texas will speak on By Products, Production and Uses of Castor Oil. Much research has been done with the Castor Bean and many products are available from it.

Mr. Clark Ellzey, Professor of Home and Family Life at Texas Tech, Lubbock, Texas will conclude the day with an inspiring message about "Parenthood." Mr. Ellzey is much in demand as a speaker for various groups, primarily groups of Young Adults.

Eleven area cooperatives sponsor the Activity Day. Hostesses for the event are Mrs. Betty Condra, Home Service Advisor, South Plains Electric Coopera-

School.

The MHS band has also been hard at work preparing for concert contest which was held yesterday in Levelland. Tuesday night, the band used the opportunity to play for the teachers' banquet at Whiteface as a chance to rehearse before an audience.

Wednesday morning, they left Morton around 11:00 and were the first band of the contest at 1:00. They played three numbers: "March to the Tournament" by Chapi, "Incidental Suite" by Smith, and "First Suite in E flat for Military Band" by Holst. At press time, the rating of the band was unknown.

The band plans to attend the Six Flags music festival in May.

That's it. Excuse me, I've got to run blow my own horn!

Rapid alfalfa weevil spread noted in state

From four counties in northeast Texas in 1968, the alfalfa weevil has now spread into Central Texas and specimens have been tentatively identified in Brazos, Grimes and Wharton counties, reports L. R. Green, assistant entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The rate of this destructive alfalfa insect has been from 50 to 100 miles per year in other states, Green noted. The entomologist urges alfalfa growers to contact the local county for information on the pest and how to collect and submit specimen for identification. He added that it is very important that the distribution of the insect be determined.

Graduation ceremonies anxiously awaited by Morton High seniors

After twelve long years of hard work, the Morton senior class of 1969 is anxiously awaiting the graduation ceremonies to be held in May.

In a class meeting last week, the class chose their song, flower, and colors. Chosen for the class song was "I've Got To Move," the colors, orange and white; the orange gladioli was chosen as the flower for the class.

Those chosen were the speakers for the commencement and Commencement exercises. The main speaker for the Commencement will be Dr. B. J. Fallon, Assistant Secretary of Education at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

The seniors were also the special guests at a banquet given in their honor by the Methodist Church here recently. The theme of the banquet was "A Spring Garden." The speaker was Keith Wiseman, pastor of the Methodist Church in Levelland.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service says the 1969 wheat crop, based on April 1 prospects, is estimated at 74.32,000 bushels, a 6 percent increase from the December 1 estimate. Acreage seeded for this year's crop is 4,124,000 acres, 3 percent below the 1968 acreage. Progress of the crop across the state is generally good, the Service noted.

WORLD WIDE INTEREST

Many good organizations are working with our youngsters, developing an interest in other lands and the ones who dwell there. The church through God's word also teaches us about our neighbors and what our attitude should be toward them. The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
