Clean-up week is April 20-25

A concerted effort on the part of all of Morton's citizens will be needed to put our city in the best possible state of cleanliness and improve the quality of living, Mayor Donnie Simpson stated in proclaiming April 20-25 as "Clean-up week."

The week of clean-up, fix-up, paint-up is scheduled in conjunction with a statewide beautification program and contest in which Morton has been entered by a local study club.

The Morton area's beautification and improvement program, better known as the "Join Us For Progress" campaign under sponsorship of the Young Matrons Study Club, has been in progress for some time. The club has entered our city and its beautification program in the Governor's Community Achievement Awards contest and are soliciting the aid of all citizens to aid in winning the award.

Many local clubs and organizations have been participating in the improvement program and have pledged maximum efforts during the clean-up week. In addition to adult organizations, the youth of Morton have offered their services. Cub Scouts, Campfire Girls and 4-H clubs will be picking up litter throughout the week.

The city will furnish two dump trucks, pickups, tractors, loaders and other equipment with city employees to operate them. All residents are urged to clean up their alley areas and to place all trash and litter in the alleys. City trucks will make special trips to haul it away and will not halt them at the end of the clean-up week, but will continue until they have disposed of it all.

It has been announced by the city that the litter laws presently on the books are to be strictly enforced in the future. The ordinance calls for a fine of $10-100.00 for littering.

In the state contest, awards to the communities that have made the most progress in improving the quality of living for their citizens during the period of January 1, 1969 through March 30, 1970 will be made by Governor Preston Smith at the annual meeting of the Beautify Texas Council in June 1970.

Judging of Morton's entry will be done on the basis of a report compiled and submitted by Mrs. Daniel Rozell. The report is based on five categories including citizens participation and education, economic development, community-wide beautification, property improvement and a

Eighth grade wins, varsity takes fifth in 4-AA Idalou meet

Morton's talented eighth graders took the honors for the four Indian track teams entered in the district 4-AA spring meet Saturday at Idalou by running off with the eighth grade division with little trouble. The Tribe eighth graders amassed 170½ points compared to second-place Denver City's 117.

The varsity team did not fare nearly as well, finishing fifth in the six-team meet. Morton, Frenship, and Tahoka shared 99 points among themselves with the Indians receiving 38½, two less than fourth place Frenship.

Idalou nudged out perennial champion Denver City by only two points as the Wildcats scored 142½ points in their second year in AA competition. Post finished third behind Denver City.

Morton's freshmen took fifth place as Denver City won that division handily. The Tribe captured third place in the seventh grade division.

Morton's hopes for a regional qualifier were dashed as senior Ralph Soliz finished third in the 440 behind Hatfield and Smith of Denver City. Soliz turned the quarter in 53.2 seconds.

Willie Holland took third in the high jump on a try of 5-6. He also placed fourth in the high jump. The Indian mile relay team also took third place in that event. The Tribe sprint relay team captured fourth place.

Jackie Watts finished fifth out of a large field in the 880 yard run, and Morton's Mike Dubberly also took fifth in the mile.

Tommy Jackson recovered his best throw of his career to take sixth in the shot put with a 40-3 heave.

Morton eighth grader Larry Thompson captured two first place ribbons to lead his team to their runaway in the eighth grade division. Thompson won first in the broad jump and 100-yard dash, and took second in the high jump.

Thompson also shared in first place honors with the 440 and 880-yard relay teams.

Morton placed first and second in the 660 on performances by David Barrera and Jerry Silhan. Denny Williams took fourth in both hurdle events, and Silhan and Fluitt took first and second in the 330.

John Green and Monty Tanner took second and third behind Thompson in the 100-yard dash. Barrera, Williams, and Paul Medrand took first second, and fifth respectively in the 220.

Danny Berlanga and Pete Soliz took fifth and sixth in the 1320 yard run. Soliz also took fifth in the pole vault, and

He is a speaker much in demand in the area and delivered a highly inspirational talk at the banquet which was very well received by the audience.

Master of Ceremonies for the event was Gary Willingham, president of the Morton Indians Booster Club. He introduced the members of the coaching staff, who in turn introduced the players on the various athletic teams.

Presentation of the various awards was made by head coach and athletic director Ted Whillock and by Neal Rose, who annually presents the Sportsmanship Award.

Introduction of the speaker was made by Whillock.

Four seniors, a junior, and a sophomore captured the coveted individual awards presented annually to the outstanding players. Named as the outstanding football player of the 1969 football season was Jerry Steed, Morton's All-South Plains senior guard and linebacker.

According to Donald Johnson, executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, there is a danger that cotton producers, in their necessary concern for passage of a cotton program that will permit the production of cotton for a profit over the next few years, may sight or even overlook the equally urgent need for long range planning.

Johnson asks "in 1975 or 1980 will the volume of our cotton markets still be going down hill, even in a world of fast expanding fiber consumption? Will the price we are able to extract from the market for cotton still be far below production costs?"

IF THE ANSWER to these questions is to be yes, Johnson believes, "then we can take small comfort in whatever success we may enjoy in our 1970 legislative efforts, because we will soon be going right back to Congress asking for permission to live."

The current government program for cotton expires with the 1970 crop, and extreme difficulty is being encountered in gaining Administration and Congressional support for a new law that will keep cotton growers in the field and out of the bread line. And all agree that passage of beneficial farm programs in the future will become progressively closer to an impossibility.

WHILE PRAISING THE start made in this direction by the present Cotton Producers Institute (dollar-a-bale) program, he says "Something more is definitely needed to counteract the strong marketing of man-made fibers."

As recently as 1966 it was predicted that test-tube fibers would take 52 percent of the textile fiber market by 1970. But the prediction fell short. With product research and seldom-evaluated salesmanship, the man-made makers have captured not 52 percent but 56.4 percent of the market. Cotton consumption, instead of growing, has declined from 52.7 percent in 1965 to 40 percent of the market in 1969. Now, man-made fiber makers are saying they'll have two-thirds of the total fiber market by 1975. And that prediction, too, may fall short of actuality unless cotton makes a comeback.

Johnson believes the answer to cotton's return lies in product development and salesmanship — development of products with definite, saleable characteristics, then the application of the same sales techniques that have made millions for Du Pont, Celanese and other synthetic manufacturers.

"BUT IT CAN'T BE done with $10 million a year," he says. "It will take at least three times that much to begin with, and probably more later as research and promotion programs begin to pay off in increased sales and increased cotton prices."

The Texas Association of Cotton Producer Organizations (TACPO), of which PCG is a prominent member, for over a year now has been pushing for an expansion of research and promotion funds for cotton. The drive is to get working into the farm program now being developed to provide in the neighborhood of $30 million for a comprehensive, producer-controlled program.

Johnson notes that all of the TACPO group, including all of the cotton producer associations in Texas, are fully aware that the first objective of the upcoming cotton program is to provide the income to permit continued cotton production, but says "The future will look much brighter if the means to an effective merchandising program can be provided as well."

UNCLE SAM'S SELECTIVE SERVICE

Editor's note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards about the new Random Selection System prescribed by the President November 26, 1969. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. Ninth Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q — My birth date was drawn number 216 in the lottery. I am in school and will be until June 1973. Will the 216 number apply when I enter the pool in 1973 or will that year's number control?

A — The random sequence number you acquired in the December 1969 drawing will apply so long as you remain subject to induction for military service.

Q — Presently I am in Class II-A but this deferment will expire on February 28, 1970. I have number 306 from the lottery. I will become 26 on May 1, 1970. If the local board does not reach my number before my 26th birthday, what will my status be?

A — If the local board has not reached your number before your 26th birthday, you will, upon reaching age 26, leave the pool of those available for induction as part of the 1970 first priority selection group.

Q — If a local board must select three

Glenn W. Thompson releases statement in his campaign for Cochran county judge

To The Voters of Cochran County:

During the past several weeks I have attempted to personally contact you and seek your support in the up-coming election for County Judge. It has, of course, been impossible to talk with each of you. I would, therefore, like to take this opportunity to present some of my background in helping to build Cochran County during the past 35 years. Working to help Cochran County has always been a welcome challenge, and a task to which I have devoted my most sincere efforts.

In 1936, I purchased a farm in the North part of the County, immediately put it into cultivation, and started farming it in addition to other land which I had rented. In 1938 I was elected to the County A.A.A. (now A.S.C.) farm committee and served for two years.

In 1939-40 I helped to organize and build the Bailey County Electric Co-Op. It has since provided the necessary electricity for our rural areas.

In 1940 I was first elected County Commissioner from Precinct 4 of Cochran County, and served a two year term while continuing to farm. In 1942 I was re-elected for a second two year term.

Due to World War II, I did not seek a third term.

In 1945 & 46 I served on the Cochran-Yoakum & Terry County Soil Conservation District as a director which was sub-divided into three different districts, each County having its own Soil Conservation District.

In 1946 I was persuaded to seek election to the County Judge's office, and subsequently served two terms as County Judge, ending December 31, 1950. During these two terms the Commissioners' Court planned a system of County and County-State Farm to Market roads.

Upon completion of these plans, they were presented to the voters and a supporting Bond issue was passed by a large majority. Approximately 140 miles of County and County-State Farm to Market roads were subsequently constructed. Upon completion of the second term as County Judge I did not seek re-election, and returned to private business, serving as General of Texas on the Texas Tidelands case with the federal government.

In 1954, I was elected to the Board of Directors of the Bailey County Electric Co-Op, and served four years as the director from Cochran County. The last two years were served as Secretary of the Board.

In 1954, I also helped to promote the organization of the Five Area Rural Telephone System that now serves Cochran and Bailey Counties. Subsequently, the extended area telephone service connected Morton with the surrounding rural area on a toll-free basis.

In 1958 I was again persuaded to run for County Judge, was elected, and served a four year term. During this term of office the Commissioners' Court built several more miles of State Farm to Market roads and also obtained a commitment from the Texas State Highway Commission to hard surface some additional miles of roads in the County.

Since 1962 I have engaged in farming and ranching.

If selected as your next County Judge, the people of Cochran County will, as always, receive my full attention, experience and effort. Having worked with five different Commissioners' Courts and many state officials in solving numerous problems of County government, I believe that as County Judge I could work with you for a progressive, yet efficient and economical, County government.

Thank you for your past support and I hope to be able to join with you in a renewed effort for better local government.

Sincerely,
Glenn W. Thompson

Prices, wages . . .

By GEORGE HAGEDORN
Chief Economist
National Association of Manufacturers

The air is full of proposals that the government step in, in some way, by regulation or persuasion, to make price and wage behavior of private parties turn out differently than it otherwise would. These proposals vary so much in their details that it is difficult to find a generic term to cover them all. We will use the term "price-wage interventionism."

At this point there are not many people, although there are some, who advocate compulsory price and wage controls of the type in force during World War II and the Korean War. The present danger comes from those who advocate some more subtle form of interventionism.

IN THE RECENT reports of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, both the majority and the minority reports repudiate the idea of imposing price and wage controls. But each advocates its own special kind of interventionism, described only in outline. Each would involve the President's Council of Economic Advisors, either in setting standards for price-wage behavior or in reviewing it as it is observed. Each would rely on "voluntary" compliance, but the pressure of public opinion would be directed at offenders.

Apparently, the support for such proposals is based partly on the misconception that the fundamental objection to price and wage controls lies in their coercive nature. It is felt that a "voluntary" program does not involve this objectionable feature and hence is more acceptable.

HOWEVER, THE really basic argument against price and wage controls rests on other ground. It is that no government official, or government agency, possesses that knowledge or skill to decide, better than the market place, what prices and wages ought to be. This is as much an argument against a program of government — promulgated price-wage standards for voluntary compliance as it is an argument against legislated price-wage controls.

The most important question about the structure of prices and wages at any given time is its workability; that is, does it permit goods and services to be produced and exchanged so that our national economic potential may be realized. There are inequities and social evils resulting from periods of rising prices, and from periods of falling prices. But the worst thing of all is a structure of prices that obstructs the functioning of our system of production.

THERE ARE imperfections in the market system that determines prices and wages in our economy. But at least it leads to a reasonably workable result — goods and services do get produced and do move to those who need them. We can't be sure that this would be true if prices and wages were determined by government intervention rather than by markets.

Our fear that price-wage interventionism would lead to an unworkable result is not an abstract bugaboo. That is just what happened when price and wage controls were continued after the economy had been reconverted to civilian production at the end of World War II. People found they could not get the goods they wanted, even when they were willing and able to pay the theoretical price for them.

OF COURSE, this can be avoided if the system of government intervention is so administered that it does not interfere with prices and wages reaching the same levels that would have been reached in the absence of such intervention. In other words, intervention does no harm if it has no effect. That is the situation which prevailed during most of the Korean War price control period.

Thus the national experience with price-wage controls has been of two kinds. Controls were hastily abandoned in late 1946, in an atmosphere of crisis, because they were unworkable and disruptive. They were quietly dropped in 1953, with hardly anyone noticing, because they were pointless.

EXPERIENCE WITH another kind of interventionism in the 1960's, the price-wage guideposts, was not any more impressive. Any serious attempt to apply the guideposts was dropped in 1966 when it was clear they had become unworkable.

But hope springs eternal in the heart of an interventionist, and past failures merely send him back to the drawing board. New schemes, and a new jargon to explain them, are proliferating. What makes these proposals difficult to criticize is that they are described in airy language that embraces all the good symbols but does not face any of the hard questions.

For instance, the majority of the Joint Economic Committee proposes that the Council of Economic Advisors should publish quantitative standards for price and income changes. They are to be "such that voluntary compliance by business and labor will contribute to the restoration of greater price stability." No clue is given as to any economic theories, or statistical formulas, or other procedures that could be used in establishing meaningful standards. It's no more than an expression of pious hope that someone will think of a way to make the idea meaningful. But it is hard to argue with a pious hope.

WE ARE NOT WHOLLY discouraged by the apparent popularity of interventionist schemes. We suspect that they remain attractive only so long as they remain vague. Any serious attempt to embody them in legislation, or in any other kind of directive for specific action, would reveal their weaknesses.

It's like an off-hand suggestion that it would be a good idea to make the Mississippi River flow north for a change. It becomes less appealing when you try to draft instructions for the man who has to do it.

However, at best, we must anticipate that price-wage interventionism will remain a subject of intense political discussion during the early years of this decade. No one specific proposal will stay around indefinitely — on prolonged exposure these ideas tend to evaporate into the thin air of which they are composed. But, since an infinite variety is possible, there is always another to take its place.

Power industry's strides forecast

The U.S. electric utility industry will double its capability in nine years to meet an estimated record peak load of enough manufacturing capacity to supply 514 million kilowatts in 1978, according to a survey of power equipment requirements conducted by the National Electrical Manufacturers Association.

"Despite the accelerated growth of utility capability, the pattern of growth indicates that there will be more than enough manufacturing capacity to supply equipment needed," according to Joseph F. Miller, NEMA Executive Vice President. "The peak load forecast for 1977 exceeded by 25 million kilowatts that predicted in the Division's previous survey, while capability increased by 29 million kilowatts."

The 1978 figures, requested for the first time showed year-end capability rising to 825 million kilowatts by year-end 1978 compared to 314 million at the end of 1969 — almost doubling in 9 years instead of the historic ten. The rapid rise in generation additions will reach a peak in 1973.

Frank Gonzales speaks to Delta Kappa Gamma

The Theta Epsilon Chapter of The Delta Kappa Gamma Society met at 2:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building on the South Plains College campus Saturday, April 11.

Mrs. Jeanett Young introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Frank Gonzales, an instructor at South Plains College, who presented the program "So Near — Yet So Far." He spoke on Mexico and stated that the first organized Indian culture in Mexico was from 8,000 to 10,000 B.C. The Maya Indians were in existence about 1 A.D., then the Toltec Indians and last the Aztec Indians who were a nomad group until 1325 A.D. All Indian cultures are based on religion, legend and ancestry and red and white are their sacred colors. Mr. Gonzales presented slides which he had taken a few years ago in Mexico City and about 100 miles south of Mexico City, which included the pyramids and the two snow-capped mountain peaks seen from Mexico City.

Following a brief business session the meeting was concluded with the singing of the Delta Kappa Gamma Song. Members present included Mesdames Marie Benham, Ruth Breed, Flora Bryant, Anne Bulls, Irene Galvin, Inez Knox, Cherylyne Inglis, Helen Roberts, Mabel Ann Sanders, Lois Selman, Marie Stockard, Frances Watkins, Inez Witte, Jeanett Young, Maxine Adair, Mary Ann Asbill,erry Nowlin, and Dorothy Rose.

LAST MINUTE RUSH...

JUST AS WAS PREDICTED by Department of Public Safety officials, There has been a huge rush of last-minute car inspections in order to meet the safety sticker deadline which was midnight Wednesday. The above scene showing a double line of cars around two sides of the block leading to Gwatney-Wells inspection station has been the order of the day for the past week. Morton's only inspection station worked far into the night Friday, and still they continued to pile up. By Tuesday morning the line had swollen to three and four abreast with no end in sight.

Law allows insured leeway in marginal cases of liability

Coming to a halt at a stop light, you bump bumpers with the car ahead. A quick look by both parties indicates that no harm was done, so you dismiss the matter from your mind.

Months later, you are served with a summons in a lawsuit. It seems the other driver is claiming that he was injured by the collision after all. This question arises:

Are you left stranded, without the protection of your liability insurance, because you failed to give prompt notice of the accident to the insurance company?

Generally speaking, you are required to give notice within a "reasonable time" after you have an accident. Still, the law does grant you some leeway if there is a good excuse for delay.

Obviously, you have a good excuse if you simply were not aware that an accident happened at all. Likewise, in the case above, the court decided the motorist's excuse was good enough. As one judge put it:

"Not every trivial accident should be reported. An accident that an ordinarily prudent person would consider as inconsequential, not the basis of any claim, the insured was not bound to report."

Nevertheless, if there is reason to fear a claim (even an unfair claim), then it is indeed up to you to tell your insurance company about it.

For example, a motorist who knocked down a pedestrian was held not justified in failing to report the accident, since he knew the victim had been taken to a hospital. His excuse, that a policeman had told him it was "nothing serious," was held not good enough.

And another motorist was held at fault for not notifying his insurance company that the other party, in a seemingly harmless collision, had telephoned to say his knee was "starting to feel stiff."

In short, when in doubt report the accident. It isn't a difficult thing to do. And it might save you, some day, from having to "face the music" on your own.

He goeth before you. (Mark 16:7)

What a notable event! The Christ who was dead appeared alive. Good Friday had brought darkness and sadness; the resurrection day brought gladness and joy.

In the early centuries it seemed the progress of the gospel of Christ and the new church would come to an end behind prison bars. Despite vigorous opposition and persecution, God's will prevailed, and the gospel spread more and more.

When at times the church and churchmen have lost sight of the straight and narrow way, God has produced reformers, saints, evangelists, prophets. Some have been put to death.

Christ ever goes before us. His power rolls away confining stones. His gospel destroys barriers. In His name the battle against man's sinfulness goes on, and bridges of understanding and good will are built.

PRAYER:
We thank Thee, our Father, for Jesus the Christ. He has gone before us in death and in life: in death that our sins might be forgiven, in life that we shall have His inspiration and guidance and rise from the dead. We thank Thee in the name of our Savior, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven... Amen."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY:
Christ is ahead of us. How near are we following?

Mrs. Shaper speaks to clubs on 'Communist Manifesto'

Mrs. Henry F. Shaper of San Antonio, President of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs was the honored guest and speaker at a Tea hosted by The Area Council of TFWC Friday, April 10 in the County Activity Building.

Mrs. Shaper urged the women of the six TFWC clubs present to give more of their time and thought to world affairs. She also read from the "Red Rules" Communist Manifesto that was obtained by the Allied Forces in May of 1919 at Dusseldorf, Germany. "As I read the list, stop after each item and think about the present-day situation where you live — and all around our nation. A. Corrupt the young, get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial, destroy their ruggedness. B. Get people's minds off their government by focusing their attention on athletics, sexy books and plays and other trivialities. Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance. Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by holding the latter up to contempt, ridicule and obloquy. Always preach true democracy, but seize power as fast and as ruthlessly as possible. By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent. Foment unencourage civil disorders and foster lenient and soft attitude on the part of government toward such disorders. By specious argument cause the breakdown of the old moral virtues, honesty, sobriety, continence, faith in the pledged word, ruggedness. Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext, with a view to confiscating them and leaving the population helpless. My sincere hope, is that each of you will think about these rules and then let's all work together for a greater America," Mrs. Shaper concluded.

Mrs. Kenneth McMasters, Area TFWC President, introduced Mrs. Shaper and other honor guests, Mrs. Lane Decker, Caprock District President from Floydada; Mrs. Harold Green, Third Vice President of Caprock District of Tahoka; Mrs. Bill Davis, District Trustee from O'Donnell; Mrs. Robert Tipps, State Treasurer from Denver City; Mrs. Jack Akin, District Shell Oil Contest Chairman from Denver City; Mrs. T. L. Dunlap, Immediate Past District Trustee from Littlefield and Mrs. A. T. Cocanougher, Past District President and State Life Member from Lubbock.

FBI assists police in training schools

During 1969, the FBI provided assistance in 8,058 police training schools throughout the nation. FBI instructors totaled 75,964 hours of instruction during the year to the 243,517 officers who were in attendance at the schools.

Subjects covered in these schools ranged from law enforcement fundamentals for recruits to principles and problems of police management for command and executive officers. Of the latter, some 4,249 executive and command officers attended 105 schools in all areas of the country.

FBI training accomplishments in 1969 represent all-time highs in three pertinent categories, the number of schools conducted, the total attendance, and the number of hours of instruction by FBI personnel.

Lecture and illustrations given for LeFleur Club

LeFleur Garden Club had as its program lecture and illustrations of contemporary artistic designs at their April meeting in the home of Mrs. E. R. Fischer.

Mrs. L. Z. Scoggins spoke on line arrangements and the need to use restraint in quantity of material used, thus forming an open silhouette making line the dominant form. She also discussed and illustrated expression in flower arrangements and stated it is the quality in an arrangement which presents some communication to the observer which makes the finished product a work of art and not just decorative.

Mrs. Don Samford demonstrated both traditional and free style designs. She stated traditional style is opposite of line that it has a closed form, depth but never crowded and its effectiveness depends upon quantities of plant material, colorings of kinds and color. Free style designs are designs which are abstract in concept, often with interest equated over the whole, including an interest area at the point of emergence and with material used in ways other than botanically normal.

Mrs. Roy Hill discussed and demonstrated massed line and an abstract design. She told the members a line arrangement with mass added constitutes a massed line arrangement and must have height, width and depth. Material which creates depth must be used simply to develop and emphasize the compositional scheme without confusing it. Abstract designing is a new concept in flower arranging and it is the unification and organization of all elements restricted to the simplest form and emphasizing space, movement and creativity and the elimination of detail.

In the business meeting a letter was read from Mrs. Jewel Robinson, Hockley Home Demonstration Agent, inviting the club to Levelland to hear James and Bob Berry from Texas A&M University on landscape design. It was announced a work day will be called for the Museum Ground project, and a committee consisting of Mrs. Don Samford, Mrs. E. R. Fincher and Mrs. Roy Hill in conjunction with a representative of Cochran County Garden Club was appointed to help to landscape the new part of the Hospital grounds. The club sent $3.00 for seed to "World Gardening," a national project.

The next meeting will be April 23 in the home of Mrs. Roy Hill.

Routine check nails suspect in robbery

Recently, FBI agents and local police in a southern city were conducting an investigation to locate a bank robbery suspect. A routine check was made of a vehicle observed parked near the suspect's residence, and the name of the registered owner was obtained. After processing the name through the computerized files of the state police, the agents and officers learned that the owner had been arrested a number of times on traffic violations. On one occasion he was driving a car owned by the alleged bank robber.

With this connection between the two individuals established, the car owner was immediately interviewed. Through leads obtained from him, the robbery suspect was located and apprehended.

Accent on health

Extra bonus for prompt action on your part! Yours absolutely free — well, almost free — a promise with no mosquitoes.

You can have this mosquito-free home and yard if you'll spend just a little of your time in a do-it-yourself vector control program, says the Texas State Department of Health.

In addition to eliminating mosquitoes, you also can free your premises of flies and rodents with a little extra precaution. The cost can be just a little effort on your part.

Spring is the time of year when mosquitoes start breeding. So take an inventory of your property. Walk around the outside of the house and take a good look. What do you see? Did you notice whether the gutters were level and not sagging? Mosquitoes like to breed in the water that collects in sagging or stopped up gutters. Just a few minutes time on your part will eliminate this breeding site.

How many bottles, cans, tires, or other water-holding containers are partially hidden under the shrubs? These provide more breeding places for mosquitoes.

You may be surprised to know that most people grow the mosquitoes that bite them. Since most of the water-holding containers are valueless, again it is a simple matter to place them in the garbage pick up.

Should you have a container you want to keep, place it in a shed so it won't collect water.

Mosquitoes won't breed on your premise if you don't leave any water standing around. If there's a knothole in one of your trees, it can be plugged with cement mortar, roofing tar, or anything that will keep the water out.

If you have pets, develop a routine of washing the watering bowl a couple of times a week. And while you are at it, you should clean the birdbath the same number of times. This will also keep the growth of algae down and tend to do away with that ugly green, slimy look.

Since mosquitoes always develop in water, it would be best to stock your fish pond or lily pond with gambusia (top-water minnows) or goldfish. The fish will eat the wigglers.

Anything you can do to eliminate mosquitoes will be to your advantage since the insects are a nuisance and can cause disease.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN, Tex. — State Welfare costs may go up sharply next year if Congress passes a new Medicaid bill.

State Senate Committee on Welfare Reform heard estimates that Medicaid amendments alone will require at least $25.9 million in additional state outlays during the coming biennium.

Burton G. Hackney, State Welfare Commissioner, predicts President Nixon's Family Assistance Plan of legislation might cost Texas a minimum of $22 million more each year and double the number of children on state aid rolls. That Medicaid changes will add more than $6.2 million to the state's obligations for the present biennium.

While welfare officials are now optimistic over being able to continue present program levels until the next legislative sessions, they will, at best, be in debt $13.5 million come January. That's the amount Gov. Preston Smith transferred to welfare from medical school construction funds to head off the scheduled April 1 cut in payments to the needy, and gas leases

If rough estimates presented the committee are correct, the legislature will be looking at an increase of $70 million for new programs during the next fiscal period — not to mention another $20 million "catch-up" money carrying over from the current biennium.

If Congress places mental retardation under new limitations for inpatient services, the state could end up with another $9 million a year in new obligations, plus $8.2 million in unexpected expenses for the present fiscal period.

SCHOOL FUND — Largest single piece of income for the Texas permanent school fund, $139 million, has been assured. After 11 months of discussion, School Land Board accepted a unitization agreement on the huge new sulphur deposit found in Culberson County by the Duval Corporation of Houston. Deposit is the second largest in the world. It contains 81 million long tons of sulphur. Agreement involves the drilling of 6,000 wells.

High bids on public school land oil and gas leases totaled $3.1 million, representing an average of $36.84 an acre. Twenty-two per cent of the acreage sold was in El Paso and Hudspeth counties. Land lying in Loving and Ward counties brought a total of $120,006, topping all others.

Second highest bid of $113,040 was on a 1,440-acre tract of submerged coastal lands in Jefferson County.

Third highest was $110,053 for 411 acres in Reeves County.

Receipts from the sale boosted the permanent school fund to $839.6 million, for total increase of nearly 86 per cent in last decade.

COURTS SPEAK — Third Court of Civil Appeals held the 1969 law giving tobacco distributors 15 days to pay for cigarette tax stamps is constitutional, but State Treasurer Jesse James said he will appeal.

State Supreme Court refused the request of Fred Williams, Houston, to force Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler to make public veterans' land loan applicants.

In other actions the Supreme Court: Set May 6 arguments on liability of an insecticide firm for damages in the death of a Colorado County child who swallowed bug spray.

Held there was no conspiracy in an alleged breach of contract involving a fishing fleet and an Ecuadorian seafood pack plant.

Refused to review a Dallas furniture company's challenge of the Sunday closing law.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor Smith named eight members to the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission. They are Mrs. Marcella Perry of Houston, John T. Steen of San Antonio, Dr. George Ruble Woolfolk of Prairie View, Mrs. Ina May McAdams of Austin, Sam Kinch of Austin, Charles Ray Ritcheson of Dallas and Frank Tolbert of Dallas.

Smith also made these appointments: Hospital Advisory Council — Edward S. Reese of Gonzales, Jesse H. Oppenheimer of San Antonio, Robert P. Gordon of San Angelo, Charles M. Kennedy of Texarkana, Sister Mary David of Houston and George David Trader of Robstown.

Interim Committee on Aid to Private Education — Manuel C. DeBusk of Dallas, Ben R. Howell of El Paso, Sister Margaret Evans of Houston, Jack McIntosh of Austin and Dr. John Moseley of Sherman.

Commissioners of the National Conference on Uniform State Laws — Tom Martin Davis of Houston, Talbot Rain of Dallas and Millard H. Ruid of Austin.

State Board of Chiropractic Examiners — Dr. S. M. Elliott of Dayton. Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission — John A. Mehos of Galveston.

Farm-Ranch Study Committee — Claude K. McCann Jr., Victoria; James M. Price, Corpus Christi; oe Key York Jr., Kinney; oe David Rankin, Ralls; and Frank H. Lewis, Bay City.

Smith named 75 to serve on governor's advisory committee on aging and appointed a steering committee on children and youth to plan state participation in the White House conference on children and youth.

AG RULINGS — Atty. Gen Crawford Martin says, in an opinion requested by Wiley L. Cheatham of Cuero, that a Justice of the Peace may conduct court on criminal cases on Sundays. He added that he also could enter judgments and sentences and collect fines on Sundays.

In another opinion, Martin ruled that Commissioners Courts may enter into contract with the U.S. to administer job training programs under a concentrated employment project.

FEDERAL-STATE GRANTS MADE — Office of Child Development grant of $208,594 in new federal funds went to Bee County Community Council for Head Start school programs in Beeville, Goliad and Pettus.

A federal recreation grant of $126,000 has been approved for acquisition of 15.5 acres of land to enlarge Pasadena's Memorial Park.

Governor approved an $11,250 regional planning assistance state grant to Ark-Tex Council of Governments, Texarkana, and a $22,190 planning grant to El Paso C.O.G.

SHORT SNORTS — Highway Commission has told the U.S. Department of Transportation it will not make any more studies about possible routes for the North Expressway in San Antonio and asked for 50 per cent aid to help build the road.

Victoria, Harris, LaSalle and San Patricio counties have been added to the list of those with brucellosis control programs by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the State Animal Health Commission.

Aeronautics Commission staff has recommended that 28 cities in the state be provided intrastate cargo-only air service and approved four companies to serve them.

Governor Smith has accepted the resignation of District Judge Sterling Williams of Snyder, but is not expected to appoint anyone to the post until after the district Democratic committee has selected its nominee for the May 2 primary.

Tax revenue from smoking increased more than $4.5 million last month, over March 1969, due to the increase from 11 cents to 15½ cents a pack on cigarettes.

Governor Smith has called an April 16-18 conference of college student presidents.

Parks & Wildlife Department is asking cities and counties along the Gulf Coast to submit applications in May for participation in the beach cleaning and maintenance assistance program enacted by the last Legislature.

Comments on Conservation

By Wayne Wilcox

PROCRASTINATE — a two-bit word for saying put off until tomorrow what should be done today. We are warned against it in the Bible. Many have trouble with it. At least one epitaph has been written about it. J. Albery wrote the following lines for himself:

He slept beneath the moon
He basked beneath the sun
He lived a life of going-to-do,
And died with nothing done.

Much of our land suffers because the caretakers of the land put off doing the things that need doing. For instance, it is easy to put off terracing a field until washes and gullies become difficult to cross and the more productive soil is gone from the slope.

Then there is the rancher who puts off selling a few head of cows when he sees that the grass is going to be "short." He winds up either selling on a declining market or spending his profit for feed.

If you have been thinking of doing some grass seeding — now is the time to do it. Of course, unless you have some trash (residue) left on top of the ground, grass seeding will need to wait until there is a dead litter to cover to plant the grass into. Or, irrigation sprinkler systems can be used to combat soil movement and help get a stand of grass.

Some jobs will wait — some won't. PROCRASTINATION IN CONSERVATION. How much is it costing you and the future generations?

ASCS Farm News

By John W. Hall

With sign up in the wheat, feed grain, and cotton programs, and planting, farmers can apply for measurement service at the County ASC Office.

This reminder came today from Danny Key, Chairman of the Cochran County ASC Committee, who said measurement service often saves farmers money. "If a farmer plants before measurement, he may plant too much and be out not only the cost of planting, but may also be out the cost of plowing up the crop. If he plants less than his allowed acreage, he may lose money by not having as much production as he is entitled to."

Measurement service is offered by the County ASC Office to farm program participants as a sure way to know they are in compliance with acreage requirements of farm programs. When a farmer participates in the wheat, feed grain, or cotton program, he certifies to the precise acreage he has in these crops and except for cotton, the acreage he has diverted from these crops. There is no voluntary provision in the cotton program this year. The farmer must also be certain he has enough additional acres in conserving use to meet his conserving base requirement.

Errors in certification can result in reduction or loss of payments. Danny Key describes certification as a "do-it-yourself" system by which farmers report their crop and program acreage to the County ASC Office. The Chairman cautioned that farm acreages must be certified before the crop disposition date, that is, the final date after which the crop may not be plowed under for compliance.

Most farmers participating in these programs are familiar with the "spot-check" system he says, under which farms picked at random have their crop acreages measured. Producers found out of compliance by spot check may not dispose of the excess crop to bring their acreage back in compliance.

Early certifications will help speed up program payment, Key said. Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin announced earlier this year that final payments to farm program participants in 1970 will be made as soon as possible after July 1st. Payments are expected to be completed as much as two months earlier than in previous years. "For some farmers, early certification may mean they will have to move some of their work a little ahead of schedule."

The deadline for certification this year is AUGUST 1. Last year it was August 15.
