Weaver resigns principal post

Morton High School became fresh out of principals following the unexpected resignation of Fred Weaver which was accepted with regret by the school board Monday night.

Weaver, whose contract for the coming year had been renewed by the board in March, resigned to accept a similar post at Georgetown High School in central Texas. "We very regretfully accepted Fred's resignation, though we hated to see him go, because we felt the move to a larger town and school was a definite step up for him and we didn't want to hold him back in his professional goals," Superintendent Bob E. Travis stated after the meeting.

According to Supt. Travis' description, the move evolved very rapidly and caught most of the parties involved by surprise. The Georgetown offer came late last week, and with the board meeting on Monday, there was little time for reflection on anyone's part. By Tuesday Weaver had departed Morton for his new post "where a mountain of work in preparation for the opening of school awaits him," Travis said.

Meanwhile the search for a new principal has been launched, with a special meeting of the board of education scheduled at 9 p.m. tonight to screen applications for the position that have been received.

CREAM OF THE LEAGUE . . .

THE FRONTIER LEAGUE BABE RUTH ALL-STARS above represent the very best in the local circuit and include players from each of the five teams in the Frontier League. They were photographed just prior to taking the field against Lubbock in the tournament played here last week. Frontier defeated Slaton but lost twice to Lubbock with the second loss eliminating them from the tourney. Lubbock was the eventual tournament winner by virtue of double header wins Saturday over runnerup Levelland. All-stars, not in order, include Larry Thompson, Randy Keuhler, Mark Fluitt, Mike Gilliam, Ronnie Richardson, Darrell Smith, Mark Corkery, Maurice Stanmeyer, Leslie Bills, Randy Lumas, Gary Douglas, Ralph Mason, Frank Lopez, Wade Sanders, and Jimmy Hargis. League president Jesse Clayton is at right rear. Jerry Schaeffer, Harvey Zuber and Dicky VanHoose were all-star coaches.

BUDDY, I'LL DO THE TALKIN' . . .

SEEMS TO BE THE ATTITUDE of Highpockets, Duncan, as he appears to be breathing the opposition in the form of his 5-year-old grandson Chad, at the Crazy Day free money drawings Saturday. It isn't what it appears, however, as he was actually being handed the winning ticket which Chad had just drawn from the squirrel cage at right. The winner of the first drawing of $50 was Mrs. W. C. Key, left. Mrs. Key claimed the money when the first person whose name was drawn, Sandra Courtney, arrived at the drawing approximately 30 seconds too late. Dutch Gipson won the second $50 drawing.

Drouth-hit cotton farmers to receive financial relief

Some farmers who have been hard hit by drouth or other natural disasters this year are being offered greater income relief by the manner in which their crop yields will be computed for program purposes in 1972. Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin has announced.

The Secretary also announced several other changes in program provisions which will offer greater relief to drouth-stricken farmers. The changes are based on findings from a recent inspection of drouth-stricken areas by Under Secretary J. Phil Campbell, during which he met with farmers, ranchers, local agricultural leaders and those administering farm programs to learn directly how various programs were functioning and how they could be improved. A follow-up team from the Department of Agriculture has also just completed an inspection tour.

The action on cotton is expected to increase income in 1972 and subsequent years for cotton farmers in the drouth areas of the Southwest. An adjustment to the farmer's actual 1971 cotton yield to 90 percent of his 1971 payment instead of the previous level of 80 percent is reduced by adverse weather conditions.

Additional assistance covered in today's announcement includes: extension through Dec. 31, 1971 of the emergency livestock feed program and the grazing of land diverted under the cropland adjustment and set-aside programs. They were originally scheduled to end Aug. 31, 1971.

A revision of procedures to allow farmers to use their own conveyance as an additional source of transportation, where other means have caused delays, in the delivery of feed grains into drouth areas, been established for helping farmers meet this additional expense. Orders for feed grains now can be expedited rapidly by the county ASCS office contacting the Kansas City Commodities Office directly instead of routing requests through state ASCS offices. Also, the follow-up on all loading orders as been intensified on deliveries not made within one week from date of order.

Cost-sharing for emergency tillage practices that have been previously used only on cropland to prevent erosion is now available on pasture and rangeland. This will also improve water penetration and help prevent runoff.

Cost-sharing assistance, under the Rural Environmental Assistance Program, is provided for use in building livestock water ponds, in order to catch and store

Ambulance, memorial purchased by county

Cochran county citizens will be the recipients of a new ambulance and a marble monument to its war dead as a result of recent action by the county commissioners court.

A special meeting was held July 20 in which it was voted unanimously to advertise for bids for construction of a gray marble monument honoring all county citizens who have given their life in service to their country in World War Two, Korea and Viet Nam.

At the regular meeting of the court Monday, July 26, bids for both the monument and the ambulance were opened and accepted. Only one bid was received on each item.

Barrett's Funeral Home of Plains was the accepted bidder on the memorial marker at a price of $2,250. The bid included the monument, a stone base upon which Ya-hooo -- Frontier rodeo is on!

Morton citizens were jubilant this week over the fact that the 1971 Last Frontier Rodeo will take place, after all. Most had given it up for lost as a result of the 14-day quarantine placed on equine animals in the state July 15.

A hard working group of rodeo association members, together with equally diligent county officials, managed to accomplish the immunization of virtually all horses in the county at least 14 days prior to the rodeo's beginning date, thus making it possible for the big show to go on.

Rodeo dates are set for August 5, 6 and

7. The festivities will kick off with a giant rodeo parade through downtown

Day care center opening delayed

The opening of the Cochran County Day Care Center is being delayed for lack of a suitable building or house. Mrs. Sherrill Griffith, day care center chairman announced this week.

To meet State requirements the quarters must have a bathroom and cooking facilities. The committee had previously sought to use part of the Community Action Center, however, the Morton Schools will be using the building for kindergarten space in September and therefore it will be unavailable.

"The First United Methodist Reconciliation Fund has made a grant of $800 to help finance the Center and numerous additional pledges have been received from organizations and individuals, Mrs. Griffith stated. The Center has been incorporated as a non profit organization and all we need now is a suitable building to make plans for the opening," she added.

The original target date for opening was September 1.

Morton beginning at 4:30 p.m. Thursday, August 5. Performances will be nightly beginning at 8 p.m. in the county rodeo arena.

The rodeo queen contest got off to a late start due to the apparent cancellation, but is gathering momentum each day. The girls are competing for the title of Rodeo Queen by collecting donations which will afford donors the opportunity to win a drawing for a shop-made saddle. The donor receives one drawing ticket for each $1 he donates to the rodeo association.

Events for this year's rodeo, which is expected to be bigger than ever before, will include bare-back bronc riding, bull riding, team roping, calf roping, barrel racing, a Pony Express race and a chuck wagon race.

The junior events are expected to include breakaway roping, junior barrel racing and a calf scramble for 10-year-olds and under.

Riding clubs and sheriff's possees from throughout the High Plains have been invited to participate in the rodeo parade and the grand entry which will take place prior to the opening performance Thursday night.

Information on the rodeo can be obtained by contacting any rodeo association member.

SHOWING HER WARES . . .

MRS. WILLIAM A. PEETRE, right, displays an antique salt shaker for the inspection of Mrs. Sid Williamson at the Flea Market in conjunction with Crazy Day in Morton last Saturday. The flea market, in which anyone having anything at all to sell or trade can participate, is steadily growing in both size and popularity. Exhibitors drew a large number of customers and viewers and conducted a brisk trade at the all-day event. More and more will be offered by the combined flea market and swap shop as it becomes better known throughout the South Plains.

Today's Subject: LSD — Controversial Hallucinogen

LSD is classified among the hallucinogens and is by far the most potent in this category. A dose the size of the point on a pin is sufficient to send the average person into amazing "trips," all within their own minds and, of course, entirely imaginary.

LSD stands for lysergic acid diethylamide and street terms include "acid," "heavenly blue," "scramblers," "mind blowers" and mind benders.

LSD WAS synthesized, (made), in 1938 by a Dr. Albert Hoffman in Switzerland. However, the true powers of LSD were not discovered until about 1943, and then by accident. Beginning early in the 60s LSD drew public attention by Dr. Timothy Leary and others we have read about since, and a sort of cult developed around it. 'Hippies' soon found LSD a favorite. LSD and many other hallucinogens came to be known as "psychedelic" from the Greek meaning for the term mind-manifesting.

LSD is usually taken in liquid form, capsule, pill or dropped on a sugar cube and swallowed. Initially the result of taking this drug is disorganization and confusion of the central nervous system. It can cause brain action changes and effect the level of consciousness by causing hearing and sight hallucinations, (imaginary happenings — dream-like experience). Color of the substance, whether liquid or solid is usually blue, but sometimes in tablet form it can be white.

BEING UNDER the influence of LSD is referred to as a "trip" and these periods usually last from 6 to 12 hours per dose, depending on the amount of the drug taken. The results of use, both immediate and long-range are extremely dangerous. Users will experience:

Very irrational and extremely unpredictable behavior; Sight and hearing hallucinations; A very confused mind resulting in bizarre behavior and great panic.

"Trips" on LSD closely resemble an actual period of insanity. Suicide or accidental deaths have occurred. Surprisingly, a user of LSD can go into hallucinations without taking the drug again, and suffer all of the ill effects of the drug, for up to three years after the last dose was taken. There have been cases of extended "trips" from just a single dose where the user "freaks out," meaning his effects stay with him for long periods even though he has taken only one dose.

PHYSICAL HARM from the drug usually comes as the result of the behavior it causes from the disorganization of the mind which it causes. Mental harm is continually studied. Many medical people believe LSD use damages brain tissue, causes gross emotional and personality changes, but they are still in the process of clinically proving it.

All indications point to severe disruption of the personality, temporary or permanently, variations depending on other individual factors involving tolerance. But, it is felt that once brain tissue is injured it remains injured, it will not regenerate!

Recently, in the research being done on LSD, there are strong indications that it causes chromosome damage, thus causing potential damage to offspring of the user. So, not only does the user endanger his own life and future, but also that of his yet unborn children.

The usual source for LSD is the "street market," and it sells for about $2.00 to $5.00 per dose.

What is this world coming to you say? Be with me next week — there's much more to discuss on the subject of drug abuse. It has many widening effects on our lives and those of our children.

system for a total of eight years, the last three of which were in the post of high school principal. A native of Cooper, Texas, he arrived in Morton in 1961 and served as a coach and teacher for one year following his graduation from Texas Tech. He returned to Morton in 1965 after a three year break as teacher and coach at Slaton and was advanced to the principal's position in 1968.

In other business at the Monday meeting, the board accepted the resignation of Mark Sullivan and Lavelle Hawkins and added five to the teaching staff for the coming year. These included Mrs. Linda Faye Spears, Mrs. Mary Wilcox, Mrs. Melba Ray, Clifford D. Meixner and Hubert Jones.

"This brings our staff up close to the full mark, with only the principal's and one special education teacher's positions to fill," Supt. Travis said.

The board was presented the projected budget for the 1971-72 school year for study prior to the budget meeting to be held in August.

The Insurational Insurance Company was approved by the board to continue to furnish student and football player insurance for the coming year.

The First State Bank of Morton was appointed by unanimous vote to be the depository for school funds for the period from September 1971 to August 1973.

The high bid of $502 by Northwest Bible Church was accepted for a 1960 48-passenger bus being sold by the school district. The second high bid of $425 by Superior Coach Sales was accepted as an alternate bid.

The board was advised that there are now 10 students working on the campus under the Neighborhood Youth Corporation program. They have completed a substantial amount of maintenance work and more is planned prior to the opening of school.

Approval for the payment of bills in the amount of $55,500.64 for the month of July completed the agenda of the meeting.

water when rains occur. Under the emergency conservation measures these ponds also may be built or rebuilt in case of severe drought, to intercept or hold existing water supplies.

The definition of "crop loss" has been clarified for hog producers in the livestock feed program to include loss of grain or pasture which provided the feed for the hog producers' animals and was lost due to the drought.

Every effort is being made to insure a uniform administration of all emergency programs, and County and State ASC Committees, in following the intent of the law, are investigating any reported discrepancies.

Generally, cotton payment yields for the 1972 program are the average of the 1970 program yield and the actual yields for 1970 and 1971. The Agricultural Act of 1970 provides for participating cotton farmers to receive a set-aside payment of at least 15 cents per pound. The payment is computed by multiplying the payment rate per pound times the payment yield established for the farm times the acres planted within the base acreage allotment. The Secretary has authority to make adjustments in the actual yield in any year where the farmer's yield is reduced by drought, flood, storm or other natural disaster.

Based on today's announcement, farmers who suffered a severe yield reduction as a result of natural disaster in 1971 will receive a higher payment yield for 1972 than they would have under rules previously in effect. This is expected to be helpful not only to farmers in the Southwest but also to farmers who suffered severely from excessive rains early in the growing season elsewhere in the country.

Texas hog population in spectacular rise

The Texas hog inventory on June 1, 1971 was 1.7 million head, up 51 percent over a year earlier, according to the release from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The December-May pig crop estimate for the state reached 1.2 million, showing an increase of about 41 percent over the same period a year earlier. The June-November period, Texas hog producers intend to farrow 37 percent more sows than during this time last year. This means that the Texas pig stock should reach close to 1.5 million for June-November.

Breeding animals accounted for 28 percent of the state's inventory. The expansion of the breeding herd was somewhat less than the number kept for other purposes, according to Dr. Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist.

Paul Marlar-Nancy Lewis recite vows at Whiteface

Miss Nancy Lewis and Paul Gary Marlar exchanged double ring vows Saturday, July 24, at 8 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church in Whiteface. Dr. Hubert H. Bratcher, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olin L. Lewis of Whiteface. Marlar is the son of Mrs. Paul Marlar and the late Mr. Marlar of Levelland.

Baskets of white gladioli and greenery tied with purple ribbons, flanking four wrought iron candelabras, formed the background for the altar and kneeling bench. The eternal candle, which was lighted by the bride and bridegroom following their wedding vows, was to the left of the altar. Pews were marked with purple satin bows.

Mrs. Sally Wheeler, organist, played traditional wedding music. Mrs. David Watson, aunt of the bride from San Angelo, sang "Whither Thou Goest" and David Watson sang "Love Story," theme from "Love Story."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an anti-bellum gown of white Rachel lace over taffeta. The basque bodice was designed with a high scalloped crown collar and long bishop sleeves softly shirred to wide petal point cuffs.

The bouffant skirt featured a narrow vertical panel down the center outlined in lace scallops and the hemline was outlined in the scalloped lace motif and swept to a chapel train. Her three tiered silk illusion veil was gathered to a garland of satin flowerlets and pearl peps highlighted in cut crystals. She carried a cascade of white feathered carnations with English Ivy centered with a white cymbidium orchid, atop a white Bible, which served as the bride's something borrowed. For something old, the bride wore a blue garter which her mother wore on her wedding day. The bride's gown was "something new" and her own blue garter was something blue. In her shoe was a 1950 penny, the year of her birth.

Mrs. Dan Trice of Amarillo was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ernest Barkley of Morton and Mrs. Dewayne Daniels of Lubbock. Tammy Dunlap, niece of the bridegroom, Levelland, was bridesmaid.

The attendants wore identical formal gowns of purple peau de soie with an overlay of orchid Imported Bridal Lace on the empire bodice featuring long lace lantern sleeves gathered to snapped cuffs. The gowns were complimented by chokers made of pearls on purple peau de soie. The matron of honor wore a headpiece of orchid illusion attached to a silk purple rose. Orchid illusion veils flowing from clusters of orchid roses adorned the heads of the other attendants. They carried a single long stemmed white carnation with orchid streamers.

Ernest Barkley of Morton served as best man and Dan Trice of Amarillo, Jim Waddell of Abilene and Paul Smith were groomsmen.

Candlelighters were Gregg Lewis, brother of the bride, and Doak French. Flower girl was Julie Waddell, cousin of the bride, from Abilene. She wore a floor length gown of purple peau de soie with an overlay of orchid Bridal Lace, fashioned after the attendants' dresses.

James T. Waddell IV, cousin of the bride, Abilene, was ring bearer. He carried a white satin and lace heart shaped pillow.

Ushers were Scott Dickerson of Iran and Britt French.

Following the ceremony, the couple were honored with a reception in Fellowship Hall of the Church. The serving table was covered in white net over satin accented with orchid satin ribbons. The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with Morning Rosebuds topped with a miniature bride and groom. White candles in a candelabra and the bride's bouquet, placed in a circle of orchid satin ribbons, completed the table setting.

Stacy Dickerson of Iran registered guests. Tanya French served at the bridal table.

For a wedding trip, the bride wore an orchid and purple Talam crepe pant suit with white accessories and the orchid from a bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Marlar is a 1968 graduate of Whiteface High School and a 1970 graduate of South Plains College. She is employed by Citizens National Bank in Lubbock.

The bridegroom attended Levelland schools and is employed by Metal Board Corporation in Lubbock.

The couple will make their home at 1613 10th Street in Lubbock.

Mrs. Paul Gary Marlar

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tarver enjoyed a visit by their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Roy Tarver, Jr. and grandchildren. Roy was unable to come with them as he was attending a Furniture Mart. Upon returning to their home in Tyler, the family left for a vacation to Red River. Their plans are to visit with his parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Barker, enroute home from Red River.

Mrs. Wesson of Texarkana accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Roy Tarver, Jr. to Morton for a visit with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Zuber. She was also accompanied by her sister, Pat, and children who also visited in the Zuber home.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

As president of the Morton High School Student Council, I would like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank the businessmen and citizens of Morton for their help and support of our Indians in the past. We are all very proud to have such fine young men to represent Morton wherever they go, no matter what sport.

I would like to ask each of you personally to continue to support these young men this year. We at school think District is only a small step away and we're all excited and ready to give 100% support to boost our boys to victory. I hope the spirit bug will sting everyone as it has us and that you will all attend the games, giving your best in supporting our 1971 INDIANS!

Sincerely,
Teri Harris

Dry conditions spur cattle poisoning cases

Several cases of prussic acid (hydrogen cyanide) poisoning in cattle grazing Johnson grass and sorghum hybrids have been diagnosed during the past week at the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory in College Station.

Dr. John C. Reagor, toxicologist, said that in one case, 260 hungry cows were turned into a Bermuda grass field about 4:30 p.m. The upper edge of the field had a large amount of wild Johnson grass, which the animals began to eat immediately.

The next morning, 27 were found dead. They never made it to the Bermuda grass. In another case, 20 cows were placed in a small pasture containing volunteer Haygrazer from hay fed in early spring.

Mrs. C. R. Seagler was in Canyon Thursday to visit her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Thomas and children of Houston are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Thomas of Enochs and Mrs. T. T. Smith of Morton this week.

The young, drouthy plants were grazed, and 13 animals were found the next morning.

Dr. Reagor said prussic acid, the deaths in both instances, Johnson grass and sorghum hybrids may cause high levels of the deadly poison under drouth stress followed by a rain shower.

Either the wilted or fast growing of the plant can be dangerous, the biologist points out. Problems arise when hungry animals are placed in these pastures.

Prussic acid is swift. Reagor said it can occur within five minutes after ingesting affected plants, and almost always within 12 hours.

He urged stockmen to graze their animals in such pastures only with great care. Hungry cattle should never be turned into such pastures.

Samples of muscle tissue may be submitted to the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory for testing, Reagor said. However, they must be frozen in a 1 percent mercuric chloride solution and transported to the lab because prussic acid is not stable.

California water tour reservations to close

Reservations for the Water, Inc. — sponsored tour of California Water projects must be made by Aug. 1. That's the word from the organization's executive director, Bill Clayton, who explained the deadline was necessitated by the need to "firm-up" airline and hotel reservations.

Slated to begin on Aug. 22, the tour will first go to Sacramento for a briefing by California officials. From Sacramento, the entourage goes to Oroville on the Feather River, then follows the California aqueduct south to the arid area southeast of Los Angeles. Plans call for two nights in Sacramento, and one each in Fresno and Bakersfield. Following the final day of touring on Aug. 26, the tour group boards a jet airliner at Los Angeles for a night flight home.

All air travel will be aboard regularly scheduled jet flights. The trek through California will be on air conditioned buses. Cost of the trip which includes all transportation, all lodging and most of the meals is $300 per person. Reservations may be made by contacting the Water, Inc., offices at P. O. Box 367, Lubbock, Texas, Telephone 806-763-5271.

Food companies affiliation Points toward lower prices

The announcement this week of the combining of four large food distribution centers serving independent grocers in the Southwest promises good news for food buyers in the Morton area. The good news would be in the form of lower food prices and increased service for customers shopping at one of the affiliated stores.

Doss Thriftway Super Market is a member of a large group of stores that is affiliating with the new system.

The four largest food distribution centers in the Southwest have announced that they are combining their buying power in order to lower their prices to their customers. Their new total sales will elevate them to a position of one of the leading retail food distributors in the world.

The four distribution centers are Affiliated Food Stores, Inc. of Dallas, Affiliated Food Stores, Inc. of Tulsa, Affiliated Food Stores, Inc. of Amarillo, and Affiliated Food Stores, Inc. of Little Rock.

The combined retail marketing area served by the four distribution centers covers portions of seven states: Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Tennessee, and Texas.

"There is no merger of the four distribution centers," said Charles McBeath, General Manager of Affiliated, Amarillo. "What we are doing is combining our buying power to increase savings power for our customers."

In a simultaneous announcement made by the heads of the four distribution centers in their respective cities, it was revealed that their combined retail sales of groceries annually reaches the one-billion dollar mark. Nearly 20 million people reside in the area served by the four centers.

Over two thousand members stores, independently owned by leaders in their respective communities, will be affected by the new policy.

Store ownership will not be changed. The basic concept of independent ownership, so vital to our nation's economy will remain intact.

While the exterior of the stores will be changed only to the extent of the addition of the new Affiliated sign, it will be a different story on the inside. Store employees will be gaily decked out in new red, white and blue aprons. Pennants of the United States of Affiliated will be prominently displayed throughout the stores.

The greatest change of all will be on the shelves. The tremendous savings achieved through the new combined purchasing power of the four distribution centers will be reflected through new, lower prices throughout the store.

By combining their buying power, the new group will have access to its own bakery, ice cream plant, produce packaging machines, and other food processing facilities.

"The newest technique of distribution and merchandising will result in continued new low prices for many of the nearly 10,000 individual items sold through Affiliated," Charles McBeath continued.

TTU announces new, higher requirements for immunization

Texas Tech University officials announced Friday that new legislation requiring specific immunizations for students will mean a change in policy at the University.

It has been the policy at Texas Tech to require immunization against polio, tetanus, and smallpox. The new legislation adds diphtheria to the list for students enrolling in institutions of higher learning.

Students enrolling for the fall semester will be allowed to enter with the provision that immunizations are begun before Jan. 1, 1972, and all are completed as soon after that date as medically feasible.

Effective with the spring 1972 semester, and continuing thereafter, new enrollees (those not previously enrolled in the summer or fall 1971 semesters) who have not completed the required immunizations at time of enrollment, must complete them as soon as is medically feasible.

Students in institutions of higher education must have had a minimum of three injections of diphtheria and tetanus with the last dose within 10 years and one smallpox vaccination within the past 10 years. At least three doses of oral polio vaccine are required for students who have not reached their nineteenth birthday.

Recommended implementation procedures and an outline of current regulations were recently provided to the State's colleges and universities by the Texas State Department of Health and the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Just How Good Is Newspaper Advertising?

National Retailer tells ad men newspapers are irreplaceable

The proper handling of a retail advertising account starts with knowing that the "backbone of our advertising effort is still our newspaper advertising," the nation's foremost advertising agency executives were informed this week by William R. Johnson, sales promotion manager, J. C. Penney Company.

Johnson, in an address Thursday (May 13) at the 1971 American Association of Advertising Agencies annual meeting at the Greenbrier in West Virginia, told the agency heads there is no getting around newspapers as the retailer's basic medium for advertising.

"Some advertising people, especially in agencies," he said, "believe this is because we (retailers) are too flexible in terms of media, and are inclined to think too traditionally. Just try to tell this to our store managers who know what it takes to attract customers to the stores."

"Our store managers know that their newspapers ads produce sales dollars. They are perfectly willing, even eager, to use radio and television in carefully selected lines, but don't try to cut back on their newspaper budget. Broadcast is something you do with new money when increased advertising dollars are available to you."

Johnson said the effectiveness of newspaper advertising for a retailer is not hard to understand. "All you have to do," he said, "is notice how your wife reads her paper. She reads it like a shopping news. Sure she reads the news, the editorials, but if she wants to outfit her kids with shoes for school, she looks through the retail ads in the paper to find out who's selling what kind of shoes, at how much . . . or how much they've been reduced in price."

"Sometimes she even tears out the ad and carries it in to the store. Every Penney store manager has seen this happen hundreds of times. He has yet to see a woman come into the store carrying a television commercial. And he cannot imagine a woman sitting in front of a television set all day waiting for a children's shoe commercial. Can you?"

Johnson said "retail advertising has to work. It has to produce sales. So does national advertising have to work, but the difference is we find out, almost immediately. We know the next day if it produces. And so do our clients."

When a store manager runs a children's shoe ad in Sunday's newspaper, he expects to see a crowded shoe department. The next day!

As far as newspaper advertising is concerned, Johnson said all ads are still being prepared by Penney's own Central Office advertising service department, which creates and produces 5,000 different newspaper ads each year. He said annual newspaper lineage per its 1,700 stores runs from 8,000 lines in smaller outlets to over 2 million in the largest.

THESE ARE BASEBALL FANS? . . .

MAYBE THAT'S WHAT WRONG with the game! We are only kidding, of course, and were very gratified to happen upon this happy crew of fans at the Babe Ruth tournament in Charles Hofman Park Thursday night. They were giving their all for their team — which was Frontier and which was eliminated that night — and were all smiles as they posed for their official fan portrait. In no special order they include Guy and Ty Hall, Mike Dewbre, Todd Willingham, G. Wells, Lance Washam, Sandy Hedge, Richard Kuehler, Gary Hodnett, Judy Steed and Lanona Jett. (The Tribune refuses to assume any responsibility for spelling, furnished by the group — in fact, we might should have skipped the whole thing.)

Agriculture "dodged lightning" again July 15 when the Senate voted 56 to 29 against another move to lower the maximum eligibility of producers to receive payments under current cotton, feed grains and wheat programs. But observers close to the scene in Washington warn that the storm is by no means over.

The Senate vote came on an amendment to the $13.6 billion appropriations bill for the Agriculture Department and environmental and consumer protection programs. Offered by Senator Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the amendment would have cut the present statutory $55,000 per crop ceiling to $20,000.

The House adopted a $30,000 per crop limitations amendment to the appropriations bill on June 23 by a vote of 214 to 198. Differences between the House and Senate versions, including the limitations issue, now will have to be settled in a House-Senate Conference Committee, after which both houses will have the opportunity to accept or reject the Conference report.

Congress plans a month-long recess in August, so it is expected that action on the appropriations bill will be completed this month. Senate conferees have already been appointed.

House conferees will most likely be appointed early in the week of July 8, and it is at that point that low-level limitations proponents may make their next move. They will no doubt consider the possibility, and perhaps make an all-out effort, to have House conferees instructed to insist on retaining the limitations amendment.

However, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., the wide margin by which the amendment was defeated in the Senate and the narrow margin by which it passed the House both should work against the success of such a move. There is also doubt as to the parliamentary acceptability of instructing House conferees on an issue which the Senate specifically rejected.

Johnson, who was in Washington at the time of the vote both in the House and Senate, said "The consensus now is that the lower limit on payments can be avoided for 1972, but the storm clouds continue to build and we dare not become complacent."

Johnson went on to say that Texas Senators Tower and Bentsen, along with the Department of Agriculture and other Administration officials worked very hard to defeat the limitations amendment in the Senate. "There is little doubt," he said, "that there is now a majority in both the House and Senate who favor a lower limitation level, and without the strong opposition of the Administration we could never have won on this issue."

Thus it becomes obvious that the Senate vote against the limitations amendment was a case of Senators acquiescing to the desires of the Administration and other Senators, not a reflection of majority sentiment.

This is further evidenced by the fact that, while rejecting the House-approved

$20,000 payment ceiling, the Senate Appropriations Committee inserted a new strong language into its report on the bill directing the Agriculture Department to do a better job of policing the $55,000 ceiling now in effect.

And the full Senate adopted handily a resolution by Senator Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., calling for Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin to supply Congress with a full report on the operation and administration of the limit on price support payments.

Johnson sums up the situation by saying: "It appears we have dodged lightning for this time, but the storm clouds continue to build and get darker every year."

Reproduction to be subject for A&M beef cattle course

Texas A&M University's 21st Annual Beef Cattle Short Course is set for August 16-17 at the Memorial Student Center on the Texas A&M campus.

The theme of this year's program is "Improving Reproductive Efficiency in Beef Cattle." The short course will feature information on breeding heifers, feeding programs for breeding animals and calving difficulties as they relate to cow size, sire and feeding regimes.

Recent research studies by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station on early weaning of calves will be discussed by Dr. Myron McCartor of the Research and Extension center at Overton.

Another highlight of the program will be reports on studies in calving difficulties and calf performance in exotic and straightbred cattle by Dr. H. A. Glimp of the Clay Center Research Station in Nebraska. Dr. Ray Woodward, animal geneticist with the American Breeders Service, will discuss breeds and reproduction, including exotic as well as straightbred cattle.

An added feature of the two day program is a Monday night banquet, August 16, with Forrest Bassford, executive editor of the "Western Livestock Journal" as the main speaker.

This year's program is designed to be of wide interest to livestock producers all over the state, according to John Beverly, Extension animal reproduction specialist. He added that "reproduction" was chosen as the theme of the conference since percent calf crop is undoubtedly one of the most important single factors affecting efficient beef production.

Registration for the short course begins at 7:30 a.m. Monday, August 16, and the program should conclude about 3:00 p.m. Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Asbill visited last weekend with his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Asbill in Artesia, N.M. They all spent Saturday in Ruidoso, N.M. enjoying the activities there.

Cochran countians demonstrate prudence in spending habits

How are residents of Cochran County spending their money these days?

How much of their shopping dollar is going for food, cars, clothing, furniture, household equipment and the like?

According to figures that have just become available through a new consumer market study, most local families had bigger incomes in the past year than in former years and, therefore, more money to spend in that direction.

As a result, although they were somewhat more cautious with their purchasing than in former years, because of the depression and because of inflation, retail business in the local area was at a relatively good level.

The findings, by the Standard Rate and Data Service, reveal the spending pattern locally and in all other sections of the country.

In Cochran County, it is shown, stores selling food and automotive equipment captured a large part of the consumer dollar. Together, they attracted 42 percent of all retail business in the area.

Elsewhere in the United States, they reflected only 39 percent and, in the West South Central States, 41 percent.

The outlay for food alone, in bakeries, supermarkets, butcher shops, delicatessens, and the like totaled $1,486,000 as against the prior year's $1,222,000.

This was solely for food bought for home consumption. It does not include expenditures made in restaurants and other eating and drinking places.

Just how much the take-home food purchases averaged, on a per-family basis, was determined by apportioning the total amount spent equally among the local population. It came to $997 per family.

As for stores selling automotive equipment, including cars, motorcycles, boats and accessories, they accounted for $1,672,000.

The SRDS report shows that local consumer buying held up well under the circumstances, in most other retail lines.

Drug store sales reached $243,000 during the past year. This compares with $234,000 previously.

Those specializing in clothing, shoes, hats and other articles of apparel grossed $229,000, as against the 1969 total of $225,000.

Sales of furniture, household furnishings and the like added up to $188,000. Their previous volume was $213.
