FIFTEEN CENTS

Babe Ruth tourney action 'Hot'

BABE RUTH TOURNAMENT OPENS--The Slaton and Lubbock West, Levelland, Slaton and host Morton Frontier against each other in a double elimination contest running Monday through Friday of this week. The winner will advance to the state tournament to be held in Lubbock at a later date.

The Tuesday nightcap pitted Morton's Frontiersmen against a big and talented nine from Slaton and went into extra innings before being decided in favor of Slaton by a single run homer that may be traveling yet. The tilt had all the elements that go to make up a good old fashioned donnybrook that are the delight of all baseball fans.

Slaton appears team to beat

With two outs, the bases loaded and two balls and two strikes against the Morton batter in the bottom of the seventh and last inning, the miracle local fans were praying for happened. The last chance batter, Frontier pitcher Young, rifled a three base hit down the left field line that scored three runs, tied it 6-6 and sent the game into extra innings. Young's capricious luck didn't hold, however, as his first pitch in the top of the eighth made a Mickey Mantle type exit over the left field wall for the only margin the Slatonites needed. Frontier, with the able relief pitching of Tino Sabala, retired the next three, but failed to score in their half and went down to a 7-6 defeat. This defeat put the Frontier tourney record at 1-1 and sets up a losers bracket contest between them and Levelland, who also have a 1-1 record, having lost to Slaton on Monday. The winner of the Frontier-

The one selling the most chances on a $350 shop made saddle to be drawn for at the rodeo will be crowned queen. Candidates and their sponsors, left to right include: Shonnoe Hodnett, Maple Fire Department; Tammie Baker, Morton Area Chamber of Commerce; Rebecca Holladay, Cochran County 4-H Club and Corinna Sinnacher, Cochran County Roping Club.

GOOD LEADS SALES VOLUME

County retail business good

Retail business in Cochran County was at a higher level in the past year than was expected, the final tabulations show.

The sales volume compiled by local stores indicates that local residents have been coping with the recession more successfully than have people in many parts of the country. However, although a sizeable amount was spent locally for food, clothing, home furnishings and other goods and services, buying was at a more restrained pace than it would have been if economic conditions had been normal.

As in other communities, people cut back temporarily on some of their discretionary spending. Most severely hit, as a result, were the markets for automobiles and

REP. BILL CLAYTON
Clayton nominated
'Big Man of Year'

State Representative and author of the House Bill 100, who for years has been an advocate of water conservation, has been named "Big Man of Year" in Texas Agricultural" for 1975 by the Texas County Agricultural Association. One of six Texans selected for the honor, Clayton was nominated by the county residents in District 2 (South Texas) of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The awards are presented annually to outstanding leaders in agriculture and related activities, said Dallas County Extension Agent Steve Wheelless, president of the state association. Dr. Dove approved for practice here

Dr. Wendell S. Dove, M.D. has been approved by the medical staff at Cochran Memorial Hospital for practice here, according to hospital administrator Truman Swinney. Swinney stated that all that is holding up Dr. Dove's move is approval of his malpractice insurance. Upon retirement, his insurance was dropped and reinstatement is necessary.

"It may be two days, a week or even a month before Dr. Dove joins us, but we are certainly looking forward to having him here," Swinney concluded.

The Doctor is no newcomer to the Morton area, he was the first doctor to practice in Cochran Memorial Hospital when it opened in 1947 and has many friends in and around Cochran County.

A retired Brig. General in the U.S. Army, he has served in the Veteran's Administration Hospital in Dallas and practiced in Silver City and Socorro, N.M. and in South America. He is a member of the Fellowship of American College of Surgeons and is presently living in Albuquerque, N.M.

In a letter indicating his desire to return to Morton, Dr. Dove stated that he felt retirement was not for him and he wanted to return to practice.

CREAM OF LITTLE LEAGUE CROP--The Morton Little League All-Stars are shown above with their coaches, Richard Houston, left and Hub Cadenhead, right, as they prepared to embark for the district tournament held at Denver City Monday and Tuesday. They were knocked out of the single elimination tourney Tuesday night by Seagraves, 9-3, after having defeated Denver City Monday night by a score of 10-9. The All-Star squad includes Keith Layton, Ronnie Patton, James Dent, Bart Semnacher, Kent Fluitt, Noel Casarez, Adrian Casarez, Billy Cadenhead, Roger Brown, Duane Hodge, David Masten Freddie Mendez, Randy Hall and Todd Willingham. Alternates are Robert Sabala and Dean Turney.

Castillo gets 5 years in second murder trial

Juan Lopez Castillo, of Morton, was assessed a five year sentence in the state penitentiary Thursday for the September 5, 1974 murder of A. Baker, a local store and service station operator. This was the second trial for murder of Castillo, with the first trial ending in a hung jury in 121st District Court here on April 11, 1975. The last trial was on a slightly lesser charge than the first one as he was acquitted of capital murder in the first trial and the charge for the second was reduced to murder. Castillo was charged along

Colonies drew closer together in preparations for full-scale war

Looking back at the American Revolution today, it is very easy to get the impression that there was furious activity every day. In truth, very significant events occurred and then were followed by periods of relative calm. Even during these calm periods, activity was underway to prepare for future events. For example, two hundred years ago this week things seemed relatively calm, but in several actions designed to place the colonies in a better defensive posture. A major handicap faced by American forces was the short supply of powder, ammunition, and other articles of war. Efforts were made to promote the manufacture of munitions, but with little success. Even if home manufactures developed the supply would not be sufficient to meet colonial needs if full-scale war started.

The importation of munitions, however, violated the provisions of the Continental Association agreed upon by the colonial governments. Therefore, on July 15, 1775, the Continental Congress provided for an exception in the trade embargo for any vessel that would import gun-powder, saltpeter, sulphur, brass field pieces, or good muskets fitted with bayonets. The Congress concluded that its own laws should not be allowed to limit its own defense efforts.

On July 18, Congress also recommended that each colony establish a committee of safety to oversee and direct the defense preparations for the colony. Most colonies already had such committees, but this directive from Congress gave them greater impetus.

The following day, on July 19, Congress appointed peace commissioners to deal with the various Indian tribes. For purposes of dealing with the Indians the country was divided into northern, middle, and southern districts. The purpose of the commissioners was not to ally the colonies with the Indians, but to keep the Indians from allying themselves with the British.

Although the efforts were sporadic, defense plans were gradually taking shape.

Meanwhile, as British Americans dealt with the Indians through diplomatic arrangements the Spanish in Texas tried to deal with them on a more personal basis.

In Texas the friars attempted to bring Indians together in what they called "reductions" at the missions. This policy was in direct contrast to the practices in New Mexico where the native inhabitants already lived together in cities or "pueblos." At the mission the friars instructed the Indians in Catholic doctrine, ministered to their physical needs, and used their labor to support the mission. The success in all three areas was often open to question, but mostly the missionaries were very conscientious in their jobs. Donald W. Whisenhunt, history professor, Eastern New Mexico University.

Dekalb is proud to be the first company to market hybrid wheat and it will be available come planting time. You can expect about 20-25% yield increase over regular varieties. Also it will produce about 25 to 30% more grazing. Due to its tillering ability you will plant less seed. Hybrid wheat is a reality now so come by and get the full story-It will make you money.

REMEMBER NEXT YEAR Dekalb grain sorghum will be green bug resistant. We think this will save the farmers millions of dollars.

Bullock sees 'peanuts' treasury in two years

Comptroller Bo Bullock said recently in an updated revenue forecast that the state will be left with peanuts in the treasury after paying its bills for the next two years.

And there wouldn't even be peanuts left if it hadn't been for the governor's vetoes, additional tax officers given the Comptroller and cuts in welfare budgets, Bullock said.

Bullock's revenue forecast taking into account the governor's vetoes and the Legislature's spending bills said the state can expect to have a $27 million balance after spending $12.1 billion during the upcoming two-year budget period.

"That 27 million," Bullock said, "just happens to equal the total of spending items vetoed by the governor and is 1,000 times more than the small change left on the table when the Legislature got through passing its spending plans."

"The Legislature spent every dollar we said would be available," Bullock said. "When they got through there was $27,463 left - or about half the cost of operating the Legislature for a day."

"In other words, if they had stayed in session one more day they would have had to adjourn by noon because they would have been out of money," he said.

Bullock said he was able to certify all the Legislature's spending bills to the governor only because the Legislature cut $17 million in welfare requests and because he counted as revenue $100 million he promised he could raise in new tax money if given adequate people and budget to do the job.

In a letter accompanying the new revenue forecast Bullock thanked the Legislature for authorizing the new tax auditors and compliance officers, saying that they will "bring both efficiency and equity to tax administration in Texas."

Most of the $100 million he promised to produce in new money shows up as increased sales tax revenue in the forecast, Bullock said.

Levelland game, scheduled for Thursday at 8 p.m., will go against undefeated Slaton Friday at 7 p.m. for the championship. If Slaton loses Friday's contest, a second game will be played and the winner will be the champion and advance to the state finals slated in Lubbock at a later date.

The tournament got off to a relatively slow start with two one-sided games Monday night when Slaton clobbered Levelland 19-6 and Morton raked up and easy 10-2 win over Lubbock West. In Tuesday's action Levelland eliminated Lubbock from the tournament by administering their second defeat by a margin of 17-12. Action was beginning to liven up.

Then Frontier and Slaton tied up in their monumental confrontation and baseball got interesting fast. Following Tuesday's tilts the standing were: Slaton 2-0; Frontier 1-1; Levelland 1-1 and Lubbock West 0-2.

Rusty Lamar, who chunked a three hitter at Lubbock Monday should be ready to go on the mound against Levelland and the game promises to be quite a pitchers duel. Levelland appears to have strength where they need it, with their main fault being lack of consistency and a tendency to compound their errors with erratic play in the clutch.

Frontier has shown several periods of heads up baseball, and with a little more luck in the batter's box, could take the whole thing. For either, however, there is no tomorrow and they have the necessity to win three straight to take the title, while Slaton is sitting in the cat bird's seat with a single win between them and glory.

Fan attendance on the first two nights has been substantial and league officials express appreciation and the hope that more will attend the next two nights as every dollar is needed to defray state tournament expenses for the winner.

with Roy Lucio, also of Morton, with the murder of Baker during the course of a robbery at his service station. The victim was struck several times by a blunt instrument, according to police reports, but no murder weapon was found in the case.

Castillo and Lucio allegedly fled to New Mexico and Arizona, from the murder scene, but returned three days later and were taken into custody by local sheriff and police personnel.

Lucio was tried in Hockley county on a charge of venue in February 1975 and received a ten year sentence.

Castillo's defense attorney for both the first and second trial was R.H. Munsterman, of Levelland.

Castillo has ten days in which to file an appeal, after which the sentence becomes final.

The eight-man four-woman jury was under foremanship of Murry Crone and consisted of Maurice Fluitt, Mrs. R.E. McCormack, Wilson Hodge, B.E. Sutton, Cayton Tyson, Crone, Mrs. W.L. Foust, Mrs. John Hoy, Gerald Sanders, Doyle Butler, Donald Smart and Mrs. C.E. Gardner. They took slightly over one hour for the guilty verdict and two hours for the penalty verdict.

Parents reminded of school entry requirements

In just over a month, August 25, school bells will ring to begin the 1975-76 school year.

Children 5 years of age on or before September 1 of this year will be eligible for Kindergarten. Children 6 years old on or before that date will be eligible for First grade.

According to Harold Drennan, principal of Morton Elementary Schools, two important things must be done before children will be accepted in school. Each child must have a birth certificate, no hospital or baptism certificate can be accepted. They must have records of vaccinations required by the State which include Polio, D.P.T., Red Measles and Rubella (German Measles).

"Parents are urged to complete these requirements for their children before school begins as these are State Laws," Drennan stated.

COUNTY FROM PAGE ONE

The facts and figures on the local spending picture are brought out in the annual survey of markets, conducted by the Standard Rate and Data Service. It shows how consumers in each area of the nation spent their money, and for what.

In Cochran County, a large portion of it went for food. Approximately 20 cents out of every dollar spent in retail stores was for such purchases.

What is produced, for supermarkets, grocery stores, meat markets, bakeries and other food outlets was a sales volume of $2,437,000. This compares with the previous year's $2,082,000.

Not included is the amount spent for food consumed in restaurants and other eating and drinking places.

If the expenditure for take-home food were uniformly divided among the local population it would be equivalent to $1,716 per household.

Elsewhere in the United States, the average was $1,693 and, in the West South Central States, $1,609.

The volume of business done by other retail establishments shows that most of them stood up quite well, despite the recession.

Sales of cars and other automotive equipment and supplies amounted to $2,659,000, compared with the prior year's $2,869,000.

General merchandise stores recorded a total of $112,000 in the year. In 1973 it was $101,000.

Those selling shoes, hats, clothing and other wearing apparel grossed $318,000, as against the previous $284,000.

Furniture and home furnishings stores accounted for $357,000. Their former total was $306,000.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Bill —
On Monday morning, June 30, as I left the post office, I dropped a money bag containing contributions of the Second and Taylor Street Church of Christ.

Upon arriving at my office and realizing I did not have the bag I immediately asked at the post office if it had been turned in. When it had not I called the sheriff's office and reported the loss. The Police units immediately went to work looking for a pickup which had driven up at the post office as I left and soon found it. The driver said he had taken the bag to his house, not knowing who it belonged to.

So, thanks to the quick action of our police department and especially Mr. Travis Kelly and Mr. Stalcup I soon had my money bag back, virtually intact.
Mrs. Dexter Nebhut

Becky Jerden surveying county records

Ten Wayland students enrolled in History 363, Texas History, including Becky Jerden of Morton, are busy surveying and inventorying the records of Hale County during the second microsession at Wayland Baptist College. The students are working under the direction of Dr. Gwin Morris, associate professor of history. Each day the students spend half the period in class listening to lectures on aspects of Texas history and culture. They then load into the school van and travel to the courthouse where they spend the remainder of the period inventorying county records.

For the class project each student will prepare a guide to one of the records in the courthouse, such as the Commissioner's Court Minutes, Brand Records, Marriage Records, Military Discharge Records, etc.

"This is a very worthwhile and educational project," said Dr. Morris. "The county will have an up-to-date inventory of all its records and the students will learn more about county government and the history of Hale County than they ever could in a classroom. From the survey future room. From the survey future students will have a guide to materials for writing the history of Hale County."

Miss Jerden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Jerden of Morton.

Comptroller reminds businesses on sales tax report deadline

Comptroller Bob Bullock reminded 225,000 retail businesses Monday that July 31 is the deadline for sending in quarterly sales tax reports.

"Late reports are nothing but headaches for the taxpayer and for the Comptroller's Office," Bullock said. "I'd like to see every quarterly report filed on the deadline."

Reports due July 31 cover the April-May-June quarter. Forms for the reports were sent to all sales tax permit holders by Bullock's office in June.

"Most of the delinquent or tardy reports are just oversights and simple mistakes but the consequences under the law are just the same," Bullock said.

County well represented in District Dress Revue

"Mirror of American Costume - 1776 to 1976" was the bicentennial theme for the 1975 version of the District 4-H Dress Revue here Monday, July 14.

Site of the event was South Park Inn on South Loop 289, according to Catherine B. Crawford, district Extension agent for home economics, and Gail Gladden, Cochran County Extension agent.

The lasses are already the winners of county competition. Contestants are judged on their sewing and construction skills, overall appearance, modeling abilities, and their 4-H record books.

A luncheon in the patio area of South Park Inn preceded the awards presentations. The group moved into the Bronze Room for awards ceremonies.

John Herzer, Manager of Plains Coop Oil Mill, presented the honors.

Mary Smith, Cochran County Senior winner, received a red ribbon for participating in the Dress Revue.

A junior level contest was staged at the same time as senior competition. These younger lasses, ages 9 to 14, did not compete beyond the district level. For them, the event offers experience and leadership development. Jay Lynn Ware, Cochran County Junior alternate, represented the county Monday at District and received a blue participation ribbon.

Mrs. M.J. Smith, Jr. and Mrs. Ralph Ware participated in the activities along with other parents, 4-H leaders, and special guests.

Jaclyn Claye

has her say

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: I'm not going to sign my name because of the nature of this letter. But it scares me to even write this down on paper. The truth is that I have recently discovered that my husband has been taking company funds. I am almost certain that he is. Jaclyn, we spend far in excess of my husband's income. You just cannot imagine the difference between our income and outgo. Ever since we've been married my husband has always handled the money in our house but at least he has always let me know what was going on. But recently this has all changed. Now, whenever I ask where the extra money came from, he always tells me that it came from an extra sale. Originally, I believed his story but there have been far too many "extra sales". I have no idea on what to do about it. But I'm afraid that he is going to lose his job or even worse. As someone who is unconnected with the circumstances, perhaps you could suggest something to me. Just leave this letter, UNSIGNED.

DEAR UNSIGNED: There is an awesome communications gap between the two of you. Perhaps the extra funds are from the extra sales that your husband suggests. And since you have no concrete proof otherwise, it would be unwise to do anything about it outside the home. But since you are not satisfied with his explanation thus far, I would insist on a thorough conversation with him, on the matter. But if your husband does have his hand in the company till, there is simply no way for him to continue the practice without eventually getting caught. The jails are simply filled with people who thought they could do so. But, by all means, pursue the issue with your husband now. Find out the truth even if it means confrontation in the home. It's a deadly, serious thing.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: Six months ago our only daughter was married. My husband and

I shed many tears that day; she was our only child and we both had been very protective parents. She was leaving us, and it hurt. Two weeks ago, she moved back in again and my feelings toward her have changed, entirely. For one thing, she is playing the gay divorcee, now. She's out until all hours of the night now and she is not at all the child we once knew. I am filled with feelings of guilt and I just had to write to someone about it. Signed, L.A.

DEAR L.A.: I feel for you, deeply. You have become the victim of events. But perhaps your daughter has, too. There cannot be a divorce without some kind of scar. If your daughter was on the receiving end of a bad marriage, all of this could be a reaction to it. It could also be that you are trying to still see your daughter as a child and that simply is not the case. Try to talk to her as woman-to-woman, and you might find that there is still much room for a continuing relationship. This is what I would suggest, now.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: I think kids have rights, too. Like for example, my mother opens my mail. Now I don't get anything bad in the mail but my mother opens it anyway. I haven't said anything to her about it, but it really bothers me. What would happen if one of my friends wrote something that was either untrue or rude. I wouldn't want my mother to read that kind of stuff. But I've been lucky and nothing like that has been sent to me YET. But please tell all the mothers who read your column that most mail is personal and everyone needs privacy. Signed, YOUNG LADY.

DEAR YOUNG LADY: I agree. And if you think your mother would listen to what I have to say on the subject, please show her this column.

More Questions...Keep Those Samples Coming...Deadline Nearing...Good Eating.

It's crop questionnaire time again from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

A total of 24,700 farmers in Texas have received a questionnaire relating primarily to small grain acres. If you are one of those who have received it, you are requested to fill it out as accurately as possible and return it promptly.

Interest continues to increase in all areas of agricultural production in the state and throughout the nation.

Interest continues to increase in all areas of agricultural production in the state and throughout the nation. During the era of the so-called "burdensome surpluses" there was very little interest evoked when a crop survey was made. But now the questionnaire becomes important.

Another form Texas agricultural producers need to note is the census. Although the majority of the census forms have been returned, the Census Bureau says it still needs those not yet returned.

You need to fill out only those questions applicable to your operation. And the Census Bureau says you can be assured no one will see your answers except the census enumerator.

Figures will be compiled into county, state and national totals. SCREWORM CASES continue to be reported in parts of Texas, and screwworm eradication officials urge livestock producers to adhere to its four-point program for eradication.

Check your livestock regularly, treat wounds on livestock with approved screwworm-control remedies, delay surgery on livestock as long as possible and submit suspected screwworm samples to the fly lab at Mission. Your county agent has vials which you can use to send the samples.

In tests by a major carpet fiber manufacturer, only the Steamex method did "excellent cleaning" and "restored" carpet pile. No other method even came close in effectiveness.

And our six powerjets put us five up on other hot water extraction cleaners.

Soda Simplifies Pool Maintenance

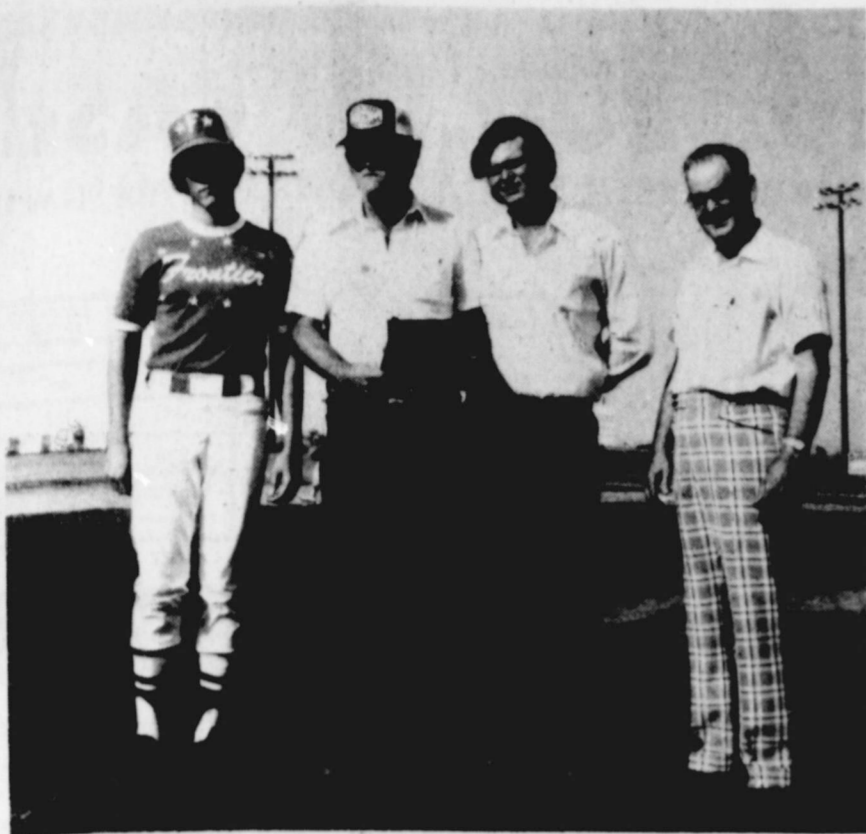

Here's a great new use for an old product. Baking soda added to swimming pools stabilizes the acid-alkalinity ratio of the water at the ideal range for optimum chlorine effectiveness.

Use one pound of baking soda per week for every 10,000 gallons of water in the pool. Additional benefits will be improved water clarity and softer water. Baking soda is economical and it does not require any special handling precautions. Write to Pool Consultant, Church & Dwight Co., Inc., Two Penn Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10001 for free leaflet.

I have no idea on what to do about it. But I'm afraid that he is going to lose his job or even worse. As someone who is unconnected with the circumstances, perhaps you could suggest something to me. Just leave this letter, UNSIGNED.

DEAR UNSIGNED: There is an awesome communications gap between the two of you. Perhaps the extra funds are from the extra sales that your husband suggests. And since you have no concrete proof otherwise, it would be unwise to do anything about it outside the home. But since you are not satisfied with his explanation thus far, I would insist on a thorough conversation with him, on the matter. But if your husband does have his hand in the company till, there is simply no way for him to continue the practice without eventually getting caught. The jails are simply filled with people who thought they could do so. But, by all means, pursue the issue with your husband now. Find out the truth even if it means confrontation in the home. It's a deadly, serious thing.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: Six months ago our only daughter was married. My husband and

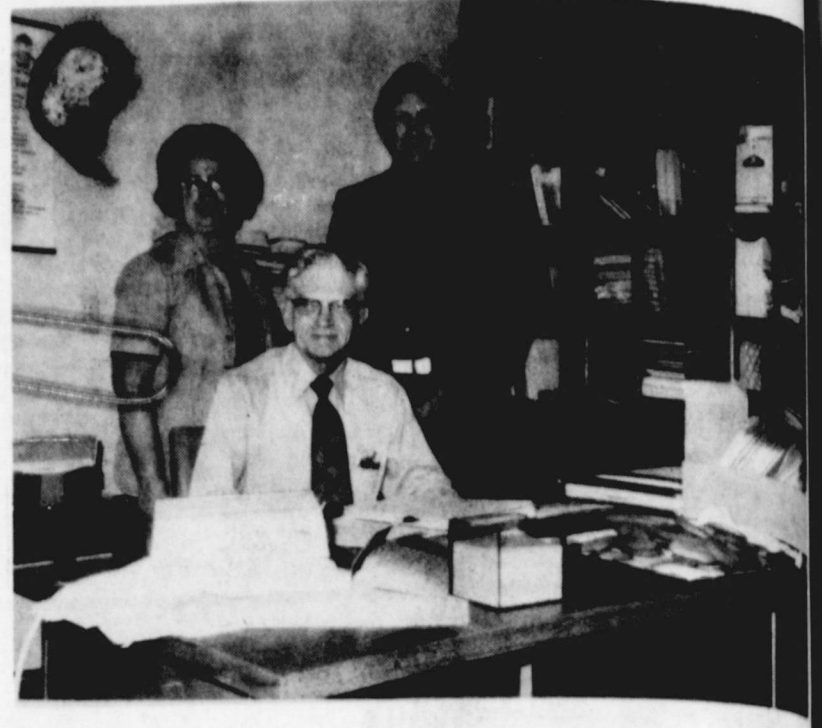

I shed many tears that day; she was our only child and we both had been very protective parents. She was leaving us, and it hurt. Two weeks ago, she moved back in again and my feelings toward her have changed, entirely. For one thing, she is playing the gay divorcee, now. She's out until all hours of the night now and she is not at all the child we once knew. I am filled with feelings of guilt and I just had to write to someone about it. Signed, L.A.

DEAR L.A.: I feel for you, deeply. You have become the victim of events. But perhaps your daughter has, too. There cannot be a divorce without some kind of scar. If your daughter was on the receiving end of a bad marriage, all of this could be a reaction to it. It could also be that you are trying to still see your daughter as a child and that simply is not the case. Try to talk to her as woman-to-woman, and you might find that there is still much room for a continuing relationship. This is what I would suggest, now.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: I think kids have rights, too. Like for example, my mother opens my mail. Now I don't get anything bad in the mail but my mother opens it anyway. I haven't said anything to her about it, but it really bothers me. What would happen if one of my friends wrote something that was either untrue or rude. I wouldn't want my mother to read that kind of stuff. But I've been lucky and nothing like that has been sent to me YET. But please tell all the mothers who read your column that most mail is personal and everyone needs privacy. Signed, YOUNG LADY.

DEAR YOUNG LADY: I agree. And if you think your mother would listen to what I have to say on the subject, please show her this column.

Soda Simplifies Pool Maintenance

"I've switched to soda, Maude—it's a natural for our pool!"

Here's a great new use for an old product. Baking soda added to swimming pools stabilizes the acid-alkalinity ratio of the water at the ideal range for optimum chlorine effectiveness.

Use one pound of baking soda per week for every 10,000 gallons of water in the pool. Additional benefits will be improved water clarity and softer water. Baking soda is economical and it does not require any special handling precautions. Write to Pool Consultant, Church & Dwight Co., Inc., Two Penn Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10001 for free leaflet.

More Questions...Keep Those Samples Coming...Deadline Nearing...Good Eating.
It's crop questionnaire time again from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. A total of 24,700 farmers in Texas have received a questionnaire relating primarily to small grain acres. If you are one of those who have received it, you are requested to fill it out as accurately as possible and return it promptly.

Interest continues to increase in all areas of agricultural production in the state and throughout the nation. Interest continues to increase in all areas of agricultural production in the state and throughout the nation. During the era of the so-called "burdensome surpluses" there was very little interest evoked when a crop survey was made. But now the questionnaire becomes important.

Another form Texas agricultural producers need to note is the census. Although the majority of the census forms have been returned, the Census Bureau says it still needs those not yet returned. You need to fill out only those questions applicable to your operation. And the Census Bureau says you can be assured no one will see your answers except the census enumerator.

Figures will be compiled into county, state and national totals. SCREWORM CASES continue to be reported in parts of Texas, and screwworm eradication officials urge livestock producers to adhere to its four-point program for eradication. Check your livestock regularly, treat wounds as livestock with approved screwworm-control remedies, delay surgery on livestock as long as possible and submit suspected screwworm samples to the fly lab at Mission. Your county agent has vials which you can use to send the samples.

Steamex gets the dirt other methods don't reach.

You can add years to the life of your carpet by renting a Steamex. It's the six-powerjet carpet cleaner that's as simple to use as a vacuum. The Steamex hot water extraction method loosens and lifts the harmful, ground-in dirt that cuts carpet life short. And your carpet dries quickly.

In tests by a major carpet fiber manufacturer, only the Steamex method did "excellent cleaning" and "restored" carpet pile. No other method even came close in effectiveness.

And our six powerjets put us five up on other hot water extraction cleaners.

All Steamex solutions carry the Good Housekeeping Guaranty Seal.
