Countians Purchasing Power Above Average

GOOD TO THE LAST SPLASH--The last day before school found these Morton youths taking a last fling at summer freedom in the pool of the Granville Lasseter home in Morton Sunday. The occasion was a get together by members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of Morton and a Methodist youth choir from Lubbock. A picnic supper was enjoyed by the group prior to the performance of the choir at the evening services at the Methodist Church.

Business Activity

High Last Year

According to a new survey of business activity in communities across the country, Cochran County turned in a better performance than most of them in the past year.

The local trading area displayed greater economic strength, reflecting a rising level of income and a freer spending attitude on the part of consumers.

The facts and figures bearing this out are contained in the new "Survey of Buying Power," released by Sales Management, the marketing publication. It presents comparable data on income and spending for all parts of the country.

Cochran County's market strength reflects the greater purchasing potential of its population. Because local people were earning more they were able to spend more, although not all of them did so.

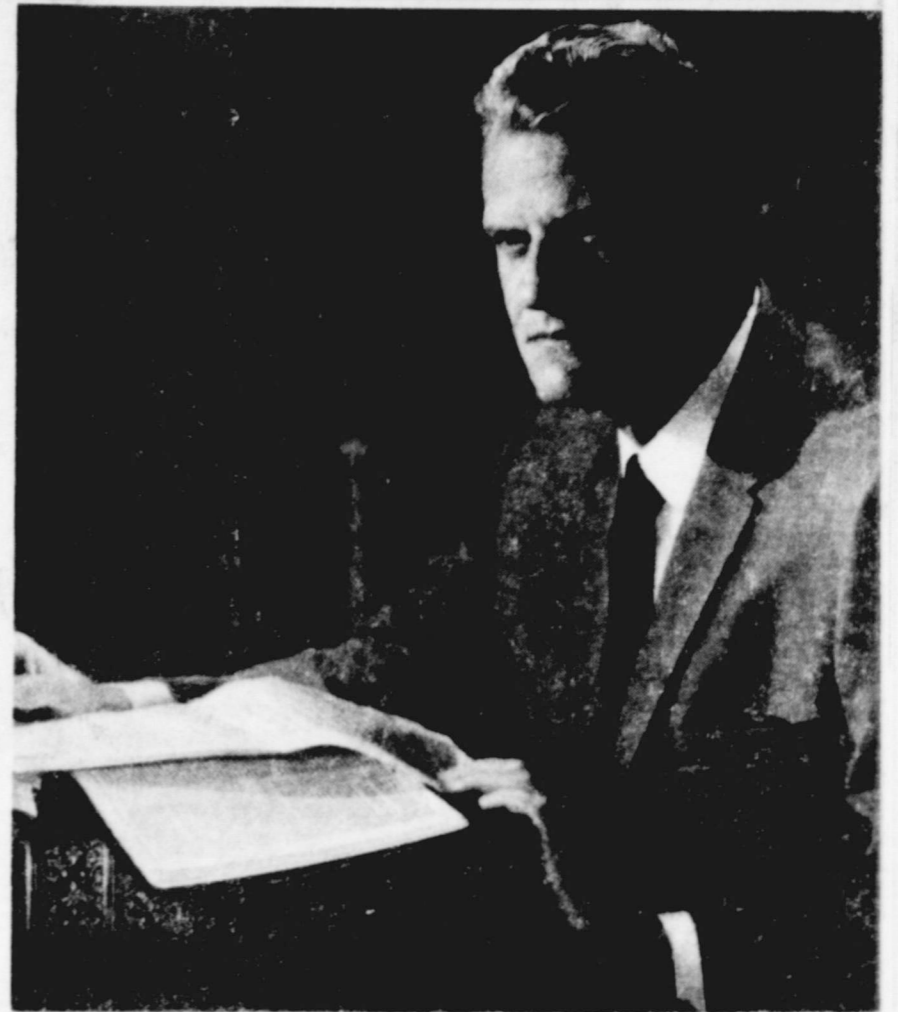

Their net disposable income in the year, after payment of personal taxes, came to $13,230,000, topping the previous year's $11,189,000.

Just what this represented, in terms of the individual family, is indicated by the median income locally, which amounted to $8,000 per household. Half the families earned more than this and half earned less.

With that much money available to them for discretionary spending, many local families, who had been holding themselves under a spending restraint, waiting for prices to come down, returned to the marketplace to replenish their needs.

Others, less fortunate, who have been having a hard time

Post Mortons

By Bill Sayers

Senator Robert Packwood of Oregon recently introduced legislation that provides for fines and imprisonment for persons other than farmers who hire illegal aliens. This would protect jobless legal citizens.

But he would exempt farm labor because, he says, "it would simply be unrealistic to expect that those unemployed persons who have engaged in industrial or service oriented positions would take to the fields."

DPS Sets Labor Day

Weekend Deaths At 42

State Public Safety Director Wilson E. Speir today estimated that Labor Day Weekend traffic in Texas will claim 42 lives.

The holiday period extends from 6 p.m. Friday, August 29 through midnight Monday, September 1. During a comparable period last year, Texas traffic killed 51 persons.

"Traffic will be particularly heavy near recreational areas such as beaches, lakes and campgrounds. Actually, in these situations, motorists need to be extra watchful for children playing and other pedestrians. Also, persons towing recreational vehicles and boats should be mindful of extra stopping distances and other problems unique to trailers," Speir said.

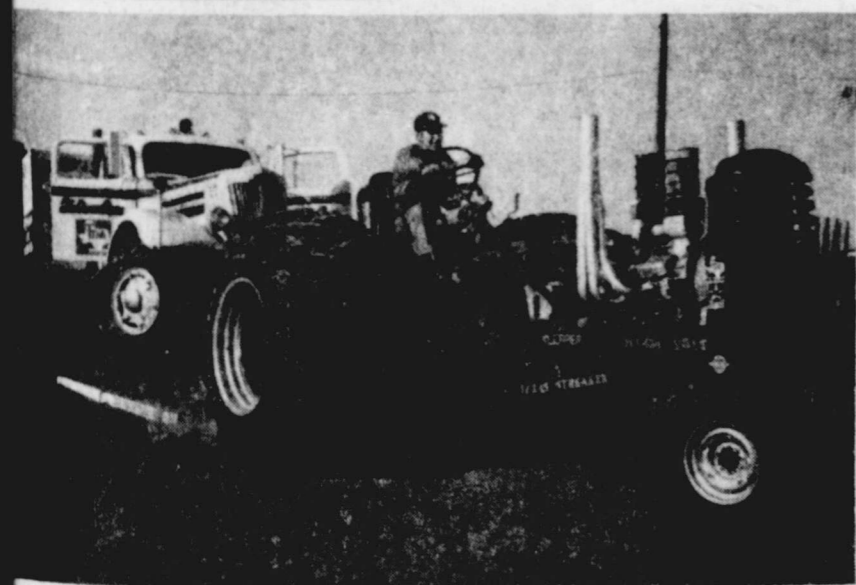

The DPS director called on motorists to cooperate in law enforcement efforts to hold speeds down during the holiday, noting that "excessive speed is still our top accident problem."

He also urged motorists to work with officers to eliminate the serious threat posed by drunk drivers.

In an effort to reduce the toll, Speir said extra DPS troopers will be on duty statewide. He said troopers and local officers will be especially

THIS IS A TRACTOR?--Some very peculiar vehicles showed up to participate in the various categories of the tractor pull sponsored by the Morton Jaycees at the rodeo grounds Saturday. This one, entered in one of the "modified" categories features two Chevrolet engines mounted side by side that generate a total of more than 900 horse power. Fifty four tractors entered the competition with the winners taking away a total of $2,350.

Confusion, Poor Attendance Plagued Continental Congress In Early Months

Two hundred years ago this week the colony of Georgia joined the other twelve in the organized resistance to British authority. When Congress recessed about a month earlier, the members decided to reassemble on September 5, 1775.

During this interval the patriots of Georgia had worked long and hard to convince the leaders that reconciliation with Britain seemed almost impossible. Eventually, the colony decided that it should be united with the others when and if an actual break came.

Therefore, on September 5, Georgia was fully represented for the first time at the Continental Congress even though several other colonies were late in arriving.

In fact, the Congress did not officially open until September 12 because so many delegates were late in arriving. E.C. Burnett, the most outstanding authority on the Continental Congress, says that the Congress became so chronic in lateness that effective government was sometimes difficult.

The problem of attendance at Congress was even more serious because of the rules governing representation. At that time each colony had equal representation, but each colony decided the number of members necessary for the state to vote.

For example, New Jersey sent five delegates and required that three had to be present to cast a vote. Numerous times when an important vote came up New Jersey was unable to cast a ballot because only one or two delegates were present. This was typical of all the colonies. In fact, on many occasions Congress could not conduct its business because the minimum of nine colonies was not represented.

In the Spanish Southwest the Virginian John Peyton, a suspected French agent, and his friends were marched overland to Santa Fe. Having been captured on the Gulf coast of Texas, they were marched to Santa Fe by a group of Mexican horsemen who were given a reward for their capture. Therefore, their captors also acted as their defenders because they were valuable commodities.

Peyton later reported that they were exhibited at each village they passed through as if they were something less than human. He said that in some villages they would have been killed had it not been for their escorts when the residents discovered that they were Protestants.

Because of the reception received along the way, Peyton fully expected to be turned over to the inquisition in Santa Fe and then killed. Without doubt, they approached the New Mexican capital with much apprehension.

primarily at the youth and students.

Morton's First Baptist Church has chartered a bus for the Thursday night and Sunday, September 7, services. According to the Rev. Paul McClung, pastor, the Thursday night bus is filled but there are a few seats left on the September 7 bus and anyone wishing to reserve a seat may call the church office.

At 56, a worldwide symbol of evangelism, William (Billy) F. Graham has preached the Gospel to more millions than anyone in history. His counsel has been sought by Presidents and his appeal to both the secular and non-secular worlds is shown by the wide range of groups that have honored him.

These recognitions range from addressing the President's National Prayer Breakfast to the Gold Award of the George Washington Carver Memorial Institute in 1963, from the Speaker of the Year Award in 1964 to the Salvation Army's Distinguished Service Medal. Graham regularly is listed as one of the "Ten Most Admired Men in the World" and has been named "Man of the Year" by Time magazine.

Founder of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, he leads the weekly "Hour of Decision" program which is broadcast by more than 900 stations around the world.

After over 25 years in the public eye, Billy Graham continues to make evangelism history. His proclamation of the Gospel of Jesus Christ has taken him to every major metropolitan area of the United States and to many great population centers of other Western Hemisphere countries as well as those of Africa, Asia, Australia and Europe.

Making both ends meet, continued to keep a tight rein on their spending.

In general, however, it was a better year for retail stores in Cochran County than for those in many areas of the country.

Local retail establishments were able to report gross sales of $7,139,000.

Currently, according to the Conference Board, "consumer optimism about the economy is improving and now stands at the highest level in almost a year. "Buying intentions are better than they have been for more than a year and a half. Interest in cars has improved significantly as have plans to buy homes and appliances."

Food Stamp Exchange Set For September 1

Food stamp recipients will be able to exchange old food stamps for new ones after the old stamps expire on August 31, 1975, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced today.

Until Aug. 31, food stamp recipients may use their old stamps in authorized retail food stores. After that date, recipients will be able to exchange the old stamps at local food stamp offices designated by state agencies. The exchange will be dollar for dollar, new food stamps for old.

USDA introduced the new food stamp series on March 1, 1975. The new $1, $5 and $10 denominations replace the 50 cents, $2 and old $5 stamps. The amendment to the Food Stamp Program regulations will be published in the Federal Register of Friday, Aug. 22 and will be effective immediately upon publication.

weighted sled the farthest. The sled is equipped with gears, so that the weight gradually became greater. The longest pull at the Morton Tractor Pull was 250 feet, the complete distance allowed; it earned him the right to turn around and try again.

An estimated 1500 spectators attended the contest.

(We might add that there are a good many in this area who prefer welfare and food stamps to farm labor.)

Packwood would make the illegal aliens temporary "legal aliens" upon certification that they are essential to the harvesting of crops.

Can you offer a logical rebuttal to that?

It would certainly take a very crusty old-style veteran to be more indignant that we were when we read in a news magazine recently that the AFL-CIO had designated several hundred thousands of dollars and a specially picked task force of specialists to set up a campaign for the purpose--of all things--to unionize the armed forces.

Now, that is too much, period. How would you like to be dependent upon an army of trade unionists who would have to check with their shop steward before deciding whether or not they would go into battle--just figuring out the overtime possibilities would be an over-whelming task.

We now have an all-volunteer Army, paid to our way of thinking, much too much and pampered like favorite children, with recruits starting at $365 and the scale graduating up to astounding amounts to the higher ranks. What do you suppose it would be like if they received union rights and privileges?

TNM&O announced recently the termination of bus service from Levelland to Sundown due to the rising costs that made it not economically feasible. The company announced at the same time that the Morton run, though marginal, will continue. We certainly hope that it continues, but will not be surprised if we receive a notice in the near future that it will suffer a similar fate.

The tractor pull sponsored by the Morton Jaycees last Saturday was in our opinion a real success,

Tex-Ann Clinic

Dates Announced

A Tex-Ann clinic for all prospective members of the Tex-Anns, women's dance and drill team at South Plains College, will be Sept. 2-4 and Sept. 8.

All sessions will begin at 3:30 p.m. in the SPC Women's Gym. There is no charge.

Mrs. Mary Shea, Tex-Ann director, will conduct the clinic, assisted by several returning members of the women's drill team.

All prospective members of the Tex-Anns will be required to attend the clinic, Mrs. Shea said. Work-out sessions will be in shorts and tennis shoes.

Try-outs for the Tex-Anns will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 9 in the SPC Women's Gym, preceded by a brief work-out. Girls will be judged on appearance, poise, personality and rhythmic ability.

Books and Tex-Ann uniforms, except for white boots, are furnished by the College. Girls planning to attend the clinic should contact Mrs. Shea during registration Thursday and Friday (Aug. 28-29) in the Technical Arts Center about book scholarships.

New drill and dance routines learned this summer at the Big D Drill Team Camp in Dallas will be taught during the clinic, said Mrs. Shea. The Dallas session was conducted by Al Gilliam, and we hope that it will evolve into an annual event. We believe that it might be even more successful if staged in conjunction with the Cochran County Fair. The two would should compliment each other and add additional dimension to each.

It's time your family stopped being just "Smith Harold" in the telephone directory.

The new edition of your telephone directory is going to press soon.

If you have only a single listing, a lot of people are going to have trouble looking up other members of your family.

Certainly, your wife deserves her own listing. And giving a teen-ager a place in the directory is a nice way of saying "You're growing up."

To add or change a listing just call our business office. They can tell you how little extra an additional listing will cost.

It's as easy as picking up the phone.

IS THE CHURCH PART OF YOUR LIFE?

HOME

What is home? A blend of memories and mortar... walls and roof and smells of breakfast cooking... a place of rest at the end of the day... a feeling of possession, of belonging... a place of hate, love, anger... center of things living.

Home may be a mansion on a hill, a cramped apartment, a farmhouse, a hotel, a new suburban split-level, the house father built... but only to you and your family is it home. No one else may call it that. For home is a part of you!

Centuries ago a shepherd-poor felt this. Lonely seasons on the grazing slopes had taught him to love... to long for... HOME.

But he realized that, through this life and beyond, the nearness of God is part of the sense of home. Goodness and mercy would follow him all the days of his life. And he would dwell in the house of the Lord forever!

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

More cotton industry leaders from across the 19-state Cotton Belt will be on the High Plains during the first week of September than ever before in history, notes Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

The biggest influx of cotton people on September 3, 4 and 5 will be here for the Fall board meeting of the National Cotton Council at Lubbock's Hilton Inn. This will bring to the Plains representatives of the seven major segments of the U.S. cotton industry from all across the nation. NCC board members, alternates and advisory members, representing producers, ginners, warehousemen, merchants, seed crushers, cooperatives and textile manufacturers, will be hosted during the 3-day meeting by the top people in corresponding industry segments on the High Plains.

Also meeting in Lubbock during the week will be the Board of Directors of the Texas Association of Cotton Producer Organizations (TACPO), involving representatives from each of the seven chartered cotton producer organizations in Texas. That meeting will begin on the evening of September 2 and be continued on September 3.

Then at 10:00 a.m., September 3, certified cotton interest organizations will caucus in Lubbock to consider the selection of Cotton Board nominees, Cotton Incorporated directors and producer delegates to the National Cotton Council from Texas.

The only portion of the official functions open to the public will be a session of the NCC board from 8:30 a.m. to Noon on September 4, at which Cotton Incorporated President Dukes Wooters will be the principal speaker. Johnson is urging all cotton oriented people to demonstrate their interest in industry affairs by attending this meeting.

The NCC group will get down to business at 10:00 a.m. September 3 with a series of committee meetings, including the Special Study, Finance, Executive, and Council Operations committees.

A reception, hosted by NCC itself, will kick off social activities in the Hilton Inn at 6:00 p.m., September 3, to be followed by separate dinners

Jaclyn Claye has her say

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: For years I have always heard the old standard joke about husbands not liking their wives to call them at work because it made them look hen-pecked or whatever. But my problem is the exact opposite; my husband calls me at home at least ten times a day and boy I'd better be here to answer the phone or he goes into a deep panic. The other day I left the house just long enough to get some string to tie the cavity on a turkey roast, and he called while I was away and honestly Jaclyn, he was home before I got there, chewing me out because he had visions of me flat out on my back because of a home accident or something. The truth is, before we were married, I really liked all this attention. But now, I think he's nuts. On top of it, I can't seem to become pregnant and the doctor says it's because I'm so nervous. Well, wouldn't you be? Especially if you got ten or fifteen of those telephone calls a day. I'll accept any suggestion. Signed, Rita T.

DEAR RITA T.: If I may say so without hurting your feelings; my mail absolutely fascinates me and yours is a really interesting letter. To the point; your inability to conceive a child might give you a chance to get your physician involved in the problem, now. I would suggest that the two of you appear for your next doctor's appointment together. During that visit, try to introduce the problem of the telephone calls in the presence of both your husband and physician. It might be a good idea to tip your doctor off, beforehand. I think your husband is really quite wonderful, but I also believe that you need some peace.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: Several weeks ago, my husband's best friend made a pass at me. Not a subtle pass, either. It was obvious and rude. I have not since been able to stand to look at this man. The problem is heightened by the fact that my husband and he have been friends for over thirty years now. Len considers C. K. his best friend. In a similar situation, what would you do?

Signed, WALKATHON.
DEAR WALKATHON: I would tell your husband... that for thirty years, C. K. has not been a friend, he's been a phoney. You don't have to tell your husband this fact today, exactly. But some day, somehow, it must be said.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: I don't know what the younger group is coming to. When I was growing up, I was taught that integrity, hard work and education were just about the most important things in life. Well Jaclyn, we aren't rich, but my husband and I blew more than $20,000.00 on our son's education. After receiving a degree in business administration, the boy has decided now that the business world stinks and he now says he would rather get a job with the government and "just put in time." Jaclyn, I've gotten so cynical about the whole thing that I have honestly begun to feel far sorer for the $20,000.00 than I do for my son's decision. I just wanted to make my point. Signed, TAKEN.

DEAR TAKEN: You spent $20,000.00 on the boy's education? You paid for the whole darned thing? Did he not work for at least part of his tuition? Did he not try for a few scholarships? I would suggest that the hard work, integrity and love of education that was impressed upon you by your parents, you did not even try to pass on to your own son. My mail is filled with the older generation's bemoaning of the current contemporary trends taken on by the young, when the parents are the ones who are really responsible for going "soft". Kids need direction and parents must provide it. No matter how tough it is.

Area Youths Tour Washington Sponsored By Electric Company

Representing Bailey County, Electric Cooperative in the annual Government-in-Action Youth Tour to Washington, D.C. this year were Kym Petty, Craig Kirby, and Connie Richardson.

The three young people were sponsored on the trip by their families. The tour was coordinated by Bailey Electric Cooperative through the state-wide Association of Texas Electric Cooperatives in Austin, Texas.

Kym is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. H.E. (Mickey) Sowder, Craig is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuel Kirby, and Connie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Richardson.

Craig and Connie are students in Three Way school and are both very active involved in school and community affairs such as 4-H and other youth activities. Kym is from North Point, near Dallas, and spends much time with her aunt and uncle in the Maple community. She has attended Three Way school in the past.

Kym, Craig, and Connie joined approximately 40 other young rural Texans for the 11-day trip. The youth traveled to and from Washington, D.C. by bus.

During the 5-day stay in the nation's capital, these young people saw the United States government in action: visited with the Congressmen and Senators, saw various government agencies and sites of historical significance. Included on the agenda were visits to Arlington Cemetery and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the Nation Archives, Mt. Vernon, the Library of Congress, and many other places.

On National Youth Day, the group met approximately 1,000 young people from 30 states for a program coordinated by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association. The morning program was an informative question and answer session with congressional leaders and high government officials. After a brief lunch, 37 buses transported the young people to the South Lawn of the White House for a special program. President Ford met them and addressed them briefly. Afterwards, they toured the presidential mansion.

We urge you to drive more carefully around schools. The school zones here are poorly marked but should be taken heed of anyway.

HYBRID WHEAT

WHAT IT CAN MEAN TO YOU AS A FARMER

Hybrid wheat has been for farmers about like those proposals for old maids always just out of reach. Lots of promises. But finally its here. For every farmer because the supply of seed is limited and there will be enough seed to plant about 1000 acres. Seed & plant breeders are calling the breakthrough on hybrid wheat comparable to the first hybrid seed corn released several decades ago. Test plots and comparison fields indicate hybrid wheat will probably out produce regular wheat in some areas 20-30%. Another great factor is its ability to produce about 30% more grazing.

DeKalb Ag Research got the jump on its competitors in 1972 by releasing the first hybrid wheat in Oklahoma. This year 2 varieties are released for the area here. A good example of its productivity is the Wolf of Wichita Falls, Texas. His DeKalb 581 hybrid wheat produced 44 bushels per acre as compared to 34 bushels on his sturdy. This represents a bushel to acre increase, well worth being proud of.

Due to its ability to tiller seedling rates are decreased about 20%. Being a hybrid the seed can be saved for planting again. Also being a hybrid this wheat will be more vigorous, and healthy, and should come out of the ground growing. Due to its massive root system it should hold up better in a drought. Hybrid wheat is definitely a stay & you will hear more & more about it in the years to come. We do have a limited supply of this wheat & if you are interested please contact us immediately. All the hybrid wheat that was produced this year will be sold so if you have a need for some of this we want our customers here in this area to have first chance at it.

Also have for sale some Improved Scout 66. Yield on this seed is 99.53 & germination is 98. Released this seed on our own farm & it was on our fallow land. Sure is good seed.
