MISD Board Approves $1,190,266 Budget

THESE SEVEN SENIORS will be leading the Morton Indian gridmen into battle each Friday night of the new football season. Head coach Roy Winters is depending upon them to provide the leadership expected of seniors which could assure a successful season for the Tribe. Left to right, front row: No. 74

Tops 1974-75 Tab By Almost $150,000

When the Morton Independent School District budget first went over the $1 million mark for the 1974-75 school year it probably put a floor under the annual expenditures below which the system will never fall again.

The 1974-75 budget totaled $1,040,908.00. The tentative 1975-76 working budget approved by the board of trustees last week increases that figure to $1,190,266.00, up by approximately $150,000.

A fund balance of $135,526.00 carried over from the previous year plus total estimated revenues for the 1975-76 fiscal year of $1,161,836 make the total of $1,190,266.00 funds expected to be available for the school year.

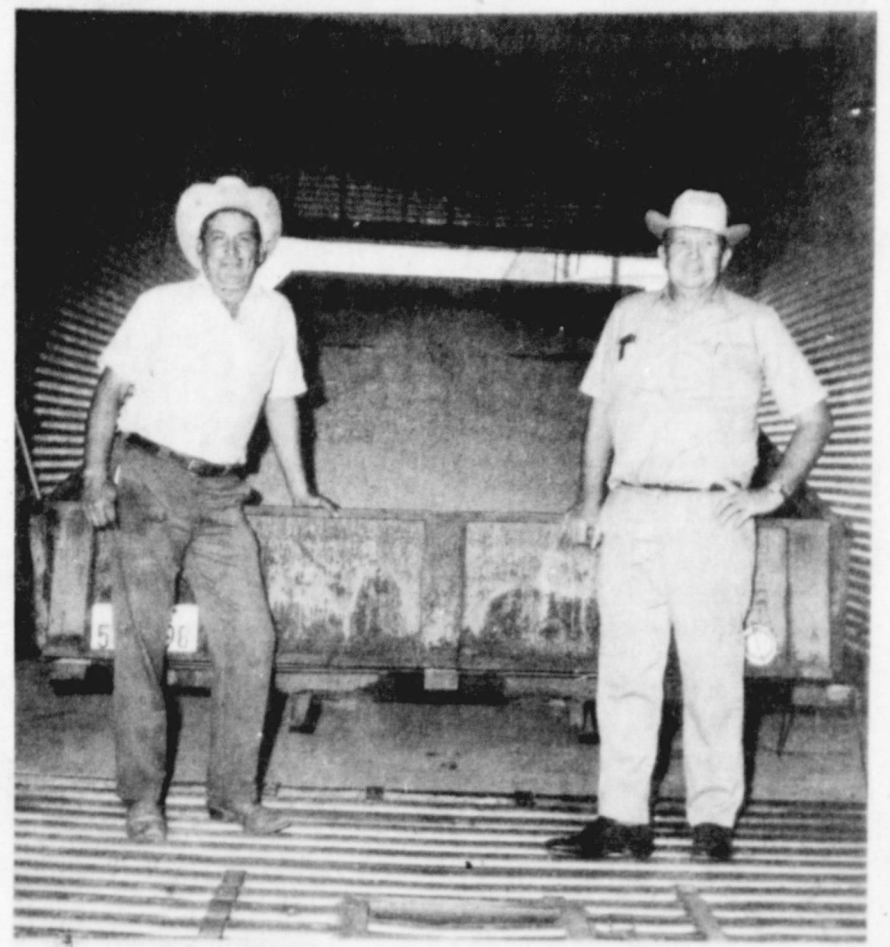

The estimated expenditures include all activities except the schools cafeteria which is expected to operate on a self-supporting basis. The estimated operating cost in 1975-76 is $73,399.00, which is up over $4,000 from the $69,117 expended during the 1974-75 year.

The higher costs, according to Superintendent Bob Travis, is mainly due to a minimum wage rise for custodial and lunchroom workers from $2.00 to $2.20 per hour and the higher cost of food and equipment. These increased costs are expected to be offset by a raise in meal prices for high school students and adults, Travis stated.

The new lunch price schedule is 55c for elementary students, 60c for high school students and 70c for adults.

The total county property evaluation upon which the school tax is based has increased from ABEL JUAREZ AND ROY BROWN proudly displays what is thought to be the first grain sorghum harvested in Cochran county in 1975. Brown, manager of Cochran County Grain Company, received the 5,460 lb. load of Pioneer 846 feed grain at near 9 a.m. Wednesday, September 10. The load was combined from approximately 2 1/2 acres of dry land on the Lena Stienfath farm five miles west of Morton. The grain measured 16 1/2 moisture content and weighed in at 55lbs. per bushel. The Cochran County Grain Company paid a $50 premium for this first load.

For those of you who did not attend the Lions Club session yesterday to hear Major Joe Hickox tell about his experiences in Moscow during his tour as U.S. Air Force Attache in Moscow, we will merely say: "He will be here again next Wednesday, and don't you dare miss it."

It is so refreshing to hear a person tell it like it is, especially someone who has been where the action is. In this day of spoon-fed news by all media, especially television, it is refreshing to hear a man who speaks words that, in our estimate, should be heard by all the citizens of America.

Joe Hickox tells it like he knows it — not like some politician or bureaucrat would like you to receive it.

Nuff said — Be there next Wednesday when Joe will give you the lowdown on the relative military strengths of the U.S. and USSR, the Strategic Arms

Tickets are now on sale for the Homecoming Bar-be-que and may be obtained from any member of the Morton Athletic Booster Club.

Indians, Cowboys Hold 'Under-Water Shootout'

The fact that the UIL makes no provisions for the use of scuba gear for football players is probably the only reason that the Morton-Plains game Friday night held any resemblance to the traditional gridiron contest.

Had the two teams been fitted out with the proper equipment, the contest would have probably evolved into a game of water polo. As it was, the Cowboys and Indians staged their shootout in a pouring rain that nullified any threat of a passing attack and reduced the running game to only a slightly lesser degree.

SEVERAL SALADSWORTH-- Mr. Oren Coon, of 310 E. Lincoln in Morton, attempts to measure the length of the giant cucumber growing in his garden but finds that its shape doesn't lend itself to measurement with a rigid yardstick. Coon says it is fairly young and still growing and he will let it go and see how big it will get. He didn't divulge any gardening secrets on how he grows them so big.

Cotton Estimate Declines From August Prog

The 1975 Texas High Plains cotton crop was estimated at 1,930,000 bales today, down slightly from last month's projected output but still above the 1974 crop.

The September joint estimate by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange and the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., was 173,000 bales less than the first estimate released a month ago. Agriculture officials said a low boll count of plants, influenced by several factors, was the main reason for the reduction.

However, if the predicted crop actually is ginned, it would still be almost 910,000 bales above last year's drought-shortened crop of 1,193,100 bales.

Such a crop would compare to the all-time high ginnings for the 25-county area surrounding Lubbock of 2,888,600 bales in 1973. Only eight times have ginnings surpassed the 2 million mark.

MAJOR JOSEPH HICKOX, former assistant United States Air Force Attache in Moscow Russia, was the speaker at the Morton Lions Club meeting Wednesday. Hickox told a large audience at the combined meeting about life in the Soviet Union and related many of his own personal experiences during his two-year assignment there. The Major, now stationed at Reese Air Force Base, will again address the Lions on Wednesday, September 17, at which time he will discuss the military balance between the U.S. and USSR, "Detente", the SALT Talks and the European Security Agreements recently signed by President Ford in Helsinki, Finland.

Colonies Sought Unity With Canada--First By Persuasion, Then By Force

When the thirteen American colonies were debating their relationship with Great Britain and were moving gradually toward separation, the British colony of Canada was of major concern to Americans.

Because of events since that time Americans tend to think of Canada as a totally separate province that was not at issue. Such was not the case. Each British colony in America was separate from the others; the fact that thirteen of them were able to unite together to form a unified resistance was, in some ways, accidental. We have already noted, for example, that Georgia was late in joining the other colonies.

Many Americans believed that the Canadians were just as unhappy with British rule as they were. They thought that a show of military force would cause the Canadians to rise in rebellion and join Americans. Probably one of the most serious and long-lasting misjudgements in all of American history concerned Canada.

Simply stated, Canadians were not interested in joining the Americans. Several times throughout our past we tried to get Canada to join us in opposition to Britain, but each time we failed.

Early after hostilities began, plans were made to get Canada to join the other colonies. Two hundred years ago this month Benedict Arnold got General Washington's permission to take a force of 1100 volunteers into Canada. By the end of December the force had reached Quebec, but the assault ended in disaster.

Approximately 100 men were killed or wounded, 300 were captured, and Arnold was injured. This was the first of many unsuccessful attempts to take Canada.

Just as Americans were concerned about Canadians, so too were the Spanish concerned about foreigners. John Peyton, a Virginian suspected of being a French agent, was held in Santa Fe while he was sick with a fever. His description of his imprisonment is a good example of conditions of the day.

For the five weeks that he was ill he was allowed to speak only to his servant who was imprisoned with him. The jailors were forbidden to speak to them. He was not given pen, paper, or ink; his room had nothing in it. They were forced to sleep on the bare floor. Sometimes they were not given food or drink for two or three days.

Had it not been for a priest and the daughter of the jailor who came secretly at night to bring food and water they would have perished. Unquestionably, to be suspected of being a foreign spy was not a desirable fate.

market is going up and old J.P. Morgan is at it again. He has loosened up every penny of extra money we have; he has sold the second car and the tent and now he is smelling around for a second mortgage on the house. The last time he tried to convince me to go for a second mortgage was back in October, 1973 just before the market destroyed itself. I feel like a stinker for not going along with the second mortgage idea Jaclyn, but do I have a right not to? After all, it is his money. But it is also our house. Signed, Mrs. T.D.S.

DEAR MRS. T.D.S.: Most stock brokers will tell you that only "extra" funds should be very carefully invested in the stock market. But I really don't think that a second mortgage on your home would come under the heading of "extra" funds. The idea does not get my vote. And I am a regular investor.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: My mother-in-law is quite elderly. She maintains her own apartment in a building in which many of her own age live and it is a fairly nice existence. mamma, just down the street, is cooking up a gala festival event for a bunch of freeloaders. The final blow came this past week when she asked my husband to absorb a new $20.00 rent increase on her apartment. My husband is willing to do so, but I am not, and there is conflict. But I will take your suggestion into consideration. Signed, ROSEMARY'S IN-LAW

DEAR ROSEMARY'S IN-LAW: I would agree to absorb the rent increase, if it is comfortably possible, but I would delay doing so for five or six months, during which time your mother-in-law might adjust to some new economies. Like, perhaps one or two meatless meals, per week.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: Forget about all that equality that men are mouthing these days. My husband, who is supposed to be some kind of a big liberal about women's rights, has shown his true attitude this summer. For years he bugged me into becoming more athletic and recently, I have. The subject is tennis. The problem is that after just three months on the courts, I can beat the pants off anyone and more specifically, my husband. I simply cannot help it. I'm a tennis natural and I have been beating my husband to a pulp. The problem is that he has always considered tennis HIS game and he has quickly lost his kindly nature about the whole thing. There are even greater problems: everyone at the club rides him mercilessly about my prowess on the courts and the whole thing has started to affect our personal relationship. Now, I wish I had never even seen a racquet. In the old days, I was told to never compete with the boys and as far as I'm concerned, that's still good advice. You can just sign me, BILLY JEAN KING AIN'T NOTHIN'

DEAR B.J.K.A.N.: I would advise you to continue to play the game with your husband, but I would strongly urge your husband not to play the game with you.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: There should be some kind of law to protect the assets of a family against the gambling instincts of the husband. My husband gambles on the stock market. And I mean gambles. He doesn't invest. He buys large blocks of cheap stock that bounce up and down like a roller coaster. Well the stock

Screwworm Program Changes Sterile Fly Release Method

Great numbers of screwworm cases in Texas are forcing some changes in our methods of releasing sterile screwworm flies, reports Dr. M. E. Meadows, Director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Screwworm Eradication Program, Mission, Texas. "It has always been program policy to 'hotspot' each confirmed screwworm case three consecutive weeks with releases of 50,000 or more sterile flies per week," says Meadows. (Hotspotting is the actual release over the ranch where the case was found.) "This year the first 'hotspot treatment' has been by ground delivery of the flies, followed by aerial delivery the succeeding two weeks.

"With more than 500 cases from Texas ranging being confirmed by laboratory identification specialists each week, this policy is no longer practical for all cases. We will rely on aerial dispersal of flies for all three treatments when: "The time involved in long shipments of flies to far distant ranches will result in our delivering an ineffective sterile fly that won't mate successfully with fertile wild flies; and,

"When costs of having state or federal personnel convey sterile flies to ranches for ground delivery is prohibitive." Meadows explains that when it is possible to get a good, healthy, sterile fly delivered to the ranch where the case occurred, ground release procedures will continue to be followed. Discussing the current screwworm situation in Texas, Meadows says "tremendous amounts of moisture on Texas ranges this year have provided ideal environmental conditions for the screwworm fly." He expects case numbers to continue to increase until cold weather arrives.

Adding to the problem this year is the heaviest and most widespread population of Gulf Coast ticks since the Screwworm Eradication Program began in 1962. Bites these ticks make in ears of large animals make ideal wounds on which the female screwworm fly can lay her eggs. Eggs hatch about 12 hours after being deposited on the wound and the tiny larvae immediately enter the wound to feed on live flesh. They remain in the wound for about five or six days while they grow to about half an inch in length.

Quite A Change
Seems like our school spirit is at an all time high. Our students & fans are all real excited about our football team & they do look good. We have noticed a trend in our young people toward showing more sportsmanship & consideration for other people. If we as fans would follow their example maybe we would lose our reputation among the other schools as being bad sports. I sure would like to see us lose this bad name. Our booster club is doing a fine job & I would like to see them undertake this project to promote sportsmanship on the part of the fans. I would like to see our image changed in the eyes of other schools.

Move Back To Rural Areas Seen As Long Term Trend

Only a few years ago, many Texas people were moving from rural areas to cities. But now there's a movement back to smalltown and country living.

The turnaround started about 1970. It seems to be gaining momentum across the country and could bring about significant changes in the pattern of population and lifestyle over coming decades. In 1970, Texas' nonmetro population was 2,636,000. By 1973, it had risen to 2,727,000, an increase of 3.5 percent.

Nationwide, the increase in nonmetro population was 4.2 percent, compared with a rise of only 2.9 percent in metro areas during the period. An average of more than 350,000 people are believed to be moving back to rural areas each year, compared with annual losses of about 300,000 in the 1960's.

What does the population shift mean? For one thing, the experts don't think the nation is dismantling its system of cities. But, except for Boston, all of the largest U.S. metro areas have had major slowdowns in growth. The eight largest areas, which contain a fourth of the total U.S. population, grew by less than one-third the national growth rate in the 1960's.

The population turnaround follows three decades during which about a million persons per year left rural areas for the cities. The current shift back to rural America is not yet fully understood, but is believed to stem largely from a feeling that smaller communities offer an escape from the social and environmental problems that affect many metropolitan centers.

At the same time, rural communities are doing much on their own to make smalltown life more attractive. They are improving local facilities and services, using local resources and federal assistance via several pieces of rural development, including the Rural Development Act of 1972.

Rural community self-improvement also is including a major and highly successful effort to attract business and industrial investment. Thus, one of the main things pulling people back to rural areas is more jobs. During 1970-75, they increased at a rate nearly twice that in urban areas — 2.6 percent compared with 1.4 percent. Until the economic slowdown began in early 1974, nonmetro manufacturing jobs had gained by 820,000, or 16.5 percent, in a little less than 3 years. Because of the recession, metro manufacturing jobs dropped 1,420,000 during 1970-75. In nonmetro areas, the loss was 113,000 jobs.

Along with more jobs, small-town America can expect a return of the retail and consumer service enterprises that went out of business after World War II. In towns of 2,500 or fewer people, nearly a third of such firms stopped operating during 1950-70.

Now that the nation is pulling out of the slowdown, the rural job market is expected to recover, possibly more rapidly than in the metro sector. Farm prosperity from an anticipated record crop and a strong export market will tend to boost rural business activity.

Another encouraging aspect of rural employment is that the number of farm people working in nonfarm jobs has reached an all-time high and probably will go higher. One of each three farm family members, 14 years and older, is now in non-agricultural employment more than in farm work. This, of course, helps keep youth in rural areas, adding a plus, and gives farm families helpful off-farm income.

Such work is contributing to the leveling off of migration from the farm population. The decline is now the lowest in 40 years, and outmigration of farm residents during 1970-74 was only about 143,000 a year, the least since the 1930's, and down about three-fourths from the average loss of 594,000 a year during 1965-70.

Dr. Walter A. Guntharp, administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Development Service, sees the current population turnaround as a long-term trend, calling for orderly planning and thoughtful conservation safeguards by rural counties and communities.

The agency, headed by Dr. Guntharp, is responsible for providing leadership and coordination of federal rural development efforts. One of its functions is to help rural officials locate federal programs that can assist in community development.

The two teams slipped and slogged to a 0-0 tie in a study in frustration that produced 18 fumbles, seven by the Indians and 11 by the Cowboys. Morton made 47 rushing attempts for 82 yards and five passing attempts for a total of eight yards. Plains rushed 40 times for 31 yards and completed none of six pass attempts.

The Cowboys had a substantial edge in the punting department with six for 210 yards and a 35 yard average. Morton punted six times for 167 yards and a 29 yard average.

The two adversaries were all even in the turnover department, with each recovering two of the other's fumbles and each intercepting one pass.

A total of only 20 yards in penalties attests to a cleanly fought contest with Morton receiving one for five yards and the Cowboys being assessed one for fifteen yards.

Morton gained seven first downs to only 3 for Plains, thus attesting further to the difficult playing conditions. Sam Johnson led all Indian rushers with 52 yards, followed by Steve Polvado with 22, David Ramby with 12, Tino Sabala with five and Robby Gattis with four yards.

It was an inauspicious beginning for a season that has both Indians and fans hopes high for a big improvement over last year's 2-8 season record. Neither the coaches or the players appear to have their spirits dampened by the big rain, though, and they look eagerly toward their next opponent.

The Indians will host the Tulsa Hornets on the home field Friday night to kick off the 1975 home schedule. Kickoff time is set for 8 p.m. in Indian Stadium.

Coach Winters tabbed three Tribesmen for outstanding performances on offense, defense and on the specialty team. Tom Cribbs was named outstanding defensive player; Larry Moore was named top of the specialty team and Malcolm Coleman was cited as a stick-out on offense.

Winners in these three positions will be announced in the Tribune each week with their pictures published on the football page. At the end of the season, the three men receiving these awards the most times will be named outstanding Indians of the year by Coach Winters.

Limitation Talks (SALT) and the European Security Agreements recently signed by President Ford in Helsinki, Finland.

And, how about this item? A New York Supreme Court Justice has signed an order requiring billionaire Howard Hughes to appear personally in court or face the prospect of being declared officially dead.

The show-cause order was signed by a Justice who directs Hughes to appear in a court in Manhattan on September 17 at 9:30 a.m.

Can you imagine the drama if he does show up?

Can you imagine the drama if he doesn't show up?

If he doesn't show, and is declared legally dead — Oh, my, the implications are endless — all that fabulous wealth up for grabs!!

We dare not think of it further.

More or less in line with our current interest in Russia, our attention was piqued by this statement by a recent visitor:

From the Midwestern farmer who toured Russia: "I found out one reason why their agriculture is less efficient than ours. The first collective farm we visited turned out to be the same size as my farm at home. But it had 1,100 people on it, and I have about 11."

Post Mortons P.S. We hope Ann Landers will forgive us for this reprint — Couldn't help but think how well it applies to our own community:

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to ask the American people a few questions. It's a matter of economic survival to me as well as millions of other "little people" who have small stores.

Who do you ask to cash your checks? Who do you ask for credit when things are tight? Who do you ask to take ads for your organizations, yearbooks and programs? Who do you ask for contributions for your church suppers, raffles, etc? Who do you call after hours when you need a special item? Who do you ask to put up your posters for special events?

It's your local, hometown small businessman. After all, he's your friend, your neighbor. But when you want to make a purchase, how often do you drive past his place of business and go to a giant store thinking you might save a few cents, without giving your local merchants a chance or even comparing his price?

We are competitive with the biggest stores price-wise and our services are often better. But we can't survive much longer. When we go, you'll miss us. — Too Many To Name.

DEAR TOO MANY: Your letter reflects one of the major social and economic problems of our times. It's becoming more and more difficult for the small, independent businessman to survive. I wish I knew the answer.

In other business, the board approved the payment of $1,100, which constitutes one half the cost of a new scoreboard for Indian Stadium. The Morton Athletic Booster Club has pledged the remaining half of the cost.

IS THE CHURCH PART OF YOUR LIFE?

It isn't easy to explain how the Church can help you find strength and comfort. You can't prove it by mathematical equations, but once you experience it, you have no doubts. And, having felt it, you want to share this deep, abiding peace with others.

No matter how stormy it is outside, in the Church you can find peace. Isn't it wonderful to know that you can take all your cares and worries to God and feel His peace and quiet? Then, having found this peace, you can carry it with you wherever you go. Through the Church you can help others find it.

Peace — God's peace — the Church — God's Church. Are you acquainted with them?

IS THE CHURCH PART OF YOUR LIFE?

It isn't easy to explain how the Church can help you find strength and comfort. You can't prove it by mathematical equations, but once you experience it, you have no doubts. And, having felt it, you want to share this deep, abiding peace with others.

No matter how stormy it is outside, in the Church you can find peace. Isn't it wonderful to know that you can take all your cares and worries to God and feel His peace and quiet? Then, having found this peace, you can carry it with you wherever you go. Through the Church you can help others find it.

Peace — God's peace — the Church — God's Church. Are you acquainted with them?

PUBLIC NOTICE SUMMARY OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS (S.J.R. NO. 11) SPECIAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 4, 1975

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the separation of powers, legislative and executive provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article II, Separation of Powers, is amended to:

Provide that the powers of government of the State of Texas are divided among three distinct branches: legislative, executive, and judicial. Except as otherwise authorized by the constitution, members of one branch may not exercise any power properly attached to either of the others.

Article III, The Legislature, is amended to:

Continue the present structure of the legislature consisting of a senate with 31 members and a house of representatives with 150 members. The present organization and procedure of the legislature are continued except that the provision allowing closed executive sessions of the senate is omitted. Provisions on the conflict of interest of members of the legislature are continued, as is the governor's power to veto bills or line items in appropriation bills. The article provides for single-member senatorial, representative, and congressional districts. A compensation commission is created to recommend the compensation and allowances to be received by members of the legislature. The legislative compensation, set by law, may not exceed this recommendation and does not take effect until after an intervening general election. The article provides for annual sessions of 140 days in odd-numbered years and 90 days in even-numbered years, and a veto session of 15 days upon request of three-fifths of the membership of each house. The legislature may meet in organizational sessions prior to the convening of the legislature in regular sessions.

Article IV, The Executive, is amended to:

Continue the present status of the governor and all other statewide officers, and include the commissioner of agriculture as an executive department officer. The governor is limited to two consecutive terms. The governor is authorized to designate chairmen of state boards, and to remove gubernatorial appointees to state agencies for cause unless the removal is vetoed by the senate. The article mandates the legislature to provide a new governor-elect an appropriation so the governor-elect may organize an office prior to inauguration, and permits the legislature to grant powers of fiscal control to the governor. All governmental agencies, with several exceptions, have a life of not more than ten years unless extended by the legislature, and, at the regular session held in odd-numbered years, the governor shall submit to the legislature a report on the organization and efficiency of the executive branch.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the SEPARATION OF POWERS, LEGISLATIVE, AND EXECUTIVE PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective January 1, 1976, except Article III, Section 5, which becomes effective January 1, 1981.

Establish a unified judicial system consisting of the supreme court, court of appeals, district courts, and circuit courts. Existing county courts and county judges are continued until otherwise provided by law. All judges (except municipal judges), district attorneys and district clerks must be elected by the people. The supreme court and the court of criminal appeals are merged into a single court of last resort, and this supreme court is authorized to provide for efficient administration of the judicial system and to balance case loads. Individual rights for a trial by jury and appeal by the accused are continued. The state is granted the right to appeal in criminal cases in limited circumstances, and the legislature is permitted to establish methods of appeal to the courts from decisions of state agencies.

Voting by the people in all elections must be by secret ballot, and the legislature shall provide by law for residence, registration, and absentee voting requirements, for the administration of elections, and for the protection of the electoral process. The general election for state and county officers is to be held in even-numbered years on a date prescribed by law.

A new Higher Education Fund for Texas is established for the benefit of colleges and universities outside The University of Texas and Texas A&M Systems. The state ad valorem tax of ten cents on $100 valuation is continued as the source of revenue for the Fund. The ten cent higher education tax may be changed by law within the ten cent maximum. The legislature may allocate by law a portion of the Higher Education Fund to certain state vocational and technical institutes. The article provides that the public education system must furnish each individual an equal educational opportunity, but a school district may provide local enrichment of educational programs exceeding the level provided by the state consistent with general law. tax of two cents on the $100 assessed valuation to provide funds for the State Building Fund. Provides that all real property and tangible personal property must be taxed equally and uniformly in proportion to market value. Existing exemptions from ad valorem taxation are continued. The present deduction of motor fuel taxes for highway purposes and the Available School Fund is retained. The "pay-as-you-go" principle for the operation of state government is retained. The legislature shall establish separate formulas for appraising land to promote the preservation of open-space land devoted to farm or ranch purposes and may establish separate formulas for appraising land to promote the preservation of forest land devoted to timber production. The $3000 exemption from state ad valorem taxation for residential homesteads is continued and the legislature by law may increase this amount. A separate $3000 exemption from ad valorem taxation by political subdivisions is provided for the residential homestead of persons at least 65 years of age and the political subdivision may increase this amount. The legislature by law may exempt from ad valorem taxation certain property owned by veterans' organizations, non-profit water corporations, and persons in need because of age or disability, and economic circumstance. The legislature may also exempt property to preserve historical, cultural or natural history resources. Taxpayers are provided a new method of correcting inequitable tax assessments by paying ad valorem taxes under protest and suing for a refund in a district court. State debt may be authorized by law only if approved by a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature and submitted to and approved by a majority of the qualified voters of the state voting on the question. Public funds and public credit may be used only for public purposes and no public funds or public credit may be used to influence the election of a public officer. The article prohibits a retail sales tax on agricultural machinery or parts, fertilizer, feeds or seeds, prescription drugs or medicine, or food, except food sold by restaurants for immediate consumption. PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the general provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article X, General Provisions, is amended to:

Provide the basic requirements relating to public officeholders such as the official oath and residency requirements. The provision defining the separate and community property of spouses is retained, and the protection of a homestead from forced sale is continued. The legislature is required to protect certain personal property from forced sale. Current wages for personal service are not subject to garnishment. A private corporation may not be chartered except under general law, and no bank may engage in business at more than one place in this state. The legislature must provide for the regulation of bank holding companies. The present system of local-option elections for the prohibition or sale of alcoholic beverages is continued. The legislature is required to prohibit lotteries and gift enterprises but may permit certain bingo games and raffles. The presently existing provisions for retirement benefits of teachers and other public employees are modified to allow the state to contribute more than 10%. A policy that the quality of the environment of the State of Texas is to be protected is established, and the legislature is required to implement and enforce this policy. No state funds may be used to remove surface water from the river basin of origin if the surface water is necessary to supply the reasonably foreseeable water requirements of the basin for the ensuing 50 years, unless the removal of water is sufficiently replaced to the point of removal from outside the state or is on a temporary, interim basis. The seaward beaches of the Gulf of Mexico and coastal submerged lands belonging to the state are held by the state in perpetual trust for the people, and subject to reasonable limitations prescribed by law, the public has the free and unrestricted right of use and benefit of the beaches. The provision is continued that, except as otherwise provided by law, a rate of interest in excess of ten percent a year is usurious, and that if a contract does not specify a rate of interest, the rate under the contract may not exceed six percent a year. Discrimination against handicapped persons is prohibited, and a goal of the state is established to provide every resident access to adequate, comprehensive health care.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the GENERAL PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

PROPOSITION NO. 8 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the mode of amending provisions of the Texas Constitution. The proposed article will be the last article of the constitution. If only Proposition No. 8 is adopted, the article will replace Article XVII of the present constitution. If other propositions are adopted, the article will be appropriately renumbered to remain the last article of the constitution. If all propositions are adopted, the article will be Article XI. Article XVII, Mode of Amending the Constitution of the State, is amended to:

Establish a procedure for constitutional amendments requiring a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature and majority approval by the voters. The calling of a limited or unlimited constitutional convention with voter approval is provided. The question of whether to call a constitutional convention must be submitted to the people every 30 years.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the MODE OF AMENDING PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

courses in many states. He has conducted numerous Gospel meetings.

Dayton has numerous publications on subjects such as Hebrews and the Eldership, plus outlines on Teacher Training Tools, Jeremiah, a Chronological Survey of the Old Testament, and Ecclesiastes. He currently is preparing an outline on Proverbs and the Christian Home.

Nat Cooper, who also teaches at Sunset, will be leading the singing during the meeting.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Shiflett of Deming, formerly of Morton. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Johnson of Deming.

Baskets of white mums, pink daisies, baby's breath and fern and two pairs of candelabras with white tapers flanked the altar. Ivy, baby's breath and white tapers decorated the choir and instrument rails with the memory candle, lit by the bride and groom, centering the choir rail.

Miss Connie Bishop played the wedding music at the organ, and accompanied Mrs. Cathy Borden, as she sang "Twelfth of Never" and "O Perfect Love". John Smith sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin in an empire style with Alencon lace appliques and edging complimenting the skirt which formed a train in the back. The lace bodice, with jewel neckline, was enhanced with seed pearls. A lace inset on the sleeves began at the shoulder and ended in a petal point at the hand. Her tulle veil, edged in lace, was held by a lace headpiece and fell in a cathedral length train. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink daisies, carnations, baby's breath and white lace and satin streamers.

Miss Terry Shiflett of Morton was her sister's maid of honor. Her formal empire gown was of pink printed polyester with short puffed sleeves. Her short veil was held by a headpiece of pink daisies and miniature carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sandy Hill and Miss Debra Childs, both of Lubbock, and both cousins of the bride, and Miss Trudi Johnson, sister of the bridegroom. Their dresses were like that of the maid of honor and their headpieces were pink daisies and miniature carnations. All four attendants carried nosegays of pink daisies, miniature carnations and pink streamers.

Dane Johnson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Harold Morrow was groomsman, Dale and Gary Shiflett, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

A reception in the church fellowship hall followed the ceremony. The table was covered with a white eyelet, floor-length cloth. A garland of ivy, baby's breath and an occasional pink daisy, hung in scallops. Clusters of pink daisies graced each corner and center front of the table cover. The three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by four heart cakes, was decorated with pink daisies, white carnations and topped with a miniature bride and groom under a lace heart-shaped arch. Two crystal candle holders each held three pink tapers. The silver coffee service and crystal punch bowl completed the appointments.

Mrs. Dennis Crawford of El Paso, presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Ray Rainwater of Hobbs served the cake, and her daughter, Miss Robin Rainwater registered guests. All are cousins of the bride.

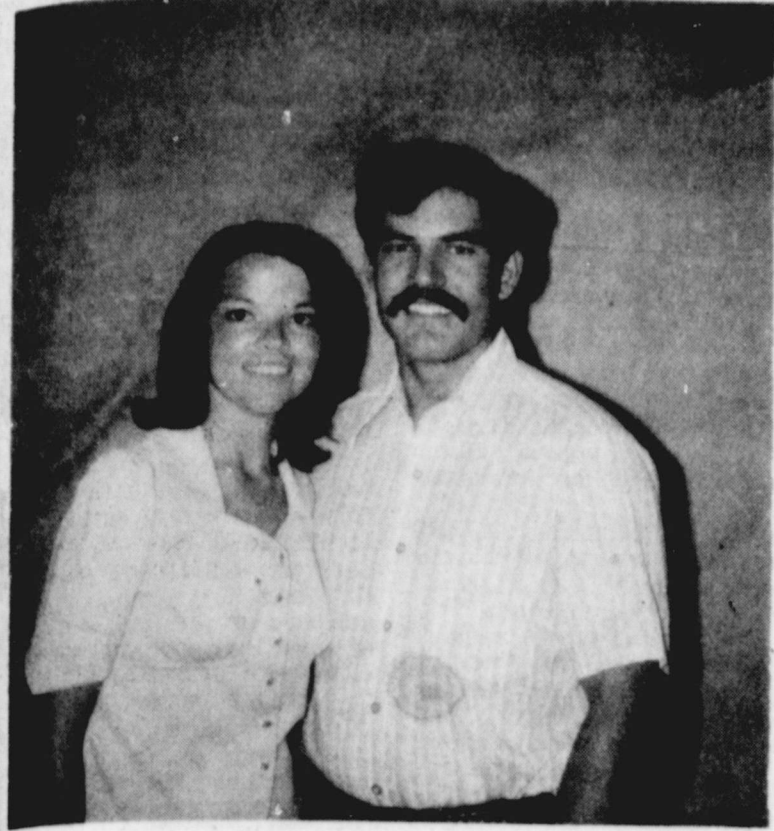

Hostesses for the reception were Meses. Bill Adams, Gene Whitehead, Bud Terry and Joe Bishop, assisted by Bill Adams and Gene Whitehead.

For their wedding trip, the bride wore a white knit pant suit with a red, white and blue blouse. Her corsage was of red-tipped carnations and red satin ribbons.

The couple is at home at 1501 Chuckwagon, Hobbs. The bride is a teacher in the Hobbs Elementary Schools and the groom is assistant manager of Pacific Finance Co., and will work toward his degree at College of the Southwest.

Ninety Percent Calf Crop More Important Than Ever

How important is a 90 per cent or better calf crop at today's low market prices?

The number of calves weaned from all breeding cows in the herd at the start of the breeding season is more important today than ever as cattlemen try to stay in business, believes Don Parks, area economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Increasing the per cent calf crop is second only to increasing market prices when considering ways to improve profits.

Calf crops vary from 60 per cent to 90 per cent and over in today's herds. The 60 per cent crop may be due to inadequate nutrition, limited genetic capability, semen infertility or disease. Whatever the cause, it must be identified and corrected, contends Parks. Some producers feel that the depressed market will not justify feeding cows as well as when prices are good. This is not true when nutrition is limited enough to delay the cow's heat cycle and conception.

Parks estimates at $7.80 the cost per cow of each 21-day heat cycle delay, considering a 26-cent per pound market price, a 1.6 pound daily gain, a 90 per cent calf crop and all calves being weaned the same time. A rancher who cannot adequately feed cows so they return to estrus shortly after calving, cannot afford to keep them.

Another way to look at the expense of low per cent calf crops is by figuring the production cost per pound at different calf crops. For example, out-of-pocket pasture, livestock and labor expenses of maintaining a cow a year in South Central Texas approach $125. Considering a 450-pound weaning weight, the production cost per pound would be 31 cents with a 90 per cent calf crop but 46 cents with a 60 per cent calf crop. Adding the annual fixed cost to the $125 out-of-pocket cost will increase the production cost per pound even more, points out the economist.

After correcting the environmental limitations of reproduction, such as nutrition and diseases, Parks advises beef producers to consider the genetic reproductive capability of the cow. Herd records are useful in identifying the breeding regularity of each cow. Such records frequently indicate that a cow identified as a slow breeder will continually be a slow breeder. Eliminating such cows from the herd can increase the herd's reproductive performance and provide better replacement heifers.

ASCS OFFICIAL CITES PROVISIONS OF '76 FEED GRAIN, WHEAT, COTTON PROGRAMS

BY JOHN W. HALL, CED
"There will be no acreage set-aside requirement for the 1976 feed grain, wheat and upland cotton programs," John W. Hall said. It will be the third consecutive year for the feed grain and wheat program, and the fourth for the upland cotton program in which no set-aside was required.

Some provisions for the 1976 programs were recently announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"Feed grain and wheat producers are not being encouraged to take cropland out of production next year," Hall said, "because even though this year's corn and wheat crops are expected to be at record levels, export demand is strong." Reduced upland cotton plantings in 1975 will result in a crop about two million bales smaller than in 1974. The Agriculture Department also forecasts an increase in domestic cotton usage and movement into export.

Hall said Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz reaffirmed his announcement of 1973 that there will be no conserving base requirement for the duration of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act, and the Secretary will not use his discretionary authority to limit feed grain and wheat plantings to a percentage of allotments and upland cotton planted in excess of the base allotment. The Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 is effective through the 1977 crop year.

For 1976, as in the present year, producers may substitute any non-conserving crop (except marketing quota crops), or any conserving crops (including approved volunteer cover) used for hay or for grazing in order to preserve their wheat, feed grain or cotton allotments.

Hall said announcement of the provisions will provide farmers with information they need to make their 1976 crop planting decisions. Additional provisions will be announced after USDA reviews more 1975 production data.

Feed grain, wheat and upland cotton programs are designed to provide farmers decision-making freedom to produce for the marketplace, Hall said. Applicants for ASCS programs will be given equal consideration without regard to race, color, sex, creed or national origin.

USDA POSTPONES '76 WHEAT ALLOTMENT NOTICES

Wheat allotment notices, usually issued in August by USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, will be combined with 1976 feed grain and upland cotton notices and issued after the first of next year, John W. Hall reported.

"By issuing only one allotment notice instead of three, we expect to cut county office expenses and increase efficiency in program administration," Hall said.

The 1976 national wheat allotment of 61.6 million acres is 15 percent above the 1975 allotment. "Farmers who plant wheat this fall can closely estimate their own 1976 wheat allotment by increasing their 1975 allotment by 15 percent."

Representing the number of acres of wheat needed to meet projected domestic and export demand, the national wheat allotment is used as a basis for making payments to wheat growers should the market price for wheat fall below the established target price, or if growers qualify for disaster payments.

Hall pointed out that no acreage set-aside will be required as a condition of eligibility for loans, target price and disaster payments and that the farm wheat allotment in no way limits the number of acres of wheat that may be planted. "Therefore, the size of the allotment will have no effect on winter wheat planting plans," Hall said.

Applications for all ASCS programs will be given equal consideration without regard to race, color, sex, creed or national origin.

"Old Moore's" Says "Happy Birthday"

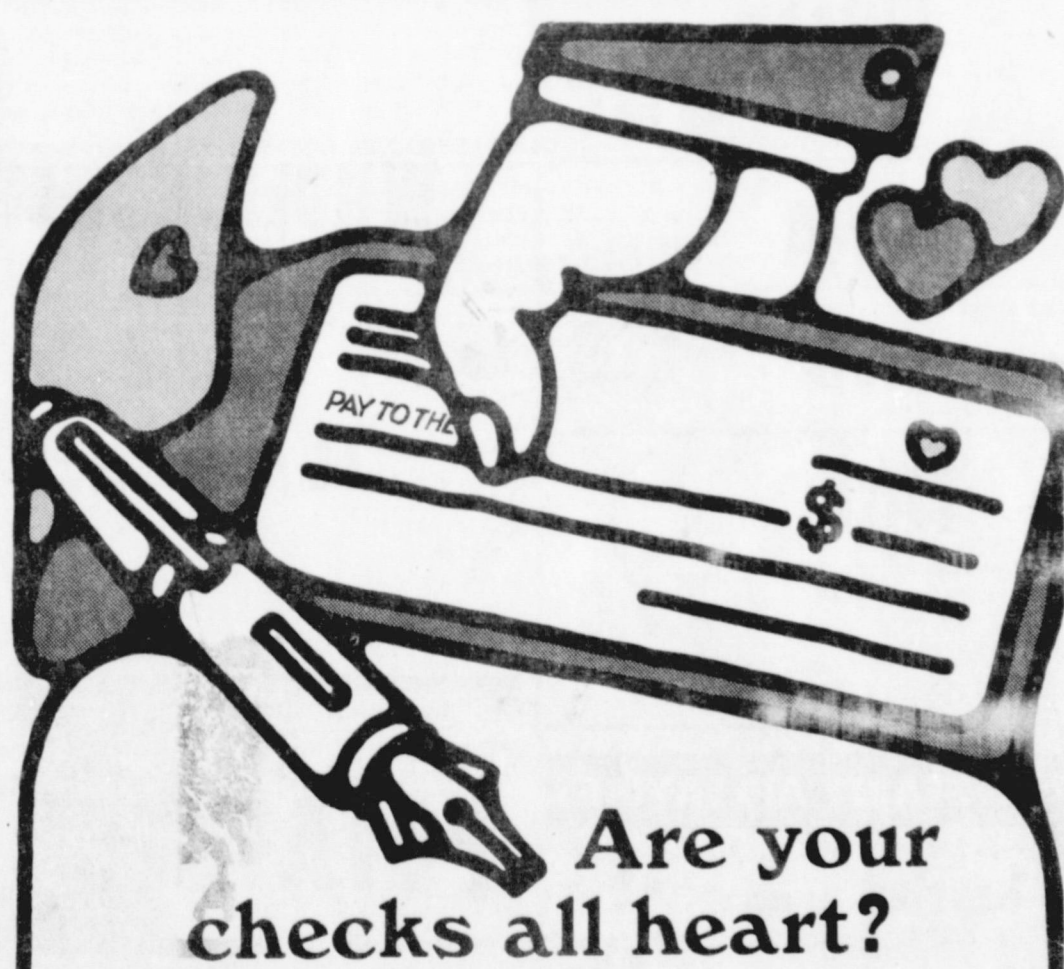

"Old Moore's Almanack," which was around when America was born, is still going strong and helping to celebrate the nation's 200th birthday with a star-spangled edition for 1976.

And as befits a venerable publication that has been issued continuously for 279 years, it's as excitingly up-to-date as tomorrow's weather—which it predicts for every day of the year—and as delightfully old-fashioned as the folklore that brightens up its pages.

Just released by Dell in a 75¢ paperback, Old Moore's joins America's birthday party with an exclusive and fascinating chronology of the main events of the bicentennial history of the United States—spanning the two centuries from America's first Fourth of July in 1776 to the end of the long Vietnam war in 1975. For casual readers and for students as well, it will serve as a permanent record to be enjoyed and consulted—and settle arguments—for years to come.

A sure-to-be-avidly-consulted new feature in Old Moore's is the "Astro-Guide for Lovers Only." Boldly and with all the current frankness, it predicts and advises for every astrological sign, with a "love index" and month by month forecast. It describes the amorous potentials for lovers of all ages, warns of the dangers during certain periods, and prescribes courses of action: when to be passive and when to be aggressive, and all the consequences thereof.

Then, of course, Old Moore's, as it has with amazing accuracy for nearly three hundred years, predicts what 1976 has in store on the national and international scene, what the weather will be for all parts of the country, and what one's personal prospects are in the extensive day-by-day astrological section.
