Indians Keelhaul Pirates

The Morton Indians used a combination of Rusty Lamar to devastating aerial attack Robbie Gattis to down a lusty band of Cooper Pirates 14-10 and break into the season win column in Indian Stadium Friday night.

The Lamar-Gattis combo struck in the first Morton score of the young season on a 23 yard pass and matched it with a 20 yarder in the third quarter to overcome a 10-6 halftime deficit and close out the scoring.

The Tribe went to intermission with the four point deficit after falling behind on a one yard tally

Forced By Wholesale Rise, Operating Costs

Residents of Morton will feel a stiff jolt when they receive their gas bills for September.

Sitting in its regular council meeting last week, the city fathers declared an emergency and raised the rate charged its customers here by 40c per 1,000 cubic feet. The rise in local rates was forced upon them, city officials say, by a combination of a recent 15c per 1,000 cu. Ft. raise by El Paso Natural Gas which supplies the city, higher salaries for city employees and the ever-increasing costs of maintenance and operation of the system.

The 15c raise by El Paso took place within the last six weeks, and they are planning another 5c raise around the first of October, one spokesman said.

"It was either raise the price or allow the city to go broke, and you know we are not going to let that happen," one official who wishes to remain anonymous stated.

The new rates were set by City See GAS Page 3

Cochran County Medical Costs

Skyrocket To All-Time High

For residents of Cochran County, the cost of getting sick has skyrocketed in the last few years.

Their bills for medical and dental services, for hospital and nursing care, for prescription drugs and other health needs have climbed to an all-time high.

And, even though most of their bills in the past year were absorbed by the Government or by private health insurance — $2 out of every $3 being taken care of in that way — the remaining one-third, which they had to pay themselves, amounted to more than ever.

The facts and figures relating to health care throughout the United States are detailed in reports made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, by the

EDUCATION FOR CONSTITUENTS--Morton was fortunate in having two top area political leaders visit here early this week to give their views and explain some complex governmental matters to their local constituents here. House Speaker Bill Clayton, left, held a meeting in the county court room Tuesday afternoon at which he explained the revisions to the state Constitution that will be voted upon November 4. State Senator Kent Hance, right, spoke to the Morton Lions Club at noon Wednesday and gave an inside view of the activities of the 64th Legislature which sat this year--and which he considers one of the most effective Legislative sessions in the history of Texas.

The Idea Of 'Nationalism' Came Slowly To The Independently Minded Colonies

The resistance of Americans to British rule began as individual actions of each colony. The idea of nationalism--of being an American--did not develop for many years. Americans today readily assume that nationalism and patriotism were there from the beginning; such was not the case.

Even without a national feeling from the beginning there were events and episodes that contributed to a feeling of unity and that reflected a growing feeling of national patriotism.

An example came in the fall of 1775. As winter approached and no end was in sight to the hostilities with Great Britain, the Continental Congress made a special appeal for 13,000 winter coats for the Continental army. The response was overwhelming. Thousands of housewives throughout the colonies went to work to provide the needed garments.

Workmanship on these coats was of such high quality that many soldiers chose to keep the coats permanently rather than to accept their bounty for enlisting. Many New England communities still maintain a "Coat Roll" today that lists the makers of the coats and the soldiers who received them.

Even though it was a small thing in some ways, the joint effort in making coats helped to build a feeling of national unity.

Another example of growing national feeling was that the town of Forks of Tar River, North Carolina, changed its name in 1775 to Washington in honor of the commander of the Continental army. This was the first of many towns and other governmental units to change its name to Washington.

Both of these incidents were relatively minor, but they were examples of how the events of the period were uniting the residents of the thirteen colonies into a nation.

In the Spanish Southwest John Peyton was planning his escape from his Spanish captors. After being imprisoned for several weeks he was presented a bill by the jailor for his expenses while in prison, an extremely high one because he was considered to be very wealthy.

Finally, through the jailor's daughter he was able to arrange for horses and supplies and for assistance in his escape. He was able to do all this only by giving a check for 1,000 British pounds to a local resident willing to help him for pay. After some delay, he, his servant, and the jailor's daughter were eventually able to escape across the mountains and plains to reach St. Louis.

Peyton's experiences in the Southwest were not different from those of anyone caught in the territory of another nation in the eighteenth century.

INDIANS

The Pirates' Kelly Choban was the point after kick by Cooper's Tony Houchin and a later Houchin field goal from 13 yards out.

Morton struck first about midway in the opening stanza on the 23 yard pass play but Sam Johnson's PAT was nullified by a penalty and his second try was a fumble leaving the Indians with a 6-0 lead.

With 7:37 left in the second quarter, Choban lugged it in for the Pirates from the one and Houchin made his point after field goal, with the lead changing one point in favor of Cooper. The Pirates ran the score to 10-6 with a 13 yard field goal by Houchin with 4:05 remaining and the game tied with the four point margin to the invaders favor.

The Indians closed out the scoring in the fumble and penalty-tracked contest with a 20-yard Lamar to Gattis pass with 7:31 to go in the third period and topped the score with a Tino Sabala pass to David Ramby for two points and the final score of 14-6.

The win leaves Morton with a straight up and down record of 1-1 and drops the Pirates into an 0-3 situation. Cooper managed to get four first downs in the contest and generated only 154 yards total offense to 10 first downs and 235 yards total offense for the Indians.

Morton rushed for 139 yards to 8 for Cooper. The Indians completed three of 11 passes for 137 yards and the Pirates five of 13 for 46 yards.

Each side suffered one interception and Morton committed two fumbles to four for Cooper. Three punts were blocked by each, with a 35 yard average for the Tribe to 32 yards for Cooper. Penalties were very heavy with a total of 60 yards against the Indians and 65 against the Pirates.

The Indians individual rushing statistics are as follows: Ramby, 65 yards on 19 carries for 2.9 average.

Johnson, 39 yards on 14 carries for 2.7 average.

Sabala, 36 yards on 11 carries for 3.3 average.

Lamar, one yard on two carries for .5 average.

Passing statistics: Lamar, 3-10 for 55 yards and 1.5 average.

Sabala, 1-2 for 2 yard score and .9 yard average.

Head coach Roy Winters cited Sabala for outstanding play on offense, Arnold Bautista for outstanding defensive play and Richard Kuehler for tops on the special team.

The Indians will close out their current home stand Friday night when they take on the invading Memphis Tigers in the 1975 MHS Homecoming extravaganza. The Tigers are touted as small but very tough and aggressive, and the coaches figure to have their work cut out for them in bagging a breed of cat. Many special features and activities have been planned for the Homecoming game and celebration, and it promises to be a great night for fans and football.

Grant Announced

By Cong. Mahon

Community Action

An emergency energy conservation program grant in the amount of $30,000 has been awarded the South Plains Community Action Association in Levelland, it was announced by Cong. George Mahon Wednesday.

The grant will become effective October 1 and run for 12 months, Mahon stated. The funds will be used to winterize some 200 dwelling units for the aged and for low income families.

The South Plains Association services 13 counties on the High Plains, including Cochran county.

out-of-pocket costs in the past fiscal year came to approximately $148 per capita, it is estimated. This is exclusive of their premium payments for insurance.

By way of comparison, the average was $149 per capita in the United States as a whole.

For specific individuals, the health bills ranged from well above average to well below. They varied from area to area and from family to family.

Age makes a difference — a big difference — in a person's health care bill. During the past year, the over-65 population had out-of-pocket expenses averaging $415 per capita as against $117 for the rest of the population.

The overall average, $149, is broken down by HEW to $34 for physicians, $25 for dentists, $20 for hospital care, $39 for drugs and sundries and $31 for other requirements, such as home nursing care, eyeglasses and the like. These averages lump together all people, including those who had big expenditures and those who had none at all.

The total out-of-pocket cost to Cochran County residents for health services in the past year, based upon the estimated regional figures, comes to approximately $681,000.

For the nation as a whole, health care amounted to over $104 billion in 1974, a 10.6 percent increase over 1973.

Oldsmobile 1976.

An Olds for everybody.
 And good mileage in every size.

Take a look at the beautiful new 1976 Oldsmobiles in your dealer showroom. They're impressive. Then take a look at the 1976 EPA Mileage Guide test figures for Oldsmobile. They're impressive, too. They show that good gas mileage runs in our family. Remember these mileage figures are estimates. Naturally the actual mileage you get will vary depending on the type of driving you do, your driving habits, your car's condition, and available equipment.

From sporty Starfire supercoupes to full-size, front-wheel drive Toronados, there's good gas mileage in every size Olds. That's quite a feat considering the array of sizes and models that Olds is offering this year. With this kind of selection, there's bound to be an Olds to fit your lifestyle and pocketbook. And every Olds, whether small, mid-size or full-size is built to be right for the times.

This year Oldsmobile is offering an available five-speed overdrive transmission on Starfire, Omega and Cutlass models. (You may be used to thinking of five-speed as strictly a performance feature, but the fifth gear gives you overdrive efficiency.)

THE '88 REGENCY. Proof that the world of luxury doesn't have to ignore a concern for gas economy.

DELTA 88 ROYALE. All the solid dependability of a family-sized Olds. Yet the 88 gets good gas mileage for a car of its size.

STARFIRE. Who says you can't get good gas mileage in a sports car? Check out Starfire SX and the available Starfire GT option—Oldsmobile's supercoupe.

CUTLASS S. Restyled from end and sides. The new look is bolder, sportier. All this—and surprising gas economy, too.

CUTLASS SUPREME BROUGHAM. The first mid-sized car to have an interior inspired by the famous '88 Regency. The gas mileage is pretty inspiring, too.

VA Announces Cancer Detection Breakthrough

A new blood test that detects lung cancer at its inception phase, when it is most potentially curable, has been reported by Veterans Administration research group from East Orange, New Jersey, and Bronx, New York.

Dr. L. Fred Ayzavian of the East Orange VA Hospital reports evidence that the test has potential for a large-scale screening of cigarette smokers and other groups considered high-risk for developing lung cancer.

It is a specific immunoassay devised to detect minute amounts of circulating hormones. Based on a technique developed by Drs. Rosalyn S. Yalow and the late Solomon A. Berson at the Bronx VA Hospital, the test thus far appears specific for lung cancer and its metastases, but not for cancers of other primary sites.

Dr. Ayzavian has found that when metastatic cancer is reported on the basis of biopsy of lymph node or liver or other tissue, and immunoassay establishes the presence of ACTH (adrenocorticotropic hormone), the primary cancer can be judged to derive from the lung.

Finding of a certain type and level of ACTH in the blood specimen is considered diagnostic for lung cancer.

Dr. Ayzavian has confirmed the reliability of the test in over 150 cancer and emphysema patients at the East Orange VA Hospital and also in lung section from cigarette smoking animals at a special VA laboratory for investigating cancer and emphysema.

Follow-up methods included study of patient specimens taken at surgery, bronchial washings, and autopsy. In the animal lungs, ACTH content rose as the cells changed more and more toward cancer. Results were correlated from two separate laboratories.

ACTH in the significant "big" form is produced in lung tumors of all types thus far studied, whether or not clinical evidence of hormone secretion is detectable. Only 4 per cent of ACTH in the normal pituitary gland is found to fractionate in the "big" form, having no hormonal action.

Among emphysema patients used as "controls," all those whose initial blood ACTH levels were above the "suspicious" level have subsequently developed lung cancer. The cancer was inapparent when the blood specimens were drawn months earlier. Their development of cancer indicates that the test is reliable in showing lung cancer at its extremely early stage, before it has spread in the blood or to surrounding tissue, and while the small malignant node can be removed completely by surgery preventing metastasis to other parts of the body or destruction of the lung. All patients whose circulating "big" ACTH level fell to normal after surgery have survived for significant intervals. All whose levels remained elevated expired within seven months.

An early report of this study appears in the March 1975 American Review of Respiratory Disease.

IS THE CHURCH PART OF YOUR LIFE?

THE SIZE OF THE CREATURE

No doubt the dinosaur thought it was big enough, powerful enough to survive anything. But the dinosaur is extinct. Men used to think that his brain, his character, his enlightening weapons made him a link for survival. Now we talk seriously about man's hope of survival.

No wonder the dinosaur has become fascinating. For follow us into the powerful and extinct. Surely if he had our intelligence and our modern weapons he'd have made it!

But there's always that gnawing uncertainty: maybe it takes something else!

Come to church and you'll be rubbing shoulders with people who are sure of it. For these men and women are in the grip of the creature. But to his way of thinking, he's the creature!

So, if you're looking for a creature that's still here, still powerful, still intelligent, still with the weapons to survive, then come to church. For these men and women are in the grip of the creature. But to his way of thinking, he's the creature!

So, if you're looking for a creature that's still here, still powerful, still intelligent, still with the weapons to survive, then come to church. For these men and women are in the grip of the creature. But to his way of thinking, he's the creature!

Jaclyn Claye

has her say

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: Mine is an intriguing and interesting situation. In the year 1955 B.P. (Before The Pill) I became pregnant. Not too significant at first glance, but I was unmarried at the time and since mine was a leading family in this town, the scandal that followed was awesome. I married the fella and we could not have been happier. The fun and companionship we shared in our college years has continued for almost twenty years now. The slight problem is that my mother has never quite forgiven me for bringing the family embarrassment in 1955 and she still mentions it to me and I must admit, it hurts. Now comes the intrigue: I recently went through my mother's picture albums and boxes and I came across some photos of my mother's wedding day and quite by accident I came up with a new and interesting fact: My mother has always insisted that she was married May 16, 1934. But one of the photos is stamped P K Photography Studios, May 16, 1935. Further examination demonstrates that at a time when rather tight midriffs were the style in wedding gowns, my very fashionable mother was wearing the most loosely fitted dress you could imagine. These two facts lead me to believe that my mother was pregnant with me at the time! The situation is that I'm just dying to let momma know that daughter knows! I would not want to do this except that momma still mentions my own indiscretions and she's keeping secret one of her own.

Am I justified in making mention of this new information? Signed, MAUREEN.

DEAR MAUREEN: Honestly girl, where were you during watergate? Aside from the Agatha Christie aspects of your letter, I really wish the two of you would leave each other alone. But if you insist on revenge, the next time momma brings up the subject of your 1955 pregnancy, simply ask momma if her marriage took place in 1935 or 1934. She'll get the message. But I really wish the two of you would forget the whole matter completely. Really.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: What the heck do you do with a really picky husband. I mean, this guy is really strange. He fights with every friend we ever had. Recently, we went out as a foursome with a new couple. Jaclyn, I really enjoyed myself with these new people, but sure enough, before the evening was over, Frank laid into them. My husband insulted both of these very nice people on their own patio. The insult was followed by complete silence, and then Frank just gloated and sucked on his cigar. In every other way, my husband is an O.K. guy. But for some unknown reason, he just has to attack everyone. Your comments will be appreciated. Signed, FRANK'S WIFE.

DEAR FRANK'S WIFE: I would say that your husband is nursing one huge inferiority complex. The most valuable gift anyone can have, is self-confidence. Frank simply doesn't have it. If you can, please show your husband my response to your letter. If your husband has a sincere desire to correct his character problem, then there are large numbers of good books on human behavior available at your local library. Just crack one open to "I" for inferiority complex.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: You sound like a well travelled person. My husband and I have about five weeks and $2,000.00 to spend on a vacation. In a similar situation, where would you go to spend this time and money. MR. & MRS. T.R.T.

DEAR MR. & MRS. T.R.T.: It's tough to suggest something since I don't know your tastes, directly. But for myself, I would leave immediately for the island of Grenada, just off the coast of Venezuela. The island is British, the language is English and the island is fantastically beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Yruegas

St. Ann's Church Setting For Afternoon Ceremony

Miss Martha Duarte and Phillip Yruegas were married September 20 at 3 p.m. in St. Ann's Catholic Church. The Rev. Nicholas Schneiders performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Mike Duarte Sr. of Goodland and Mr. and Mrs. Nestor Yruegas of Needmore.

Vows were exchanged before an archway of English ivy, blue carnations and baby's breath. Candlebras stood on each side of the archway and the candles were lit by Danette Lane and Charles Madrid.

OPEC Subsidy

WASHINGTON—Congress has been making you pay a subsidy to the OPEC cartel. It is time for the subsidy to stop.

There is at present a "two-tiered" price system for domestic crude oil. "Old" crude oil—oil produced from wells drilled before price controls were established—is sold at a controlled price of $5.25 per barrel. Oil from wells drilled since then and from wells producing 10 barrels a day or less is sold at a freemarket price of approximately $12 a barrel.

The chief effect of the two-tiered price system has been to depress domestic production of oil and natural gas, forcing Americans to become ever more reliant on artificially high priced OPEC oil.

Some members of Congress claim that removing the price controls for "old" crude oil would cost consumers billions of dollars by sending the price of "old" oil skyrocketing to the OPEC level of $13 a barrel. The kindest description that I can make of these claims is that they are wildly exaggerated.

The long term result of decontrol would be a stabilization—perhaps even a reduction—of petroleum prices. And the principal short term effect would be to end a $3 subsidy Congress is providing OPEC for each barrel of oil it sells in this country.

OPEC receives its subsidy via the crude oil allocation formula of the Federal Energy Administration (FEA), the agency authorized by Congress to administer the price control program.

The overall price refiners in America pay for crude oil today is about $10 a barrel. Refiners achieve this cost by paying $13 Arab crude with $5.25 controlled domestic crude and some $12 uncontrolled domestic crude.

In order to "protect" refiners who do not have access to supplies of low-cost domestic crude, the FEA forces refiners who have ample supplies to share with those who do not. A refiner who buys 100 barrels of OPEC oil is granted "entitlements" to buy 40 barrels of controlled domestic oil, which can be sold for about $13 a barrel. A refiner can refine only as much low cost domestic oil as he has "entitlements" to do so.

The entitlements program is a good deal for those refiners—principally in the Northeast—who have shortages of domestic crude, but it is a very bad deal for consumers.

The entitlements program raises the demand for foreign oil by lowering its net price to refiners to $10 a barrel. This helps stabilize the OPEC cartel by giving it a larger market than it otherwise would have.

Without price controls and the entitlements program, OPEC oil would have to compete with increased domestic supplies which would sell at a lower price. Either the OPEC price would drop, or there would be less OPEC oil in the market bought by American refiners. The result, in either case, would be lower prices to consumers.

Know Your Nursing Home:

Roberts Memorial Nursing Home of Morton, as a progressive facility, is constantly taking advantage of available opportunities to up-grade the skills of various members of the staff. Operating with this philosophy, Marie Elliott and Foy Bilbrey recently completed a concentrated course designed to train nurses in the proper methods of medication administration. Under the latest Federal and State Regulations for nursing homes, medication aides are prepared to serve as charge nurses on the shift and administer certain types of medications. They may assist licensed personnel with this responsibility on other

Marie Elliott and Mrs. Bilbrey were trained in how to accurately and properly prepare, administer, and document regularly prescribed oral, rectal, nasal, ear, eye, and topical medications most commonly used in the nursing home setting. They were taught the proper methods of how to correctly and safely administer oxygen with a cannula or other non-sealing face mask. Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Bilbrey learned how to identify some drug re-actions and side-effects of drugs commonly given to geriatric patients.

Medications administered at Roberts Memorial Nursing Home are given only upon the written order of the attending physician. The medication aide is checked by the director of nursing services, a consultant registered nurse, and a consultant pharmacist. In addition, periodic reviews are done by personnel from the Texas Department of Health Resources and the Texas Department of Public Welfare.
