Several Injured In Rash Of Wrecks

READING DEFICIENCY?--Thurl Lemons, of the Maple-Goodland area, was seriously injured when he failed to make a turn on a northeast county road Monday afternoon and ended up on the roadside above. The paving ends at this point and the road makes an abrupt turn to the right. Lemons, who received head and body cuts and abrasions, was reported making satisfactory progress in Methodist Hospital Tuesday afternoon.

Eight Car Crashes Sunday Thru Tuesday

The Paul Wiley family and Thurl Lemons were the principal casualties in a sudden rash of auto crashes that mounted to a total of eight between Sunday afternoon and Tuesday afternoon in Cochran county.

Wiley, his wife Janice and 3-year-old son, Jake Ed, were involved in a head-on pickup collision 4 1/2 miles west of Morton on SH116 Sunday afternoon that resulted in critical injuries to Mrs. Wiley and serious injuries to Paul. Jake Ed received minor injuries and was released to his grandmother, from Cochran Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Wiley was reported making satisfactory progress Tuesday afternoon and was removed from the critical list at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Wiley was reported making satisfactory progress Tuesday at Cochran Memorial Hospital.

Lemons was reported in fair condition at Methodist following his crash into an embankment after missing a turn on a farm to market road in northeast Cochran county at near 3 p.m. Monday. Accident investigator James Lytal of the Department of Public Safety, reported that Lemons approached the corner at an apparent high rate of speed and was unable to negotiate the sudden turn where the pavement dead-ends and the road continues in a sharp angle to the right.

He reportedly received serious head wounds and cuts and abrasions over much of his body. He was transported to Cochran Memorial for emergency treatment and transferred to

ROY HORNSBY, of Morton, points out the area northeast of Pep where he claims to have witnessed a UFO hover near the ground and kill a cow on Friday, October 17 at approximately 9:30 a.m. A trek over the area and a thorough search with binoculars, by Nelda Stogsdill, center, and Kathy Schulze of the Levelland Sun News and Tribune editor Bill Sayers, failed to turn up the dead cow or any sign of a UFO's presence. No wild geese were sighted, either, but there were an abundance of ducks in the area.

Cotton Market Reports Prices Steady To Weak, Trading Slow

Grower prices were steady to weak during the week ending October 24, according to Paul R. Dickson, In Charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office.

Trading was slow. Growers offered small lots of new crop cotton in very light volume.

Demand was best for mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and better; staples 30 through 34; mikes 2.7 and higher, Dickson said. These lots brought 41.00 to 42.00 cents per pound.

Grades 31, 41 and 51 were predominate qualities in this week's classings and accounted for 16 percent, 57 percent and 15 percent respectively. Staples 30 through 33 were predominate lengths accounting for 13 percent, 35 percent, 17 percent and 20 percent respectively.

Mike readings 3.5 through 4.9 amounted to 34 percent of the total. Mike group 3.3 through 3.4 accounted for 21 percent and 3.0 through 3.2 range 34 percent. Mike 2.7 through 2.9 was 11 percent.

Pressly tests indicated breaking strengths at Lubbock averaged 86,000 pounds per square inch.

Because most Cochran County residents are earning more than they did in other years, and because more women are

Wildcats Claw Tribe 54-0

It is sufficient to say that the Morton Indians cornered a wild Wildcat Monday night and came away from the encounter with a 0-54 clawing. The Indians were the undoing of hapless Indians as they gave the ball on six fumbles and one interception for a touchdown that defied frustration for anything they tried to accomplish.

Fumbles on the Morton 11 and yard lines were quickly averted to touchdowns for

Salad Supper

The Morton Athletic Booster Club will sponsor a Salad Supper Friday from 5:30 until 7 p.m. at the school cafeteria. Tickets will be on sale at the door. They will be $1.50 for adults and students in the 6th grade and up. Students in 5th grade and under will be $1.

The Indians will take on the Permian Bobcats in the traditional "Dad's Night" game.

THE TWO PICKUPS ABOVE were pictured where they came to rest following a head-on collision on SH116 4 1/2 miles west of Morton Sunday. The vehicle on the left, being driven by Juan Trinidad, of Morton, was traveling east and suddenly swerved into the left lane into the path of the pickup at right, driven by Paul Wiley of Levelland, causing the head-on crash. Seriously injured were Mr. and Mrs. Wiley, with son Jake Ed Wiley, 3, receiving minor injuries. The three occupants of the vehicle driven by Trinidad received only minor injuries and were treated and released at Cochran Memorial Hospital a short time after the crash.

Veterans Day

Citizens of Cochran County are planning a memorial on Armistice Day, later changed to be called Veterans Day, on November 11, 1975.

One of the main purposes of this program is to place The Flag by the graves of our Veterans of all wars as a token of our enduring memory. To do this, we need to know who the Veterans are and their gravesites. Cochran County Veterans and the Morton Jaycees are going to be in charge of placing The Flag by every Veterans' gravesite.

Please contact Bill Harris at 266-5186 after 5 o'clock, Danny Wisely during the daytime at 266-8811, or the Morton Tribune at 266-5576, to let them know the above information.

Veterans wishing to participate in this memorial program, please contact one of the above. Thank you,

Creating Independent Governments Was Traumatic Experience For Emerging Colonies

Two hundred years ago this year the American colonies and Continental Congress were engaged in a very traumatic decision. Several months the colonies had been defying British authority. This defiance had finally led to bloodshed and to the establishment of an extranational government.

Now, however, the colonies faced with another decisive decision. With the loosening of British authority and with a state or local government was in a state of chaos or to create governments that were in fact independent of British authority.

To take such a step was, in some ways, more frightening than the other actions already taken. To create local governments controlled by the people themselves was an act of independence, even before the united colonies had reached that decision.

The Continental Congress had come face-to-face with the problem in October when New Hampshire, finding its internal affairs in chaos, appealed to Congress for direction. Shortly thereafter South Carolina made a similar request.

John Adams took a leading role in Congress by insisting that the colonies be advised to organize their own governments as best suited their needs as long as they did not perpetuate the evils of the British system. He was especially anxious that they stop using the words, "province" and "colony" and begin using the word "state."

As yet the individual colonies were not willing to lead the continent toward a more independent course. Even though John Adams was unable to have his way, he was encouraged in his belief that actual independence was now only a matter of time.

While English colonists were anxiously concerned about their relations with Britain the Spanish settlers in Texas were still concerned about the necessities of life. The standard of living was still very low and did not offer much hope of improvement.

Housing in Texas was of a primitive sort except for the wealthy. The average family usually constructed its own adobe house from clay and other materials readily available. Despite their lack of modern tools and equipment many of these houses lasted much longer than one might expect. The hard packed earthen floor might be covered with skins and home-spun rugs and mats. Furniture was usually limited to a table and a few storage chests. Beds were usually spread on the floor at night and rolled against the wall in the day time.

Obviously, Spanish Texans were dealing with a more elemental issue of survival than were their English neighbors.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:
Here's hoping that you have been praying and giving some serious thought to the letter that was printed last week.

I am black, please excuse the expression, but I am proud of it. I am a Christian and I promise not to try and use God as an excuse to do some name calling. We all have names as a race of people that people have labeled us with. Whites, blacks and Mexicans, but when you lower yourself to name calling you are always less than the person to whom you are speaking. I can tell you one person, two, or a group of people in this town anything that I want them to know without stooping low enough to try to knock a whole race of people, and any person who can't is a poor excuse for a good human being. I considered sending last week's letter to the editor to some other towns to people I know and having them and their editor take a look at what was printed here, I also thought of writing a letter printing all the names that people call every race, but I thought my God that makes me a name caller. In the final analysis I came to the conclusion that if God can rule the whole world, we can sure depend on him in Morton, Texas. I know that the majority of people here, black, white, and Mexican are good people, not only good people but good hearted people. We all have our faults, we all think, do, and act wrong at some time. I haven't met any pure saints of any color here but I have met good, loving people of all races. Let's hope and pray that the good majority rules.

Love, peace, and togetherness,
Gracie Garrett

Gas Crisis

WASHINGTON—Cold homes. Dark factories. Long unemployment lines. That's the bleak prospect facing possibly millions of Americans this winter as the natural gas emergency grows ever more severe.

Make no mistake about it. The natural gas emergency is a dire national threat that could deal a severe blow to our hopes for economic recovery. Tens of thousands of jobs could be at stake.

Natural gas, our most economical and cleanest-burning fuel, presently accounts for about one-third of U.S. energy consumption.

But supplies of natural gas are dropping almost as sharply as crude oil supplies dropped when the Arab oil embargo was imposed two winters ago.

Demand for natural gas is outrunning available supplies by about 15 per cent. Curtailments of natural gas could hobble industries in the Middle Atlantic states. Shortages in some areas could be so severe that home heating with gas—for which there is no economical substitute—may have to be curtailed.

The Federal Energy Administration estimates that, given present conditions, curtailments this winter could total 1.3 trillion cubic feet, up 30 per cent over last year. A severe winter could drive the shortfall to 1.45 trillion cubic feet.

Most of the blame for the natural gas shortage must fall upon Congress. Federal price controls have sharply retarded the development of new supplies of natural gas and have slowed the expansion of supplies from existing gas wells by denying producers a fair return. By holding the price of natural gas below those of other fuels, price controls also have encouraged overconsumption, misuse and waste of this precious fuel.

Now, as the cold winds of winter draw ever closer, Congress continues to ignore the real cause of the shortages it has helped create and make more severe.

The search is on for scapegoats, not answers. Congressmen and Senators are trying to find someone or something on which to put the blame for their mistakes. Short term solutions that will last through the next election are given priority over long-term solutions required to resolve the problem.

I for one am heartsick over the politicking and demagoguery that has taken place on this issue. Congress must face the reality of the natural gas crisis and put aside previously determined biases.

No political compromises, no price ceilings or rollbacks, no new bureaucratic agencies can avoid the fact that if demand is greater than supply, either we cut back on demand, increase supplies, or both. The hard economic facts say we must deregulate, and deregulate now.

Too many politicians say deregulation makes good economic sense, but bad political sense. I say we must look at the long term solutions, even if they are politically unpopular in the short run. There are times when politicians must act like statesmen, and do the right thing even when it is not the popular thing. This is one of those times.

Jaclyn Claye

has her say .. . . .

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: My husband is development director of a large manufacturing firm. Because he has contributed to the continued success of the company, he has been given an excellent income; indeed, he is wealthy. But he is the kind of person who is always trying to improve on existing systems, and also includes the operation of a home. Recently, he devised a method of inspiring our children to achievement that I would like to see you about. It is really very easy for parents of means to spoil their children and this is to be avoided. My husband has developed a reward system that is really very remarkable. Its this: there is not thing in this world that our children cannot have providing they come up with fully 50 per cent of the cost of the item. The reason in doing this is because of myself and my husband philosophically find no evil in "wanting" things, though we both believe that there is intrinsic evil in anyone getting those same things for free. In addition, the current of items is too discouraging a youngster to tackle on his own, thus my husband will absorb

50 per cent. Because of this system (operational now for three years) our three youngsters have been fully employed these summers, whereas many kids from less privileged families who should have worked, did not. It should be pointed out that the free enterprise system works best when the young are educated and encouraged to achieve. Signed, WORKING WELL ON BLYTHE. DEAR W.W.O.B.: Very good letter and I was pleased to receive it. But if you and your husband are absorbing fully 50 per cent of your youngsters' spending, they are still fully "privileged" children. + + + + +

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: My boyfriend has been married twice, has four children, is 12 years older than I am, and has served time for armed robbery. Is there a chance that marriage to such a man can succeed? Signed, TRINA. DEAR TRINA: No. + + + + + DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: My mother-in-law says I'm a cynic. Each year I keep a list of all the names of those people from whom we received a Christmas card the year before. If a new card is received, the new name is added to the list. If someone on the list neglects to send us a card, that name is deleted for the following year.

Jim's mother says that such a system is a clod and calculated way of doing things. But I see it quite differently and to me it is a way of being quite certain that those who bothered to send Christmas cards are duly responded to.

I have offered to change my ways based on your response to this letter. Signed, PAULA.

DEAR PAULA: Your list is fine, but I would also send out additional cards to those for whom I have a special appreciation, whether I received a card from them, or not.

Also, there has been considerable criticism directed toward the sending of cards in recent years, but it is really a very good annual opportunity to communicate with those to whom we neglected to write during the year. It can be a very pleasant tradition. + + + + +

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Pending labor legislation has been a recurring topic of conversation of late at the offices of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

One of the labor bills under discussion, which would boost minimum wages across the board, is of direct concern to cotton producers. The other, known as the "Common Situs" picketing bill, ostensibly relates only to construction trade unions, but carries distinct and dangerous implications for cotton producers along with everyone else in the U.S., PCG officials believe.

The minimum wage bill, H.R. 10130, would increase the minimum wage for farm workers in graduated steps to $3.00 per hour in 1978. The minimum would be $1.80 per hour until December 31 of this year; $2.00 from January 1, 1976 to June 30, 1976; $2.35 from July 1, 1976 to December 31, 1976; $2.60 through 1977 and $3.00 per hour beginning January 1, 1978.

The industrial worker minimum and the minimum for many workers in agricultural processing plants such as oil mills and warehouses, would go to $3.00 in 1977. Gainers would be required to pay their help no less than $2.00 the remainder of this year; $2.20 January 1, 1976 to June 30, 1976; $2.50 July 1, 1976 to December 31, 1976; $2.60 for all of 1977 and $3.00 thereafter.

Also, two new twists have been added. The bill would provide automatic wage increases triggered by the Consumer Price Index after January 1, 1977 and would boost overtime pay from the present 1-1/2 times hourly rate to 2-1/2 times hourly rate. The hourly wage would be increased by 1 percent plus the percent rise in the price index at its highest level during any consecutive 3-month period in which the CPI rose at least three percent over the index for the month in which the bill becomes law.

Hearings on H.R. 10130 were held October 21-23 before the House Labor Standards Subcommittee.

Testimony against the measure was voiced there by the National Council of Agricultural Employers, of which PCG is a charter member.

The "Common Situs" bill, among other things only slightly less noxious, would give officials of the building trades unions power to shut down an entire construction project, involving dozens of contractors, because of a dispute with a single contractor on the project. In short, it would legalize secondary boycotts.

According to the National Right to Work Committee (NRWC), its passage would lead to "rampant feather-bedding, mushrooming make-work practices and ballooning construction costs" on churches, schools and commercial construction.

The bill, originating in the House as H.R. 5900, went through that body with a minimum of debate. It will become law if passed by the Senate and signed by the President. The NRWC is asking that thousands and thousands of individual letters be written to Senators and to President Ford as the only means to overcoming the tremendous lobbying power of the unions.

"We must convince Congress and the President it is political suicide to legalize Situs Picketing," the NRWC says.

IS THE CHURCH PART OF YOUR LIFE?

Many of us grow up with pictures of caravans crossing the sands of the Sahara. Those in the West know that the desert has many faces. One of our common mistakes in life is to assume that trees make a forest, flowers a garden, clothes a man—that appearances promise reality. One of the invaluable influences of Christianity upon society has been its distinction between the facade and the truth. Christ taught that men must be known by their faith. Lack of spiritual concern is the surest way to make the world a desert of trees—a society of people without a sense of responsibility. Wilderness cry out for reclamation. The Church Christ founded is reclaiming our society for Him. You need its Message.

Also, a spacious living room joins the wood paneled kitchen-den combination where there's a fireplace, and you would have lots of storage, utility and closet space. This pink brick is well located on a 95 foot corner lot at 806 East Garfield with a concrete front drive, and there's a tall tile fence surrounding the concrete patio, trees and shrubs, and 8'x10' tool shed in the back yard. Nearly new carpeting and drapes will go, plus some furnishings. Central heat and cooling does good job, plus electric garage opener and TV antenna with booster and 5 outlets, also 5 telephone jacks.

Texans:

If you are tired of bigger government and higher taxes, vote NO on the proposed new constitution November 4.

Don't give future Legislatures a blank check.

The Houston Chronicle calls the new constitution "a dangerous document." Governor Dolph Briscoe warns it will "lead us down the road to a state income tax."

Governor Briscoe says: "It is my personal view that the current Constitution under which Texas has grown and prospered for a century is preferable to the proposed new constitution. Accordingly, I believe it is in the best interest of Texas that all eight propositions on the ballot be rejected."

Play it safe. Keep our present Constitution by voting NO on Tuesday, November 4.

SPC 'Country Jamboree' Expecting Long-Time Run

"South Plains Country Jamboree" is expected to make Saturday nights something memorable to area folks for a long time to come.

Beginning Oct. 25, South Plains College began sponsoring a monthly jamboree featuring performances by country and western groups from throughout the South Plains area along with the College's own country and western band, "South Plains Country."

"The best of talent in the whole South Plains area is invited to participate," said Nathan Tubb, academic dean at SPC. "We are hoping to make this a community affair." Dean Tubb added, "We hope the townspeople will want to participate."

The jamboree will be scheduled the last Saturday night of each month, with performances from 8 to 11 p.m. in the SPC Auditorium. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for youngsters in the first through eighth grades, Dean Tubb said.

"The total proceeds will go toward country and western music scholarships for students at SPC," he said.

John Hartin, director of SPC's country and western music program, also is a guitarist with the SPC country and western group. "I have quite a few groups lined up to contact about performing in the jamboree, but plans for the groups in the long run have not finalized as yet," he explained.

Similar jamborees are currently being held in Meadow, Morton and Sundown.

Ladies: Show Off Your Cooking Skill With Best Recipes

Cochran County cooks are invited to submit their favorite recipes for publication in the winter issue of TDA Quarterly, a Texas Department of Agriculture consumer-oriented magazine.

Recipes unique to the Plains area and old-time specialties will be stressed. However, any good recipe will be considered, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said.

Since cattle are important to the Plains area, a special look out will be kept for beef recipes.

In addition to recipes, old-time methods of food preservation in danger of disappearing will be printed. Anyone with tips from the past on preserving foods is invited to send them in, White said.

Deadline for submitting recipes and hints from the past will be November 21.

TDA Quarterly takes a look at a specific region of Texas in each issue. It began publication this year.

Recipes and tips selected for publication will be credited to the sender. They will not be returned. They should be mailed to the Texas Department of Agriculture, Information Section, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

New Taxing Proposal Given Review By State Comptroller

Comptroller Bob Bullock said Monday that Texans are entitled to know the possible effects of taxing real property at true market value as required by the finance article of the proposed constitution.

"The backers of the constitution keep telling us that taxing on a basis of true market value is a good thing — and it is — but property owners have a right to know what this means in plain English," Bullock said.

"What would this re-evaluation mean to the average property owner? It means that on a statewide average their houses and lots could increase more than 60 per cent on the tax rolls," he said.

"It would then be up to local taxing authorities, such as our cities, counties and school districts, to reduce their tax rates and/or assessment ratios or property taxes would go skyhigh."

Bullock pointed out that "in the 10 years between 1963 and 1973 local government spending and local property tax bites both more than doubled." He cited Texas Research League statistics showing that local property taxes were increased more than $1 billion during that period.

"The required re-evaluation could add $75 billion to the $125 billion in property values now 'claimed' on the tax rolls. That's a 60 per cent increase and any way you cut it, and at today's tax rates that would be approximately $750 million in new property taxes each year," he said.

"I think most homeowners believe that all real property should be taxed in an equal and uniform manner. However, it's been my experience that they are referring to the other fella's property because they believe theirs is already over valued and over taxed," Bullock said.

"Men Only" Sign Down in Army Reserve

In the ranks of the Army Reserve, the "men only" sign is down.

Women, 18 to 34, are signing up for non-traditional jobs that once had been considered the private property of the opposite sex.

The Army Reserve offers women the same chance for promotion, pay boosts and benefits as men. Now with special enlistment options, women can acquire skill training in hundreds of fields beyond clerical work.

Over 15,000 women are now actively pursuing careers in the Army Reserve. From the east to the west, today's newest citizen-soldiers are marching to different tunes in Reserve units spread out over 1,000 communities across America.

One such young lady is 18-year-old high school graduate Kathleen Stokes of the 607th Military Police Army Reserve Detachment at Manchester, New Hampshire.

"My dad was an MP in the Army, my boyfriend is a cop, and all my friends at home are members of the force," Kathy said. "The idea of being in law enforcement is exciting, and I can help the community at the same time." Then she added with a sense of pride: "The only place willing to give me the experience I needed was the 607th."

Another woman who found the Reserve ready to give her an opportunity to earn a living and learn a skill that was denied her in civilian life is 26-year-old Specialist 4th Class, Pat McMillan.

Pat joined the Oklahoma-based 215th General Supply Unit as a truck driver, under the Civilian Acquired Skills Program (CASP). Under this special enlistment option, women take two weeks of basic training instead of the normal seven. They enlist at an advanced rank commensurate with their skills and position.

"The beauty of the Army Reserve," she declared, "is that it's only one week-end a month. I still have my freedom. The Reserve knows how to treat a woman. You get the same pay as a man, for the same job. That's the way it should be."

On the West Coast, the same opinion is shared by Specialist 4th Class Cindy Baltzelle, a parachute rigger attached to the 12th Special Forces, Army Reserve, Sand Point Naval Air Station, in Seattle, Washington. "I couldn't see spending my life behind a desk," Cindy said. "I really wasn't interested in being a clerk typist. I was looking for something different and exciting. And that's just what the Reserve was offering."

"I'm not 'gung ho' on Women's Liberation," she continued. "But I am 'gung ho' on doing my own thing and being feminine."

For women like Cindy Baltzelle, Pat McMillan, Kathleen Stokes and thousands of others, the Army Reserve is truly a place "Not for Men Only."

Women who would like more information on non-traditional jobs in the Army Reserve should call the Army Reserve Center nearest them. It's listed in the white pages of the phone book under "U.S. Government."

F.M. CHURCHILL, left, head of the Range Department of Abilene Christian College, presents plaque to Bob Walkup of Morton, for being selected as the "Aggie of the Year" from graduates of the ACC Agriculture Department.

Robert Walkup Receives 'Aggie Of Year' Award

Robert A. Walkup of Morton, District Conservationist and member of the Soil Conservation Service for the last 17 years, Saturday received the 11th annual "Aggie of the Year" award during homecoming festivities at Abilene Christian College.

This award is selected annually by the Department of Agriculture of ACC and the Aggie is presented by Delta Tau Alpha, agriculture honor society of ACC.

Walkup, 44, was honored at the annual Aggie Chuckwagon Dinner at the Taylor County Exposition Building in Abilene.

A native of Grayson County, Walkup graduated from Rochester High School in 1948. After four years in the Air Force, he attended Abilene Christian College. He is a 1959 ACC graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree in range management.

He served two summers as a volunteer in the Soil Conservation Service and took his first fulltime job with the SCS as a Range Conservationist for Menard in 1959.

He served one year in Menard and also served from 1960-1967 as a Range Conservationist for SCS in Coleman. In 1967, he was named District Conservationist for Abilene. He served in that position seven years before resigning his current position in Morton in 1974.

While in the Air Force, he helped start a Church of Christ congregation in Okinawa. He was named "Outstanding Citizen of 1972" by the Brackettville Chamber of Commerce. While at Brackettville he was quite active in community affairs. He served as President, Vice-president and Secretary of the Brackettville Lions Club and as Zone Chairman, Deputy District Governor and Deputy District Governor-at-Large of Lions District 2A2. He was also a member of the Brackettville Volunteer Fire Department. He also served as a Director of the Kinney County Library Association, Kinney County Historical Society, Kinney County Clinic Committee, Brackettville Chamber of Commerce and United Fund.

Walkup is currently a Deacon of the Eastside Church of Christ in Morton, where he teaches a Sunday School class. He is presently serving as a Director of the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Morton Lions Club. He is also a member of the Texas Section of the Society for Range Management and the Soil Conservation Society of America.

Walkup and his wife, Valentine, have one daughter, Marjorie Camille, 13 months.

Dance To Be Held

The Lubbock area square and round dance federation will host the regularly monthly federation dance Saturday, Nov. 1, 1975 in the fair park coliseum in Lubbock. Requested round dancing will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the grand march will be "stepped off" at 8:00 p.m. Lem Gravelle will be the featured caller.

Lem and his wife, Sue, make their home in Jennings, Louisiana. His unusual cajun accent adds variety and gives individual styling to his calling. Lem comes to us from a successful San Angelo festival that many of our local dancers attended. This caller records on the Bogan label, and is well known throughout the country.

Dave and Nita Smith will direct the round dancing. This popular local couple are making quiet a name for themselves around the country as instructors, both lessons and workshops, and for exhibiting, from their own club, Happy Hearts, to all levels of round dancing. They, too, have served on the staff at Gatinsburg Hoedown in Tenn. and they have just returned from serving another year on the staff for the Percy-Guinn weekend in McComb, Miss.

The South Plains Spinners of Levelland will serve as the host club. This club dances every 2nd and 4th Thurs. nights in the downtown youth center in Levelland at 8:00 p.m. and they extend an invitation to all dancers to come dance with them. Gene Weldon from Brownfield, is their regular caller and will serve as emcee for the federation dance.

Admission will be $2.00 with federation membership card and $2.50 without it and will be collect at the door. All spectators are welcome and are admitted free of charge.

Debbie Hayes and Jeanette Richards, grade four, and Martha Choat, grade five. Misses Hayes and Choat are in the third year of a pilot project using Dr. Jo Stanchfield's HIGHWAY HOLIDAY READING SERIES.

Dr. Stanchfield, an instructor at Occidental College in California, is recognized nationally as a leading authority on the teaching of reading. She personally conducted the training sessions and has made numerous visits to the Morton school to supervise the program.

The teachers explained the teaching strategies taught by Dr. Stanchfield and Miss Richards explained how she had adapted these strategies to the Scott-Foresman and Houghton Mifflin series of basal readers. This was followed by a demonstration of simulation techniques, or gaming. The teachers had a large display of games they use to reinforce the reading skills that have been taught.

Teachers from surrounding schools and several instructors from Texas Tech and some of their students attended the meeting.
