Individual Enterprise Flourishing In County

GREENER ENERGY FOR MORTON—An event long awaited by the citizens of Morton was taking place on the above photo was snapped Tuesday as workers were busy connecting the new natural gas pipeline connecting the city of Morton to the El Paso Natural Gas Company supply line two miles east of the city. The new line, under construction since June, is expected to save the city many thousands of dollars a year that has been lost in recent years due to gas leakage in the old lines. Officials and workers include, left to right, W.P. Stone of EPNG; City Councilman James St. Clair, Jr., Morton Mayor Marshall Leitzell; and Earl Jones, Ralph Fulvey, T.L. Robinson, Dale G. Ward and Dan McInroe, all with EPNG.

New Businesses Added Each Year

The spirit of individual enterprise continues to flourish in Cochran County, judging from the number of local residents who start up new businesses each year.

Despite the hazards involved in launching a business, many are doing so these days. Some of them, desirous of being on their own, are giving up their jobs and the security of a weekly paycheck to make the move.

Others, who have been out of work for some time because of the depressed economy, are taking the step in the hope of improving their situation.

These entrepreneurs combine whatever they have in the way of savings and whatever they can borrow and make the big move. Some of them buy existing businesses and others start brand new ones.

More than half of them get into retail operations or franchises of some sort. Grocery stores and restaurants are most popular, followed by a variety of service businesses. The chief requirements are small initial investment and low overhead.

According to the latest Commerce Department statistics, there are some 480 residents of Cochran County who are making their living from their own businesses or professions.

They are the storekeepers, the doctors, the farmers, the contractors, the gas station owners and such.

Being self-employed, they no longer have such problems as getting and holding a job. Instead they have other problems — meeting the monthly rent bill, labor costs, supplies, sales

HOME IS THE HUNTER — and a successful hunt it was, too, as this three-point buck Mule Deer was bagged on the E.M. Autry farm in southern Bailey county at about 8:45 a.m. Saturday. Donnye Baker, left, of Cochran county, bagged the deer with a rifle borrowed from Autry, right. The animal should furnish much good venison as it dressed out at 132 lbs. The two jubilant hunters could not recall any deer being shot in Bailey county before.

PROP TWO MORE TRIPLE-A'S

Tribe Turning 'Giant Killer'

The Morton Indians enhanced their giant-killing image this past week with two more triple-A class schools in a manner that indicates that great things in the future are possible.

They put a three-point crunch of the Lubbock Estacado Matadors, November 25, 61-58 and showed a great deal of poise and coolness under fire in doing so.

Tuesday they traveled to Snyder, another AAA team that has just come down from AAA rating, and came out on the long end of a 63-62 score. They again kept their cool and mounted a late drive and held off a late Tiger

Merchants Joining Together For Big Christmas Drawing

In a concerted effort to persuade Morton Christmas shoppers to shop at home more than ever this year, local merchants are combining their resources to back a "Shop At Home" Christmas drawing promotion.

The promotion will run very much as it has in the past, but with certain exceptions that simplify operation. The promotion will climax at 12 noon on Saturday, December 20 with the drawing being held on the courthouse lawn. At present the drawing will consist of seven prizes with a total value of $300. This amount will rise later as more merchants sign up to participate.

All prizes will be gift certificates in the following values: 1st prize, $100; 2nd and 3rd prizes, $50 each.

Other Indians making the squad in the honorable mention category were Sam Johnson, Cornerback; Larry Moore, Fullback; Robbie Gattis, Linebacker; Larry Shaw, Offensive Lineman and Malcolm Coleman, Offensive Lineman.

Christmas Program

The Christmas program that was to take place on the courthouse lawn last Monday has been re-set for Monday, December 8 beginning at 7 p.m., the Chamber of Commerce has announced. Some Morton stores will stay open late on that date as a convenience to Christmas shoppers.

Reason for the postponement was high winds which would not allow the Christmas decorations to be hung.

MR. AND MRS. N.B. BURNS, former residents of Bledsoe, celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary with a family reunion in their home in Carlisle Thanksgiving Day. Burns and the former Jimmie E. Messer were married in Wedowee, Alabama, November 6, 1910. Pictured with them are their children, Alton of Rockwood, Tennessee, Bueford of Garden Grove, California, Jack of Norwalk, California, Ed of Bledsoe and Mrs. Leon Callaway of Lubbock. The couple have 18 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

C of C Announces

New Director List

A new slate of Morton Area Chamber of Commerce directors, elected by a mail vote, was announced by the Chamber this week.

The Chamber by-laws specify that each member of the board of directors may serve only a two-year term, after which he must step down for at least one year before he can be re-elected. The one exception to this is that the outgoing President of the board may be retained for one year if he so desires.

The new directors include: Jim White, Dairy Queen; Brad Johnson, Harpool Seed; Charles Marina, Marinas Mini-Mart; Gerald Ramsey, Ramsey's Foods; Bob Walkup, U.S. Conservation Service; Billy Smart, Doss Thriftway Manager; Blanche Wells, Bill Wells Chevrolet-Olds and Weldon Wynn, local farmer.

First Official American Flag Raised By US Navy On December 3, 1775

Two hundred years ago on December 3, 1775, the first official American flag was raised on board the "Alfred," the flagship of the American navy. It had thirteen red and white stripes and the crosses of St. George and St. Andrew. Since the flag was governed by Congress, it was first called Congress flag; later it was known at different times as the Grand Union Flag and the First Navy flag.

the better-known Stars and Stripes.

Even if the Americans did not fully realize it, the adoption of a flag was one more step toward independence. Although most people recognized that a flag is merely symbolic, 1775 was a time when symbols were vitally important.

Already the colonies were acting in a united way to resist British authority. A flag, even if it were to be modified many times later, was one more step in creating the unity necessary to bring about a new nation.

Although it is difficult to prove, the very act of creating a national symbol was probably an indication that more and more people were accepting the idea of independence as a natural course. The radicalism of men like John Hancock and Samuel Adams did not appear to be as radical as it once did.

As events moved more and more rapidly, Americans began to look more to the things that united the colonies rather than to the differences that divided them. In turn, they more realistically assessed those things that divided them from Mother England. A flag was only a symbol, but with it the Americans were more united. A spark was still needed to convince them that independence was a necessity. One such spark would be forthcoming in a few weeks when the pamphlets of Tom Paine began to appear.

Meanwhile, in Spanish Texas the citizens were more concerned with establishing a firm economic base that would guarantee survival. Since Texas was so far from the political center of New Spain and so far from other areas of settlement such as New Mexico, a type of economic activity that could be carried on independently was necessary.

In Texas the Spaniards were determined to develop industries that would provide enough revenue to support the colony's existence. In frontier areas the Spanish always relied on pastoral activities, and Texas was no exception. Because of the natural conditions ranching became the basic feature of economic development.

Comments On Conservation

BY DONALD R. BALES
Minimum tillage is a system of farming by which cultivation is limited to those operations essential to produce a crop. In effect, it uses herbicides instead of mechanical methods to control undesirable plant competition. The ideal minimum tillage system is one that prepares a seedbed, plants the seed, and applies herbicides as well as fertilizer in one operation. It can be used on crops such as grain and forage sorghums, corn, small grains, cotton, soybeans and other crops. This method of farming offers farmers an opportunity to conserve their soil while improving their overall farming efficiency. It helps improve environmental conditions by cutting air pollution from blowing dust. Normally only two to four cultural operations are required to produce a crop from harvest to harvest, with minimum tillage. Compared to conventional methods, which would require six to twenty trips. Even with the increase in fuel costs, every acre can cost less to farm when using minimum tillage. A fewer number of trips to produce the same crop will result in higher profit per acre. Moisture conservation and erosion control are important factors in using minimum tillage. By leaving the residue on top of the soil through the windy season, less soil is blown away. As rain and snow fall into the stubble, the residue will catch and hold this valuable moisture. The use of drills and coulters can be used very effectively.

County Extension News.

BY GAIL GLADDEN
Fourteen area women participated in a Furniture Facelift Workshop held recently in the County Activity Building in Morton. The workshop was sponsored by the Cochran County Family Living Committee and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Gail Gladden, Cochran County Extension Agent, along with Linda Pittman, Hockley County Extension Agent, Dorothy Powell, Lamb County Extension Agent and Jane Blay, Terry County Extension Agent, gave demonstrations on how to clean, care for, and refinish furniture. The group used a furniture cleanser conditioner on an older piece of furniture to see what needs to be done as far as removing dirt and built-up wax. After doing this there may not be a need to re-finish furniture. It may only need cleaning. Linda Pittman led the group.

The second session dealt with repairing furniture. Dorothy Powell led the session discussing methods used to re-glue the joints of furniture, repair dents in furniture, remove paper, water spots, scratches, cigarette burns, etc. that may have damaged your furniture.

Jane Blay demonstrated the removal of the old finish, using paint removers and strippers. She also discussed methods of preparing the wood for the new finish such as using neutralizers, fillers, and patches.

The final session by Mrs. Gladden, discussed methods of application using natural finishes. These included tobacco stain, oil stain, oil finish, polyurethane finishes and penetrating wood sealers.

Those participating in the workshop are as follows: Mrs. Buford Elliott, Mrs. Walter Knox, Mrs. Cecil Lindsey, Mrs. G.C. Keith, Mrs. T.C. Hodges, Mrs. Elmer Evans, Oma Petree, Mrs. W.K. Courtney, Mrs. Oren Peden, Mrs. R.L. Harrison, Mrs. Leo Cunningham, Mrs. J.A. Love, Lorena Cadenhead, and Mrs. S.J. Bracken.

Agriculture Exports

Give Big Boost To

Business Activity

Two dollars for one! That's what happens when agricultural products are exported.

"In addition to being the main contributor to the United States' trade balance, agricultural exports spawn added business activity in the country," points out Dr. Russell McDonald, a marketing economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Agricultural products at the port of shipment were worth $22 billion last year and generated an additional $21 billion worth of business in the U.S. in the form of goods and services needed to produce these exports. This means that for every dollar's worth of agricultural exports, almost another dollar was generated in other areas of the economy," notes the Texas A&M University System economist.

The $21 billion spinoff include $6 billion in the farm sector, $2 billion for trade and transportation and $6 billion for various other services. According to U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates, about 70 per cent, or $15 billion, accrued to nonfarm segments of the economy.

They allow the seed to be planted into the soil without disturbing the surrounding residue. This will allow the seeding to come up and be protected from the wind and adverse conditions. Also, the residue will have a shading effect on the soil making it difficult for weeds to grow.

Minimum tillage requires flexibility just as any other farming system. Drought, long wet periods, excessive weeds or pests have to be controlled. Alternatives have to be planned and used when needed, regardless of farming system.

Many questions and problems have been encountered by farmers who use minimum tillage, but this practice is gaining in popularity, especially when a savings is realized. Reduced fuel costs and total time per acre are the satisfactory results.

More information on this farming practice or other conservation practices can be obtained from the local Soil Conservation Service office.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor

At a time like this and feeling as we do now, a mere "Thank you" seems so inadequate for all that has been done for us. We so love and appreciate everyone for their gifts, prayers, and most of all, their love for us through Christ Jesus, our Lord.

So many of our prayers have been answered these past few days and the love and concern of our many friends in this area has been an answer to prayer. We truly hope that we can thank each person personally for doing so much for us during this time. We know God will bless each of you for your love, one for another. God's word proclaims in Matthew, Chapter 25:34-40:

Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world:

For I was an hungry, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty and ye gave me drink: I was naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me.

Then shall the righteous answer him saying, "Lord, when saw we thee and hungry, and fed thee? or thirsty, and gave thee drink?"

When saw we thee, a stranger, and took thee in? or naked, and clothed thee?"

Or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee?"

And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.

Thank you all; and God bless all of you, our Friends.

Experts Advise Careful Planning For Next Year's Sunflower Crop

Sunflowers literally blossomed up throughout Texas in 1975 and chances are good that the crop will continue to become more important to the state's agricultural industry in the years ahead.

Good prices caused the sunflower crop to mushroom to more than 375,000 acres in 1975 compared to only 5,000 acres a year ago. However, yields ranged widely over the state due to adverse weather conditions and a lack of knowledge about the crop.

So, an agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service advises producers who intend to plant sunflowers next year to plan ahead carefully.

"Producers planning to grow sunflowers in 1976 need to take a close look at their farming operation in preparation for next season's crop," points out Dr. John Bremer.

He lists a number of items for farmers to consider.

"First of all, choose your planting area carefully. Stay away from home sites and cotton fields since problems arise when attempting to desiccate the crop.

"Do not plant the crop on the same land year after year as this leads to increased disease problems.

"Plant only high quality seed. Inexperienced growers should plant only small acreages of the crop. There are a lot of questions still unanswered about proper management practices for sunflowers.

"Look closely at the market situation before planting sunflowers. Due to the expected increase in production, the market may be less attractive than this past season. It's important to get a price commitment from a buyer.

"Control volunteer sunflowers in next year's crops where sunflowers were planted in 1975. Volunteer plants can cause moisture and harvesting problems in other crops if they are not controlled."

Bremer notes that the Extension Service is attempting to get together as much information as is available to assist producers in making plans for the 1976 sunflower crop. However, knowledge about proper fertility and insect, disease and weed control practices is still fairly limited due to the newness of the crop in Texas.

"The potential for sunflowers remains great, however," believes Bremer, "as oilseed crops continue to gain in prominence throughout this country. Sunflowers also loom as an alternate crop for cotton growers."

Texas' previous record for a tiger shark was taken in 1974, weighed 785 pounds and was 11 feet 10 inches long. The world's record for the species is 18 feet; according to literature, tiger sharks are believed to reach up to 30 feet in length.

Americans Find Food As New International Weapon

"There are indications that the United States has found itself with a new weapon," Dr. H.O. Kunkel, dean of agriculture at Texas A&M University, said in Dallas recently.

Dean Kunkel pointed out to Kiwanis Club members in Dallas that the products of American agriculture used as a "food weapon" may be aiding the U.S. in charting a new international course.

"My purpose is to note that government is becoming more involved in international marketing. Agriculture is not determining our international agricultural policy — the Department of State is," Kunkel said.

He noted that food and food production is a matter as much on the minds of national policy makers as is military balance among world powers.

According to Kunkel, the U.S., which has 6 per cent of the world's population, consumes 16 per cent of the world's annual supply of grain and livestock, but produces 22 per cent of the world's grain and livestock.

Benefits of exports to off-farm domestic economy are not to be overlooked, said the agricultural official.

"Last year, 1.2 million jobs were related to agricultural exports. Half of these were off the farm. Every dollar value exported results in two dollars of expanded economic activity, an extra dollar higher income to wage earners, profits and taxes for the government."

Continuing, Kunkel said, "The contribution of agricultural exports, altogether $22 billion, to our balance of payments made it possible for the American economy to weather a tripling of the price of imported oil while maintaining relative stability in the value of the dollar."

It will take research and development as we build future technology that will meet requirements, said the dean.

basis of ONE TICKET FOR EACH PURCHASE regardless of the amount of the purchase. One of the duplicate tickets will be held by the shopper and one will go into the store's container. All participating stores will deliver their containers to the drawing site by noon December 20 and they will be mixed together and drawn for at that time.

All gift certificates will be limited to purchases from those stores participating and can be spent like money at the store of your choice. The drawing is being held on December 20 so that the happy winners will have Saturday afternoon, Monday, Wednesday to shop before Christmas day.

Additional stores participating will be announced each week by the Tribune, and a very possible rise in the number and value of prizes will also be announced.

A general survey of Morton stores indicate that they have unusually good Christmas stocks this year — and with the possibility of winning a sizable prize to shop with, what more incentive would one need for shopping at home?

Each of these stores will give out theater-type tickets on the 3rd prizes $50 and the last four $25 gift certificates.

The following merchants have signed up to participate, with many more expected to join as it gathers momentum: St. Clair's Department Store, Ben Franklin Variety Store, Pat's Fashions, Liners Pharmacy, Ramsey's Foods, Doss Thriftway, Marinas Mini-Mart, Luper Tire and Supply, New York Store and Taylor & Son Furniture. Many more are expected to join during the coming week.

volume and competition. Based upon the most recent figures, approximately 28.2 percent of the local working population are self-employed. The proportion is well above that in many areas of the country. Throughout the United States, 7.7 percent are in business for themselves and, in the West South Central States, 9.5 percent.

The Government lists several ingredients for a new business to succeed. The first is money. There should be enough of a cushion or reserve fund to carry on for a considerable time, since few of them are profitable in the early stages. In addition there must be a knowledge of the business, a willingness to work hard and the ability to avoid serious mistakes.

from Cochran County are competing. The seniors are Danna Roberts, Side Dish Category, and Kim Jordan, Main Dish Category. Both are members of the Whiteface 4-H Club.

Juniors from Cochran County include Vonda Taylor, Main Dish Category, Whiteface 4-H Club; Alice Marina, Side Dish Category, Morton 4-H Club; Shanna Blackstone, Breads & Desserts Category, Morton 4-H Club; and Sara McClung, Snacks & Beverages, Morton 4-H Club.

Competing in four food classes, the seniors will be vying for the right to represent the 20-county Extension District 2 in the State 4-H Food Show in June at Texas A&M University. There is no further competition for junior winners beyond the district level.

According to District Extension Agent Catherine B. Crawford, judging will begin at 10:30 a.m. Public viewing is at 2:00 in the University Center Coronado Room, and the awards program will follow at 2:30.

Members of the District 2 4-H Council will present ribbons to all contestants and special awards to top winners. Gene Lynskey of the Morton 4-H Club and Patti Hall of the Bledsoe 4-H Club will participate in the awards program.

Judging will focus on knowledge of nutrition, meal planning, food buying and meal service as well as on ability to prepare food.

The District 4-H Food show is conducted each year by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Those participating in the County 4-H Food Show on November 15, 1975, in Whiteface at the school cafeteria and their awards are as follows: Junior Division — Side Dish, Alice Marina, red award; Main Dish, Vonda Taylor, blue award; Breads and Desserts, Gena McClung, red award, Shanna Blackstone, blue award, and Shirley Roberts, blue award; Snacks and Beverages, Sara McClung, blue award, Alana Roberts, blue award, and Vicki Cox, blue award; Senior Division — Side Dish, Danna Roberts, red award; Main Dish, Kim Jordan, red award, and Karen Durivan, red award. Winners are Alice Marina, Vonda Taylor, Shanna Blackstone, Sara McClung, Dana Roberts and Kim Jordan. Alternates are Shirley Roberts, breads and desserts, and Alana Roberts, snacks and beverages, and Karen Durivan, main dish.

Suzanne Gillespie assisted with the county food show. Eighteen persons viewed the exhibits and awards program.

On the fem side of the Morton Indian ledger, the varsity is off to an even start with two wins and two losses to their credit. On November 18 they traveled to Bledsoe where they took an easy 58-43 win, then stomped the Seminole squaws to the tune of 79-30 on November 24. Their trips to Levelland and Canyon on November 25 and December 2 were not quite so successful, however, as they lost to the Loboettes by 61-64 and to the Canyon girls by 40-53.

The Canyon contest was described by one coach as more like the war of the Amazons than a girls basketball game. As the melee continued, Morton remained far back, with the first period ending 3-17; the half 15-33; the third stanza at 28-39 and the final score at 40-53.

Debbie Young was high scorer for Morton with 18 points followed closely by Susan Cadenhead with 16. This duo has led Morton in scoring for the first four games with Young compiling 99 points for a 24.9 average and Cadenhead bucketing 70 for a 17.5 average.

Though those two have been his scoring stars so far, Coach Daryl Haley emphasizes that the other team members have made a strong contribution as well. He especially cites Debbie Polvado as a hustling team leader at the guard end of the floor where she keeps things going at a brisk pace.

Harley named off his eight player roster from each of whom he is receiving a good effort. Forwards include Young, Cadenhead and Doris Joyce. Guards are Polvado, Raylene Wells and Lisa Gerrik, with guards Tammie Gresham and Nola Bowley backing them up. Wells is used both ways on occasion, Haley said.

Mike Williams continues to lead the Indians in scoring and rebounding. He blistered the net for 25 points and snagged 13 rebounds in the Estacado game and was high in the Snyder contest with 26 counters.

Next action for the Indians will begin today as the boys play in the Hereford tournament December 4-5-6 and the girls will be at the Meadow tourney on the same dates.

The Indians will play in the big school bracket at Hereford, which should afford some real spectating for roundball buffs and Morton boosters.

Panhandle Pheasants Need Helpinghand From Farmers

The ring-necked pheasant is a remarkable bird in more ways than one. It is the most colorful gamebird found in Texas. It has been described as having characteristics of other animals, such as sly as a fox, healthy as a horse and as many lives as a cat, when it comes to outsmarting hunters or enduring adverse climatic conditions.

Since its introduction into Texas in 1939, the ring-neck has slowly increased its range and numbers in the Texas panhandle. Eleven counties now have pheasant populations that can be considered moderate and well established. Most sportsmen, and many landowners, in the Texas panhandle would like to see the ring-necked pheasant expand its range and increase its numbers.

A closer look at the pheasant's habitat needs will provide the answers that will enable it to prosper throughout more of the high and south plains areas. Food and cover are the critical habitat needs. Without good food and adequate cover throughout the year, the pheasant cannot prosper.

Being a seed or grain eater, the bird has established itself in the irrigated croplands that have crops, such as small grains, corn, grain sorghum and soybeans as a significant part of the cropping systems. Following the harvest of grain crops, there is abundant grain and seed available to the pheasants and other game birds, such as dove and quail.

Soil Conservation Service personnel made a survey of waste grains during the 1975 harvest season. The survey was made in eleven panhandle counties and was made up of 53 samples. Crops sampled were sunflowers, corn, grain sorghum and soybeans. Random samples were collected following harvest and calculations extended to show the average pounds per acre of waste grains available as feed for pheasants or other birds.

The survey revealed that sunflowers averaged 38 pounds of waste grain per acre, grain sorghum 89 pounds per acre, corn 113 pounds per acre and soybeans 138 pounds per acre. Projecting these figures to the total acreages of these crops under irrigation in the Texas panhandle, shows there is ample food for gamebirds on the ground, immediately following harvest.

To be beneficial to the gamebirds on a long term basis, these waste grains and crop residue must be left on the soil surface through the critical winter months. This can be achieved by residue management practices, such as deferring all tillage practices as long as possible or adopting minimum tillage or no-tillage practices. Chiseling or one time disking will leave most of the crop residue and waste grains on or near the soil surface and available as food and winter cover for wildlife.

Proper crop residue management provides other benefits than food and cover for wildlife. It protects the soil from wind erosion, it holds precipitation, in the form of snow, in place for absorption into the soil and it prevents crusting of soils from rains, reducing runoff and allowing better utilization of available moisture.

Corn and grain sorghum residue provide the best winter cover for wildlife in the panhandle. Sunflower residue provides the least soil protection and wildlife cover and therefore annual cool season cover crops, such as rye or winter peas, are required to provide adequate soil protection and wildlife cover.

Leaving fence rows, odd areas, equipment yards, playas and abandoned farmsteads in natural weedy vegetation during the fall and winter months provide excellent cover for non-migratory game birds, such as the pheasant or quail. In the panhandle croplands where the pheasant makes his home, there is very little natural vegetative cover.

Farmers who adopt crop residue management practices that will provide the pheasant with the necessary food and cover throughout the lean winter months will be rewarded with increased pheasant populations throughout the irrigated croplands.

New Outdoor Burning Control Regulations Take Effect Dec. 5

Agricultural producers, landowners, city officials and others directing outdoor burning operations must soon comply with new regulations set forth by the Texas Air Control Board.

The new outdoor burning regulations which become effective December 5 outline conditions under which burning can be acceptably practiced, points out Dr. John Sweeten, agricultural engineer in waste management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Agricultural producers who in the past have burned crop residues and rangeland to enhance production will be particularly affected by the new regulations," says the Texas A&M University System engineer.

"Outdoor burning in these instances will be allowed when no practical alternative exists. However, certain conditions must be met. The wind must be in a direction that will carry smoke away from urban areas, and wind speed must be between 6 and 23 miles per hour. Furthermore, open burning must take place at least 300 feet from residential, commercial or industrial areas. To allow maximum dispersions, burning should only be conducted between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. insofar as is reasonably practical."

The new regulations make special reference to the burning of salt marsh grass along the Texas Gulf Coast. Such burning requires prior notification of the nearest regional office of the Texas Air Control Board.

"Several other key items in the new regulations deal with burning of municipal solid waste," notes Sweeten. "The population ceiling on cities and towns that can use outdoor burning to dispose of garbage and trash has been lowered to 3,000 people. And municipal solid waste disposal sites that are burned must be located at least 300 yards from a public road and one mile from a residential or commercial area. Limits are also placed on the hours during which municipal solid waste may be burned."

The new regulations also authorize outdoor burning to dispose of diseased animals to prevent disease transmission. And, garbage and trash can also be burned at private residences when regular collection service is not provided.

"These regulations are designed to help solve most of the problems associated with outdoor burning while at the same time not imposing economic hardship on landowners," says the agricultural engineer. "In effect, they require both the landowner and Texas Air Control Board staff to make sure that atmospheric conditions for outdoor burning are suitable for pollutant dispersal."

Sweeten encourages anyone interested in studying a copy of the new outdoor burning regulations to contact his local county Extension office.

Job Corps Program Seeks Recruits From Local Area

The Jobs program is currently providing job training opportunities for young women ages 16-21 from Morton.

Young women interested in applying for the Job Corps program have been asked to talk with representatives of the local Texas Employment Commission Office in Levelland.

Most young women entering the Job Corps program from Texas are enrolled at the McKinney Job Corps Center in McKinney, Texas.

The Center, which provides twenty different job training programs, is located thirty miles north of Dallas.

Presently there are 168 young women from the State of Texas enrolled at the McKinney Center, which has a capacity of 650 women.

Vocational offerings at the Center which are available to any young woman from Morton include Cashier-Checker, Credit Clerk, Sales Clerk, Stock Clerk, Receptionist-PBX Operator, Machine Operator, File Clerk, Typist, General Office, Clerk Typist, Accounting Clerk, Key Punch Operator, Waitress, Bus Girl-Line Server, Cook, Nurse Assistant, Ward Clerk, Welder, Stock Person, and Warehouse & Materials Handler.

The Job Corps Center in McKinney, which has long been rated as one of the outstanding Job Corps Centers in the nation, is operated by the non-profit Texas Educational Foundation, Inc., under contract to the U.S. Department of Labor, Manpower Administration.

The McKinney Center has trained and placed 6,650 young women from twenty different job training programs offered.

1975 Agriculture Yearbook Said Full Of Information

Everyone in Cochran County will find a wealth of information in the 1975 Yearbook of Agriculture. This year's edition deals with research in agriculture and is appropriately titled, "That We May Eat," points out Roy Jones, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The 1975 yearbook, which is published annually by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, tells the story of the state agricultural experiment stations — their successes and ongoing research — on the 100th anniversary of the founding of the first experiment station in 1875 in Connecticut. The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station came into being in 1888.

Featured in the 400-page yearbook are the major contributions to consumers by the network of agricultural experiment stations throughout the nation — ranging from the discovery of vitamins to the creation of hybrid corn. The yearbook provides an insight into the fascinating search for ways to help increase food and fiber supplies and provide a better life for the consumers, points out the agent.

The 76th volume of the Yearbook of Agriculture is divided into seven parts: Beginners; Milestones; The Food Destroyers; Meat, Milk, Fish; Golden Harvests; Toward a Better Life; and New Business.

A free copy of "That We May Eat" is available from your U.S. Congressman or Senator, notes Jones. The yearbook may also be purchased for $7.30 from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

VA Home Loans Continue To Serve Vets, Dependents

More than 400 widows of servicemen who died of service-connected causes and wives of men listed as missing in action purchased homes with loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration during fiscal year 1975, Jack Coker, VA Regional Director, reported recently.

The GI home loans were among 292,856 guaranteed by the VA during FY 1975. Included were 21 loans to wives of men listed by the Department of Defense as missing in Southeast Asia.

Richards-Bradley Pledge Marriage Vows Thursday

Miss Verna Lucille Richards became the bride of Troy Wayne Bradley, Thursday, November 27, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Bales. Reverend Paul McClung officiated the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are C.G. Richards of Morton and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bradley of Wichita Falls.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of winter white. The gown was styled with an empire waist with a tie sash and was accented with a full rounded Jaclyn Claye has her say.. . . .

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: I have a daughter. She is plain-looking, flat-chested and when she walks she moves like a goose. She is 18 years of age and she has never had a date and never expects to have one. But to know her is to love her. She is loyal, generous, honest and sharp as a whip and never in all her school days has she brought home anything less than a perfect report card. She has never disappointed us in any way. She is the most wonderful person I have ever known and I feel almost certain that some young fella is missing out on the buy of the century.

daughter will some day be "discovered"; probably in college and among her own kind. She is probably superior to the mob.

There, I've said it. But it needed saying. There are thousands of mothers out there who have warm and wonderful daughters who will never be married. If there is some young man reading this letter who has been concentrating on the care and dating of lovely but otherwise dull girls, I suggest they try a few Plain Janes and they might be pleasantly surprised. Signed, P.J.'s MOM.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: My sister's husband left her and I've never had any trouble understanding why. He left everything. The car, the kid and the house. Rather than going out to get a job my sister started taking in "boarders." But, like I mean, she said she was going to rent to girls only but you should see the number of young and old men coming out of that place at all hours of the night and day. I am suspicious. Should I be? Signed, STIX

DEAR STIX: If you are condemning her on as little information as you have given me...I would say you have very little to go on. When families break up, very often a woman must make the best of a very bad situation.

DEAR P.J.'s MOM: Right. One of the real problems in our society is our undying appreciation for packaging to the total disregard of the contents. But I really believe that your collar trimmed in tiny gold braid. She carried a bouquet of white daisy mums with gold and rust streamers.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: You may not receive, generally, letters from men but I am prompted to write you since my wife reads your column regularly and when she sees this letter, hopefully something that has been bothering me for a long time may then be resolved.

Matron of Honor was Mrs. Donald Bales, sister of the bride. She wore a floral full-length dress featuring a lace accented bodice, sash waist and bell sleeves. She carried a nosegay of bronze daisy mums with streamers.

Gerald Richards, brother of the bride, served the groom as Best Man.

The bride's chosen fall colors were carried out in the serving table. Miss Lynette Davis and Miss Tammy Gresham served punch and cake to guests.

After a honeymoon in Ruidoso, N.M., the couple plans to reside in Morton.

I have been in the employ of a very large manufacturing company for some 16 years now and I have made good progress in management positions, and recently I was given a vice-presidency. My wife (bless her) has always been proud of my progress but lately she has taken to doing something that I think is socially incorrect. She has included the title of vice-president on our home stationery and the Christmas cards were also sent out with the title included. Please comment. Signed, R.S.Q.

DEAR R.S.Q.: It is not correct to include one's title or professional degrees on personal stationery. It is, however, incorrect to omit this information when using business stationery.

IS THE CHURCH PART OF YOUR LIFE?

BOOKS ARE NOBLE

The Bible is a treasure and a guide. It is the word of God, and it is the foundation of our faith. It is the light that guides us through the darkest of times. It is the power that gives us strength and courage. It is the love that binds us together as one people. It is the hope that gives us a future. It is the life that gives us meaning. It is the truth that sets us free. It is the peace that passes all understanding. It is the joy that fills our hearts. It is the love that binds us to God and to each other. It is the power that gives us the ability to overcome all our enemies. It is the light that guides us through the darkest of times. It is the power that gives us strength and courage. It is the love that binds us together as one people. It is the hope that gives us a future. It is the life that gives us meaning. It is the truth that sets us free. Story Of Screwworm Fly Soon Available In Book

"The Peaceful Atom and the Deadly Fly," a book which describes how sex and atomic energy were combined to eradicate the deadly screwworm from the United States, will become available this month, according to a publisher's announcement.

The author, Charles G. Scruggs, tells the science fiction-like suspense story of how a voracious insect — which feeds only on the live flesh of men and animals — was tricked into breeding itself out of existence.

The screwworm has exacted a vast toll of death and economic damage in the United States and Mexico for at least 400 years.

Through research and development described as "the most unusual ever carried out in the annals of insect control," U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists devised a means of using atomic energy to cause screwworms to commit genetic suicide.

Billions of the insects were raised in a "fly factory" and exposed to atomic irradiation which induced sterility. These lethal insect missiles were then released to mate with untreated screwworm flies. The result of the trickery was to breed the insects out of existence.

For the American consumer, success meant savings in beef, mutton, wool, mohair and dairy products. In the future the success could mean more food for a hungry world.

Leading the reader into the future, the book points to a real hope for insect control and eradication without the heavy use of insecticides.

The book grew out of Scruggs' personal interest in the fascinating means devised for specific insect irradiation without environmental pollution. He attributes much success of the project to the voluntary efforts of southern and southwestern livestock producers determined to eradicate a deadly insect. He is a graduate of Texas A & M University and a regent of Texas Tech University.

Texas Farm Bureau Shows Sharp Membership Increase

Texas Farm Bureau has shown an increase in membership for the 23rd consecutive year, according to Carrol Chaloupka, president of the state's largest general farm organization.

Official tabulations just completed show that the TFB now has 180,470 member families in the organization, an increase of 14,254 over last year's total, Chaloupka announced. The TFB's membership year runs from Nov. 1 to Oct. 31.

All of the 210 organized county Farm Bureau organizations had an increase for the third year in a row, the Dalhart grain and livestock farmer said.

"This phenomenal increase in membership indicates farmers and ranchers are depending more and more on organized efforts to solve their problems," Chaloupka said. "Among the more serious problems facing agriculture in the past 12 months has been government and union interference with grain exports, restrictive environmental regulations, and the continuing increases in costs of production."

The ten largest counties in the state in membership size are (1) Harris—2,811; (2) McLennan—2,632; (3) Fayette—2,456; (4) Fort Bend—2,452; (5) Ellis—2,411; (6) Van Zandt—2,387; (7) Wharton—2,319; (8) Bell—2,014; (9) Nacogdoches—1,918; and (10) Hidalgo—1,887.

The Texas Farm Bureau was founded in Texas in 1921, but had ceased functioning by the early 1930s. In 1934, it was reorganized as the Texas Agricultural Association. The name was changed back to Texas Farm Bureau a few years later when it again affiliated with the American Farm Bureau Federation.

GO FIGHTING

INDIANS YOU

CAN DO IT!

Creativity takes on its finest forms at Christmastime as homes are beautified both within and without, and safety should be woven into the finished product.

The Yule season is no time for accidents, asserts the Texas Department of Health Resources. There's a lot of room for a mistake, however. Trees, lights, candles, trees and mantle trimmings, your fireplace and excess paper can be a source of trouble.

Center of most home decorations is the brilliantly lighted and colorful tree, and it should be the place for starting your safety efforts.

In selecting a cut green tree, get one with a good green color. Needs of a fresh tree should be hard to pull from branches, and needles won't break when bent. Bounce the tree hard against the ground and you won't get a shower of needles if the tree is fresh.

Trees should be placed in a base which holds water, and this water should be checked regularly while the tree is up. Before mounting the tree, cut about two inches off the trunk to allow it to better absorb the water.

Placement of trees also is important, says the Department of Health Resources. Keep them away from stoves, fireplaces and radiators which could cause a tree to dry out quickly and perhaps catch fire.

What about decorations? Never used lighted candles on a tree or near other evergreens, decorations or wrapping paper. Candles should be in non-flammable holders and in locations where they cannot be knocked down or blown over.

In selecting lights, check for the Underwriters' Laboratories "UL" label. On all strings of lights, make certain that all connections are tight and that there are no frayed or bare wires. These could cause short circuits and perhaps a fire — or a shock to the person installing them.

Outdoor lights should be waterproof. They are especially made for the outdoors.

When away from home, or when you go to bed, turn off all lights. And, never use electric lights on metallic trees.

Trimming for trees and elsewhere in the home should be of flame-retardant material, something that won't flare up if accidentally ignited.

If there are small children in the home, care should be taken in selecting decorations. The United States Product Safety Commission urges parents to avoid decorations that are sharp or breakable — including bubbly tree lights. It also warns against trim with small removable parts if used where children can get at them. Pieces could be swallowed or inhaled. And, trimmings resembling candy could be eaten by children.

When installing their trees, many people burn the trimmings from branches in their fireplaces. If burned a piece at a time, this shouldn't cause any problem. But piling up a big mound of evergreens could cause popping and crackling and a large number of sparks. So be careful. And always use a screen before the fireplace.

The Product Safety Division of the Department of Health Resources hopes that all clothing will someday be flame resistant. Standards are now in effect for certain types of children's clothing. But until that time, extreme care needs to be taken.

Matches, lighters and candles should be kept out of the reach of children. Children and adults should avoid the wearing of loose, flowing clothes — especially long, open sleeves — near the open flames of a fireplace, stove or candle-lit table.

Here's another reminder about children's toys. Efforts have been made to remove dangerous toys from retail sources. But, a safe toy in the hands of one child may be unsafe if used by a younger one.

When purchasing a toy, look for a warning label stating that the toy isn't recommended for a child under a certain age. If the label warns that the toy is too advanced for the child in mind, the purchaser should heed the warning and find one to fit the child. This will help reduce the chance of injury.

And, once those presents under the tree have been opened, gather up all those wrappings from the tree and fireplace area and remove them from the home.

Christmas should be a joyous occasion. Keep it that way by planning for safety, says the Texas Department of Health Resources. It will add to your enjoyment of the season to know that you and your loved ones are as safe as possible.

Scates Rites Held In Oklahoma

Services for Mrs. Nora Maxine Scates, age 65, were held November 28 in the Brooks Funeral Chapel in Duncan, Oklahoma. The Rev. Minard Campbell officiated.

Burial was in Velma Cemetery in Velma, Oklahoma under direction of Brooks Funeral Home.

Mrs. Scates died at home November 26 after a lengthy illness.

She was a retired registered nurse and served in the Army Nurse Corps during World War II. She had been a resident of Morton since 1963.

Baby's First Christmas

Baby's first Christmas is an exciting time, especially for first-time parents. But changes in routine, the extra attention of friends and relatives and the busy activity can be tiring for infants. For a happier holiday, follow these suggestions from the Gerber child-care experts.

When you go shopping, leave baby at home with a reliable sitter. The rush and confusion is tiring for infants and you'll do a much better job without a child to worry about.

Keep in mind that you don't have to spend a great deal of money for a child's first Christmas. Select some toys that are safe, sturdily built and designed to teach as well as amuse.

Since infants grow rapidly, clothing is a practical gift. Stylish, easy-care Babygro® outfits are irresistible. Since they're a breeze to launder, you need fewer garments per child, a real help to the family budget. When you're shopping for baby food, buy socks and shirts, vinyl coveralls, bibs and pants, and even infant toiletries from the supermarket baby department. Tie up a package of teething biscuits or animal-shaped cookies to put under the tree too. Babies love to unwrap lots of packages.

Gerber nutritionists say not to be alarmed if your child's appetite lags during the excitement. Remember that often yours does too—so don't force eating. At mealtime, find a quiet corner, away from distractions. Also stick with familiar foods, rather than introducing new ones.

Babies do tire easily with Christmas activities. So take time for frequent naps in a quiet room.
