AGRICULTURIST VISITS SCHOOLS

He who says that farmers are not interested in better farming and better methods of farming, should have been on a trip with myself and John O. Allen of the state department of agriculture.

We made Latexo Monday p.m. lecturing the school in the evening, and a large audience of men, women and children that night. In connection with the meeting we organized Agriculture Institutes both among the students and the farmers. We then made Porter Springs where we had a splendid meeting in the school Tuesday afternoon and that night. The crowd was so large that we could hardly seat them. Everyone seemed interested in what was being said and done. From this place we went to Ash, where we met with the same demonstration, holding a meeting in the school and with the citizens that night. Thursday we visited the Creek school in the morning and the Pearson Chapel school in the afternoon, returning to Creek for the night meeting, which was a great success. Friday we returned to Crockett. A meeting was held at the high school building Friday afternoon. From Crockett we went to the Jones School House Friday night where the audience was so large that only about half of the people could get on the inside.

I am certain that the very practicable talks made by Mr. Allen were much appreciated by the people and if I mistake not some of the valuable suggestions made by him will be acted upon in the near future by some of the active farmers of the county.

Mr. Allen talked diversification at all places we visited, but stressed the fact that the wise farmer would not cut out cotton entirely, but to be certain that he had planted a sufficient amount of land to food and feed crops, then to plant his remaining acreage to cotton.

Mr. Allen's talks were the more appreciated because of his age and vast experience as a real farmer and producer, having farmed for more than forty years with good success. He emphasized the use of 'elbow grease' mixed with mule power, backed up with brains and good common sense, all of which he says are necessary qualifications of a successful farmer.

J. N. Snell,
County Superintendent.

DRAINAGE PIPE CONTEMPLATED

The citizens of Grapeland are contemplating installing a drainage system to drain off the water from various places over the city, which stands in big ponds after every big rain.

The main drainage pipe is to be laid from the Herod & Brooks gin to an outlet near the Totty pond, other pipes intersecting from the other low places where the water stands after rains.

It will cost several hundred dollars, but it will be permanent, and will keep off diseases and help to eliminate the mosquitos.

This is a good move and should be fostered by everyone who desires sanitary conditions. If you favor the plan talk it up and pledge it your financial support.

Ben Keen is in San Antonio visiting his father, who is in a sanitarium for his health.

ROCK HILL NEWS ITEMS

April 25.—The farmers have been wanting rain so they could plant their crops. The rain has reached us at last, but in such large quantities that it has washed up much of the growing crops and many bridges, and now the ground is too wet to work. But there will be plenty to do rebuilding fences and straightening up corn. This often seems discouraging to the farmer, but he should begin work with renewed faith, looking to be blessed in the future with good harvests.

Sunday was our time for singing, the weather being bad the crowd was small. Bro. W. R. Durnell delivered a fine sermon after the singing.

Saturday night was our society night, but the bad weather prevented a meeting. Our next meeting will be Saturday night, May 22. Subject for debate, "Resolved, That the U. S. was justified in taking part in the Spanish-American war." We will also have some speeches and dialogues. Come and be with us. We will try to interest our visitors.

Misses Janey and Junie Pridgen of Daly's are visiting the family of their uncle, William Matthews.

Miss Nora Gray spent last week with sister, Mrs. Luna Streetman. Little Joe.

"The Old Deestrick Skule" was presented at the auditorium last Wednesday night to a crowded house, a majority of the characters being the older people of the town. Their costumes represented the styles in vogue fifty years ago and vividly portrayed the scenes of a school room in that day and time. It was presented very successfully and pleased the audience well. It was presented under the auspices of the W. H. M. Society, the proceeds amounting to about $54.00.

ESTABLISHING TRADE ZONES

Grapeland merchants are advertising their wares in Crockett papers—a little out of the ordinary. Grapeland is progressive.—Lovelady Home Press.

By their attractive advertising Grapeland merchants long ago established a trade zone of enormous proportions, and business this spring has been exceptionally good.—Grapeland Messenger.

Yes; and if we have read Houston county papers correctly, there are merchants in Crockett town who are mighty "sore" at the audacity of the Grapeland merchants for thus attaching to themselves large portions of the territory which, by virtue of the geographical position and other considerations, really belongs to the Crockett trade zone. But here are the flint rock facts of the case: Any town whose merchants are aggressive advertisers can annex trade territory belonging to towns nearby, whose merchants do not advertise. Talking about changing the map of Europe and "annexing" foreign territory, that's a hard job any way you go about it; but when it comes to a town attaching the trade territory of another town, that's pie, wholesome and palatable to the town that uses advertising to accomplish annexation. You bet it is.—Troup Banner.

The Turkish cruiser, Medjidieh has been sunk. Name made it top heavy.

Good luck is the thing that goes with energetic, persistent effort.

No, there are no gossips in this town—just a few tongues galloping through life.

A prompt relief for sluggish minds is to try this paper a year.

If a word to the wise is sufficient, this ought to cause every delinquent subscriber to pay up at once.

Now that the editor's wife has returned home, if you know anything bad we did while she was away it would not be wise to tell her—besides it would not be telling her anything.

King George has set the example for his subjects to follow by banishing alcoholic drinks from the royal household. After all, prohibition will not be compulsory—the glass will be only half filled.

A St. Louis judge has ruled that a man is quite within his rights when he finds fault with his wife's clothes. But there are times when a wise husband becomes deaf, dumb and blind to his rights.

Speaking of slang phrases, can you imagine Christopher Columbus saying to Queen Isabelle: "Believe me, kiddo, there is some patch of ground over on the other side of the pond and we oughta cop it off. You gitma doncha?"

Germany swears by everything holy that she will never sue for peace. The allies swear a little harder and louder that they will never take the initiative in favor of suspension of hostilities and that the Kaiser must crook the knee. So there you are—sick 'em.

The man who went out to milk and sat down on a boulder in the middle of the pasture and waited for the cow to back up to him was the eldest brother of the man who kept a store and did not advertise, because he reasoned that the purchasing public would back up to his place when it wanted anything.—Sioux City, (Iowa) Tribune.

Farmers need never expect to hold their own in commercial transactions unless they read and keep up with business as well as farming. Those who are unable to meet business men in a business way should read, think and act upon the knowledge of business. This will be necessary in the future. The day of the uninformed is past.—Farm & Ranch.

Why not plan for a general clean-up day for Grapeland for an early date in the future? With the approach of summer and the fly season, the health of the community demands that every precaution should be taken to rid it of filth and rubbish. Of course, to accomplish the desired end, it will be necessary to organize and systematize the work and it will take some money, but it will be worth the price both from a healthful and civic pride standpoint. Shall we do it? You know the summer normal starts here in June, and we should brighten up the old town for our many visitors.

Do not give as an excuse for not planting crops besides cotton that these cannot be marketed. Raise such crops as will be needed on your family table, feed for your stock, and then if you have a surplus it can be held for awhile, at least in case prices do not justify selling when crops are harvested. There is no law forcing one to sell as soon as crops are harvested, however strong the custom may be. Begin now to prepare for storage and holding in case this should be desirable. Since those who buy and hold for better prices find it profitable, why not provide yourself facilities for holding and get the benefits?—Farm & Ranch.

NEWS ITEMS FROM CROCKETT

April 26.—A three days rain ended yesterday evening with possibly the most severe wind and hail storm that has occurred in many years. The streets were rivers, bridges on every road leading into town being washed out and the creeks and branches were flooded. Several houses were unroofed, some blown down and destroyed, while the destruction of timber in many sections was alarming. The house of Clint Bynum near this city was destroyed and one of his children so badly injured that it is feared he can't recover. Many gardens in and near Crockett were destroyed, while the damage to corn and cotton crops will run into thousands of dollars. Those having truck patches were practically put out of business.

COURT NEWS

Only two criminal cases were disposed of during the week, they taking up the entire time of the court.

State vs Dick Wilburn, wherein defendant stood charged by indictment with the killing of Marshall English in the eastern part of the county several months ago. The jury returned a verdict Wednesday evening finding the defendant guilty of manslaughter and giving him four years. They failed to recommend a suspension of sentence. In this case there were nearly two hundred witnesses, a large number coming from Trinity county, the home of Wilburn. Messrs. Moore and Ellis of this city, Judge N. B. Morris of Palestine and Hon. W. S. Poston of Groveton represented defendant; District Attorney Bishop, County Attorney Dent, Hon. Earl Adams jr. and Hon. A. J. Campbell, Groveton, represented the State. Motion for new trial was filed, and if overruled, the case will be carried to the higher courts.

State vs E. J. Jackson, charged with killing Jim Bridges near Belott in February, was called Thursday morning. Both sides announced ready and a jury was quickly secured. This case occupied the attention of the court the remainder of the week, last until 2 a. m. Sunday morning. Sunday evening the jury returned a verdict, finding the defendant guilty and assessing a term of two years in the penitentiary. A large number of witnesses were in attendance and the case was bitterly contested. District Attorney Bishop, County Attorney Dent and Messrs. Moore and Ellis represented State; Hon. Earl Adams jr. and Hon. J. E. Winfree represented defendant. In this case, the jury refused to recommend a suspension of sentence. A formal motion for a new trial was filed today. It is not known whether or not the case will be appealed.

The felonies less than capital were called this morning, several defendants being in jail and unable, so far, to make bond. Only one more week besides this one remains of the March term, this being the sixth. Next week will be devoted mainly to civil cases, motions etc.

The grand Jury reconvened this evening and expect to wind up their labors for the term in a few days, by Friday at least. Very little new matter will come before them.

Question of the hour: When will it quit raining?

Some good brother must have strained himself while praying for rain a week or so ago.

Men are masters in their own homes—when their wives are away.

Many people pass up a lot of good things in life for the want of a little energy and ambition.

The Lord made man, then He discovered that he needed a boss and immediately made woman.

The babies of this day think they have a hard time, but they don't know what those of us suffered who were babies before the safety pin was invented.—Claud Callan in Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

"Helgoland" was secured by Germany from Great Britain in 1890. We've thought all the time there was a little hell mixed up in some of that land over there.

Even if some young wives of club men were deprived of their sight and hearing, their "hubbys" would have a hard time "getting by" on account of their keen sense of smell.

Illinois has a woman mayor. Still the women who are contending for the ballot do not want it for the purpose of getting offices, but merely to vote. Certainly not!

The Jacksonville Progress says "One 'do' is better than a dozen promises."

"Do" pay up your back subscription, Mr. Delinquent and try this advice.

The tightwad is found in every town, the same as other vices, and when you meet him give him a "dish-rag" hand-shake and don't tell him you're glad to have him in your town and probably he'll move on.

Just because some men have to get up at 2 a. m. and walk the floor with a "colicky" baby 'till 4 a. m., doesn't excuse them from getting up at 6. That's our idea of "ups and downs" in life with the "ups" in the lead.

If the heavy rains have damaged the gardens to a very great extent, it will prevent a great many husbands who depended on their wives to do the gardening, from having to acknowledge that their wives can raise a better garden than they can.

The mother near Austin who gave birth to quadruplets has done more for her country than ten thousand suffragettes could do by pacin' 'round in suffrage parades, shouting themselves hoarse for "women's rights" and flirting with legislators to induce them to pass an amendment favoring woman suffrage.

The recent rains in the flooded districts have again proven that East Texas is the best all-around country in Texas. While we've had some awful big rains for the past week and water is standing most everywhere, if the sun will come out and shine three days the dust will be blowing here.

A long time ago merchants thought if they "donated" a single-column 2-inch ad to the local paper they were performing a praiseworthy act of charity. Now the wide-awake ones think it's a good investment to contract for a page or half-page every week. Yet, there are a few who still swing to the old time non-advertising methods of the pioneer merchants, but if you'll notice it they are being forced to close their doors on account of lack of trade.

It may be alright for a man who has never had any bad luck, and who has never been in debt when he didn't know how he was going to pay out, to go around advising people to "look cheerful." You can expect his advice to be heeded by the man who has a wife and eight kids, owes $500 on last year's account, made three bales of cotton and got 6 cents for it, just about as quick as you can expect an idiot to look wise when you advise him to.

If It Had Been McLemore

A bachelor legislator of California, upon stating to a fair lobbyist that he was 40 years old and had never been kissed except by his mother, was promptly encircled around the neck with a pair of white arms and kissed by the lobbyist. After much persuasion by his colleagues, he was induced to return the kiss. If that had been

Bachelor Jeff McLemore of Houston he would spend two hours daily among the fair lobbyists, repeating his "tale of woe," and if it had the desired effect—well, he wouldn't need much persuasion when the return was due.

Many so-called "bitters" are not medicines, but simply liquids disguised, so as to evade the law. Prickly Ash Bitters is not one of this class. It is strictly a medicine, acting primarily on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and for the dangerous diseases that attack these organs it is a remedy of the first grade. There is nothing objectionable in its taste, it has an agreeable flavor and is acceptable to the most delicate stomach. Sold by D. N. Leaverton. adv.

INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Mrs. Hood Murchison has been indicted by the Angelina county grand jury, in session at Lufkin last week, for the murder of her husband, who was shot and killed in his home on the night of April 14. The indictment charges murder in the first degree. Her bond was fixed at $10,000, which had not been made up to Saturday night. The case has been set for trial May 10 at Lufkin.

RIPPLES ON THE TRINITY

April 26.—Today is "blue" Monday with farmers in this neck of the woods, caused from Saturday's rain. I have been here a long time, but think I would be safe in saying that I never saw such destruction by water. Have seen as heavy rains fall, but it was the peculiar way in which it fell. A heavy rain and just a few minutes interval, then another, and the first water did not have a chance to get out of the way. Most all of the work done has been spoiled out and will have to be done over, but strange to say, the road, as far as I have seen, is perfectly in tact and as good as it was before, which shows what up-to-date work counts. The first rain we got was a good thing and the weather being warm everything was growing like a hot bed, but Job said: "We who receive good, shall we not also receive evil?" The river is brim full and an overflow is expected, but we have plenty of time to make corn before frost should the seasons hold good, but our plans are frustrated and hardly know what step to take, but when the sun comes out things will soon look different and folks will be more cheerful. There will be some peaches and plums.

J. H. Beazley, crop reporter, says he thinks the cotton acreage has been reduced 20 per cent, and all the best land is being put in corn, which will add an equal of 10 per cent more, but that is not enough to see much difference, but should we make all ourselves and stock can eat it will not matter much whether we make a big cotton crop or small. Don't think the rise in price is cutting any figure in the way of planting, for most any man with any degree of sense, knows that cotton is tricky from start to finish. They know also that cotton is the only thing that they can raise and sell at some price any old time and the only thing that will make them sit up and take notice is to have no sale at all. The demoralization did not hurt quite bad enough.

We had hoped to give a flattering report today, but not so. Still there is hope as long as life and time extend. As ever, ZACK.

ALL THE NEWS FROM WANETA

April 26.—Heavy rains have been falling here for several days, which will cause the farmers to be very much behind with their work.

Memorial services were held at the Muse Cemetery Sunday morning. Public dinner was spread, and the W. O. W. unveiled the monument of Sov. Elic Richey in the afternoon. Little Edley Powell recited the poem, "O Why Should the Spirit of Mortal be Proud." Very interesting talks were made by Rev. Andrews and County Clerk Hopkins of Palestine. A very large crowd attended, considering the bad weather.

Misses Eunice and Lora Edmonson, who are attending school at Slocum, visited home-folk Saturday and Sunday.

Claude Denson and little daughter, Bertha, of Slocum were the guests of Joe E. Edmonson from Saturday till Sunday.

Mrs. Lena Barnes spent the day with her sister, Mrs. Lydia Sheffield, Sunday.

Mrs. Tortson was the guest of Mrs. Edmonson Sunday.

Several people from surrounding communities attended memorial services here Sunday.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, Divine Providence, in His wisdom and mercy, has seen fit to permit the removal from His earthly surroundings of Brother R. H. Murchison of Lufkin Lodge No. 669, A. F. & A. M., who departed this life on the evening of April 14th, A. D. 1915, A. L. 5915, and

Whereas, the deceased, although not a member of this Lodge, grew to young manhood in our midst and enjoyed our confidence and esteem.

Now, Therefore, be it Resolved: 1st. That we deeply deplore the untimely death of our friend and brother;

2nd. That we extend fraternal condolence to the brethren of Lufkin Lodge No. 669, A. F. & A. M., in the loss of a brother member in the prime of manhood and at the very threshold of his Masonic life;

3rd. That we convey to the bereaved father and relatives of our beloved brother, our sincere sorrow and sympathy in this their sad hour of trial, believing that the Grand Master of the Universe does all things well and that He will sustain those upon whom the shadow of misfortune has spread its pall;

4th. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Lodge; and that copies be furnished Lufkin Lodge No. 669, A. F. & A. M., the father of the deceased and the Grapeland Messenger, with a request for publication.

THE SCHOOL NEWS

Arwine Skidmore, Editor

Monday was the beginning of our last school month and it will seem the shortest of all.

Some remained a little later than usual on account of the rain.

Clinton Parker and Sam Hague were absent Wednesday.

Misses Moore and Haltom and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cain were visitors during chapel exercises Monday.

The High School Literary Society was held Friday evening and it was the last and best program of the season.

Clarence McCarty and Arnold Clewis were absent one-half day Thursday.

The seventh grade boys and girls are practicing on a good play for commencement.

The Agricultural Club attended a lecture given by Prof. Cain on the agriculture in the Philippines, showing the conditions under which the different products were raised and manufactured. The special products he told us about were rice, sugar, hemp, copra, tobacco, corn and various kinds of vegetables and it was certainly interesting.

LETTER FROM ANTRIMITE

April 25.—I suppose the fellow who said "The sun will shine after the rain" had no reference to a flood. Seems that Jupiter Pluvius has indeed overdone the thing once more. We thought last May that surely we were hit hard but this time we don't have to guess. Most bridges are gone and the roads are in an awful condition. Crops are very badly damaged and some of the best land is ruined. We do not believe man should complain at the weather no farther than to record the facts. We have nothing to say.

There is not very much cotton planted around yet, but will be soon. Our inquiry leads us to believe that most people have almost forgotten their experience of last fall and we are reliably informed that one man who made a speech in Grapeland last fall on the importance of acreage reduction and diversification, is planting—or having planted more land in cotton this year than he ever has before. But "be not deceived," we will reap the fruit of the harvest and we'll "reap what we sow." The man who is silly enough to think that the European war will come to an end soon enough to affect the price of cotton next fall, needs the sympathy of the entire neighborhood. Nothing short of a miracle will close the war inside of two or three years and the mills have bought more cotton than ever before. So let me say this: I firmly believe we will see five cent cotton this fall and then some more speeches for "acreage reduction."

FARM ANIMALS
FEED PIGS DURING SUMMER

Growing and Mature Animals Can Use Considerable Rough Feed and Forage to Advantage.

(By W. M. KELLY)

On account of having a comparatively small stomach, the pig is an animal especially adapted to the consuming of concentrated foods. The growing pig and the mature breeding animal can use considerable rough feed and forage to advantage.

For the best results, the growing pig must not be confined to forage crops and roughage alone; and the fattening hog, although it can use a little bulky and succulent food, should be fed largely upon concentrated feed.

The legumes, alfalfa, rape, rye, sorghum, millet, are carbonaceous feeds. Bluegrass contains less protein than the former, but more than the latter crops, consequently, if we are feeding pigs on pasture, we must plan to feed protein feeds if they have carbonaceous forage and pasture, and carbonaceous feeds if they have proteinaceous pasture and forage crops.

Pigs that have the run of alfalfa and clover make the best gains if fed a little corn and some of the nitrogenous feeds like oil-meal, skim-milk, or wheat middlings. However, it is usually more profitable to depend upon the clover and alfalfa pasture and not feed the more expensive feeds.

If we have our pigs well-developed on forage and protein feeds they will be in condition to finish on corn alone the last two months. W. M. K.

BREED HORSES FOR PROFIT

Principles to Be Followed Are Use of Pure-Bred Sire and Feed and Care of Mare and Foal.

The principles to be followed by farmers in improving their horse stock are: The use of sound, purebred sires of a particular breed, the use of sound mares, the feeding and care of the mare and foal and the working of the stallions regularly. Doctor Alexander of the Wisconsin experiment station further urges the home production of pure-bred stallions to replace the grades, mongrels and scrubs too often used at present.

He urges that grade horses replace scrubs in farm teams. The organization of community associations will greatly facilitate the promotion of horse-breeding and the encouragement of the industry may be furthered by prizes at county fairs for pure-bred stallions, mares and colts.

GOOD FEED FOR LAMBS PAYS

Change From Grass to Alfalfa, Corn, Barley, Ensilage, Etc., Must Be Made Gradually.

A small percentage of loss in lambs in the feed lot is to be expected, but this loss in some instances is far greater than it should be. When range lambs are placed on a fattening ration the change of feed is so sudden that dietetic disturbances cause a general disorder and several dead sheep are found in the pens each morning. This invariably leads to the suspicion that they are dying of some infectious disease.

In some cases the ration is not well balanced to secure the best gains and the conditions of care and handling might be better, but these things will account for only a nominal loss.

The change from grass to alfalfa, corn, barley, molasses and straw, ensilage, etc., must be made gradually and herein lies the secret of the heavy losses of lambs in the feed lots in the early fall. The desire to get the lambs on a fattening ration as early as possible and failing to appreciate the danger of too heavy feeding and change of ration has helped to make lamb feeding an unprofitable business in some instances. A sudden change of feed or overfeeding must be guarded against in the domestic animals; especially is this true with the horse and sheep.

SOME THEORIES ON SLEEP

One Is That Slumber That Robs One of Years of Life Is Simply a Bad Habit.

When lower forms of animal life are experimented with in the laboratory the tendency is to diminished activity or complete rest (sleep) in the dark and to increased activity in the light. This chemical effect upon protoplasm in general becomes rhythmic with the alternating day and night, and in the hundred million years that led to the evolution of man the original terrestrial protoplasmic rhythm became an established function of animal life. With the development of a nervous system this regular periodicity of action and inaction was doubtless taken over to a considerable extent by the neurons, as has occurred with other functions of protoplasm. If this be true, may we not look upon sleep, that robs us of 23 years of activity in our short lives of three score and ten, as a bad habit, as an incident or rather accident of our existence on this particular planet? One wonders for instance as to the relations of sleep and activity on a planet like Jupiter, with a ten-hour day, five hours of light and five hours of night, with six years of polar night, and seasons each three years long. What about sleep on Saturn, with its luminous rings and eight moons, and also five hours of day and five hours of night? How about sleep on planets lit by duplex or triplex suns, or in the solar system of Theta Orionis with seven suns?—Frederick Peterson, in Atlantic.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE TABLE.

It is not necessary that we live in the South to enjoy hot tamales, for they may be made most successfully by the northern cook.

Boil a fowl until tender; strip the meat from the bones and chop fine. Chop half a pound of seeded raisins and half a cupful of stoned olives with one small red pepper, also finely chopped. Mix all together and stir to a paste with two cupfuls of Indian meal; wet with scalding water, season with salt, onion juice and a teaspoonful of sugar. Add boiling water and stir over the fire, cooking for fifteen minutes. Add six hard cooked eggs finely chopped and mold into long corn ear shaped pieces, lay into the smooth inner husks of green corn and tie up with strips of the husk. Drop these into boiling salted water and boil for one hour.

Rice Cakes.—Beat well four egg yolks, add a cupful of milk, one half teaspoonful of salt, and a cupful of cooked rice, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one teaspoonful of sugar, and sufficient flour to make a thick drop batter. Sift two teaspoonfuls of baking powder with the flour. Drop by teaspoonfuls into hot fat and cook until brown. Drain on paper and serve with the following sauce: Simmer three minutes one cupful of water and a third of a cupful of sugar. Add a tablespoonful of arrow root, a pinch of salt and a bit of cold water to mix. Add a tablespoonful of seeded chopped raisins, chopped citron, and currants and stand over steam to soften for fifteen minutes, by placing in a sieve over the teakettle. Add vanilla and mix all together and serve with the cakes.

Fried Cheese Balls.—Make a sauce of two tablespoonfuls of butter, two of flour, a dash of cayenne and two-thirds of a cupful of milk. Stir into it the slightly beaten yolks of two eggs and one and a half cupfuls of chopped cheese. As soon as it begins to soften take from the fire and turn into a shallow buttered pan. When cold shape, dip in crumbs, eggs and fry a golden brown in hot fat.

SPOOK PLANNED A FACTORY

Secrets of Making Glass Said to Have Been Revealed by Dead Father of Spiritualist.

The only factory in the world founded on belief in spiritualism is being completed here by Frank Wilcox, glass worker. He says he received in visions of his dead father inspirations for inventions which will revolutionize the glass industry. Wilcox's building, where he will perfect and use these inventions, is known as the "house of mystery." Only spiritualists are employed in the construction work, and a score of husky guards—all spiritualists—are on watch day and night to prevent any except employes from going inside the ten-foot concrete wall which surrounds the place.

"I am going to make a fortune in glass," Wilcox tells his friends, "and all because of my belief in spiritualism. I began my experiments in Pittsburgh several years ago, but secret service agents who tried to steal my designs forced me to come here."

Wilcox has bought valuable real estate in Wheeling, W. Va., where he plans to erect a spiritualist church to cost $12,000 as a memorial to his dead parent.—Bridgeport (O.) dispatch to Cleveland Leader.
