Tupper Announces for Office of District Attorney.

C. H. TUPPER, JR.

The first announcement for the political campaign year of 1936, so far as the district attorney offices are concerned was made yesterday by Cliff Tupper. Mr. Tupper seeks the office of District Attorney for the 51st judicial district of Texas, the position which will be vacated by Glenn R. Lewis on the last day of this year. Mr. Lewis has stated through this paper and others that he will not seek reelection as district attorney.

Mr. Tupper points out he has been a general practicing attorney in San Angelo since 1931, during all of which time he has been the junior member of the firm of Wright & Tupper. Judge W. A. Wright, the senior member of the firm and grandfather of Mr. Tupper, has practiced law in San Angelo for a longer period of time than any other member of the bar in Tom Green County.

During his nearly six years of practice of law in San Angelo, Mr. Tupper has had experience in most every form or type of case, both criminal and civil. San Angelo is the only place the candidate has practiced, having received his legal education in the University of Texas. Mr. Tupper immediately went to work as a journalist for the Petroleum Reporter where he served in the capacity of editor of the daily oil reports issued by that publication in San Antonio, Texas. His work also included the weekly reports from Southwest Texas for the Oil and Gas Journal published at Tulsa, while a student in the University of Texas. Mr. Tupper was managing editor of The Daily Texan, the newspaper published at the school.

The candidate was born in San Angelo October, 1906, moved with his family to Waco, then to San Antonio. Mr. Tupper's father, who is now in the newspaper, advertising and radio business in San Antonio, was formerly a partner in the San Angelo Evening Standard with the late J. G. Murphy.

In announcing his candidacy Tupper stated: "Mr. Lewis has announced that he will not seek reelection. I believe I have had enough experience to act justly and competently as district attorney and in this connection let me ask those who do not know me to inquire of my brother lawyers, my clients, jurors or those whom I have represented, as to what I can be expected to do. Without other promises or wild statements I simply say that if the voters give me the job I will do the best I can to render that service which the duties of the office demands.

"If elected, I shall devote my entire time to the discharge of the duties of the office, and will be available at all times for the transaction of the people's business and will conduct the affairs of the office as a servant of the public."

Mr. Tupper is married, has one child and lives in Santa Rita addition to the city of San Angelo. Mrs. Tupper is the daughter of Lee Henderson, rancher of Crockett county.

E. E. Lowe is Candidate For Sheriff of Tom Green.

Declaring that all laws look alike to him and that he would strive to enforce all of them impartially, E. E. Lowe, traffic officer on Beaurgard and Chadbourne, in San Angelo, submitted his name Saturday as a candidate for sheriff of Tom Green County subject to the Democratic primaries. Experience as a peace officer seven years with the San Angelo police department has given him a knowledge of the law that would stand him in good stead in the event of his election, he said.

"In becoming a candidate for office for the first time, I want to thank West Texans for their cooperation in traffic law observance here," said Mr. Lowe. "I believe that the same co-operation applied to the sheriff's office would maintain and improve this county's record for law observance. It would be my purpose if elected to secure the best assistance possible and to maintain the office as the people would have it. I shall continue my services with the police department here, thanks to Police Chief Sam Haynes, but expect to contact all the voters the 90 days preceding the primary election."

Mr. Lowe is well known thru his contacts with the people as a traffic officer. His station at Beaurgard and Chadbourne intersection, caring for the heaviest traffic in the city. He has been 23 years in San Angelo, during which time he was associated with Fred Schmidt in a cigar store and billiard parlor, later with John Hagelstein in the realty business, then with the West Texas Utilities in installing power equipment for a plant here, three years a farmer and then seven years with the San Angelo police department. Previous to moving to San Angelo Mr. Lowe operated a general merchandise store and the postoffice at Eola for five years.

Clarence Lowe, a son is a deputy sheriff under the present sheriff now. Two other sons, Malcolm and Gordon, and two daughters, Lita and Mary have commercial positions here. Another daughter, Hazel, has just completed high school and another, Norma Jean, is in junior high.

WOULD PROTECT BANKING FIELD IN RURAL AREAS

American Bankers Association Announces Purpose to Combat Return of Excessive Number of Banks

CITES LAX CHARTER POLICIES IN THE PAST

Finds a Chief Cause of Bank Failures Was Too Many Banks—Existing Sound Banks Serving Communities Well

NEW YORK. — Existing sound banks, especially the small banks in the rural districts which are serving their communities well, should be protected from any return of the over-banked local conditions caused by former lax chartering policies, which were mainly to blame for the unfavorable failure record of the past, says the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. This is brought out in a report covering an investigation by the commission of bank failures and public policies in chartering banks.

"The Commission's study gives an impressive revelation of how great a part mistaken public policies in the chartering of banks played in creating the unsound banking structure which finally collapsed with the Bank Holiday in March 1933," Robert V. Flensburg, president of the association, says in a foreword.

"Over-production of banks, literally by thousands, over many years in the face of insistent warnings not only from bankers and others who recognized the danger, but even more so from the mounting records of bank failures themselves, is clearly shown to have constituted as a whole one of the greatest single economic errors in the history of the Nation."

A Recurrence Feared. He refers to fears of a recurrence of over-banking recently expressed by Federal banking authorities, to the powers given the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation by the provision of the Banking Act of 1935 over the admission of banks to membership in the insurance fund, to strengthened state laws and to the policies now being followed by both national and state supervisory authorities aimed to safeguard the nation against over-banking.

"But sound laws and conscientious officials are not of themselves always sufficient safeguard in any field of our complex national life unless they have the active support of public opinion," he adds. "It is the purpose of the American Bankers Association to aid in marshaling public opinion in support of both national and state supervisory authorities in their efforts to strengthen and protect the banking structure."

The Economic Policy Commission summarizes its findings in part as follows:

"The facts show a distinct causal relationship between the over-chartering of banks and the abnormal bank failure conditions that prevailed from 1929 to the bank holiday in 1933. It is desirable that studies be made on the basis of experience to develop standards governing the number of banks or the volume of bank capital which can be successfully operated."

"Such a study would embrace the question whether banking facilities can best be supplied to the rural districts by small unit banks or by branches from banks of substantial capital in larger centers. Existing sound banks, which are serving their communities well should be protected from any return of the over-banked local conditions caused in the past by lax chartering policies."

Banking Officials Queried

"An inquiry among state bank commissioners shows a preponderant opinion against increasing materially the number of banks, coupled with the fact that present laws give them sufficient discretion to prevent a repetition of the grave errors of the past."

"Under prevailing abnormal conditions, with the Federal Government extensively exercising loaning powers in competition with the banks, and with industry itself so largely supplied with funds as to render it to a great degree independent of normal bank borrowing, the banking structure even with its present reduced numbers, finds it difficult to support its existing capital investment and operating personnel."

"These are new factors, intensifying the need for highly prudent and restrictive chartering policies. We urge the retirement of the Federal Government from the banking business as rapidly as the return of normal business conditions warrant."

Indians Stage a Rally: Population on Increase

The records of the United States government show that in 1865 there were 234,374 Indians on reservations. In 1891, the number had dropped to 246,834, but, after that low point, the Indian brought his total population up to 329,454 in 1933.

The total number of Indians in the United States and Canada today is 443,393, or more than half the number estimated to have roamed the continent before the coming of the white man.

Just do what hospitals do, and the doctors insist on. Use a good liquid laxative, and aid Nature to restore clocklike regularity without strain or ill effect.

A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the real secret of relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has become. It gives the right kind of help, and right amount of help. Taking a little less each time, gives the bowels a chance to act of their own accord, until they are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit. The action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve any sluggishness or bilious condition due to constipation without upset.

AAA Is Killed by Decision of the Supreme Court

SIX Justices of the United States Supreme court, including Chief Justice Hughes, joined in an opinion that killed the Agricultural Adjustment act. Three associate justices, Stone, Brandeis and Cardozo, dissented. The majority decision, read by Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts, held that the AAA was wholly unconstitutional because it invaded the rights of the states in seeking to control farm production. The whole system of processing taxes imposed to finance the program was swept into discard.

Not only are the processing taxes illegal but the court apparently declared the farm benefit contracts void and put up bars against any attempt of the federal government to regulate farm production by whatever means. Senators and representatives who immediately began planning legislation to continue benefit payments to farmers and to balance agricultural output did not seem to grasp the full significance of this part of the decision. The court said that regulation of farm production is not within the scope of the federal government and of its powers to accomplish this, nor can it purchase adherence to a control scheme by federal payments.

The decision destroyed not only the original AAA but also the amended act of the last session of congress.

The dissenting opinion held that the AAA was a legitimate employment of the power to tax for the general welfare. It attacked the theory that the preservation of our institutions is the exclusive concern of the Supreme court and suggested that under the majority decision the unemployment work relief act is unconstitutional.

President Roosevelt, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and other administration leaders had no immediate comment on the decision to make public, but the President called Attorney General Cummings and Mr. Wallace into conference. The administration and congress must do something to raise nearly half a billion dollars which the government has contracted to pay farmers and against which it now has no income, since the processing impost is outlawed. Disposition of about $200,000,000 accumulated under court orders that impounded processing tax collections must be determined.

AAA Administrator Chester Davis stopped all payments to farmers "until further notice," and the Treasury department ordered all collectors of internal revenue to desist from further efforts to collect processing taxes.

In his budget message President Roosevelt included revenue from processing taxes, so the Supreme court decision had the effect of throwing the 1937 budget still further out of balance by something like a billion dollars.

President's Message Is a Defiance of Opponents

SURROUNDED by kilig lights, microphones and movie cameras, President Roosevelt stood before the senate and house in night joint session and delivered what was nominally his annual message on the state of the nation. Actually it was not that at all, but a statement concerning the warfare and international disturbances on the other continents, followed by what the press generally considered an eloquent and militant political speech addressed to the people of the United States, who by the millions were listening in on their radios. Partisan opinion of his message is perhaps worthless. Of course his supporters praised it highly, and his opponents were equally emphatic in derogation.

Democrats and Republicans alike commended the President's opening paragraphs in which he boldly condemned the aggression of Italy and Japan, though without naming those nations; and there was little dissent from his assertion that the United States must maintain its neutrality while seeking to "discourage the use by belligerent nations of any and all American products calculated to facilitate the prosecution of a war in quantities over and above our normal exports to them in time of peace."

The remainder of the message, devoted to domestic affairs, was devoted chiefly to a belligerently worded defense of the New Deal measures of the administration, an attack on those who oppose them and a spirited passage in which Mr. Roosevelt defied and dared his critics to move for the repeal of those measures. Instead of "hiding their dissent in a cowardly cloak of generality," in only two paragraphs did the President dwell on "the state of the nation." In these he said that after nearly three years of the New Deal national income is increasing, agriculture and industry are "returning to full activity," and "we approach a balance of the national budget." That last statement was greeted with mocking laughter from the Republican side of the chamber, and though the Democrats cheered loudly, Mr. Roosevelt himself smiled at his words.

One passage in the message was interpreted by some as a threat to close the lower courts to suits attacking the constitutionality of federal laws. The President told congress that its enactments require "protection until final adjudication by the highest tribunal," and added that congress "has the right and can find the means to protect its own prerogatives."

Altogether, the spectacle in the house chamber was extraordinary and unparalleled. All the senators and representatives were there, the latter being remarkably noisy. Eight members of the cabinet attended, and in the galleries sat Mrs. Roosevelt, the wives of cabinet members, diplomats and enough other privileged persons to fill the seats completely. Vice President Garner and Speaker Byrns jointly presided over the session.

The President's message was denounced by the American Liberty league as "the most dangerous speech that ever came from a President," and by former President Herbert Hoover as a message of "war on earth and ill will among men."

Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic leader, struck back at the President's critics in a statement declaring that if the President had recited the Ten Commandments he would have been accused of having ulterior motives. He repeated the challenge of the President to his critics to repeal New Deal legislation.

Secretary of Labor Perkins Praises Year's Doings

SECRETARY of Labor Frances Perkins found in the developments of the last year much of benefit for the American workingman. In her annual report she cited these five great advancements for labor:

1. Unemployment compensation, accomplished through the social security act.
2. Old-age security, brought about also by the social security act.
3. Establishment of boards for settling industrial disputes locally.
4. Greater co-operation between the states and the Labor department, through regional conferences.
5. Development of the United States employment service.

Even the large number of strikes during 1935 could be viewed with some satisfaction by her, for she said they were "due in part to the natural expectation of labor to share in the early fruits of business improvement."

For the future Miss Perkins envisioned a minimum wage law, a short work week of perhaps 40 hours, compensation insurance, and strict regulation of machinery to prevent industrial accidents.

Budget Message Shows Billion Dollar Deficit

IN HIS message to congress submitting his approved budget for the 1937 fiscal year, beginning July 1 next, President Roosevelt followed the double system of accounting his administration has always employed—one set of books for regular expenditures and income and another set for emergency spending and appropriations. He asserted that receipts from all sources in the next fiscal year will aggregate an estimated $5,654,000,000. Expenditures for all regular government departments are estimated at $5,649,000,000. So the "regular" budget will be in balance, with a surplus of $5,000,000.

But the message went on to say, after explaining that the regular government books will show fiscal affairs in the black, as to income and outgo, they will show red to the extent of $1,103,000,000 in works-relief spending, less the $5,000,000 "surplus," this leaving the new appropriation for further works-relief open for at least two months.

That figure of $1,103,000,000 represents the President's estimate of unexpended balances on July 1 from the $1,880,000,000 and previous emergency appropriations. It does not take into account probable new appropriations for similar purposes yet to be determined.

Guffey Coal Act Again Is Declared Invalid

ONCE more the Guffey coal act has been declared unconstitutional, this time by Federal Judge John P. Barnes of Chicago. He granted to a local coal company a temporary injunction to restrain federal officials from collecting a portion of the taxes imposed under the law.

The injunction is to remain in force pending a ruling by the United States Supreme court on similar suits brought by the Carter Coal company in Washington, D. C., and by the Tway Coal company in Louisville, Ky.

Lindberghs Are Quietly Living in Wales

CLOSELY guarded by police, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh and their son, Jon, are now established at Liandaff, Wales, in the home of J. Llewellyn Morgan, kinsman by marriage of Mrs. Lindbergh. They had traveled by automobile from Liverpool, where they landed, and elaborate precautions were taken to protect them en route.

It was reported in Madrid that negotiations had been started on behalf of Colonel Lindbergh for the purchase of a small estate near Gerona, bordering on Spain's famous "Costa Brava" on the Mediterranean. It has also been rumored that the Lindberghs intend to return to the United States in a few months. The colonel himself is completely reticent about his plans.

What Ickes Thinks of Critics of New Deal

HAROLD L. ICKES, in his capacity of administrator of the PWA, went to Brooklyn to take part in the ceremony of breaking ground for the $12,783,000 Williamsburg slum clearance project, and took the opportunity to speak very harshly about those who oppose the New Deal, dubbing them "the coupon clipping gentry," "the Lord Plushbottoms of the club windows," and "reactionists" who "shout that enlightened progress is unconstitutional."

"The slum is but one vicious product of that old order whose passing, we hope, is at hand," Mr. Ickes said. "I refer to the old order of special privilege, the creator and upholder of a social system containing vicious contrasts of opulence and squalor that have shamed the democracy of our own times. Its day in America is facing the western sun, but the harsh cracklings of its senile prophets are still heard in opposition to every progressive proposal; predicting disaster for every humanitarian attempt to ameliorate the lot of the least fortunate of our people."

"There are those who take an almost sadistic delight in dashing the hopes of our underprivileged citizens by ill-advisedly proclaiming that the public housing program of PWA is a failure. The facts prove the contrary. Somewhere a housing program had to be started. The federal government took the initiative.

"We have 47 active projects on our demonstration program, all under construction. Eleven thousand persons are already enjoying the splendid modern accommodations of limited dividend housing projects financed by PWA, and the first federal developments will be occupied early in the spring."

Great Britain Sending More Men to Africa

JUST before Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden goes to Geneva to attend the January 20 meeting of the League of Nations council, the British government will decide on its proposals for extension of the sanctions against Italy to include oil, coal, iron and steel. But the cabinet is not waiting for this to prepare for eventualities. It has suddenly decided to strengthen greatly its armed forces in Africa and has taken over several liners for the Mediterranean troop transport service. The Seythia already has sailed with troops and guns, probably for Alexandria, Egypt, and others are to follow soon.

Haile Selassie Protests Use of Poison Gas

FROM his field headquarters in Dessaye Emperor Haile Selassie sent to the League of Nations a vigorous protest against the war methods of the invading Italians. The emperor charged specifically that Italian flyers, in raining explosives on the southern army of his son-in-law, Ras Desta Demeu, near Dolo, used poison gas and destroyed a Swedish Red Cross ambulance laden with sick and wounded.

A special meeting of the Swedish Red Cross was held in Stockholm to take action in this matter. The Italian government in Rome asserted the aerial bombardment was fully justified by the alleged behavior of two Italian aviators by the Ethiopians after the flyers had crashed at Daggah Bur in Ogaden. The communique also said it was well known that "Ethiopian chieftains take shelter under Red Cross signs when they see Italian airplanes."

New Tax Levies That Are Now in Effect

NEW tax levies of more than $350,000,000 a year went into effect on New Year's day, these being the result of delayed tax rates passed at the last session of congress. The heaviest is from the unemployment insurance and old age pensions act, which is expected to raise about $240,000,000 in taxes on industrial payrolls. Other new taxes include: Raising of individual returns, $50,000,000. Corporation tax boost, $40,000,000. Gift tax increase, $25,000,000. Intercorporate tax levy, $30,000,000.

Twelve Lost in Crash of British Air Liner

TWELVE persons, nine of them passengers, perished when the Imperial Airways liner City of Khartoum crashed in the Mediterranean off Alexandria, Egypt. The only survivor was Pilot Vernon G. Wilson, who was taken from the water in a critical condition. Among the victims was one American, James C. Luke of Philadelphia, an oil engineer.

Knitting Fad in Prehistoric Arctic Circle Settlement

Prehistoric knitting needles, five-teeth combs and spoons of mammoth bone have been found in an ancient settlement near Obdorsk, northern Siberia, by an expedition sent out by the Institute of Anthropology and Ethnography of the Academy of Science of the U. S. S. R. It has excavated 12,000 articles of pottery and bone, some of which are unique.

Besides knitting needles, combs and spoons, they include miniature hoes for tilling fields, pieces of melting pots for metal, and bones of animals and birds which no longer inhabit the Yamal peninsula on which Obdorsk stands. The numerous remains found shows that the peninsula, which is within the Arctic circle, was one densely populated.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Skeletons in Armor Suits

Are Found on Battle Site Skeletons fully arrayed in medieval armor have been found in excavations in the vicinity of Venice, all in a perfect state of preservation. Workers engaged on excavations for the new great canal which is under construction in the picturesque district surrounding Stra, came across what undoubtedly must have been the scene of a great battle in the days of the ancient Venetian republic.

One of the many skeletons in armor was found to have a sword still between the ribs. Presumably the man fell in battle and has lain undisturbed all these centuries. Quantities of ancient weapons and armor also were found, together with beautifully modeled vases which, when the centuries old dirt had been washed away, were found to be painted by hand with designs and figures, the colors being perfectly preserved.

By VIRGINIA VALE

MIRIAM HOPKINS is planning to adopt another child. She adores young Michael, whom she took under her wing some time ago, and doesn't want him to grow up alone. It's nice for Michael to have such a good home, of course, and it's marvelous for the beautiful Miriam to have Michael. Matrimony has not turned out too well for her, and she's not the sort of girl who's satisfied with just being beautiful and popular and having a grand time at parties. She likes having a home, and having some one in it who loves her. And what better some one could she have than a child? So once again she's consulting the famous Chicago nursery from which so many babies have gone to the homes of screen and radio stars.

Miriam Hopkins

After seeing "The Thin Man" again, recently, there's just one thing to say—that it is one of the best pictures made in years and years. Also, that though Rosalind Russell is very good indeed in "Rendezvous," Myrna Loy, originally scheduled for the role, would have been ever so much better.

It looks as if "The Informer" would be acclaimed everywhere as the best picture made in 1935. The National Board of Review says it is, in case that means anything to you. Here's the board's list of the best—that is, the best American-made pictures: "Alice Adams," "Anna Karenina," "David Copperfield," "The Gilded Lily," "Les Miserables," "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Ruggles of Red Cap," and the Silly Symphony, "Who Killed Cock Robin?"

This is the sort of thing that happens in the movie world. There is a young girl named Doris Dudley—she's just eighteen, not exceptionally pretty, and with no record so far as talent is concerned. She has been in one play that never reached New York, and recently opened in another one, "The Season Changes."

But—RKO has signed her for four pictures, at $1,500 a week for the first two, and $1,750 a week for the next two.

And the answer to the question every one has asked—"Why should this girl get such a contract?" is the fact that her agent is Leland Hayward, who is the agent (and either is or is not the husband) of Katherine Hepburn.

Polly Moran is going to Australia and points west. She's walking out on American picture-makers because they won't give her the salary to which she's been accustomed.

Gary Cooper and his wife must have had a grand time when they spent their honeymoon in Bermuda, for they're going back there in February when he starts a three-months' vacation.

Of course, all the newspaper articles on "mercy killers" had to lead straight to the screen; Darryl Zanuck, who likes to make pictures based on current news events, has a pictured called "The Mercy Killer" in the making right now.

Hollywood is engaged in the gruesome business of adding one and one and making three; the death of Ross Alexander's wife, and then Thelma Todd's unexplained demise, have made people ask: "Who'll be the third?"

Alexander. She took a plane for New York as soon as she could; wanted to get away from Hollywood for a little while. Jean Harlow isn't going to play glamorous bad girls on the screen any more if she can help it; she's abandoned them along with her platinum hair. She's always wanted roles in which she could really act.

Movie actors who decide to go on the stage, and head for New York to try their luck, have been sadly disillusioned; theatrical producers are perfectly willing to engage them—if the stars will put up at least part of the money for the production.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . William S. Hart has sold a story, "O'Malley of the Mounted," to Twentieth Century-Fox; George O'Brien will do it . . . Colleen Moore is going to marry the manager of her Doll House tour . . . It is news that Jimmie Cagney is once again threatening to leave Warner Brothers if he doesn't get more money? . . . "The Goldbergs" will return to the air early in the new year.

A Few Spicy Dishes From the Old South

New Orleans has always been famous for its cookery. It has an individuality which it owes to both the Spanish and the French who settled in Louisiana. Although New Orleans is a great modern city, the architecture in the old section shows the mixed influence of its ancestry.

There are a number of famous restaurants in this old city where you will find specialties. Many of them are highly seasoned, some of them with herbs which are not used much in other parts of the country. You will enjoy the fine shrimps and the delicious crabs as well as the red snapper and the pompano. The gumbo and the jambalaya will give you a full meal in one dish.

Canapes a la Creole. 1 cup minced boiled ham 1 onion 1 clove garlic 1 tablespoon butter 1 tomato 1 green pepper 6 slices buttered toast 1/2 cup Parmesan cheese Salt Pepper Cayenne

Mince the onion and garlic and add with the ham to the butter, melted in a frying pan. Cook three minutes and add the tomato and green pepper, which have been chopped fine. Season, and cook the mixture until thick enough to spread on strips of buttered toast. Dredge with the grated cheese and bake five minutes in a hot oven (450 degrees F.), or place under the broiler for one minute. French toast may be used instead of the dry toast.

Cabbage Gumbo. 1 small head of cabbage 1 slice ham 2 tablespoons fat 1 pound sausage meat 1 onion 1 pint milk Salt, pepper, cayenne 2 tablespoons flour 1 cup rice, boiled Wash and chop the cabbage. Cut the ham into small pieces. Melt the fat, add the ham, and stir until it begins to brown. Add a chopped onion, the sausage meat, and the cabbage. Stir well and add enough water to prevent burning. Add the seasoning and cook thoroughly, stirring occasionally. When the cabbage is tender add the milk and the flour mixed with enough milk to make it smooth. Cook five minutes and serve with boiled rice.

Bouilli a la Marseillaise. 10 thin slices boiled beef (the bouilli) 12 small onions 2 tablespoons butter 2 tablespoons sugar 3 tablespoons flour 1 bay leaf 1 sprig thyme 1 slice lemon Salt Black pepper Cayenne 2 cups water 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms

Place the onions with the bouilli in a baking pan, sprinkle with the sugar, and bake until tender. Sprinkle with the flour and seasoning, add the water gradually, return to the oven, and cook until the gravy thickens. Add the beef and the mushrooms, cook ten minutes, and serve at once.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants thus germing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

Home of the Wild Bee.

A wild bee's home, as we all know, serves the purpose of a storehouse as well as of a place for the young to grow and develop. The entrance used by the bees is often very small, but always leads into a large room. The wax for their honey and brood cells is the only thing in the least like furniture which they require. The floor and more bare the walls and floors the better for them.--St. Nicholas.
