

EASIER TO SHIP LIVESTOCK NOW

Washington, July 1.—New regulations governing the interstate movement of livestock will become effective July 1, 1914. These changes are designed by the department of agriculture to facilitate the movement of livestock from quarantined areas or from public stockyards.

Hereafter cattle that have been dipped once under State or Federal supervision may be shipped from an area quarantined for ticks to a market center where there are proper dipping facilities and the department of agriculture maintains an inspector.

The provision permitting, under certain strict conditions, the transportation of hogs from public stock yards into interstate commerce has been made possible by the discovery by government scientists of a serum which renders swine immune to hog cholera.

The new regulation also withdraws all permission for the use of nicotine solutions, coal tar cresote and cresol preparations in the official dipping of cattle and sheep for scabies.

BOOZE OUT OF NAVY JULY 1.

Washington, June 25.—Speculation as to the grace with which officers of the navy will take Secretary Daniels' order banishing intoxicants from Uncle Sam's navy increases as the "wet" days draw to a close.

"All orders are to be reasonably interpreted," said Secretary Daniels today when asked what was to be done with liquor which happened to be on ships when day breaks next Wednesday.

This phase of the new order of things is important because some of the ships have been accustomed to procure a year's wine mess at one time. Especially is this true of a vessel on foreign cruise.

Vessels on foreign service will be given a reasonable time in which to disembark their tabooed cargoes. They shall be landed in sealed packages, but he does say it need not be thrown overboard.

HOUSTON PLAN OF TAXATION

Houston, Tex., June 19.—To the Editor: Under the Houston Plan of Taxation which has been in operation here for three years, the city council has adopted the custom of assessing land at about 70 per cent of its value and building improvements and merchants' stocks of goods at about 25 per cent. Personal property of every other description, including "credits" is ignored and nothing else appears on the assessment rolls, except the franchise values of public service corporations.

Nine-tenths of the taxpayers favor the plan and have willingly signed the rolls this year prepared in accordance with the views of J. J. Pastoriza, our tax commissioner, who originated it and who, on the strength of it, was re-elected by an overwhelming vote. Nevertheless a few kickers are threatening an appeal to the courts. You readers may be interested in a brief statement of the principal grounds relied on in support of Mr. Pastoriza's innovation, as follows:

It lessens taxes on a majority of homes in Houston, for as to the majority, the improvement values exceed the land values. In the long run the exemption in whole or in part, of building improvements from taxation, neither benefits nor injures the owners of office buildings, apartment houses and dwellings for rent. The saving to them in taxes is offset by the reduction in rents caused by increased competition among landlords resulting from an increased number of dwellings and buildings to rent, for the Houston plan greatly stimulates the construction of such buildings.

It advertises Houston favorably all over the country. It acts as a perpetual bonus, attractive to all enterprises which employ labor. While the single tax idea carried to its logical conclusion would of course ultimately impair land values, its partial and moderate application as now applied by Pastoriza will greatly enhance the value of land in Houston, because it accelerates the growth of the city.

To tax property according to the constitution and laws of Texas is impossible. A tax on personal property catches the poor man, because he has so little he can only hide a small percentage of it from the tax assessor. Not so, however, as to the rich man. The most drastic laws ever framed have failed to put upon assessment rolls 10 per cent of the personality owned by millionaires. The man unwilling to pay a far greater tax in proportion to his wealth than his neighbor, is compelled in self-defense to commit perjury. A serious and determined effort to tax credits and personality with anything like uniform impartiality, including bank deposits and money loaned by bank and individuals as the constitution and laws require, would greatly increase interest rates, result in the withdrawal of bank deposits, bring ruin and destruction upon any community attempting it and cause three-fourths of its taxpayers to be sent to the penitentiary for false swearing.

Taxes on things produced by human labor are passed on to the user or consumer and increases living expenses; taxes levied on land values which are the gifts of nature, cannot be shifted and tend to reduce the cost of living. A tax on land values only, would reduce direct taxes on four-fifths of the farms in the United States and relieve farmers of an onerous though unrealized burden of indirect taxation. The land values of New York City alone, for instance, exceed the land values of every acre of land in cultivation west of the Mississippi river.

WORK COMMENCED ON THE W. L. ROSS RESIDENCE.

The lines have been laid off and excavation for the walls of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ross' fine residence is in progress, and when finished will be the most prepossessing house in Pecos, and would be a credit to a large city.

SAN DIEGO PANAMA-CALIFORNIA EXPOSITION

San Diego, June 15.—The "exhibits" have begun to arrive at the Panama-California Exposition, the first installment in the form of six Indians from the San Ildefonso pueblo in New Mexico, who will be stationed on the "Painted Desert," the spectacular exhibit of the Santa Fe railway.

These "exhibits" are not purely ornamental. On the contrary, all six Indians, led by their chief, Julian Martinez, who is distinguished by a bright beaded waistcoat and extra long braids of hair tipped with beaver skin, were put to work immediately preparing the adobe for the long row of dwellings and the stockade to surround the reservation. Not even the opening of the exposition on January 1, 1915, will end their work, for all the year they and their companions, several hundred strong, will be building new dwellings on the "Desert," showing the white visitors how the little brown houses are constructed. This is one of the novel features of the Exposition which lays special emphasis on its novelties.

Only six were allowed to leave the pueblo at this time, as most of the red men must remain there during the planting season. In about a month the first installment will be joined by many others, including the squaws who will do the lighter work. Through the twelve months of 1915 they will be at work not only in constructing their buildings, but in making pottery, embroidery and rugs exactly as in their native villages. The Indians will include representatives both of the Pueblos and the wandering tribes.

Julian and his men are well satisfied with the interest they have aroused, bringing good sized crowds to Balboa Park each day to watch the progress of the adobe buildings. They startle most of the visitors by writing their signatures in clear script. All have good common school educations, acquired in the government schools.

CIRCULAR LETTER ABOUT PIGS.

Prof. John C. Burns of the animal husbandry department of the A. and M. College of Texas, has the following to say about "Pigs."

"As a general rule we find it advisable to wean pigs at about ten weeks of age. In the case of the especially thrifty, well developed pigs, and when it is desired to breed the sow as early as possible again, pigs may be weaned at eight weeks old with good results. As a rule, we do not consider it advisable to have a sow farrow before she is 12 months old. Or in other words, it is generally considered best not to breed them until they are between six and nine months old. Breeding too early often has the tendency to check the growth of the gilt and sometimes the effects are permanent."

"Fourteen or fifteen hours' labor in bringing pigs is longer than ordinary and would naturally be weakening on a young gilt. After weaning the litter your gilt now has I would advise not breeding her until she is about 15 or 16 months old. She would thus have a chance to men up and grow some and would bring you a better litter. After reaching two years old any good sow should bring two litters a year without any trouble."

"Turnips, mangel wurzels and all such succulent feeds are good for sows suckling pigs as they are conducive to good milk flow. Whip-poor-will peas have good results as a forage crop for all kinds of hogs and especially brood sows and growing pigs. Ordinarily it is best to let hogs graze them and thus save labor of harvesting. It is best to graze the peas when the fruit is fully developed, but the vines still green, as in this case much of the vines as well as the peas will be consumed."

"Rather than to feed straight corn, it would be best for you to dispose of some of it at $1 per bushel and in return get wheat shorts. Good rich grey wheat shorts are costing here at retail about $1.85 per 100 pounds. Equal parts of corn and wheat shorts will give a very well balanced ration. About the only advantage in having corn ground for hogs is that it can more readily be mixed with other feeds in connection with it."

"I do not think it advisable to breed a sow while she is suckling a litter. I think it best to wait until the pigs are weaned."

WHITE QUIT RACE FOR CONTROLLER

Austin, June 30.—Charles B. White today withdrew from the race for controller. This is his second withdrawal, as he quit soon after the eliminators centered on Tom McClure, and subsequently re-entered the contest. His withdrawal follows:

"To the Democracy of Texas: I hereby announce my withdrawal from the race for controller. This action on my part will, no doubt, be a surprise to my friends and supporters, to whom I tender my sincere thanks and everlasting gratitude."

"Since my friends have been unable to get Mr. Franklin to withdraw from the race, and fully believing that two prohibition candidates can not win against one anti candidate, I lay aside my ambition and my pride in the interest of progressive democracy. I desire to thank the public press for its uniform courtesy and the kind way in which it has handled my name. The press owed me nothing, and whatever it gave me was a gladly welcomed gratuity. I will never forget the kind words and sentiments expressed by many of the papers of the state. I even memorized the classic little gem written of me by J. H. Lowery of Honey Grove."

"I expect to give my time from now until the 25th of July in trying to increase the majority of Thomas H. Ball for governor, after which I will go back to the work of my life upon the farm."

"Allow me again to thank my friends for their many words of encouragement and loyal support."

"I desired this place so that I might do something that the office of controller is badly in need of, and by doing this leave a record that my children could point to with pride. But alas,

CHARLES B. WHITE.

WILSON TELLS WOMEN VIEWS ON SUFFRAGE

Washington, June 30.—Five hundred members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs marched to the White House today and drew from President Wilson a final refusal to accede to demands that he support the movement for a woman suffrage amendment to the federal constitution.

The President reiterated his statements to previous delegations that his party had not embodied this question in its platform, and then for the first time announced his personal conviction that the suffrage issue was one for settlement by the states and not by the federal government. The women departed plainly disappointed and chastened, some talking of immediate action against the democratic party.

Headed by such leaders as Mrs. Ellis Logan, Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, Mrs. Rheta Chiles Dorr and Miss Alice Paul, they had marched to the White House with bands playing and banners flying. They massed themselves in the historic East room, many carrying babies. Once inside the White House, the women made no demonstration and allowed their leaders to do all the talking.

There was no applause as the President entered the east room. Mrs. Ellis Logan, president of the District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs, told the President of the adoption of a suffrage resolution at a recent general convention of her organization in Chicago. She then introduced Mrs. Wiley and Mrs. Dorr. The latter spoke of the strength of the suffrage movement and said that the situation had changed materially since the Baltimore convention. There was a short pause, and then the President stepped forward and addressed his callers.

SIMPLE, BUT EFFECTIVE. POISON FOR THE FLY

A good fly poison can be made by using one pint of water, one tablespoonful of formaldehyde and one tablespoonful of sugar. Place in shallow vessels small square pieces of bread thoroughly saturated with this mixture. Be careful to keep it out of reach of children and animals. Put a vessel or two of this mixture on the back porch to destroy the flies before they get into the house. No other food should be near; then the flies will take the poison, which will kill them quickly and by the thousands.

July 6th

We begin our annual inventory of stock and accounts. Besides the mere fact that our pride makes us anxious to make as good showing as possible, we actually need a great deal of the money that we have tied up in accounts; moreover, we expect to make some changes in our business for the future.

For all these reasons we must ask that many of our patrons whom we have accommodated for many months past, return the favor to us by paying up in full at once. We have made a great effort to accommodate as many as possible in this respect in the past, but our future disposition will be governed entirely by your action at present.

From July 10 to Aug. 1

A collector will have many of our accounts that are past due and on which we are entitled to settlement. We have many customers who always meet their bills when due; we appreciate them as much as anyone can.

If you have an account past due with us, without satisfactory arrangements made for same, you will please observe our disposition of same. Since we have accommodated you, please do not cause us the expense of a collector for this settlement.

Thanking our many customers for many past favors, we are, very respectfully,

BEEF FAMINE IS THREATENED

Buyers of cattle from the dressed beef houses say a temporary beef famine threatens Kansas City and vicinity, its duration depending on the will of the ranch owners in the great grazing sections to the west and southwest.

The slaughter of cattle in Kansas City has been far below normal for some time past, but reached an acute stage this week when fewer than eleven thousand cattle have gone to the six big dressed beef concerns in four days, or no more than enough to supply the state of Missouri a full beef ration for two days. This week's slaughter of cattle will be less than half that of the corresponding week a year ago.

The capacity of Kansas City slaughter houses is eighteen thousand cattle daily and the plants have had less than one-seventh of this number in the past four days.

In four days this week the five Western markets received only 82,000 cattle, compared with 123,000 cattle a year ago a decrease of 33 per cent. In the first five and one-half months this year the same markets received 300,000 fewer cattle than in the same period of 1913, a decrease of 12 per cent. This shortage of meat has been increased further by the unusually light weight of cattle this year, due to the scarcity of feed.

Killers say prices for cattle have been kept within bounds owing to the unusually small use of beef. They say the consumption of mutton has increased, while pork and beef have decreased, thus keeping prices of cattle and hogs lower than expected and prices of sheep higher.

Increased receipts, commission men say, depend entirely on the grazing sections to the west and southwest of Kansas City. Thus far this season that movement, which should be well under way, is far below normal, practically the only grass fat cattle received coming from Texas below the quarantine line. Only one shipment has been received from the Osage country in Oklahoma. The Missouri Valley will supply few feed cattle until another corn crop can be made into beef. Pasture men assert that they will hold cattle for gains, making the marketing season late. Some say it will take killing frosts to turn cattle from grass, and then if the corn crop is as large as it now promises, many will go to feed lots instead of to market.

Thus far this year receipts of all live stock at the Kansas City stock yards were only 40,276 cars, a decrease of 9,289 cars, or 18 1-2 per cent compared with the same period in 1913, and the smallest car lot receipts in any similar period since 1892. The decrease is 117,300 cattle and 225,000 hogs. There is an increase of 18,060 sheep.—Kansas City Times.

HOGS AN AID TO THE FARMER

Mr. Edwin Houston of Welfare, Texas, a member of the advisory board of the Texas Industrial Congress, and president of the Texas Swine Breeders Association, is an enthusiastic believer in the value of hog raising on the farm and has written to the Congress as follows:

"Some people farm for the love of nature, and some for the amusement and glory that they get out of it, but almost everybody farms in order to make a living. This last class—the farmers of and by necessity, are the ones I appeal to.

With them, how to properly feed, clothe and educate their families are the prime factors in life. The grocery bill is their greatest expense and pork, or its products, is the largest single item on this bill. If each family will produce its own pork it will materially increase its prosperity.

This can be done, too, with very little trouble and at only a nominal expense, if all the kitchen scraps, damaged grain and other waste products of the average farm are used for this purpose; and at the same time a small piece of tillable land is set aside and fenced for a hog pasture.

A good way to try out the hog business and at the same time a sure way to get a year's pork supply for nothing is to fence about one acre of land hog-proof. Also cross fence it so as to make two half-acre lots. In these put a small portable hog house of some kind and plant the lots in whatever crops will make the surest and most abundant pasture in your locality.

If the right crops are used, green forage of some kind will be in one or the other of these pastures all the year round.

A good pure bred sow should be bought and she should raise her owner two litters of big, strong pigs each year. With plenty of green pasture and waste from the kitchen and a very little grain the sow and litter can be well cared for. Then, if the pigs are fed heavily on grain from the time they are six to eight months old they will be ready either for making the finest home-cured bacon, hams and sausage or to top the local market.

It is usually more convenient to keep your spring litter for your own killing in the winter and sell the fall litter the following spring or early summer. In this way your fall pigs will bring you a hundred or more dollars in cash which will more than pay for running your hog department and you will have the spring pigs left for your year's meat supply.

I have not considered one sow and her profit in order to discourage those who would keep more than one, but because there is no farmer in Texas that can afford to be without at least one. Then another thing, the greatest mistake that is made by the average man starting in the hog business is that he starts with too many before he knows much about the business.

The Texas Industrial Congress is doing splendid work along this line by inducing farm boys to take one barrow each and properly feed it and keep careful records of gains made and the cost of these gains. If these boys learn how to make a good profit on one barrow they will soon be able to do the same thing with a lot of them.

Texas imported last year over $24,000,000 worth of pork products from other states. Is there much honor in our boast of raising a third of America's cotton supply when we have to trade it off to the other states for pork, especially as cotton is ruining the farms of the South and hog raising is making "corn-belt" farms richer?

No state in the union has as many natural advantages for hog-raising as ours and Texans are too much alive to let these opportunities go by. The only question is how long will it take us to learn?"

LETTER FROM W. R. SMITH

Colorado, Tex., July 3, 1914.
To the Voters of the Sixteenth
Congressional District:

I am a candidate for re-election to Congress and hope to have your support and influence in the Democratic primary election to be held Saturday, July 25, 1914.

Since December, 1908, Congress has been in almost continuous session and I have had little time to spend in the district. I have been in Washington attending to the business of the people who elected me to Congress. In the little time that I shall have to make a campaign it will be utterly impossible for me to see all the people, hence this letter.

If I do not have the pleasure of seeing you between now and the primary election let this letter speak for me.

My long legislative experience, my acquaintance and cordial relations with the President, the members of his cabinet, and with the more than 500 senators and representatives in Congress give me, I believe, more power and influence than any new man could have.

In the discharge of my duties I have been faithful and have given the best service of which I am capable. I have worked in complete harmony with the President to carry out the great reforms for which the Democratic party stands. No threat of political defeat, no seductive lobbyist nor any other sinister influence has swerved or will swerve me one hair's breadth from my duty to the people.

For the confidence and generous support the people of the great 16th district have given me in the past I am profoundly grateful. My debt of gratitude to the people can never be amply repaid, but I have been true to every trust imposed in me and shall continue in that course to the end.

But one year of my service has been under Democratic rule, yet with the Republicans in complete control of every branch of the government, handicapped by them at every turn, I have secured larger benefits from the national government for the people of the 16th district than they had ever enjoyed before.

If my service has been satisfactory and you deem me worthy of it I shall be glad to have your active assistance in my campaign for re-election, and I hope you will come to my support Saturday, July 25, and also urge your friends to vote for me. Sincerely yours,
W. R. SMITH.

WEDDINGS.

SPRAGUE-HEATH.

At 9 p. m. Monday, Miss Ora L. Heath of this city and Mr. Irwin C. Sprague of Artesia, N. M., were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Heath. The ceremony was performed by Homer L. Magee, Christian minister, and was witnessed by Mr. Heath's family and the family of W. R. Glasscock, cousin of the bride.

Miss Heath is well known, both in Pecos and Artesia. She was employed for some time in the office of the Reeves County Record, here, and served for a longer period with the force of the Artesia Advocate in Artesia. She knew how to "stick type," and what is more, she knew how to make of herself one of the most highly respected and most lovable young ladies of the community. We congratulate the groom on his good fortune.

Mr. Sprague is a stranger in Pecos. We are glad to learn that he is a trusted employe of the Santa Fe railroad in Artesia. The fact that Miss Ora "took him" is a sufficient recommendation for his Pecos friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Sprague left Tuesday for Artesia. They expect, in a few days, to visit in Denver, then in Kansas, returning to Artesia to make their home.

The people of Pecos extend to them a wish for the best there is in this life—a happy home.

GAGE-BERTRON.

Miss Lucile Gage and Mr. Samuel Reading Bertron of New Orleans were united in marriage Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Gage, 1401 Pennsylvania avenue.

Owing to the prominence of the young people, much interest has been manifested in this wedding. The bride was accorded a number of pre-nuptial courtesies by her girl friends. The rooms were beautifully decorated with a most tasteful arrangement of roses, carnations and sweet peas in pink and blue. Palms and ferns formed the background for the flowers. An altar of ferns and potted plants blossomed with white, was erected beneath the archway in the drawing room and above a loving cup of white roses was suspended.

The dining tables were centered with the bride's cake around which were garlands of the favored flowers and from the corners of the table to the chandelier above streamers of pink and blue tulle were drawn.

Mrs. Paul Brown gave a delightful musical program before the ceremony, which included the selections "Serenata" by Moszkowski, "If I Were a Bird" by Henslet, "Spring Song" by Lieblin and "By Moonlight" by Bendel. Just before the entrance of the bridal party Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis gave the selection "Most Wondrous It Must Be" by Franz Ries. Mendelssohn's wedding march was the processional and during the ceremony the love song from "Faust" was played by Mrs. Brown.

The bride entered with her father and was preceded by her sister, Mrs. James W. Pearson of Port Gibson, Miss., matron of honor; the flower girl, little Josephine West, and the ring bearer, Mary Elizabeth Trigg. The rose petals and the ring were carried in loving cups formed of blue and pink sweet peas. Mr. James W. Person was the best man. Mrs. Person wore a gown of pink charmeuse hung with white embroidered chiffon with touches of blue. Little Misses West and Trigg wore pink and blue slips with overdresses of white lace.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white charmeuse with tunic of shadow lace, looped with sprays of orange blossoms. Her tulle veil was tied to her head with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses showered with lilies of the valley.

After the ceremony a reception was held, the guests registering in the bride's book, which was in charge of Mrs. Harrill Bridges. Mr. and Mrs. Bertron will spend a month in Pass Christian and will afterward make their home in New Orleans. The bride's traveling costume was taupe silk crepe with rose trimmings and hat to harmonize. Included in the list of guests were Mrs. M. O. Bertron of Lexington, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Gage of Port Gibson, Miss., Mrs. H. H. Cochran of Chicago and Mr. Robt. Douglas Gage, who has recently returned from Austin.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

VETERAN NEWSPAPER MAN VISITING HERE

(Anderson (S. C.) Daily Intelligencer, Sunday, June 14, 1914.)
Among the visitors to the city is S. P. Simonds of Texas, who founded the first newspaper in that part of Texas west of the Pecos river. In 1878, just after the Texas and Pacific railroad was completed across Texas to El Paso and had reached Pecos City, as the town was then called, Mr. Simonds started the publication of the Pecos News. This was the first newspaper started in a territory 400 miles long and 500 miles wide. At that time Pecos had less than 500 people and was noted for its Saturday night escapades. Mr. Simonds made this paper go, and stated here last night that on several occasions he had to carry his guns with him to keep the cowboys from destroying the plant. He remained in Pecos three years, selling his plant to Collie Prewitt, who still lives in Pecos and who is a friend of Secretary Whaley of the local chamber of commerce. The Pecos Valley News was bought up by the Pecos Times in 1894.

CONSUMPTIVES SET FREE FROM STATE PRISONS

Governor Colquitt has liberated from the penitentiary 30 convicts in advanced stages of tuberculosis, the pardons having just been issued. These convicts, it was found, were unable to work and in most instances relatives agreed to take care of them if pardoned by the governor. Each one of these prisoners had a good prison record.—Austin Tribune.

BY THE LIGHT OF THE MOON

Out in Young county the wheat crop is so large and farm hands so scarce that the farmers of that vicinity are harvesting their wheat by moonlight. The recent rains have caused the wheat to mature at such a rapid rate that this course was adopted as the only means of saving the heavy wheat crop of that section.

The song of the reaper as it mingles with the carols of the night birds is an unusual sound, but it makes a noise like progress and speaks for the farmers of Young county a prosperous season and a rich and plentiful harvest.

OUR CATTLE RAISERS ASSOCIATION.

More than two hundred and fifty new members have joined the Texas Cattle Raisers Association since the middle of March, according to President Jackson of that organization. Men who have been members in the past and who have allowed their memberships to expire have asked to be reinstated and from every section of the state new applications are being received.

This is an age of organization, and "no man liveth to himself alone." In every line of industry there is getting to be more and more a spirit of unity, and co-operation, not competition, is the keynote of the successful association today.

ARE GOING TO IMPROVE THEIR HERD OF CATTLE

Messrs. Collier & Love received last week a carload, 26 head, of fine yearling Hereford bulls from the celebrated herd of Swenson Bros. at Stamford.

They were all nicely colored and varied very little in their markings. It is one of the best bunches ever brought to Pecos for Reeves county herds and cost them $65 per head. A number of different judges of good cattle saw the yearlings and congratulated Messrs. Collier & Love on their purchase and were much surprised at the bargain in them, saying that they would have been cheap at $85 per head.

These ranchmen are sure believers in improved cattle and are sparing no means nor effort in getting the best they can procure.

W. S. BEHM OF READING, THE CHAMPION TRAPSHOOTER OF PENNSYLVANIA.

One hundred and forty-seven entrants made the Pennsylvania State Shoot, held at Pittsburg last week, notable even among the always well attended Keystone trapshooting tournaments. The meet was notable also because of the remarkably scores registered. W. S. Behm of Reading, shooting a Remington pump gun, won the state championship with 146 breaks out of a possible 150. The splendid work of Charles Newcomb of Philadelphia was especially admired. Mr. Newcomb, shooting Arrow shells, won high general average with 491 out of a possible 500, tied for the Fort Pitt Cup with Mr. Behm, 98 out of a possible 100, won in the shootoff and made a long run of 217 straight.

Rush Razeo of Curtis, Nebraska, shooting a Remington pump and Arrow shells, broke 614 out of 650—high professional average for the tournament.

Community Co-Operation

COPYRIGHTED FARM AND RANCH-HOLLAND'S MAGAZINE

(M. M. Carrick, M. D.)

When we mention the advantages to be derived from community co-operation we usually think of the united efforts of citizens to promote the growth and welfare of a town or community in which they live, thus bringing about individual prosperity. But there is still another aspect which it behooves us to consider.

A town may be prosperous; it may have the co-operation of its citizens in all matters pertaining to its commercial life, and yet not be an ideal community in which to live. Why? Because of its unsanitary condition. Would it not be well, therefore, to go a step further and never be satisfied until every home and back yard, every place of business, every public building and street is made as clean and sanitary as individual and co-operative effort can make it.

What brought about the splendid results in our recent clean-up campaigns Community co-operation. But we learned that we could not be rigid today and lax tomorrow any more than the housewife could neglect her housekeeping for a week or a day and expect the same results as by systematic, daily effort. Eternal vigilance is the price that must be paid for an ideal community from a sanitary standpoint.

Remember, too, that every consumer has a right to have the fullest and frankest knowledge concerning the food commodities purchased—the meats, canned goods, milk, etcetera. This is a strong argument in favor of insisting on standardized, trademarked-advertised brands.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. You are hereby commanded to summon Andrew Moses by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 70th judicial district; to appear at the next regular term of the County Court of Reeves county, Texas, to be held at the court house thereof, in Pecos, on the second Monday in July, A. D. 1914, the same being the 13th day of July A. D. 1914, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 27th day of February, A. D. 1914, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 442, wherein W. C. Welborn is plaintiff and Andrew Moses is defendant, and the cause of action being alleged as follows: That on July 1, 1910, defendant purchased from plaintiff an undivided one-fourth interest in section 249, block 13, H. & G. And it was agreed between plaintiff herein and Benson that plaintiff was to receive said sum when said note was paid March 1, 1912.

Plaintiff alleges that when said note came due defendant did not pay the full sum of said note to Benson, but stated to Benson that he had settled with plaintiff in regard to same and deducted said sum of $417.00 from said note, paying Benson the balance.

Plaintiff alleges that defendant has never at any time settled with him in re his interest in said note, nor paid him any part of same. Plaintiff prays for judgment against defendant for his debt, principal and interest and costs of suit, etc.

PRESERVING POWDERS AND CANNING COMPOUNDS

The attention of the department has recently been called to the widespread use, especially in rural communities, of salicylic acid in putting up preserves. The head of a large drug and chemical supply house states that people living in southwest Virginia, North and South Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee and western Georgia have been purchasing salicylic acid in one-fourth pound packages for a number of years and that this practice has grown to an enormous extent. This dealer states further that only a few weeks ago he received an order from one wholesale grocer for 50 gross of these goods.

It is entirely practicable to put up both fruits and vegetables in such a manner that, if not opened, they will keep indefinitely, by sterilizing the products by means of heat, and there is no expense for running any risk by using preserving powders. The department of agriculture has issued the following Farmers' Bulletins on canning and preserving:

that large quantities of this acid, and of boric acid as well, are sold under fanciful names as preserving powders or canning compounds at prices which are much in excess of their real value.

In the directions for use the housewife is told to fill the jar with the fruit or vegetable, cover with water, and add a teaspoonful of the powder. It is true that these powders may prevent the decay of the fruit or vegetable, but they also encourage uncleanly or careless work, and their excessive use may be attended with very serious effects upon the health. Salicylic acid is a medicine of the greatest value in acute articular rheumatism and certain other diseases. It is well known as a poisonous substance, and one of the evils which may accompany its use is derangement of the digestion. It is therefore plain that its extensive use in food may lead to disturbance of digestion and health.

It is entirely practicable to put up both fruits and vegetables in such a manner that, if not opened, they will keep indefinitely, by sterilizing the products by means of heat, and there is no expense for running any risk by using preserving powders. The department of agriculture has issued the following Farmers' Bulletins on canning and preserving:

F. B. 293. Canned Fruits, Preserves and Jellies.

F. B. 359. Canning Vegetables in the Home.

F. B. 321. Canning Tomatoes at Home and in Club Work.

These bulletins, which may be obtained without cost by applying to the division of publications of the department, give exact directions for canning and preserving foods without the use of preserving powders or canning compounds.

Do you enjoy good music? If so, you had better arrange to be at the church at 9:45 prompt Sunday morning. Good singing, accompanied by the Bible school orchestra, will be the feature of the opening exercises. "The Prominence of Jesus" and "The Prominence of Jesus' Message" will be the subjects of the Sunday's sermons. Do not forget the C. E. prayer meeting at 7:30 p. m.

Get the church-going habit. It is good for the body as well as the soul. Leave off the cares of the week, forget the hot weather, and join in the worship of the God of all the earth.

This is an invitation to YOU to worship with us next Lord's day.

Little Virgil was a bright, pretty, happy, good-natured little fellow, obedient and affectionate in the home and well-behaved and attentive at Sunday school. God our Heavenly Father, who loves His little lambs, has gathered our little lamb, in safety and happiness, into the eternal fold of His tender keeping.

May God keep and comfort those who mourn and gather them, when their work is done, into His house and home.

J. F. Hedgpeth.
