CLEAN-UP DAY PROCLAMATION

The Governor of Texas has issued the following proclamation:

Whereas, I have been urged and my attention in various and sundry ways has been called to the fact that the Governors of the different states of the union are designating October 9 of the present year as "Fire Prevention Day"; and,

Whereas, one of the greatest economic wastes of the country is the result of not exercising proper care and precaution in preventing destruction of property by fire, and allowing various and sundry kinds of waste material to accumulate on the premises of all persons owning property that is subject to destruction by fire; and,

Whereas, it is necessary that some united action be taken on the part of the citizenship of this state to prevent the accumulation of waste material that subjects personal property of nearly all kinds to destruction by fire.

Now, therefore, I, O. B. Colquitt, Governor of Texas, do hereby proclaim Oct. 9, 1914, as a general clean-up day, and I specially request that owners of property be requested to give personal attention to the removal of all rubbish and debris from their premises; to set their heating appliances in safe and proper condition for winter use; that all chimneys and flues be carefully examined and that the carelessness in permitting the burning of rubbish and combustible refuse near adjoining buildings be discontinued; that the various boards of education throughout the state and those who are charged with the responsibility of the safety of school children, and students, and wards in hospitals, shall use especial effort to protect such property and lives from injury and destruction by fire, and it is especially recommended that city and village councils throughout the state shall observe this as Texas Clean-up Day for the purpose of awakening the proper sense of responsibility of our people and minimize as much as possible the damage from fire within our state, and that the boards of education, public officials and teachers having the responsibility and care of the children, especially in public schools, shall set apart this day for the inauguration of fire drills and such instruction as it is possible to give in regard to fire hazards and the simple methods of fire prevention and rescue work, and that these fire drills be made a permanent feature and practiced at frequent intervals throughout the school year.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto signed my name and caused the seal of the State to be affixed hereon at my office in the city of Austin, Texas, this the 10th day of September, 1914.

O. B. COLQUITT,

Governor of Texas

The observance of Fire Prevention Day by our people of Pecos would be beneficial to us in many ways. Read carefully the above proclamation by the governor, and let all the people of Pecos observe October 9 as "Clean-up Day." Let every householder see that his premises and lot and street adjoining are cleared of all trash and put in a nice, orderly and sanitary condition. Encourage the children of the town to beautify and make clean all the yards and homes; and take all precaution against possible fires now and later.

NEW MEXICO ANNUAL CONFERENCE MEETS HERE

The pastor of the local Methodist church informs the Times man that, if all come who have notified him, that there will be a few over 100 delegates and visitors present at the annual conference next week. This annual conference covers considerable country. Odessa, Texas, is the farthest point east, Sanderson, Texas, is the farthest point southeast, Lordsburg, New Mexico, southwest, Gallup, New Mexico, northwest and Clayton, New Mexico northeast.

The opening sermon will be preached Tuesday night at 8 o'clock by Rev. J. J. Golden of Gallup, New Mexico. Wednesday morning at 9, Bishop H. C. Morrison of Florida, will call the business session to order. Mayor E. C. Canon will deliver the address of welcome on behalf of the city, and Rev. Homer L. Magee of the First Christian church will deliver the address of welcome on behalf of the city churches, and Bishop Morrison will respond to the same.

There will be public addresses, sermons and rallies every night at 8 and business sessions every morning from 9 to 12. The afternoons will be largely devoted to committee work. All sessions will be open to the public and all are cordially invited to attend the same.

The Woman's Missionary Conference for New Mexico and West Texas will meet here in conjunction with the regular annual conference. Their business sessions will likely be held in the First Christian church, but most, if not all of their public addresses will be delivered at the Methodist church in connection with the regular night services there. Sunday afternoon at 4 there will be a great children's and young people's rally conducted by some of the visiting ladies at which the children of the local Methodist church will render some of their splendid choruses.

Sunday morning, Oct. 18, the following program, (subject to change later), will be followed: Bishop Morrison will preach at the Methodist church ordaining the deacons. Dr. Geo. C. Rankin will preach at the First Baptist church. Dr. W. D. Bardfield will preach at the First Christian church. Dr. C. F. Reid will preach at the First Presbyterian church. The further services for the day will be announced later.

The pastor of the local church wishes to thank all those who have opened their homes for the accommodation of the conference, and to express his kind regards for the brother-pastors who have so cordially opened their churches and pulpits for the use of the conference.

Next week's issue will contain a full list of all those in attendance.

WILL ENTERTAIN M. E. CONFERENCE DELEGATES.

The following is a list of those, up to date, who have promised to entertain delegates at the annual Conference: Mrs. W. B. Boles, S. G. Douglas, W. E. Sutphin, J. B. Robinson, A. J. Curtis, J. W. Curtis, O. O. Curtis, Mrs. J. S. Slover, C. S. McCarver, J. A. Brady, Miss Minnie Mitchell, Pecos Hotel, J. A. Buck, Sid Lasley, J. W. Parker, Mrs. W. A. SARAGOSA SAYINGS.

After a lingering illness with typhoid fever, Ralph Arnold died last Thursday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. C. J. Ferguson, in old Saragosa. He was buried in Saragosa cemetery Friday afternoon, funeral services being conducted by Rev. W. M. Beauchamp. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved relatives in this their sad hour of bereavement.

Methodist quarterly conference was held here last Saturday afternoon, Presiding Elder Messer in charge.

Brother Messer preached Saturday night and Sunday.

I. L. Barlow and family of Balmorea were here Sunday afternoon visiting friends.

The Baptists will begin a series of meetings here commencing Saturday night, Oct. 10. The meeting will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. A. Dickson, he being assisted by Rev. J. B. Cole of Pecos.

E. M. McAdams, joint agent for the Missouri Pacific and Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf railroads at Joplin, Mo., was called here last week on account of the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. W. G. Gilbert. He left Monday for his home, his mother being very much improved.

The El Paso Bridge and Iron Co. have completed the new bridge between old and new Saragosa, and foreman J. O. Brown has moved his outfit to Pecos.

DRESS REFORM FOR SCHOOL GIRLS

Mothers' councils and school authorities in various places all over the country are trying to "get together" on the question of simple clothes for girls who are attending the schools. They hope by an organized endeavor to get a standard of simplicity and good taste which will be followed by the girls as a matter of course. In some places uniforms, even, are being suggested.

No sensible mother needs to be told that a pair of high-heeled slippers worn with silk stockings look inappropriate on a schoolgirl. She knows full well that comfortable, walk-in-able shoes are in better taste; that party dress materials look foolish when made up into school clothes; and that the only thing that looks worse than too much jewelry on a young girl is cosmetics and "stage make-up." Yes, she knows that, but the trouble is that daughter doesn't. And in these days of independent daughters, it is only the occasional mother that succeeds in braving custom and youth privilege to the extent of regulating the girl's dress.

It is to form a public opinion which will back up the mother and would give the girls ideals in another and saner channel that the schools and the mothers' circles are combining to attack this matter.

While it is of course true that children in the country school are less open to criticism on the score of elaborate dressing than those in the cities, still there are changes that can be made even there. Faulty styles of hair dressing can be discouraged and healthful and durable garments recommended often when the other mistakes in dressing have been avoided. Mothers should not only feel their responsibility in this matter; they should know their authority.

It is sometimes a good plan to have some general discussion among the pupils themselves about these matters. Often if there are student organization in the school a debate or a discussion opened by a few remarks from one of the teachers will call forth resolutions that will be more whole-heartedly followed than if recommendations come wholly from parents or from teachers.—Southwestern Stockman-Farmer.

TEXAS' FIRST POSTAL SAVINGS BANK.

Port Arthur, Tex., Oct. 8.—The government's first postal savings bank ever opened in Texas was established in this city January 3, 1911, and since that time 531 other Texas cities and towns have followed suit. According to a report issued by federal postal authorities, today there are 532 of these institutions in Texas and the aggregate deposits amount to $546,104. The savings act was passed by congress June 25, 1910, and immediately became a law.

WHAT THE PANHANDLE FARMER THINKS OF THE SILO.

(By Buford O. Brown.)

Farmers in the Plainview country do not question the value of silos. Experience here with the big fireless cookers has created much enthusiasm. Many of these farmers came from Kansas, Iowa and Indiana. They were familiar with the silo before coming to the newer country. It is their opinion that a silo more than doubles the yield in food value of any crop.

Farmers in this country are convinced that intensive stock raising pays largest profits. They will develop high grade livestock and the silo side by side. A number of men who did not have livestock last year disposed of their silage at $4 to $5 per ton and realized much larger profits than the old system of harvesting dry feed would yield.

Eighteen silos are going up in Hale county at this time. Eight of these are pits and will be lined with cement. They will extend about 6 feet above ground of reinforced concrete blocks.

About half of the others are glazed tile; the others are wood staves.

There are now more than fifty silos in the county. All of them have been built during two years. The largest crop yield in the history of the Shallow Water Belt will furnish this number before another year.

FEDERAL DIRECTORS ARE NAMED FOR DALLAS.

Dallas, Oct. 6.—E. O. Tenison of Dallas, who started his financial career as a messenger boy in the City National Bank thirty-four years ago has been named federal reserve agent and chairman of the board of directors of the Dallas regional bank.

With Tenison, other class C directors are: W. F. McCaleb of San Antonio, banker, educator and author, and Felix Martinez of El Paso, real estate developer. He is largely interested in the Elephant Butte project.

Class C directors are the federal directors, that is, named by the government. Their names were announced in Washington last night. This completes the organization of the Eleventh district reserve bank.

3,381,863 BALES GINNED.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Cotton ginned prior to Sept. 25 amounted to 3,381,863 bales, the census bureau announced. Round bales are 3,292; sea island 12,895 bales.

J. W. MOORE DELEGATE TO THE FARMERS' CONGRESS

Fort Worth, Sept. 29, 1914. Mr. J. W. Moore, Pecos, Tex. Dear Sir: This letter is to advise you of your appointment by Gov. O. B. Colquitt as a delegate from Texas to the Farmers' National Congress to be held at Fort Worth Oct. 14, 15, 16, 17.

I have received a letter from Mr. Wm. A. Bowen, member national executive committee in charge of publicity for the thirty-third session of the National Congress, and he expects to arrange for transportation on a basis that will enable every delegate to attend.

Hoping to meet you personally when you attend the Congress, I am, Yours very truly,

R. O. McCORMACK,
Secretary.

October 15th is Farmers' National Congress day at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY.

On Tuesday evening, Oct. 6, from 4 to 6 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Howard entertained a number of little folk, in honor of their little son Milford. This being his sixth birthday, Milford was the recipient of many nice presents from his little friends. For an hour the little people enjoyed playing "London Bridge is Broken Down," "Marching round the Levy" and other interesting out door games.

They were then invited into the dining room to view the snow white birthday cake, on which were six burning candles.

After the candles had been blown out one and all wished Milford a happy birthday and many more to come.

The children then marched back to the lawn, where delicious peach cream and cake was served. There the birthday cake, which contained a dime, a penny and a button was cut. Everyone hoping to be the lucky one, grabbed for a slice of cake.

Junior Boatwright proved to be first lucky, finding the dime in his slice; Louise Starley got the button and Mr. Howard the penny.

The evening was spent in laughter and glee.

After Mr. Howard took the picture of happy little bunch, they left for their homes, feeling glad they were there.

Those present were Della May and Edith Hudson, Louise Starley, Jacksie Floyd, Floy Vickers, Opal Biggs, Lillian Henderson, Modena Prunty, Lovie Dandy, Mammie and Edna Moran, Mary Magee, Virginia Bozeman, Edward Mace, David Wood Bozeman, Francis Hudson, Ben Caldwell, Frank Drummond, Lester Farber, William Adams, Buster Gouglas, Huquin Buck, Junior Boatwright, Dan and Al McCartha.

TEXAS POSTOFFICE STATISTICS.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—According to a recent government report, there are 2,600 postoffices in Texas and of this number 16 are first class, 95 second class, 318 third class and 2,171 fourth class. There institutions employ 9,620 persons and their annual payroll is $5,046,000. The annual receipts of the Texas postoffices is approximately $7,000,000, while five years ago the aggregate incomes was $5,465,000.

CATTLE SHIPMENT.

Wednesday J. G. Love went down to Hoban to assist in loading out the Collier-Love calf crop which they had sold to Pat Cullen of Denver.

There were six carloads—436 head and we were informed that they received $25 a head for them. They were a fine bunch, and were brought in by the Pecos Valley Southern train and transferred to the Santa Fe, being shipped out yesterday.

Inspectors Frank Kelton for the Panhandle and Albert Cooksey for the Cattlemen's Association, were there looking after their concern's interests.

Wednesday W. L. Ross delivered to Steve Ward of Pecos, who represented Jeas Prewit of El Paso, who had purchased them, at Pyote, about 450 head of choice yearlings from his ranch up in New Mexico.

They brought $35 a head and will be pastured in the Rube Reed pasture near Pyote until spring.

We have them now! Banks of Pecos, Okla. at Prewit & Wadley's. 41-1

WHIRLWIND SALE STARTS SATURDAY

We wish to call the attention of our readers to the full page ad. of the El Paso Store in this issue of the Times. Read it carefully and we feel sure that you will find in it many bargains that will be hard to duplicate elsewhere.

The management, in conversation stated that the stock which they are offering at this sale is one of the most complete, consisting mainly, or altogether, of fall and winter goods.

It is the claim of this store that they will sell as cheap as the catalog houses, and a careful perusal of the prices quoted in the advertisement will bear out this statement.

Their invitation is to the people of Pecos and vicinity, promising that those who attend this sale will be more than repaid for the trip, and as they are home people, conducting a home enterprise, we earnestly recommend them to you.

SCHOOL NEWS

There are a number of important matters of which we were to speak, but we will take up only a few this week. The most important of these is the opening hour of school.

The tardy bell rings at 8:50. We need every minute of school time. On account of this we have adopted the rule, common now in many of our best schools, of ringing the tardy bell at 8:50 instead of at 9 o'clock, so giving the teachers this ten minutes to call the roll and see to other opening details and be ready to start classes at 9. Please cooperate with us by having your children here at that time—8:50.

Notice the stamp at the top of your child's report card and also the red ink marks, if any, denoting a failure in the subject so marked. A teacher remarked that these would cause us a great many phone calls. That is exactly what we wish. Phone—or better still—come up and see the teacher or the superintendent. If you will ascertain the trouble and help us we will have less red marks and less "Disapproved" next month. Note your child's deportment especially. This will help.

Ask your children what stamp the teacher placed on their writing and drawing.

The report for the month shows 354 enrolled with an average attendance of 97 per cent. This is very good; rather unusually good to start with. But there is another matter which does not show up as well. We have had 174 tardies. This is about ten times too many. Help us to keep down these tardies. They are an injury to the school and its work.

(Note.—On account of lack of space the honor roll will be published next week.—Ed.)

BAPTIST LADIES MEET.

The Baptist Ladies Aid met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Hefner, assisted by Mesdames Hatch and Hardgraves. Devotional exercises by the president, Mrs. Hatch, after which the following program on State Missions:

What do we mean by state missions?—Mrs. Hardgrave.

A few State Mission Facts—Mrs. Pitts.

State Mission Campaign—Mrs. Schermethorn.

Baptist Women Missionary Workers—Mrs. Johnson.

Missionary Spirit—Mrs. Smothers.

To the Baptist Women of Texas—Mrs. Julia Ward.

Then a very touching and appropriate song by Mrs. Means.

We were pleased to have with us Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Carson from Barstow and Missouri.

We enjoyed a talk by Mrs. Walker telling of their society and trust these visits will be more frequent.

We hope in the near future to have a district meeting of the Women's Auxiliary.

After business we were served to the most delicious strawberry cream and cake. All expressed themselves as having had a pleasant as well as profitable afternoon.

SOCIAL EVENTS

EUTERPEANS HONOR MISS PRUETT.

The Euterpean Club ushered in the social season of the fall on last Saturday morning with a beautifully appointed pre-nuptial breakfast, given in honor of one of our most attractive members, Miss Lillian Pruett.

"This said that a woman cannot keep a secret; however, we club members proved that this is not true, for we certainly did keep this delightful affair quiet until near the very hour, when our president, Mrs. Weid, phoned to notify Miss Lillian that the club was to meet with Mrs. Moore at nine thirty o'clock, and we were expecting her to be on time.

Mesdames Means, Randals and Preddy called in a car at the Pruett home at the appointed hour for the bride-elect and her sister, Mrs. Adams.

A musical program appropriate to the occasion, had been arranged; accordingly, this party's arrival at Mrs. Moore's was heralded by the playing of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, by Miss Florence McCarver.

After hearty handshaking and amid much laughter, while Miss Julia Davis rendered "Hearts and Flowers," accompanied by Mrs. Jordan, we were asked into the dining room. We found our places at tables where floral decorations and artistic effect reached a climax of beauty, with the place cards hand-painted sprays of violets, the club flower, and other floral decorations in club colors.

As a thanks offering the club sang the Wesley Grace—

Be present at our table, Lord;
Be here as everywhere adored.
Give us Thy grace and grant that we May feast in paradise with Thee.

The menu, consisting of fruit cocktail, fried chicken, cream gravy, French fried potatoes, jelly, hot rolls and butter, coffee, cocoa, cherry ice, cake, was then served by four young ladies—Misses Mildred McCarver, Nannie Mae Collings, Mildred Obitz and Ruby Chastain, each daintily decked in lavender and white.

Vocal music, "Mine," sung by Mrs. Link, accompanied by Mrs. Means, and "Oh, Promise Me," sung by Miss McCarver, accompanied by Miss Florence McCarver, and the following toasts by the officers of the club were interspersed with this delicious and excellently served breakfast—a feast of both we all agreed.

Mrs. Weid:
Our club can give breakfast any old day
And never go outside our door.
We've a Cook, and two Carvers and plenty of Means.
And if not, we know where there's Moore.

This is to remind you that Euterpeia is the goddess of poetry as well as music.

Mrs. J. W. Moore:
In choosing her husband this Euterpean lass
The Lily of the Valley of Pecos land
Has filled our great need,
For in Samuel we read
"David took a harp and played with his hand."

Mrs. Krauskopf:
They'll never need hire a butler
In the home of Lillian Pruett.
If Lillian's not able To cook and set table
I'm sure that her Butler will do it.

Mrs. Means:
She can sing, she can play,
She can play, bake and chochet,
She can plan anything, and go thru it,
And if any new problems comes up day by day
I am sure that a Pruett can do it.

The Euterpeans trust that the Duet in which our Soloist will appear in the future will never Register a Discord. May the Basso Profundo be always A Tempo, and the Soprano in Unison. May their quarrels be Sempre Moderato. May life's Duet be always in Harmony to the Grand Finale.

Because Tuning Forks are a musical thing,
We tried to buy forks for this Lass o' the ring.
We'll miss her, her fiddle, piano, and tunes.
With love we present her with six shiny spoons.

Excitement ran high when we were told that now the cake for the bride-to-be containing thimble, needle, and dime was to be cut. The fortunate winners were to do the darning and patching for our honored guest for the coming six months, or at least until the thread, bought with the dime, should play out.

Miss Jeanes fell heir to the thimble, Mrs. Preddy was the lucky finder of the needle, and Mrs. Ben Randals cut the dime.

This little episode brought to a close one of the most delightful occasions of our club life.

Miss Pruett is one of Pecos' most accomplished daughters, and this with her other rare and gracious charms had made her a place in the heart of every one present, and we wish for her a long, prosperous and happy life, with all the blessings that flesh is heir to.

The following guests were present: Misses Lillian Pruett, Jeanes, McCarver, Florence McCarver, Nellie Hines Eppler, Julia Davis, and Goldie Wilhite; Mesdames J. C. Weid, J. W. Moore, W. Adams, C. B. Jordan, H. B. Link, S. F. Means, M. Krauskopf, C. M. Wilson, J. C. Preddy, Ben Randals, A. G. Taggart, Joel Hudgpath, and Mrs. Mace.

WHY NOT PUBLISH IT?

When you want a fact to become generally known, the right way is to publish it. Mrs. Joseph Kallans, Peru, Ind., was troubled with belching, sour stomach and frequent headaches. She writes, "I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me. They have helped my digestion and regulated my bowels. Since using them I have been entirely well." CARNEGIE LIBRARY NEWS.

The report of the librarian for the month of September shows a rapid growth in the number interested in the institution. The number of books total 650. The following have contributed books during the last month: Hill Hudson, Roy Adcock, Pauline Dundy, Alfred Pask, James Slover, Frank Adams, and J. L. Davidson. Magazines have been contributed by Mrs. Casey, Mrs. Wied, Mrs. Warn and Miss Rose Briscoe. Mr. and Mrs. Elkins have contributed a complete file of Colliers for the past year. Mrs. McBirney contributes the current issues of the Chicago Tribune.

There have been a total of 195 books loaned during the month and 56 new borrowers' cards issued. This makes a total of 296 people now borrowing from the library. Just now the young people's library is at a standstill. The boys and girls have done their part; they have brought their story books and given them to the library, so that their friends may read them and every child's book in town seems to have reached the shelves. Even then the collection is not large, and most of the boys and girls have read every book suitable to their years. We realize that good books must be provided to compete with the cheap sensational literature that somehow finds its way into the hands of every child. The standard children's books may be purchased from any reliable firm for about 50 cents a volume. Ways of obtaining the books have been discussed, but all would require a great deal of time, and in the meantime we would lose our young people and their interest would be centered elsewhere. The best way seems to be a direct appeal to those interested. Mrs. C. M. Wilson promises to contribute a number of Louise M. Alcott's works and Mrs. Wied offers to contribute five volumes from the following list which we hope to secure in the near future. We ask everyone interested to contribute one or two volumes each, and thus secure for Pecos children good reading for the winter evenings. Leave your contributions at the library before Nov. 1:

The Lamplighter, Dickens' Xmas Stories, Gulliver's Travels, Treasure Island, Little Lord Fauntleroy, Hans Brinker, Toby Tyler, Rebecca of Sunny Brook Farm, Bird's Xmas Carol, Emmy Lou, Five Little Pappers, Beautiful Jo, Elsie Dinsmore, Bible Stories, Dog of Flanders, Rip Van Winkle, Through the Looking Glass, Heidi, Helen's Babies, Little Lyanal, Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, Penrod, Robinson Crusoe, Alice in Wonderland, Little Men, Little Women, Jo's Boys, Under the Lilacs, Rose in Bloom, Eight Cousins, Jack and Jill, An Old Fashioned Girl, Anderson's Fairy Tales, Aesop's Fables.

With such a collection of children's books we need have no fear of our children reading Nick Carter or Dick Merriwell. Buy a book for the boys.

FROM TOYAH ENTERPRISE.

C. W. Davis of Big Springs visited his sister, Mrs. Lane, and brother Alex Davis, in Toyah last week.

Work of filling in the break in the dam of the big T. and P. reservoir, recently washed out by the floods, is progressing nicely and the gap will again be closed in a few days.

Matt Grisham was in town yesterday having some branding irons made preparatory to branding up his colts. He says the worms are pretty bad yet and probably will be until the real cold weather sets in.

SIXTEEN ARRESTED FOR FRAUDULENT SCHEMES

Fort Worth, Oct. 8.—According to records on file in the postoffice inspector's department there were sixteen persons arrested for fraudulent schemes in connection with the handling of United States mail in Texas during 1913, and 12 of them were indicted. Of this number 7 have been convicted and 5 are awaiting trial.

The federal government employs 390 inspectors whose duties are to maintain a general watch over the handling of United States mail; to investigate alleged violation of the postal laws and to aid in the prosecution of criminal offenses.

NEWS NOTES FROM THE TOYAH VALLEY HERALD

Max Krauskopf, a well known business man of Pecos, was in Balmoreba yesterday.

Ralph Landrum of Pecos, owner of a garage and agent for the Oldsmobile, was in town Tuesday, accompanied by his wife and sister and A. B. Albro of El Paso.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Palmer left last week for Pecos, their future home. Mr. Palmer has a lucrative position in one of the big garages in that thriving city.

E. P. Stueckler, manager of the U ranch, was here in his auto the front end of this week looking as young and handsome as ever. He reports grass good on the U range and cattle fat and sleek.

Don M. Lackenby of Pecos last week carried off the belt as the champion fisherman, landing a "Gato" fish on Toyah Creek that weighed fourteen and one-half pounds.

From present indications there will be considerable increase in the acreage of small grain next year. Several of our best farmers are preparing their land for wheat, barley and oats for next year.

Joe Breedlove, the honey boy, is steering the business end of the Colonial Pool Hall during the absence of the proprietor, H. T. Lavelle.

Miss Willie-de Woods, the efficient county and district clerk of Reeves county, was in Toyah Valley Saturday on business relating to the hearing of the proposed irrigation district. Miss Woods has a host of friends here in Toyah Valley, who are always glad to see her.

Judge J. A. Buck of Pecos was one of the distinguished visitors in our little city last week. Judge Buck is the senior member of the firm of Buck & Starley of Pecos, which firm is one of the leading law firms in Texas. Messrs. Buck & Starley have been employed to assist in organizing the irrigation district. Judge Buck was for a number of years the county attorney of Reeves county, and numbers his friends by his acquaintances.

BARNES' CIRCUS COMING.

General contracting agent Murray A. Pennock of the Al. G. Barnes Wild Animal Circus was here one day this week arranging for the appearance of the Barnes Show in Pecos on Tuesday, Oct. 27.

"Wherein does the wild animal circus differ from the old-time regulation circus?" was asked.

"The Barnes Circus is different because the entire entertainment offered is given by trained animals—largely wild animals," replied Mr. Pennock.

"Al G. Barnes, the wild animal training wizard and proprietor of the Barnes shows, was the originator of the wild animal circus launching the innovation nine years ago. That the new amusement idea met with the approval of the public is attested by the fact his circus now ranks as the largest animal show in the world.

"For thirty-five years Mr. Barnes has been a trainer of wild animals, and early in his career decided that the public would welcome an exclusive, clean, wholesome entertainment given by educated animals, and to that purpose he bent his efforts."

"Every one of the 600 acting animals now with this great show has been trained under his personal supervision—the greatest number ever assembled in one collection.

"Big, thrilling, sensational wild animal features predominate on the program—lions, tigers, leopards, jaguars, pumas and bears being shown in great groups. Twenty-four African lions appear in the arena at one time under one trainer's direction. Elephants, camels, zebras, seals, and sea lions, kangaroos, dogs, goats, monkeys and a troupe of 550 beautiful horses and ponies are a part of this animal, acting aggregation.

"A many sided man, is our Mr. Barnes. He fondles the lions, tigers and bears and they answer his call as that of a friend. When they become unruly or 'go bad,' Barnes becomes the trainer and reduces the beasts to a state of tractability again. He is known as the only circus owner in the world who can work any act in the show. Horses are his particular hobby, and with his show can be seen some of the finest bred and best trained horses known to exist."

'TUNED UP WHOLE SYSTEM.

"Chamberlain's Tablets have done more for me than I ever dared hope for," writes Mrs. Esther M. Baker, Spencerport, N. Y. "I used several bottles of these tablets a few months ago. They not only cured me of bilious attacks, sick headaches and that tired out feeling, but toned up my whole system." For sale by all dealers. (Adv.)

BEGINNING OF THE BETTER BABY MOVEMENT

The origin of the now popular and wonderfully helpful Better Baby Movement is told by Miss Amanda Stoltzfus of the University of Texas home economic department, in a bulletin entitled "Better Babies on Texas Farms" now from the press, as follows: "Just three years ago Mr. Mary Watts of Audubon, Iowa, attended the Denver live stock show. She was impressed with the care and attention given to good live stock, while no where in the great exhibit of almost perfect cattle was space devoted to growing better children. Imbued with the idea that children are of prime importance to the state, she hurriedly walked from the fair grounds, saying to a friend, 'I feel as if I were in the center of a whirlwind that bids fair to take me off my feet.' Mrs. Watts took the first train for the Iowa State House where the legislature was in session. There her earnest and enthusiastic appeal for the children of Iowa almost swept the lawmakers off their feet and resulted in a $75,000 appropriation on the Iowa state fair grounds. This building was to be devoted entirely to the cause of better babies."

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

There are many times when one man questions another's actions and motives. Men act differently under different circumstances. The question is, what would you do right now if you had a severe cold? Could you do better than to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended by people who have used it for years and know its value. Mrs. O. E. Sargent, Peru, Ind., says, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is worth its weight in gold and I take pleasure in recommending it." For sale by all dealers. (A)

TO OFFER PRIZES FOR GRAIN CROPS

Dallas, Oct. 8.—To encourage the movement for a reduction of next year's cotton acreage, and for the information of the farmers of the state in order that they may prepare their land now, the Texas Industrial Congress announces its intention to offer prizes next year for the best yields, cost of production considered, on not less than five acres cultivated in wheat, oats, barley, and perhaps rice.

Because of their value for winter pasture and in preventing surface washing, and also because of their low cost of cultivation as compared with cotton, these grains are nearly as profitable as cotton in ordinary times, and are certain to be more profitable than an over production of cotton, in view of the European war situation. Small grains afford an admirable substitute for cotton on much of the land cultivated in cotton this year, and which if the acreage is at all reduced, might not otherwise be utilized. The European war assures splendid prices for feedstuffs of all kinds, and the farmer who plants winter wheat and other small grains this fall can count upon getting good prices, such as have not been realized for a number of years.

The abundant recent rains have insured enough moisture in the ground to start the prompt growth of all grain crops, and there can be no better possible preparation of the soil for them than the cultivation which the land has received in growing this year's cotton crop. Grain does best when sown upon a firm-seed bed that has been deeply prepared sufficiently in advance of the sowing to have become firmly settled. This is just the condition in which the cultivation of cotton has left the ground. The farmers may reasonably expect, therefore, a good yield of wheat, oats, or barley planted now in the middles between the cotton. This can be done with any of the drills made especially for that purpose, or by running a bull-tongue through the middles, making about four furrows, sowing the seed in these furrows and then covering them with a harrow, or the seed may be sown broadcast and then covered with a harrow. Where this method is used not less than two bushels of oats and one-half bushel less of wheat should be sown; if the drill is used about one-half these quantities is sufficient.

Great care should be taken in selecting wheat, oats and barley for seed, and, if possible, seed raised in the community, which has been tested for several years, should be sown. The use of much fertilizer when planting fall grain is not advisable, but if the soil has previously been fertilized with stable manure, nothing can be better. Stable manure applied fresh, however, at the time the grain is sowed is apt to do more harm than good by pushing the grain forward too rapidly and developing a tendency to lodge next spring. In the spring, if the grain does not start promptly, a top dressing of from 300 to 400 pounds of fertilizer composed of equal parts of cottonseed meal and acid phosphate will be helpful.

A general planting of grain crops this fall not only insures good crops and high prices next year, but also promises an abundance of cheap feed for livestock, and guarantees that the livestock now on the farms will be in the best possible condition next spring for sale when the demand will be greatest. This adds no addition cost, for careful pasturing of the winter grains will not injure them, but will be of positive benefit, as it causes them to root more deeply and protects them from injury by winter freezes.

COTTON OIL MILLS INCREASING

Greenville, Tex., Oct. 8.—The number of cotton seed oil mills in Texas increased from 220 in 1912 to 229 in 1913, according to a report just issued by the census bureau. There were 1,166,000 tons of seed crushed by these establishments. The total cotton seed production of Texas during that year was 1,755,000 and all except 411,000 were crushed by Texas mills.

THE MAGIC WASHING STICK.

TEXAS FOUR MILLS DO A RUSHING BUSINESS

Dallas, Oct. 8.—The European war has not retarded the flour milling business of Texas according to local millers. Business is better than ever before and the mills of this city are grinding 10,000 bushels of Texas wheat each day. Texas millers are accepting no future orders, but are selling upon a ten-day delivery basis. The cash business is larger than ever before and practically every order is accompanied by check.

LIBRARIES FOR THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Austin, Oct. 8.—"Libraries for Public Schools" is the subject of a fifty-page pamphlet prepared by E. V. White, of the division of public school improvement, department of extension, University of Texas. A sufficient number have been printed to meet any ordinary demand. The greatest practical benefit offered by this booklet is the various groups of books suggested, classified with regard to subjects, and also with regard to grades in the schools. Valuable suggestions are made as to the proper use of a library in a school, as to how to go about securing a library, the items to be considered in the purchase of books, and as to the proper care of books. While designed primarily for guidance of school authorities, the bulletin is of great interest to anyone contemplating the purchase of books for juveniles.

DEEPEST WELL IN TEXAS

Austin, Oct. 8.—The deepest hole ever bored in Texas soil is at Spur in Dickens county, and extends into the ground for a distance of 4,489 feet, nearly one mile.

The hole was bored by S. M. Swenson & Sons in search of a water supply for the city of Spur and as a general exploration of the formations for the vicinity. It required five years and seven months to drill the hole and the experiment cost $50,000.

After encountering practically every formation known to geology, the project was abandoned last November, after losing a part of the drill in the hole.

The project has attracted attention all over the nation and many experts of the United States government have investigated it. The University of Texas has prepared a bulletin dealing with the exploration in detail and it makes an excellent reference book as it contains first hand information on the stratigraphy of a section covering one-fifth the area of Texas.

FARM TO FAMILY PLAN

Within the last twelve months a new order of marketing of farm products has appeared in Texas. The efforts of the express companies of this state have made possible the buying of fresh foodstuffs direct from the producer to the consumer. Parcel post competition and the express reduction have stimulated the transportation companies into their present new field of endeavor and the plan is working wonderfully well.

The consumer is saving approximately 20 per cent and the producer is receiving better prices than ever before, while the express companies are performing the middleman's function without his profit.

NOW HER FRIENDS HARDLY KNOW HER

But This Does Not Bother Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

EXPOSITION TO OPEN ON TIME

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 8.—Three months from today the San Diego Exposition will be opened to the world. On this day occurs the formal opening of the Panama Canal whose completion is to be celebrated by the two expositions at San Francisco and San Diego. No other event has been marked by two celebrations of this sort, and no other event has been of such prime importance to the country which is celebrating. The striking feature of the expositions is that they are celebrations not alone of something which is completed and gone on, but rather of something which is ahead; they might be considered as heralding the mightier growth of the West through presenting to the world the opportunities the West offers.

Europe today is plunged in the greatest war of all time, and in 1915 will not receive the 500,000 American tourists who have gone there each year. Since those tourists cannot go to Europe they are coming beyond a doubt to the West coast, and here they will see sights beside which those of Europe, and Asia, and Africa amount to little. No other country in the world has the majestic harmony of sea and canyons and mountains and forests and valleys beneath the clear blue sky of the American West.

But it is more than a scenic tour. It is a voyage of discovery for the men of the East who know nothing of the opportunity that is awaiting them on the coast. They know vaguely that the canal will bring the West coast much nearer the older cities of the East and across the Atlantic. They do not realize that the hinterland of the west coast is going to be opened up to industry and commerce for the reason that the railroads from the coast will carry traffic from the East over the mountains, and from the back country out to the coast and back to the East again.

The great service of the expositions will be to bring people through the West country. It will be to show them what the West country offers in the way of agricultural development. That is the prime reason for the emphasis which the San Diego exposition is laying upon its agricultural features—the most important agricultural exhibit which has ever been held. Visitors to the world's fairs of former years saw farming machinery standing idle in a great hall of machinery, and paid little attention to it because they could not understand it fully. At San Diego they will see this machinery, but it will be at work in a tract sown to various grains and grasses, moving up and down the rows, performing just the same service it is supposed to perform on the great farms of the West. Of such an exhibit they will have an understanding. They will look long and they will remain long. And those visitors to whom the operation of an 80 or 160 acre farm can mean little, will also see the model intensive farm down the Alameda.

where on five acres of land is grown as much as on four or five times as much space under old conditions. The effort is to show that new ideas have come about, and that today by scientific methods the farmer can support himself and his family easily, and lay aside a considerable surplus annually from one of these small tracts. It is a lesson of tremendous importance to the city man who has had little success and wants to leave the city, but does not know how to get back to the land. Mighty things have been done in the West in recent years, but there are still mightier things to be done, because the resources of the great West are hardly tapped as yet.

Similar in spirit as showing old things in new form is the display of the Southern counties, whose citrus orchard lies along the Alameda directly across from the model intensive farm. Instead of seeing a great stack of oranges and lemons and grapefruit, the visitor will see the citrus fruits growing on the trees. He will be able to smell the fragrance of the bloom. He will discover that the orange really grows on a tree instead of growing in the crate in which he has always seen it in the fruit displays back East.

Adjoining this citrus orchard is the tea plantation which has been brought to San Diego from Ceylon. The 200 tea plants are in charge of a Singalese nurseryman, and thru-out 1915 the natives will cultivate the trees and strip from them the commercial tea leaves, turning them over to the girls who will cure them and prepare them for serving to visitors in the pavilion at the center of the plantation. The progress made

Austin, Oct. 8.—Wm. Thaw, a brother of Benjamin Thaw, last season a student in the University of Texas, has joined the acroplane corps of France, and is now fighting in northern France against the German army of invasion. It will be remembered that young William Thaw made many daring exhibition flights in America a few years ago, and was known as one of America's foremost aviators. He has been spending the summer at Cannes, France, and when the call to arms came, was evidently unable to resist the temptation to participate in the first war that was to use to any great extent the machine the mastery of which he had spent so many years in attaining.

Arkansas has adopted the publicity law submitted to the people at the state election on Sept. 14 by the Arkansas Press Association under the initiative and referendum.
The bill was initiated by nearly 18,000 voters, and calls for a reduction in the period of time now required for the publication of laws and amendments from six to four weeks; for the publication of all general laws passed by the legislature in at least one newspaper in each county; for the publication of county and commissioners' court

all general orders by the railroad commission; for the publication of

FIRE PREVENTION.

(By S. W. English.)

Greater love hath no man than to to lay down his life for a friend, and the greatest love, it seems to me, ought to be that which saves a friend the fruits of his labors.

Every man is responsible to his fellow man. The fire fiend is no respector of persons; he walks like a pestilence at times.

You owe it to yourself that your property is kept in condition, wholly unattractive to fire damage, or its master, the fire fiend. But in greater degree, you owe protection to your neighbor through protection of yourself.

Fires are easy to prevent. Seventy five per cent of them have no cause to occur.

A little foresight, constant care and steady vigilance will reduce both your fire insurance rates and liability of fire loss. These three are better than all extinguishers

panies ever formed.

COPYRIGHTED FARM AND RANCH-HOLLAND'S MAGAZINE

It is only human to get into a rut and do things exactly as our forefathers did. We are all such creatures of habit. For example, we have thought for centuries that there was but one way to finish the inside walls and partitions of our houses and other buildings, just as our ancestors did by plastering, despite the fact that as soon as the walls "settled" great, ugly cracks appeared in the plaster. Then we awoke to the fact that there was a better way, and now we have more modern methods that are revolutionizing building plans.

Great-Uncle David and Great-Aunt Mehitabel used to drive an entire day or more to do their "marketing" and "shopping." They had to, for there were no rural free deliveries, no telephones, no telegraph parcels post, automobiles or motorcycles to enlarge their radius bottom from a purchasing and farming standpoint. Today it is different.
The farmer has the same needs for clothing and the actual necessities of life as his city brother, but unlike his forefathers he spends less time going after them. In other words, if he does not care to go to the mountain, he requests the mountain to come to him.

In the first place, the modern farmer is an up to date individual.
He is well informed, and in many cases is a college graduate. He knows how to "shop" by telephone or mail. If he did not his efforts would be about as disappointing as hunting for the pot of gold that is supposed to be hidden at the end of the rainbow.

If he wants collars or shirts or trousers, rakes, plows or harrows, it is all the same. He can speed an order to his merchant by phone or mail and by asking for standard brands with which he is familiar he knows that his purchases will be satisfactory in every way. He is not looking for "bargains" or "price-cut" brands inferior in quality and workmanship. He wants only the best and is willing to pay for the best. He wants what he wants when he wants it, and will take no substitute.

Even though he has never sold collars, or rakes or plows, he has perhaps spent years perfecting a seedling strawberry plant that bears his name, or breeding cattle that he has individualized, and he has been up against competition so hard that he knows the game. You cannot fool the farmer, for he no longer bears the opprobrium of "Hayseed."

Being accustomed to think and act for himself, he is not so susceptible to substitution on the part of the dealer, for his tastes have been educated to the better things.

There is now in progress in Continental Europe the greatest struggle in the history of the world.

While the brunt of this titanic war is of course falling on the shoulders of the citizenship of the nations engaged, its effects are being felt by every civilized country in the universe.

Direct effects on the cotton-growing districts of the United States, and its measures adopted to protect our cotton growers and cotton-producing communities, present conclusive evidence of the advantages of, and necessity for, community cooperation.

No sooner had the call to arms been sounded throughout warring Europe than the world's cotton market crumpled and fell like a punc-tured balloon.

The South, with a record-breaking cotton crop almost ready to be harvested, could find no market.
Foreign mills that had been buying our surplus had been closed down and domestic mills lacked capacity for the care of the yield in sight.

Farmer whose lands were planted to cotton faced financial disaster. Communities faced panics.
Something must be done to protect our cotton farmers.

Something was done. By whom?
BY THESE FARMERS' FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS. By men and women in every line of endeavor throughout all "cottondom."

The "Buy a Bale at Ten Cents a Pound" movement was launched.
Merchants and professional men began purchasing their bales of distressed cotton from farmers in their communities and advised others to do likewise until the sidewalks of many Southern cities, towns and villages have come to resemble cotton platforms.

Every person who is able should buy a bale, thus furnishing the farmers funds with which to supply their needs.

THE "ORTO" IN GEORGIA.

An indignant Georgia farmer sent this inquiry to the Atlanta Constitution:

"One o' them city ortomobiles killed my bull, and I don't know what number it was. The number of the bull was branded to him, but that don't do me no good. What I want to know is: Can the state give me the number of the orto?
Hit was a red one, with a white man in it and going like hell, so to speak."—hilaPdelphia Public Ledger.

HE WOULD TRAVEL.

"I wish I had money enough to get married," he remarked.
She looked down and blushed.
"And—what—would—you—do?"
she asked, looking very hard at a little design on the carpet.
"I would spend it traveling," he replied. And the thermometer fell ten degrees.—Lippincott's Magazine.

TO RESIST THE ATTACK—of the germs of Consumption, Scrofula, Grip, Malaria, and many other diseases—means fight or die for all of us. These germs are everywhere in the air we breathe. The odds are in favor of the germs, if the liver is inactive and the blood impure.

What is needed most is an increase in the germ-fighting strength. To do this successfully you need to put on healthy flesh, rouse the liver to vigorous action, so it will throw off these germs, and purify the blood so that there will be no "weak spot," or soil for germ-growth.

We claim for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery that it does all this in a way peculiar to itself.

It cures troubles caused by torpid liver or impure blood.

"The Common Sense Medical Adviser," latest edition, in French cloth binding, will be sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of wrapping and mailing only. Address Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HEISKELL'S

One application soothes and heals a rough, pimply skin, and, when repeated, quickly effects a cure. Eczema, Erysipelas, Tetter, Ulcers and all skin diseases yield to its curative properties. 50c. a box. At all Drug Stores.

WHY "YES, BUT" MAN IS POOR GARDENER

(By T. B. Baldwin in Dalls News.)

Some forty-odd years ago the late Bishop McIntyre, while making a tour through Texas in a buggy, drove up to a small farmhouse to get directions as to certain roads. The farmer came out to the gate in answer to the bishop's "Hello!" and after getting the desired information the minister observed:

"This is a great country you have out here in Texas."

"Yes, but its so far to town or anywhere, the farmer replied.

"You have good roads, though, I see, in this section at least. I have seldom seen better."

"Yes, they're good enough in dry weather, but its turrrible travelin' when it rains."

"I never saw better beef than yours," the bishop said encouragingly.

"Yes, but people don't want to eat nothin' but beef," the farmer answered discouragingly.

The optimistic bishop, still endeavoring to throw some sunshine upon the farmer's mind, said, "Such a delightful climate you have in Texas! ou must have fine health here."

"Yes, but the northers are awful on the constitution," replied the farmer in a most gloomy tone.

"I note your land seems to be very rich and produces fine crops."

"Yes, but the grasshoppers have eat up my turnip patch."

"Don't your pigs get fat on the grasshoppers?"

"Yes, but it worries 'em to death to catch the things."

"Your chickens are lively and they can catch them."

"Yes, but it makes their meat taste, so they say."

The bishop, perceiving a vein of unconsolable humor in the farmer's replies, said:

"Good-bye, my inconsolate friend. May you come to take a more cheerful view of life. Good-bye till we meet again."

"Yes, but we may never meet again in this world," was the parting wail of the sad-faced croaker.

Bishop McTyeire adds, in his notes of the incident: "I rather hope we shall not. Deliver me from 'Yes, but,' generation, a people who live to be miserable and are always denuce."

taking the other side against Providence.

The "yes, but" generation, as Bishop McTyeire terms them, are not found on the farms only. They infest all the walks of life. They are the "bitter weeds" of society who, as some wit has said, "are never so happy as when they are miserable."

To them there is no silver lining to life's clouds; all sides of every proposition are dark from their viewpoint. Ask one of these "yes, but" why he doesn't plant some trees and flowers about his home, he will reply:

"Taint no use. The dry weather'll kill the trees and the bermuda grass chokes the flowers."

He's the same way about a garden. He'll tell you, "It's always either too wet or too dry to plant anything in this country, and if it is planted and happens to come up, the cutworms and other insects will get it all before you can say 'scat.'"

One of these "yes, but" said the other day that it would cost him 10 cents to buy enough beans to plant and that he could get more dry beans to eat than 10 cents worth of seed would produce on his lot. No doubt he told the truth, if it depended upon him to do the planting and the cultivating. That same indolent pessimist has neighbors who have had an abundance of beans, black-eyed and cream peas and numerous other vegetables all summer out of their own gardens, while he and his family have done without or got along as best they could on the meager supply they were able to buy. While the "yes, but" family almost famished for fresh vegetables, those who had their own little gardens feasted upon them.

The main reason why there are so many of the "yes, but" breed abroad in the land is simply because they fail to use common sense in their efforts at gardening. Failing to follow the plain and simple demands of Nature, they fail to reap good harvests, become discouraged and then they whine: "Yes, I planted soce pertaters last May but they didn't do no good." Common sense would have dictated the planting in February or March, long enough before the hot dry summer time to mature a crop. A little story will illustrate the necessity of common sense in gardening:

Avery stingy but ostensibly pious old deacon had a brusque, plain-spoken German neighbor named Schmidt. Meeting him one morning the old deacon said: "Brother Schmidt, how is it that you always make from twenty to thirty bushels of wheat to the acre while I scarcely make ten? My land is just as good as yours; I plow it as well as you plow yours, and I get the same seasons that you get; yet you always make two or three times more than I make. Pray tell me, if you can, how it is."

"B-e-l-l," slowly replied "Brother" Schmidt, "I dells you how dot vos. You see, ven you goes mit your field to sow your veet, you put your hant down mit der bag und you dakes oud some veet mit your fingers so (indicating with thumb and two fingers how a man would take a very small quantity of seed) und you sows dot leedle veet so (going through the motion of slow and careful sprinkling of seed) und you say: 'Got bless der veet! Got bless der veet- Cot bless der veet! See?'"

The deacon "saw" and smiled grimly.

"Now, den," proceeds the practical German, "you see ven I goes mit der field to sow veet, I run mine hant down deep in der bag, und I dakes oud mine fist full, und I sows pig handfult of veet so (indicating vigorous action in scattering plenty of seed) und I say 'Tog gone der veet; Gon fount der veet! To hell mit her veet! See? Unl I make dwedn, tirty—sometimes tirty-five bushel—und you make dem, mebbe twelf. See?'"

Schmidt simply had the good, clear common sense to plant plenty of seed on well prepared land, while his pious but short-sighted neighbor tried to raise a full crop on a one-half allowance of seed, clearly showing his lack of practical judgment. We see plenty of men trying to raise vegetables like Schmidt's old neighbor tried to raise wheat, and they make short crops, of course.

The man who sowed plenty of green stuff for his fall supply of vegetables is now the happy man. There's a good lot of them, too—men who now have green gardens with luxuriant plots of mustard, turnips and late beans to feast upon. Some also have patches of late corn and some are now eating their own home-raised sweet potatoes. A few have beds of asparagus also, and are enjoying the luxuries that the families of the poor "yes, but" are deprived of.

The man who sowed for greens crops in August did not say: "Yes, I sowed turnips and mustard last August, but not nothing." He said, "I'll try it again and trust to better conditions this time," and he is now enjoying the fruits of his perseverance.

The good rains we had in August made it possible to sow early fall turnips and mustard, but the "yes, but" failed to improve the opportunity. Some of them may have mustered up enough energy to sow these and other greens crops in time to get the benefit of the fine equinoctial showers that fell Sept. 22. If you didn't, Mr. "Yes, But," you missed about the best chance you'll have this year. Still, you should try a little even yet, for if we do not have any very severe weather this side of Christmas, you may raise a fairly good supply of greens yet. Also plant some rows of spinach and lettuce right now. They are cool weather plants and should succeed well if planted in good loose ground now. Onions and shallots can be planted now for next spring's table supply.

From "Farmers' Bulletin No. 255" written by W. R. Beattie of the bureau of plant industry, United States department of agriculture, are taken the following excerpts bearing upon the importance of the home vegetable garden:

"It would be impossible to make an accurate estimate of the value of crops grown in the kitchen gardens of the United States, but from careful observation the statement can safely be made that a well-kept garden will yield a return ten to fifteen times greater than would the same area and location if devoted to general farm crops. A half acre devoted to the various kinds of garden crops will easily supply a family with $100 worth of vegetables during the year. A bountiful supply of vegetables close at a few moments' notice is of even more importance than the mere money value.

Fresh vegetables from the home garden are not subjected to exposure on the markets or in transportation, and are not liable to become infested in any way. Many of the products of the garden lose their characteristic flavor when not used within a few hours after gathering. By means of the home garden the production of the vegetable supply for the family is directly under control, and in many cases is the only

HUMANITY MAY SHIVER FOR LACK OF FUEL

A world-wide coal famine is predicted this winter. The mines of Europe have been closed by the war which is raging over there, while the foreign coal miners have laid down the pick and shovel to shoulder the rifle and the bayonet. The nations which are now at war with each other previously furnished 50 per cent of the annual coal supply of the world, and if the conflict continues serious results will be felt on this side of the water on account of the closing of foreign mines.

There are many lessons to be learned from the present conflict, one of the most forcible of which is the need for development of our own mining industry. Here in Texas alone our available coal supply is estimated by the United States geological survey at thirty-one billion tons.

The world's yearly coal requirement is a little more than a billion tons and our estimated supply would last the world for a quarter of a century on the present basis of consumption.

We produce enough cotton to clothe the world, enough meat to supply the demand of both hemispheres, so why not furnish civilization with fuel and keep humanity from shivering with cold?

NATIONAL FARMERS ASK FOR HELP

In a report issued by the legislative committee of the National Farmers' Union, now assembled in Washington for the purpose of securing relief for the cotton situation, the farmers make an appeal for help that is reasonable and just.

"We of the South have suffered distress as a result of the war now raging in Europe," says the report, "and our distress parallels any calamity of recent years in which direct government aid has been humanely given.

"We have gone diligently and with industry into our fields and have wrought with brain and hand, honestly and with great hope, a wonderful crop for the use and necessity of the world.

"And now with no power to help, we see its value to us almost wholly destroyed just as though one of the titanic destroying agencies of nature had passed through our midst and destroyed the labor of our hands and left us in the midst of want and suffering.

Stunned and dismayed we have asked help and our cry is just and reasonable, and we believe that the farmer in his distress has a right to such help."

THE MAGIC WASHING STICK

"The Magic Washing Stick is just fine. It did just what you said it would do and the clothes were so nice and white with all that hard rubbing left off," writes Mrs. Sarah Goodale, Prestom, Texas. The Magic Stick is not a soap nor a washing powder. Sold by grocers and druggists, three 10c sticks for 25c, or by mail from A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Texas. (Ad)

40 Labor Saving Features

Here is the most complete Kitchen Cabinet you have ever seen. Seventeen conveniences are now and exclusive. Yet enormous production has lowered the price below that of even common cupboard cabinets.

You must see this New White Beauty Hoosier to realize its perfection. You must sit down in front of it to realize how it puts your whole kitchen at fingers' ends. Nothing that compares with it has ever been made before.

The Hoosier will save you on the average, several thousand steps per day. But the saving comes not merely from its huge storage space for 400 articles—the real saving is in its matchless arrangement which you must see to full appreciate.

Besides, it is the one perfectly sanitary kitchen cabinet which you can take entirely apart to clean. This feature alone has won thousands of women to the Hoosier.

Seventeen years of constant test in homes have proved there is no wearout to the Hoosier. It is made to endure a lifetime. Yet, you pay nothing for this guarantee based on long service.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
Sold by Druggists. Price 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

THE CHURCHES

Methodist.

Next Sunday will be the last before the session of the annual conference. Let us make it the best; a fitting and helpful close to the year and hopeful of better things in the next conference year. The pastor will preach both morning and evening. Let us make a supreme effort to have all claims in full.

Baptist.

The congregations at Sunday school and preaching last Sunday were encouraging. It is certain that the people who attend church and worship the Lord are the happiest people in the world.

Next Sunday morning the pastor will speak on "The Signs of the Times," dwelling especially on the meaning and lessons of the European war.

At night the subject is "How Jesus Sought to Save Judas, and Why He Was Not Saved."

Turn a new leaf and come to church Sunday.

Church of Christ.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

The State of Texas, County of Reeves.

By virtue of a certain Alias Execution issued out of the Honorable District Court of Tom Green County, on the 20th day of July, 1914, by Steve Elmore, clerk of said court, against T. I. Morgan and A. N. Galey for the sum of twelve hundred eighty-one and 05/100 ($1,281.05) dollars and costs of suit, in cause No. 2516 in said court, styled W. C. Jones versus T. I. Morgan et al, and placed in my hands for service, I, Tom Harrison, as sheriff of Reeves County, Texas, did, on the 12th day of September, 1914, levy on certain real estate, situated in Reeves county, described as follows, to-wit: A certain tract or parcel of land sub-block thirteen (13) of the B. H. Hambrick subdivision of section 191, block 13, H. & G. N. Ry. Co. survey Reeves county, Texas. Said block 13 carries with it a perpetual water right, over and across sub-block 14, of the B. H. Hambrick subdivision of section 191, block 13, H. & G. N. Ry. Co. survey, Reeves county, Texas, and levied upon as the property of said T. I. Morgan and A. N. Galey. And on Tuesday, the 3rd day of November, 1914, at the court house door of Reeves county, in the City of Pecos, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. I will sell said premises at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said T. I. Morgan and A. N. Galey by virtue of said levy and said alias execution.

And in compliance with law I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Pecos Times, a newspaper published in Reeves county.

Witness my hand this 12th day of September, 1914.

TOM HARRISON,
Sheriff Reeves County, Texas.
