

MASONS HONOR DEAD BROTHER

Remains of J. Wilson Boyle, Who Died at Emma, Now Rest in Plainview Cemetery

POISON THE CAUSE

"It's all off, now, boys; it's all off."

And with these words, J. Wilson Boyle, prominent attorney of Emma, long prominently identified with the affairs of this section of country, fell backward from his chair in the home of S. S. Thomas at that place, to the floor. Friends picked him gently up and carried him to his room, thinking him only intoxicated, and not dreaming that he was in a serious condition.

Next morning he was found dead on his bed.

The story of Boyle's death was told in the columns of The Herald last week, but at that time few details could be obtained. The body was brought to this city Sunday afternoon for interment, which took place in the Plainview cemetery Monday afternoon. He was buried with Masonic honors, the funeral being attended by a large number of Masons from the surrounding country. The delegation from the Emma Masonic lodge, which accompanied the body, consisted of E. J. Moores, J. F. Littlefield, George W. Smith, J. D. McDermott, F. M. Reed and J. C. Woody.

Mrs. Boyle, the dead man's wife, who was visiting relatives in Birmingham, Ala., at the time of his death, arrived in the city Sunday night, in time to attend the funeral. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Florence Hughey, also of Birmingham.

O. K. STABLES BURN

Ross M. Harp Suffers a Loss of $2200 on Building and Feed-stuff—Will Rebuild

The shooting of guns and the cries of "fire!" mingled with the hoarse exclamations of excited people quickly drew a crowd of more than a thousand Plainview citizens from the comforts of their firesides Monday night to witness the inevitable destruction of the O. K. Bus, Baggage and Transfer stables. The flames were discovered about 8 o'clock, and in an almost incredibly short while the building was but a heap of ashes. The flames were discovered while they were yet in their incipiency, but conditions were such that the building was even then doomed.

And the people were compelled to stand idly by.

True, the horses, vehicles and some of the harness was saved; but as the strong west wind fanned the destroying element through the dry, inflammable feedstuffs stored in the upper story of the barn it quickly became a roaring furnace. Fiery tongues leaped quickly upward through window and crevice. The roar of a thousand demons was heard in the hell that devoured with eager lustfulness ton after ton of the highly inflammable stuffs that marked its pathway. Windows and doors succumbed. The sheet iron roofing, white heated, curled like mattresses and rolled, piece by piece, from the top. Walls gave way; and the flames thus given vent curled themselves upward in great leaping tongues of red.

And the people stood idly by. It was all they could do. Without apparatus for fighting the flames, without organized effort of any sort, they were powerless to act.

For Plainview has not even a volunteer fire department.

And $2200 worth of property was

HAYNES KILLED AT LUBBOCK

Fatal Tragedy Occurs in Barbershop with Haynes and Sheriff
Roberts as Principals

ROBERTS MAKES BAIL

J. W. Haynes was shot by Sheriff Roberts of Lubbock county at Lubbock last Saturday night. Haynes died about ten hours later.

Details of the tragedy are rather meager, and the killing only became generally known here on the following morning several hours after Haynes had died. From the accounts reaching this city it appears that Haynes was intoxicated and is alleged to have been disturbing the peace. While he was in Penney's barber shop Sheriff Roberts walked in and attempted to arrest him. Haynes is then alleged to have started toward the sheriff with an open knife, when the sheriff fired, the ball taking effect in Hayne's body. The shooting occurred about 10 o'clock Saturday night, and Haynes lived until about 9 o'clock the next morning, Sunday.

INVESTIGATING AFFAIR.

District Attorney L. C. Penry of this city was notified of the killing early Sunday morning and asked to go to Lubbock at once to conduct an investigation of the affair, and at once complied with the summons. It is said that the investigation is being conducted in the most thorough manner this week.

Judge H. C. Randolph was also called to Lubbock in connection with the matter, presumably as legal adviser for interested parties.

WERE POLITICAL OPPONENTS.

Haynes and Roberts were political opponents in the late county election of Lubbock county, both men running for the office of sheriff. It is stated that Roberts de-

NEW THEATER HERE

Shafer & Harris To Equip Bain Hall for Modern Amusement Resort for Plainview

Plainview's long continued need and continually growing demand for a theatre culminated this week in a deal whereby the Bain hall was leased to Tom Shafer and Ed. Harris, who will at once commence the work of remodeling it and fitting it up for an up-to-date pleasure resort. Mr. Harris will be its manager.

The new enterprise is expected to be in operation within the next two weeks, carpenters having already been engaged to furnish estimates, etc. Seats also have already been ordered, and are expected to arrive in time for the opening of the new enterprise, which is expected to take place sometime near March 10.

The demand for a theatre in Plainview has long been one of the most conspicuous problems before the local public. The complaint on account of this need has been growing week by week, month by month and year by year, until it culminated this week as aforesaid.

The lessees give out the assurance to the public that some first-class attractions may now be expected, and that as soon as it is practicable for them to get the business under way.

feated Haynes by a close margin.

A telegram from the dead man's brother at Mineral Wells Monday asked that the body be embalmed and held until Tuesday, and Flake Garner of the undertaking establishment of E. R. Williams in this city left for Lubbock Monday with that object in view.

Sheriff L. W. Roberts, who did the killing, was given a preliminary hearing this week and admitted to bail in the sum of $15,000.

NEW PHONE EXCHANGE

Northwest Texas Telephone Company To Erect Modern New Home in Plainview

BIG IMPROVEMENTS

A deal was closed here this week for the transfer of a lot fronting south in the center of the Slaughter block just south of The Herald office, to the Northwest Texas Telephone company, the seller being A. E. Harp of this city. It is the purpose of the company to commence at once the erection of a strictly modern office building, which will be used as an exchange. The building will be constructed either of stone or brick, will be one story in height, commodious and strictly up to date in all its appointments.

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS.

In addition to its new building, the company purposes installing many other improvements at its Plainview exchange. Greatest of all these, perhaps, will be a new switchboard, which will be placed in the new building as soon as completed. It will have a capacity of 600 phones, will be strictly modern and will greatly improve the company's service in the city.

Three pay stations will also be established in various parts of the city. One of them will be located in the Daily hotel, but the locations of the other two have not yet been fully determined upon.

The company's plans also comprehend the stringing of new cables throughout the city, and Manager John Finney of the local exchange states not less than 10,000 feet of it will be strung. A whole car load of new poles will be required.

James Hamilton of McGregor was here on a prospecting trip last Saturday.

OVER 8000 ACRES OF PLAINVIEW LAND CHANGES HANDS

Soash Company Sell Seven Sections

The Soash Immigration company report the sale this week of seven more sections of their property, the old Slaughter ranch, recently acquired by them. Names of the purchasers and prices paid for the land were not made known.

The Soash concern disposed of six sections on the occasion of the last excursion, two weeks ago. This makes a total of thirteen sections they have sold since taking charge of the property, or in two weeks time.

The company expected to bring in a crowd of more than a hundred prospectors on the excursion of last week, but owing to the snow-storm raging in the north and the east at that time the number dwindled to less than half of those expected. Given favorable weather it is expected that they will bring a big bunch into the Plainview country on the next excursion. Bad weather also interfered with the plans of all other local real estate men.

Another Man Who Believes in Country

John W. Krueel of Wisconsin was here last week, having come in on the regular excursion train of last Friday night. Mr. Krueel invested in a whole section of Plainview country realty while here, and will shortly begin the work of improving it with a view of locating here permanently. He is a substantial farmer of his state, and expresses himself as being greatly gratified over the prospects for this section of the country.

Buys Ten Acres Of City Property

Jesse Overall this week invested in a ten acre tract of property in the Alabama addition to the city of Plainview. The price was not given out.

Mr. Overall will improve the property, and it is stated that he will build a house thereon and reside here.

Wisconsin Man Coming to Plainview

George H. Hanker of Boscober, Wis., is the name of another good, substantial farmer from the northern districts who will shortly remove to the Plainview country to engage in farming in the south.

Mr. Hanker was here this week, and succeeded in making a deal for a whole section of land in the Plainview country, the deal having been made through the Merrell-Reeves company of this city.

Mr. Hanker will improve the property and cultivate it next season.

Buys Tract of 320 Acres for Farm

The realty firm of Irwin & Mason disposed of 320 acres of Plainview country land this week to a party whose name was not given out. The price paid for the land was not made public. The location of the property is about three miles south of town.

Another Farmer for Plainview Country

Chas. Peters of Louisville, Ill., is here this week prospecting, and has contracted for a three-quarter section of land in the Plainview country, from the Soash Immigration company.

This Farmer Likes Plainview, Too

The realty firm of Gouldy, Richards & Young this week disposed of a whole section of Plainview country real estate to a gentleman whose name was not ascertained, but who, it is announced, will improve the property and live on it the coming season.

Quarter Section Changes Hands

C. E. White this week disposed of a quarter section of land six and one-half miles southwest of town to J. Walter Day. The consideration was $2800.

Another Section To Be Cultivated

DeLay & Lancaster, real estate agents, sold a section of land about ten miles south of the city last Saturday. The name of the purchaser and the price paid were not given out. The new owner will improve the property.

Invests in Hale County Real Estate

A tract of 160 acres of land several miles south of the city was sold by Shultz & McWhorter this week to a gentleman from the north. His name and the particulars of the deal were not given out.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Towery express their sincerest thanks for the kindly manner in which their many friends assisted them during their late bereavement in the loss of their little son.

Attorney J. G. Wilson is in Dallas on a business trip.

Want Fifteen Thousand New Settlers

Railroads Plan To Bring That Number to the Panhandle

Midland, Feb. 27.—It is said the railroads extending into the Panhandle of Texas are planning to bring 15,000 settlers from the east and north this summer and spring and have announced that they will run through trains from such cities as Chicago, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Des Moines, Kansas City direct to Plainview, Amarillo or wherever a bunch of settlers may expect to locate.

It is estimated that there are 2,000,000 acres offered at low prices as farms in this section of Texas and although a hundred settlers arrive here almost daily and are distributed over this vast area, it will take several years before the country will be as thickly settled as Iowa or Kansas.

Real estate dealers are sending out descriptive literature of the plains and west Texas in general. The adaptability of the soil, good water, good markets, low prices, and climate speak for themselves, and large numbers of prospectors purchase land as soon as they investigate conditions.

The Jumping Off Place

"Consumption had me in its grasp; and I had almost reached the jumping off place when I was advised to try Dr. King's New Discovery; and I want to say right now, it saved my life. Improvement began with the first bottle, and after taking one dozen bottles I was a well and happy man again," says George Moore of Grimesland, North Carolina. As a remedy for coughs and colds and healer of weak, sore lungs and for preventing pneumonia New Discovery is supreme. 50c. and $1.00 at Plainview Drug company's. Trial bottle free.

Small Blaze

Crosby County News.

On last Sunday morning about 9 o'clock the roof of the postoffice caught fire which caused some excitement. Some of Mr. Brown's children were playing in the back yard and noticed the fire, reported the same, when water was used and the fire ceased to burn. A defective flue was the cause of what liked to have been a disastrous fire.

A Simple Trick

It's an easy matter to keep your joints and muscles supple—no matter what your age may be or how you have suffered with rheumatism. Rub yourself night and mornning with Ballard's Snow Liniment. Cures rheumatism, stiffness, cramps, crick in the back, side, neck or limbs, and relieves all aches and pains. Sold by J. H. Wayland Drug company.

Hanks Returned

Amarillo, Feb. 27.—Special officer Doc Bolton returned on the Dewey train from Bowie in charge of Malcolm Hanks, the young man taken from the southbound Denver train at that place Sunday by telegraphic orders from Sheriff Hughes here. Hanks has been lodged in jail here pending an investigation of the charges against him.

Sometime last week Hanks offered to help Aten and Martin at the Neat Dressing Parlors on East Fourth street to sell chances on a $250 diamond which they were raffling off. On the ground that he had to show the diamond in order to get takers for the chances he induced the proprietors to let him take the diamond with him. He had the diamond Friday and Saturday and Saturday night in making settlement for board with H. P. Canode at the Amarillo hotel, he sold the diamond for $100. He then left on the evening Denver to return to his home at Houston. What settlement he intended to make of his obligation for the diamond itself is not made clear but when the owners of the stone discovered that Hanks was missing they began to investigate with the result that they learned of the sale to H. P. Canode. Acting on instructions from them, Sheriff Hughes wired down along the Denver and Hanks was overtaken at Bowie.

Hanks' case seems to have resulted from a disposition to spend money entirely out of proportion to his earnings and resources. He came here last fall and was employed for a time with the Pecos Valley general offices. He spent money very freely and as he has been out of employment now for several weeks he has become involved in debt. He is said to come of a well to do family near Houston and his relatives are now in communication with the officers here.

Baby Hands

will get into mischief—often it means a burn or cut or scald. Apply Ballard's Snow Liniment just as soon as the accident happens, and the pain will be relieved while the wound will heal quickly and nicely. A sure cure for sprains, rheumatism and all pains. Price 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle. Sold by J. H. Wayland Drug company.

Hereford, Feb. 27.—The city council has granted a franchise for a power and electric light plant here.

Notice of Dissolution

Be it known that the real estate firm of Hanby & Wilson, heretofore known as the Hanby-Wilson Realty Co., has been dissolved by mutual consent.

Jos. D. Hanby,
J. G. Wilson.

Referring to the above notice of dissolution, I desire to thank, most cordially, those who have favored the firm of Hanby & Wilson with their business in the past, and to assure them that I shall greatly appreciate a continuation of the same, since I shall remain in the real estate business, and endeavor to deserve the confidence and consideration of the public, by rendering honorable and efficient service. I will be found at "the same old stand," on Pacific street.

For a few days, I shall be out of the city, but hope to return, better prepared to serve my clients than ever.

J. G. Wilson.

New Court House.

Special to The Herald.

Dimmitt, Feb. 27.—The contract has been let here for the erection of Castro county's new court house. It will cost $28,000.

a cough that has been hanging on for over two months by taking Ballard's Horehound Syrup. If you have a cough, don't wait—stop it at once with this wonderful remedy. Splendid for coughs, cold on chest, influenza, bronchitis and pulmonary troubles. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by J. H. Wayland Drug company.

Bryan Indorsed.

Hutchinson, Kan., Feb. 27.—The Kansas Democratic state convention unanimously adopted a resolution instructing all delegates to the Denver convention, both state and congressional, "to cast a solid vote for the nomination of William J. Bryan for president of the United States."

A demonstration lasting several minutes attended the adoption of the resolutions.

Country Booming.

The Plainview citizen who doesn't have time to get out into the rural districts would probably enjoy the most agreeable surprise of his life if he could visit some of the surrounding country, say men who are posted on conditions.

The whole country to the south of us is on a veritable boom in the way of improvements. Along the road from this point to Emma it is said that some thirty odd houses are under construction, while in the little town of Petersburg alone more than a dozen new homes are under way or have just been completed.

In the country districts off the main highways the improvement is said to be nearly as great.

Work Progressing.

Work on the new Methodist parsonage is now progressing rapidly. The foundations were completed last week, and notable progress is being made on the super-structure.

The building is located on lots recently purchased from Mr. Wilson, and the new church will be erected on these same lots. As already stated, the district parsonage will be removed to that part of town at an early date.

Dedication Service.

The new church at Wright will be dedicated May 10, according to the Tulia Standard. The services will be conducted by Rev. G. S. Hardy, presiding elder of the Plainview district, residing in this city.

New Power House.

That the Plainview Power and Electric Light company means business seems to be shown in the fact that Manager Morrison is erecting a new power house for the plant. The new building is located two blocks west of his confectionery store.

The new building will be far more commodious than the present building used by the company for its plant.

Manager Morrison makes the statement that when the demand for power end lights demand it he will install a larger plant.

May Pension Mexican War Veterans

Burleson's Bill Reported Favorably by House Committee

Washington, Feb. 27.—Mr. Burleson's bill to pension the surviving officers and enlisted men employed in the defense of the Texas frontier between 1855 and 1860, inclusive, against Mexican marauders and Indian depredations has been reported favorably by the house committee on pensions.

The enactment of this measure would be the culmination of more than three years of work by Mr. Burleson.

It began with the introduction of a bill to reimburse Texas for the money spent in performing this service, which was properly the duty of the federal government. That bill was passed during the first session of the fifty-ninth congress in the face of determined opposition and the money has been paid to the state of Texas.

The recognition of that claim on the part of the federal government gave pensionable status to the men who were enlisted in the defensive service, and the bill reported today is intended to enable them to have their names put on the rolls. Mr. Burleson is confident that he will get it through the house.

The bill simply makes applicable to these survivors and their widows the terms of the act of 1892, giving a pension to the survivors of Indian wars. It provides that where there is no record of enlistment or muster into the service the muster rolls and vouchers filed with the war department by the state of Texas in proof of its claim for reimbursement shall be accepted as satisfactory proof of such enlistment and service.

All contracts heretofore made between prospective beneficiaries and attorneys are annulled.

Adj. Gen. Ainsworth, in a recent communication to the chairman of the committee on pensions, stated that the rolls and other records on file in the war department show that 1,301 men were enlisted in this service, and he estimates that 300 of these men and 400 widows survive and would be entitled to pensions. That the service they performed was in "recognized warfare" seems to be established by the fact that the secretary of war in 1860 held that there was a necessity "for calling out the Texas volunteers," and "that they were called out by competent authority."

Chairman Loudenslager, in his report on the bill, says:

"The service of these veterans having been acknowledged by the government in reimbursement of the state of Texas for their pay, and the uniform course of legislation having been to grant service pensions after the lapse of forty years from the war or disturbance on account of which pensions have been granted, and in appreciation of the inestimable value of their service and the perils, privations and sufferings with which they were beset, all contained in history, your committee respectfully recommends the passage of the bill."

Nearly all of those to be affected by this bill live in Texas.

Amarillo Antis Lose Injunction Suit

Special to The Herald.

Amarillo, Feb. 27.—By decision handed down last week in the court of civil appeals for the second supreme judicial district of Texas at Fort Worth the injunction granted Z. Z. Savage and J. N. Bozeman against Sam R. Merrill and others, by Judge Lewis Fisher of the district court at Galveston, is dissolved and the case dismissed. This is the injunction which was secured in January from the Galveston judge and which restrained the publishers of the Weekly Herald from making the fourth and final publication of the commissioners' court order putting prohibition in effect.

The plaintiffs in the injunction case will probably be given about ten or fifteen days now in which to move for a rehearing of the case. If the rehearing is refused, the commissioners' court order will be published for the fourth time.

The case was appealed through the action of the prohibitionists and was heard two weeks ago today before the court in Fort Worth. Madden & Truelove of this city represented the appellants and Reeder, Graham & Williams, of this city and Geo. C. Clough of Galveston defended the injunction.

The News Awakes

The Dallas News has made an important discovery. The full importance of this discovery cannot be accurately estimated just now, since it depends largely upon the future policy of the paper with reference to its discovery.

The News has discovered that Plainview is on the map. Probably Plainview may hope now that, at some near future date, some one of its most important important news happenings will be recorded in the columns of The News, with the possible explanatory note that "Plainview is in Hale county, on the Staked Plains and seventy-five miles from a railroad, to Amarillo." It has taken The News so long to learn that Plainview is on the map at all that we can scarcely hope that its discovery comprises the additional fact that we have a real, live railroad here. But The News is progressing, and we have reason to hope that some day the Santa Fe will provide them with an up-to-date map.

The Herald's complaint with reference to the treatment accorded the Plainview country seems to have caused the Dallas daily to "sit back and notice." This being our real object, and with no view to making any unjust criticism of the News, we quote that paper's comment in full. It says:

The Hale County Herald, published at Plainview, is somewhat disposed to read the riot act to The News and The News is not averse to being thus read to whenever there is anything in the reading calculated to add to the sum of its knowledge. It is at all times eager to be educated, informed and set right upon any subject by those competent to perform such labors, one of which, it is quite ready to believe, is the Hale County Herald. However anxious one is, or should be, to gather in all the information requisite to his calling, there are few who ever acquire enough to give them the headache, and The News confesses that it is not in pain above the shoulders. Speaking to its subject, the Herald says:

On more than one occasion in the past The Galveston-Dallas News has been criticized for its policy in reference to this section of the state, and on many occasions it has subjected itself to criticism that has never been expressed, the people of the Panhandle doubtless feeling as does The Herald, a sort of personal pride in the greatest metropolitan daily of the state that forbade them giving expression to the real resentment they felt for a partiality that was anything but agreeable to them and to their interests. We have kept silent in the hope that The News would eventually awake to a realization, if not to the demands of this growing section of the country, at least to its own pecuniary interest, in lending its influence to the upbuilding of the Panhandle. We, like others of the Panhandle, have been disappointed, and The Herald for one feels that it is time to register a complaint. * * * Unless the Plainview country is particular—which, by the way, is the most rapidly developing section of the Panhandle just now—receives greater justice and attention at the hands of The News, the Herald will certainly feel disposed to exert its influence in controlling patronage for the men who are less biased. If The News' policy is due to ignorance of actual conditions here, we would suggest that the paper send a representative up here to ascertain the facts. We assure our contemporary that we will be on hand to assist in furnishing him with information that will open his eyes. The Plainview country is no longer an experiment—it is a demonstrated fact. More than 150 immigrant cars in the last three months attest to it, and these are not "speculators." Speculators do not bring their household goods with them.

The News confesses its inability to do full justice to any portion of imperial Texas, but it has no policy for the Panhandle that does not apply elsewhere. Its news service covers the state as closely as its facilities admit of, and it aspires to serve its patrons as fully in reporting events of importance as is possible within the limitations which hedge it, along with other newspapers. But with the most thorough organization with which it is capable, with the best of intentions to serve faithfully those dependent upon it, it can not, as aforesaid, do full justice every day to so vast and fertile a field as it occupies.

That the Panhandle and Plains country comprises a great and growing part of Texas the News knows full well. It would like to herald forth the glories of that section to the ends of the earth. But there are greatness and glory in south, east, north and central Texas, in southwest Texas and northwest Texas, southeast, northeast, south central, north, east and west central Texas. The News is proud of every part of the state, and strives to be useful to all Texas and to as many other states as will accept its kindly offices.

If the News were published at Plainview and aspired to fill the field occupied and excellently served by the Hale County Herald, it would doubtless do just what the Herald is doing—boom its section, praise it, applaud it and rake over the coals the contemporaries of statewide circulation who appeared to be doing too little for it. As far as the News is concerned, it takes such prods in good part, as indications of a lively spirit of progress and as fair notices to pick up any stitches that have been dropped during a season of strenuous knitting.

Commission Should Act.

The Tulia Standard, in commenting upon our news item of last in which reference was made to the abandonment of train service on the Plainview branch of the Santa Fe during the snow storm, has this to say.

There was, on an average, about four or five inches of snow on the route from Amarillo to Plainview, but we are unable to see any plausible reason why this little snow should interfere with railroad traffic. The truth is that the branch of the Pecos Valley Lines running from Amarillo to Plainview is one of the best paying propositions belonging to the Santa Fe System and gives the poorest service. It has been in operation for more than a year and has never put on a passenger train, but forces its patrons to ride a freight all the way from Amarillo to Plainview. We feel that the people of the plains are entitled to better service and that the attention of the railroad commission should be called to this matter and an investigation be had by them. The railroad company has never given Tulia the consideration she is entitled to, but we could overlook that negligence if the country at large could get the accommodations that conditions justly demand.

The Lockney Beacon has again changed hands, and Homer Steen is "the man behind," Jim Merriweather retiring. This paper's editor has known Homer ever since he was a small boy, and is glad to see him enter the useful field he has entered, and feels sure he will give Lockney a better paper than she is accustomed to. Homer is a good boy and we wish him and the Beacon a long, happy and prosperous life together.—Crosby County News.

The Ft. Worth Star says: "There are no idle smokestacks in towns enthused by a commercial club or business league that has a maximum of members and surplus energy." Let Plainview sit up and take notice. Now is the time for us to exhibit surplus energy.

Released From Pledge

College Station, Tex., Feb. 27.—At a meeting, at which John Sharp Williams Jr. presided, the junior class of the Agricultural and Mechanical college decided to release their fellows from the pledge taken not to return to class work until President Harrington had been removed from the management of the school.

There are sixty-five members in the junior class. Forty-four members were present at the meeting held tonight, and of these thirty-seven voted in favor of the proposition to release the class from the pledge against the president, seven voting against it.

An attempt to have a regular class meeting of the sophomores failed tonight. There are seventy-three members of the sophomore class here. Thirty-three of these gathered informally. It was said to be the feeling of the thirty-three that their absent classmates should return to work.

The entire sophomore class numbers 158 students.

Capt. Andrew Moses made public the following statement tonight.

"There are present on the campus at 5 p. m. today 233 cadets, absent on furlough 35; total 268 cadets."

This official statement is given in view of the report sent out that only seventy students were on the campus. Several cadets came in on the 4:30 International and Great Northern train and more are expected tonight.

For the last three days the number of students has increased at the rate of about thirty per day. At 4 o'clock this afternoon 171 had taken the pledge administered by Dean Puryear. The pledge is not required of seniors.

Among the students who came in from Bryan this evening were Jess Dale and R. B. Neale. Dale is hopeful that a large number of students yet away from college will return tomorrow and the next day.

General Manager Horace Gooch of the Northwest Texas Telephone company was here from Amarillo Wednesday and left for Floydada, where he went on business connected with his company.

week gives the following particulars of the death:

"Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock A. D. Meyers was in J. F. Littlefield's store having a prescription filled, and while Mr. Littlefield was away from the prescription case Mr. Boyle came in and picked up a bottle containing a dark fluid and drank two or three swallows, then picked up a bottle of rose water, rubbed it on his hands and then on his mouth, remarking to Mr. Meyer, who was standing by that that was to destroy the odor of the former drug. It developed that the dark fluid was opium, condensed; as was shown by the label on the bottle.

Mr. Boyle went to the home of S. S. Thomas, where he was boarding, and ate a hearty supper, drinking an unusual amount of milk. He then came back to town, went into Lackey's store, where his actions led parties present to believe that he was drinking. He then went to the hotel, and complained of feeling sick, and Mr. Meyer handed him a chair and bade him sit down, which he did. Shortly afterward he fell backward on the floor. Mr. Meyer, Dave Carr, and Clayton Carter lifted him to his feet and took him to the east room of the hotel to put him to bed, still thinking that he was under the influence of whiskey. When they started to take off his clothes he objected, stating that he would rest a little while and go home. They granted his wish, put him to bed with his clothes on, and covered him up, thinking that he would soon be ready to go home, and not until they found him dead this morning did they once think of his being in danger.

A telegram has been sent to Mrs. Boyle, wife of the deceased, who is visiting her mother at Birmingham.

An embalmer was phoned for at Plainview, who started immediately, traveling in an auto, and as we go to press we learn that the body has been embalmed and will be kept till Mrs. Boyle arrives.

Mr. Boyle was a Mason, an Odd Fellow and a Woodmen, a member in good standing in each of the above-named orders, being Worshipful Master of the Masonic lodge at this place. Being a well-versed lawyer he has figured extensively in most business affairs of the town and county demanding the services of an attorney.

Jack Robinson, A. A. Peoples and H. B. Reed composed the Masonic delegation from Lubbock Monday that attended the funeral of J. Wilson Boyle in this city that afternoon.

We will show a fine line of dress goods, trimmings, etc., this spring. See them. 10- Wayland & Wofford.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church realized the handsome sum of $130 from the benefit performance given here two nights recently. This money will be used in furnishing seats for the new Presbyterian church now in course of erection in this city.

O. K. LIVERY STABLES BURN

swept away in the space of time required in its telling.

HAD NO INSURANCE.

Ross M. Harp, proprietor of the O. K. Bus, Baggage and Transfer, was owner of the building burned. He had no insurance whatever on the property, and his losses are all net.

The building was a frame structure 40x100 feet, located just across the street east of The Herald office. It had a sheet iron roof. The ground floor was used for stalls for the horses and as storage room for vehicles and harness, with the offices in front. A long sheet iron shed extended along the entire north side of the building. This too was used for vehicles. The upper story was used for storing feedstuffs, and it is estimated that about $800 worth of this went up in smoke.

CAUGHT FROM FLUE.

The origin of the fire seems to have been from the flue, which extended from the office on the ground floor up through the upper story in which the feedstuffs were stored. Some hay had been left too close to the stovepipe, and this became ignited. The strong wind from the west quickly spread the flames over the rest of the feed stuff, and the upper story was soon a seething furnace. Mr. Harp himself was present when the fire was discovered, and with what little assistance he had present he quickly removed the horses, then the vehicles. Much of the harness and saddles was lost in the flames.

WIND WAS FAVORABLE.

The west wind blew the flames in an easterly direction, where no other buildings were endangered. This prevented the spread of the fire. A short distance northeast of the barn is the big Daily hotel, while just south is located a residence. Immediately across the street to the west are The Herald office and several residences. Had the wind been from any other direction than the particular one from which it was blowing no power on earth could have prevented the destruction of other buildings. The heat was so intense that the crowd standing on the windward side of the burning building were, despite the chill of the wind, repeatedly driven backward across the street. Some one with forethought turned on the windmill just southeast of the barn, and this doubtless saved it from burning.

WILL REBUILD.

While plans have not been fully agreed upon, Mr. Harp announces positively that he will rebuild at once. In the meantime the business has not ceased for a day. Removing his stock and vehicles to temporary headquarters, the proprietor has pluckily continued to attend to the wants of his customers without the least interruption. The O. K. concern did a large and lucrative business, and the proprietor expresses the confidence that his patrons will stand by him in his present difficulties.

In the meantime no steps have yet been taken to organize even a volunteer fire company for Plainview.

H. A. Wofford of the firm of Wayland & Wofford has returned from the northern and eastern markets, where he purchased another big line of dry goods and clothing for the Plainview store.

Want Representative From This Section

Special to the Herald.

Lockney, Texas, Feb. 27.—The following address to the voters of Hale and Floyd counties has been issued:

As the time is approaching for the election of a representative to the legislature from this district and as this end of the district has never put out a candidate for the office, it is time this end of the district concedes that it is our right, if we put out a man that is competent to fill the position. I think we have plenty of good material to select from. I will suggest a few names. The Hon. T. J. Tilson, and Judge J. N. Stalbird of Lockney, and Judge A. B. Duncan, of Floydada or any other good and true man. The voters may select. Let us get together and push this thing through. The Floydada paper and Plainview papers please copy.

Cotton Statistics

It will come as a genuine surprise to most of the readers of The Herald to learn that Plainview is becoming a cotton point of no inconsiderable importance. The Plainview branch of the Santa Fe railway have already exported for the season of 1907-8 up to Feb. 22 just 2,521 bales of the staple, with an aggregate valuation of $126,050.

A few years ago the Plainview country was not considered suitable for the culture of cotton. Today it is recognized as the coming cotton country. Plainview country farmers are a diversifying lot, and express the determination never to make this a one-crop land. The devastations of the boll weevil are unknown here, and in this the plains country generally has a tremendous advantage over the other sections of the state.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 27.—A dastardly attempt was made to burn the Scales hotel of that city Saturday morning while 100 delegates to the Democratic convention were asleep in the building. Oil was poured over the floors in two vacant rooms and set on fire, but the flames were extinguished before great damage was done.

Attendance Is On the Increase

That the Central Plains college fills an actual need in this portion of the Panhandle is evidenced in the increasing enrollment at that already popular institution of learning. That the directorate made no mistake in its selection of a faculty is still further evidenced in the continued growth of its popularity. In the midst of its initial term, the institution has an enrollment of 152 students, and not a week passes that new ones do not enter. A trip to the college would prove both entertaining and surprising to many of Plainview's busy people who find so little time which to make such a trip. To those who have not the time perhaps the story will be relished. To those new comers who have not yet become sufficiently acquainted here to have ascertained the facts, let it be known the faculty of Central Plains college consists of the following well known educators: Dr. L. L. Gladney, president; Prof. F. B. Adams, principal of the commercial department and teacher of history; Prof. Adams, Greek; Miss Ray, instrumental music; Miss Smith, English; Miss Wood, primary voice culture; Miss Hougher, seamstress; Miss Mabel Battle, classics.

Three buildings occupy the campus of the Central Plains college. Each of them is an ornament within itself. The main building is built of stone, is four stories high and consists of twenty-five rooms. It is a magnificent structure, modern in all its appointments and so constructed as to meet fully the demands of an up-to-date college.

The girls' dormitory, a frame structure three stories high, consists of twenty-eight rooms, and the boys' dormitory, likewise a frame structure and three stories in height, contains sixteen rooms. All these buildings are lighted by acetylene gas, the new gas plant just recently installed having a capacity of 300 lights of thirty-two candle power each.

INSTALLING LAUNDRY.

Work is now progressing on the new laundry for the college, and when completed will meet all the requirements of the college for some time to come. Like every other part of the college, it will be strictly up to date in every respect.

Great improvement is being made on the campus. Notable among the many commendable things being done is the planting of trees, which, in the course of a few years will add much to the beauty of the grounds.

Dr. L. L. Gladney, the president—who, by the way, is recognized as one of the ablest educators in Texas, has exhibited much zeal in his work at Central Plains college, and has won the love of his student body. Dr. Gladney's chapel lecture on the occasion of The Herald reporter's visit, who accompanied S. S. Sloneker to the school Wednesday morning, was "Classical Education," and the lecture in itself was a little classic.

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS.

Central Plains is located about a mile north of the city, on what has come to be known as the "college addition." During the past twelve months about thirty-five or forty new residences have been built in this addition, and the scene has become one of the greatest activity.

Queen Quality

SHOES

OPENING

THE new "Queen Quality" Shoe fashions for Spring are now ready. Needless to say, they are authoritative and correct beyond question. Why is it that "Queen Quality" Shoes are actually superior to many other makes that cost from One to Three Dollars per pair more? There is a perfectly logical reason for this.

The originator of the "Queen Quality" Shoe combines with a rare genius for creating beautiful shoes, the still rarer ability to create a factory organization capable of reproducing them in great volume—10,000 pairs per day.

The large savings this great output effects in buying materials and reducing manufacturing costs, enable the makers to offer these masterpieces of shoemaking at prices that are simply out of the question for the smaller manufacturer who makes but a few hundred pairs per day. We invite you to see our new assortment to prove this.

Strange Religious Sects

One of the strangest religious sects in the world is coming to Texas to found a colony, provided suitable lands can be found at reasonable terms, and the surroundings are agreeable.

The advance agents of the colony have reached the lower section of the state, and are looking at certain tracts of land on Buffalo Bayou.

Prophet Daniel Morgan of the Modern Apostles of the Holy Faith, who founded their first colony in the mountains of northern New Mexico, in 1898, has given out the following articles of faith:

"We believe in the second coming of Christ, and that the day has been set and the year to be 1910."

"We believe that Prophet William the true prophet of the Master."

"We do not believe in celibacy for the high price, and believe that every man should take a wife."

"We do not eat the flesh of any animal. Yes, we eat fish."

"We believe in feet washing as practiced by the apostles."

"We believe that to drink wine or spirituous liquors is a sin past forgiveness. The bible speaks of Jesus used at the wedding feast, but they were wines without alcohol, and the pure juice of the grape. The Savior turned water into wine at that feast at the request of His mother, but He used no alcohol."

"We believe in keeping every feast day as practiced by the people of the old testament."

"We believe that when a child is born it should immediately be christened, for the bible teaches us that whosoever would enter into the kingdom of heaven must be born again of the water and of the Holy Ghost. Therefore, we carry out the commands of the scripture when we sprinkle the new-born babe with water and pronounce the words of John the Baptist at the christening of Jesus in the river Jordan."

"We hold to the belief that all men should wear beards, as the Savior wore one."

WASHINGTON PARTY

Baraca Class Entertains Friends in Honor of the Famous Father of Their Country

One of the most brilliant and successful social functions, in the history of Plainview was the one given on the 22nd inst. by the Baracas under the management of Mr. W. B. Joiner.

Nearly two hundred invitations were issued, and, judging by the attendance most of them were accepted.

President and Mrs. Washington, members of his cabinet and their wives stood in the receiving line, brilliant in "gleam of satin and shimmer of silk," lace ruffles, powdered hair and all the beauties of the dress of that period. Indeed one could but fancy that they were transported back from this bustling twentieth century into the early years of the republic.

Nor were the costumed entirely confined to those of the eighteenth century. Hiawatha's and Minnehaha's dusky forms glided in and out among the famous statesmen, sweet Maud Muller peeped out from under her broad-brimmed hat amidst the stately colonial dames.

After the guests were all assembled, a story telling contest took place in which George Yates bore off the prize, for he, unlike his noted namesake, distinguished himself as being the champion story-teller.

Ed Hayes, president of the Baracas, made the opening address on the program, followed by Miss Jo Keck, who gave a reading in excellent style.

Ed Harris delivered the address of welcome with his usual ease and grace, his well chosen words pleasing the ear of every listener.

One of the main features of the evening was the song by Mandy, an old plantation ducky, who wished to join in the celebration of the "father of our country." Miss Madge Hall gracefully personated this character.

Miss Lula May Braselton presided at the punch bowl, assisted by some of the Baracas.

The ladies who wore fancy dress on the occasion were all resplendent in colonial dress, powdered hair, and the other accessories of the style of that period, and the gentlemen in the brilliant colors, knee breeches, while wigs and lace ruffles that adorned the men of that day. When all of the costumes were so elaborate it would be impossible to describe each one individually. Miss Beulah Speakman, as Martha Washington, was attired in an empire gown of white silk mull. The costumes of Misses Tandy and Cobb also deserve special notice, being very elegant in style and material.

Ed Harris, as Geo. Washington, wore a regimental suit consisting of a blue satin coat with white satin vest and knee breeches. The whole elaborately trimmed with braid.

Joe Green, representing Alexander Hamilton, wore a handsome suit of blue broadcloth with trimmings of lace.

Will Rushing, as Samuel Osgood, post-master general, had a coat of blue velvet with breeches of white satin.

Tom Shaffer, as Prince George, wore an elegant court dress of red velvet.

Laurence Kerr, as Mr. Randolph, was dressed in black broadcloth trimmed with lace.

Will Dowden as Lieutenant Walcott, was resplendent in pink satin.

Mr. Elliott's entire suit was of black velvet elaborately trimmed with lace.

Mrs. Joiner, as Mary Washington, the mother of George, wore a colonial dress with lace fichu.

Much credit is due the untiring energy and executive ability of Mrs. Joiner for the success of the entertainment. She is doing a good work among the young people of Plainview. Her Baraca class was organized a year ago. Since then it has combined and introduced into the lives of the younger set in Plainview the three strong elements of innocent amusement, religious training and benevolence.

Mystic Club.

The Mystic club met in regular session with Mrs. Marshall Phelps last Saturday afternoon. Quite a number were absent, but those who were present felt fully repaid for going.

After making some arrangements in regard to the open meeting to be held at Mrs. Rob Tudor's on the 28th, the regular program was taken up. Mrs. Armstrong read a paper, "The Story of Ben Hur," and Messdames Morrison and Meharg read "The Chariot Race".

Mrs. Phelps gave an interesting talk on some late current events. Before leaving, the guests were served a delightful luncheon, consisting of a salad course and gelatine with whipped cream.

It was Mrs. Phelps, farewell meeting before leaving for New Mexico. She is one of the brightest members of the club and will be greatly missed by club women of Plainview.

Highland Club.

Mrs. E. H. Humphrey opened her doors to the Highland club at its last regular meeting. All of the members were present but three. Mrs. W. Y. Price, Miss Rosa Fowle and Miss Vera Newton were welcome guests.

As is usually the case, the game was all-absorbing from start to finish. At its close, however, conversation assumed its sway, and laughter and merry jests made the moments pass all too swiftly.

The daintiest of refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. L. P. Martin.

"The shades of evening were falling fast" ere the guests departed, each one thinking Mrs. Humphrey a charming hostess.

Entertain Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Slaton entertained a few friends on Wednesday of last week in honor of their sixth wedding anniversary. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Dick McWhorter, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Burch and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Knight.

Bachelor Maids.

The Bachelor Maids met with Miss Lockie Mayhugh last Saturday afternoon. Fort, two was the amusement.

At the close of the game the young hostess served light refreshments.

Cleaning Up.

The women's clubs of San Antonio began a movement that March 10th should be observed throughout the state as a general "cleaning up" day of yards, streets and alleys. We hope that Plainview will be no exception to the rule. Let the good work of the women's club go on.

Misses Alice Smylie and Sue Mag McWhorter spent a few days in Lubbock lately.
