COMMISSIONERS WILL INVESTIGATE ALLEGED FIXING OF OIL PRICES

ADVISE LONDON AS TO ATTITUDE TAKEN BY UNITED STATES

CABLE AMBASSADOR IN ORDER TO PUT GREAT BRITAIN RIGHT.

WIDESPREAD PUBLICITY OF INCORRECT REPORT

No Change in Policy As Result of Change in the Administration.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—To clear away any misunderstanding in London regarding the attitude of the Coolidge administration on reparations Secretary Hughes has cabled to the American embassy there the substance of the story carried from Washington by the Associated Press on August 15, with a notification that the declaration it contained represented the precise position of the United States government.

This disclosure was made today as a result of the wide publication of untrue reports that the state department had sent to foreign governments through the American Legation in London a note to the effect that the United States government was ready to discuss reparations with the British government.

The message in London was intended to correct a misinterpretation of the London dispatches which had indicated that it was felt that the Coolidge administration had been misled by the press in its estimate of the attitude of the British government on reparations.

It was stated that the press had been misled by a report that the state department had sent to the British Legation in London a note to the effect that the United States government was ready to discuss reparations with the British government.

Nothing has been said in Washington which would indicate that the state department had been misled in any way.

ARMS CONFERENCE TREATIES FINALLY PLACED IN EFFECT

REPRESENTATIVES OF POWERS AFFIX SIGNATURES AT WASHINGTON

FORMALITY TAKES PLACE SHORT TIME BEFORE NOON

Actual Scrapping of First Line Warships Will Begin Immediately.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The naval limitation treaty and the four-power pact negotiated at the Washington arms conference finally became effective today when representatives of all the signatory powers gathered at the state department and formally exchanged ratifications.

The formality took place shortly after noon and was unaccompanied by any public ceremonies. The actual scrapping of first line ships under the naval treaty will begin immediately and by the terms of the four-power pact the Anglo-Japanese alliance is terminated automatically by today's exchange of ratifications.

Secretary Hughes presided at the signing ceremony which took place in the diplomatic reception hall at the state department. The secretary sat at the head of the table with a committee of fifteen members of the British embassy on his right hand and Andre de La Botz, French charge d'affaires, on his left. Other members of the delegation included Mr. Chilton and Ambassador Gifford of Japan and Mr. Gifford of the United States.

Mr. Hughes already had set the machinery for demotion of a stated number of warships under the naval treaty and for the scrapping of the first line ships. The demotion of the first line ships will be completed by the end of the month.

Mr. Hughes said that the scrapping of the first line ships will be completed by the end of the month.

WAGE CONFERENCE TO RESUME WORK ON NEXT MONDAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—Mines and anthracite operators meeting today in a joint conference at the behest of the United States coal commission to avert a suspension of operations, agreed to resume negotiations at Atlantic City next Monday.

It was understood that later in the day the commission would seek to bring together the full conference of the operators and the coal commission and then withdraw to leave operators and miners to discuss their respective proposals. How Uncle Sam Guards Supply of Frozen Food by Scientific Tests in Department of Agriculture

WHY is the price of butter so high? Because people eat so much ice cream.

Ice cream, in a market sense, is butter's most formidable rival. The butter fat in milk fetches a much bigger profit when sold in ice cream than when sold as butter.

If nobody ate ice cream, the available supply of butter would be vastly greater, and it would be correspondingly cheaper. We are a Nation of ice cream eaters. That might have been truly said, indeed, ten years ago, before the war. But since then consumption of the delicacy in this country has increased astonishingly.

According to figures newly published by the United States Census Bureau, we Americans ate about four times as much ice cream last year as we did in 1914. In seven years, from 1914 to 1921, commercial production of the cold stuff in this country increased 281 per cent. The value of the total output in 1914 was $55,988,000; in 1921, it was $213,262,000.

So important has the industry become that recently the Department of Agriculture undertook to make a scientific study of ice cream, with a view to reducing to definite certainty and correctness the methods of its manufacture; and the job, appropriately enough, was handed over to the Dairy Division.

A small laboratory has been established for the purpose, and for a number of weeks past it has been turning out thirty gallons of ice cream daily, under the direction of Owen E. Williams. That is to say, ten gallons of one kind of "mix," ten gallons of another kind, and ten gallons of a third kind.

It is always vanilla ice cream. The object in view is not to compare flavors, which are matters of individual taste, but to find out just what ingredients make the best mix. Thus, for a series of days, the mix was made with three different percentages of butter fat; another series of days with three different percentages of sugar, and so on.

BUT how determine which was best? The expert in charge could not rely upon his own judgment; for the aim was to find out what would be most agreeable to the palates of ice-cream eaters in general.

The test was easily made by selling the stuff to employees of the department at the luncheon hour daily. To each purchaser a free sample was allowed of each of the three kinds, for a taste, and record was made of the kind chosen and bought. The employees paid for weekly coupon tickets, entitling the holder to half a pint per day.

It was a test of palatability—a practical method of trying the product out upon the consumer. The number of purchasers was large enough to represent fairly the ice-cream-eating public. Their decisions were final and conclusive.

Of course, they were not told anything about the ingredients of the ice cream dealt out to them. They bought it and ate it without knowing its composition, choosing each day the kind they liked best.

Three mixes were made with eighteen per cent, fifteen per cent, and twelve per cent of butter fat, respectively. It was found that eighty-two in every hundred purchasers preferred the eighteen per cent. The three mixes prepared for the following week (made up daily) contained, respectively, nineteen per cent, sixteen per cent and thirteen per cent of sugar. Sixty-two in every hundred purchasers liked the nineteen per cent best. Only ten in a hundred chose the thirteen per cent. It will be understood that in each instance the three mixes were exactly alike, save for the percentages of a single ingredient. Summed up, the trials showed a decided preference on the part of the American public for the richest and sweetest ice cream.

Also, as the result of another test, it was proved that the preference of a large majority is for ice cream that is firm in texture. To make it firm, one-half of one per cent of gelatin was used in the mix. Three in every four purchasers preferred the ice cream that had gelatin in it.

Housewives who make their own ice cream commonly use for this purpose so-called "ice-cream powders," which contain gelatin, gum arabic or some equivalent. They coagulate the ice cream, stabilize it, and prevent ice crystals from forming.

THE laboratory at the Department of Agriculture is an ice-cream factory in miniature. It employs only one machine, which is a metal cylinder set horizontally. Correctly described, it is a cylinder inside of a cylinder. The inner cylinder, holding the mix, contains a paddle which is caused to revolve rapidly by an electric motor, and surrounding it is a coil through which passes a stream of ice-cold brine. At intervals a little of the mix is drawn from the inner cylinders and tested for specific gravity. When the latter reaches a certain point the mix is done, and then, drawn off into big cans in a semi-fluid state, it is put into a box like an ice chest to harden, crushed ice and salt being packed around the cans. Ice cream is 65 per cent water, 20 per cent "milk solids" and 15 per cent sugar—though sometimes it may contain more sugar than that. Caterers and first-class confectioners use "straight" cream in its manufacture. But ordinary commercial ice cream is not made with straight cream; for cheapness, condensed milk or milk powder is used as an adulterant.

Scientists tell us that the taste for intoxicating beverages and the sweet tooth that demands its ice cream or candy are analogous—therefore, the absence of vinous spirits, due to prohibition, may have a whole lot to do with the abnormal increase in the consumption of ice cream. Instead of the "Face on the Barroom Floor" it is now the "Face in the Sweet Shop Window"

Thus ordinary commercial ice cream lacks a proper proportion of butter fat and is correspondingly less rich. Solids other than butter fat, contained in the condensed milk or milk powder, are made to take the place of part of the normal allowance of butter fat. They are perfectly wholesome, but the ice cream is not so good.

The making of ice cream has become one of the exact sciences. Uncle Sam has conducted extensive experiments to determine definitely what kind of cream is most desirable, and it was found that richness in butter fats and sugar was demanded.

One of these solids is milk sugar, which, if there be too much of it, is liable to crystallize out in gritty particles. It is these gritty particles that make "sandy" ice cream.

THE origin of ice cream is obscure. An early illusion to it is found in the discussion of a banquet given by Charles I of England, at which it was served, an unheard-of novelty. The King was so pleased with the "frozen milk," as he called it, that he pensioned the cook, a Frenchman, with an annuity of £20 a year, conditioned upon his keeping the recipe a secret and preparing the delicacy for nobody else.

Fifty years ago ice cream was an occasional luxury; now it is a staple, everyday commodity. It is served at every soda fountain, eaten for dessert at boarding houses, dealt out from hokey-pokey carts in the slums at a penny a helping, sold in cones and prescribed for the sick in hospitals. It is a common food of all sorts and conditions of people everywhere.

MANY ice-cream factories now occupy entire blocks, some of them manufacturing as much as 5000 gallons of the product per day. Wholesalers of the delicacy cover whole cities with their delivery wagons, and sometimes ship it for distances of 200 miles or more.

The dairy interests now count the ice-cream demand as second in importance to butter. In many sections the butter

Freckles and ice cream cones seem to have a natural affinity, and a close study of a small boy, with adequate capital, explains the tremendous consumption of hokey-pokey.

Hokey Pokey!
WHAT flavor are you going to have? We are a nation of ice cream eaters. Last year we ate four times as much ice cream as we did in 1914. In seven years commercial production increased nearly 300 per cent. In the city of New York it is estimated that 60,000,000 quarts of ice cream are consumed annually, or a per capita consumption of more than ten quarts. Applied to the whole population of the continental United States that would be 1,000,000,000 quarts of ice cream from one summer to the next.

men have been put out of business by the increased production, who pay higher prices for cream than the latter men can afford to give.

Ice cream cones are said to have been first introduced at the St. Louis Exposition. Fried ice cream, which, though highly palatable, failed to attract the same lasting popularity, was first sold at the Chicago World's Fair. It is made by dipping a small cone of hard ice cream into thin batter and then plunging it into very hot lard or olive oil. The batter hardens to a crisp so quickly that the ice cream is not softened in the least.

That mixture of nectar and ambrosia which goes under the name of ice cream soda is said to have been the invention of a famous candy manufacturer, who introduced it at the fountains of candy shops owned by his concern in many cities.

Ice cream is eaten not for nourishment, but because it tastes good. Nevertheless, it is a very nutritious food. Furthermore, it comes pretty near to being the most digestible of all foods, so that physicians commonly prescribe it for their patients.

COCONUT Oil has been used to some extent as a substitute for butter fat in cheap ice creams. It is perfectly harmless, but employment of it for that purpose has been almost entirely abandoned. The dairy interests, of course, oppose it, but what drove it out was the disapproval of the National Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, which officials disapproved ice cream of such composition as a bogus and misrepresented product.

The aim of the experiments of the Dairy Division of the Department of Agriculture is to get at the fundamentals of ice-cream manufacture and to determine the ideal mix, meaning by that term the mix that will best please the taste of the majority of ice-cream consumers. Hitherto this has been more or less a matter of guess, manufacturers using different percentages of butter fat, sugar and other ingredients.

The question is being settled by trying it out on employees of the department, who, while serving as willing volunteers, are paying the cost of the experiments by buying the ice cream. It is scientific ice cream, of superior quality and beautiful smoothness, so that they are glad to get it for a luncheon dish. Cheap, too. Ten cents for half a pint; sixty cents for a coupon ticket good for six days' supply.

Mr. Williams, the expert in charge of the ice-cream laboratory, is of opinion that the output of the ice-cream factories has decidedly improved in average quality in the last few years. Doubtless, however, it is susceptible of further improvement, and in that direction his experiments, by offering more exact knowledge to the manufacturers, are expected to help.

OSBORNE DROPS TOUGH ONE IN FIRST START ON HOME LOT

Slim Brewer Silences Spudder Bats In Pinches While Hopefuls Aid Him With Poor Work on the Base Paths

Bob Osborne lost a tough luck game in his first start at Athletic Park Thursday, the Spudders dropping the final game of the series, 5 to 3. Al Simmons' home run in the first inning with two men on the paths was the winning factor for the Gassers, while several factors combined to hold down the Wichita Falls scoring.

Slim Brewer, the tall lad from the Mississippi bottoms, hurled a winning ball game and deserved a victory, though he was aided considerably by the hopefuls' poor work on the paths. Every time the Spudders put themselves in a scoring position, some break on the paths would spoil the opportunity, and when the final chance was lost, the Shreveporters had a two-run advantage.

Six Hits Off Osborne. The Gassen got but six hits off the young Spudder farmhand, but they were well placed. Not a blow was wasted as every one of them helped in the production of a run.

Three hits in the first were good for three runs, one in the fourth brought a run and two in the ninth another. From the end of the first to the start of the ninth Osborne gave up but one hit, but even that hit, coupled with a stolen base and two outs, was good for a marker.

All told, the hopefuls' record of eight safe slams and most of the eight were ineffective. Simmons' home run gave the Gassers a three-run lead in the first inning. Skinner popped a Texas leaguer back of third, and after Wright went out, Hoyer's boomer per over Cotter's head put Skinner on third. Simmons isolated Osborne a second pitch to the left field wall for three runs. Osborne was stright in the second and third. Hoyer walked with two out in the third and was forced by Simmons.

The hopefuls got one in the opening frame on Locker's triple to right and Tanner's infield error. Brewer retired the Salma in order in the second. Osborne doubled with one gone in the third, but let Brewer catch him off the base. Originally followed with a single to left and got an extra base when it got by Skinner. The error, which was the first of the series for Simmons on ground balls. Locker left Grigby on second with a fly to left.

Ernest Hoop Spudders. The Gassers got one in the fourth on Sherrin's single. His steal of second. Rowe sacrificed and Moore's infield out. The Spudders had a bad inning in the fifth, but the locker failed to get a run out of it. While the Spudders' bats were silent, Locker spilled Wichita's run out but recovered in time to force Skinner. Wright stole second while the horse held the ball but was left.

The Spudders got one in the fifth and another in the sixth. Barrett went all the way to second, while Stow threw wild to start the inning. Berger sacrificed and Bischoff's double counted Barrett. Osborne and Grigby left Bischoff on second. Locker was safe to start the sixth on Stow's second. Both locker moved up on Tanner's out, but was out at the plate when Cotter singled to left. Cotter took second on the throw and scored on Weiss' single.

From the first to the ninth Osborne had allowed the Gassers to score one hit. Two singles in the ninth gave Shreveport its final run. Stow singled with one down, moved up on Moore's out and scored on Pulliam's single to left.

Two passes, a single and a stolen base failed to score a run for the hopefuls. Tanner walked with one down, but perished when he over slid second after making the bag on a short passed ball. Cotter also walked and Weiss' high bouncer over the infield sent Cotter to third. Weiss stole and Berger ended it by fouling out to third. Berger opened the Spudders' ninth with a hard drive to center and Skinner pulled it off the bat. Bischoff lined out to left and Dyer, batting for Osborne, was out to start an assisted.

New American Legion Arena Ready For Friday Night's Show; Lance And Ryan Meet In Feature Match

With the completion of the new arena just outside of Athletic park, all is in readiness for the staging of the American Legion's weekly fight show Friday night, starting at 8 o'clock. A crew of carpenters has been at work on the new arena for the past three days and the finishing touches were put on the ring and the seats Friday afternoon. Accommodations will care for more than 1,000 spectators, according to Don Wofford, who is in charge of the arena program, and he expects the place to be filled to its maximum when the first bout goes on Friday night.

Country Boy Lance and Dago Ryan, the waterweight principals who will meet in the feature, completed their training Thursday and word from each camp was to the effect that the boys are in the best of shape for the 10 round set. Lance has appeared once in Wichita, earning a speedy draw with Billy Brown, and he is expected to give Ryan a speedy 10 round set. CALIFORNIA GIRL ELIMINATES BEST OF ENGLISH WOMEN

By THOMAS L. CUMMISKEY. Fort Hiller, N. Y., Aug. 17.—There were brilliant duels worthy of the traditions of historic Forest Hills Thursday, and after they were three American stars and a lone British lumina had advanced to the semi-final of the national women's tennis singles championship.

Miss Helen Willis, school girl genius from California, put out Miss Kathleen McKane, outstanding player of the invaders 2-6, 6-2, 7-5. Miss Eleanor Ross, a New York star, defeated Mrs. E. J. Covell, British star 6-1, 6-0, 6-4. These engagements were crowded with thrills from start to finish.

The great treat for the gallery was the battle between Miss Willis and Miss McKane. It passed all expectations, however, and provided as fine a three set tennis match as the Forest Hills courts have seen.

THE LOOKOUT

In two recent issues of Fort Worth papers there have been references to Wichita Falls that would lead the reader to believe that this little city is just about the toughest baseball spot on the map. After watching every game of this season, it is difficult to understand just how Spudder baseball crowds acquired such a reputation. It looks as though the Fort Worth writers are doing Spudder fans a gross injustice.

There has been a few disturbances of any sort at Athletic Park this season as in any park in any league. There has not been a blow passed within the confines of the park since the season opened. There has been a little wrangling with the umpires as in any city. The fans certainly have not even so much as threatened a player or an umpire. And still a Fort Worth writer goes so far as to predict trouble in the Wichita Falls game. Another writer of Fort Worth says these "oil workers" have a habit of landing on laws and taking about it later.

Certainly nothing has happened at Wichita Falls that has approached the two desperate assaults on players on an umpire home game. And on Sunday too.

Bob Osborne hurled himself a mighty sweet ball game in his first start before a home crowd. He didn't seem to have a lick on the ball but kept the Gassers from hitting and that's all that is necessary. All the stuff in the world does not make the reputation of a pitcher to meet the test.

Osborne will be joined in the fray by the two favorites, Red Williams and Bill Anderson, both pitchers of the Spudders. The Spudders will be joined in the fray by the two favorites, Red Williams and Bill Anderson, both pitchers of the Spudders.

PRACTICALLY ALL COUNTY SCHOOLS OPEN SEPT. 10

With the exception of three or four, all the common school districts of Wichita county will begin the year's work on September 10, the same date on which the schools of the city are scheduled to open.

The Cooper, County Line and Enterprise schools will in all probability not open until the first of October. These schools are located in cotton districts and the children are not able to start to school earlier.

In addition to the work, these schools have only an eight-month term which will permit the schools to close at the same time as the others in the county.

The Deep Creek new school building may not be completed on the opening day, although work is being speeded up in order to have the building ready for occupancy at that time.

COTTON IS SUFFERING FROM DRY WEATHER

KIRKLAND, Texas, Aug. 17.—Cotton continues to deteriorate with the absence of rain in this section, especially the eastern part of Childress and the western part of Hardeman counties, which are in a critical condition, according to the growers.

No rain has been received for over two months, except one light shower, therefore cotton is suffering greatly from dry weather, an extent heard, and the hot winds, during the past 12 days the crops have been cut short at least 50 per cent, practically all small bolls on the stalks, those which are only half grown, are shedding rapidly with little prospects for a top crop. The water supply for domestic uses is running short, which gives a great deal of worry.

Gasoline 10 cents.

The gasoline fight has reached Kirkland and today the retail price reached 16 cents, coming down five cents from yesterday.

Higher Tax Rate.

The Childrens county commission met this week and set a new tax rate which is five cents higher than last year, the total rate for the county is now 50 cents on the $100 valuation.

Tears in Eyes of Parents of Girl Alleged to Have Been Wronged Turn To Appeal To Have Man Turned Free

With tears rolling down their cheeks, the parents of a 15 year old girl, alleged to have been wronged, begged and pleaded with Constable Frank Morgan two weeks ago to put forth all his efforts and bring the man to justice.

Mr. Morgan heeded the plea and besides going to work on the case himself, placed one of his deputies on leave from routine duties to devote his entire time to apprehending the man whom the parents said had assaulted their daughter.

After two weeks of ardent labor and pursuit, involving the expenditure of much money and the loss of valuable time, the man was located Thursday at Terrell, and officers there were instructed to place him under arrest and hold him until further information was received.

Thursday evening Constable Morgan informed the parents of the girl of the reward of his efforts. Mr. Morgan was elated over the catch because of the plea that the parents had put before him.

Friday morning the man and wife appeared before Constable Morgan with the request that the man be

PRESIDENT OF MEXICO HAS ORDERED RELEASE OF AMERICAN AIRPLANE

NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 17 (AP).—President Alvaro Obregon of Mexico in a telegram to the Nogales chamber of commerce, stated that he had ordered the Mexican war department to release immediately an American commercial airplane confiscated several days ago at Guaymas, Sonora, by Mexican military authorities.

He also stated that the airplane could proceed to any point in the republic without further molestation.

The airplane flew from Nogales into Mexico for commercial advertising purposes.

Two days after the arrival of the aviators at Guaymas the plane was confiscated under orders issued by General Blanco, who held that the airplane was a war implement and that military permits from the war department were necessary to allow it to penetrate into Mexico.

This is the last examination to be held before the schools open, although one is scheduled to be held some time during the month of September.

Puts Family Out For Billy Sunday Is Claim of Wife

By Universal Service. BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 17.—When Billy Sunday's evangelist, came here to conduct a campaign, S. S. Kresge, multi-millionaire ten cent store owner, turned his own family out of the Kresge home to make room for Sunday and his 12 aids. This is one of the complaints made against Kresge in the divorce suit of his wife which was to have come up today, but which was postponed. Mrs. Kresge's papers also charged that Kresge was moose and sullen and frequently refused to speak to her or their five children. Mrs. Kresge also said the ten cent store genius frequently went to bed while his company was visiting them in the evening and that he refused to accept any responsibility for children, placing the burden of their care on her shoulders.

SAYS IMMIGRANTS AT ELLIS ISLAND ARE RESPONSIBLE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—Replying to the latest British attack on conditions at the immigration station at Ellis Island, Secretary Davis of the labor department, declared today that "the immigrants themselves" were responsible for most of the troubles complained of. "This fact," Mr. Davis said, "was perfectly apparent from the report of Sir Apollon Giddens, the British ambassador, recently submitted at London. It must be kept in mind the secretary added, that those who are detained at Ellis Island are held because they are in one way or another in violation of the immigration laws of this country. It is plain," he said, "that the comforts of British nationals coming to this country could be much improved if the British government would undertake to insist that only individuals who are admissible under our laws were allowed to leave for America."

TOURISTS ARE AGAIN PASSING THROUGH CHARLIE

CHARLIE, Texas, Aug. 17.—For a few days after the destruction by a fire of the Byers bridge across Red river, eight miles east of here a short time ago, the stream of state-to-state tourists motoring through the country via Charlie ceased. During those few days business here seemed dulled by the loss of the bridge, but within the next few days the river, which is very low, has been straddled at the crossing, making it possible for tourists enroute to other points to pass. As a result many tourists enroute to other points again visit Charlie daily.

Wool Demand Again Restricted Next Week

BOSTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—The Commercial Culletin will say tomorrow: "The demand for wool has been restricted again this week and the market must again be reported as in buyers' favor. Attempts to buy good combing merinos on the low side of the market established a week ago have not been successful, however, for the holders of these wools realize their scarcity. Prices on the whole are no more than slightly changed from last week's quotations. The goods market affords little more encouragement to the trade than it has for two or three weeks, but the trade hardly expects any improvement in that direction until next month. A little more buying is reported in the west at around 35 to 40 cents for good to choice medium territories. Mostly, the new clip movement is on a postponement basis. Mohair is quiet and unchanged."
