GERMANY CANNOT FINANCE PASSIVE RESISTANCE PLAN

BERLIN, Sept. 5. (AP)—Germany has been told at the end of her letter to the League of Nations that her passive resistance is concerned.

This is the current impression in banking circles which expect that Germany in the course of the next few days will take the initiative in the direction of proposing that special discussions be begun with the French and Belgian governments.

That the Ruhr and the Rhineland right has been lost by the government now is also tacitly admitted in political circles, although the press has not yet discussed the situation with which the government is confronted. It is believed, however, that the situation is being informed by Chancellor Stresemann that the government would use to force a solution of the Ruhr conflict in the near future.

The situation in the occupied zones also is steadily becoming worse both in respect to economic conditions and the temper of the residents who no longer are able to maintain the solidarity necessary for a united front.

A bullet hole in the young man's skull and a fracture of the girl's skull indicated that they had been murdered. When found the bodies were five feet apart, a short distance from the road.

Officers are inclined to the opinion that the young couple were killed at a point far removed from the spot where the bodies were found and later carried to the grassy knoll where they were discovered.

United States Takes Leadership In Rushing Relief to Japanese; Witness Tells of Great Disaster

By the Associated Press.

As the story of the Japanese disaster unfolded in the fragmentary messages from press association correspondents, Japanese newspapers and individuals it is apparent that the magnitude of the catastrophe has not been overrated.

In only one dispatch has there been a suggestion that the death toll will not reach the proportion already indicated. This was a message in the Radio Corporation of America in Japan which said the Japanese official estimate of the death toll in Tokyo at 10,000 and in Yokohama at 100,000.

On the other hand Admiral Edwin Anderson, commanding the United States Asiatic fleet, says the latest unofficial reports give the casualties in the capital and Yokohama as 140,000 dead and 400,000 injured. A wireless message from Admiral Anderson to Rear Admiral Edward W. Hinton, chief of naval operations, was picked up in San Francisco. Naval officers in San Francisco believe that Admiral Anderson, who is speaking to Japanese waters, obtained advice of conditions in Japan by radio before communicating with Admiral Hinton.

Another estimate coming from the Eastern News Agency says that 120,000 persons have been killed in the entire stricken district.

Fresh calamity has overtaken Tokyo and the terror-stricken remnants of its population, about 10,000 people, seeking refuge in the yard of a military clothing factory located in a suburb, were trapped by flames and burst in death. Food and water are scarce.

Shohei Number 77.

Two hundred and sixteen distinct earth shocks were felt in Tokyo last Saturday followed by 57 on Sunday. The most severe tremor was of six minutes duration.

The flames that swept the capital burned for 80 hours, leaving Tokyo and its environs in ruins and desolation. A total of 100,000 persons together have devastated an area of 31 square miles in and about Tokyo, according to Japanese officials.

The suffering of Yokohama, too, appears not to have been exaggerated. An official statement received by Osaka, the Japanese press general in San Francisco, says that the great port itself and the Yokohama area have been wiped out. This message sent by former Japanese consul general who is now at Shanghai, added that more than the half of Tokyo has been destroyed.

From Osaka comes a dispatch asserting that a new volcano has broken into San Chiyu, a mountain range, 60 miles northwest of Tokyo. Meanwhile the Japanese cities and towns unaffected by the disaster

WEEKLY WEATHER AND CROP REVIEW FOR COTTON BELT

COTTON MAKES FAIR PROGRESS IN WEST HALF OF TEXAS

CROP IMPROVES WITH NEW GROWTH AND BLOOM

Little or No Improvement in States East of the Mississippi River

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP)—The weekly weather and crop review issued today by the department of agriculture reported the condition of southern crops as follows:

Temperatures averaged near normal throughout the cotton belt, but rainfall continued rather frequent east of the Mississippi river. Partly showers continued in some western portions of the belt which were generally beneficial. Cotton made mostly fair progress in the western half of Texas, but poor advance in the eastern half where the effect of rainfall is still uncertain. Though the grade has been lowered and open cotton damaged in some areas, insect activity shows increase since the rain, but damage on the whole is still slight. There was further heavy rain in central Oklahoma and light to moderate showers elsewhere. Cotton showed improvement with new growth and bloom, except in the northeast where development continued poor. The general condition of the crops averages fair.

The weather was mostly favorable in Arkansas and north made fair advance. Warm rain in Louisiana and west made fair progress. Cotton showed improvement with new growth and bloom, except in the northeast where development continued poor. The general condition of the crops averages fair.

Little or no improvement was reported in cotton in states east of the Mississippi river, although it developed fair to very good in Tennessee and North Carolina. Rainfall continued frequent in most of the east but cotton made only fair progress generally in Mississippi, with very little in the north. The general condition remains poor to only fair in Arkansas, Georgia and Florida. Heavy weevil damage in many localities.

Much of Georgia and other heavy rains and cotton showed further development. Weevil are increasing while shedding and insect activity continues with punctured bolls rotting and sprouting. Picking was again delayed in Florida by wet weather, while the cloudy, stormy weather further unfavorably affected cotton in South Carolina. The general condition in South Carolina is very poor to poor because of continued wetness with serious boll rot and shedding and heavy weevil damage. Picking and ginning were very slow in most states, as there was considerable interruption by wet weather. Sweet potato weevil, severely affected by the weather in the south-western states and very much reduced in most southern trans-Mississippi localities.

For Weeks Naval Air Station Has Attracted Thousands of Visitors.

LAKE HURST, N. J., Sept. 5. (AP)—The navy dirigible ZR-1, largest craft of its kind in the world, vests today in its great hangar, a permanent accomplishment.

Every cylinder of the giant balloons many engines, every ounce of lifting power, every member of the staff of men and officers in charge of the launching, functioned perfectly. The great ship rose majestically and without any jarring of the field. The engines were at no time operated at more than half speed. The vessel traveled at a rate of 40 miles an hour.

They had fallen when the ship moved toward the earth. Batteries of searchlights followed the enormous envelope and supplied a path of light to guide the pilot to a safe anchorage.

Baptist Women Have All-Day Business and Study Meeting Monday; Hear Splendid Program

Between seventy-five and eighty women of the First Baptist auxiliary held their first all-day business and study meeting for the fall season at the church Tuesday.

Plans for winter work were discussed, and after the meeting of the executive board, luncheon and the business session, a splendid program was given, the talks and discussion and the devotional featuring church work and women's part therein.

Mr. J. L. Jackson, president of the auxiliary, presided during the business session; and the meeting was opened with a devotional on "Preparation" led by Mrs. Adeline Hays. The auxiliary planned to take care of their adopted girl, Miss Lila Thornhill, at the Buckley orphanage in and the usual benefit to the orphanage, and other work.

A plate luncheon was served by the executive board at the afternoon session. Following reports from circle leaders whose circles have been active during the summer, the program was given. Mrs. Kay Findler made a short talk on the "Industry of the Church," Miss Alma Lee Johnson talked on "The Evangelism of the Local Church," making a most inspiring and thoughtful discussion.

Miss Emma Carter gave a paper on "The Golden Hour," Mrs. Homer McGee told of the "Young Reserve," and Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Powers led in prayer for the Japanese refugees from the recent terrible disaster on the island. Mrs. Webb discussed church courts, and a round-table talk followed.

The Floral Heights Baptist women held their first fall meeting at the church Tuesday afternoon. A song and prayer opened the program, with the afternoon's Bible study led by Mrs. Felix White. Mrs. J. D. Alfred discussed "The Local Church" and Mrs. Robert Eganor "The Minister of the Unordained."

Mrs. White told of the "Golden Hour" and Mrs. Phillips, the Young Reserve. Sentimental prayers were offered for the church, after which Miss Flett talked on "How to Reach Silent in Church" and Mrs. J. W. Lovins, "Church Courtesy." Mrs. Cleveland, "The Witness of the Bible," and Mrs. Ernest Holford, "Follow Me."

A business meeting followed the closing prayer. SEVENTY-FIVE LADIES AT WOMEN MEET ON TUESDAY. The Ladies Aid of the Seventh and Lamar Methodist Church met Tuesday in business and social session with Mrs. E. E. Friberg, at 621 Denver.

The Tangle

Dear Reader: You are not a woman, who has not had the financial responsibility of a wife and baby, would you buy such a gorgeous and expensive baby carriage as you have seen here? I am sure the manufacturer made that carriage purposely for wealthy godfathers to use as presents to their more or less fashionable goddaughters.

I watched Junior's nurse, Sarah, wheeling the baby yesterday. (Because the carriage was so grand I had to put Sarah in uniform—Alaskan nurse's cap and all) and honestly I felt quite like Mrs. Vanderbill sending out her first fern. It was wonderful of you, Syd, but it is almost too grand for common folk. I am going to keep it all for you and shall be sending it back to you for your first born.

He is so sweet. If I had picked him out from all the babies in the world I could not have one I should like better. Come up and see him, please, and see what you think of your friend, Jack, as a proud papa. Do you know he sits by the cradle and watches that baby by the hour? I told him the other day he was looking in me if he could impress his face upon the treatment of the child, and what do you suppose he said? "No, dear, I'm trying to see a glimpse of some little fighting expression which occasionally makes me think he looks like me."

Honestly, Syd, he does have that little quiver smile and, much to my delight the other day, I found him raising one of his eyebrows in the middle just as Jack does when he isn't altogether happy. Of course, I expect thousands of babies have these little idiosyncrasies, but I don't think that we have happened to get one of them? Again let me thank you for the precious baby carriage. I supposed, though, that a carriage as fine as that should never be called anything but a perambulator. I noticed

RECORD OF ACTS SHOWS NO LAW ON HUNTING LICENSE

Although Harris K. Roberts of this city has received a communication from the state game warden advising him that a change had been made in the hunting license law by the last legislature, the warden of the proceedings and of the state clerk's office here does not contain anything referring to the matter, and he has been assisted.

The state game warden in his letter, according to Mr. Roberts, advised that hunters must provide themselves with a license even if they sought game in the country of their residence and that the only exception was if they hunted on their own premises. A careful search of the law passed by the last legislature shows nothing in this respect and as a result the country clerk has written to Austin to secure a copy of the law. The last change made in the hunting license laws, as far as is revealed by the record of the proceedings of the state legislature on file here, was made by the 18th legislature in 1921, when the privilege of hunting in adjoining counties without a license was stricken from the law, making it permissible only to hunt in one's own county without a license.

WICHITA FALLS LEADS SO IN POTENTIALITY...
Wichita Falls stands out as a leader in many ways. Its location, its climate, its resources, its people, its industry, its education, its culture, its history, its future, all combine to make it a city of great promise and potentiality. It is a city that is growing rapidly, and its growth is being aided by the state government. The state government has made many improvements in the city, and these improvements are helping to make it a more attractive place to live and work. The state government has also made many investments in the city, and these investments are helping to create new jobs and to improve the city's infrastructure. The state government's actions are helping to make Wichita Falls a city that is truly a leader in many ways.

WICHITA FALLS LEADS SOUTHWEST IN POTENTIALITIES

Wichita Falls, from a business standpoint has the greatest potentialities of any city in the southwest. Frank Kell told the members of the Chamber of Commerce at the regular meeting of the Wichita club Tuesday evening when he spoke on "Business Conditions."

Discussing the activities of local men who have been instrumental in the growth and progress of Wichita Falls, Mr. Kell told of a recent visit to the state of Nebraska, where he had opportunity to compare chambers of commerce from practically every Nebraska city with the local chamber. He said in glowing terms to the local chamber of commerce and the men who compose it and are active in civic affairs and commented on the constructive work which is being done.

As an example Mr. Kell spoke of the irrigation project and the part it was assigned to play in the growth and prosperity of this section. "It is my opinion that without an adequate water supply, such as is being furnished from the lake at the big dam that Wichita Falls would have suffered a decrease in population of at least 50 per cent during the past two months," he said. "The inexhaustible supply of water which is available here is a water shortage and the situation is permanently relieved."

Beneficial Investigation. Mr. Kell discussed at length the agricultural conditions and markets in this section and called attention to the irrigation project in this connection and pointed out the benefits which would result to the farmer. He compared prices of agricultural products and beef cattle with those of several years ago. He pointed out that practically every market had shown improvement in the past few years. "Before the present condition of the oil business is adjusted, I am convinced that the crude market must go down the same as in any other business," the speaker said in discussing the local oil situation. "There are as many circumstances to cause fluctuations in the oil market as in any other business and we must become accustomed to them; I believe the oil situation is gradually righting itself," he added. "We have an impending disaster and the country is on a sound basis; we have prosperity if we only

Fatty Arbuckle Will Be Seen In "Hollywood" at Olympic Theater Three Days Beginning Monday

FATTY ARBUCKLE

When the James Cruze Paramount special, "Hollywood," comes to the Olympic Theater next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the old-time favorite, Fatty Arbuckle, will be seen in a small part. Fatty's appearance comes as one of the many surprises that await the spectator who views this film or, without a doubt, the greatest cast of stars and celebrities ever collected together in one picture. The heroine of the play is seen making application for work at a studio. Fatty steps back in a polite manner and gives the young lady his place when she goes there the window is closed. The scene perhaps has more bearing than the average spectator will notice, telling as it does Fatty's present predicament in a very short scene.

In "Hollywood," contrary to all productions that have gone before, the leading players are all practically unknown while the supporting cast is made up of the very biggest stars and celebrities of the motion picture world. In one scene, James Cruze was called upon to direct Cecil B. DeMille, himself the greatest director of them all. While Cruze is one of the greatest directors, it is imagined he had about the same feeling as an office clerk would express his boss around.

In speaking of "Hollywood," Jess L. Lasky, vice president of the Paramount Players-Lasky Corporation, had the following to say: "The picture, 'Hollywood,' shows better than words can tell that generous spirit of friendship that binds together the great artists of our community. Without that spirit the lack of making 'Hollywood' the picture would have been insurmountable. It is with keen and deep appreciation of my debt to them that I wish to take this opportunity of thanking all of those many artists of the screen who appear in this photoplay and who by their generous and untiring efforts have enabled us to give to the world some insight as to what life in Hollywood really is."

He spoke of the recent recognition of Mexico and referred to it as a step toward the stimulation of financial relations between the two countries. The immigration laws as they are enforced at present cause in for their share of criticism and were characterized as detrimental to the country on account of a general labor shortage which had been caused, Mr. Kell said, by an influx of restricted immigration.

Judge John C. Kay, the second speaker of the evening, impressed upon the club the danger of removing the power of the supreme court to restrict acts of congress. He called attention to the fact that, which he claimed, had always away congress to a greater or less extent and pointed out the necessity of leaving the power to interpret the constitution in the hands of the supreme court. George Taylor entertained the club with a program of vocal solos with guitar accompaniment. Mr. Taylor responded repeatedly to the applause of the club with several numbers of near folk songs, along with some of the late popular air.

FIRST FALL MEET C. OF C. COUNCIL TO BE SEPTEMBER 14

Plans were launched Wednesday by T. F. Duncan, chairman of the members' council of the chamber of commerce for a record attendance at the fall roasting luncheon meeting of the council, to be held at noon Friday, September 14, in the Kemp Hotel ballroom. This will be the initial meeting of the season, following the usual summer suspension during July and August. Plans for the work to be undertaken during the fall and winter will be outlined. The full program of the first meeting will be announced in a few days. Some of the tasks to be accomplished by the members' council during the coming fall and winter will be to cooperate to the fullest extent possible with the Texas-Oklahoma Fair Association in making the 1922 fair an outstanding success; to conduct trade trips and good will tours and to assist in obtaining publicity for Wichita Falls and the Texas-Oklahoma Fair, according to Chairman Duncan.

LIONS DETERMINED TO OBTAIN TOURIST PARK FOR WICHITA

A first-class tourist park for Wichita Falls will become a reality if the plans being laid by the local Lions Club materialize. The Lions have announced their intention of continuing the agitation for a park in order to have a suitable place in condition when the tourist season opens next summer. The discussion was taken up at the regular meeting of the club at the Kemp Hotel Wednesday noon. Frank Crippier, chairman of the park committee, reported that the matter had been taken up with city park officials and that some action was assured. The original plan to use Scotland Park as a tourist park site did not meet with the approval of city and park officials and it has been suggested that a site near Barwise school be selected for the campsite.

The club voted to continue the committee with instructions that they confer with the business council at its meeting Friday, September 14, and make an effort to enlist the cooperation of its members in the matter. J. H. Bruce, secretary of the club, who has been one of the most active and enthusiastic members since the date of organization, submitted his resignation as secretary. A resolution of regret at his action and urging him to reconsider was passed unanimously. Action on the resignation was postponed until a future meeting.

Miss Daley Wharton, instructor in violin at the University of Wyoming school of music, entertained the club with a violin solo. Miss Wharton was accompanied by Mrs. F. W. Colliard.

"This was my experience recently, but I knew just what to do. I didn't fuss. I just called a page and sent him for a bottle of Fly-Plu and sprayed the bed frame and sheets well with it. WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 5, 1924
BACK TO SCHOOL

Wichita Falls schools will reopen within a few days. Education—one of the greatest boons of America—will be offered to the youth of this community without cost.

All children will attend the lower grades—the compulsory school attendance law makes that certain if nothing else would impel it.

But there are some who have reached the higher grades in the high school who may be even now wavering in their education as to whether they will reënter school or not next Monday.

Of course, there are instances when a boy, or a girl either for that matter, must quit high school and go out and earn a living for themselves and to help their families.

We can well repeat what the Denison Herald has said to the young people of Denison:

"The country never needed educated men and women more than it needs them today," said the Herald. "Being sensible of that need does not adequate provision has been made whereby every boy and girl with a little effort can acquire at least a high school education. It is an opportunity to be grasped while it lasts."

If it is passed up and the attempt be made to erect a business structure without supports sufficient to maintain it against ill-winds it will fall, or at least afford inadequate protection from life's varied cross currents.

"The Back to School" movement is general throughout the nation, thus evidencing the tremendous interest the subject holds for those who regard education as the bulwark of success. Practically every civic organization has undertaken the task of influencing the youths of the land to go back to school instead of seeking employment at even remunerative wages. Youths need to be impressed with the truth that no compensation for employment, however great it may be, will weigh as heavily in the scale of value as an education. If one's earning power without the advantage of education is attractive, with the mind fully trained and developed, it stands to reason it will be doubled. A boy can well afford to wait a few years until he has acquired at least a common school education before deciding to seek employment in any of the branches of trade."

IF THE UNITED STATES WAS ITALY AND ITALY, GREECE

Steps in the Italian navy, acting under orders from the government at Rome seized the island of Corfu belonging to Greece after a bombardment. In this bombardment an old fortress sheltering Greek orphans under American protection was shelled, killing fifteen of the orphans and wounding many more. Stranepet was fired into a crowd of these orphans bathng in the beach, wounding a number.

This could be considered a casus belli by the United States if this country was so disposed. Following Italian precedent it would be in our power for the United States to make the following demands upon the Italian government:

- 1. The payment of $100,000,000.
2. The admiral of the Italian navy and officers to walk the plank in the presence of representatives of the American government.
3. An apology for the act.
4. A salute to the American flag.

The Italian government would be given 24 hours to accept these terms and if not accepted at that time the American navy would bombard the most sacred, the hospital or orphanage in Italy.

Of course nothing like this will be done or thought of. But if our government was warlike and we had had some dispute that had aroused ill feeling between the United States and Italy such a thing as this might happen. As it is, most probably Italy will express regret over the killing of the orphans and the hospital will be closed up for as far as the American government is concerned.

But if the Italian navy and the Italian government make any move to bombard the hospital and orphans of Corfu we must hope in the interest of American good will that they keep it silent.

LOOKING AT THE OTHER SIDE

The orphans are making new records for the year and are brighter than for several years past. This could be good news for the Italians and help them forget their other side's action largely against the press the past year.

is a large one. Down South cotton is bringing a good price. The price of many other farm products are fair. Altogether the situation of the farmers is not so bad after all.

It's time to turn from Brookheart, and Copper and Magnus Johnson and others who would save the farmers and look at the other side. Perhaps the farmers are not altogether lost after all.

IS IT A DIME NOVEL ARRANGEMENT?

"Paying ten cents for a newspaper isn't exactly a dime novel arrangement, is it?" asks the Wichita Times-Herald.

In some cases it is. The old dime novel had nothing on some of our Sunday newspapers for attention. There seems to be a race between some newspapers to see which can outdo the other in this respect and in the price they have raised their selling price from a "nickel" to a "dime."

Practically all of the out-of-town Sunday newspapers reaching Wichita Falls are now selling for ten cents. If it're worth a "dime" this newspaper's price of a "nickel" ought to be mighty cheap.

TODAY'S TALK
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE LARGE TASK. Life can come to us with little of charm or inspiration unless we have first learned the vital points about life.

We pass through periods. But as we age in learning, we stand more erect, feel deeper, and in this sobered state our ground against the odds of life and face the large task—that of taking on intelligence of heart and soul.

How small the little temptations of reward in intrinsic value when placed beside the results of a developed intellect!

Learn first to live—and all the beauties of ambition and striving will blossom at your feet. Wealth and fame and glory are the prizes of life like tasks. The large task of living desires no such gifts.

The large task itself is a gift—and one that warms the conscious being and gives to it its breath and ruddy glow.

I am looking into the mirror's face of Lincoln which hangs upon my wall beside my desk. I see the large task in him, that looms with time—a thing as immortal as time itself; for it has become a part of life.

Every effort that you make immediately melts into some phase of conscious life and fits you that much better to cope with things now untried.

The large task is the one that stamps finally upon your soul.

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST

When friendly hands come in and bring To me some kindly offering, It pleases me some day to take A gift to them for their sake.

I jump with joy when they make known A trinket they would like to own; And with that gift to them I go My gratitude and love to show.

Life daily plays the triend to me, It gives me splendors I may see, The stars at night, the morning sun, The playground where the children run.

It gives me laughter through the year, Strength for my task and faith for tears, Love at my hearth, and all I own— A new day when today has flown.

Then shall I, taking while I live So much from life, not also give A little of myself in turn, That life my gratitude may learn?

Or shall I not rejoice to find Some little used for being kind, And seize the chance this gift to make To one from whom so much I take?

That heart is cold and dull as stone Where gratitude is never known, And thoughtless to who while he lives Takes all from life, but nothing gives.

Your Health
By Dr. Clifford C. Robinson

Three feet. A pair of three feet is most discouraging. But with a little effort you can reduce this inconvenience...

Daily foot bath is of great help. Use lukewarm water and soap. A gentle massage is beneficial.

Change foot daily. Tight supports impede circulation and should be avoided.

If your feet want to perspire—let them. Use a borax acid solution or any mild germicide for any foot odor.

People who are flat-footed and those who have bunions require the special services of a competent orthopedist.

You will notice there has been no mention of corns. There's a reason: The corns of your feet and you will have no corns.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Wichita Falls schools will reopen within a few days. Education—one of the greatest boons of America—will be offered to the youth of this community without cost.

All children will attend the lower grades—the compulsory school attendance law makes that certain if nothing else would impel it.

But there are some who have reached the higher grades in the high school who may be even now wavering in their education as to whether they will reënter school or not next Monday.

Of course, there are instances when a boy, or a girl either for that matter, must quit high school and go out and earn a living for themselves and to help their families.

We can well repeat what the Denison Herald has said to the young people of Denison:

"The country never needed educated men and women more than it needs them today," said the Herald. "Being sensible of that need does not adequate provision has been made whereby every boy and girl with a little effort can acquire at least a high school education. It is an opportunity to be grasped while it lasts."

If it is passed up and the attempt be made to erect a business structure without supports sufficient to maintain it against ill-winds it will fall, or at least afford inadequate protection from life's varied cross currents.

"The Back to School" movement is general throughout the nation, thus evidencing the tremendous interest the subject holds for those who regard education as the bulwark of success. Practically every civic organization has undertaken the task of influencing the youths of the land to go back to school instead of seeking employment at even remunerative wages. Youths need to be impressed with the truth that no compensation for employment, however great it may be, will weigh as heavily in the scale of value as an education. If one's earning power without the advantage of education is attractive, with the mind fully trained and developed, it stands to reason it will be doubled. A boy can well afford to wait a few years until he has acquired at least a common school education before deciding to seek employment in any of the branches of trade."

IF THE UNITED STATES WAS ITALY AND ITALY, GREECE

Steps in the Italian navy, acting under orders from the government at Rome seized the island of Corfu belonging to Greece after a bombardment. In this bombardment an old fortress sheltering Greek orphans under American protection was shelled, killing fifteen of the orphans and wounding many more. Stranepet was fired into a crowd of these orphans bathng in the beach, wounding a number.

This could be considered a casus belli by the United States if this country was so disposed. Following Italian precedent it would be in our power for the United States to make the following demands upon the Italian government:

- 1. The payment of $100,000,000.
2. The admiral of the Italian navy and officers to walk the plank in the presence of representatives of the American government.
3. An apology for the act.
4. A salute to the American flag.

The Italian government would be given 24 hours to accept these terms and if not accepted at that time the American navy would bombard the most sacred, the hospital or orphanage in Italy.

Of course nothing like this will be done or thought of. But if our government was warlike and we had had some dispute that had aroused ill feeling between the United States and Italy such a thing as this might happen. As it is, most probably Italy will express regret over the killing of the orphans and the hospital will be closed up for as far as the American government is concerned.

But if the Italian navy and the Italian government make any move to bombard the hospital and orphans of Corfu we must hope in the interest of American good will that they keep it silent.

LOOKING AT THE OTHER SIDE

The orphans are making new records for the year and are brighter than for several years past. This could be good news for the Italians and help them forget their other side's action largely against the press the past year.

Greatest of disasters. Other great calamities. If men would learn.

THE JAPANESE earthquake surprise in horror all authenticated disaster in history. The earthquake came from the sea, which men bring upon themselves.

The history of Japan is a history of earthquakes. These things remember some of them. In 1891, 1894, 1895, and in 1898, a tidal wave caused by an earthquake...

The disaster of the moment, more horribly shown by modern construction of buildings by gas-main explosion, was the earthquake of 1923. It is the old days expressed in records. It is learned that half a million have perished in the disaster.

Millions are homeless, hungry, frightened. For the survivors, among the survivors of the earthquake are almost as serious as the earthquake itself.

Every District in State Suffers Reduction in Cotton Condition in Month from July 25 to August 25

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 4.—Every district in the state has suffered a reduction in cotton condition since the July 25 report according to the estimates of the U. S. division of crop estimation. The average condition of 15 points below that of a month ago. However, it is usual for the crop to show a reduction of 15 points in condition during August, and had the decrease been no more than this the forecast of production would have remained at 4,175,000 bales as indicated on July 25. But with a reduction of 15 points, or five points in excess of the 15-point average decrease, the forecast is 3,725,000 equivalent bales and an average of 137 pounds of lint.

During the 1922 crop year, 5.7 acres were required to make a bale and this amount is estimated that in an average it will take almost as much. In favored localities in all sections the yield per acre is considerably in excess of that of last year, but these seem to be offset by the lower yields in places where conditions have been very bad. The yield per acre for the same period last year and prospects are that many sections will be through by the end of September. Last year 14.1 per cent of the crop had been ginned by September 1 and 57.4 per cent prior to September 25, but in 1923, a very dry year, the September 1 ginning was 12.3 per cent of those of September 25 were 20.1 per cent.

The crop growth has again been deficient in rainfall and temperatures remained abnormally high until the 22nd when rains and a cold wave from the north broke the growth. The rainfall was not general and many sections were left dry. Since the 25th further precipitation has occurred, but the benefit resulting in all other problems. The early planting is generally well, but the late cotton may do well where rains have been ample. If the average frost date holds, a considerable increase in the bottom crop is fair and will raise general average. Leafworms have caused considerable damage, weevil and boll worms are numerous in localities. Average frost date, Nov. 10 to Nov. 20.

East: Drouth and hot winds had cut condition severely since last report; in places all bolls had opened and little improvement seemed possible. No rains had fallen since April 25 in western limits of district, and the crop is in the bottom crop is fair and will raise general average. Leafworms have caused considerable damage, weevil and boll worms are numerous in localities. Average frost date, Nov. 10 to Nov. 20.

South: Much poisoning of leafworm has been done with more or less success; old cotton is about all made; the heat and insects reduced prospects greatly during the month. Fruiting has been held back by "flea," leaf-worm, weevil, and boll worms. Leaf-worm damage is not so serious as it was in the past. NAMES

How They Originated

VERNON

"Eagle Star" was the first outfit to enter the city which later grew into the city of Vernon. It is said that a large number of cowboys spent the month of August in the early days, hence the name. Henrietta was the nearest official postoffice, but to make a straight line was maintained from Henrietta up through Chickasha, Texas, and mail was sent for distribution. Jones station at Warsaw Springs, now known as Gordon Springs, two and a half miles northwest of Vernon. R. D. Rector presided over this mail center.

A townsite was laid out here in the latter part of 1888, and early in 1891 application was made for a postoffice. Postal authorities at Washington stated that there were already too many "Eagle" towns in Texas—Eagle Pass, Eagle Lake, etc.—and suggested the name "Vernon" in honor of some official in the office of the postmaster-general. The name was chosen and it was this city which was named for a man who was never known here.

The first settlement in Wichita County was made at Doan in 1877 by J. Dean and Calvin Doan. In the fall of 1879 R. F. Jones and his family moved to the site of the town. Jones settled on different sections in the vicinity of modern Vernon. Before the time that land had been used as a pasture for cattle belonging to the Waggoners and to the R. F. Jones family, he decided to lay off the townsite and try to locate the county site here.

R. F. Jones agreed to donate the land to the town, provided the other town builders would agree to make certain improvements. Accordingly, the half section was divided into 32 shares distributed as follows: R. F. Jones, 1 share; J. Windsor Robinson, 1 for plowing and laying off the town; John Snowling, 1 for a blacksmith; J. F. Jones, 1 for a restaurant. These six men were the original townsite owners. J. A. Crager later bought a fourth of Mr. Jones' interest, and U. H. Minton, C. H. Scott and C. M. Byers bought interests from other original owners.

The interest of R. F. Jones, Mrs. Ella Crager Jones, still makes her home in Vernon at the same place by which she shares a bride in 1892. It is said that she has lived in Vernon longer than any other present citizen.

Vernon was incorporated in 1899, with J. R. Tolbert as mayor, John Hammond as city marshal, and the following council: J. H. Dowdy of Duncan, Okla., C. H. Scott and C. M. Byers. The existing town of Tolbert was named for Verago's first mayor.

On May 1, 1891, Rev. J. T. Mossmar of pioneer Methodist fame organized the first church here. The first school was taught in a one-room shack by L. N. Perkins, with an initial enrollment of eight pupils in 1892. The first newspaper here was the "Vernon Guard" established by Frank Manning. The oldest firm still in business in Vernon is the Kall Milling Company, organized in 1892.

Unprecedented wheat yields and other beautiful crops in the nineties established Vernon as a thriving little city. In the 12 years of its history Vernon has become a city of 7,000 population, with the valuation of city property at $1,000,000; with 15 miles of paved streets and 25 miles of concrete sidewalks; with manufacturing, wholesale, retail, and banking interests which, with hundreds of substantial homes, make Vernon one of the most progressive and beautiful cities of Northwest Texas.

Sweeping Construction Activities Are Reported on the Way Now For Most of the States in the South

Special to The Times. —The sweep of business activity and construction operations throughout the South goes on with accelerating pace, and on a scale that indicates that this section is setting a stride for general business and construction such as it has never before had. Indicative of "the magnitude of these movements" is a contract in Atlanta for the building of the city, making it the largest office building in the South and incident therewith the signing of a contract for a fifteen-year lease of a portion of the building at $10,000 per year for five years, $12,000 for next five years, and $14,000 for last five years, or a total for the fifteen years of $300,000, the lease being the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company.
