PHILIPPINE SITUATION MORE COMPLICATED THAN AT ANY TIME

RESIGNATION OF LEGISLATORS REGARDED AS NATIVE VICTORY.

HOPE FOR COOPERATION HAS BEEN ABANDONED

Governor General is Expected to Appoint Members of Democrats Party.

MANILA, Oct. 27. (AP)—Political developments and reports from the Moro country in the last 24 hours indicate that the situation existing in the Philippines is more serious and more complicated than at any time since the American administration became definitely established. While Governor General Leonard Wood and a large force of constabulary troops are in Mindanao investigating Moro troubles, the political situation has come to a head in the resignation of four appointive members of the legislature late last night.

Three representatives and one senator, appointed by Governor General Wood, have sent in a joint resignation, accompanied by an announcement that although appointed by the governor general, they could not endorse his policies and to avoid embarrassment for him and themselves they deemed it best to quit their posts.

The resignation of the legislators is regarded as a distinct victory for the Philippine independence commission which for some time has been trying to prevail on appointive members of the legislature to resign. At a meeting yesterday morning the commission succeeded in getting all the resignations to agree to resign. Rather than constitute a divided front to the administration opponents of the governor general agreed to a delay and at the next meeting the resignations were unanimous, all appointive members agreeing to resign.

"All hope for cooperation between the executive and legislative departments of the insular government is lost," the legislators said in resigning. They expressed the belief that the governor general would appoint somebody to their places who will cooperate with him. In some quarters it is predicted the governor general will appoint members of the Democratic party to fill the vacancies, thus reversing the administration policy which always has been to select members of the opposition party to office, ignoring the administration's friends because the administration's friends are always well disposed toward American interests and it is possible that appointments to office will convert opponents."

Declares Religion Inspired by Hymns Increases Insanity

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 27. (AP)—Personal religion inspired by the settlement in such hymns as "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder, I'll Be There," and "There Will Be Glory For Me," has been the cause of an increase of suicides and insanity, Dr. Richard Roberts of Montreal, Canada, declared in addressing the delegates to the conference here of men who are considering entering the ministry held under the auspices of the Seminaries of New England.

MacMillan, Arctic explorer.

A message dated Refuge Harbor, Greenland, received from the schooner by Jack Barnesley, a radio operator at Prince Rupert, B. C., and relayed by the latter to Omaha, said the Council Bluffs church service was greatly appreciated.

Crooks Had Best Be On Lookout

As the result of Norfleet's dogged pursuit, the band is lodged in jail.

By NEA Service. HALB CENTER, Texas, Oct. 27.—One swallow doesn't make a summer. And by the same token, neither does one bit necessarily constitute a "sucker."

For proof and corroboration turn to Frank Norfleet here.

This soft-spoken rancher has just returned from a four-year man hunt.

The chase led him over the United States, through Canada, South and Central America and to Cuba.

Norfleet was after five sleek bunco men who swindled him out of $45,000 in a fake oil deal at Dallas. Today the band is lodged in jail, as the result of Norfleet's dogged pursuit—all except one, who committed suicide rather than face trial.

When he left here four years ago on the first lap of his chase, folks who knew about the affair, called Norfleet "just another sucker."

Now they're hailing him as the town's most eminent citizen. And movie companies and national detective agencies are bidding for the once glibbie rancher's services.

The one-time victim spent thousands of dollars in his role of international sleuth and doesn't regret it.

He didn't pursue the bunco men merely because they had taken his money——but because they had violated his confidence and trust.

To do that on the Texas plains is a fatal mistake, he explains. Frequently, while girdling the continent, Norfleet would stop to visit his ire on independent bands of crooks in cities he passed through.

Once in Denver he acted the "sucker" with such admirable ability, that he was instrumental in aiding local authorities to put the skids under a slippery band of bunco men, sending 25 of them to prison.

Which shows how the worm may turn. He sure to see this, or something like that.

SINCLAIR MAY BE HEARD MONDAY IN TEAPOT DOME CASE

WAS NOT USED SATURDAY AS EXPECTED BY THE COMMITTEE.

OTHER WITNESSES ARE EXAMINED AT HEARING

Assistant Secretary of Navy Roosevelt Testifies on Saturday.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—After summoning Harry F. Sinclair to Washington to tell his story of the leasing of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve the senate public lands committee devoted all of its session today to hearing other witnesses and adjourned shortly after noon with the announcement that Mr. Sinclair probably would be heard Monday.

During the morning's session the oil magnate sat in the committee room ready to go on the stand, listening to testimony by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy department and Assistant Secretary Finney of the interior department.

From Mr. Roosevelt the committee heard further details of the leasing of the reserve to the Sinclair interests, together with a statement of financial investments made in Sinclair companies by members of the Roosevelt family in years past. Mr. Finney was questioned about the general policy of oil leasing and he told the committee that in several respects Albert B. Fall, who as secretary of the interior, signed the Teapot Dome lease, had reversed the position taken by the interior department during the Wilson administration.

Upon questioning by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, Mr. Finney said that so far as he knew Mr. Fall had obtained no authorization from President Harding for leases issued the Hopululu Consolidated Oil Company, covering 2,000 acres of land claimed by it in what is now naval reserve No. 2 in California. Senator Walsh insisted that under the leasing law such leases could only be made by authority of the president and Mr. Finney said that until Mr. Fall became secretary it had been the practice to obtain always a written authorization from the White House.

Mr. Finney also testified that after the Wilson administration had instituted proceedings to recover from Standard Oil interests a section in naval reserve No. 1 in California, Secretary Fall had reopened the matter and ordered the proceedings abandoned.

HOW SWITZERLAND GAINED AND LOST BY THE WORLD WAR

Carpenter Discusses Situation in Which Innocent Country Is Placed Producing Luxuries No One to Buy

(Copyright 1923, Carpenter World Travels)
 GENEVA, Switzerland.—"Thrift, Thrift, Horatio!" Hamlet's cry is the cry of the Swiss, and never has it sounded more loudly. Before the war these people were one of the richest nations of Europe. Every man, woman and child figuratively speaking had more than $1100 in his or her jeans. The national wealth equaled more than $600 for every family and the country had a tourist trade which brought in more than a hundred million dollars a year. It had a large foreign commerce surpassing that of the United States by more than two hundred percent per capita and it was making money hand over fist. Its national debt was a bagatelle, and the general debt was only one cent for every two dollars of the wealth of the nation. The interest was easily cared for by taxation and the government had an annual surplus.

Then came the war and Switzerland assumed the position of the innocent bystander in the midst of the mob, and as usual she was hit by the bricks. She was surrounded by Italy, Austria, Germany and France and although she did not fight she had to keep an army about her whole border. She had to feed and clothe it, and at the same time her citizen soldiers were taken out of the industries. The result was that her national wealth was halved, her Swiss debt had increased 1,600 per cent and the taxes mounted sky-high.

During the war the people made money by supplying the fighters. The farmers added to their savings, and those who invested in stock received ten per cent. Two hundred of the most important stock companies doubled their incomes and their dividends were doubled as well. The Swiss are natural savers, and invested their profits in their own securities buying back one hundred million dollars owed by outsiders, and at the same time they loaned money at high rates right and left, to their international neighbors.

With the dawning of peace the Swiss thought they had the world by the tail. Their money was good and their credit was better. They slugged their pocket-books and walked with a strut, and for a time looked down with contempt on the falling currencies of the nations about them. They did so not long. Their investments in Germany, Italy, and Austria fell. They found their own good money, strange to say, a curse instead of a blessing. It was worth so much that the nations about could not buy the Swiss goods; they had to stop buying Swiss goods and that is the condition today.

While in Germany a few months ago, I heard two stories which illustrate in a small way what has taken place. One relates to a blustering German tourist who in 1914 was stopping at Zurich. He had a fustian waiter who speaks amazingly of the Kaiser, and he thereupon slapped the man in the face. The Swiss waiter brought suit, and as the German had to leave to take his place in the army before the suit could be tried, his lawyer made him give a deposit of 600 francs. (Then about 400 marks, before he was allowed to depart.) The German forgot all about the deposit, but the bank at Zurich has now transferred to foreign trade of 100 per capita while the United States had a foreign trade of only $17 per capita. These are the figures for 1914. At the close of the war in 1918 the Swiss foreign trade was $114 per capita. This was the highest of any nation. The Dutch came next at $87, the Canadians next at $57, and then came the British and the Belgians, with the United States only $107 per capita. The trade now has dropped to below $50 per head and the outlook is dark.

The tip and the tourist Moreover before the war Switzerland was getting a large sum of money from tourists. The country is the playground of Europe, and the nations have no money to play. The Swiss franc is so high that the German who formed more than half of the tourist trade of the past cannot afford to enter Switzerland, and the same is true too of the Russians, French and Italians. As for the Austrians they have barely enough to keep body and soul together. About one twenty-fifth of the business of the Swiss is the hotel and travel business. She has tens of millions invested in the hotels and in the past season none of these has been paid. She can accommodate at one time more than a third of a million tourists, but from half to two-thirds of the accommodations have been normal. So far he largely on account of the rates. I find prices everywhere high. Here at Geneva they charge me $1 for a dinner and $1.40 for lunch while my room and bath cost me just about $1 a day. Notwithstanding, I have a pleasant vacation and that is the remuneration of the hotel staff for personal service is not included in the bill. In the event that guests do not wish to contribute the amount themselves, the hotel office will be glad to act for them.

Think of paying for sight-seeing dollars for stopping at a Swiss hotel, and then being asked to hand over the wages of the maid who makes your bed, the boy who blacks your boots and the waiters who hand you the dishes containing food at high prices. I am told that there are some exceptions, but this notice regarding tips, which is signed by the Swiss Hotel Proprietors Association, is hung up in almost every hotel. It makes one feel like a Texas tourist, who having been held up for fees all over Europe, entered a Liverpool hotel washroom just before leaving for the United States. He started to wash his hands when ever the episode he saw these words: "Please tip the basin!"

"I'll be hanged if I will," said he. "I'll go dirty first!" And he left.

Now Voltaire's Remarkable Deed This thrift among the Swiss is proverbial. It permeates all classes. The nation needs all others in its savings accounts in a population of less than 4,000,000, Switzerland has 3,600,000 savings bank depositors and the total sum they now have in the banks is almost one-half billion dollars.

The canton of Geneva stands at the head as to the number of deposits in one of the wonders of social and political economy. Stop a moment and take a look at the canton of Geneva. What people are Switzerland? And who are the Swiss?

As to the first, take a seat in the airplane of your imagination and rise to the height of Mont Blanc. Start there on the border of France and all Switzerland is the new boundary of Austria. The distance is as far as from New York to Boston and you have covered the country. Now fly to the northwest to Basel on the borders of Germany and go direct south to the borders of Italy. If you speed the machine you can make that trip in an hour and twelve minutes.

Looking down from the airplane, the land reminds one of what one of the sailors of the days of Columbus said to the King of Spain in describing the island of Santo Domingo. He took up a sheet of notepaper, squeezed it in his fist and threw it, mishapen and wrinkled, down on the table. "Four Majesty, Santo Domingo is like that." That would be a good description of Switzerland as seen from the air. The land is all hills and hollows, with snow capped peaks, with many gorges and canyons, with here and there a plateau and wide valley.

Nevertheless the Swiss have made the Alps bloom like a garden. A large part of the country is still covered with forests as carefully cared for as the trees on your lawn. Another large part is pasture from which the stones have been picked so that the sweet grass grows among the large rocks, and on farther down in the foothills and valleys the thousands of small farms and vineyards, about one third the land is in cultivation.

The Alps are here in two ranges with a stretch of public affairs and the higher Alps from Geneva to Lake Constance. This strip comprises about one fifth of the country. It has a bed of rich soil and it is intensively cultivated. It is the backbone of the nation and the center of the industrial center. It has most of the cities and hundreds of villages. The whole country is one of villages and there are but few very large centers. The four largest municipalities are Zurich and Basel at the north, Bern in the center and Geneva at the west. But these four towns bunched together have not half as many people as Detroit, and they equal only two thirds the inhabitants of Boston. The whole country is not quite twice as large as Massachusetts, and its total population numbers about the same as Chicago.

Who Are the Swiss? And now who are the people that inhabit this wonderful country? Like the Americans they are a polyglot nation and that means a strong one. They are the result of intermarriages more or less frequent of the German, the French, and the Italians. And I may say that they have the best elements of the three great nations from which they come. The country is bounded by Germany on the north and east, Italy on the south and France on the west. The people are well educated. Everybody can read and does read. There are schools everywhere and all kinds of schools. The nation is for its high educational qualifications and students come here from all over the world to attend the universities and also to teach their children German and French. The Swiss is noted for his common sense and coolheadedness. He discusses public matters with his neighbors and he is not afraid of a new thing. He votes for the old however until he is sure just what is in it. For this reason there is no danger of the nation going bolshevik although the Socialists are growing in numbers.

A Republic for Six Hundred Years We pride ourselves on being the great republican nation of the world. The Swiss had established the independence of some of their cantons more than five hundred years before our republic was started. It was two hundred years before Columbus was born that William Tell shot the apple off the head of his boy, but had he killed him he had a second arrow ready for the heart of Gessler, his oppressor. Some of the authorities say that the Swiss had established the independence of some of their cantons more than five hundred years before our republic was started. It was two hundred years before Columbus was born that William Tell shot the apple off the head of his boy, but had he killed him he had a second arrow ready for the heart of Gessler, his oppressor.

capital of Switzerland, Mr. Carpenter describes some queer ways in which the Swiss govern themselves. He talks with the president and has a look at the parliament; he also tells how contracts for feeding the poor are put up at auction, and the lowest bidder gets the prize.

No Other Cream Can do what Youth Cream did for me

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I found in France some years ago the finest cold cream in existence. I went there to seek it, talked with scientists, with beauty experts and with beauties. And they all agreed that this cream was supreme.

Since then I have used it every night. Also every morning as a powder base. Used it to foster the skin texture, to protect it against grime and weather.

Now millions wonder at my marvelous complexion. It is envied by girls in their teens. Yet I have stood for 40 years in the limelight, and been for 22 years a stage star.

Compare my Youth Cream with the cold creams that you know. If the first jar fails to delight you, your dealer will return its price. If it does for you what it does for me, you will ever thank me.

ELECTION ROAD BONDS NOV. 24 IN WILBARGER

PLAN TO ISSUE $600,000 FOR IMPROVEMENT COUNTY ROADS.

EFFORT TO COMPLETE IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

Will Hard Surface the More Important Lateral Roads of County.

VERNON, Oct. 27.—The commissioners court has set November 24 as the date for the vote on the proposed issue of $600,000 in bonds for the improvement of Wilbarger county roads.

The improvement on these two highways will make a total of about 46 miles of additional 18-foot concrete pavement. The county already has about 20 miles of pavement on the Colorado-Gulf highway and a short stretch north of Vernon and another south of Vernon.

The issue to be voted on November 24 is intended to complete the road improvement program, so far as the two highways are concerned. After the completion of the work to be done under the proposed issue, it is planned to begin hard-surfacing the more important lateral roads.

Conflicts of Peace Are Cited As Worse Than Those of War

By THOMAS H. MARSHALL, Former Vice President of the United States.

WICHITA FALLS TO HAVE PLENTY OF GAS FOR FUEL

"Why didn't the gas go off Thursday morning?" is the question asked by hundreds of people.

H. T. McLaughlin, district manager of the Municipal Gas Company, says the gas was cut off between 10:45 and 11:55 o'clock, but many people still claim that the gas was cut off earlier and that they watched the flames and noticed that fires did not go out.

When interviewed Saturday, Mr. McLaughlin explained that the gas was cut off at the Red river and a temporary line across the stream was constructed by workers of the Lone Star Gas Company. The reason that the gas did not go, completely off was because the pressure in the lines had been regulated and the pressure in the pipes supplied the residents of Wichita Falls with gas during the period when the supply was cut off and the industrial concerns who are big users of gas permitted their supply to be cut off Friday morning.

Although the fires continued to burn during the watchful period, had there been a delay of five minutes longer no gas would have been in the mains at Wichita Falls. The pressure dropped to two pounds and the gauge dropped from 30 pounds to two pounds pressure in 15 minutes, and at that rate a five-minute delay would have exhausted the supply in the mains.

Plenty of Gas Now.

Mr. McLaughlin declared that as far as officials could tell the gas would not have to be shut off again at any time in the near future. The temporary line across the Red river is now in operation and plenty of gas can now be had by all Wichita Falls consumers. It is no longer necessary to get gas via Fort Worth from the lines that cross the Red river at Gainesville and the pumping station at Petrolia is again sending gas to Wichita Falls, following the installing of a temporary line across the Red river from Oklahoma at this point.

Officials claim at first that a full supply of gas could not be had in Wichita Falls until Wednesday, but with the advent of cooler weather, work was rushed by the Lone Star Company and the line across the Red river was completed Friday while the gas was shut off. The line leading to Wichita Falls, Mr. McLaughlin stated, that the residents of Wichita Falls were fortunate in having in this city industrial concerns who would cooperate with public utilities and the residents of the city. By cutting off the supply to the industrialists and boosting the pressure from 30 pounds, the normal pressure, to 40 pounds, the lines saved the city from a gas famine during the period when it was necessary to cut off the supply.

Lachman Shows Coming Nov. 4th May Winter Here

The local American Legion post has contracted with the Lachman Exposition Shows to exhibit in this city for the "Armistice Week" period starting on Monday, November 4 and continuing until November 11. Post Commander Sam Beattie is authority for the statement that the Lachman organization is one of the largest and best conducted amusement expositions on the road starting this after a careful investigation of the merits of the show in every detail. The management furnished Mr. Beattie with its complete route for the present season since its opening in Leavenworth, Kan., in April up to the present time, including a long list of state, county and community fairs covering the northwest, Colorado and Kansas. The Lachman show played a three weeks' engagement in St. Paul, the capital city of Minnesota, where the so-called carnival is not received with favor and left with the hearty commendation of the city officials and their patrons. In fact the last week of the engagement was the best. The Northwest State Fair of North Dakota and the state fair of Colorado were particularly strong in their recommendation.

The engagement in Wichita Falls will very likely end the season for the Lachman show and it is expected that the show will arrange to go into winter quarters here and do all of its rebuilding for the next season in Wichita Falls. If this is carried out it will mean the distribution of much money among the various supply houses of the city as well as the presence all winter of a number of the attaches of the show.

Fertilizing the Flivver Crop With Nitrates

By Will Rogers

Well, as I go to press away out here in the broad spaces where a Man is no better than his press Agent, I have just been reading of the late War between Secretary Weeks, and Uncle Henry Ford. Diplomatic Relations have been strained for some time between Uncle Henry and Authorities in Washington over this Muscle Shoals. That thing has attracted more attention politically than the Soldiers' Bonus. They are afraid to let him have it for Political reasons and they are afraid not to let him have it for the same reason.

You see they figure if he gets this Muscle Shoals he will make a cheap Fertilizer for the Farmers, and they are afraid that the Farmers will figure, "Well, any man that can make and sell me cheap Fertilizer is good enough to be my President."

So the Politicians figure if we can keep him from getting this place why maybe the Farmers will forget they ever wanted cheap fertilizer. That is about as far sighted as the Politician ever is when the Farmer is concerned.

Anyway, this Secretary Weeks picked a bad Bird to start a Public argument with. Uncle Henry may not be packing a head full of facts on past Historical events, but he is laughing a powerful lot of Public confidence with the people who believe in past performances.

They make this stuff from Nitrate or something they get out of the air. Mr. Ford himself tried to explain it to me one time when I was at his home and was asking him about this place, but I don't remember anything about it. It seems like there is a River there with a Big down hill slope to it where they can get cheap Power. It's the Tennessee River. I don't know what the Tennessee River is doing in Alabama or what kind of air they get there that they can make anything out of.

If they have gone to making things out of Air, I want to buy the Washington rights around the Senate. This is the first time that this style of Fertilizer has become a Political Weapon.

Another thing, I don't know what got Uncle Henry's mind from Knickerbocker to Fertilizer. I can't figure out what the two have in common. Why, I have seen those little tin Rascals raised where they had never even heard of fertilizer. There are thousands of people in this Country that own those little Mongrels that can't even spell Fertilizer, much less buy it.

Personally I have always thought he must have some scheme where he can take this Fertilizer and plant these things of his in there and raise them. Of course that is just my personal opinion. He didn't tell me what scheme he had, but you can bet it is something like that. Secretary Weeks could sue him for Libel for what he said about him but I guess he figures it wouldn't do any good. He couldn't get anything, for the chances are that Uncle Henry has what little he has in his Wife's name. Even if Weeks got a judgment he would have to wait for Years to collect it. Wow!

And speaking of Secretary Weeks, one of our Illustrious Cabinet, I had the pleasure yesterday of meeting another member of that Cast. Secretary of Labor, J. J. Davis. He came out to our Studio to see us make those wonderfully funny Pictures. You see the Studios are getting particular about letting in Visitors here lately as several have just laughed themselves to death, and the Uplift Pictures and the Dramas—why Tourists have been known to cry so loud on seeing them made that they had to be removed from the lot entirely.

Of course the principal reason that they stopped Visitors was to keep the Public from seeing the Stars' doubles. It's awfully embarrassing to be standing talking to Visitors and at the same time looking at some one with your clothes on jumping out of a third story window for you. The Stars were so conscientious about it that they had to cut out the Visitors.

But, at any rate, this Secretary Davis got in. He had a letter of recommendation from Will Hays who used to be in the Cabinet before he was promoted. Well, this letter got him in, not because he was Secretary of Labor, for goodness knows, a man investigating Labor would be lost in a Movie Studio. Well, he came in to see us work, and everybody got up and spoke to him.

He has charge of labor in this Country and was out on a Tour trying to find some of it. He spoke as though he would be out for some time yet. He was on his way to Frisco and had stopped over here one day. But the Los Angeles Papers had it that he had come here, and was returning home by way of Frisco. I asked him, if he was investigating Labor, why he had left Washington.

I had read quite a bit about him being a self made man, and I was anxious to meet and talk to him for that reason, as I had heard so much of late years of self made men that I was anxious to see what one looked like. I think the same fellow who started that Self Made Man Gag started that other assume expression, "100 per cent American."

Every human from the time he is weaned is self made. And how do you tell when a Man is Made anyhow? He may be only partly finished when a lot of Gays call him Made.

A Made Man is a finished Man and I doubt if we have one in this Country now. If we have, for the Lord sakes let's find him!

A real Self Made Man would have to be one who had received no learning or knowledge, or assistance from any Person or Source. All of this, mind you, has nothing to do with the case of Secretary Davis. He is such a fine and deserving man that I hate to see him go through life with that terrible Moniker lashed to him, Self Made Man.

The woods are full of those Birds. Every Toastmaster at every 75 cent Luncheon introduces from 3 to 5 Self Made ones every day. But I don't think the Woods are full of Davises.

He started out in life working as a Puddler. Now where, naturally, would a Puddler end but in the United States Cabinet? But from what I have read of him and from what I learned in my lengthy chat with him, he is one of the few Men who we have in Washington who has not remained a Puddler.

He is also the Big Head of the Moose lodge, and has been for years. That Lodge was formed during the Epidemic that struck this Country a few years ago to do something for different ones of our National Animals and Birds. So they formed Lodges where they could stay away from home another night a week and drink the health of "these Noble Animals."

But in later years, due to the influence of such men as Mr. Davis, they have not only toasted these Noble Animals with clinking Glasses but have broadened out and done good deeds for Orphans, Old Men and Women, so that now in all these Lodges they have embraced Humanity in addition to the Animal. Still, mind you, in isolated cases, don't think that the Animals' health is not properly beveraged even in this day and time.

Mr. Davis talked to me on immigration. He says we must import a better class Citizen. Why not raise a better class of Citizen? But I don't suppose they ever thought of that.

"If they have gone to making things out of Air, I want to buy the Washington rights around the Senate."

He told me a great many stories of these tales you hear of people landing here and not being allowed to come in, and of all these inhuman Acts you read of done by the Immigration Department. But when I heard his side it didn't seem so bad as the Papers had said.

Take the case he told me of the Papers making a terrible yell about a Poor Orphan, being held and not allowed to come in. The Papers said it had no Mother or Father or Relatives but an Uncle in this Country. Well, Mr. Davis is, if anything, a very Humane Man. Orphans are his particular Hobby with the Moose Lodge Charity Fund. So he started in to investigate this poor Russian Orphan, and the Uncle who was to care for it. The Orphan was just 42 years old, and the Uncle who was to care for him was 2 Years Old.

So everything you read in a Newspaper is not as sad as it reads—even this Article.

Well Has Been Drilled to Depth of 2500 and $1500 in Money
Required.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Oct. 27. Two mass meetings have been held here to raise funds for the further development of the H. L. Lewis deep test well, located about five miles southwest of this city on the W. F. George lands.

The well has been drilled to a depth of 2500 feet, and it is estimated that the sum of $1,500 would be the amount needed to go through the green lime under which formation pay sand is expected to be found.

For every $1 subscribed by the Burk Burnett people, W. F. George, owner of the land on which the well is being drilled, will put up $1. When $1,000 is subscribed, he will add the $500 necessary to make up the $1,500 pool.

Money subscribed to the test is not donated, but is invested in acreage at the cost of about $25 per acre. If the well is lost before oil is found the balance of the money subscribed will be refunded to the subscribers.

Wagon Bridge Still Out. The railroad bridge across Red river was repaired last Tuesday and train service to Oklahoma was established after the bridge had been out for several days. The Burk Burnett wagon bridge crossing Red river two miles east of this city has not been repaired to date and it is still necessary for travelers on the Meridian highway to make long detours in crossing the river either from the Texas or Oklahoma side.

The bridge will be repaired just as soon as the necessary material, which has been ordered, arrives, and it is expected that work will commence the coming week.

Revival in Progress. Dr. L. E. Finney, well known preacher and evangelist, assisted in the song service by H. Grady Harlan, is now holding a successful revival meeting at the First Baptist Church here. At the services last Sunday morning the church was filled to overflowing, and many had to be turned away for the want of room.

At the night services 18 new members to the church were added. The services are being largely attended each day and night by Burk Burnett people and many are coming from different parts of the county to hear Dr. Finney, who is an able and forceful speaker and whose sermons and appeals abound in messages which are received with apt attention by those present.

UNIVERSITY CLUB PLANS TO BOOST EDUCATION HERE

The University Club of Wichita Falls, including the special committee recently appointed to re-organize interest in educational work in the city and membership in the University Club, is arranging for a special program on educational matters Tuesday of this week at the regular luncheon hour.

Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of city schools, will be the principal speaker. Luncheon will be in dining room of the Kemp Hotel, with a musical program, including solos by Mrs. Louella B. Thompson, who is actively engaged in providing attractive musical entertainments in the city at the present time.

Bean's Remarks On Water Rate Are Misquoted

Through an error in the Friday afternoon issue of The Times in the account of the business council luncheon, Bert Bean was quoted as saying, "The 30 cent rate for water in Wichita Falls is an outrage. We should have a maximum rate of not over 15 cents, etc."

The statement attributed to Mr. Bean was made by another speaker and was not the sentiment expressed by Mr. Bean in a brief comment on the question.

Mr. Bean inquired from R. A. Thompson as to the cost of a separate system for sub irrigation and did not comment on the city water rates that are being charged.

CHARLES I. FRANCIS TO TEACH MEN'S BIBLE CLASS AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

Charles I. Francis will teach the men's Bible class at the First Presbyterian Church this morning, according to an announcement Saturday by Otto Stahlik, president of the class. Judge A. H. Carrigan, teacher of the class, will be unable to attend.

Mr. Francis was elected assistant teacher of this class last Sunday and will come into service quickly. At a meeting of the class that Sunday the plan of having Mr. Francis give a short lecture summary of the lesson, followed by a round table discussion under the leadership of Judge Carrigan, was adopted. Today Mr. Francis will give the lecture and lead the round table discussion.

The Temple Singers will be heard in concert here on Monday evening, October 29, at the high school auditorium, under the auspices of the senior class. The group of vocalists includes Lucile Buzzo, soprano; Louelle Ensworth, contralto; Jan. R. Evans, tenor, and David Davies, baritone. This program will be highly enjoyed by all music lovers.

WORK ON ELECTRA NEW GAS SYSTEM DELAYED BY RAIN

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 27.—Heavy rains the latter part of the week have made it impossible to begin operations on the new gas system as was planned. The work of ditching for the mains will begin as soon as the ground is dry, according to A. T. McDannald, head of the company of local men who are installing the gas system. The ditching will begin at the city limits and come west on Frost street. A six-inch main will be laid on this street, with four-inch connecting lines. A second six-inch main will serve the west part of town.

Mr. McDannald plans to start with a crew of about thirty men and increase the force as the work progresses. All the ditches for the gas mains will be dug with black and shovel, as it was found to be impracticable to use a ditching machine on account of the water and sewage mains.

The supply of gas, which will come from The Texas Company's field, and the weather, according to the company officials, no difficulty is anticipated in being able to give gas service to practically the entire town within three months.

ODD FELLOWS MEETING MONDAY NIGHT TO BE IN NATURE OF HOMECOMING

The regular meeting of the Odd Fellows lodge Monday night will be in the nature of a "home coming," for which a special program has been arranged, including talks on the good of the order.

Among the speakers will be District Judge P. A. Martin, County Judge R. D. Faris and Judge J. W. Akin, who will talk on "Odd Fellowship, what it has done, what it is doing, and what it will do."

Officers of the lodge especially urge a large attendance at this meeting and promise an evening's entertainment of more than the usual interest, which at the same time will include instructive work that will be of value to every member of the order.

Tax Collector Works Out Table of Automobile License Tax Which Is Due This Year for All Ford Models

In an effort to assist deputies in the office at arriving at the amount of tax due on automobiles for 1922, Guy C. Raley, county tax collector has worked out a table of amounts on the various Ford models.

Due to the fact that weights of cars figure much in the amount of tax to be paid, the table is a lengthy one. The table has also been prepared in order to acquaint dealers and car owners with the amount of tax which it will be required to pay.

Mr. Raley and his deputies are at work working out a similar table on all other makes of cars. The table as applying to Ford models follows:

1915, 1916, 1917, 1918 models are the same and follow: Roadster, $19; touring car, $18.40; town car, $11.60; coupe, $18.60.

1918: Chassis, $2.40.

1919: Roadster, $19.40; touring, $18.40; coupe, $11.60; sedan, $10.60.

1920: Roadster, $19.40; touring (no starter), $18.40; touring (starter), $18.40; coupe, $11.60; sedan, $10.60.

1921: Roadster, $19; touring, $18.60; coupe, $11.30; sedan, $10.30.

TIMES' DAILY RECORD OF EVENTS IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Total of 81 Teams Are Undefeated In Interscholastic High School Series According to Field Records

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

By ROY B. HENDERSON
AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 21.—The past week was a most important one for the University of Texas interscholastic League high school football series. Many close and hard fought games were played which, when the smoke cleared away, reduced the number of contenders for the state title by more than 25. Schools remaining in the running are being urged to get together as rapidly as possible so that the season may not be unduly prolonged.

Although sectional championships are to be awarded on the percentage basis, it should be remembered that this does not necessarily mean that a team with 100 per cent will participate in the interscholastic elimination. A rule of the league provides that a team may be dropped if it fails to meet teams of known strength. A school with a thousand per cent and a weak schedule will not be chosen over a stronger team that has lost one or more games of a difficult schedule. On the other hand, a team that keeps a perfect record meeting representative opponents will have an opportunity to go as far as its strength will carry it.

The following teams are only those with undefeated standing, up to Friday night, according to the reports on file at the state office:

Section 1.—Amesville, Claude, Canton, Hereford, Pampa, Perryton.

Section 2.—Floryda, Littlefield, Lockney, Lubbock, Ralls, Snyder.

Section 3.—Abilene, Stephenville, Cisco.

Section 4.—Mineral Wells, Vernon, Cleburne, Cusack, Strawn, Wichita Falls.

Section 5.—Dallas, Forest Avenue, Dallas, Cliff Denison, Denton, Forney, Paris, Sherman, Whitesboro.

Section 6.—Clarksville, Jackson, Longview, Marshall, Sulphur Springs, Texarkana, Tyler.

Section 7.—Port Nefferton, Peeco, Midland.

Section 8.—Marble Falls, Lampasas.

Section 9.—Bartlett, Balton, Clinton, Hillsboro, Italy, Itasca, Marlin, Rosburg, Temple.

Section 10.—Crockett, Livingston, Neogoches.

Section 11.—Del Rio, Laredo, Devine, Saffell.

Section 12.—Austin, Granger, Oldsburg, Nixon, San Marcos.

Section 13.—Kennedy, San Antonio, Brackenridge, San Antonio, Main Avenue, Torktown.

Section 14.—Corpus Christi, San Benito, Sotville.

Section 15.—Bartlett, Balton, Clinton, Hillsboro, Italy, Itasca, Marlin, Rosburg, Temple.

Section 16.—Crockett, Livingston, Neogoches.

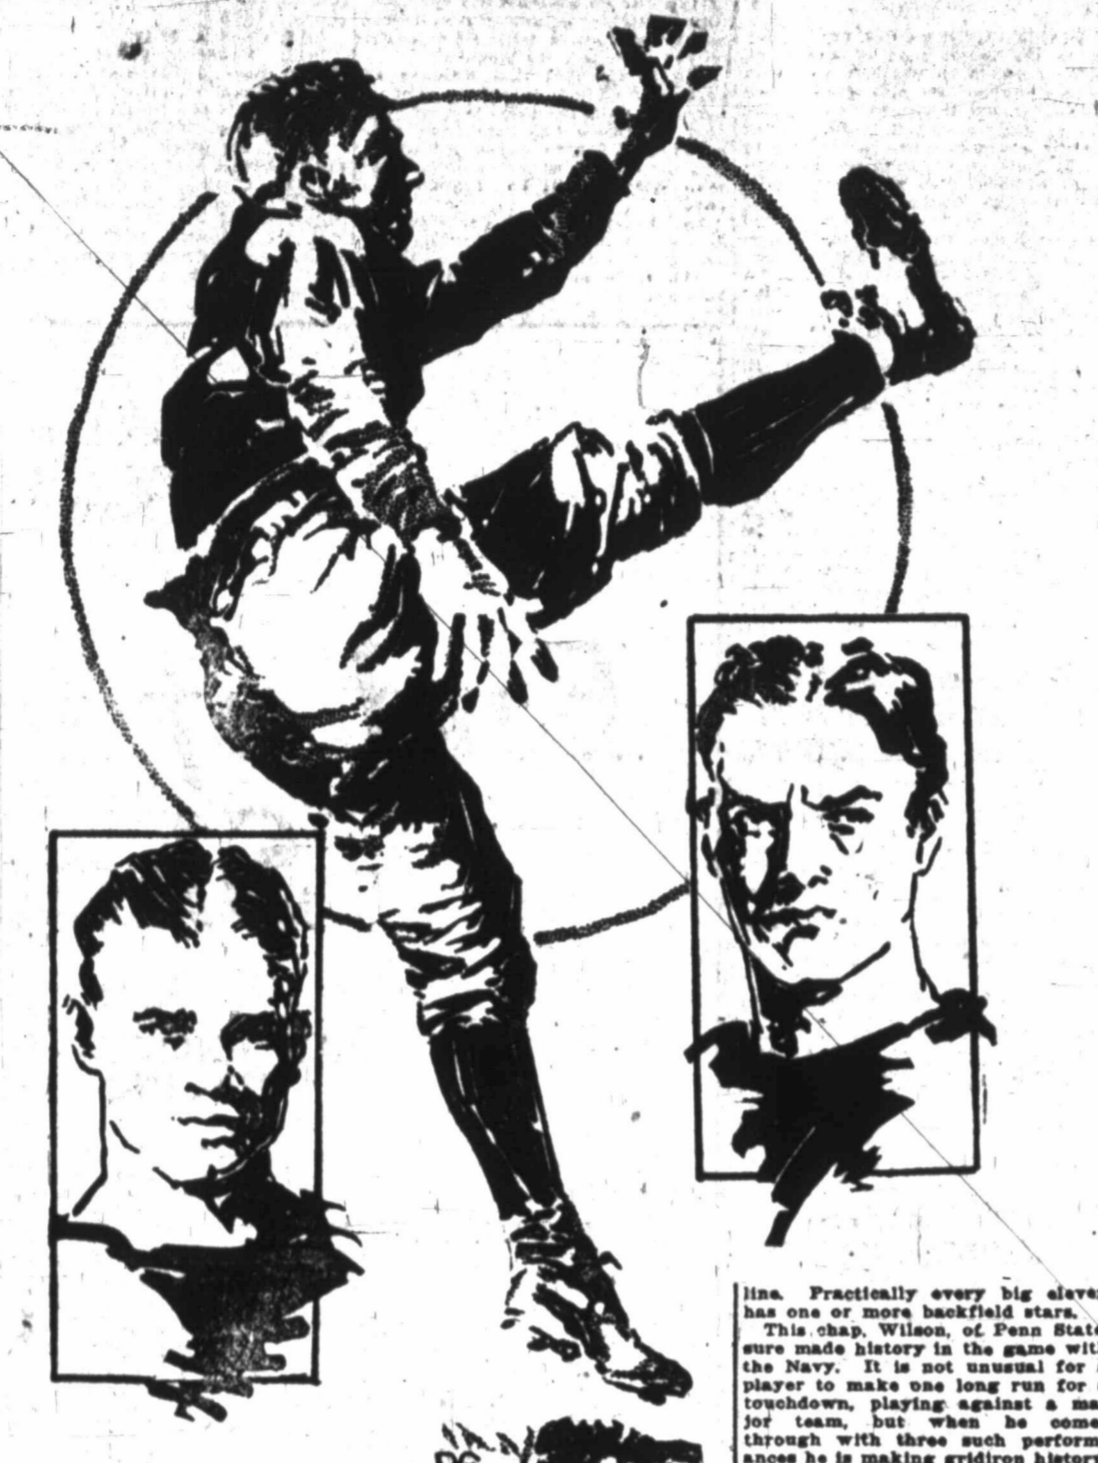

Section 17.—Del Rio, Laredo, Devine, Saffell.

Section 18.—Austin, Granger, Oldsburg, Nixon, San Marcos.

Section 19.—Kennedy, San Antonio, Brackenridge, San Antonio, Main Avenue, Torktown.

Section 20.—Corpus Christi, San Benito, Sotville.

EASTERN EXPERTS RATE CHET BOWMAN OF SYRACUSE FASTEST STEPPER ON GRIDIRON

By HILLY EVANS
In a season that already has produced much sensational football and promises more, a goodly number of backfield stars have been uncovered. The open game calls for much more from the backfield men and the coaches are evidently dwelling on this feature of play.

In playing up the sensational performances of the backfield stars, the work of the forwards is often entirely overlooked. The man carrying the ball always gets the big job of glory. However, with a weak line, the fastest set of backfield men are helpless. As Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame puts it, a great team must have the line as well as the backs.

Just at present, the big noise in the east is Chet Bowman, fleet halfback of the Syracuse University eleven. Eastern experts rate him the fastest stepper on the gridiron. Bowman is Fast.

Bowman may well be given that title as he is one of the ten leading sprinters in the country today. He has won or finished second in A. A. U. sprint title meets, has competed on Syracuse intercollegiate one-mile championship relay teams for the past two years and is certain to be selected as a member of the American Olympic team to go to Paris.

Bowman has already shown his heels to several Syracuse rivals. In the game with Hobart he twice ran 44 yards for a touchdown. On the very first play of the William and Mary game he grabbed the kickoff while standing directly under the Syracuse goal and ran the length of the field for a touchdown. Not an opposing player came even close to touching him.

Has Length of Field.
The report is that a football fan who is a great admirer of Bowman, held a stopwatch on him as he made the length of the field run against the William and Mary eleven. He covered the distance in 11 seconds flat, which is remarkable when you take into consideration that he wore heavy football togs and cleated shoes.

Bowman can do other things than merely run. He excels at tossing forward passes and is a fine punter. When Zimmerman, the star Syracuse punter, is on the sidelines, Bowman is called upon to do the work.

In the open game of football, more is demanded of a backfield star. To win a place as one of the outstanding figures in the football world, a backfield player must be a "triple-threat" man, able to run, kick and pass.

Wilson Best Star.
Notre Dame boasts two remarkable halfbacks in Don Miller and Crowley. Michigan has Kipka, Harvard has Cheek and Hammond, Penn State has Wilson and so on down the line.

51,000 FANS SEE DARTMOUTH BEAT HARVARD ELEVEN

By Universal Service.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21.—For the third time in 20 years the Dartmouth team ascended to the stadium and handed Harvard a crushing defeat, 18 to 6, today.

Dartmouth had a powerful offensive directed at the tackles and it was a constant ground game. Doolley, Dartmouth quarterback, used admirable judgment in selecting the proper plays. Often times he had four and five men handling the ball. Dartmouth's stars were Hays, Kelly, Doolley and tackle Aschenbach. Captain Hubbard played a magnificent game for the crimson. Perfect weather attracted 51,000 spectators to the stadium.

In the first period Hays received a pretty forward pass from Doolley on the ten-yard line and went into the first score of the game. Hays kicked goal from placement, making the score for the period, Dartmouth 7, Harvard 0.

In the second period Aschenbach's failure to kick a field goal from placement from Harvard's 45-yard line was followed by worse misfortune for Harvard. The crimson put the ball in play on her own 20-yard line. The first play was a forward pass which was intercepted by Kelly who ran it to Harvard's 24-yard line. On a double pass Hall circled Harvard's left end to the 11-yard line. In two double passes Hays advanced eight yards and then Hall took a direct pass and went through Harvard's tackle for a touchdown. The try for goal was blocked. The half ended without further scoring. Score, Dartmouth 11, Harvard 0.

In the third period it looked as though Harvard's luck was taking a turn for the better when Hubbard intercepted a Dartmouth forward pass and brought the ball to Dartmouth's 25-yard line, but the period ended scoreless. In the fourth period Aschenbach lifted a pretty goal from placement for three points and the game ended with the score: Dartmouth 14, Harvard 0.

Tigers Put Up Real Scrap But Lose to Baylor

WACO, Texas, Oct. 21.—Playing an open game from the Cotton Palace grounds Saturday afternoon the Cotton Tigers from Baylor Arkefeld, Ark., gave the Baylor Bears quite a scare in the opening intercollegiate game of the Cotton Palace season. Making first down after first down, leading off gain after gain over the left side of the Baylor line and some times on Captain Williamson's side, compelling pass after pass and never faced when one was grounded, those scraggy youngsters from Arkansas put Baylor on the defensive for the greater portion of the first half and in the second half Cannon shot a field goal between the cross bars for the only score of the half, which closed with the Tigers in the van by a score of 3 to 0.

Baylor stiffened in the second, however, and added the game 10 to 3.

SUB QUARTERBACK SAVES NAVY FROM DEFEAT SATURDAY

BALTIMORE, Oct. 21.—Princeton and the Navy battled desperately in the stadium here today only to find themselves dejected at the finish, 3 to 2. "Red" Ballinger, a sub quarterback, saved the midshipmen from defeat by kicking a field goal from the 17-yard mark in the last minute of play.

It was a dramatic ending to a game replete with thrills. Three times had the Navy host battered at Princeton's goal and as many times had the Tigers hurled them back. Duck was sitting over the field as the Annapolis team began its fourth charge to the coveted chalk mark and they appeared destined to lose. But the quickly reacting Tigers before them to a point within the 10-yard line and after determined efforts for a touchdown and victory had failed, Ballinger dropped back and sent the ball sailing between the goal posts.

In the crowd which filled the great bowl were many notable, including Mrs. Coolidge, wife of the president, who watched the first half from the Navy side and viewed the final two periods from a box directly in front of the Princeton cheering section. Secretary Denby was absent, but the Navy was officially represented by Admiral Eberle, chief of operations, and other high officers.

PENN STATE AND WEST VIRGINIA TIE 13 TO 13

By Universal Service.
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Penn State and West Virginia battled fiercely to a 13 to 13 tie here this afternoon. Both teams scored two touchdowns and both missed one point after touchdown.

The mountaineers were outplayed by a big margin in the first half but staged a comeback in the third period and uncovered a forward passing game that bewildered the Pennsylvanians.

The brilliant work of Harry Wilson, Penn State halfback, was one of the features of the day.

Rice Institute Vanquished By Normal College

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 21.—The Southwest Texas Normal College team defeated Rice Institute here this afternoon, 19 to 6, by showing unexpected expertise in forward passing. The Normal scored twice in the first quarter, one touchdown being the result of a forward pass, Caviness to Dalley, and the other came when Caviness intercepted a forward pass and ran 50 yards to touchdown.

The appearance of Captain Swartz in the lineup in the second half put some life into the Owls' attack and they score a touchdown, but the feat was equalled by Normal when Shelton, sub half back, ran 40 yards after plunging through tackle for the final score of the game.

RAIN LESSENS DRILLING ACTIVITIES

PIPELINES TAKING ALL OIL FROM OLD MORAN PRODUCERS

Special to The Times. Oct. 21.—Since the hitting of the pipeline, the carriers are taking all of the oil from the old wells in the Moran field at the posted price and making new connections, but the operators who are near enough to the pipe line to get connections are still all of the production to the independent oilmen at the posted price. Then some are selling to the El Paso and others are selling to the Gulf and others are selling to the railroad, but are served by railroad transportation at a premium of 50 cents per barrel. However, the pipeline is being built for a transportation rate.

The Shamrock Oil Company and the Southern Pipe Line Company are this week both bringing in new shallow wells in the south field. The Southern States, about six miles south, at 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

Several months ago Mr. Dennis leased one-half of his farm to different operating companies, who have brought in two or three wells at a depth around 100 feet, but he refused to lease any more of this land, and has since that time his well and this fourteen-acre tract on his farm, without a single dry hole in his first effort at production, but his friends say that his previous good luck follows him and he proposed to drill up and operate the remaining 10 acres of his rich oil farm. Almost with the assistance of Steve Drake, who is an experienced driller, and brought in the initial production within four days and the next day started No. 1.

When Mr. Dennis went to sell his production and the purchaser handed him the dividend check for $1,000, he was greatly surprised to get the signature of Mr. Dennis with the name of the purchaser, which in this case constituted the whole show, and the purchaser being the Henshaw Oil Company, of Denver, stated that it was a very unusual case and quite a novelty.

Week's Completions Were Few and Of Small Caliber; New Locations South of Electra and Near Burk

Another quiet week has passed in Wichita county's various producing areas. Very little activity was shown outside the usual amount of drilling on the old leases, which failed to bring in light anything of a sensational character. A few new locations were made in the fields south and southwest of Electra and in the shallow pools in the Burk-bernet district. Completions were few, and with the exception of a standard large well brought in by the McDabb Oil Company north of the old Clara pool, the majority were of a smaller caliber.

Among the new tests for start drilling were the No. 1, Wagner of the New Drilling Company, which is 2,372 feet deep. This test is immediately south of Electra, about one mile on the Allingham tract the Henshaw Company No. 11 is drilling at 1,500 feet.

The Texoma Company is also putting down tests. Further west on the Berkley tract, the Henshaw Company No. 11 is drilling at 1,000 feet.

In the Santa-Maria survey, Wagner land, the Texoma Company's No. 28 is drilling at 800 feet.

A number of tests which have been forced to shut down the past week, due to the condition of the roads, are making preparations to resume drilling early this week.

The Magnolia Company has shut down its No. 1 well on the Tule farm, about five miles north-west of Electra, at a total depth of 2,319 feet, and is pulling the casing. The same company has made two new locations in the south pool, No. 11 Rio-Dravo and No. 73 on the Berkley tract, which it has leased to the Henshaw Company. The No. 73 well is 1,500 feet deep.

To the south of Perkins, the Texoma Company's No. 3 Burnett, section 8, E. A. & M. G. survey, was completed in the 1,600-foot pay and is good for a thirty barrel pump.

No. 3 lease A in the same section is drilling at 1,500 feet.

To the west of the Texoma wells the No. 1 test of Perkins and Callum has shut off the water in the sand at 148 feet and is drilling deeper. On the south side, the Henshaw south, Burkley and associates have set casing on a good looking sand, which was encountered at 149 feet.

Renewed Activity Archer Fields Brings Several More Producers And Number of New Locations

With the roads rapidly getting into shape after last week's down-pour, the fields of Archer county during the latter part of the week were once more showing signs of renewed activity. Several wells were finished in the various sections and a number of new locations were made.

The outstanding features for the week were the purchase of one-half interest in the Sandoz holding tract in the south part of the county by C. E. Tisher of Wichita Falls, for a consideration not announced and the showing made by the Jetter well, which promises to make a three-quarters of a mile extension to the south of the Wichita district. The well, which is located in the northeast quarter of section 1, Wilson lands, abstract 158, placed up the pay at 1,829 feet and showed considerable oil. Casing was set and the well at present has 400 feet of fluid in the hole.

New locations were made by the Peas Drilling Company, which is rigging up on the Henry Ford land about 1 1/2 miles S. E. of Burkley, about one mile to the south of Leona, Wichita.

Ross and Dillard also made a location for No. 1 Farley in the center of their 21-acre lease, offsetting the oil investment producers to the south.

The Wilson tract, abstract 1576, E. P. R. H. survey, the Camp Oil and Gas Company and Featherstone et al are rigging up for No. 4 well at 1,500 feet in the next day or two.

This well is in the southeast corner of block Thirteens, Young county, is two miles southwest of the old Miller field across the line in Archer county, and is a mile and a half northeast of the Leona-McDraw test, which was abandoned as dry more than a year ago.

Horton and King, on the O'Donnell tract, two miles south of Electra, are rigging up a well and has the discovery picked up the sand Tuesday and looks good for a commercial producer. They are having water coming and will probably have to run another string of casing.

This marks the biggest extension to the Swastika pool that has as yet been found, and seems to be conclusive proof that the field extends south and east, and widens out considerably as it comes this way.

Hays Brothers, offsetting the Hardy Abel, picked up the sand last night. Nothing is known as to the possibilities of this test, but the sand was picked up a little lower than in the Hardy Abel.

C. J. Lynch's Erie, No. 1 on the Burkley tract, one and a half miles southwest of Swastika, set casing on the sand today and is good for a producer.

This test is about a half mile north of the Posthorsens and Hay test on the Morrison tract, which, though getting several also showings and crystal feet of broken sand, was abandoned as dry more than a year ago.

These tests are proving up a very extensive area which will now be drilled thoroughly, and it means a sudden revival of activities which have been curtailed for a period of three to four months.

PANHANDLE FIELD IS STIMULATED BY TEXAS PIPE LINE

Special to The Times. PANHANDLE, Texas, Oct. 21.—A wave of activity in oil development is expected to result throughout the Carson-Hutchinson county oil field as a result of the laying of a pipe line from the producing oil wells in the field a distance of five miles to the Kansas city. This line is being laid by the Texas Company at King's Hill. The point at which the reported landing rack is to be located is a siding on the mainline railway between Pampa and White Deer, 50 miles northwest of Amarillo. It is reported that the line will be of sufficient size to accommodate the present and near future production of the area in north Carson, Hutchinson county. The deal will follow a course in the direction of Sayre, Okla., where a field is being developed. A well is now being drilled at a siding on the mainline in east Carson county, two miles from King's Hill, which is credited with a new production of 55,000 barrels daily from the 240-foot level. No announcement has been made of the date that the line will be completed.

Oil men returning from the field report that the No. 1 well in the southwest corner of section 114, block 7, Carson county, showing oil at 150 feet. The production is said to be of sufficient quantity to ensure a commercial well, yet the exact amount has not been determined.

Silk, Burlington and Clark, Wichita Falls operators, are preparing to start a rotary string of tools on their lease in the northeast corner of section 114, block 7, Carson county. Several racks of tools are being erected and tools are moving to the lease.

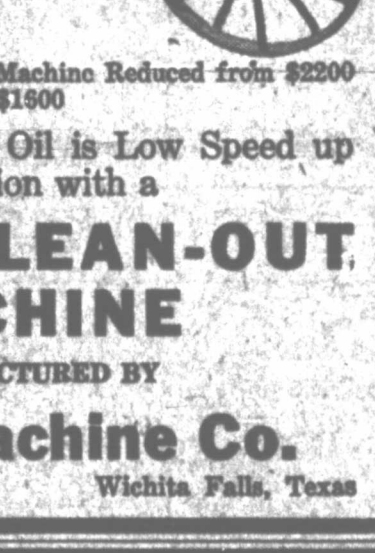

1,500-foot pay. Jacobs B. Stone and McCarly's No. 1 Well has been forced to shut down due to the failure to get fuel oil to the location. The well is down 1,488 feet.

Two good producers were located on the pump by the Texas Company, Nos. 4 and 7 Carter brothers, located making 300 barrels from the 1,500-foot sand. The same company's No. 8 on the same lease is drilling at 200 feet.

To the south of the Overline property the No. 1 well of Henshaw and Boyd in block 21, Mrs. Carter land, is drilling at 400 feet.

Many wells are drilling on the inside leases and the present market conditions have failed to have any effect up to the present, as drilling wells are daily reaching the various sands and as fast as the wells are completed the rigs are moved to new locations. It is expected that as soon as the roads are in condition to move materials a number of wildcat wells will start drilling operations.

Other Features:
The Clark Oil and Gas Company is building a rig for a test on the original Wilcox 10-acre tract, which will offset the Griswold-Oil Company wells to the south. On another part of the El Wilmot land, A. S. Hillyer is rigging up No. 8 and 2 tests and will start drilling in a few days. Hillyer and Wolf No. 1 well is drilling in the neighborhood of 1,500 feet.

Henshaw and associates No. 4 Wilson was completed early in the week and has the advantage of making a 250-barrel producer. The sand which was spotted at 119 feet, made several flows and when put on the swab, made 100 barrels the first five hours.

Swastika Field Shows Signs of Greater Activity

CHERRY, TEXAS, Oct. 21.—The oil fields in the Cherry territory are receiving the biggest boost in months by the discovery on the S. E. E. Sandoz ranch, several miles east of a new pool of high grade oil at 200 feet, and by the finding of the sand by three wells in the Swastika area, two of which are extensions of nearly two miles each, in opposite directions.

Henshaw et al, of Wichita Falls picked up a sand in the Sandoz ranch early in the week at 200 feet and since that time the well has been flowing almost constantly, with a controlled output of 200 barrels per day. The well is set and practically shut in while an effort is being made to provide adequate storage. They claim to have only one sand in the field, but reports of experts in the oil game who have visited the well are to be relied on. The well is good for fifty barrels per day at 200 feet, and has a chance of being much better when completed. A thousand barrels of storage is being erected on the lease, and it is hoped that the well can be completed today or tomorrow.

This well is in the southeast corner of block Thirteens, Young county, is two miles southwest of the old Miller field across the line in Archer county, and is a mile and a half northeast of the Leona-McDraw test, which was abandoned as dry more than a year ago.

Horton and King, on the O'Donnell tract, two miles south of Electra, are rigging up a well and has the discovery picked up the sand Tuesday and looks good for a commercial producer. They are having water coming and will probably have to run another string of casing.

This marks the biggest extension to the Swastika pool that has as yet been found, and seems to be conclusive proof that the field extends south and east, and widens out considerably as it comes this way.

PIGGY WIGGLY

Don't Let Your Money Slip Through Your Fingers

An article from the Saturday Evening Post had this to say:
FREE DELIVERY has never been an asset, always a liability. Good food at cheaper prices is the most important thing. The Piggly Wiggly self-serve stores are able to keep operation costs as low as 7 to 8 per cent against the 20 per cent cost of the corner grocery—and your money is slipping through your fingers when you pay the higher prices.

Trade the Piggly Wiggly way during November.

"God Send a Leader of Women"
Says Anna Steese Richardson;
Leader She Chooses Coming Here

"God send a leader of women," prays Anna Steese Richardson, one of the most powerful women writers among the internationally known press correspondents, in an article in the current Colliers. Anna Steese Richardson's choice for this leader, expressed in this article which has to do with the prevention of war, is Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, veteran woman suffragist of America. And Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, probably the best known woman leader in the United States, will be one of the notable visitors to the state meeting of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs in Wichita Falls next month.

It is thought that Mrs. Catt will address the state convention here on the question of war prevention; not, however, from any information from headquarters, but because it is known that that is the subject which lies nearest the famous leader's heart. "We have waited for the divine spark which would set ablaze the crusading spirit of these twenty million enfranchised women; the same spark which sank tea in Boston harbor in 1776; which stamped out slavery in '61, and which in 1923 put the fear of God and mothers in the hearts of politicians, and made America lead an anguished world to outlaw war."

But that spark has never been really struck. It flamed faintly once—at the convention of the League of Women Voters, when Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, stirred by Mrs. Will Irwin's lecture, "The Next War," flung aside her prepared speech and made an impassioned appeal for the League of Women Voters to do something.

"I can still hear the tremendous applause which followed that appeal. I can still see women wiping away their tears, clapping each other's hands as in solemn promise to heed the warning uttered by the great woman. . . . But what followed?"

"Perhaps it is not possible for an officer of any one organization to become the leader of women in all organizations. Perhaps her perspective has been narrowed by the demands of her fellow officials, by the aims and purposes of her organization."

And yet—there is one woman in America for whom some grown rules and regulations would have no terror; to whom the word "expedient" in the language of letters and syllables. That woman is Carrie Chapman Catt. . . . She still remains the one woman in America who can literally lift a mass meeting off its feet, who can transform an idea into an ideal; a slogan into a prayer.

CULTURE CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. R. L. CARVER
The Friday afternoon with Mrs. Roy L. Carver at 203 Huff avenue, when "Literary Boston" was the topic of the afternoon.

It was brought out very interestingly that Boston has been the birthplace and home place of many great Americans in the literary world. Mrs. E. U. McArthur gave a review of Literary Boston as depicted by the literary friends of William Dean Howells; Mrs. J. Pat Pope told of Paul Revere through the medium of the well-known poem, and Mrs. A. B. Lipscomb discussed "The Sustained Right of Concord to be called the most famous little town in America." Mrs. Bertlett led the parliamentary drill, after which the hostess served delicious refreshments to Mesdames F. W. Bartlett, J. D. Bright, P. C. Carter, Ira G. Craig, Ira J. C. Craig, A. B. Lipscomb, E. U. McArthur, R. B. Parker, L. W. Foreman, J. Pat Pope, H. R. Price, O. C. Bailey, Ed Shegog, H. J. Strief, E. T. Tschabold and Mason Wilson.

Mrs. Robert Lytle of 1494 Broad street has returned from Cache, Okla., where she was called by the illness of her father, L. I. Hefley, about a week ago. Mr. Hefley returned with Mrs. Lytle and will visit her for some time.

Country Club Directors Plan Big Reception and Dance for Friday

A big reception and dance, planned to rival anything in the nature of a social affair ever given at the club house, is announced by the house committee of the Golf and Country Club for Friday evening, Nov. 2, at the beautiful new home of the club.

Wesley Girls Annual Luncheon Is Pretty Affair at Golf Club

The Wesley Girls of the First M. E. church, South, enjoyed a beautifully planned affair on the occasion of their annual luncheon Wednesday when they met at the Golf and Country Club at 1 o'clock to dine.

Mrs. C. M. Simpson was toastmistress, and presided with graceful good humor, quite a lot of fun finding its way through the toast program as the luncheon progressed.

Mrs. W. J. Daugherty asked the invocation, after which Mrs. T. H. Greenwood gave a beautiful violin solo with the piano accompaniment by Miss Annette Walsh. Miss Knickerbocker gave a reading, "Where the West Begins," and had to respond to the encore with other numbers. Mrs. W. W. White made a talk on the "Status of Women Yesterday and Today."

Mrs. J. C. Russell, retiring president of the class, with a beautiful set of silver teaspoons and butter knives from the class, and Mrs. Russell responded very gracefully to both the toast and the presentation. Mrs. C. M. Richardson responded to the compliment to the new officers, being the new president of the class.

The table was most attractively decorated in yellow and white, with quaint little peanut dolls holding the place cards, and silver baskets of yellow flowers. At the close of the luncheon carnival streamers tangled things up into a pretty confusion of yellow and white. A formal conversation completed the occasion.

Those who were present included: Mesdames J. C. Russell, W. W. Williams, R. F. Calvert, G. Bullington, W. C. Cole, J. M. McFall, Hapgood, C. J. Barnes, L. C. Ulrich, O. H. Rahl, E. M. Byers, G. W. Sam Houston Children to Present Halloween Pageant Next Friday

"The Queen's Magic Ring," a beautiful little Halloween fairy pageant written and directed by Mrs. R. A. Faver, will be presented by a large group of children of the Sam Houston ward school Friday evening, November 2, at the school house as benefit for the Sam Houston Parent-Teacher Council and a general invitation is extended to those interested in well-planned children's plays to attend.

There will be many beautiful costumes in the pageant, and the story of a most attractive little story will bind the various pretty dances, choruses, etc. together. The story concerns itself with Bab, a little lame girl who sits alone in her forest cottage on All Hallow's eve with her wonderful black cat.

As Bab tells Black-Foot of her lonely life, and how she wishes she might see the Enchanted Forest and the fairies and elves at their Hallow's revels, Black-Foot, to her great bewilderment, opens his mouth and speaks to her. He tells her that the Fairy Queen has invited her animal subjects to meet her beneath the Magic Oak at midnight and that he will take her to the meeting.

In the forest, beneath the Magic Oak, the queen and her eleven brownies, and sprites make merry dancing and singing, and when the Queen sleeps, tired from her trip to earth, the Witcher Owl steals her magic ring from her finger. The search for the magic ring, and its final recovery by the little Earth Child, Bab, form the rest of the pretty play, with the final healing of the little lame foot by the grateful fairy.

The part of the Fairy Queen is taken by Nancy Elizabeth Faver; a talented little dancer; that of Black-Foot, the Christmas Dyer, by Foshay Martin; that of Bab, the lame child, by Reba Jo Curd. Other characters include the following: Fern Leaf, maid of honor to the queen, Mary Joan Irwin; "Wise Cap," the Owl, Lisle Shobe; the Witch, Marie Trigg; "Gizmo," the dwarf, Robert Norwood; "Jack Frost," Harold Karr; "Moss Bud," a fairy, Naomi Lynn; "Will o the Wisp," a fairy, Marguerite Rhoades; "Tinkie Toes," a sprite, Marguerite Watkins; Queen's Butterfly, Constance Clark; "Thistle Down," Grace Warman; Queen's Elf, William Watkins; "Quickstep," Queen's Messenger, Billy Faver; Baby Sprites, Christine Dyer and Mary Helen Shobe; a little green elf, Alton Fancher; Bats, Vernon Canine and Herbert Chesbire Jr.; Fairy Ladies-in-waiting, Alice Hides, Yvonne Marie Knight, Helen Horn, Lois Corbin, Ada Grace Brooks, Helen Chiler and Ruth Sides; Rainbow Fairies, Hamlin Engley, and Clarence Nason; Red Goblins, Cloupe Evans, Juanita Val, Nell Ground Virginia Reed, Mildred Perry Ruth Tucker, Robert Corbin, and Jeannette O'Brien; Brownies, Leon Self, J. R. Smith, Richard Smith, John McCurley, Phillip Miller, Gordon Morris, Hamlin Engley, and Clarence Nason; Red Goblins, Cloupe Evans, Clayton Davis, Eugene Klison, and Herbert Wilson; Black Imps, Robert Ray Brown, Wilfred Witt, Morris Robertson Durward Whalley, and Clark Pollard; planets, Mrs. R. P. Williams.

LECTURE ON USE OF CONCRETE ON FARM TO BE GIVEN HERE

Word was received at the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce Saturday announcing that a lecture and demonstration on the use of concrete on the farm would be held in Wichita Falls November 1. The lectures are conducted by the A. and M. College of Texas in cooperation with the Portland Cement Association.

The new service inaugurated last spring includes a farm lecture and demonstration tour. Plans for the lecture in Wichita Falls are being completed by the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce and the county agent.

In speaking of the work in his letter addressed "To all interested in permanent farm improvements," T. O. Walton, director of cooperative extension work in agriculture and home economics of the A. and M. College of Texas, in which the United States Department of Agriculture is cooperating, says:

"The A. and M. College of Texas, through its extension service, is cooperating with the Portland Cement Association in putting on a series of lectures and demonstrations over the state dealing with improvements to the buildings on the farm. A truck carrying speakers and necessary equipment for this work is going to be in your community, and I wish to urge that you avail yourself of this opportunity to get first hand information from experts."

"The need of improving the farm home to make it a more comfortable and livable place, is fast being recognized. The protection of the farm water supply from pollution, as well as the adequate disposal of the farm house sewage is a crying need that demands immediate attention. Proper housing, foundations and floors for the farm livestock are important in this day of fighting the ills of these animals and the ravages of the farm pests. Drainage, as well as irrigation, are farm improvements that must come with the advance in farming methods."

"Not all of these things can or will be taken up in detail when this farm improvement truck fulfills its engagement to your community, but those with it would be only too glad to give you, in addition to their regular program, any specific information relative to your special problems, that they can."

All are cordially invited to attend the lecture and demonstration on the use of concrete. Simple and easily followed instructions will show how to build concrete improvements.

THIRTY-FOOT PAVEMENT BEINGS HIGHLY PROBABLE

From indications made by a majority of the property owners along the Raymour road street from Hayes to Santa Fe street, it is highly probable that a thirty-foot pavement will be laid in place of the regular 18-foot pavement, which will be put down by the county. The county engineer is hoping that every property owner along the street will signify his willingness to have the additional six feet of concrete placed on both sides of the county pavement, thereby eliminating the inconvenient drainage ditches.

Connie Talmadge Gem on Monday In 'East Is West'

"Chopstick" Charlie went up the front steps of the Hollywood home. Usually there were ominous signs posted about each window, advising persons who wished to proceed to the rear, but not at this time. The front door was wide open and welcome.

China, he smiled widely. His eyebrows had been pressed with a curling iron of time into a thousand tiny wrinkles. As he approached the door, he removed a towel from the basket, revealing neat piles of baked nuts and flat pieces of coconut, heavily sugared.

He waited expecting to see the glowing face of Miss Connie. Instead a slender hand reached out and drew him into the house.

"You China girl now, Miss Connie?" she nodded glumly. "I may look Chinese, but I can't eat Chinese."

"And so in 'East Is West,' the first National attraction, being shown Monday at the Gem Theatre, Connie Talmadge demonstrates her ability to eat with chopsticks as well as any Chinese girl."

First Realistic 'Inside Stuff' in Newspaper Plant

In "Her Reputation" Thomas E. Ince has given the fan world the first realistic picture of the inside workings of the newspaper game ever filmed.

The entire plant of the Los Angeles daily was used as a location. The camera is depicted in "Her Reputation" which will be shown Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Olympic.

Working in the noisy shop, with the "click" of the matrices as they fall into place in the linotype machine, the odor of burning metal, the roar of the engines, the pungent smell of printers' ink, the approved men before their type frames or up in the editorial rooms where the city editors "dash" or "O. K." the stories that reporters pounded out on their typewriters.

One of the most dramatic scenes of the picture takes place in the press room. The final copies of an "extra" edition are being printed and loaded into machines for distribution. It contains the sensational " scoop" of the year. Suddenly the night editor receives a telephone message from "Bill" the story that would have ruined a girl's reputation if it had gotten into print. A riot follows in the press-room. "Killing" one story meant making over an entire page!

When the foreman rushed into the shop and ordered the presses stopped, the operators, who had been worked up to a high pitch in the spirit of the scene, entered so thoroughly into the spirit of their roles that two of them were knocked out before the newspaper presses were finally shut off. As a result, "Bill" is one of the most realistic ever filmed of this interesting and little-known angle of the newspaper game.

A special preview of "Her Reputation" was given for the employees of the plant where the scenes had been filmed. Reporters, composers, operators, shop "devils," even the editor-in-chief came out of Thomas Ince's production room with the exclamation: "Great stuff! So natural I forgot it was only a picture!"

Lloyd Hughes, as the ambitious young newspaper reporter, is featured with May McAvoy, who plays the role of the girl whose name becomes the target for "scandal shooters."

"Held to Answer," a Metro screen production of Peter Clark MacFadden's story of the same title, will be presented at the Strand Theatre Monday and Tuesday. It may be said that the picture is not one of his finest stories in "Held to Answer" and it has been brought to the screen in a capable manner. There are numerous highly dramatic scenes several genuine thrills and the cast could hardly be improved upon.

Olympic Offers 'The Virginian' Starts Monday

Filming a picture in the primitive cattle country—the one remaining stronghold of the cowpuncher that Owen Wister immortalized—has its handicaps as well as its advantages. Tom Forman made this discovery when he filmed all of the "exteriors" for the elaborate Preferred Picture, "The Virginian." In a wonderfully beautiful spot in the high Sierras which is almost untouched by the hand of civilization.

Here are some of the highlights of that production which will occupy the screen at the Olympic theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Neither automobile nor locomotive ever has been seen in the great theatre has ever put on. The picture was filmed.

The Olympic theatre announces a big Midnight Matinee Halloween Party for next Wednesday night. This will be the third annual party of this kind to be staged by the Olympic on Halloween night and Manager Robert Sparks declares he is arranging a program of stunts that will surpass any the theatre has ever put on.

The picture to be shown is a Thomas E. Ince production entitled "Her Reputation" with May McAvoy, Lloyd Hughes, Winter Hall and George Larkin. It is a modern day romance fragrant of the old south.

Puccini's Exquisite Lyric Drama "Madame Butterfly" to Be Presented In Wichita Falls Thursday, Nov. 8

"Madame Butterfly," Puccini's exquisite lyric drama, to be presented in Wichita Falls November 8 by Fortune Gallo's San Carlo Grand Opera Company, was founded on the book of John Luther Long, and the subsequent drama of David Belasco. The story describes in unusually realistic fashion the love of the little Japanese cherry blossom maiden, Cho Cho San, for the handsome United States naval lieutenant, Benjamin Franklin Pinkerton, whose ship has carried him to the port of Nagasaki, upon an ill-fated trip of which the little Japanese maiden resides. Her passion is genuine, but it must be confessed that Pinkerton's interest is more one of casual curiosity instead of real love. The curious little wedding ceremony in the first act and the sudden and ill-omened entrance of the Brown Butterfly's uncle, soon thereafter, are incidents possessing profound significance for the earnest-minded little bride, as the first is to change the course of her entire life, while the second regards her irretrievably from her past. What happens in the second and third act is closely connected with these incidents, and forms the remarkable dramatic framework into which Puccini has woven his exquisitely beautiful symphonic score.

ANNA FITTIU
Lyric soprano in "Madame Butterfly" by San Carlo Grand Opera Company.

When this famous modern Italian composer first became aware of Mr. Long's fascinating story and Mr. Belasco's vivid dramatization, he at once became impressed with the remarkable possibilities offered the lyric composer, and just as had been the case with "La Boheme" and "Tosca," he commissioned his librettists Illica and Giacosa, to write a book for which he composed the music. The opera came to its initial production at La Scala, Milan, in 1904, but for some unaccountable reason did not prove immediately successful, but its eventual triumph could not be gained, and today it is considered, along with "La Boheme," Puccini's best work, a veridical which the composer himself shares.

Favorite songs from the opera include the beautiful entrance song of Butterfly in the first act; the exquisitely orchestrated aria "Un bel di vedremo" in the second act; the admirable intermezzo between the second and third acts; and the dramatic finale and death scene of the disillusioned maiden at the end of the opera.

'Six Days' Comes Next Wednesday Strand Theater

One of the outstanding productions of the present season is Goldwyn's production of "Six Days," an original screen story written by the famous English novelist, Elinor Glyn, author of "Three Weeks" and other sensational novels. "Six Days" will be the attraction at the Strand theatre for four days beginning Wednesday. The story has been directed for Goldwyn by Charles Brabin, the man responsible for "Driven," one of last season's biggest successes, and the husband and director of the famous "Three Weeks." It is now generally regarded as one of the biggest directorial successes of the motion picture industry.

The scenario for "Six Days" called for a section of battlefield trenches which were built at the Goldwyn studio and which were pronounced perfect imitations of the real thing by Claude King, one of the principal members of the cast and a famous English actor who enlisted in the British Army as a "Tommy" at the outbreak of the war and finished up by being a Major. In connection with this trench system, the plot called for a chalk mine which was designed by Cedric Gibbons, Goldwyn's art director, and which is regarded as one of the most unusual motion picture sets ever built. John Meehan is the cameraman and his mastery of the camera's camera and its lenses, almost unvarying, is seen in the clearness and perfection of the detail and the beauty of the photography.

EMPRESS STARTING ON THURSDAY

Goldwyn's "Director Brabin" one of the splendid casts for which his production are notable. The featured players are Corinne Griffith, for several years starred by Vitagraph, and Frank Mayo, who was a Universal star for several years.

"Six Days" tells one of the most dramatic, absorbing, and colorful stories that have come from the pen of Elinor Glyn, author of the sensational novel of other years, "Three Weeks." The story concerns Laine Kingston, an American society girl, whose scheming and extravagant mother forces her into an engagement with Sir Charles Chetwyn, a wealthy Englishman, after the financial failure and suicide of her husband. But in Paris, Laine meets and falls in love with Dion, son of a famous actress appearing there and at one time the wife of Sir Charles. Years before she had left him and taken her son with her. This son now falls head over heels in love with the girl his father is engaged to marry. After visiting the grave of Laine's brother who fell in the Great War, she and Dion are taken through the battlefield trenches by an aged priest who serves as their guide. In one of the German dugouts, Laine touches a helmet hanging on the wall, which springs a concealed mine. The explosion loosens tons of earth which imprisons the three in the dugout. Facing certain death, as soon as the air is exhausted, Laine and Dion are married by the priest shortly before the latter's death from shock and injury. As a result of a further cave-in, Dion falls into a chasm, while Laine follows him. While he is seeking an outlet, they become separated. Each is finally rescued, Laine weak and exhausted, Dion out of his head. Believing Dion dead, Laine's mother forces her, by a threat of suicide, to marry Sir Charles. Dion recovers his health and his senses and flies to claim his bride.

"Six Days" may confidently be asserted to be one of the big pictures of the year.

Criminal cases will be tried beginning Monday morning in the 89th district court. Judge F. A. Martin has ordered a special jury panel for the week. A total of 18 cases were set for trial for this week and the cases announced ten days ago.

The majority of cases set for trial are those in which indictments were returned by the grand jury of the 89th district court, which is still in session.

Practically all of the men named in the free bills have been prisoners in the county jail since their arrest prior to the bringing of the indictments.

SAYS PROHIBITION BOON TO THE MILK BUSINESS
CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Prohibition has proved a boon to the milk business, according to Francis E. Baldwin, head of a large milk bottle manufacturing concern, who says that the dry law increased the consumption of milk over 30 per cent within a short period.

Mr. Baldwin said his concern had bought a factory formerly used to make whiskey bottles and is using it for a milk bottle manufacturing establishment.

Empress Picture Starting Thursday Features Rangers

The Texas Rangers were organized in 1823 and bore the brunt of the conflict when Texas separated from Mexico. Later they protected the frontier from the Indians and since have protected the border.

Along in the '90s and '10s cattle rustling became rife. Whole herds and bands of the absolute fearlessness and carried terror to the outlaws. They were the real gun-fighting men of the world.

Davy Crockett and other heroes of the Alamo were rangers. Capt. McNelly's famous band of forty alone made 3,000 arrests besides killing many of the dangerous thieves.

"The Lone Star Ranger," the Hank Grey story in which William Fox has starred Tom Mix deals with the interesting life of these plain-watchmen.

During a recent chat with the editor of an Eastern newspaper, Tom Mix, the William Fox star, told how he happened to break into movies.

"As a boy in the southwest I saw Buffalo Bill do sharpshooting in the circus ring. I was a crack shot for a youngster and on getting home I tried shooting glass balls from the top of my little sister's head. Dad arrived as I tried to get the woodshed range against which stood sister. You should have heard dad broadcast his hair from the shed.

"When I broke into movies I was a cowpuncher getting $4 a month. When they offered me a $100 a week they meant a month instead of a week. But I'll always attribute my success to Buffalo Bill's inspiration."

Mix comes to the Empress theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Hank Grey's "The Lone Star Ranger," which William Fox has adapted to the screen.

Paris plans to use its highways for the removal of rubbish.

Your Personality Is Reflected —IN THE—

TELEPHONE MIRROR

YOUR TELEPHONE carries your voice—living words that reflect your personality in the telephone mirror almost as accurately as a real mirror reflects your physical appearance. Your Voice is You.

Every time you talk with a person on the telephone you leave an impression—either favorable or unfavorable. If you are careful in your choice of words, courteous in your manner, cheerful in the tone of your voice—the telephone reflects a favorable picture of you.

Study your telephone talk. The telephone mirror shows your personality by what you say and how it sounds.

If you are careless in your delivery; if you talk in "don't-seem-to-care" monotonous; if you hang up the receiver like slamming a door, people are not likely to go out of their way to trade with you, or commend your methods of doing business.

It's just as easy to have people say, "I like to do business with that fellow," as "He doesn't get any more of my trade."

QUEEN HALL-MILLS MURDER MAY BE IN NEGLECTED LETTERS

That Murderer Possessed Letters Written by Both Tragedy Victims Narrows List of Those Suspected

By SIR BAIL THOMSON
The Director Bureau of Criminal Investigation, Scotland Yard
I remember Mr. Channon's Deceit remarking at a luncheon at the Pilgrims in October, last year, that he remembered no criminal case which had caused so much public excitement as the Hall-Mills murder. This meant a great deal, for Mr. Deceit had lived many years and his memory is unailing. I can well believe what he said. While I was in the Atlantic in October, a newspaper article asked me to narrow my own terms for investigating the crime—which, of course, I could not do without violating the canons of etiquette between police officers, but now, after a lapse of eight months, it is possible to review the case.

On September 14, 1932, the bodies of the Rev. William Hall, rector of the Church of St. John of the Divine at New Brunswick, N. Y., and Mrs. Eleanor Hall-Mills, wife of his brother, were found in an old crab apple orchard on an abandoned farm within a short distance of the town. It has been about twice in the back of the head from a distance sufficient to leave no powder burns. Mrs. Mills had been shot once in the forehead and her face was so marked with powder burns that the pistol must have been held very close to her head. Her arms and neck had been scratched and "clawed" and her throat had been slashed with a sharp knife. The murderer had done his work at leisure, for the bodies had been laid out with care. The man's coat had been put in place and his hat placed over his face. The woman's face had been covered with her scarf. All had been done with care to prevent the bodies from disturbing the clothing. On the woman's body was a packet of love letters which had been torn across twice, a few pieces of the letters were scattered about near the bodies.

Thomas Long Subject of Suspicion
The relations that existed between these two people had been the subject of gossip for some weeks. Mrs. Mills had a fine voice and led the singing in the choir; Hall had often met her in the church on the excuse of discussing choir matters. Hall had no means of his own, but he had married a rich wife some years older than himself. Mrs. Mills was the wife of a poor man who lived in a cottage and had some times asked out his small means by mending the shoes of himself and his family. He had a daughter, aged 17, a rather flighty young person about whom we need not concern ourselves. There was no doubt in the minds of Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Hall that their spouses had entered into scandalous relations. On the night of the murder both had gone out to look for their husbands. Mrs. Mills called at Mrs. Hall's home to report that his wife had not returned home. "Do you think they have eloped?" he asked. A few days after the murder Charlotte Mills received the following note from Mrs. Hall:

"Dear Charlotte, Do not worry. Everything will be all right. You will be looked out for."
Mrs. Hall's name was made of this note by the newspapers, but no doubt it meant nothing more than that Mrs. Hall was a widow with children of her own, was sorry for the girl whose misfortune had been due to the sins of her parents.

It is easy to reconstruct the crime. The couple were sitting at the foot of a crab-apple tree, unconscious that their murderer was standing up behind them. Hall was hit first by two shots fired in quick succession. Mrs. Mills sprang to her feet and turned on the assassin, who seized her by the throat and arm, inflicting the scratches observed on her body. His object was to keep at sufficient distance to enable him to use his pistol. This he did and he shot her through the head while still holding her at arm's length. Then he, or a companion, drew a sharp knife and cut her throat. The bodies could easily have been arranged by a man single-handed, probably not by a woman, or there may have been two assassins, the one armed with a pistol and the other with a knife.

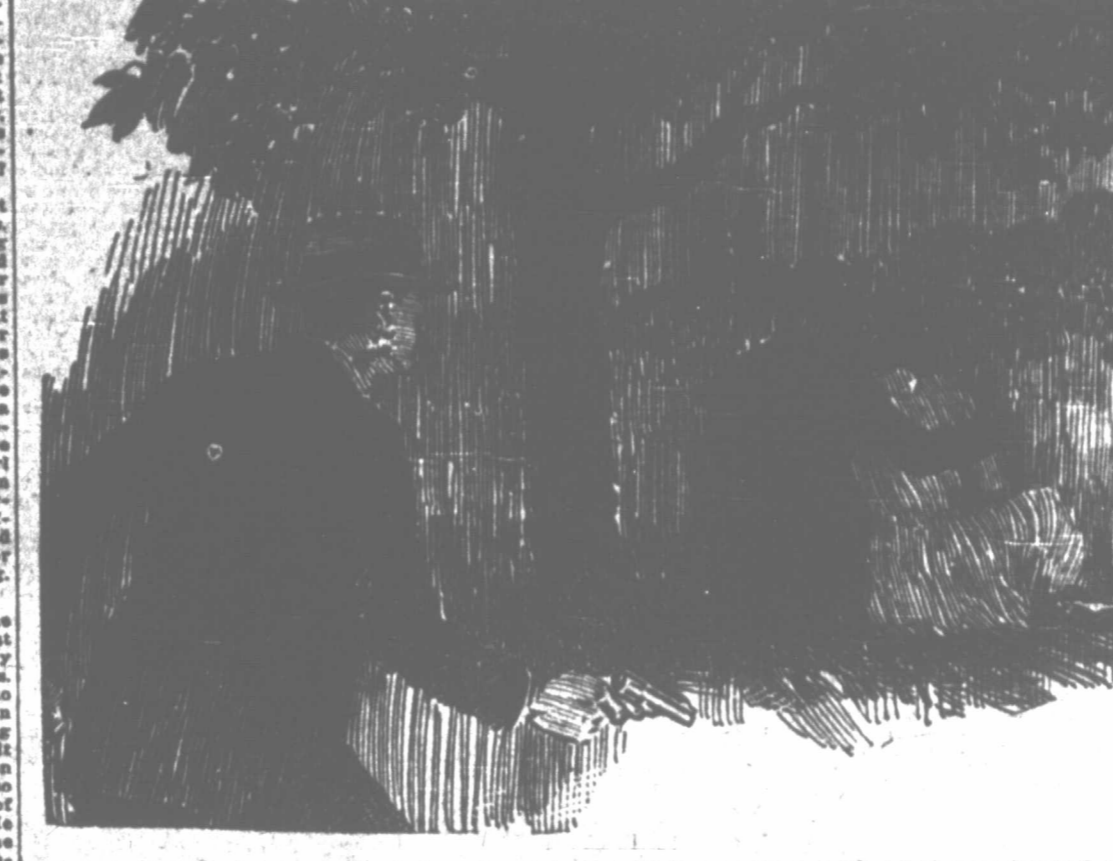

A letter found among Hall's papers after the tragedy suggested that he was the victim of blackmail. He had no means of his own except his stipend, but not long before the murder he had given to a sum of ten thousand dollars. He had drawn out the whole of this money, though he had no known reason for doing so. It may have gone to a blackmail, for Mrs. Hall remembered having been called to the telephone on more than one occasion during the week which was mysterious and refused to give her name. Nevertheless, there is nothing to indicate that the murder was the work of disappointed blackmailers, who are more prone to threaten their victims with exposure than with death, and who very rarely kill their victim, not because they have any scruples, but because it is bad business. Moreover, it would have been Hall alone that would have been killed, they had no quarrel with Mrs. Mills.

Pelvic Mistakes Deepen Mystery
After making full allowance for the embarrassment of a small country police force with its called upon suddenly to deal with a crime of world-wide interest, it must be confessed that the police of New Jersey did not give themselves a fair chance. They seem to have neglected the all-important steps that must be taken on the discovery of a murder—a minutes survey and photograph of the ground and a scientific examination of the bodies. They appear to have failed to notice the not insignificant fact that the woman's throat had been cut apparently after the bullet had caused her death, a fact that may have had great significance, as I shall attempt to show. The newspapers, which so often help to elucidate a crime, actually obscured the issue in this case and diverted the police from their duty. The strength of the reporters was employed to fasten a knowledge of the crime upon Mrs. Hall, who could not have been held responsible for the murder by the light of an autopsy investigation against his brother-in-law for his unfaithfulness, had preceded himself with a pistol and followed the pair. Why should he have thrown away his rifle against the woman as to cut her throat after shooting her? Moreover, would anyone have anticipated a brother-in-law with the letters written by both the lovers? That at least is inconceivable.

Reports have suggested—on what evidence I know not—that Mrs. Mills was in the habit of carrying a bunch of her love-letters around with her—letters written by her which she obtained from Hall as well as letters written to her; that she carried these in a pocket of her neck piece and that the murderer found them there. It is a remarkable assumption which should be resolved with caution. Hall was a master in the art of writing love-letters; some of those which were sold to newspapers by the Mills girl were more than 1,000 words in length. A bunch of such masterpieces added to Mrs. Mills' own effusions of a romantic spirit would have made a formidable bundle for a woman to conceal in her clothing.

Mills Heavily Suspected of Crime
Throughout the enquiry by the police and the reporters it must have struck many people that very little attention was given to Mrs. Mills. An interview with her seems to have been quite enough. She described him as a sort of weakling without the enterprise to commit such a crime. He may have been right, but I could not have been so easily satisfied. Mills was one of the persons who had a motive. He had known for some time of the illness and there he was, condemned from day to day to take orders from the man who had stolen his wife from him and made no sign of going to his wife at meals and perhaps to submit to her contempt if he ever picked up courage to remonstrate with her. What knowing that he lacked the courage and the strength to deal with the situation, if he could have taken a horsewhip to Hall, or have plucked the door on his wife, he might have held up his head among men but he had to bear it all and hide his feelings to boot. I can imagine that he had to bear it all and hide his feelings to boot. I can imagine that he had to bear it all and hide his feelings to boot.

"Probably learning of their tryst through an intercepted letter, a person neither had ever dreamed of as an avenger, crept pistol in hand toward the oblivious pair."

agine a man going crazy under the strain. Then mark how the circumstantial evidence fits such a hypothesis. Imagine that he has seen a letter making an arrangement for the fatal evening; he has the letters in his pocket. The couple set out separately. Mrs. Mills with the "remains" which she had hidden in her shot; Mrs. Mills springs to her feet. Suppose she finds that the avenger in this wretched overwrought man. She would not have closed with any strange man, but this moment! But even a weakling has claws and he uses them—on her throat until he can hold her far enough away to use his pistol. And then the cutting of the throat. Who would be more apt to carry a sharp knife about with him in New Brunswick than a cobbler of shoes, and who would have a greater rancor against the woman of the guilty pair than her neglected and injured husband? And the passion for decency and order in which sections are reared might well be shown in the leisurely arrangement of the bodies.

Wanton Investigation
Were there any physically impossibilities to prevent the murder from being committed in this fashion? We have it from Mrs. Hall that Mills called at her house the evening to ask where his wife was. An alibi could not be founded on this, because there is no certain knowledge of the exact hour when the murders were committed. Such a caller could have made the way to the rendezvous so much easier, sure that the couple had kept their appointment.

Now, it is one thing to reconstruct a crime as a preliminary to an investigation and quite another to gather evidence sufficient for a grand jury. That is one of the first lessons which every police officer learns, and the second is to keep the mouth tight shut until he is in a position to make an arrest. It is possible that the authorities at New Jersey have investigated along these lines, but that owing to the mistakes made in the beginning, they have failed to produce the necessary circumstantial evidence, which in default of an eye-witness is the only evidence they could hope to get. No doubt they have considered and dismissed all the considerations I have set out above and are satisfied that Mills is innocent. All that I can say is that if I had the case I should have started with the letters, gone on with the letters and I venture to think, cleared up the mystery by means of the letters.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

OLDS SIX CONQUERS MUD, SAND, SNOW ON HIGH GEAR TRIP

KINSELEY, Kans., Oct. 27.—Fueled by a combination of mud, rain and snow, "Chicken-Doll" Baker, driving a new Oldsmobile "Six", has broken his enforced lay-over and Friday pulled more than 250 miles from Topeka, Kansas.

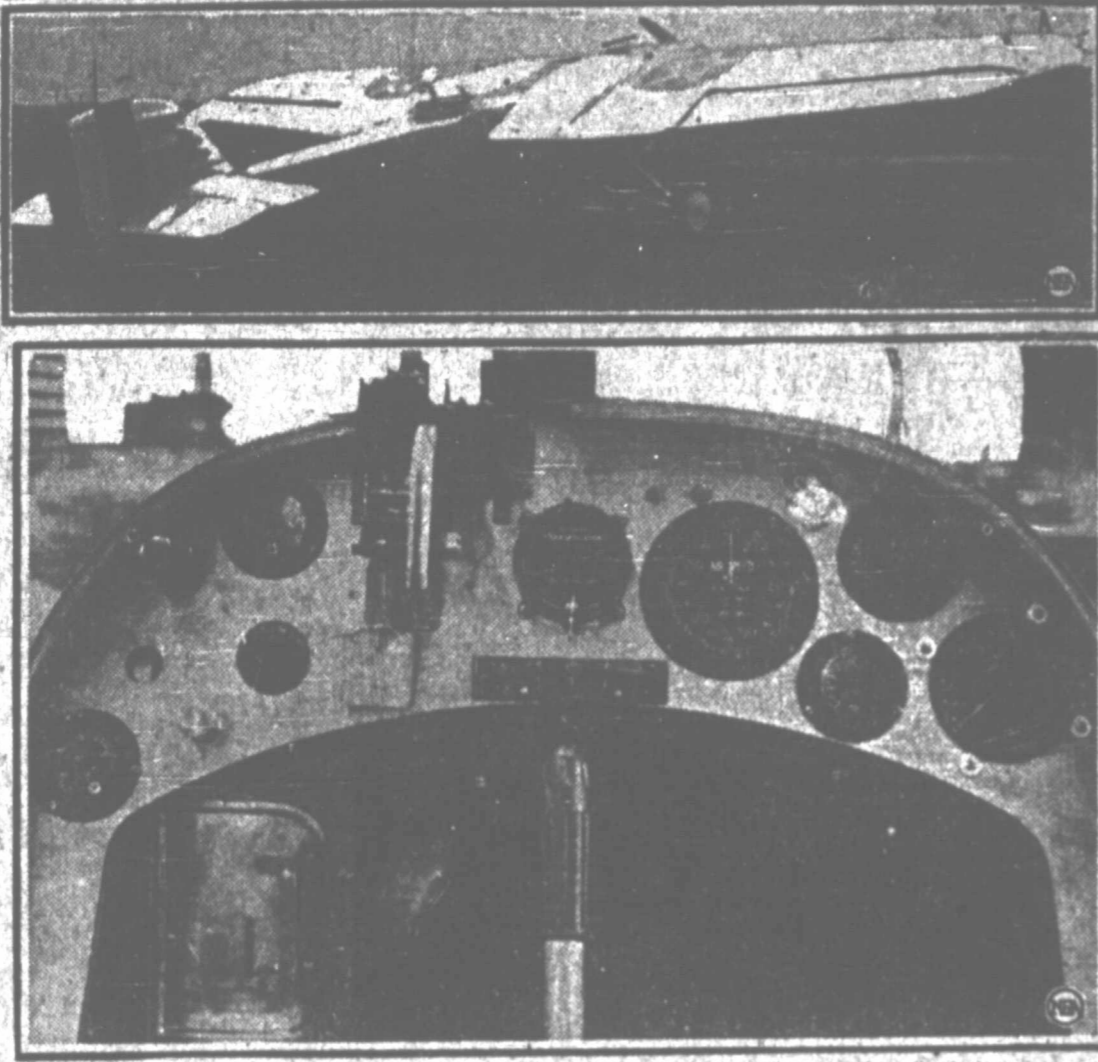

Well on the way to his goal in Los Angeles, Baker has been on the road now about 12 days, but was forced to lay up for more than five of them on account of unpropitious weather conditions in Missouri and Kansas. In Baker's opinion, the car was already pulled the hardest part of the first high gear trip he has ever attempted. The Cumberland mountains and the Missouri and Kansas mud on the last leg of his journey to date have not set new records of heavy going in the category of Baker's 42 trips from coal to coast.

Leaving Topeka early in the morning, the Oldsmobile "Six" pulled on extremely rough roads for 46 miles, at times being forced to put the car over ruts that scraped the under pan of the car, the road being hard and cut up after a week of rain followed by freezing weather.

In the afternoon the car began to play tag with a Kansas cloud bank and dodged in and out of the storm for 100 miles to Hutchinson. Leaving Hutchinson just after dark, Baker drove the 100 miles to Kinsey, Kansas, under extreme conditions. At times wet mud mixed with the rain and it was often necessary to chip the ice off the head lamps before going further.

A remarkable feature of the performance of the car on this trip, especially as the distance to Los Angeles was in the making and all consumption, is that the fuel mileage has been 22.4, a slight decrease from the average of 23.2 to Indianapolis, caused by heavy going. The oil consumption was 1.37 to work to Kinsey, Kansas, but nine ounces by actual weight.

Uncle Sam Develops New Plane for Navy Warfare

This new metal airplane just completed by the Glenn L. Martin Co., will be the "eye" of the navy. Although its function will be to direct artillery fire rather than to participate in any fighting itself, it is not unprepared to do battle on its own account. The top picture shows the new plane with fixed machine gun in the pilot's cockpit and with a search light for a movable gun in the gunner's compartment in the rear. Below shows the pilot's instrument board.

By NEA Service.
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 24.—Navy Day, which will be observed Oct. 27, usually brings with it the thought of battleships, gobs in uniform and the open sea.

But here in Cleveland, hundreds of battleships, gobs in uniform and the open sea are not what is being celebrated. It is the navy's latest word in fighting equipment—the newest development in naval airplane construction.

The event will assume a double significance. Not only is Oct. 27 Navy Day, it is also the birthday anniversary of the famous Theodore Roosevelt, whose son, Teddy Jr., is assistant secretary of the navy.

The new plane will be of a type known as a "reconnaissance" plane. It is officially known as the MO-1 Martin observation plane. It was developed by the Glenn L. Martin Company, at whose plant the dedication will take place.

With this auxiliary craft, the battleship, figuratively speaking, will have the crew's next 16,000 feet high instead of 60 feet.

It is intended primarily to be used in connection with the battleship fleet for spotting and directing the range correction of gun fire by radio. The plane will be able to cruise for long periods—up to eight hours—at high altitudes. In addition, they are designed to afford a maximum visibility range for the observer. Monoplane construction is used with the wing placed at the top of the fuselage.

Inasmuch as they are to be operated from seaplane carriers as well as from the battleships themselves, they have been provided with convertible landing gear. In use, in conjunction with battleships, the wheel gear is removed and floats substituted. The plane then is stabilized from the deck by mechanism provided for the purpose. When the plane returns from its mission, it lands on the water alongside the mother ship and is hoisted on deck with a crane and track.

The outer wings may be removed so that the machine may be stowed in a small space. Outside of the ribs and covering, the entire construction is of metal. In the body of the plane, use is made of steel seamless tubing, welded, brazed and riveted together. In the cantilever wings an aluminum alloy is employed.

The motor to propel this new eye of the navy is a 15-cylinder type, water cooled and with 300 horsepower.

If a motor is subject to considerable vibration there is danger of the bolts coming loose at the base. A wrench should be applied occasionally to make sure that everything is tight. If this is not attended to almost anything may happen, from oil leakage to a wrecked engine.

MOTOR INDUSTRY MEET DEVOTED TO SAFER HIGHWAYS

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Pointing to the safe operation of motor vehicles on the highways as one of the chief problems of the motor world, the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce at the fall meeting here today, gave their personal opinion, and urged their organizations in the elimination of accidents.

Following the meeting the members addressed the Big Coast Assembly to draw for space at the National Automobile shows, New York, Jan. 1-15, Chicago, Jan. 15-20, and Philadelphia, Feb. 1-15.

President Clifford stated that there were three main facts in the motor accident situation:

- 1. Motor accidents are the greatest this year than last if the present rate keeps up.
- 2. The cost of highway accidents, mortality statistics show, is in October and November.
- 3. These hazards can be avoided, if enough public interest is shown.

Study of the safety efforts in various cities shows several ways which have worked successfully. Stricter law enforcement by public opinion is important.

More playgrounds so that children will have better play spaces than the street have aided in reducing accidents to children.

Safety education in the schools, teaching children traffic rules and the need for care on the highways, was the result in the reduction of the child mortality rate in Detroit, St. Louis and other cities.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce is giving $5,500 in prizes for safety essays by school children in all states, and safety lessons by teachers in all states in the union. It is also engaged in research on the causes and elimination of highway accidents. Last year more than half a million essays were submitted.

Janitors Cost $6,000 Per Day In Ford Plant

(From Houston Post.)
Personal observations of the great Ford factory were brought to Houston this week by a tourist, who spent 19 days in the Highland Park battery of Ford buildings near Detroit. He told of marvelous production activities and results, but none of the intimate details he tells show more clearly the nature of the things that Henry Ford's industry in turning every embryo liability to an asset.

"One thing I noticed particularly," he said, "was the extreme cleanliness about all the buildings. The floors were as clean as dining tables. I inquired into the system that made it possible to keep such a great manufacturing plant in such immaculate order."

"I learned that the janitor service in this plant costs $6,000 a day. It is conducted like any big business. Every man has his station, and his job, and he is an expert in his line. He has the most approved equipment with which to work, and a system of the whole plant reflects the noticeable efficiency characteristic of the whole huge organization."

One way of removing a bolt that has become rusted in place is to heat it with an oxy-acetylene torch and let it contract the nut for several minutes. This will expand the nut without producing corresponding expansion of the bolt, and the nut will come off easily.

RICKENBACKER CO. ENLARGES PLANT; TO DOUBLE OUTPUT

Preparatory to doubling its production for the year 1933, Rickenbacker Motor Company is making several additions to its manufacturing plant, which now covers eight acres of floor space.

"Everything points to the biggest year the motor industry has ever known for next year," says E. F. Rickett, president and general manager, "and while we are not ambitious to make all the automobiles in the world, we will continue to adhere to a policy of quality first rather than quantity, still we plan to make one hundred cars per day next year."

"Our production for the present year will average about fifty cars per day, although at times we have hit as high as seventy.

"The principal addition now being made to the plant is that of a second story on top of the big main machinery building. This will add about 60,000 square feet of space and release that much ground floor space in which we can install additional machinery and lengthen the assembly line a few hundred feet."

"In other respects the buildings, which, by the way, were constructed before the end of the war for the purpose of making large shells for the government, and which are therefore the most modern construction and most ideal in lighting, ventilation and other appurtenances are quite sufficient to produce one hundred cars a day."

"We consider the Rickenbacker plant one of the most efficient in this industry," continued Mr. Rickett, "and are more proud of that fact than of its mere size. A plant which occupies a vast amount of space and spread all over a quarter section of land and yet produces few automobiles. In the latter case, there is an excessive overhead that must, of course, be added to the sale price of the product."

Foreign Lands and Rural Sections Biggest Field for Next Five Years 'Miles Per Gallon' Important Abroad

By ROY C. HAYER, Universal Service Special Correspondent.
DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 27.—While factory wheels are turning at a healthy pace, motor car makers are looking toward farming communities and the more progressive foreign countries.

Features demanded in metropolitan centers will be embodied chiefly in replacements, supported by a measurable call from new buyers. However, the biggest field in the next five years will be in rural districts and in foreign countries, particularly in the rural districts, where the motor car is still a novelty.

The National Chamber of Commerce, which shows that the ownership of cars up to the first of the year has been relatively heavier in rural sections.

The farmer who owns thirty per cent of the automobiles in use today is by far the highest single user of motor transportation, but he constitutes 44.1 per cent of the population.

A further comparison shows that there are only 19 motor cars per thousand persons in the country, as opposed to 37 per thousand in towns and cities.

The foreign outlook is especially gratifying. The potentialities of the motor market abroad are unlimited. Europe in particular has fallen way short of its rightful allotment of cars for the last eight years. With the utility of the automobile, the question of finance will be the only hazard between the American manufacturer and foreign business.

Motor Cars for Less.
In fact that is the case today. American manufacturers are extending themselves to make it possible to buy an automobile for less money. It is a matter of open record that prices are lower now and values greater than at any time in the history of the industry. In all probability next year will see the lowest priced automobiles selling at even lower figures.

The second most important factor that the American manufacturer has to contend with in preparing for European business is motor efficiency. With gasoline running from 17 cents to one dollar and a quarter a gallon in many parts of Europe, "miles per gallon" becomes the significant determinant of sales abroad. This condition, too, the American manufacturer is preparing to meet. In the newest models of the average and lower priced cars greater mileage has been attained.

Ford added another link to the chain of opinion that it will not be long before he makes of Europe the manufacturer of everything that goes into the Ford car, when he announced that the service of Carl E. Johannson, world famous authority on practical measurement and the American rights to the manufacturer of his products. Mr. Johannson came to Detroit, Wednesday, to assume an executive position with the Ford Motor Co., with a view to making a new production of 1933 cars, which were made during the week ended Tuesday. Ford is still running in excess of 1,000 cars and trucks a week. Cadillac is operating at the rate of more than 100 a day. Rickenbacker is preparing to hit the stride of 100 a day, beginning the first of the year.

After making gallons of test waters station, the company decided to not ground direct the 1934 issue. It was announced Saturday.

The new car will all be new, as the old model is being phased out. The new car will be a six-cylinder, with a new engine, and a new transmission. It will be a more modern car, with more power and more speed.

RED BOOK EDITOR URGES MORE "RAY" TOURIST CAMPS

After making a thorough investigation of tourist camps over the western states, the Automobile Red Book editor has concluded that the Red Book company of San Antonio has decided to publish a complete map of the United States in connection with the 1924 issue of the Red Book. It was announced by T. A. Keene, editor of the Red Book, last night.

More grounds will be graded and all necessary information regarding each will be published in the next Red Book. The Red Book party has just finished an extensive trip through the states of New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma and Texas, and all of the cities visited have had the attention of the 1924 edition of the book.

Very few towns have well equipped camps. Practically every town in New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma has a "camp" where tourists are charged 25 cents to 50 cents per day for the use of a tent and a cot. The Red Book party has just finished an extensive trip through the states of New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma and Texas, and all of the cities visited have had the attention of the 1924 edition of the book.

Motor Department: I have an old motor car. It has an old engine and has been in the shop for some time. It is now in the shop for a second time. The mechanic says it is not worth the trouble. What do you think of it? Can you give me any ideas how to overcome the trouble?

From your description the trouble seems to be elsewhere than in the motor. The carburetor may be out of adjustment, giving no power when the throttle is opened. The spark plug may be faulty. The valve timing may be wrong. The parts may be required. Make sure that the timing of the valves is correct and try a better adjustment of the carburetor.

Motor Department: I have a car and I want to know how to care for it. Can you give me any advice?

There is no special care required for a car. The only thing to do is to keep it clean and to check the oil and tires. It is also a good idea to have the car checked over by a mechanic once in a while. This will help to keep the car in good working order and will also help to prevent accidents.
