Diploma Mill Causing Stir In Connecticut

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 21.—A number of physicians have left Connecticut since an extraordinary grand jury started investigating the Missouri fake diploma mill which enabled scores to obtain licenses to practice medicine in this state without the usual qualifications. Process servers reported to the grand jury today that they had experienced difficulty in locating some physicians whom the jury desired to question. "Neither State's attorney Alcorn, who is in direct charge of the inquiry, nor Governor Tompkins, who ordered it, would discuss reports today that their visit last Saturday at President Cooke's had to do with discovery that many doctors licensed to practice in Connecticut had entered the government service. A subpoena has been served upon Dr. Fred Harrison Works, who is attached to a war veterans hospital in a Boston suburb. Search is being made in several other states for doctors the jury desired to question.

George G. Brochert, secretary of the Western Railway President's committee on public relations, disclosed in an address before the Kansas State Bar Association here today. AMERICAN SCHOOLS BEHIND BRITISH BALDWIN ASSERTS

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The assertion that the achievement of American schools is far below that of British was made by Prime Minister Baldwin last night in an election speech at Bristol. Replying to the statement of a laborite speaker that the conservatives were opposed to popular education the premier said: "We hear a great deal about American education, but from such sources as I have had of education in those who have visited American schools I do not believe the actual achievements of these schools is comparable to that of our schools. The judgment has been endorsed by American educators themselves. I am told a highly competent observer has said that the whole American boy of 15 is in knowledge and achievement about two years behind an English pupil of the same age."

Argentine Ants Exterminate Boll Weevil Claim

CRYSTAL SPRINGS, Miss., Nov. 21.—A cotton boll weevil eradicator has been found in the Argentine, according to a statement by a planter residing near here, who for some time has been experimenting with weevils and means of controlling the cotton pest. Mr. Deen planted two patches of cotton on the same farm this season. One of them is on ground infested with the insect, and the other is on a cleared area. The cleared area is infested with Argentine ants, and the cotton plants are healthy and free from weevils. Welfare Campaign Is Reported Going Over In Splendid Fashion

"How'd, friend—How about that check for the welfare fund?" is the greeting which is being heard by hundreds of Wichita Falls business and professional men.

"Who is going to win the $100 hats?"

The "go-getters" of the campaign are all striving for first mention and competition is keen. All of the workers are on their toes and reports received at campaign headquarters Tuesday were most encouraging.

"That spirit ever shown in the united campaign and excellent reports are being received," Hubert M. Harrison, campaign director, commented Tuesday morning when he looked up from his work for a minute.

The fact that more enthusiasm is being shown in the annual drive this year, is proved by the splendid reports and the large number of 100 per cent collections reported by captains of teams and their workers.

Reports at headquarters are to the effect that the public is almost unanimous in its favorable reception and contributions to the 1924 budget are coming into headquarters in the best of order.

Workers are full of pep, punch and personality and the success of the drive was practically assured Tuesday morning if the present spirit is maintained.

First to notify headquarters that its employees were 100 per cent behind the drive was the Overland Motors Company when the report was turned in Monday afternoon. Employers of Wichita Falls were requested to collect from all employees in their concerns Monday morning and the results from the new plan of solicitation indicate a remarkable success. According to the workers, employees are taking a great interest in the drive and although some have no money on hand at the present time they are making their pledges payable at the first of the month.

Pledges to the fund will run from $5 to $500, according to present indications.

Campaign Vice Chairman W. R. Hamilton's offer to buy four $100 hats for the members of the team which obtains the highest percentage of pledges on their notes, is proving very popular and causing keen competition—quotas will have grown several hundred times the estimated amount if the present 100 per cent talk around campaign headquarters continues.

Some campaign workers call at campaign headquarters several times during the day for more supplies. All participants in the campaign, from the campaign chairman to the "go-getter" workers, are highly enthusiastic.

Much time and many arguments are being saved by the workers due to the fact that preliminary organizing efforts of the campaign committee have prepared the public for the drive in the best of fashion. It is hoped that final reports of the drive will be ready for announcement at the Thanksgiving reception which will be held at the University club Tuesday morning after reviewing the situation. Hearty cooperation of the citizens of Wichita Falls is urged in having their pledges ready when the workers call.

More than 100 workers were combining the city for funds, calling at every office and concern in the city, Tuesday morning. Real old fashioned Wichita Falls pep is being displayed by the workers and volunteers are aiding the captains and campaigners in the work.

Captains and their teams will make the first report Tuesday noon at the University club luncheon at the Kemp Hotel, and arrangements were under way Tuesday morning to have the members of the respective teams sit together in order that they could discuss their prospects and their work for the afternoon.

Present indications show that the present campaign so far is the most economical ever conducted in Wichita Falls—less than one-half of one per cent of $40,000 having been spent for supplies and work.

GOVERNMENT TAKES JUDGMENT ON BOND FOR CARRYING MAIL

Judgment in the sum of $3,000 was taken Tuesday morning in the United States district court in favor of the government against John W. Dow, and his bondsmen F. M. Bates and R. S. Newman. The bond had been executed for the faithful performance of a contract made for the carrying of United States mail.

In addition to taking judgment on the bond in the amount above specified, judgment was also taken against the bondsmen in the sum of $4,187.34, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from May 29, 1919.

The last amount is for damages as the result of the alleged failure of the defendants to carry out the contract.

FLOOD OF WORTHLESS CHECKS STILL POURING IN, SAYS POLICE CHIEF

A flood of worthless checks is still coming into the police department, Chief of Police George Hodgins said Tuesday morning. Several days ago Dave May, chief detective, issued a warning to merchants cautioning them against accepting checks from unidentified persons. There has been a noticeable decrease in the number of worthless checks which are brought in daily at the police station for collection, Chief Hodgins said Tuesday morning.

"The police department will assist the merchants in every way possible to protect them from unscrupulous 'hot check artists,' but we must ask them to take precaution before accepting a check from an unidentified person," Chief Hodgins announced. He urged that special precautions be taken during the holiday rush.

TWO PLEAD GUILTY ON MISDEMEANOR CHARGES

Two pleas of guilty were received Tuesday by Judge Guy Rogers of the county court at law in misdemeanor criminal cases. "Little Old New York" at Strand Featuring Marion Davies One of Best Pictures Seen In This City

In many instances motion picture productions are "over-advertised," or rather are "played up" to a point that leads one to expect too much. In such instances the theater patron leaves with a "bad taste" in his or her mouth and as a result is inclined to discredit later and possibly unjustified praise. Not so with "Little Old New York," now showing at the Strand. Although one of the most widely advertised films in the history of the industry, it is all and more than has been claimed for the picture, in fact is one of the best productions ever shown in Wichita Falls.

Combining historical accuracy, woven into a story of gripping interest and with sufficient action to please the most exacting, it will long be remembered by those who see the picture during this week.

The launching of the first steamboat, a notable event in American history, impresses one with the sensation, that was given to details in filming the story, which is further emphasized in other scenes and in the costumes.

The battle between the Hoboken Terror and Bully Brewster furnishes some splendid comedy as a pleasing diversion, and the whipping scene is as realistic as could be produced on the screen.

The cast is an exceptionally strong one, and while Marion Davies is the outstanding star of the production, she does not by any means the laurels that she had already gained. You will have missed one of the best pictures of the year if you fail to see "Little Old New York."

Editor The Times:

In a recent issue of your paper appears an editorial on the lecture delivered by Doctor Lefkowitz in a Baptist church at Breckenridge. I am unable to recall the exact words of the editorial, but the tenor of it is that the Baptist church was packed, and that The Times editor was glad to note a wave of broadmindedness sweep over the land.

In my judgment broadmindedness is a rare quality to possess, but I am inclined to think that it has been exercised indiscreetly. Carried to excess it invites undue familiarity and familiarity breeds contempt.

The Times editor is undoubtedly unaware of the fact that fifty per cent or more of the mercantile business in Wichita Falls is in the hands of alien races, the members of which haven't produced one dollar's worth of raw material in the country, or in this country, for that matter. This state of affairs was made possible by the extreme broadmindedness of the native Nordics. It seems only fair to me that the members of a race engaged in the production of raw materials and manufactured products should be entitled to the profits resulting from the handling and marketing of such materials and products.

J. C. JURICK.

115 Dallas street.

Editor's Note: The editorial referred to did not say that a wave of broadmindedness was sweeping the land. It did say that in the midst of so much that was the very reverse of broadmindedness it was pleasing to note this instance of that virtue.

Mr. Jurick is wrong in his assumption that the editor of The Times is "undoubtedly aware" that fifty per cent or more of the mercantile business in Wichita Falls is in the hands of "alien races."

By Mme. Frances The Famous Creator of Fashions

There can be no doubt of the triumph of velvet for midwinter hats. This supple fabric covers almost every head, from that of the tiny miss who wears a bonnet banded in little pink roses to the helmet worn by debutante sister and the cloche, or up-titled small hat, that mother wears.

Indeed, the helmet, which need not be restricted to sister, but may be worn by any age, bids fair to rival the cloche in popularity, for it is as trifle newer than the still highly popular cloche.

That is, the helmet is newer in fashion interest, though it is as old as time itself in point of history. And a right valiant ancestry it has, too. The helmet that the sprightly young miss pulls down over her fluffy locks to-day is a direct descendant of the stout war helmet worn by the ancient Romans. Where they stepped forth to battle, accompanied by the beat of drums and the clashing of new historic cymbals, the miss of to-day steps forth to dance at tea to the accompaniment of jazz music. But she, too, is helmet clad.

Instead of being fashioned of brass and weighing several pounds, hers is made of a lighter fabric. But it has the same pointed brim at the front the Roman helmet had as a protection against the enemy. This double point is given by taking a V-shaped cut out of the center front of the two-inch brim that turns sharply back from the face. The metal touch may be given by numerous nailheads driven into the chic little hat. A striking model of this type is of black suede. Its tightly fitted brim is divided into melon-shaped sections, and it is entirely covered by square brass nailheads and round steel ones.

Another Roman helmet type is seen above and at the right of the page. It same well down over the eyes, its glossy black velvet surface following the shape of the head closely, until it curves out at the top of the head, for all the world like a battle-axe.

You can see from the types I'm showing here that the tiny hat is the thing. One would have thought that clothes could grow no smaller, but they've diminished apparently without an effort. This has been done by employing various treatments for the already diminutive brim.

One thing that the brim does effectively is to split at the back of the tiny hat, cross over and extend around the crown upward to the front, where it ends in a very perky, very tiny butterfly bow. Versions of this type are seen in felt and in velvet, or in combinations of the two. Suede, of course, is very well liked for all kinds of little hats. It is especially smart in models of vivid color. Bright orange and green, lemon yellow and brilliant blue are favorite hues.

Black predominates for day wear, there being at least eight or ten black hats to one of another color. Black and white combinations are smart, especially when black velvet makes the hat and white for the trimming. White, however, is not confined to the usual black and white combination. It is most effective used with bright blue and even with brown.

Feathers are apt to be of the soft, droopy variety rather than those that are stiff and shiny. A variation from the hat that shades the eyes is seen in an off-the-face shape that softens its line by letting a fragile ostrich feather drop from the right side, well down over the right shoulder.

Turbans are still seen. A smart feather trimming for the turban comes in the form of ostrich feathers made into a soft roll resembling a twist of the material and placed around the hat, one just above the forehead and one higher up on the crown. Tiny feather brushes are seen in the form of tantalizing curls down over one ear. The whole tendency in feather trimmings is toward the front rather than the back. The back of the hat is left plain and unadorned, and the feathers which come from the top or the side curl their soft ends about the face of the wearer. The ornament may be at one side, or it may evenly balance two sides, but it never appears at the back or front.

Another important word about hat fashions! Whatever happens to be in style, please consider your own features before you adopt it. Few women can take over a new fashion without some reservations, and far too many women go in for a certain type of hat or frock simply because it happens to look well on someone else.

It is like to think the cloche hat has been so un-versally accepted because it is so universally becoming. For there is no doubt about it—the hat that partly covers the face, thus giving it at least a hint of mystery, is more universally becoming than the hat that leaves the face without a shadow. Only the very young can wear the latter style without misgiving. That's why, even when the hat is a turban, it's more becoming if there's ever so slight a brim to give the eyes a hint of shadow.

While the present mode for the tiny hat seems made for tall and small people alike, it certainly argues that the petite woman should never make the mistake of hiding her charm under an all-enveloping chapeau.

And there's everything in the way a hat is worn. You'd be surprised to know the very small percentage of women who really put their hats on correctly. If you'll look around during any morning shopping tour, or at any fashionable tea-hour, you'll realize that half the hats you see are riding too far back on the or slipping too far to one side—or offending in some other manner.

The way to wear your hat this year is straight across. There should be no slant at all, just the straight, smart line well down over the eyes. It is true that the Parisienne started this fashion, and the American women was loath to follow it closely at first, for she "loves" to wear her hat at a rakish angle. She is coming around, however, and now she realizes that the straight, uncompromising line is the smart line.

Smart first-night audiences are showing marked favor for tiny, close-fitting theatre caps. These are pulled well down over the hair, and are either brimless or made with a tiny brim at the front. They are most attractive when gaily embroidered in bright unsew threads. An adorable model worn with an ermine cape is of white satin and seed pearls.

The woman who prefers to reveal the beauty of her simple coiffure rather than hide it beneath a cap, however beautiful, can find various smart ways to do her hair. The close-to-the-head line remains the smart line, and hair arranged in this way is likely to be finished with a soft roll at the back, or a series of smoothly arranged rolls well down about the base of the neck.

Headresses made of single strands of rhinestones are most effective. A line of the brilliants is used to follow the part of the hair. This fashion was followed recently by a brunette beauty who wore one line of brilliants close about her head, while another started at the center of her forehead and followed the line of the middle part, to be lost in the low knot of hair at the nape of her neck.

Some effort is being made abroad to revive the fashion for wigs. When one sees the fascinating silk wigs to be had, one wonders why this fashion does not catch on in this country. There are luscious pale blues and glistening white silk ones, and they are all arranged in cunning little buns or low French rolls. All the wearer has to do is to roll her own hair into as small a knot as possible, adjust her silk wig and add a touch of harmonizing powder. It is interesting to experiment with colors that give the complexion becoming tints, and as long as these whimsical little wigs enhance beauty they will doubtless be worn by many European women who favor adornment that carries a touch of the exotic.

ENSIGN CORLISS IS TRANSFERRED TO CHICAGO NO. 1

FAREWELL ORDERS RECEIVED ON TUESDAY, WILL DEPART NEXT WEEK.

PROTESTS OF REMOVAL FROM HERE NO AVAIL

New Appointment a Recognition of Ability of Young Man and His Wife.

Ensign Lorin Corliss, who has been in charge of the Salvation Army work in this city since last July, has been transferred to command Chicago No. 1. The farewell orders were received Tuesday morning and he has been instructed to proceed to Chicago some time next week.

Since his arrival in this city Ensign Corliss has put his heart, soul and energy in the work and although he has been here but five months he has surrounded himself with a wide acquaintance and an extremely large number of friends.

The order of his transfer was received with regret by him as well as by the board and all those who are acquainted with him. The first intimation that a transfer was likely came as a complete surprise.

Protests were entered to headquarters, but to no avail. Those who asked headquarters of the Army to reconsider the transfer to Chicago No. 1, which is the premier corps of the Salvation Army in the central territory, were advised of a man who must have certain qualifications.

After some time the entire list of men on the Army roll, the headquarters officials arrived at the conclusion that Ensign Corliss was the man for the place and especially fitted for the great task at that city.

Considered Best Available. Col. John T. Flynn, field secretary of a territory comprising 16 states, in a letter to this city stated that Ensign Corliss was regarded as a man who could fill the vacancy at that place in a manner which no other available would be able to do.

The Salvation Army officials who have heard of the transfer regret it, but at the same time realize that the new position comes in the form of a promotion and that the change is being made for the sake of increased efficiency, for which the Salvation Army is noted.

Ensign Corliss and his wife came to this city to take charge of the new work on July 8, 1925, following the transfer of "Tom" and "Ma" Burdick to Chicago.

Widowed Scope of Work

Since taking charge of the local citadel, Ensign Corliss has widened the scope of work and has established branches in two of the towns of the county. In addition to this, he has organized a Boy's Club which has already grown into an organization which is regarded as a great asset to the city.

Five weeks ago he found that the space at the citadel was too small to accommodate the needs of the work if he maintained his own living quarters there, and accordingly moved into the city hall district of the city. He and his family moved into the new and newly furnished home just five weeks ago.

In speaking of his farewell orders, Ensign Corliss stated that he deeply regretted leaving Wichita Falls, his people and his work here, to which he has become attached.

"I am sorry that I must leave," he added, "but I have so recently put a large number of things into a fire which I would certainly like to see materialize into full realization. However, I am under orders and it is my duty to go."

Izzy's Awfully Busy Way Down the Mississippi

This is the first of many remarkable stories giving the low-down on Izzy Blinstein, the elusive "Hillman" of the prohibition business. It's the most intimate story yet ever given. Read this and find out how Blinstein does it.

Izzy's always sleeping around. On the left you see him heading that trap door up on the roof. On the right, the elusive Blinstein is giving a suspicious looking barrel a good shove-over.

Financing of City's Portion of New Paving Presents Serious Problem At City Council Meeting Monday

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 27.—Gold is where you find it. Any old-time miser will tell you that.

And the same is true with booze, according to Izzy Blinstein, federal prohibition sleuth de luxe. "I go out and find it," says Izzy. "And his moon-like face grins in an expansive grin showing every gold tooth in his broad mouth."

Izzy, whose fame nearly rivals his ill-fated namesake who espoused the theory of relativity, chucking so hard all his 208 and some odd pounds quivers as he begins to tell how he is "digging up New Orleans, wettest of all American cities, by Christmas."

Pete Means Fights Fights. The story starts with Izzy drifting quietly down from New York and registering at an exclusive hotel with "Maitling Pete" Reagan, his pugilist pal.

New, Pete really is somewhat of a boxer. At least, he used to be, before he went to fighting booze with Izzy Blinstein.

They were looking for a match. They got training quarters at a former city detestable.

And that was only the opening gun in their bombardment of the 100-odd liquor-dispensing amporiums in New Orleans.

Tom Cuts a Shot. After that, Izzy was everywhere. His widely scattered fingers changed with startling rapidity.

First day Izzy was in greasy overalls and he was out for a leading banana. He bought "moon" for ten cents a shot in water-front saloons.

That night in "mop and fish" suppers included a game of checkers and a game of whist. And Izzy swears it wasn't a bit better than the kind he bought for a dime a throw down on the river.

Next day in flashy checkered suit, he was the hot sport up and down the Tange belt. He entertained his fellow sports drinks lavishly and made all sorts of friends.

But the Tange Belt is in mourning today. And Izzy is in mourning. Then, all bedecked in costly looking clothes and massive jewelry, and posing as a retired brewer, he mingled with the high society at an exclusive luncheon club. He carried prohibition up and down and sat in for a couple games of pinochle.

Bookkeepers Moan. Of course he wanted their addresses. And down in his little notebook they went.

by taxicab drivers, hotel runners and other solicitors at the union station on the platform. A question of the supremacy of the city ordinance over the franchise granted by the railroad company is involved in the discussion. The matter will be reported on at the next regular meeting and possibly some action will be taken at that time.

A new committee to look into the city ordinance which for one season or another are invalid and of no use to the city, was appointed. Some of the ordinances can not be legally enforced because they have not been properly signed, others because the original copy has been lost. A committee composed of W. M. George, G. M. Rugsby, J. L. McClure, A. H. Douglas and Geo. H. Hodgins, was appointed to look into the ordinances and recommend action by the council on the ordinances which are not in use.

SUCCESS
 If you're afraid of a set-back or two,
 If you're afraid of a jolt or a jar,
 If hard work is something which terrifies you,
 Then stay where you are.

If more than a chance for success you desire,
 If you're afraid of a blow and its smart,
 If you're no pluck for the fight when you fire,
 You'd better not start.

If you can't trudge through the rain and the snow,
 Forgetting the calm of an easier task,
 If always the comforts of life you must know,
 For glory don't ask.

If you can't stand to the battle alone,
 Can't cling to your purpose through thick and through thin,
 If pleasure means more than the goal you would own,
 You've no chance to win.

If you've the will to be somebody here,
 If stronger your spirit rebounds from a blow,
 If you will work for it year after year,
 Success you may know.

Apology, Not Pardon.
 Women Steps Forward.
 Misan and Hitchcock.
 Acting or Peering Test?

By ARNOLD HENNINGSEN

President Coolidge will look into the case of the woman who was accused of shooting her husband. It is a case of a woman who shot her husband and then tried to kill herself. The president will probably establish a precedent.

What is really called for, however, is not a pardon, but an apology for the fact that the woman who shot her husband was not a criminal. The president will probably establish a precedent.

Woman in her changing moods produces results surprising. Many times must we hurry the world, because woman decides that seal skin is fashionable.

Uncle Sam, who has a seal skin coat, has a seal skin coat. He is a seal skin coat. He is a seal skin coat. He is a seal skin coat.

Their case, Frank S. Hitchcock will look after the practical side of the woman's presidential campaign. While Senator Johnson, who is a seal skin coat, will look after the practical side of the woman's presidential campaign.

It is announced that a seal skin coat, which is a seal skin coat, will be with a genuine live one, for a change.

Light is shed on the new crime developed under prohibition, in connection with the woman's seal skin coat. The woman's seal skin coat is a seal skin coat.

In a fight with Alabama, the woman's seal skin coat is a seal skin coat. The woman's seal skin coat is a seal skin coat.

AMERICANS FOR AMERICA

There are those who shout "America for Americans." It would be better should the cry be "America for America," observes the Nation Herald in one of those splendid editorials from the pen of Henry Ellis, who can come as near hitting the mark at every shot as any writer in the Southwest.

"There is a vast difference," writes Mr. Ellis in comparing these two slogans. "One is the cry of the bigoted partisan while the other is that of the broad patriot. One says that this country should build a wall around itself and shut out everything, while the other leaves its gates open to the man with white and invites ideas from other peoples."

The stern crusaders are agreed, the signs are right, the time is ripe, to march upon that noxious weed with which I fill my trusty pipe. In other days I would have smiled at grim reformers and their threats, and looked upon their words as wild, what time I smoked a cigarette. I hear them say in trumpet tones that nicotine must surely fade, and obey, I feel it in my bones that their behest will be obeyed. Some day the bluff that seems a joke will loom up as a drastic law, and men who suffer for a smoke will have to fill their pipes with straw.

The smoke early to find a wind blowing in the trees and to moderately there impinged upon her nostrils the odor of burning wood.

Mother know a dose of DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPIN Will keep them fit

'First Aid' For Sick Children

THE experienced mother is not alarmed when a child becomes sick. She knows that most of the ailments of childhood are trifling. If it seems serious she calls a doctor, but whether or not she calls him she gives, first of all, a good laxative medicine. The doctor would advise that anyway. It is his "first aid." Such experienced mothers as Mrs. Everett E. Hunt of Balcon, Okla., who has three children and never any sickness, and Mrs. F. B. Kullback of Prosser, Wash., always give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at the first indication of sickness. Such timely doses have saved them much worry.

The Meaning of "Good"

All doctors agree that a thorough cleansing out of the bowels is of first importance for it removes dangerous intestinal poisons. They will also advise a "good laxative," and by "good" they mean one that is effective and yet harmless. They know that there are physics that never should be given to children - emetics - which is unnecessary and loosens the teeth; phenolphthalein, a coal-tar drug that causes skin trouble; salts, which concentrate the blood and dry up the saliva. They consider Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin safe for all ages as they know it is a simple and safe compound of glycerine mixed with pepsin and aromatic. The formula is on the package.

Give Laxative for Colds

Adults should have at least one movement of the bowels every 24 hours, and children two or three. Failure to have it means constipation, then headache, biliousness, drowsiness, loss of appetite. Give a dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at bedtime and sleep will be peaceful and good feeling by morning. A dose costs less than a cent, and a bottle can be had at any drug store. Colds and other ailments come together, so if you notice coughing or sneezing stop it at once with Syrup Pepsin.

FOR YOUR THANKSGIVING

MANY VEGETABLE STAND-BYS ARE POPULAR IN FALL

At this time of the year our old stand-bys—the "root" vegetables, with squash, onions and cabbage—share the honors with those salvaged in cans. We have, however, since our grandmothers' days, learned that, when cooking the winter vegetables, we need not necessarily confine ourselves to sliced beets, and turnip, mashed squash and plain boiled cabbage. There are many ways in which we can secure variety and add deliciousness to what is already good. Moreover, there is a best way of cooking these common vegetables plainly. Take squash for instance. Steam fine, dry Hubbard squash, mash it smoothly in a hot bowl, season adequately with salt, be a spendthrift with butter, add—if possible—a spoonful or two of thick cream, and don't forget the bit of sugar which should be added to nearly all vegetables, not enough to sweeten, but to enhance other flavors; whip madly and make all steaming hot again; hardly any summer vegetable can surpass its rich appeal! Turnips? Hardly any enthusiasm is ever expressed for turnips, but try mashing a dry, mealy potato with your delicate, well-drained turnips, add butter liberally here also, don't forget the soupcon of sugar, and taste to see if salt enough; make very hot, and see how quickly a dish will vanish! Common vegetables plainly cooked, in order to be good, must be well cooked, well seasoned, and hot! Also, no scanting of butter here! I would rather economize in butter in any other direction and allow plenty for my vegetables.

Curry of Vegetables
One cupful of diced carrot, half a cupful each of sliced turnip and celery, half a cupful of very small onions—all cooked; add one cupful or less of canned peas, same amount of lima or lima beans—washed or dried and cooked—one cupful of canned tomatoes, and enough fatless gravy or nice brown sauce to moisten well—about one cupful. Use bouillon cubes as basis for gravy if there is none on hand. Season with one teaspoonful of salt and one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, half a teaspoonful of sugar, and one teaspoonful of curry powder. Simmer gently 15 minutes, add a teaspoonful of butter and surround, when served, with a rice border. The proportions and varieties of vegetables may of course be varied according to convenience. Make a plain vegetable stew by omitting the curry, grate cheese over the rice and set in the oven a few minutes.

Savory Fried Potatoes
Dice cold boiled potatoes rather finely and saute until a rich brown in a little olive oil to which a small onion, minced, has been cooked a few minutes. Just before taking up add a little minced red sweet pepper.

Celery and Brussels Sprouts
Cook Brussels sprouts until tender, salt and drain well. Cut celery in inch pieces and stew until soft. Combine and mix lightly with enough highly seasoned rich cream sauce to moisten well, place in a buttered baking dish, cover with grated cheese and brown lightly in a hot oven. Use equal parts of celery and Brussels sprouts.

A Delicious Winter Salad
Slice celery hearts lengthwise in quarters, retaining a bit of the root; boil until tender, drain and chill. Slice in the center of a salad plate and surround with a border of alternate mounds of cooked carrots, beets and potatoes, sliced with a cucumber lattiger. Dress all liberally with French dressing to which paprika has been added freely, and garnish with celery leaves.

Turnip Croquettes
Cook delicate dry turnips, mash, drain off any liquid. To each pint add a mashed mealy white potato, the beaten yolk of an egg, half a teaspoonful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, salt and pepper to taste, and form in croquettes. Dip in fine crumbs, then in egg beaten with two tablespoonfuls of cold water, then in crumbs again and fry in hot deep fat.

Baked Squash
Bake half of a fine Hubbard squash, with seeds removed, until tender. Scrape all possible from shell and add to about a quart of squash—two tablespoonfuls each of butter and thick cream, a teaspoonful of brown sugar, one-quarter teaspoonful of ginger, and salt to taste; mash, heat until light and smooth, place in a serving dish and smooth with a knife into a mound.

IF NOT TURKEY—

In some parts of New England chicken pie ran a close second to turkey for Thanksgiving dinner in the old days. Often both turkey and chicken pie were served at the same dinner. This seems out of place to us, but why not serve chicken pie in place of turkey? While turkey is more or less traditional with Thanksgiving, any "extra" roast or meat with an abundance of vegetables makes a satisfactory dinner. A fresh ham, boned and stuffed, is a delicious substitute for turkey, and no one will sigh for the absent bird.

"Very good thing is weal pie," approved Mr. Weller. So why not serve a veal and ham pie instead of turkey?

Then there is crown of lamb or pork quite compatible with a gala day, and of course roast goose or duck or guinea hen. However, I prefer these for Christmas or New Year's dinner. Keep the Thanksgiving dinner simple and old-fashioned in its menu. If you would express the original spirit of the day.

Chicken Pie.
Two year-old chickens, 1 small onion, 2 sprigs parsley, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoon flour, 1 cup cream, 2 tablespoon butter, short crust, 4 hard-boiled eggs (optional), 1 pound mushrooms.

Clean and disjoint chickens. Put kettle with onion, parsley and water to completely cover, or until tender, about one hour. When chicken has cooked, remove from broth, wash tender and place to use, but why not serve chicken pie in place of turkey? Melt butter, stir in flour and add broth and cream, stirring constantly.

A deep broad pan with short dough rolled three-eighths of inch thick. Arrange chicken and hard-boiled eggs cut in slices and pooms in the pan. Do not use things, backbones or necks in this. The chicken and gravy should be cool, add gravy to cover. Chop crust over pie, pinch edges together and bake half an hour in oven.

A large pan that has no table around, pin a neatly folded napkin around the pan before sending to the table.

Trust is made as follows:

Chicken Pie Crust.
2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 1/2 cup butter and lard mixed, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 egg yolk, water make a soft dough.

Mix sift flour, baking powder and salt. Rub in shortening with fine fingers. Beat yolk of egg with 1/2 cup water and cut into mixture. Add enough moisture to make a soft dough. Divide roll on a well-floured board 1/2 inch thickness. Line pan. Roll to crust. Cut four wide strips through the dough. These must be cut wide enough to allow for the rising of the dough. The steam must be allowed to escape from a chicken pie while baking. Dampen the lower crust of the pie and press the upper crust firmly against it. Roll and crimp the edge just as for ordinary pie. If a glazed crust is desired brush over with the white of the egg.

Veal and Ham Pie.
Two pounds lean veal, 1 pound ham, 2 hard-boiled eggs, 1 pair sweetbread, 1 lemon, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon powdered "fine herbs," 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, stock, short crust.

Cut veal and ham into pieces two inches square. Simmer in boiling water until tender. Blanch and par-boil sweetbreads. Cut in slices.

Prepare a crust as in preceding recipe and line baking dish. Add meat drained from stock. Arrange veal and ham, eggs, cut in slices and sweetbreads in layers, seasoning with grated lemon rind, salt, pepper, nutmeg and fine herbs as each layer is added. Thicken stock with flour and water stirred to a smooth paste and pour over meat. Pile the meat high in the center of the dish. Make a hole in the center of the top crust and fit over pie. Press edges together and crimp. Bake half an hour in a moderate oven.

Veal and chicken are combined if only one chicken is used. This makes an economical but delicious pie.

Stuffed Fresh Ham.
The butcher should remove the bone from the ham in such a way as to form a sort of pocket to hold the stuffing. The skin is usually removed before the butcher sends the meat from the market.

Stuffing.
One cup cracker crumbs, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 egg, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 1/2 Italian chestnut, 1 cup hot milk.

Mix cracker and bread crumbs with seasonings. Shell and blanch chestnuts and add to crumbs. Add egg unseasoned, and mix well with a fork. Add milk and mix with fork.

Put into the ham and sew any openings the butcher may have made in boning. Rub the surface of the ham well with salt and pepper and put in roaster. Roast in hot oven for three hours. Remove from oven and sprinkle with fine bread crumbs. Return to oven to brown crumbs. Serve with squash, croquettes and blushing apples.

Try rolling meat balls in par-boiled leaves of cabbage, placing them in a greased pan to brown.

At tea Thanksgiving Day one might serve hot spiced cider with small assorted cakes or cookies.

Sliced white grapes and endive make a very dainty salad. Serve with dressing and cheese straws.

Garnish shredded lettuce with halves of English walnuts and marinate with French dressing.

Fill the hollows of halved peaches with cottage or soft cream cheese and serve on lettuce leaves.

Individual molded rice puddings are nice served with whipped cream or a boiled custard sauce.

from Amsterdam there came a gift to King Louis

SELECTED from Amsterdam's renowned Botanical Gardens by the Burgomaster as a fitting gift to the King of France, it traveled under escort to Paris. Elaborate ceremonies marked its presentation to King Louis XIV—and France became the possessor of a single, precious coffee plant.

Less than five feet in height, it nevertheless was a royal gift, for this plant produced the seed from which sprang all the coffee plantations of the French colonies.

Coffee was elaborately served in the salons of King Louis, yet royalty could not command such delicious coffee as you may now enjoy—M. J. B. COFFEE.

Suggestions for Your Thanksgiving Table

Thanksgiving Menu, Decorations And Plans—Do You Know How to Select and Prepare Your Turkey?

Are you thinking of ordering your Thanksgiving turkey? Perhaps these will help you to serve the best one on record.

A turkey, to be in its prime, should be of last year's hatching, from eight to ten pounds. Of course, these are turkeys less than a year old weighing several pounds more, but to be on the safe side, order from eight to ten pounds, preferably a hen and yours can't help but be tender.

An eight to ten-pound turkey will serve six or eight persons.

If you must serve more people, use two eight-pound turkeys rather than one very heavy one.

A young hen turkey should be plump, have smooth, dark "rumpticks," and the cartilage at the end of the breast bone soft and pliable. If these conditions do not hold, have none of the bird, for a poor, bony turkey weighing eight pounds would be tough and old.

If a turkey is more than eight or nine months old must be used, a "gobbler" usually will be found to be the better eating.

Why is Thanksgiving? When you are planning your dinner, think for a minute of the tradition back of the present Thanksgiving day and keep your menu simple and homely. "Hors d'oeuvres" have no place on a typical American Thanksgiving dinner table. Let the turkey hold the center of the stage, to speak, and build the dinner around it.

If you must prepare and serve the dinner without a maid, do all the things it's possible to do the day before Thanksgiving. Make the cranberry sauce, stone the raisins for the pudding, have the pumpkin ready to make the pie, the salt and peppers filled and shined, and all the little things attended to that take so much time and thought as the last minute.

If a "big dinner" can be prepared with a calm mind and without rush and flurry, it's really lots of fun.

Here's This Feast!

This menu is simple and may suggest other possibilities to you.

Roast Turkey Cranberry Sauce
Mashed Potatoes Giblet Gravy
Candied Sweet Potatoes
Creamed Celery
Peach Pickles
Pumpkin Pie
Fruit
The centerpiece could well be made of fruits and nuts. A pumpkin bowl with bitter-sweet spilling over the edge and trailing a bit on the table is attractive and colorful. The red and yellow checked apples, white and red grapes and small tines of nuts in the brilliant pumpkin yellow make an artistic decoration as heart could wish.

Your butcher should dress the turkey. The giblets are usually put loosely back inside. Remove these and let stand in cold salt water to cover while washing the bird itself.

To wash the turkey rub the inside thoroughly with salt. Then let cold water thoroughly wash and rinse out every trace of the salt. Scrape the outside with the dull edge of a case knife, keeping the turkey under water and taking care not to break the skin. Scrub well with the palm of the hand and wash through many waters. Rinse the giblets under running water. Truss and stuff.

To truss a turkey, draw thighs close to the body and tie with a string wrapping cord. Draw wings close to the body and use a large stringing needle to sew through the web. Make a half-inch stitch in the wing and sew back through the body and tie with cord on other wing. When the turkey is ready to be served cut the knot and pull hard out by the neck. The skin should be sewed together over the stuffing. Do not stuff the turkey too full, for the stuffing swells during the roasting and may burst the bird.

Steaming Will Help
One of the nicest ways to cook a turkey is to steam it for two hours before roasting. The steaming preserves the flavor and makes the flesh tender without danger of becoming too dry by long roasting. If a steamer is not at hand a large ball with a tight-fitting cover can be used. Tie the turkey to the cover, fastening it by the drumsticks. Put boiling water in the pan, as much as possible without touching the turkey. Steam two hours, keeping tightly covered to prevent steam from escaping. Use the water to baste the turkey during roasting.

Truss turkey well with salt and cover breast with one-third cup butter and one-fourth cup flour its side in the roasting pan and put in a hot oven. As soon as the turkey begins to brown reduce heat, fill in the bottom of the pan with the liquor in which the turkey was steamed and roast two hours.

If the turkey is not steamed before roasting, cover the whole surface with flour and cover the breast with thin slices of bacon. A salt-basting roaster should be used. Dredge the bottom of the roaster with flour. When the turkey begins to brown, reduce the heat and add water. Roast about four hours. (Copyright, 1933, NEA Service, Inc.)

summer till tender. Meantime slit a quart of large chestnuts and peel them, then boil in salted water and press through a coarse sieve. Mix with three times the butter, one-quarter cupful of butter, a tablespoonful of onion juice, a pint of fine bread crumbs, a tablespoonful of chopped parsley, with salt, pepper, paprika and sweet marjoram to taste.

For a very thick white sauce use three tablespoonfuls of fat and four of flour to each cupful of milk.

To give French dressing a delightfully "fruity" flavor add to it a little currant jelly.

Meat loaf is especially good when strained tomato juice is used instead of water in the gravy.

Baked peaches in two thin, flaky crusts in a square pan, cut in oblong or square pieces and serve with peach sauce.

GULF PRODUCTION'S HOCKADAY NO. 1-A BEING DRILLED IN

GRAHAM, Texas, Nov. 27.—Much interest is being shown in the production of No. 1-A Hockaday which is being drilled in today at 4,000 feet. This well is being drilled in the Gulf's famous discovery well which came in last spring. The Tulsa Oil Company, another operator, will drill in tomorrow. These wells bring production within four miles of this city, and open up some wonderful possibilities in the deeper zone.

The Shamrock No. 1 Bower topped the sand at 2,400 feet. This well is making 1,000,000 feet of gas and around twenty-five barrels of oil. It looks good for two hundred barrels or better when drilled in.

In the Herron district Fort Weekly is drilling in the McLean No. 3 and it looks like he has another good well.

Mann & Reed have made location No. 1 on the Whitehouse. Rig will go up at once.

ENTIRE PANHANDLE IS COVERED WITH SLEET AND SNOW

About three and half inches had fallen in Amarillo 11 noon today and was still falling rapidly with no signs of a let-up.

Texline reported seven inches at 10:00 o'clock this morning. The snow extended as far east as Groom, Texas, and Quilman, Okla., and as far south as Plainview and Clovis, N. M.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

COTTON MARKET

Local Cotton Market
Midling 52 cents; receipts nominal.

New York Cotton.
NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—The cotton market opened firm today at an advance of 10 to 14 points. Buying was stimulated by the report that the cotton futures market would be abandoned after this month, but the advance into new high ground for the cotton contracts is a good deal of reality and any fluctuations were somewhat irregular. December contracts advanced to 34.50, later receding to 33.50 and 34.00 during the early trading. Two private crop estimates were issued, one placing the 1928 crop at 3,700,000 bales and the other at 3,625,000, excluding lintless. The report of a slightly lower opening advance proved sufficient to cause reactions of some 10 or 12 points by 10:30 a. m. but activity was absorbed by covering or fresh buying on a scale down and prices steadied up again toward mid-day. The private crop figures published were commented upon as slightly above ideas based on the ginning reports and there seemed to be little or no pressure and the market was comparatively quiet during the most hour with December selling at 33.50 and March 34.50 or 35 points in December closed steadily.

The realising sales attracted by the new set at 3:00 p. m. have been absorbed early in the afternoon and prices made new high ground in the early afternoon. Reports of a continued active spot market in the south January sold up to 33.50 and March to 34.75 with the active positions showing net advances of about 34 to 35 points around 3 o'clock.

MINCHEW SELLS ONE FIFTH INTEREST TO MID-TEX, $165,000

The Mid-Tex Producing company Monday purchased from A. P. Minchew one-fifth interest in his holdings located in the Wilcox and Wilcox lands in Archer county, for a consideration of $165,000.

ANT NOT PRACTICAL IN BOLL WEEVIL FIGHT

AUSTIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—Eradication of the boll weevil by the use of the Argentine ant, as suggested by Manoa Deane, a Mississippi cotton planter, will never be accomplished, according to H. E. McDonald, entomologist of the state department of agriculture.

Commenting on the Mississippi planter's suggestion, Mr. McDonald said it was his opinion the Argentine ant will not feed on boll weevil, but even if it did it is altogether too serious a pest to be considered. He said it is by far the worst household pest and it also to be feared as an orchard pest, Mr. McDonald said.

McDonald stated that some years ago a large number of Kelp ants from Guatemala were imported into Texas as an attempt to control the weevil, but the attempt was a failure, for the ants did not destroy enough weevils to be of any value, Drilled a few feet.

HECKLERS DESIST AT MARGOT'S COMMAND

GLASGOW, Nov. 27. (AP)—Margot Asquith, wife of the former premier and staunchest petal of English autobiography, was the object of a noisy but peaceful meeting here last night.

When Mrs. Asquith's brother, H. Tennant, liberal candidate for the central division of Glasgow, started to address the meeting at the city hall he was subjected to noisy interruptions which rapidly worked into general rowdiness, until the meeting was in an uproar. In the midst of the turmoil Mrs. Asquith mounted the platform in her brother's side and announced in stentorian tones:

"This question is my brother. You have a perfect right to come here, but no right to do what you are doing now. Those who don't want to listen get out."

Some of the hecklers went but most of the audience remained to speak while his sister kept a watchful eye on the crowd.

The market was characterized by the opening of the new high ground for the cotton contracts is a good deal of reality and any fluctuations were somewhat irregular. Two private crop estimates were issued, one placing the 1928 crop at 3,700,000 bales and the other at 3,625,000, excluding lintless. The report of a slightly lower opening advance proved sufficient to cause reactions of some 10 or 12 points by 10:30 a. m. but activity was absorbed by covering or fresh buying on a scale down and prices steadied up again toward mid-day. The private crop figures published were commented upon as slightly above ideas based on the ginning reports and there seemed to be little or no pressure and the market was comparatively quiet during the most hour with December selling at 33.50 and March 34.50 or 35 points in December closed steadily.
