BIG BARBECUE AT BAILEYBORO

Candidates Made Speeches, Big Dinner for All, Baseball a Feature of the Program.

About five hundred of Bailey county's twelve hundred people attended the big barbecue at Baileyboro last Thursday. There were speeches by all the candidates present, and all of them were there. It was intended to close this part of the program with a speech by the Hon. Joe Burkett, but he failed to get word that all Bailey county was spending the day with Baileyboro until too late to make his appointment.

After a dinner fully in keeping with the traditions of West Texas, and enjoyed as only West Texas people can enjoy, came a ball game between the Baileyboro school boys and their neighbors from Sudan. The Sudan boys won this game, but only after the Baileyboro boys had demonstrated to the spectators that they were adepts at this class of sport.

The closing event of the day was the ball game between Baileyboro and Muleshoe. If our hosts for the day had had any misgivings as to whether they would be able to make the undertaking a big success, their fears were allayed before this game was finished. Such a slaughter as that given Dan Winn's bunch of Muleshoe boys by our young friends of Baileyboro has seldom been equaled. It was done so completely that comments on the big game are unnecessary, except that it was done so cleanly and in such a gentlemanly way that everyone felt good when it was over. We extend congratulations to the boys of both the teams. They are good sports. The people of Baileyboro have reason to be proud. They have enabled their friends to spend a very happy day for which we thank them. Our neighbors on the south side of the sand are the right kind of people.

IMMIGRATION BILL SIGNED BY COOLIDGE

The Jap immigration bill was signed by President Coolidge Monday.

Despite the provision of the Japanese exclusion effective next July 1, put into the measure over his vigorous opposition, the president decided, because of other considerations, to give the executive approval necessary to spread the legislation on the statute books.

NEFF DECLINES TO BE DELEGATE.

WACO, Texas.—Judge B. L. Graford read the report of the committee on delegates at large to the National Democratic Convention. Neff was named as one of them but he declined, saying he was not in accord with the instructed program.

The 24 recommended, 12 men and 12 women, follow:

- Marshall Hicks, San Antonio; Senator Earle Mayfield, Austin; W. W. Fitzwater, Bonham; Tom Ball, Houston; George Slater, Galveston; Frank Wozencraft, Dallas; Cato Sells, Fort Worth; J. M. Mathis, Houston; M. A. Childers, San Antonio; R. E. Thomson, El Paso; Mike T. Lively, Dallas; O. L. Kinsey, San Antonio.

W. M. U.

The W. M. U. of the Muleshoe Baptist church met in a social meeting with Mrs. Ross Glaze on Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. After the devotional and business sessions were over, we were invited by Mrs. Glaze, our lovely hostess, to the dining room where she served ice cream and cake and there we were favored with a reading by Ida Lou Glaze.

As the guests departed, each expressed their pleasure for the delightful entertainment.

CANTALOUPE TO BE GROWN HERE THIS YEAR

The farmers east of town are starting to plant around 150 acres of cantaloupes, some few having already planted and others having the ground all ready to plant. We are advised that a fairly attractive label will be used carrying the brand Muleshoe on it and grown and packed by the Blackwater Valley Cantaloupe Growers Assn., of Muleshoe, Texas. This kind of advertising will do our country a great deal of good, and should the growers be fairly successful in handling their deal this season it should bring in quite a few people another year that are interested in truck farming, something we have needed a good many years. Anyone desirous of planting 10 acres and wishing the seed, may obtain same from K. K. Smith or Ed Lane, as 10 acres will be the minimum number of acres allowed to any one person to plant. This seed is home grown and is choice seed and should prove itself far superior to any shipped in from elsewhere. You may arrange to pay for the seed when you harvest your crop which is another item worth thought. If you have not already agreed to plant 10 acres get your seed and get busy. The Association needs your help.

TAX BILL TO PRESIDENT

The tax reduction bill was put up to President Coolidge for final enactment into law Monday by Congress. Like the Senate, the House by an overwhelming majority approved the conference compromise on the main provisions. The vote was 376 to 9.

An early decision by the president was forecast by those close to him on the basis of his insistent demands that Congress hasten action on tax reductions.

Mr. Coolidge has asked Congress for the bill promised by Secretary Mellon turned down almost entirely in the framing of the pending measures, but has let it be known he will consider the latter on its merits as compared with the present law. In this connection Secretary Mellon indicated today he considered the bill on the whole an improvement over the present law.

JUMBO AND MULESHOE PLAY PRETTY GAME

One of the prettiest ball games we have witnessed in a long time was the game between Jumbo and Muleshoe, played on the grounds at Dimmitt last Saturday afternoon. The score of four to one in favor of Muleshoe speaks for itself. Both teams were in fine form, and it was an exceedingly interesting game from the start to finish. The Jumbo players are an exceedingly fine bunch of young men and the Dimmitt people made our visit very pleasant. We will be very glad to meet them again. We plead guilty to being a ball fan, and we have reasons. One of them is that we love a clean sport and another is that we get acquainted with our good neighbors and we become friends, and friends are the greatest thing yet. All success to the ball boys. They make the world better.

MAY HEAD A THIRD PARTY

Senator Robt. M. LaFollette yesterday virtually announced his candidacy for president on a third party ticket unless the approaching Democratic and Republican national conventions evince a definite endeavor to purge themselves of what he termed "evil influences."

CANDIDATES ATTENTION.

K. K. Smith, Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Bailey County, wishes to advise all parties running for County offices that they must have their applications in his hands before the 14th of June if they wish their names on the ballot for the Primary Election on the 26th of July. Forms of such applications may be secured from him or from Hon. Levi Pressly. Both parties will be glad to mail same to any candidate upon receipt of a request for them, address either party at Muleshoe.

MULESHOE DAY JUNE 7

Baseball Game to Be Played at Winn's Field at 3:00 P. M.

Mr. Daniel Winn, manager of the Muleshoe ball club advises that he has a big day for the local fans as well as visiting fans on the afternoon of Saturday, June 7th, when the candidates will play ball in the Muleshoe Park. During the intermissions and following the game there will be speeches by the different candidates, and this will be open to all—no admission will be charged—so if you are a resident of Sudan, Baileyboro, Hurley, West Camp, Farwell, or any neighboring towns you owe it to your town's representative to be on the ground and give him a good hand when his address has been delivered.

On this day everyone will be Mr. Winn's guest—so let us arrange to be in town for our lunch at the hotel or Moeller's and be ready for the start of the program at one o'clock. With a possible change of the batteries of the teams, the following is the lineup as records in Manager Winn's office show:

GOVERNOR NOMINATED AS DELEGATE TO THE NATIONAL CONVENTION, BUT DECLINED. DELEGATION FAVORABLE TO OWSLEY ALSO.

A personal triumph for Governor Pat M. Neff and his administration and confirmation of the power of leaders who are reputed to be affiliated with the Ku Klux Klan were registered by the Democratic state convention, which sweltered through many long hours of deliberation in Waco Tuesday.

The Governor was nominated as a delegate to the national convention but declined the offer on the ground that he was not in accord with an instructed delegation.

The convention gave iron clad instruction for William G. McAdoo for president and endorsed but did not give instruction for Alvin M. Owsley of Dallas for vice president. Thomas B. Love of Dallas, was re-elected national committeeman without opposition.

Acclamation for Governor Neff came dramatically and with tremendous power just after Cato Sells of Fort Worth had read a resolution of the platform and resolutions committee endorsing Governor Neff's administration. The resolution read:

"Be it resolved that we have unbounded confidence in the honesty and integrity of Governor Pat M. Neff and we most heartily endorse his administration as Governor of Texas."

The words had scarcely dropped from Judge Sell's lips when most of the convention jumped to its feet as one man. More than half the delegates were on their feet, shouting the name of the governor in a pandemonium of cheers and applause.

The five pound bowling pin which Chairman Hicks was using for a gavel dropped with pile-driver blows on the table to restore order. The resolution was put to a vote and adopted with a resounding "yes," but a small group of men at the rear of the hall, who seemed to be sitting closely together shouted "no."

The convention then voted to ask the Governor to address the assembly on motion of John C. Granbury of Georgetown.

When Mr. Hicks introduced Mr. Neff as "your governor" some one in the audience shouted "our governor."

Governor Addresses Body.

"With no apologies on my lips and no blush of shame on my cheek and no regret in my heart for things said and done of late, I respond to your generous call for me to speak," began the governor in a tense atmosphere, surcharged with the sentiment of the moment.

The governor had sat silently but observingly throughout the long day. He beheld the convention record itself unmistakably for McAdoo and for some of the principles that the governor had fought against and the moment seemed to have come when he could unloosen his tongue and send forth his message with all the power of pent up desire. Those who heard him said he more than met the requirements of the occasion.

Some one yelled "you're a game sport."

And then with dramatic suddenness, pointing his finger with defiance at the group that had voted against endorsement of his administration, he shouted:

"I challenge and defy you gentlemen to point to a single instance of dishonorable conduct in my entire administration."

The climax of the day seemed to have arrived. The crowd cheered and applauded. The governor went on, hammering in his points with effective gestures. "I have served as governor for 5,000,000 citizens of Texas for three years and a half to the best of my ability. The highest thing a governor can do is to do right. My hope is that I shall so conduct the office that 25 or 50 years from now your boys and girls can look back and see that I have done nothing that would reflect on the citizenship of Texas."

"I have no explanations to make to you men who voted against endorsement of my administration."

"As a man to man I tell you I have been actuated by the noblest motives that can lead a human being. I want to tell you I have not swerved one inch from my stand in regard to an un instructed delegation. I believed my position was right when I made it known; I still believe it right."

The delegates and spectators gave the governor a great tribute as he stepped down from the platform.

In a few minutes the governor's name was announced among those selected to go as delegates at large to New York. He immediately rose to a point of personal privilege and in another brief speech declined to accept the position. He declared that people of Texas owed him nothing, that his debt to the people could never be paid and that he asked at this time nothing further from them. He called attention to the fact that he was against an instructed delegation and would not be in sympathy with the rest of the delegation.

His refusal must have been known before hand to program makers for they were ready immediately with the Name of Mike Lively of Dallas as a substitute for the governor. The substitution was accepted. The governor left the hall shortly afterward.

Owsley Demonstration Staged.

The demonstration for governor Neff followed closely on one for Alvin M. Owsley. When Judge Sells had read the resolution endorsing Owsley as one "eminently fitted for the vice presidency," the "old gray mare band" which had been waiting all day to do its stuff for the former American Legion commander, broke loose. Headed by the old gray mare herself, on whose back gracefully rode Miss Ruby Latham, of Brownwood, adorned in a siding suit of golden silk started around the hall. The Owsley followers danced wildly up and down the aisles and the convention was in great confusion.

When the noise subsided, the resolution for Owsley was adopted and Owsley called to the platform for a speech. He spoke for 10 minutes, endorsing national prohibition and woman suffrage and thanking the delegates for "nominating" him for vice president.

Austin Delegate Contested.

The most bitter contest of the day, precipitating a fight that was not known on the leader's program, came about 7 p. m., when an attack was made on Harper Kirby of Austin, as a delegate to the national convention. Other counties in the tenth district demanded that Mr. Kirby be unseated as a delegate to the national convention for the reason that he was not a McAdoo man. For almost an hour a bitter debate ensued, in which the lie was passed back and forth rather freely. Practically all the spectators and a number of the delegates had already departed, worn out by the long day. The convention, which up to then had maintained an unusual order, soon took on the semblance of a mob. Many delegates crowded about the chairman's table demanding that Mr. Kirby be taken off the delegation. Mr. Kirby is a prohibition leader, a wealthy resident of Austin and a strong supporter of Governor Neff.

The convention finally voted to remove from the delegation and substituted the name of Maynard of Bastrop county.

The convention adjourned sine die at 7:30 p. m., following the settlement of several contests over delegates to the national convention. When the end came only a small handful of delegates were present, the bulk of the vast audience having gradually seeped away, after the main issues had been settled.

THE AMERICAN'S CREED.

"I believe in the United States of America and the principles of freedom, justice, equality and humanity upon which it was founded and for which American patriots have given their lives and fortunes."
"I believe it is my duty towards my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws, and to defend it against all enemies."

WHAT IS BUSINESS?

In these days of sneering at men who have made a success of industry or branch of human service until it is called Big Business, the question arises, What is Business?
To begin with the management of a household is business and a business at which thousands of women succeed, where men would fail with the same problems to meet.

The care with which a woman buys all her supplies and the manner in which she employs labor and makes both ends meet to keep within her income is remarkably good business.

It has given occasion for the saying that has become a world proverb, that a woman can make a dollar go farther than a man, a criticism of a great deal of public business.

It is a fact that in the management of farms and lines of business in which so many men fail, they have not followed the same careful methods of women in the household.

Good business means no unnecessary expenditure, not having two persons employed on a job that can be handled by one, or having persons for several different jobs that could be handled by one person.

The application of these simple principles, which are used by almost any woman in the land in the management of her household, would put most corporations on a paying basis and would make local and federal government less of a failure than they are.

BACK TO THE OLD ORDER.

More than a dozen years ago a candidate seeking a presidential nomination, said in addressing his partisans: "You have come here to find out what I stand for and I want to tell you what I stand for. I stand for wresting control of the government from the privileged interests." That candidate was Woodrow Wilson, then governor of New Jersey.

Led by Woodrow Wilson the people wrested control of their government from the "privileged interests," and for eight years the people's government was directed in the interests of the people. The "privileged interests" were scourged from the avenues of government and took an eight-year vacation. Then the presidential battle of 1920 broke upon the country.

In that campaign of lurid memories the republicans appealed from every platform and through every medium of publicity for a restoration of the old order of things. For multiplied and irresistible reasons they swept the country and won the most decisive victory in our political history. And when Mr. Harding came to deliver his inaugural address he complacently emphasized the fact that the people by 7,000,000 majority had voted to return to the old order of things.

What are the fruits of that restoration? The "privileged interests" are back at Washington. Cabinet officers are dancing to the music of their privileged pipes. The secret code of a great department is in the hands of the "privileged interests." The same "devil dogs" who immortalized themselves on the Marne are dispatched by a department understudy to drive American citizens from property filched by false pretense from the American people. Lads who donned the khaki under Woodrow Wilson to save civilization are systematically robbed by the minions of his successor. The people voted for Mammon and Mammon is in control. We are most assuredly back to the old order.—Oklahoma

FIRST BIG COTTON MILL.

Here are facts about Fort Worth's first cotton mill:
Its name will be The Worth Mills.
It will have a capitalization of $1,122,000 of which $200,000 is yet to be subscribed.
More than $500,000 has been pledged by residents there.

New England associates have subscribed $427,500.
It will be located on a 20-acre tract west of the old Cleburne road in the southwestern section of the city.

The mill will be the largest in Texas. Five hundred persons, no small children, will be employed.

Six experts are to be brought from New England to train the workers. When in operation the mill will give Bailey County planters a market right at their door.

Doing your share is a lot more important than taking it.

MULESHOE TEXAS

Muleshoe, the county seat of Bailey County, Texas, has a population of about 250, is situated on the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway about 25 miles from the New Mexico line and was laid out at about the time of the outbreak of the European war and while it has made a steady growth, its development has doubtless been retarded by the fact that the country has either been in war or passing through an enormous depression during practically the entire time of the town's existence. Muleshoe is a new town but owing to the excellent farming and ranch country in which it is situated, it bids fair to become a large one as well. It has at this time one elevator, a cotton gin, a first class lumber yard and supply house, two garages, several mercantile concerns, a bank with resources aggregating $175,000.00, a practically new high school building and two churches.

The country tributary to Muleshoe borders on New Mexico and is just south of the Panhandle proper, about 200 miles west of the southern line of Oklahoma, fifty miles west of Plainview, Texas, about 90 miles southwest of Amarillo and about 35 miles east of Clovis. Owing to the fact that Bailey County in which Muleshoe is situated, joins New Mexico where land could be homesteaded until recently and did not have a railroad until about nine years ago and the further fact that the county was unorganized until about five years ago, the beautiful and fertile country has been overlooked and has never been advertised or boomed. The Muleshoe country now has good shipping facilities, schools, churches, roads, gardens and groves. As for shipping facilities as above mentioned, it is situated on the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway, being the main line of the Santa Fe between Los Angeles, California and Galveston, Texas; as for schools, as mentioned above, Muleshoe has a beautiful high school building, modern in every respect, just completed, there are numerous grade schools, well equipped, throughout the territory, one of which cost over ten thousand dollars; as for roads, Muleshoe is a terminal for three of the most important highways in the South and Southwest, being the Robt. E. Lee Highway, the F. F. Highway and the Roger Q. Mills Highway.

The country has an average rainfall of about 24 inches which falls mostly during the growing season. It is the best watered country anywhere, barring none; it being underlaid with pure sheet water or a strata of water bearing sand, which is known to be approximately 300 feet thick and which lies only from ten to eighty feet below the surface of the land. A great portion of the Muleshoe territory is underlaid by an enormous strata of water only from twenty to thirty feet beneath the surface. This body of land is being rapidly developed into fine irrigated farms, by pumping with crude oil engines and centrifugal pumps. Many of the pumps draw the water but about 35 feet and have a capacity of 1,500 gallons per minute, with no apparent effect on the supply and a plant this size is operated with only a 25-horsepower engine burning the cheapest of fuel oil, will irrigate successfully about a quarter section of land and will insure a bumper crop of anything grown in a temperate climate, and at a very low cost.

Owing to the fine uniform soil throughout the Muleshoe territory, which soil varies from a clay loam to a silty or sandy loam, from two to six feet deep and the shallow water for irrigation, almost any crop can be grown. Crops grown more successfully in this territory consist of kafirs and sorghums, alfalfa, sudan, millet, beans, cantaloupes and all kinds of vegetables. Fruits of all kinds that flourish in a temperate climate can be raised in abundance and some fine orchards are just coming into their prime bearing age throughout the territory. Beautiful shade trees of all kinds, such as grace the streets in the residential section of Clovis and Amarillo, make a rapid growth in this territory owing to the abundance of water.

The Muleshoe territory has an altitude of 3,800 feet above sea level which gives it a most delightful climate and considering its excellent location and many natural advantages its development into a beautiful, thriving and prosperous valley, populated with happy and contented people of the nation's best stock, is assured.

STONEWALL JACKSON.

Just sixty-one years ago this morning there died at Guinea Station in Virginia one of the most remarkable military figures of modern times. It was the judgment of foreign military observers that Stonewall Jackson was the pre-eminent genius of the war between the states. Some have even gone so far as to compare him with the first Napoleon.

The story of Jackson's career reads like a chapter from the Iliad. We rarely read a life-story that has more of dash and unexpected brilliancy, running all the way from the storms of the first Manassas to the fatal gunfire of his own troops in the cedar brakes at Chancellorsville. It is a remarkable military story. But aside from a military skill and resolution that was almost uncanny there are other lessons of value in the life of Stonewall Jackson. As a man, also, he was in many respects pre-eminent. When his Lexington neighbors gathered about the village post office to hear the details of Bull Run the only message received from the man who had saved that sanguinary conflict was a letter to a fellow churchman asking him to look after Jackson's monthly subscription to a negro Sunday school, a matter that, in the rush of war, had been neglected. That message was written by a wounded soldier on the field where he had received his baptism of fire; it made no mention of the battle itself.

Jackson was the Puritan of the army, notwithstanding he fought alongside of the Cavaliers. Many a time as the Stonewall brigade marched into battle they observed their leader with his head bent in prayer. It was the verdict of his servant, "We shall have a battle tomorrow, for the general is praying tonight." And this was the man who could say, as his soul was drifting out across the bar, "Let us cross over the river and rest in the shade of the trees." A most remarkable man.

TORNADOES HIT IN THE SOUTH

More Than 70 Persons Are Injured And Thousands of Dollars Damage Done to Farms and Buildings.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 27.—A series of tornadoes sweeping through Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana last night and early today took a known toll of 35 lives and caused injury to upwards of 70 persons and wrought thousands of dollars damage to farms and buildings, according to advices reaching here today.

In Mississippi there were 17 dead and the list of injured stood at 50, after several storms had torn through the southern section of the state, centering its fury around Collins, where 2 girls were reported killed, 12 injured, many seriously, and virtually the entire business district wiped away. The storm also struck Johnson Station, Vicksburg and Greenville late yesterday, and today another twister struck the vicinity of Bay Springs and Collins, causing reports of deaths and injury to several families.

Other communities in Mississippi at which deaths were reported included, Swain Plantation, near Greenville, where three negroes were killed and a dozen others injured; Union, eight injured; Waynesboro, several negroes killed; and Summit, which is said to have suffered heavy property loss.

Early reports from Alabama placed that state as the next heaviest sufferer. Ten were reported dead at the Owens mining community near Empire City in Walker county, and the injured numbered fifteen. Three families were reported annihilated in the little mining community. Seven members of the family of Billy Robbins were killed, and Mrs. John Hays and a young woman named Abbott lost their lives there, John Hays being perhaps fatally injured. Reports reaching here from Athens place the number of dead at seven in the Ellamont neighborhood, the family of Will Collins having been killed and a baby two years old blown away. In Louisiana, Vestor Carr is reported fatally injured by lightning.

MAKE SURVEY OF SANTA FE LINES

Officials, Touring System, Are Surprised at Development of the West.

The resources of Eastern New Mexico and West Texas are to be surveyed in detail by fourteen officials of the Santa Fe railway system who left Amarillo Tuesday to make a trip over the Santa Fe lines in this section.

T. B. Gallaher, general freight and passenger agent of the company, originated the idea of having representatives of the traffic, industrial, agricultural, colonization and publicity departments of the Santa Fe system make a trip over the lines in this section in order that they might become thoroughly familiar with the unusual amount of development that is going on at this time.

The party spend Monday in going over Amarillo and the surrounding country and left early this morning for Clovis from where they will visit the famous Pecos Valley.

The Earth, the Santa Fe's official magazine, will carry a detailed report of the progress and development of Eastern New Mexico and West Texas in its July issue and 50,000 copies will be distributed throughout the United States.

Officials stated yesterday that they were surprised at the amount of development that is going on in this section and declared that it was not equalled anywhere in the United States at this time.—Amarillo News.

WHEN BEN TIES KNOT IT STICKS.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, May 26.—World's record for marriages performed is being claimed by friends of Justice of the Peace Ben S. Fisk of Bexar county. Justice Fisk's records will show that he has officiated at 9,367 weddings since he went into office on November 1, 1906.

Justice Fisk claims that most of his marriages "stick."

JAPS PROTEST AGAINST U. S. EXCLUSION ACT

TOKIO, May 28.—Foreign Minister Mtsui today asked and obtained the assent of the prince regent to the forwarding of Japan's protest against the American enactment of the immigration bill barring Japanese. The proceeding was extraordinary and is interpreted as indicating unusual importance as attached to the document.

The foreign minister went to the imperial palace immediately after the extraordinary cabinet session, called yesterday to give its final approval to the protest, had ended. The regent sanctioned the protest.

The protest was placed upon the cables for transmission to Ambassador Hanihara at Washington shortly after the foreign minister had left the imperial palace. The ambassador will deliver it to Secretary of State Hughes. The foreign office in a statement at 5:30 p. m. expressed deep regret that the United States had enacted the immigration bill including a clause barring Japanese.

"The Japanese government remains unshaken in their opposition to this discriminatory legislation against Japanese and they have instructed the Japanese ambassador at Washington to lodge a solemn protest with the United States government on this occasion," concludes the communication.

The document describes the immigration bill and its effects upon Japanese entering the United States and continues:

"Since the introduction of the Johnson immigration bill, the base of the present act, into the house (the American house of representatives) last December, the Japanese government have frequently and earnestly called the attention of the United States government to the Japanese exclusion provision. The Japanese government therefore deeply regret that this provision has been enacted in spite of their representations and the vigorous and repeated efforts made by the president and secretary of state of the United States to prevent the inclusion of the discriminatory provision in question."

"INSULT BY UNITED STATES" SAYS 10,000 JAPANESE.

Huge Anti-Exclusion Demonstration Staged by Ex-Soldiers in Tokio.

TOKIO, May 26.—Ten thousand Japanese former service men who are now army reservists, took part today in an anti-exclusion demonstration at the national military shrine here and adopted a resolution asking reservists of the entire country to unite for the sake of their fatherland.

"In view of the nature of the American-Japanese situation," the resolution added, "the Tokio reservists declare their determination to fulfill at a moment's call the duties of its members as military men."

Shinchisi Uyesugi, noted nationalist publicist, in an address to the reservists, declared it no longer was possible to reach a satisfactory compromise with America on immigration.

"If history teaches anything," he continued, "an eventual collision between Japan and America on the Pacific is inevitable." Another speaker, Lieut. Gen. Bunjiro Horinouchi, one of the heroes of the Tsing Tao campaign, told ex-service men "we must be determined to undergo whatever hardships are necessary in avenging the insult which America has done our country."

RAIN AND WIND STORMS SWEEP MOST OF TEXAS

Heavy rain, accompanied by high winds and electrical disturbances, visited the major part of Texas Tuesday and Tuesday night, causing some property damage, according to reports.

Central and Northeast Texas received the heaviest rainfall, nearly three inches. At Corpus Christi the wind blew 60 miles an hour.

At Dallas transmission lines were damaged, delaying street car traffic and other work for several hours.

WACO, May 26.—Wind of cyclonic proportions blew down nine houses in the south part of Hubbard early Tuesday morning. A church building and a house close by, two miles east of Hubbard, were also blown down. Four of the houses in Hubbard were badly damaged by the wind and heavy hail.

To Boot.

Jack—So your father demurred at first because he didn't want to lose you.

Ethel—Yes; but I won his consent. I told him that he need not lose me. We could live with him, and so he would not only have me, but a son-in-law to boot.

"H'm! I don't like that expression, 'to boot.'"

DEVICE FOR MAKING CHANGE

Machine Replaces Twelve Hundred Employees in Subway in New York.

A mechanical slot machine for the changing of dimes, quarters and half dollars has been adopted by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company to replace the 1200 persons now occupying change booths at the entrance to New York's subways.

An official test showed that the machines could change the larger coins quicker than human hands, according to James S. Dowle, assistant general manager of the company and the inventor of the machine, which acts as a counterfeit money detector as bad coins are held and no change dropped.

No provision has been made to change paper money or to obtain a five cent piece for five pennies. While a few passengers appeared at the 74th street stations with bills and pennies the rest found the machine both novel and expedient. The new device will be installed as rapidly as possible, according to the transit officials.

WANT OLD FEELING WITH U. S. ESTABLISHED AGAIN

TOKIO, May 28.—Leaders in every party of both Houses of the Japanese Diet at a special meeting today pledged themselves to work for the restoration of the "old amity" between the United States and Japan.

The resolutions adopted by the leaders expressed the belief that the exclusion clause which applies to Japanese in the new American immigration law, did not represent the true spirit of the American people and charged Congress with "attacking the friendly relations between the two countries."

IS MARRIAGE DEATH OF INDIVIDUALITY?

"I think it's terrible." That is what Charlie Chaplin says of marriage.

According to his estimate "it is as interesting and inspirational as a prune factory." He considers it "the quickest and surest death to individuality known to humanity." He sees no prospect for the married but endless boredom. Nothing is more pitiful, he says, than a couple who declare that although they have been married for several years, they are happy. Obviously, he does not believe them.

One cannot help being impatient with a person like Charlie Chaplin who starts an argument he is not willing to carry to its logical conclusion.

If Mr. Chaplin does not believe in marriage, then he most certainly does believe in free love.

Unquestionably, he does not believe that men and women are ready to live like the angels, that they are prepared for a state of heaven in which there is "no marriage nor giving in marriage."

In other words, he sanctions free love without saying so. And thereby he adds the weight of his influence—and undoubtedly what he says does have an influence in some quarters—to the all-too-general trend of popular thinking in favor of abolishing the marriage tie.

Mr. Chaplin probably is unfit for marriage. Therefore, he should not lay down the law for the average man.

By his own confession he is queer, if not abnormal.

What normal man goes to pieces in the midst of an important task?

Yet that is precisely what Mr. Chaplin does, according to his own statement. In the very middle of a picture he often disappears for days. During those periods he says he does not know what happens to him; that "something seems to snap," so he walks right out and leaves director, actors and producers in the lurch.

Mr. Chaplin permits himself to display the eccentricities of genius. He is a law unto himself in his profession, and judging from his utterances, he is a law unto himself in love.

Because he is lawless, why should he recommend his own conduct to the masses of men and women? Why should he attempt to discredit the fine devotion of tens of thousands of married couples in all parts of these United States?

Why should he assume that the majority of men and women expect nothing from each other except amusement, because that is what he expects from married life?

An interview with an exotic character like Charlie Chaplin on the subject of women and marriage may make "good reading," but it does not elicit a wholesome philosophy.

A man like Charlie Chaplin does not understand, probably cannot understand, that marriage is primarily for the sake of children, and secondarily, for the mutual service, the husband to the wife and the wife to the husband.

He sees it only from the standpoint of personal caprice, not from the viewpoint of the building of a home and a family.

It is an individual matter with him—and it has no relation to the state. If you would suggest that capable fatherhood is a patriotic service, he doubtless would have a good laugh at your expense. In any event, he would think you hopelessly mid-Victorian, or too cowardly to follow the trend of free-thinking of which he is a conspicuous exponent.

While Charlie Chaplin is feeling sorry for the "happily married" probably some of them are feeling sorry for him.

Indeed, they have reason to extend sympathy to a self-confessed fatalist, who declares that "none of us really amounts to a damn."

No wholesome, inspiring philosophy can emanate from the mind of a man who feels as he does about men and women. Therefore, he does himself a real injustice when he attempts to express his opinions about love and marriage, never having known a normal married life, and perhaps, never a normal love.

Charlie Chaplin's realm, plainly, is not social philosophy. His function is to make us laugh, and forget our troubles. And for that particular service, so unique in the history of stage humor, we must be everlastingly grateful to him.—Edith Johnson in the Daily Oklahoman.

BAILEYBORO ITEMS.

Baileyboro commencement exercises were held Wednesday evening, Thursday and Thursday evening.

The grammar school program for Wednesday night was as follows: Playlet—"Sweet Brier Rose"—First Five Grades.

Duet—"The Little Old Log School"—Trixie Henderson, Opal Blackshear. May Pole Dance—High School Girls. Commencement—Almon Sherman. Grammar to High School Program.

Those receiving grammar school diplomas were Ruby Johnson, Gladys Harvey, Ellen Coffman, Minnie Belle White (valedictorian), Warren Morris, Charlie Coffman, Earl Sherman, and Velma Duncan.

The Thursday morning exercises were opened by the awarding of the medals, diplomas of honor and school prizes.

The candidates made their announcements and quite a few interesting talks were made.

The basket dinner and barbecue was sufficient for all present and one candidate from Muleshoe was heard to make this remark: "Such girls as these might make us Muleshoe fellows wild."

The ball games in the afternoon were witnessed by a large crowd.

Thursday night the high school pupils staged a four-act plan, "An Arizona Cowboy."

Judging from all comments heard, our commencement exercises were very much enjoyed throughout the different programs and games planned for our entertainment.

FORD SUCCEEDS IN PUBLICATION FIELD.

One of the fastest growing publications is Henry Ford's Dearborn Independent. A year ago its circulation was 270,000. Now 630,000 copies per week are sold, and Ford expects the figure to pass the million mark before the end of 1924.

In addition, Ford has seven trade publications and house organs with a combined circulation of nearly a million a month. Maybe Henry sometimes wonders if the printing press is mightier than the Ford.

GLASS IS MANUFACTURED OUT OF MANY CHEMICALS

"Most persons think that glass is nothing more than melted glass sand," says C. V. Gowing, manager of the glass plant of the American Glass company, at Ada, Oklahoma.

"Glass sand is only the base of the material of which glass is made, many other elements and chemicals being used in making the finished glass. About one-third of the finished product is this glass sand, which is about 99 percent pure silica.

"In making good crystal glass, the following materials, brought from the places named, are used, in proportion for the complete formulae:

"Silica sand, mined near Ada.

"Soda ash of alkali base, from Michigan.

"Crude nitrate of soda, from Chile, South America.

"Potash from European countries.

"White refined arsenic, from France.

"Red oxide of lead, from Missouri.

"Powdered and granulated manganese, from several points in the United States and Europe.

"White oxide of antimony, from Europe.

"White borax, from Nevada.

"Powdered bone ash, from Ohio.

"Kryolith, from Greenland.

"Fluorspar, from Kentucky.

"Feldspar, from Tennessee and North Carolina.

"In the making of opal glass, much of the last three items named are used for coloring matter. For colored glass the following chemicals are used:

"Green oxide of nickel.

"White oxide of zinc.

"Oxide chrome green.

"Cobalt.

"Oxide of copper.

"White oxide of tin, and many other oxides of various shades and tints."

Glass sand, as it comes from the mines, is a white, finely granulated sand, which appears much like granulated sugar, except that it is not as white as sugar. This is found in sandstone form and mined as any other kind of rock.

The rock then is run through crushers which pulverize it, ready to be mixed for the furnaces. The sand in rock form is crushed easily, being much like lumps of salt which have become damp and later dried.

When large quantities of lead are mixed with the glass, the finished product is less brittle, and does not break as easily as when less lead is used. This also adds to the weight of the glass, and in some instances, gives it a very slate blue-green tinge.

Addition of soda ash and nitrates, to the glass sand, makes less heat required to melt the sand. In fact, the glass sand, as it comes from the ground cannot be melted by any ordinary heat developed in a blast furnace. The other chemicals act as a flux to the sand, and it then is melted at a temperature of about 1,250 degrees.

Besides cut glass, the plant at Ada produces great quantities of globes for electric lighting fixtures, with especial lines of globes for white way lamps and street lighting fixtures.

One of the unique products of the plant is a line of glass burial caskets, ranging from the small size for children, to the full adult size. This is a patented process, controlled by the Ada company. Enormous machines, producing as high as seventy tons pressure, are required to press the glass into the moulds, making the casket in two pieces—the casket and lid. This, with a cement for the grooved lid, makes an air-tight casket which cannot deteriorate.

It's not the weight of a piece of glass that makes price or the quality, according to experts in the glass cutting department of the plant at Ada.

Weight is added to the glass by the addition of lead, when it is melted. In making glass a certain amount of lead is necessary, but in the raw material, for glass which is to be cut in some instances, more lead is added than for other kinds of glass.

Equally as good glass can be made by the addition of alkalis and nitrates, instead of lead, and this is not as heavy as the "lead glass."

The real criterion of quality in cut glass is the sparkle and brilliancy of the glass and the angles of the deep cuts, these experts say, and not the weight.

MEMORIES OF THE SOUTHLAND.

By Geneva Sager.

For The Journal.

I don't feel much like working, nor I don't feel much like play;

For today my thoughts are roaming to the Southland far away;

I know the robin's singing in the trees away down there,

And the sweet perfume of roses is scattered in the air.

Tho' there's miles and miles between us, somehow I hear the call

Of the friends we left behind us; I seem to need them all,

Just to talk about the little things that people always find

To pass the time of day away, it seems to ease one's mind.

To talk the matter over with an old friend tried and true;

It always seems to help you, the trouble turn aside;

So today I miss them, and I cannot settle down

To the new friends and the new ways in this little Western town.

I can hear the birds a-singing, I can see the old oak tree

That stood before my doorway in the summer sheltered me;

And the swing, where played the children; I miss each little one

That gathered in the evening with their laughter and their fun.

Across the many miles I've come, they seem to beckon o'er.

The old friends and the old things, and I miss them more and more.

So I settle down to day dreams, like one within asleep,

While the memories of the Southland, today my vigils keep.
