THE Editor's Corner...

By Joe Harrison

Spur citizens who are undecided about the White River Water District election coming up the 17th, missed a golden opportunity to hear arguments for and against the feasibility of the project Tuesday night.

All 12 of the directors, representing Crosbyton, Post, Ralls and Spur were gathered at East Ward for the purpose of answering questions and discussing the $4,000,000 lake project.

Only a handful of people, outside of the directors, were present. However, a lively discussion was carried out.

The meeting was preceded by an earlier one attended by the Spur City Council. Immediately after the regular director's meeting, the City Council adjourned to the City Hall where they voted unanimously to support the White River Municipal Water District Directors. The Spur directors of the district, George Gabriel, Lynn Buzbee and E. B. Blumberg, had announced earlier they were 100 per cent for the lake project.

Several arguments against the lake were offered at the meetings. One being that the project is not feasible as it now stands unless the oil companies—who have verbally agreed to purchase water at the rate of 25 cents per 1,000 gallons—will sign a contract so stating before the bond election is held.

Ransom Galloway, representing the bonding companies expressed the opinion that the oil companies would not sign such a contract until the bond election is passed making the lake a reality.

Galloway also explained that the District would not face an indebtedness until the bonds were actually sold, and observed that the bonding companies and the government would not classify the lake project feasible if the oil companies did not sign a contract. He also pointed out that the unlimited ad valorem tax would make the project unfeasible if it exceeded 50 cents.

The engineers estimate the tax at 12 cents per $100 valuation on a $22,000,000 rendition. The engineers also estimate that based on current figures, the tax would be lowered to 8 cents in 1970; to 6 cents in 1980 and to 4 cents in 1990. The tax, as the current report shows, would have to raise $25,700 for the district in the beginning.

Other opposing factions point out that the law, under which the district was formed, makes no provision for equality among the four cities other than a Board of Equalization.

The directors defended the law by showing it was similar to the law that established 17 other such water districts.

It seems the project is receiving some opposition in Ralls. Ralls has had engineers give them a report on their supply of underground water, and they estimate they have at least a 20 year supply.

If Ralls does have only a 20 year supply of underground water, some of us may live to see the day they will be out.

Our old press is acting up, so you might get a paper with greasy fingerprints on it. The gears are worn, and the timing is thrown off just enough to cause a headache. Hope it gets better.

Saw Max Gabriel out at the golf course the other day. He was running to get in shape for the Greenbelt Bowl game scheduled for Childress, August 16. Max is due to report August 11, and will play for the West.

Edwards-Kelley will meet the Lions and K-P will play West Side. THIS WEEK'S SCHEDULE: Thursday, August 1

Rotary vs. Rickels, 6:30 p.m. East Side vs. North Side, 8:30 p.m.

In Thursday night play, Rotary dumped Edwards-Kelley 18-2 behind the 1-hit pitching by left-hander Ragan. This was Edwards-Kelley's worst setback of the year. Hitting both Ford and Jones freely, Rotary scored in every inning but the third. Edwards-Kelley could do absolutely nothing with Ragan's blazer or his change up. He struck out 16 batters.

Ed-Kelley 010 010-2 1 5 Rotary 350 64x-18 8 2 WP-Ragan, Loser-Ford. HR-Ball, Ragan (Rotary).

Collett Services Held Tuesday Funeral services for James Hamilton (Hamp) Collett, 73, were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday afternoon in the First Methodist Church.

Collett died at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in Memorial Hospital, Clovis.

He lived for many years on the S. M. Swenson Ranch in Dickens County, Texas and then for 13 years on the Bell Ranch north of Tucuman, N. M. He was born in Hamilton County, Tex., Aug. 6, 1883.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Edna Smith, Clovis; Mrs. Estelle Thomason and Mrs. Nell Luker, Dallas; one son, Morris, Fort Worth; five grandchildren; five great grandchildren; three brothers, Gus, Lubbock; Fred, Hereford, Tex.; Sidney, Hobbs; and four sisters.

He was a member of the Methodist church.

REVIVAL SCHEDULED AT STEELE HILL The Steele Hill Church of Christ meeting will begin Friday (August 2) and will continue through August 11. Evening services will begin at 8:30, Sunday morning service at 10:30.

M. J. Cunningham, Dallas, will be the speaker.

Caroline West of Lubbock returned home after a visit with her aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gruben.

Dickens counties, according to Downey.

The proposed mill would be semi-portable and will process from 200 to 300 tons of ore per day. It costs approximately $600,000.

Farmers and ranchers are requested to bring 25 to 50 lb. uranium samples in boxes or tightly woven sacks rather than in loosely woven burlap bags. Myles Drilling Co. will be used as a clearing house and ore will be assayed there.

If the individual mines his own ore he will be paid on an assay basis. This company is under the scrutiny of the Atomic Energy Commission by whom the rate of pay is set.

Downey thinks there's more than enough ore here to open a plant if the people are interested enough to bring in samples.

He would prefer that samples be from sandstone formations rather than clay. He has half enough ore tonnage already assured.

He says the people who have their land leased to an oil company, should go ahead and bring their samples in for a sure something can be worked out.

This will be Spur's only chance for the ore here to be processed as there isn't a large enough quantity to warrant the government to come in and mine it.

Seal-Coat Bids To Be Let Friday; City Accelerates Bond Payments

The bid for placing a seal-coat over present paving will be let Friday night, according to city officials.

The seal-coat will cost an estimated $10,000 to $11,000. The City Council has taken this action to preserve present paving in an effort to protect the investment represented by paved streets.

Two officials of West Texas Utilities met with the Council in their Monday night meeting, and arrangements were made to accelerate the payment of outstanding electric bonds. The City has paid $67,000 toward retiring the bonds, held jointly by the Spur Security Bank and the Farmer's and Merchant's Bank and Citizens National Bank, both of Abilene.

Payments on the bonds were made possible by revenues received from the Enterprise engine that was returned to the company, and from damages from Enterprise, and also from liquidation of inventory to West Texas Utilities. By accelerating the retirement of the bonds, the City

150 Are Typed To Complete VFW Auxiliary Project

The blood-typing program for Spur Memorial Hospital was completed Saturday. The project was sponsored by the VFW Auxiliary.

One hundred and fifty persons were typed this year. This compares to 425 persons typed in the last two years. This year's total is credited to people being out of town on vacation, and the fact that the typing service has been offered for three years.

Persons typed ranged in age from two to 81 years old, and included all races.

"The Auxiliary would like to express their sincere thanks to the people of Spur and the surrounding communities for making this program a success," according to Mrs. Buddy Wright, Auxiliary president.

"Also, we are grateful to the Hospital staff for their cooperation. Our special thanks to Miss Jones, the technician who gave so generously of her time to do the typing, and others for their work in promulgating the project," Mrs. Wright continues.

Mrs. E. B. Blumberg was chairman of the blood-typing committee.

Mrs. J. C. Keen had as guests over the week end, Mrs. P. H. Gates of Floydada, Mrs. Oscar Sowell and W. N. Gates of El Paso.

City Council Supports White River Directors

Spur Directors 100% For Project; City Council Vote Is Unanimous

The Spur City Council voted in a meeting Tuesday night to support the directors of the White River Municipal Water District.

The motion was made by Loyd Roberson and seconded by Jackson East. The vote was unanimous. Only minutes earlier the Spur directors of the White River Water District had announced they were one hundred per cent for the lake project. Lynn Buzbee acted as spokesman for the directors.

The Council meeting followed a two hour session with the directors of the district and committee.

There had been some conjecture about where the directors stood in their feelings about the Senator Yarbrough is a Representative of Travis County Post 76 of Austin.

Spur Directors 100% For Project; City Council Vote Is Unanimous

However, after recent meetings with Ransom Galloway, bonding company representative, the directors announced they would back the project.

During the dinner meeting Tuesday night, Galloway assured the directors that the bonds could not be sold unless the oil companies contracted to purchase water from the District. Galloway maintained that if the oil companies refused to sign contracts after the bonds are voted, making the lake a reality, then the bonds could not be sold, because the project would no longer be feasible with revenue from the ad valorem tax and water sales to member cities as the only supporting revenue.

Each director at the meeting was given an opportunity to comment about the current problems. One expressed the feeling that should the approaching bond election be defeated, any attempt to build a similar dam in the future would far exceed $4,000,000.

Another pointed out that if the election be defeated the odds were high that another district might obtain water rights for a similar project below the current proposed dam site, wiping out the chance that a dam be built in the area.

Another problem that received a major share of the discussion was the equalization problem. At present, there are three members of the District Board of Equalization. Spur is not represented. The board has been asked to render a $22,000,000 valuation on property in the district. There has been disagreement as to how this equalization should be done. Some have advocated that an appraiser be hired to render the district valuation. However, the district does not have sufficient funds to hire an appraiser. Thus, qualified men from each town are assigned the task of appraising property at 100 per cent of market value. Then the property will be rendered at about 80 per cent of market value.

Following the meeting, the directors attended an open meeting at East Ward School for the purpose of answering any questions the people of Spur might wish to ask. A very small crowd turned out.

Raymond Smith has returned to Spur after spending eight weeks in Waco attending Baylor University. Mr. Smith studied with a group of fifty-seven other science teachers under a program sponsored by the National Science Institute.

Houses Needed For Teachers

With the opening of school only about a month off, several new teachers will be moving into Spur. B. G. Nunley, Supt, asks that people having houses for rent please contact him at High School and give him the information.

Work is almost complete on all the buildings. There has been some windows broken during the summer with rocks and BB guns. Parents are urged to caution their children about this. These windows will need to be replaced which places the burden on the taxpayer and may cause the school to neglect some phase of the child's learning because of the money spent on the repair of windows and other things.

GENERATIONS OF SERVICE!

Way back when the old familiar corner gas lamp pierced the darkness of night on our streets, this bank was already faithfully serving the families of this community. In the years between, time has wrought many changes, but none in our steadfast devotion to the best interests of our depositors, now as always, our first consideration.

Way Back When

The first free schools in the county, started in the fall of 1891 and ending in 1892.

Lon Atkins of Quanah, Texas was the contractor that built the courthouse and first jail in Dickens, Texas, started 1892 (September) and completed in May 1893.

In Oct. 1889 a three wagon caravan from Erath County and from around Duffau, Texas headed in to the little known West, seeking a new home situation for them and their families, namely Lum Lancaster, Joe Jackson and T. E. Rucker. Lancaster and Jackson brought along a small herd of cattle owned by them, while T. E. Rucker had only his wife and children.

Joe Jackson and T. E. Rucker found what they were looking for East of what later became Afton, Texas. Lancaster went on into Motley county to settle down. Rucker sold his homestead claim shortly to H. T. Garner, then returned to Erath county, while Joe Jackson and Garner remained to help organize Dickens county. H. T. Garner became the second Dickens county treasurer. Incidentally, Joe Jackson, T. E. Rucker and H. T. Garner lived until they died in Dickens county, while Lancaster was a citizen of Motley county until his death.

Joe Jackson's children, at least those that came West in 1889, knew little of the history of his life's movements. Maybe they knew as much or more than any one else knew, for lots of men lived in the present, rather than in the past. I may have the facts sort of mixed, but somewhere, some how, I learned that Uncle Joe Jackson had lived at one time in Parker county, Texas and knew the Patton families there, then the Pattons moved to Ellis county, and later re-contacted Joe Jackson in Erath county. In 1889 Jackson moved to Dickens County, and about 1900 the Pattons moved to Motley county, where they knew or remet Joe Jackson, their neighbor of former years. Uncle Joe Jackson was a fine man, that talked little about himself, either past or present. I possibly knew him as well, possibly better, than his own children knew him. At least, I knew that Joe Jackson followed the Green family into the West by only a few weeks, rather than by months or years. The emigrants in the 1880's that brought cattle to the West were on the road for weeks with the cattle, they were slow movers, and became the weakest link in the chain.

Above mention was made of Clad Bradford settling where Glenn is located. John A. Green, my father, was a surveyor, and uncovered two very fine sections of land laying north of Glenn that had never been surveyed, blocked or numbered. Those two sections had to be treated as scrap land owned by the State of Texas, but subject to be pre-empted, or homesteaded, rather than being sold as school land, so my father put homeseekers on them, namely Clad Bradford, J. J. Davis, George Davis, J. M. Jones, Frank Yeats, W. J. Duncan and C. C. Reagan. J. D. (Jeff) Harkey, the first sheriff; J. D. (Jeff) Kutch, the first assessor, and J. M. Jones, the first Dickens County treasurer, never did live in old Espuela, as the balance of the county office als did. Harkey imported B. G. Warswick as his office deputy, and Warswick did stay in Espuela as long as it was the official residence of the county.

The Spur Ranch crew, 1891, was Fred Horsebrough, the ranch manager, Joe Stokes, supt., H. P. (Handy) Cole, wagon boss, Tol Merriman, Martin Palmore, Joe Humphries, George Bradley, Jess Pollard, Sam Simms, Tuck Pendley, (Long) Britt, Jake Raines, Frank Walker, Bill Bradley, Edd Taylor Cook.

Hayfield crew. Cliff Abbott, old man Borrow, Louis Sowell, Ab Sowell, Bill Bonner, Charlie Sowell, Malone, Bill Baker.

Trail crew. Edd Carter, boss, Jim Gilmore, Edd and Jim Cogsdill, Sam Hayhearse, Charlie Humphries, Hendrix, Bill and Big Sid Young, J. A. Bird, cook, Scotch Bill Elliott belonged in Cole's branding crew.

T. H. Gilmore and Nancy Cooks at headquarters, Louis Fenmore, the staple driver around the headquarters, and Samuel G. Flook, the bookkeeper.

Shorty Wilkerson ran the Spur store.

The three Sowell brothers belonged on the farms mostly, though Louis Sowell at one time was assessor of Dickens county, and lived around Afton. A few years ago one of the Sowell girls came back to the old settler's saure.

There were two of the Zinn brothers, Bruce and Albert Zinn that lived around Afton, but did not show up for eight or ten years after the county settled up more sort of like Pete Hext, the Starkes and the Cobb's, but hardly in the real pioneer class. Sure they are pioneers now since there so few of the first bunch left.

There are others that I might name, but I feel like this is possibly more than you may want. Should you care to quiz me, I will gladly give you any information left in my mental think box.

I will add it, but an outline of my life will be of much less interest than you might imagine, really colorless and drab.

Mrs. Dear Mrs. Bateman: I am a native Texan, but Texas has produced possibly more monstrosities than any other state in the Union. A monstrosity is sort of an unnatural animal. I was born at Lampasas Sulphur Spgs. November 19, 1874, but my family soon moved to the Brazos River region near the South East corner of Bosque County, Texas. But every summer for ten or twelve years the family went back to Lampasas as a health resort and vacation. Travel was by wagon for no railroads or highways were there then. The distance wasn't so great, being 75 or 80 miles, but the trip required three days, and the camping in the open a couple of nights. There was no fences there then, other than an occasional small field, usually fenced with rails, or rock fences. Our route led us rather across the grain country, that is, it didn't lay up or down the water courses, but rather across them, and across the long ribbon like, rocky, wooded ridges that abounded there between the rivers and creeks. Our camping places were definitely set, being governed mostly because of water. We always nooned no matter which way we went the second day's travel at a spring of water that boiled up through the limestone rocks on top of a long flat, wooded table land, and as far as I knew the only water up there, still. The country as a whole was well watered. In the afternoon if Lampasas bound, we dropped off that rocky table land, and crossed the Leon River at Gatesville, and passed into a smoother prairie region, where we spent the second night at Arnold's Spring, not far from where Table rock creek empties into the cowhouse. Arnold's Ranchhouse was nearby. It was a lovely country, grass was abundant and cattle were everywhere. The Arnolds Spring Camp was a thriller to me, as the cattle came in for water, through all the hours of the night. The moonlight, the cattle, the hills in the distance produced a scene that lingers in the memory. I often long to once again travel that route of yesterday, but 70 odd years has uprooted and changed the scene. The country is now fenced, the livestock is gone, as is the grass where ever the plow could hold sway. Towns and villages dot the scene now, half the family sleeps beneath another sod, so I have not gone, but ancient memories remain to please and to tease me. If all children could have and retain as sweet pleasant memories as mine has been, then their memories would be an incomparable joy to them.

In the meantime, I was growing up and needed to be put in a school. I entered my first school house when nine years old and did not know one letter from another, that might not have been so bad, but in those days, Texas only had three months of free schooling, then you were out of school for nine long months and soon forgot most you had learned in the three month term. I went five 3-month school terms to learn my ABC's and the multiplication table up to twelve. Then my family came west where 7 8, and even nine month terms were a reality, but by then I was a gawky, overgrown boy, that though he already knew about everything worth knowing, so I have spent the balance of my life trying to learn a little about some of the things I thought I already knew, but it has been a slow go, but let's talk about something else, in the hope that it may be more interesting to you.

My father left Bosque county the first day of Sept., 1889, with his family, personal effects, and a small bunch of cattle. It took 21 days to reach our destination in Stonewall county. You might say we left the settlement at Albany, and excepting the little village of Haskell, Texas, which we passed through, we saw no house in sight of our road, until we reached Stonewall county, some 60 miles from Albany. My father erected the first residence ever built in Aspermont, Texas, but with our yen for property, we left Stonewall County, evidently, to keep from becoming oil rich in our old age. That is the kind of luck that has followed the Green footsteps, as far back as any trace of a record can be found.

In 1893 I went from Dickens to Childress to send a telegram and only saw six houses in sight of my road. People thought in those days the country was scarcely worth having, thought a man would starve to death trying to make a living farming, and the only bright spot in the picture is at times, I have gotten a little hungry. Still, never starved to death.

Sincerely,
Duff Green

Long Has Audience With Pope Pius; Visits Colosseum, Cathedral, Ruins

Thousands of American tourists are attracted to "the land of the boot" every year to catch a look at the remains of the ancient Roman World. American tourists spent over $12 million in Italy alone last year—more than in any other European country.

This Eternal City compasses within its walls, the life of centuries. The Rome of Caesar shows its ancient ruins, majestic monuments of the past which will never be forgotten, and invites one to sit in meditation among the remains of the law courts and forums, to give him a vision of what the greatest civilization in the world was able to do in the day of its power.

Among the ruins in Caesar's Rome, the Amphitheatrum Flavium, or Colosseum, was our first attraction. Situated only a few blocks from the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, this masterpiece of Roman architecture stands to manifest the destruction of both time and enemy. Here Emperor Nero, considered by some to have been Rome's greatest ruler, passed his leisure hours feeding wild Christian Christians to hungry lions.

As we stood in the locale where Christianity received one of its hardest blows, it seemed as if we could hear the cheers of the blood thirsty crowds, and the dying cries of martyred Christians as in days of long ago.

The Fountains of Trevi are a must for any Roman visitor. Here where Hollywood found its locale for the film, "Three Coins in the Fountain", so the story goes, anyone who pitches a coin over his left shoulder is destined to return to Rome. This provides many a Roman youngster with ice cream and candy for surely there is no Roman pixie that comes to clean out the fountain in the middle of the night.

The Rome of the Popes opens the gates to beautiful churches, a reminder of the everlasting meaning of the spirit of the unbroken continuity of the Christian faith through the darkest hours of history.

No Roman holiday is complete without seeing St. Peter's Cathedral, one of the greatest manifestations of Roman architectural genius. This gigantic mass of stone and gold is a work of perfect art from the tip of its 437 foot dome to the base of its massive foundation. It contains works of such artists as Michael Angelo, Raphael, and Revelli.

Originally built by Emperor Constantine in the first century, plundered by thieves in the third century and nearly destroyed by fire in 1823, St. Paul's stands today on the place which is supposed to be the sepulchre of the Saint. Not knowing the standards or critique for good art, but in the opinion of this unskilled writer, St. Paul's is still the most beautiful church in the world.

We did have our audience with the Pope, and was almost surprised at his graciousness. It seems that at his age, with the responsibilities he carries and the position he holds, he might be a little stilted and formal. We found the case to be quite the contrary. He greeted us, welcomed us to Rome, and then told us of his great desire to see all the people of the world unite under the bound of peace and love, with one goal in mind—that of making the world a safe place to live.

Pope Pius XII is without a doubt one of the most brilliant men in the world today. While we were there, he spoke to us in four languages: English, German, Italian, and Spanish. He speaks seven languages fluently and reads four others. Even we who are not of the Catholic faith must sit in awe and say, "What manner of man is this?"

Next week we cross Switzerland to spend a few days skiing, and attempt to climb the "Matterhorn", one of the highest mountains in the Swiss Alps. This should yield many more rich experiences in the travels of the "Three Cowboys for Peace."

The farm tractors, improperly handled and used, can become a killer. Farm activities are now at a peak and this means that tractors and farm machinery must move over highways to and from the fields. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council passes on this suggestion—courtesy makes friends and prevents accidents. Pull over for faster traffic to pass on the highway—it only takes a minute and might save a life.

Mr. Wilbur Tree and son, Gary, of Los Angeles, California, will return to their home Wednesday.

Gregory Peck, Lauren Bacall Score In Romantic Comedy, 'Designing Woman'

Advance reports have it audiences will be hard put to count up all the laughs in "Designing Woman" starring Gregory Peck, Lauren Bacall and Dolores Gray. The new M-G-M CinemaScope and color offering will be the next Sunday show at the Palace Theatre.

The story tells of a leading New York sportswriter, Mike Hagen, (Peck), who covers a golf tournament in Hollywood, falls in love with Marilla (Lauren Bacall), marries her after a whirlwind two-day courtship and on the plane back East discovers that his wife is one of New York's top fashion designers.

Two conflicts give this impetuous marriage a rocky start. One stems from the vivid contrast between the respective worlds of husband and wife. When Mike holds a poker-playing session for his cauliflower-eared cronies at the apartment at the same time that Marilla entertains her Broadway-wise friends at a play-reading the results approach bedlam.

When he takes Marilla to a prize fight, she's the best-dressed fan there but the one with the weakest stomach. When in turn Marilla takes him to one of her fashion shows, he terms it a "pagan ritual."

The second conflict arises in Mike's attempt to prevent Marilla from learning about his former showgirl friend, Lori Shannon (Dolores Gray). The situations in which the principals of this triangle meet and attempt to throw each other off the scent, with nobody fooling anybody, lead to uproarious dialogue and action.

Highway News ...

Word was received last week that Anna Stanley, daughter of Roy Lee Stanley of Post got married recently.

For A Slim-Dandy Barbecue
Use Sauce Low in Calories

Who doesn't drool at the savory aroma and tangy flavor of the cook-out? It's part of summertime's finest fun. And here's good news: weight watchers who haven't gotten to first base with barbecue can stop sniffing their neighbors' smoke now and start cooking up their own storm.

Dieticians have come up with a low-calorie sauce which, brushed generously over lean meats such as chicken, will turn out barbecue guaranteed not to go to waste.

Saccharin gives it just that touch of needed sweetness, but without adding a single calorie. Although 400 times sweeter than sugar, it is calorie-free; can be used for any summertime sweetening to avoid heat-producing calories.

Barbecue Sauce

Mix in a quart saucepan:
1 saccharin tablet (1/4 grain)
3 Tbsp. cider vinegar
3 Tbsp. butter or margarine
1 Tbsp. grated onion
1 1/2 tsp. finely cut garlic
3 Tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup water
1/2 tsp. paprika
1/4 cup tomato paste
1/2 tsp. chili powder
3 drops Tabasco sauce
1 Tbsp. bottled mustard

Cook and stir until mixture boils. Lower heat and cook five minutes longer. Use to barbecue lean pork chops, hamburgers, chicken and frankfurters. Makes about two cups. Calories in 1/4 cup: 46.

Better Quail Season Expected For This Year

Right now conditions point to the best quail season Texas has known for years, according to W. J. Cutbirth, Assistant Executive Secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission. He has just returned from a trip through East Texas, studying first hand the effect of the hatchery program now under way.

At the same time wardens all over Texas are reporting to the Austin office of the Commission that the quail crop this year has been exceptionally good. Favorable weather condition and improvement of habitat by land owners is given credit for the increased crop, according to Cutbirth.

The Commission hatchery at Tyler has some 19,000 quail on hand to be released by clubs or individuals. More than 11,000 birds already have been released this year.

"There are still some birds available to land owners with proper feed and cover," the Assistant Executive Secretary said. These birds are sold at 50 cents each to land owners who can qualify. Applications should be sent to the Austin office of the Commission. Wardens then will be sent to inspect the land area and conditions. After his approval the birds will be shipped out for release.

The state is producing three different types of quail this year. One is the North East Texas bird, for lease in the East Texas area. The other is the Southwestern bird, for release in the more arid areas. The other is the Coturnix, the new Oriental quail that is now being introduced in the state on an experimental basis.

Egg producers are cautioned by Ben Wormell, extension poultry husbandman, that nicarbazin should not be used to control coccidiosis in laying flocks. Repeated tests have shown that it drastically reduces egg production and has other effects which are undesirable. It should be used only as the manufacturer directs.

It's The Same Proposition!

IF YOU APPROVED THE WHITE RIVER WATER-DISTRICT LAST OCTOBER YOU WILL VOTE FOR THE BOND ISSUE SATURDAY, AUG. 17

THE SAME WATER RATE!

Before the confirmation election last October 27 setting up the White River Water District, the taxpayers of Crosbyton, Ralls, Post and Spur were informed in a printed brochure that water from the proposed reservoir would cost the cities 30c per 1,000 gallons. Added to this would be the cost of distribution. This still remains the maximum rate that would be charged the cities if the bond issue is approved August 17. There has been no change in this figure since the first estimates were made.

TAX RATE THE SAME!

You were told that the average home owner in the four cities would pay a tax of approximately $11.25 per year, less than $1.00 per month. This figure remains about the same. If 30c per 1,000 gallons is charged for water, the tax rate will be 12 cents on the $100 valuation. Valuations will be about 80 per cent of actual value. For instance, if you have a $10,000 home it will be valued at approximately $8,000. With a tax rate of 12 cents, your annual tax would be $9.60. The engineer estimates this tax can be done away with completely in four or five years.

HERE'S WHAT HAPPENS

You are probably wondering how the above is possible, since the bond issue is $4,000,000, rather than the first estimate of $2,500,000. The answer is simple—your directors have found a source of revenue which will take care of the increase in cost of the project. Oil companies operating in Garza and Kent Counties have been contacted, and they have said they will contract to buy enough water from the White River Reservoir if it is built to make the payments on that $1,500,000 additional cost. The oil companies would use this water to flood their wells to make them produce more, a common practice in oil fields where water is available. With these oil companies contracting for the surplus water in the lake, it puts the proposition right back where it was last October as far as the four cities are concerned—it will cost the cities no more than we first anticipated.

AN IRONCLAD GUARANTEE!

Voters have an ironclad guarantee that the project won't cost them any more than this, too. Their guarantee is that the bond companies have said flatly that they cannot buy more than $2,500,000 of the bonds. If something should happen and the contracts with the oil companies are not signed, then the dam cannot be built even though the bonds have been approved, simply because the bonds cannot be sold. This is about as good a guarantee as a voter could have in seeing that his interests are protected.

LET'S GIVE THEM A CHANCE

Let's give the directors of the White River Water District a chance to build the White River Dam and reservoir, and the supply lines to the four cities. They can do nothing unless we approve the bond issue. If the bond issue is approved, then they can go to the oil companies with contracts. If the contracts are secured, the directors can then go to a government agency to sell the remaining $1,500,000 in bonds. Should the directors fail in securing these contracts and selling the additional bonds, then the dam will not be built. Let's give them a chance and VOTE FOR the bonds August 17.

Last Wednesday afternoon this community received a good rain. Pace's and Martin's got 2 1/2 inches, Putman's and Olivares's got 1 1/2 inches, Ray George reported 2 inches and Jimmie Hahn said he couldn't tell it had rained at his place. Because of the rain the Putman's had guests for supper that night. Mrs. Bill Pierce of Lubbock and her sister, Darlene Andrews of Eunice, New Mexico were trying to go to Crosbyton on the dirt road but missed the turn and came down the Putman's new road. They stuck in the mud and went to the Putman's and called a wench truck to get them out. The truck worked until 11:00 that night and couldn't get them out, so the women came back to town with the driver and spent the night with their aunt, Mrs. I. D. King.
