The Conception And Birth Of Dickens County

By Ella Warwick Smith
The first permanent settler on Dickens County soil was J. H. Parrish. He had a store near Soldier Mound, and his customers were buffalo hunters and Indians. Parrish came here in 1870 and married Miss Nerty Hunt in 1875 on June 19. In 1876 a son was born to them; the first white child born in Dickens County.

John Hensley and L. A. (Fate) Wilson left Jack County and came here and settled at the head of Salt Creek, bringing along several herds of cattle and a few cowboys. They are thought to be the first cowmen in this country and they settled in 1878 on this part of the Brazos River.

Among the first cowboys was Will Hyatt, who in later years was to have the first livery stable in Dickens City and when Spur started he moved here with his stable and was one of the first businessmen in Spur. His widow, Mrs. Betty Hyatt, is still living.

Hensley branded "22" on the left side of his cattle and Wilson's brand was the Paddle. Both of these brands are familiar landmarks to this day.

Southeast of Parish about five miles, J. C. Davis came in 1879 and built a store. He was the father of Sol Davis, one of the first businessmen in Spur. It was also in 1879 when General McKenzie had a military post on Soldier Mound. He was cleaning out the last of the Indians in this part of the country. The remains of the breast works and corrals can still be seen today.

In 1878 W. C. Dockum came and built a store on the head of a creek which came to be known as Dockum Creek.

H. P. Cole, long time branding boss for the Spur ranch, and later Sheriff of Dickens County a number of times, came here with the Dalton brothers who settled on what is now known as Chimney Creek.

Northeast from Soldier Mound was the "J" Ranch on the edge of what is now called the "J" breaks. The Spade Ranch had their dug-out at the mouth of the draw on which Spur city is located.

At the mouth of Spring Creek, which is in Kent County at the Southwest corner of what is now Dickens County, Lon Barkley had his dugout. This is now known as the Elliot Estate.

The Spur brand was introduced into this country by Jim Hall, a brother-in-law of Jeff Harkey and Dick Hudson. In 1878 Hall established a ranch on Middle Peace River and used the Spur for a permanent brand, which he had been using for a road brand. In the fall of that same year H. H. Campbell, S. W. Lomax and A. M. Britten started acquiring control of the lands which became the big Matador Ranch.

Then in 1882 Hall bought a ranch in Red Mud, and branded all the cattle bought from them with the Spur. Hall's brother-in-law, Dick Hudson, drove all the cattle from the Peace River to Red Mud. With those cattle came J. D. (Jake) Rains, who is still living, or was in 1953 when I saw him last.

I don't know if he has retired. If not he is still working on the Spur range—now under a different ownership.

In 1883 Lomax and Britten bought the Spur brand along with a lot of the ranches and formed the Espuela Land and Cattle Co., with headquarters at Dockum store, with Mr. Lomax as manager and Mr. F. G. M. Horsbrugh as assistant manager of the ranch. Mr. S. G. Flooke was bookkeeper.

Mr. Flooke is now buried in the Dickens Cemetery. To me the grave seems lonely indeed for he was my God father, and though he died while I was very young, I remember that I loved him very much.

In 1883 Mr. Lomax had bought the store from Mr. Dockum and placed R. C. (Dick) Ware as storekeeper, and got a mail route from Colorado City to Estacado which was then county seat of Crosby County. This route went by Dockum Store and was known as the Star Route.

The first farm in Dickens County was started by the Spur people in 1885 to raise feed for their horses. At first it was just 30 acres. This 30 acres was all planted in Johnson grass. Johnson grass at that time was advertised to be a wonderful forage plant. The next year they had a hundred acres cleared and planted most of it in Johnson grass and the rest in milo, maize and sorghum. By 1889, 740 acres was all planted in sorghum. That year it rained a lot and the sorghum grew rank and tall.

The heavy rainfall made it a problem to harvest the crop and Mr. Horsbrugh, who had succeeded Mr. Lomax as manager of the ranch, went to Dallas and made a deal with the Deering people for machines. When the machines were put in the field, however, the heavy broadcast binders would not cut such tall grain. Then two self rakes were used. These were mowers which cut the stalks and left them lying on the ground to be stacked by hand.

This feed lasted through the drought years of 1890 to 1893. During which time not a drop of rain fell in this part of the country.

By 1888 there were three main roads serving this part of the country—the old McKenzie Trail, which passed half-mile east of Dockum Store going west on to the Plains, then running north; the other end continuing east from Colorado City via Dockum Store to Estacado, and an old road used by the cowmen with their chuck wagons running under the Caprock west to Yellowstone Canyon. The other end went east to Seymour.

Some other old timers who were here before the county was organized along about 1883 came as cowboys. They were Will Hyatt, Bill Stafford, J. D. (Jeff) Harkey, H. P. (Handy) Cole, Shorty Reynolds, Jim Askins and Nat Johns. Some of these men worked for the Spur, and some for the Matador. Nat Johns settled with his family east of Afton and gave the name of John's Windmill to that community.

By 1888 Espuela was a townsite with a general store, a Post Office, a boot shop, a hotel, a newspaper office, and a blacksmith shop. Late that year, in December I think it was, Dickens County was organized and in 1891, in April, the first election was held to place the county seat.

Three places were in contention—Browning Store, under the Caprock, now known as the old Pres Goens place; Frankfort, on Croton Flat, east of the breaks and Espuela.

Espuela got the largest number of votes, but not two-thirds and another election was ordered. Again Browning Store and the present site of Dickens was run against Espuela and again Espuela got most of the votes but not two thirds and the District judge was in disfavor and about to be impeached and the election was annulled. A third election was ordered.

This third election was a year later, in March, 1892, between Dickens and Espuela. This time Dickens won.

The townsite of Espuela was two miles east of Spur ranch headquarters, a beautiful spot with plenty of good water, and to start the new town each voter was given ten lots, free of charge, by the Espuela Land and Cattle Co. The mail route was changed and the new town was called Espuela. The townsite of Dickens had all the advantages that Espuela had and more, as Dickens was nearer the center of the county, and when Espuela decided to contest the election, my father, who was the only lawyer for the election, knew there was no money for a contest. He gathered the county books under his arms and started for Dickens on foot and caught a ride in a farm wagon, thus moving the county seat. A great many people said that he stole the county seat.

The first Post Office was established on August 20, 1883. James H. Parrish was postmaster.

Late in the fall of 1892 bonds for building a courthouse in Dickens were voted; but no contract was let until some time later.

I don't remember the year, but I think it was in the spring of 1893. The contract was let to Lon Akins of Quanah. The courthouse and jail were built of native stone obtained from the west wall of a canyon three and one-half miles as a crow flies, northwest of Dickens City.

The first elected officers of Dickens County were: A. J. McLain, County Judge; J. D. Harkey, Sheriff; D. S. (Sid) Dunwoody, Clerk; Jeff D. Kutch, Tax Assessor-treasurer; Jimmy Jones, Attorney; Joe E. Rasson, District Attorney; L. S. Kinder and R. A. (Shorty) Winkerson, Justice of the peace.

My father, R. G. Warwick, was appointed general advisor to all the officers.

The newly elected County Judge McLain was supposed to be living in Dickens County at the time of his election, and it was not until several years after his term of office had expired that it was learned that he lived in Kent County.

In those days everybody lived in dugouts for lumber was expensive and had to be hauled from Ft. Worth. I first saw the light of day in a half dug-out dug back in a hill-side, in the west part of Dickens City.

In September of 1891 Mr. Horsbrugh purchased in Ft. Worth and shipped here a 15 horsepower engine and a 60 saw cotton gin. A month later he got a French burr grist mill. The cost in Ft. Worth for the engine and gin was $879.00 and for the grist mill was $117.00. These were the first of this kind of machinery in West Texas.

There were a good many settlers in the Dickens Country by then and they had to haul their cotton to Snyder to be ginned and wrapped for $5.00 per bale, any size. The first cotton raised in the Dickens Country was planted by Mr. Joe McCarty. It was said that the growing cotton was so pretty that people came from miles around just to see it.

This cotton was picked and the pickers cleaned the trash from the lint as they gathered it.

Mr. McCarty had his cotton ginned in Paducah on a two stand hand operated gin that did well to turn out three bales a day.

From this section of the country after the county was organized, people mostly traveled to Quanah for supplies. The trip lasted from ten days to two weeks, depending on luck and the weather. Many are the tales of adventure I could tell; for I often made the trip with him.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A Public Service Feature of the State Bar of Texas

Seller Remains Liable When Buyer Assumes Mortgage

Henry Jones decided to sell his home for $15,000 and when a buyer was found, the question arose as to how the buyer should finance the purchase.

Henry had a mortgage on his house, with a balance of $10,000, and the buyer suggested that Henry permit him to take over the mortgage payments, paying Henry the difference of $5,000 in cash. This, argued the buyer, would save him the trouble and expense of getting a new loan himself and so Henry agreed.

Several years after the deal was closed, Henry received a letter from his bank advising that the payments on the mortgage were far in arrears and that he would have to pay or a lawsuit would be filed.

Henry was surprised to learn that he was still liable on the original obligation, and that if the property could not be sold at foreclosure to bring enough money to pay the mortgage balance and the costs, he would have to pay the difference.

Of course, Henry might have sued his buyer for his loss, but the chances would be that the buyer is insolvent and "judgment-proof", so that Henry could not collect a judgment against him.

When a mortgage is assumed by a purchaser of real estate, the financial institution still holds the original note which was signed by the seller. If Henry had contacted his bank and obtained a release of liability, Henry would, of course, have been cleared of all further responsibility of the obligation.

Henry's bank, however, would have no reason to release Henry and might be reluctant to do so unless the bank's investigation disclosed that the buyer was at least as credit-worthy as Henry. The bank may also have had additional problems concerning releasing Henry from the obligation if the loan was of the FHA or GI type.

The danger of permitting an assumption of your mortgage loan may, therefore, be considerable, especially in view of the fact that real estate markets may fall after a period of years so that the real estate itself may not be of sufficient value to pay the mortgage note in the event of a default by the buyer.

Girl Scouts...

TROOP XIII
Brownie Scout Troop XIII met at the regular time and place on Wednesday, November 20. The girls made plans for a program in which members of their troop will get membership pins. They were instructed in "What Makes A Good Brownie" and then learned new parts of the Girl Scout laws.

They were dismissed by playing a game where each girl in turn found herself out side the door ready to go home.

TROOP XII
The Brownies of Troop XII met at the scheduled time on Wednesday, November 20 and continued work on an Arts and Crafts project. They are making craft pockets of felt.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Estep and baby returned to their home in Andrews after spending their vacation visiting relatives around Spur.

Why use two when one will do?

You'll do better to protect your motor with this one all-weather oil than to change from heavy oil to light oil according to the season.

Users of Trop-Artic All-Weather Motor Oil never have to worry about using different grades of oil at different seasons of the year. TROP-ARTIC is a light oil and heavy oil in one (grades 10W through 30). Furthermore, it lubricates and protects your motor far better than any of the old-fashioned "single grade" oils.

The reason is that TROP-ARTIC never gets too thick or too thin. In a cold engine it flows quickly for easy starting. In a hot engine it retains the "body" necessary to prevent wear. It reduces friction to save you gasoline. It keeps your engine clean. Compared to old-fashioned oils it can even double engine life. Get Trop-Artic All-Weather Motor Oil today from your Phillips 66 Dealer. *A trademark PHILLIPS PETROLEUM COMPANY

Plymouth "MONEY-AHEAD" CONTEST

Fantastic? It's mighty near unbelievable! But true — just read this:
You can win $500 a month for the rest of your life. You can win a gleaming new "Money-Ahead" '58 Plymouth. You can win other valuable prizes.
It's the Plymouth "Money-Ahead" Contest, where a lifetime of financial security is ripe for the taking. Few things are more substantial than money, and a lot of money is the grand prize. But this is a contest where you can win big without hauling down first prize... for 18 sparkling new Plymouths and 450 other valuable prizes will be awarded. Now here's what you do:

Go into your Plymouth Dealer's and ask him for a contest blank. You don't have to be a mental giant to shoot for the big money. This contest is fun, and it's easy.
You simply unscramble seven easy words and terms, like the one you see in the example to the right. Then add your own short version of why you'd be money ahead in a '58 Plymouth. Believe us, there are plenty of good reasons you can use: Torsion-Aire, Total-Contact Brakes, Silver Dart Style, Push-Button Driving, new Golden Commando engines, etc. Unscramble or scramble — but you better not amble — to your Plymouth Dealer soon. The fun starts Monday, Nov. 25.

How Adequate Are Our Facilities For Rehabilitating Juveniles

By Judge Sarah T. Hughes
(Ed Note: This is one of a series of articles on the state's growing problem of juvenile delinquency by one of Texas' foremost authorities on the subject, District Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, who has handled more than 25,000 juvenile and family relations cases, along with an even greater number of other civil cases in 22 years on the bench. "Family law is probably the most important phase of the law," says this internationally known jurist, whose work has been honored throughout the United States and in Europe, and whose name was put in nomination for vice president of the U. S. in 1952. A discussion of a different aspect of the problem will appear every other week.)

It's up to the people as to whether facilities for handling juvenile delinquents are adequate.

State training schools for young offenders are so crowded at present that trying to rehabilitate these children has become increasingly difficult.

Texas has three training schools—one for boys at Gatesville, one for white girls at Gainesville, and the third for colored girls at Crockett. All are administered by the Texas Youth Council, formerly the Texas Youth Development Council.

Several years ago the Youth Development Council inaugurated a bold new policy looking towards restoring youthful offenders to a useful life in society.

First of all, the institutions themselves have a different look—the grounds are unfenced, the windows except in the security units without bars.

The youngsters look different, too. Formerly they wore uniforms—today there is a variety of clothes. It used to be that they marched from building to building. Now there are no restrictions as they move around.

Vocational training is provided—for the girls courses in photography, furniture repair and upholstery, home economics, cosmetology, and commercial work; for the boys, plumbing, printing, woodwork, and electric shop.

For recreation there are movies, TV, and radio. In the gym and on the grounds there are ball games, and occasionally there are off-campus activities.

Whips and corporal punishment

Also appropriated was money for a security treatment cottage to replace the present building, which is an extreme fire hazard. Despite the urgency, these facilities will not be ready for use before May 1, 1958.

With our present state facilities for delinquents so inadequate, whose is the responsibility for failure to rehabilitate—the boys' and girls' or ours? Before accusing the youngsters, consider first what we can do to remedy the situation.

My next article: "What you as an individual can do about our inadequate facilities."

Topdressing fall-seeded small grain with a nitrogen fertilizer has paid farmers good dividends in most of Texas areas. The practice, according to W. F. Bennett, extension soils chemist, will increase the amount and nutritive value of the forage produced by the small grains as well as grain yields. Since these crops are widely used for grazing, the extra production of forage is of prime importance.
