Spur Aggie Class Wins Honors At Calf and Pig Show

The Vocational Agriculture class of Spur schools won fourth place and ninth place in the Fat Calf and Pig Show at Lubbock last week Their hogs were entered in the 250-pound class, and George Erath's hog took fourth honors and Marcus Copeland's hog took ninth place.

The first winner in this class of hogs was declared the grand champion of the show. Hence Spur's best winner was only three below the grand champion. Not so bad for our schools in their third year of vocational work. Mr. Middleton is due a great deal for the training he is giving the boys in the vocational department.

On the Gasoline Distance Contest held Monday afternoon by Godfrey & Smart, local Ford dealers, one Ford car made 38.6 miles one one gallon of gasoline. There were nine cars in the contest and the lowest mileage made was 23.5 miles.

Every car registering for the contest had every bit of gasoline taken from the tank and was scal ded with the Godfrey & Smart seal in a manner that should it be tampered with, any one would know about it. A number of people witnessed the manner in which the cars were serviced in order that there might be nothing contrary to rules done.

All cars made the trip over the contest will pay to terrace your land, or, any one of a thousand questions about terracing, this is your opportunity to make a personal contact with Dad Short and these others who are experts in this line of work.

Thrift In The Kitchen

Choose Appetizing Foods On Basis of Extra Nutriment Value

EVERY month or so the newspapers report the cost of food has gone down. But when the economical housewife takes her market basket-or telephone-in hand to take advantage of this drop in price it is not so easy to find.

The really intelligent way to make every dollar count is to know which foods give the greatest re-turn in nutriment for the money spent and to plan meals accord ingly. For instance, buy cheaper cuts of meat. Do not buy fruit out of season, and do not cut down on bananas, grapefruit, oranges, and 1,250.00 other fruits of moderate price which are so important in the diet. Use more canned vegetables, especi ally tomatoes, and make use of evaporated milk in cooking. Use dried beans or peas occasionally.

While it takes thought on the part of the housekeeper to plan the less expensive meals, there are all sorts of interesting dishes which tempt the appetite and yet save the pocket-book. The following recipes may interest those who believe "it's smart to be thrifty".

Banana Brown Betty 3 cups bread, diced; 3 tablespoons butter; 2 apples; 3 bananas; ¾ cup sugar; ½ teaspoon cinnamon.

Cut bread into dice and saute with butter until bread cubes are brown. Peel apples and bananas and cut very thin and dredge same with sugar mixed with cinnamon. Cover bottom of baking dish with the bread, add fruit and remaining bread in alternate layers, saving a few of the crumbs to put on top. Bake one-half hour covered and the last fifteen minutes uncovered in a moderate oven 375° F.

on pork chops. Put chops in a baking pan close together; add water to cover bottom of pan and bake in a moderately hot oven 375° F. one hour, basting occasionally.

Rates as a Fabric to Withstand Wear and Tear of Continuous Service.

PERHAPS you have sometimes wondered why all railway seats are upholstered in the same material, the familiar mohair velvet that in our childhood days was in-variably a bright red or green and always of one or two standard patterns. Today even train interiors have become color-conscious and soft greens and taupes and warm blues are seen but are still of the same mohair velvet to the extent, it has been estimated, of twelve million yards in the trains of the

The reason for this is that no other fabric has been found that will stand all the hard wear and tear that 24-hour service means Made from the fleece of the angora goat, mohair velvet or velmo, is one of the most popular and serviceable of fabric materials. One hundred million yards are in use on automobiles alone and many more on motor busses and for the interiors of airplanes.

In addition to this, velmo is also used for upholstering furniture, for draperies and even for rugs and is especially in favor with the housewife because it is chemically mothproofed in manufacture. It is also used for theatre curtains and chair coverings, because of the sound absorption the deep pile fabric af-fords, which is an important con-sideration in talking picture theatres. Like everything else, moair velvet has "gone modern" and can be had in an endless variety of colors and patterns and weaves. Over five hundred shades of green alone are reported by one New England mill. But an upholstering fabric is by no means the only service the mo-hair fleece renders. The finest indoor golf courses are made of a rich, deep pile mohair velvet. Lap robes and steamer rugs, lifelike stuffed animals, trimmings for house slippers and even wigs and transformations are made from this snowy fleece which more closely does not readily retain dust and dirt and, in fact, the pile surface acts as a brush and makes the traveler's clothing actually cleaner paratively few years, the industry of angora goat raising has been transferred from Turkey and South Africa to the United States which So great has the demand been for this fleece that within a comnow leads the world both in the

T LAST science is making A T LAST science the moth, headway against the moth, that harmless looking little insect that causes damage to household effects to the tune of $400,000,000 annually. In regard to at least one important fabric, mohair velvet, victory has been achieved. All fabrics made from animal fiber, which is largely protein, are normally attractive to moths. Ex-ceptional cleanliness, exposure to sunlight and the use of moth deterrents applied at home are some-times helpful, but the thorough and scientific way to thwart the enemy is for the material to be permanently mothproofed with chemicals at the mill when it is being made. So successful is this process that mohair velvet, or velmo as the rich pile fabric made from the hair of the angora goat is called, once considered by house-wives as the moths' heaven is now recognized as their Waterloo. has indisputably been proved that moths will starve themselves to death rather than eat mohair velvet that has been so treated. This fea-ture alone, aside from the longwearing qualities, easy cleaning and luxurious appearance of velmo, recommends it as the ideal fabric for furniture upholstering.

FURNITURE CHANGES KEEP MOHAIR IN VOGUE

SOME FACTORS IN MOHAIR'S PERMANENT POPULARITY LONG WEARING COMFORTABLE ~ ERECT PILE PREVENTS SLIPPING

First Goats Brought Here in '49: 17,000,000 Lbs. Clipped Yearly.

STYLES may come and styles may go, but in furniture as in everything else, but one kind of upholstery — mohair velvet — remains in constant popularity ever since the invention of power machinery put it within the reach of everyday folks, and not just of kings and nobles, as in previous centuries.

The demand for furniture covered with fabric made from the fleece of the angora goat has increased steadily until now the United States leads the world in angora goat raising and consequently in the production of mohair ma-

Its great durability is undoubtedly the chief reason why mohair velvet is an upholstery perennial. Not even the beauty and luster of its soft texture would suffice to win the housewife's repeated approval if mohair velvet, or velmo as it is often called, did not surpass all other materials in wearing quality. This is partly because the mohair itself is the longest wearing animal fiber known and partly because it is a pile fabric, with the wear coming on the ends of the fiber instead of along the sides. As high as 40,000 of these sturdy fibers are found to the square inch of mohair

Some knowledge of the physical structure and chemical composi-tion of the mohair fiber is necessary to understand why it makes a superior upholstering fabric. Seen under a microscope the mohair fiber is smooth and shiny, with fewer scales or serrations than on the wool fiber. This means that it does not attract dirt so quickly, that dust tends to slide off the smooth hairs and that actual dirt is easily removed with a swift brushing with soap and water if necessary, without affecting the color. Then, too, mohair takes a fast to keep clean as it is beautiful to look at. It is one of the most satisfactory fibers known for dyeing. Like all animal fibers, mohair is normally attractive to the pestiferous house moth, but now science Mohair, unlike wool, cannot be felted, but is permanently resilient and springy and therefore cool and has perfected a means of effectu- comfortable as a seat fabric.

ally and permanently mothproofin mohair velvet. It has been noticed that moths will actually die in preference to attacking the fabric When one considers the tremendous amount of damage done annually by this innocent looking lit tle insect, it is obvious that for this feature alone mohair recom-mends itself as the ideal fabric for fine furniture.

MOTH-PROOF

But, though mohair velvet remains popular season after season, its colors, patterns, and weaves change with the current fashion. Beautiful solid colors or two-tone weaves, period designs, modernistic effects or conventional patterns may all be had in mohair velvet. Sometimes the pile is cut to form the pattern, the remaining pile being stamped with a floral or other design. In other places the pattern is formed by cutting certain of the loops and the fabric is then called frieze. If the uncut portion predominates, it is called friezette. Then again, the material may be hand-blocked in striking designs or woven on a jacquard loom with yarious colored mohair yarns.

Serve Mankind in Innumerable Ways

AY back in Old Testament times, when a day of atonement was at hand, the sins of the people were symbolically placed on the head of a goat which was then allowed to escape into the wilderness; hence the word scapegoat, or blame-bearer, which has come down through the ages.

No longer made to endure this, the goat is, however, still serving mankind in a variety of other ways, especially the angora or mohair goat as it is called from its fleece. All the time they are doing this they are growing a wonderful fleece of long, silky, white mohair which is clipped once or twice : year and sent to the mills for manufacturing into fabrics.

The pile material resulting, known as velmo or mohair velvet, is in great demand as upholstering for automobiles, trains, busses and airplanes, as well as for fine furniture in the home, because it will wear practically forever, and is as easy

MCCORMICK-DEERING TRACTORS AND TRACTOR EQUIPMENT

NEW THREE-ANNUAL PAYMENT PLAN MAKES TRACTOR INVESTMENT EASY

INCREASING evidence on every hand proves conclusively that thou-👢 sands of farmers with reliable tractor power and machines are producing all major crops at costs ranging from one-third to one-half the government average for farms with similar yields.

To enable more farmers to reduce their production costs to a minimum this year the Harvester Company has authorized the most liberal terms on tractors and tractor-drawn and operated equipment ever offered by the Company. By these new terms any good responsible farmer can secure any McCormick-Deering tractor at once, together with equipment to be used with it, and spread the payments over a period of approximately three years.

Start now with a McCormick-Deering 10-20, 15-30, or all-purpose Farmall to cut your costs and increase your profits. Remember that the lower the costs the higher the profits. These terms are authorized for a limited time only. Come in and see us for full particulars.

The Children's Lunch

Lusty Youngsters Need another suggestion. Another fa-Simple but Healthful Noon-time Dishes

No problem is more insistent in the mothers' world than that "Lunch ready, mother?" is the daily cry as soon as the children open the door. They must have not only what they like to eat but what they should eat.

Heavy meat dishes, rich pastries, or fried foods should be avoided. A cup of hot soup is always good, and with milk, crackers or bread and smooth. Turn rice out of mold and butter is almost a meal in on to platter and fill center with mushrooms. mato, celery, or hot green vegetables may also be added, however, and some simple dessert such as sliced fruit, junket, or gelatin.

vorite lunch will be toasted sand-wiches with hot cocoa. Bacon with eggs or peanut butter the addition of lettuce makes a good filling. Cream cheese with sliced bananas and a tart jelly is also a delicious filling.

Here are a few recipes for lunch-ings in just enough water to cover until tender. Add more water during the cooking if necessary. Add the milk, and heat. Serve at once with toasted crackers. Rice with Mushrooms

1 cup rice; ½ pound mushrooms; ¼ cup butter; 3 tablespoons flour; 2 cups milk or stock; salt and pepper. Boil rice in salted water, drain and put into a ring mold. Set in hot water. Wash mushrooms and slice the caps and tender portion of stems. Boil the rest of the stems ten minutes in one cup of water and strain for stock. Sauté the mushrooms in the butter, stir in the flour and add the milk and

IT IS AN ACCEPTED FACT THAT MAN MUST EAT THRICE DAILY.

But where to eat-that is another problem, and particularly at noon-time. Eating is not all that should be done by men and women who work. Especially during the warm days that are rapidly coming, there should be good food, quickly served and slowly eaten, and we do our best to give service.

DOMESTIC RABBIT and FRIED CHICKEN are our choice meats. Remember we are open DAY and NIGHT.
