

Bits o' Nothing

Borrowed 'n' Otherwise
By EARNEST E. HAYLEY

The country newspaper business is, without doubt, the most fascinating yet strange profession in the world. Those in the business can count their friends only among their contemporaries. In the public they have no admirers who will defend them consistently. Half the readers approve their remarks only half the time, depending fully on the nature of the respective report. Threats of fistic thrashings are not uncommon to us, who take the promises with a grain of salt (providing it isn't a rainy day).

We entered the newspaper field many years ago, first as a mail boy and were given a letter recognizing the completion of our apprenticeship more than 12 years ago. What we have learned of the business was taught us in part by some of the leading editors and publishers of the state. J. L. Martin, of Childress, Waco, Snyder and other points; Geo. T. Spears, Sr., of Breckenridge, Graham, Navasota and half dozen other Texas cities where he owns and operates newspapers; O. C. Harrison, once an outstanding figure in the Texas Press Association; were among those who taught us that news articles may be classified under two divisions, and that either one will displease half the readers half the time.

First is the complimentary news report which announces a special prominence or achievement attained by a citizen or business, some high position to which the gentleman has been appointed. This pleases the one concerned and his allies—it displeases his enemies who are jealous and believe "it would have been better if left unmentioned."

Second comes "fact news." The one concerned resents that you dare print disgracing facts regarding some actions—even though they are true. The man-on-the-street talks it day and night—but it would have been better unsaid in the paper. His enemies say, "he had it coming." His friends say, "that editor is a fool, he had no business printing that."

Half the readers are angry and ready to ambush the country editor half the time. Of course such a problem may be solved by asking the public just what should be printed and how.

We have been editing the Times for the past several months—without being told how by anyone. We will continue to edit this publication until the rightful editor, W. D. Starcher, recuperates sufficiently to return to the helm November first, as previously announced. After that time the public may dictate to him, if he will take it. But, for the present it is useless to ask us to "omit" anything that is news and we are fortunate enough to learn about. The Times wouldn't be a NEWSpaper if we did omit such.

In Italy and other countries a newspaper man, who dares print too much news, is brought before a firing squad. Not so in America where we have the freedom of the press—as long as we do not become libel (look the word up). A newspaper, correctly operated, is the only medium through which falsehoods and gossip may be corrected.

We took a moral pledge, from our teachers to continue our allegiance to the profession by correctly covering all the news all the time. We'll do that when we have to seek the typewriter keys from behind beef-steaks over blackened eyes.

An exchange recently said it was once thought that newspaper editors were molders of public opinion, but that now most of them just wait until they find out which side public opinion is and then join that side.

Rats turned on the burglar alarm at the local Wooten Wholesale Grocery Sunday night. Even in this day of national politics we'd call that a "ratty job."

Here is a story without mentioning any names. A young Spur preacher read the "last rites" at the wedding of a local couple. After the ceremonies the unfortunate one asked, "How much, preacher?" The minister smiled and answered, "Not a cent. I got as much out of it as you did. It was my first wedding." To which the hard-luck one answered, "That's nothing. It was my first one too."

Such comedy must be recognized. We got an uncalled for bill right in the middle of the month from Bryant-k company. But, that isn't what counts. It's the picture neatly pasted on it that brought out the Irish in us. The illustration is that of a gentle-

TWO MONUMENTS ERECTED HONORING HEROES OF '71-'75

By W. D. STARCHER Times Editor-Publisher

Monuments honoring the service of the soldiers in the Fourth U. S. Cavalry under the command of General Ronald S. McKenzie, were installed in Spur community Wednesday morning. One monument dedicated to Privates Gregg, William Max, W. H. Kilpatrick and others was placed on the hill in Spur cemetery and bears the following inscription:

IN MEMORY OF

Privates Gregg, William Max, W. H. Kilpatrick and other soldiers who met death in this region while serving under Gen. R. S. McKenzie, Fourth U. S. Cavalry, 1871-1872 and 1874-1875. With no hope of honor if victorious no dream of mercy if they fell; and the certainty of death by torture if taken alive; they fought the savage Comanche and cleared the Plains for the white men.

A few years ago the grave of W. H. Kilpatrick on Duck Creek was found and the remains were transferred to the Spur cemetery and interred in a grave on the highest point of that cemetery. The monument in memory of these fallen soldiers was placed near the head of this grave.

The second monument was placed on Soldier Mound about four miles north from Spur. The following inscription is found on this monument:

Site of Anderson's Fort or Soldier's Mound

Here behind extensive breastworks Major Thomas M. Anderson, Tenth U. S. Infantry, maintained a supply camp for the Cavalry under Gen. Ronald S. McKenzie, Fourth U. S. Cavalry, who, in 1874-1875, forced the Indians of the region onto reservations and opened the Plains to white settlements.

Anderson's Fort was originally established in 1865 and served as a base of supplies for the Fourth U. S. Cavalry during their activities farther west. There never was any battle fought at the Soldiers Mound according to records of the late Captain Carter who served through the entire expedition and was the last survivor of the expedition, passing away in 1935.

The monuments were made and established by Rodriguez Bros. of San Antonio. The work of setting these monuments was under the supervision of Carl Deichman who seemed to be very thorough in his work. Mr. Deichman was very considerate and accommodating to the press while here and extended thanks on behalf of his campaign for the interest taken.

Both of these monuments are timely. They mark historic spots and preserve sacred memories. They are five feet six inches tall and vary in width from two feet six inches to three feet at the base and are about eleven inches thick. They are the work of Texas in the Centennial program and were obtained through the influence of progressive local citizens.

County Gin Reports Show Big Increase Cotton This Week

Continued fair weather since the last county ginning report given in the Times last week resulted in the jump of near 2000 bales in the totals this week compared to those of last week.

Reports of the five Spur gins totaled 3,177 bales at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon and an estimated 1,500 for the other gins of the county would bring the total figures to better than 4,600 to date. The report as tabulated and estimated by the Times last week was little better than 2600 bales.

Cotton prices last week advanced and sale of spot cotton increased, with exports smaller and the cloth market active with prices firm, according to United States Department of Agriculture. Prices of 12.21 cents was paid for middling seven-eighths inches, last Friday which was 18 points higher than the week earlier.

The average price of middling at ten southern spot markets Tuesday of this week was 12.11 cents per pound. Ten points lower than Friday.

He's No Gentleman

Line Captain Louie Jones, guard on the Texas Tech Red Raiders, will perhaps tell you that he is no Gentleman and that he'll do everything in his power to stop the guy that says he is when TTC meets the Centenary Gentlemen at Lubbock next Saturday night. It is Homecoming Day at Tech, and the climax of campus activity will be reached when the Red Raiders attempt to turn back the Gentlemen from the Louisiana college on the gridiron.

Dickens Democrats Add $250 to Funds For FDR Campaign

Into the Roosevelt-Garner re-election campaign fund Tuesday went more than $250, contributed by Democrats of Dickens county, according to announcements from Dr. M. H. Brannen, campaign chairman for this county. McAdoo community's funds had not been received yesterday.

The county's official quota had been set by the state at $484, and even though Democrats of this county were expected to swell the fund more than a hundred dollars yet, the total collections were expected to fall short of the quota mark.

The State of Texas labor department this week contributed 100 per cent to the Roosevelt-Garner fund, marking the fourth state department which has gone so strong for the continuance of the present administration.

The Democratic campaign committee in this county has announced that additional funds may be added to the collections by leaving remittances with E. S. Crider at the Spur Cafe. Voters wishing to aid the re-election causes of Roosevelt and Garner may do so by contributing dimes, quarters or what ever amount they wish, it was announced.

LEASE TOURIST CAMP

Mr. H. J. Garner this week leased the North Side Tourist Camp and Filling Station and work of cleaning and repairing the cabins has begun, it was announced. The camp is located about a mile from the center of the city on the Dickens highway.

Among those who rode the special train to the Dallas Centennial Monday and due to return today, was little Dick Hindman.

7-Car Special Left Spur 12:30 Midnight Monday; 185 Strong

A special seven-car train will pull into the Wichita Valley Railroad yard here today bearing approximately 185 Spurites and citizens of Dickens county on their return trip from the Dallas Centennial. Local agent, Ray Taylor, was unable last night to state definitely the hour the special would reach this city, although it was known that it departed from Dallas at 10:30 last night.

The train and its party left this city Monday night at 12:30 and reached Dallas at 12:15 Tuesday noon the railroad officials announced.

Mrs. Madge D. Twaddell, county superintendent of Dickens county schools headed the delegation which was composed of approximately 150 school children from various sections of the county. The other 15 per cent which left here was composed of adult sponsors and those wishing to take advantage of the special rates offered by the Burlington's line on the occasion of special scholastic days at the Centennial.

Other sponsors besides Mrs. Twaddell, were Principal O. L. Kelly, sponsor of the high school group; Principal H. C. Foote, sponsor of the junior high school students; Mr. Cravey of the Highway school headed his group of students while Mrs. Nichols of McAdoo schools sponsored that body. Mrs. Twaddell employed Mrs. Minnie Lewis to act as special nurse for the Dickens county delegation.

Mayor E. J. Cowan, accompanied by his family, departed by automobile early Tuesday morning and it was understood that he might have joined the Dickens county group at Dallas.

Miss Grace Foster of this city, was the first to purchase a ticket, railroad officials announced. Although she did not ride the special to Dallas she was to return with the group today.

It was estimated that near 2,500 scholastics and their sponsors, from district three of Northwest Texas, visited the exposition Tuesday, as six special trains, including the one from this area, unloaded at the Centennial siding, according to the Dallas News. The seven-car train which left here picked-up additional passengers along the line between this city and Stamford and added enough cars before reaching Wichita Falls to bring the total to 15 and the passenger count to more than 1300.

Other counties of this district which sent specials or boarded the one which left here were: Stonefall, Childress, Cottle, Collingsworth, Ford, Hall, Hardeman, Haskell, Knox, Kent, King and Motley.

Legumes or Alfalfa May Be Planted On Soil-Depleted Land

Agricultural Memorandum No. 39 permits the planting of annual winter legumes or alfalfa if seeded alone prior to October 31, 1936, on acreage from which a soil-depleting crop was harvested in 1936, according to County Agent Lane. Such acreage so seeded to legumes may be used for soil-conserving crops for purposes of diverted acres to meet the minimum acre diversion of soil-conserving crops. "In other words," Mr. Lane pointed out, "where it is ascertained that the producer lacks acreage to meet the minimum diversion of 20 per cent of his cotton base and 15 per cent of his general soil depleting crop base, he may meet the requirement by planting enough acres to winter legumes on land even though there has been a soil-depleting crop harvested from that same land."

Annual Winter legumes including vetch, winter peas, bur and crimson clover; biennial legumes including sweet and alsike clover; and perennial legumes including alfalfa, kudzu and sericea are among crops which may be planted to qualify the producer.

Spur Man On Trial In Floydada Court for Speegle Murder

Everett McArthur, 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed McArthur, prominent Spur family, has been on trial for the murder of J. B. (Uncle Ben) Speegle, in the 110th district court at Floydada all this week. The jury was completed Monday and testimony begun Tuesday and continued through Wednesday.

In a special telephone conversation with officials in Floydada late yesterday afternoon the Times was unofficially informed that testimonies and rebuttals were expected to reach completion and the case turned to the jury sometime before noon today (Thursday).

Most of the day Wednesday was devoted to testimony of character witnesses the authorities stated, but they were unable to name more than five who appeared for either the defense or the state. Those named as having been called and having testified Wednesday were Neil Chastain, Dr. John Wylie, Ralph Sherrill, Dr. T. H. Blackwell, all of Spur and Perry Lee Marshall of Matador. There were others, however, which the informatics could not recall.

The jury was completed at 5:30 Monday afternoon and testimony was begun Tuesday morning.

Speegle was found severely beaten in a cabin at his camp. Several bones had been broken. Dr. Albert C. Tra-week Jr., said he had been choked, his jaws fractured and several vertebrae in his neck dislocated. Officers said he had been struck repeatedly and stomped.

McArthur and Melvin Ensey, also of Spur, were arrested the next day at Dickens. Ensey was acquitted of the murder charge at the January term of district court. McArthur's case had been continued June 8 to allow farmers to get back in their fields.

The slaying was after a football game between Matador and Spur high school. The state introduced testimony at Ensey's trial intended to show Speegle was attacked when he tried to halt a disturbance at the tourist camp, where a dice game was in progress.

TUESDAY'S TESTIMONY

Harold Karr of Spur testified in the McArthur trial Tuesday that he left the dice game at the camp and found McArthur and Ensey in the front seat of his car with "Speegle in the back seat bloody and beaten up." He said he helped lift the body from the car. He also testified that McArthur held up a clinched fist and said, "that did it" when asked who had beaten "Uncle" Ben Speegle.

Mrs. E. O. Rains of Wichita Falls and her 13-year-old son, O. E., Jr., identified the defendant as the man they said visited their cabin and cursed and threatened Mrs. Rains prior to Speegle's death.

Raymon Harris of Spur testified Speegle was breathing with difficulty when he was removed from the Karr automobile.

Other state witnesses were E. H. Thornton of Matador and Jack Price of Rotan. Price testified he knocked Speegle down in an altercation during a dice game. He said Speegle threatened him and struck at him.

Sheriff Koonsman testified McArthur had blood on his clothing when he was arrested the day after Speegle's death.

Assisting in the prosecuting are County Attorney John Hamilton of Matador, County Attorney Winifred Newson of Floydada and G. E. Hamilton of Matador. Alton B. Chapman, of this city, is district attorney and Judge A. J. Folley is presiding over the case.

Counsel for McArthur is made up of W. D. Wilson and Durwood H. Bradley of Lubbock and L. G. Matthews of Floydada.

Coach "Blackie" Wadzeck's Spur high school Bulldogs hoisted a red flag as their signal of danger to Paducah and Floydada, here Friday when they turned back the Matadors from Motley county in the greatest up-set of the season and won 13 to 6. Led by the ever-inspired Capt. Red Garner the Bulldogs registered seventeen first downs to the visitors' eight and scored in the first and third quarters.

Fly's Life Goes "Around 'n' Around"

LIFE CYCLE OF SCREW WORM FLY IS GIVEN

Flies have four stages in their life cycle. The adult flies mate and lay eggs, and the eggs hatch into maggots or the worm stage. The maggot, after a period of feeding and growth, transform into a resting stage called the pupal stage and from this emerges the adult fly. Thus we have in the life a fly four stages—the fly, the egg, the maggot and the pupa.

The adult female screw worm fly finds a living animal that has a wound, preferably a fresh wound. The fly lays masses of creamy white eggs on the edge of the wound. Ten to 400 eggs are placed in a single mass, and these eggs hatch in from 11 to 21 hours.

As soon as the young maggots are hatched, they enter the wound and begin feeding. As the maggots continue to feed, they shed their skin several times, growing larger each time this process occurs. In from 4 to 10 days the maggots complete their development and begin migrating from the wound.

The maggots drop to the ground and enter the soil, penetrating to a depth of one to several inches. At this point the maggot apparently becomes inactive, but actually a great change is taking place. The maggot contracts, becomes rigid and the skin turns brown and hardens to a leather-like texture. This is the pupal or resting stage, and within the pupal case the insect is transforming into an adult fly. In from 7 to 14 days the process is complete.

During the overwintering period the insect sometimes spends as long as 54 days in the pupal stage. The adult fly breaks through the pupal case, comes up through the soil and rests upon some twig or plant until its wings have dried and expanded and it is ready to fly away.

For five or ten days the adult flies feed upon various substances, the males and females mate, and then the cycle is ready to repeat itself. This cycle is completed within an average of 24 days.

The screw worm fly will attack any cut, wound or abrasion in livestock, fowls, domestic pets, man or other warm-blooded animals. It does not, however, deposit its eggs on carcasses or in any place other than a wound on a living animal. It will be seen readily that the screw worm fly population can be greatly reduced if wounds are treated and the screw worms killed. Each female screw worm fly is capable of laying from 2,500 to 2,853 eggs. Thus each maggot that is killed in the wound means the death also of an infinite number of potential pests.

A screw worm case can be recognized readily by the watery discharge of blood and blood serum which flows from the wound and from the foul odor associated with it. Flies frequently lay eggs around infested wounds and thus worms of several sizes are sometimes found in the same wound. Screw worms feed with their head ends buried in the wound and with their tail ends turned out. Breathing occurs through the exposed or posterior end of the maggot. This habit makes it easier to reach the breathing apparatus of the maggot with fumes of benzol, which the United States Department of Agriculture recommends for use in killing screw worms in wounds. Following this treatment, the wound should be coated with pine tar oil, specific gravity 1.065 to hasten healing of the wound and aid in repelling further attacks from the fly.

Chevrolet Spends Millions On New 1937 Automobile

Announcement was made today by M. E. Coyle, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, that $26,000,000 has been expended in retooling, new machinery, and rearranging the plants and assembly lines of Chevrolet for production of the 1937 models that will be released November seventh.

This one of the largest sums ever appropriated by the automotive industry for the change-over of machinery for the annual new models, and gives an inkling of what the motorists of America may expect when the cars are revealed to the public, Mr. Coyle stated.

It was said that the usual procedure in automobile manufacture is to make new models with certain changes one year and other changes the following announcement time, but that this year Chevrolet has produced an entirely new car for 1937.

It is because of the complete redesigning of the 1937 models that such a large expenditure for retooling and rearrangement was necessary, Mr. Coyle pointed out.

Mrs. Robenette Died After Long Illness

Rev. A. P. Stokes of Afton, officiated at the last rites of Mrs. Ada Robenette, 60, wife of J. Robenette of Calgary, at the Spur Baptist church Sunday afternoon. Burial was made in the Spur cemetery.

She was married to J. Robenette on December 10, 1891. To this union were born eight girls and three boys, all living. She made a profession of religion in 1890 and united with the Methodist Church. She united with the Baptist church in 1905 and became active in the work. She was a devoted wife, mother and a good neighbor, one that will be missed in the community in which she lived.

She is survived by her husband and eleven children, 22 grandchildren, two brothers and three sisters.

Services were conducted by Rev. Stokes, her pastor, who was assisted by Rev. J. W. Grizzle of Calgary.

Mr. Rogers had been working in Coleman and it was from that city that he last contacted relatives here. It was said that at that time he was on his way to San Angelo.

The deceased was born in the state of Georgia in 1879. She had resided here with her family for many years. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. B. Street, of Dickens, and two sons, Kyle and Pat of Harleton, Tex.

McAdoo

Mr. Leslie Rich and Miss Jewell Esary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barnett of Muleshoe, were married Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gross, 724 Main street, Roswell, New Mexico. Mr. Rich is the son of Mrs. Zora Rich, who lived at McAdoo before moving to Roswell. The ring ceremony was read by R. E. Scarfee, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

Miss Elizabeth Garrett played the Wedding March, also "I Love You Truly" during the ceremony. The bride wore a lovely gown of tea rose satin and carried a beautiful bouquet of roses and gardenias. The groom was dressed in a dark suit.

The Gross home was attractively decorated for the occasion with dahlias, roses and zennias. There were about fifty guests present. Delicious refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Gross. The young couple will make their home in Muleshoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Putman and baby of Dickens are visiting Mrs. A. V. Womack and family. Mrs. Womack is the mother of Mrs. Putman. A play entitled "Black Cats" was presented at McAdoo High School Auditorium Saturday night, October 17 to a large audience. The play, a three-act comedy was sponsored by the Epworth League. We have never seen a play presented better by amateur actors than this one. This is not only the opinion of the reporter but it is the opinion of everyone who saw it.

The League plans to present this play in the near future at some of the neighboring towns.

Dudley Wooten, teacher in Wilson School near Lubbock is at home due to the dismissal of his school for cotton picking. Dudley has been hired as an assistant teacher in the McAdoo high school until Supt. O. L. Smith is able to be back in school. Supt. Smith is in Lubbock sanitarium recovering from injuries received in a car wreck on the highway between Dickens and Spur last Monday, October 12. He suffered a fractured knee cap, which was broken in five places, it is reported. It is thought possibly he will be able to resume his school work within two more weeks.

Miss Ester Sorenson, district home economics supervisor, from Lubbock visited McAdoo Home Economics department last Tuesday, October 13. The class is looking forward for another visit from Miss Sorenson later in the year.

The Home Economics class seems to be progressing nicely under the direction of the capable home economics teacher, Miss Hayhurst. Stuffed animals and pot holders have been completed and the students are now making slips and pajamas.

McAdoo Eagles will play their next game of football with Flomont. The game will be played at Flomont next Saturday, October 24. It is reported that Flomont is playing Class B football but McAdoo Eagles expect to play their best even though they are a class C team. No doubt but what the team that wins this game will have to fight for it.

Several of the boys have been absent the past week because of work. It seems quite difficult to get the full squad out for a full week's work out, but the team seems to be working out with a new spirit. Some changes have been made in the back-field and line.

Fourth Quarterly Conference of the Methodist Church was held at the local Methodist Church Friday night, October 16. Rev. Tittle, presiding

A strong wind out of the north brought heavy clouds over Spur about five o'clock Wednesday morning. Lightning and thunder were the only results aside from the cold wave which followed.

Prospects were that the wave would continue in this area until the "cold spell" plays out in the Middle West areas.

SAGA OF EARLY TEXAS IS TOLD IN FILM AT PALACE

A picture important in every sense of the world; important in film history, important in cast, and important in the skilled way in which it reflects an early period of American development, is opening at the local Palace theatre with midnight preview Saturday night and continues through Sunday and Monday. The epic of the Southwest is "Texas Rangers."

Fred McMurray and Jack Oakie head the cast and are seen as members of the 1887 Texas Rangers, the fearless body of men who undertook to make Texas "a reasonable safe place in which to live." Jean Parker has the leading feminine role.

Deeds of the Rangers, depicted in the film, are said to have been taken from actual incidents in the history of the organization. The chief characters of the film are said to likewise have been drawn from life, patterned after actual Rangers and outlaws of the era.

The film also gives a panoramic view of the growth of Texas, immortalizing the men who, more than any other group, made that development possible. The dramatic power of the picture is aided through a good portion of comedy, romance and melody.

Horace Hyatt, employee of the grocery department of Bryant-Link company, underwent an operation this week which cost him his tonsils. But he will be back on the job soon.

... An Old-fashioned Store ...

... one which operated on the general merchandise plan would be laughed at today. But, it would be no more out of keeping with time than old-styled newspaper.

The one thing the Dickens County Times has done ... grown with time.

Its news columns are not written in the first person, as the newspaper of yesterday. Its advertisements are not of the all black-type-composition, but display ample white space needed to give the advertised merchandise proper distinction. Advertisements are classified and arranged so that each may be "discovered" and read with the greatest of ease, rather than scattered all over the page like a jig-saw puzzle. No advertisements rate the front page. The reader does not find "for sale" or "for rent" locals right in the middle of an interesting news report.

Like the modern department store has replaced the old-fashioned general merchandise establishment the TIMES has gained recognition over the old-style newspaper, because it has grown with time.

Advertising rates uniform to everybody in Spur country

* Our Opinion Is *

That one should be careful what he says even when talking to himself.

Tired, But Happy and Wiser!

APPROXIMATELY 150 school children from Dickens county will return today on the special train from the Dallas Centennial tired of their six hundred mile train ride, foot sore of walking at the centennial proper, but happy in their youthful way and wiser by far than they were when the seven car special pulled out of the Spur yards last Monday at midnight.

They have seen sights their eager eyes and minds had never before seen or dreamed of. They have seen Texas, their native state, as it was, as it is and as it will be. Without having to be encouraged further they have had instilled into their souls a love for the Lone Star State which never before existed. It has been the most educational two days they have ever lived and breathed. Many of the features will have been forgotten within a few years but the breath of spirit and learning will live forever.

They will soon recover of their tiresome train ride, their hours of walking, walking, but the thoughts of every minutes pleasure will continue to make them happy throughout the years and they shall be wiser for ever and ever.

Advertising Texas Tomorrow

THE TEXAS PRESS Educational Bureau of the Texas Press Association has entered very definite plans for the creation of an advertising campaign which proposes the continuance of "attracting Americans to the Lone Star State" even after the Centennials have closed. Again the press is about to score.

The purpose of the plan is a noble one. California has grown and prospered through advertising. Texas can and should do the same. This section of the nation has often been described as a "nation of its own" in that enough resources may be obtained within its boundaries for the state to continue to prosper even if cut off from the remainder of the nation.

Such facts are worth advertising to the Nation and world. Although this state is more than a hundred years old, it has many years to go before it is fully developed. Why not invite the world—to a new country?

Old Story, Many Times Told

IT'S AN OLD, OLD STORY, many times told, but it continues to be one that should be listened to. Spur needs parking lines along Burlington Avenue.

Last Saturday was only another example that traffic and parking in this, like other Saturday trades-day towns, always presents a problem during the fall season. Alleys and spaces behind business buildings were crowded by parked automobiles of traders and shoppers, because of lack of space along the main streets of the city.

Parking lines painted at proper angles would automatically make accommodations for additional automobiles. What will be done about it remains to be seen.

Knox Was "100% Untrue"

ON SEPTEMBER 5, at Allentown, Pa., Republican Vice-Presidential candidate Frank Knox said: "Today, no life insurance policy is secure, no savings account is safe."

Insurance commissioners from thirty-two states of the forty-eight answered, representing both Republicans and Democrats with no political bias, to the effect that Knox was "100% Untrue" in his statement intended to reflect the present administration.

Honorable R. L. Daniel, Texas commissioner, wrote: "Legal reserve life insurance companies of Texas are in good sound financial condition." He closed with, "Conditions three years ago was quite different to what it is today." The public asks, "What next in politics?"

The Brazos District, a state agency created by the Legislature in 1929, has mapped details for a series of 13 dams on the Brazos and its principal tributaries to control flood waters. To wonder if the work, as planned, is needed is foolish when one reads that the grand total of the estimated flood damages along the area to be controlled, this year was near $8,000,000.00 with approximately 448,650 acres flooded.

To die a hero is best after all. A living person has to pay taxes even if he is a coward.

The greatest possession of a free people is the ballot—the right to vote. It is a defender of the citizen's liberties and a weapon against injustice.

There are twenty-six different kinds of tobaccos grown in America and yet our brand of cigarettes claim "turkish and domestic blend."

A story from Anson has it that farmers of that area gathered corn already popped—we didn't know any of the presidential candidates had visited that vicinity this year.

"Pension Cut Faces House"—and yet they say the old-age assistance checks can not be sent out on November first unless the Legislature provides additional funds.

The Bulldogs, Spur football team, were not content with a victory last week over Matador, but issued their warning to the stratosphere that they mean business in the conference race.

An electrician was found dead in the basement of a shop on the Dallas Centennial grounds. Fort Worth will likely claim he was shocked to death at the lack of entertainment in the central centennial city.

Presenting the phenomenal facts about GULFPRIDE

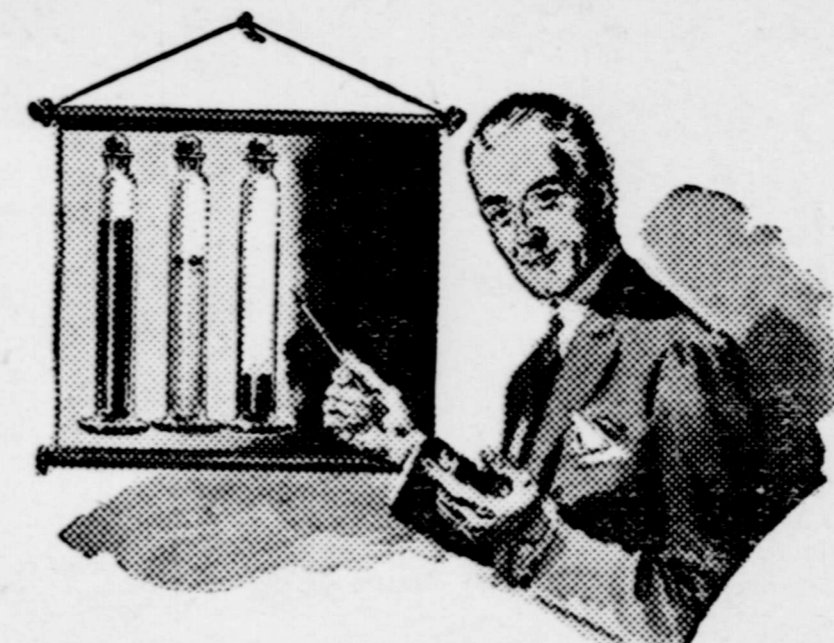

THE WORLD'S FINEST MOTOR OIL

THE facts on this page sound hard to believe. But here is the reason why GULFPRIDE—and only GULFPRIDE—can accomplish such results . . .

Gulf begins with selected Pennsylvania crude, refines it to a motor oil that equals the best—then further refines it by the exclusive Alchlor process.

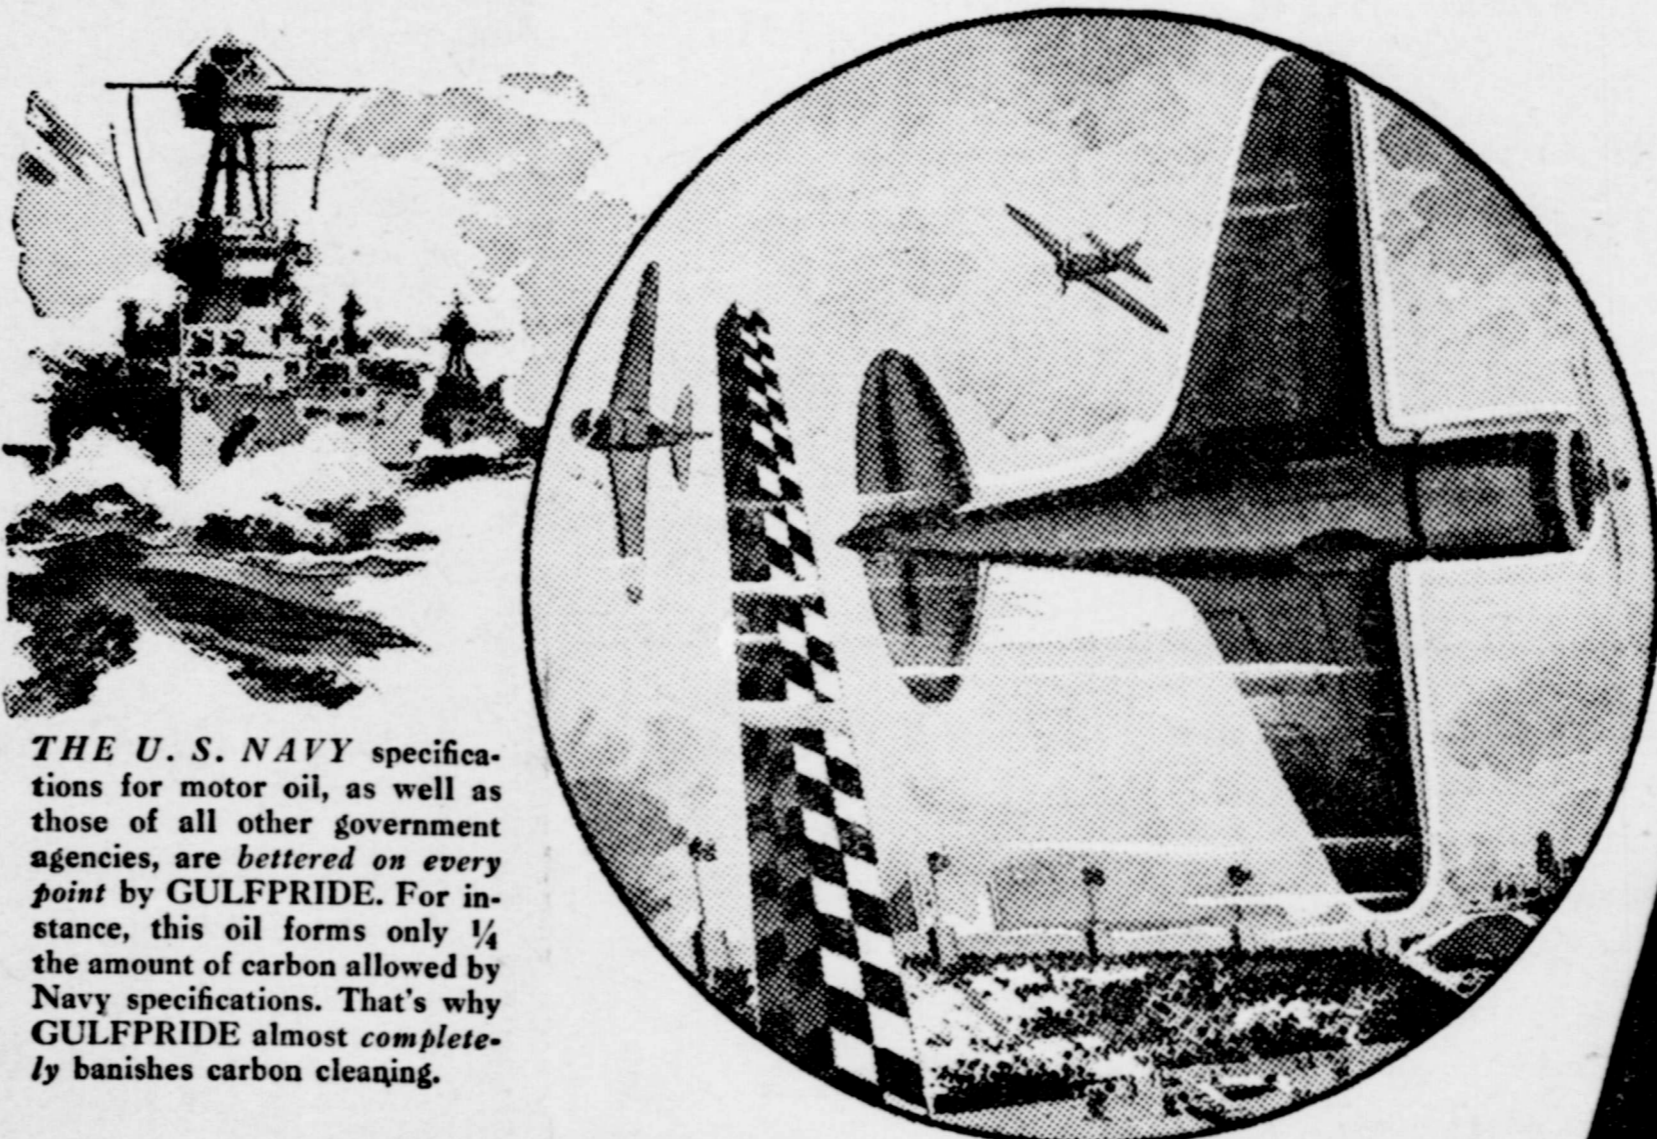

Only GULFPRIDE is made by this process—result of 15 years' research—the same scientific research that has made every Gulf product a leader.

Read the facts below. Then drain your dirty summer-worn oil and refill with GULFPRIDE now. At all Gulf dealers.

AN AMAZING TEST. Bottle No. 1 shows a mixture of 6 famous Pennsylvania motor oils. Bottle No. 2 shows them after being put through Gulf's Alchlor process. Bottle No. 3 shows the 20% waste removed from these already highly-refined oils by Gulf's Alchlor process. This process starts where others stop! That's why GULFPRIDE is the world's finest motor oil.

TOPS IN THE AIR—8 out of the 11 winners in last year's National Air Races used GULFPRIDE OIL, the identical oil you can buy for your car at any Gulf dealer. This "aviator's oil" will take you farther before you need to add a quart than any oil you ever used!

THE U. S. NAVY specifications for motor oil, as well as those of all other government agencies, are bettered on every point by GULFPRIDE. For instance, this oil forms only 1/4 the amount of carbon allowed by Navy specifications. That's why GULFPRIDE almost completely banishes carbon cleaning.

SURPRISE SHOWER FOR NEWLYWEDS

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Collette entertained at their beautiful farm home last Saturday night for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Enloe who were married recently at Spur. At eight o'clock friends who had been invited came to the Collett home and after a pleasant hour of diversion in games they were all surprised by the arrival of Mr. E. D. York who acted as postman by proxy. He had stacked all the parcels which the friends present had brought for the newlyweds as well as a huge stack of packages which had been set through "Air Mail" shower on the front porch. After the couple had been commanded to bring them in and open them all before the audience present, and about the time they were in the midst of inspecting the many beautiful and useful gifts that the friends and families of the bride and groom had honored them with, a commotion outside and after much persuasion the young bride and groom were ushered out to the porch the second time. There amid much ringing of an old cowbell that Mr. Collett had used in older days during buffalo and Indian hunts, sat Mr. Collett on his favorite horse. He is quite an accomplished horseman even at his age and he had gone out and roped a fine Jersey cow and brought her to the couple as one of their most valued gifts. Mr. Mason who was present made the remark that "that was just like Lum (Mr. Collett's nickname) to pull a stunt that no one else would ever think of." After much merriment and fun over the packages, some of them of a comical nature, the guests were invited to the dining room where a huge wedding cake, which was sent from a friend of the family, Mr. A. C. French of Springer, New Mexico, was cut. After being served with coffee, hot chocolate and the cake the guests departed to their homes after extending to the young couple their best wishes and congratulations.—Roaring Springs Reporter.

Isn't their sight worth enough to make you find out what your lighting may be doing to it?

● You bundle up your children against cold and rain. You see that they are tucked snugly in bed at night. You are constantly on guard lest they be harmed in some way. You try to shield them from every danger . . . but are you sure about eyestrain?

Sight is their most precious possession. Yet do you let them read and play on the floor where the light is never adequate for even simple visual work? Can you say for sure whether the lighting in your home is letting your children's eyes develop normally? Do you know that your child has enough light for his studying tasks?

Don't guess—be sure. There has been too much guessing about proper lighting. And mainly because of improper lighting, one child in every five has defective vision by the time he finishes grade school. The ratio increases to two out of five by the time they reach college age.

The L.E.S. Indirect Floor and Student Lamp is a simple, economical way to be sure that your child is studying under proper lighting conditions. What is more, the entire family can enjoy and will appreciate this modern, better light. See these lamps on display . . . today!

Glass bowl softens light, prevents glare.
Wide shade spreads light over wide area.

Ballots, Larger Than Newspaper Off Press

The Times job printing department this week completed the printing of the general election ballots to be used by Dickens and Kent county voters on November 3rd. They are larger than a page of this publication. The ballots are eight columns wide and carry the party candidates of Democratic, Republican, Socialist, Communist, Union, Prohibition, Independent and one column blank for any new party the voters may see fit to create. At the bottom and in the center are six proposed constitutional amendments. Three thousand five hundred ballots were printed for this county while the order for Kent county was filled with one thousand five hundred copies. Absentee voting in both counties is now in order.

PATTON SPRINGS SCHOOL TO OPEN FRIDAY, OCT. 30

The Patton Springs high school board decided at a meeting last week to recess the school until Friday, October 30th, in order to allow pupils to assist in the gathering of the cotton crop, Supt. O. C. Southall informed the Times this week.

The resumption of the work on Friday is due to the fact that the Deputy State Superintendent, J. D. Wilson, will be with the school on that date and it is necessary to have regular sessions on the day of his visits, the Superintendent pointed out.

"The school board is very desirous that all pupils return to school on Friday, October 30th, the date of Mr. Wilson's proposed visit," Supt. Southall stated.

Texas Tech College Homecoming Day to Be Held Saturday

Homecoming Day at Texas Technological College, of Lubbock, is expected to attract between 12,000 and 15,000 according to a letter received by the Times' Acting Editor this week from Bradford Knapp, president of the college. The climax of the day is to be reached in the evening when the Tech Red Raiders entertain the Gentlemen from Centenary College on the Lubbock gridiron.

Luncheons with the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and tours of the college campus have been planned for guests of the day, including various special invited newspaper editors of this section of the state.

Returning exes will participate in a radio broadcast, featuring musical units, official speakers and Red Raiders football luminaries, over a Texas Quality network at 6:30 Friday evening. Besides the pep rally there will be fireworks displays, swingy collegiate dances and all in all a two-day social whirl that only youth can withstand. Social activities will be climaxed with the annual alumni banquet Saturday night in the Women's Residence hall on the campus.

On the football field Saturday night will be two elevens that have been ringing the southwestern conference doorbell for several seasons, and each has already defeated a loop team this season. Another bit of color comes with the claim that Centenary is the oldest college west of the Mississippi while the occasion of the contest is to celebrate Texas Tech's eleventh birthday.

These two facts alone are said to be enough to pack the new 15,000 seat horseshoe stadium at Lubbock, without saying anything of the merits of either team.

Many exes from this city and county are expected to attend the celebration with many more of the colleges local fans driving to the South Plains city for the grid classic Saturday night.

men (?) in bed and above his stretching arms are the words, "Oh boy—what a swell dream. I dreamed you paid me that old account." We got a hunch there is something besides the desire for us to pay that prompts the continuation of such illustrated statements from the bookkeeping department of the local firm. But, just in case they do mean business, we promise to pay that bill next month or the next. If we do pay it, however, the bookkeepers will no longer have fun cutting out comic pictures.

We are glad that we are not in J. J. Taylor's shoes. Joe Long, of this city, is after the Dallas News editorial writer with rifle and bayonet and State Press will receive the official "burn-up" through a letter soon, according to the local man. It all started when State Press commented on an article which ran in this department a few weeks ago regarding a feud between Long and Bill Kyle over coffee warm-ups and drink cool-ups. Joe Long is Spur dealer of the Dallas News and of course discovered the article. If he knew Taylor as we have known him for many years Joe would know that the Dallas News man couldn't be "burned up" (we used to try it from Navasota). Here is the article, which ran in Saturday's Dallas News, that Joe pretends made him so angry:

"We had hoped that cafe patrons out West would have more consideration for the cafe owner than to cozen him out of a second cup of coffee by requesting an addition to warm up the leavings of the first cup—at the price of one cup. That sort of shenanigan is practiced in this town to a considerable extent, but we supposed it was indulged only by our professional city slickers. State Press is not one of them. He takes his coffee at the refectory presided over by Doc Daniell, and pays for only one cup. The price is 5c, which is high enough as the sups are not comparable to quart cans, nevertheless S. P. never tries to gouge Mr. Daniell by ordering a fresh pour as a warm-up. Mr. Daniell insists that he can't make any money at the prices he charges, and more than once has intimated that he would be pleased to see S. P. order more extravagantly. Not that he has implied any wish to get rid of S. P. as a customer. He has only said that a customer who takes a cup of coffee and nothing else is a dead loss to the dealers, counting the cost of the crockery, the service and the rent. Perhaps Bill Kyle out there at Spur, would do well to insinuate to Joe Long that two cups of coffee come to 10c. Otherwise Bill Kyle can take his patronage to some establishment which enjoys his company more than his nickel."

Teachers Retirement Plan to be Voted On At General Election

On March 12, 1935, the House Committee on the Constitutional Amendment went on record as unanimously favoring the submission of an amendment which would enable the legislature, after its adoption, to enact teacher retirement laws. On the following day a lay committee of the Senate voted 7 to 2 in favor of submitting a similar resolution. In each instance the resolution went to its respective body for consideration.

In April, both houses approved the resolution by an overwhelming majority and on May 1 the Governor signed the resolution submitting the amendment to the people, who will vote on it on November 3.

It is gratifying to the friends of better schools for Texas that the lawmakers are taking the advanced stand already taken by more than half of our educationally progressive states and territories.

Texas is requiring of her teachers good health, high moral standards, broad professional training and continued study. Yet the children can be further safeguarded by providing an adequate teacher retirement law.

With the passing of time, every teacher, as well as every other worker, sooner or later becomes disqualified for effective service. Under present conditions few teachers can accumulate sufficient reservations in the form of savings from salaries to protect them when disqualified for further service in the school system. A plan providing for teacher retirement allowances has proven to be most effective and satisfactory in both government and business.

"In our schools the interest of pupils and public alike make this protection especially desirable," O. C. Thomas, educational director of the teachers retirement plan in Dickens county explained.

Voters of this section, as well as the entire area of Texas, will find the amendment the second on the ballot at the November third election, and are urged by the county directors to cast their vote for the plan.
