School Lunch Rooms Getting Started

Jayton schools have been serving hot lunches since the opening of school three weeks ago. Matador and Roaring Springs started lunch rooms Monday and have been serving pupils hot lunches this week. The lunch room at Spur schools was started Tuesday and about 50 pupils were served and are being served this week. More pupils will be served hot lunches next week.

Patton Springs, Dickens and Girard schools are making arrangements for school lunch rooms and it is thought some of them will be ready by next week. Dry Lake school started hot lunches Wednesday with the entire school cooperating.

Bulldogs to Play Olton Friday

The Spur Bulldogs will go into their third game of the season by meeting Olton's fast eleven at Olton Friday. The Bulldogs have been making some good showing, although they have taken defeat gracefully in two games. They have been working out daily this week and have been getting their plays better organized and expect to make a very fine showing at the Olton game.

Olton is scheduled as the district champions in District 3-A. They played Matador last Friday and scored to the tune of 53 to 12 over the fast Matadors. The game Friday will give the people a very good idea of the strength of Matador and Spur Bulldogs since the two games with Olton will be just one week apart.

A number of people from Spur are making plans to accompany the team to Olton Friday and see the Bulldogs through the game.

Dickens P. T. A. Meeting Next Week

The members of the Dickens Parent-Teacher Association are sponsoring a book and magazine drive to improve the school library at Dickens. The next meeting of the Association will be Thursday night of next week, October 3, and it is the hope of the officers and directors that people will each bring either a book or a magazine for the library at that time. If anyone desires to bring more than one book or magazine, that will be their privilege.

The officers urged that patrons attend the Parent-Teacher meeting next Thursday night at the high school.

Talks Over Oil Problems

LEE HARRISON

At a meeting of independent oil operators at the Hotel Lubbock Monday night, Charles Van Cleck, of Tulsa, field manager for the Independent Petroleum Association of America, discussed the problems and difficulties confronting independent oil people today. Mr. Van Cleck pointed out about nine conditions which he stated should demand the attention of independent operators in West Texas as well as in other sections.

The meeting was sponsored largely by Dr. Sam E. Dunn, Lee Harrison, who just completed a well at Lubbock and other citizens interested in the oil industry. There were about 125 operators and others who attended the meeting.

Attorney George W. Dupree served as presiding officer of the meeting. Associated with him at the head table were: Representative Hop Halsey, President Clifford B. Jones, Dr. Dunn, Sam C. Arnett, Lubbock banker, Mr. Van Cleck, Lee Harrison, R. V. Oberholtzer, operator at Brownfield and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Starcher of the Times office.

Mr. Van Cleck discussed some things relative to H. B. 2246 now before Congress, and stated what would be the damage to independent operators in event it becomes a law. He stated that independent operators had brought in more than 75 per cent of the new fields in the Southwest. He gave data and statistics on the oil industry to show that should the independent operators be crowded out of the game that it would mean a great loss to the American people.

Spur Pep Squad Being Organized

The Pep Squad for the Spur schools is being organized at this time. The Pep Squad is supposed to keep up the morale of the football team while in progress of a game and then be able to execute some stunts on the field between halves. Leaders have been appointed. They are: Betty Jo Miller, Lois Rape and Bonnie Doyle Turpen.

The work will be under the leadership of Mrs. L. D. Foreman, the physical education instructor. Mrs. Foreman is a graduate of the Texas State College for Women and majored in physical education work. She has quite a lot of work done on her M. S. Degree, and has taught physical education work in Cross Plains, Crane and Coleman before coming to Spur. Dickens County Receives $7,257.73

Judge Boedeker has just received from the State Comptroller of Public Accounts a check of $7,257.73 to be accredited to the Lateral Road Fund of Dickens County. The Lateral Road Fund is the surplus of the gasoline tax after road bonds have been serviced. The regular session of the Legislature failed to pass legislation providing for the surplus to come to the counties and it also failed to provide for the servicing of bonded indebtedness, but in the special session just closed, bonded indebtedness was assumed and the surplus to be divided between the counties and the State Highway Department and expended according to certain provisions of law. The above amount represents what Dickens County was entitled to under the old law, the new law will diminish the amount considerably.

Will Sell by the Pound or by the Measure

The Safeway Stores over the country are inaugurating the plan of selling everything by the pound or by measure as is appropriate to the article of commerce they may have to sell. This line of stores are trying to get everybody on the basis of fair measure, fair weight and fair dealing in all business.

This is only a fair means to everyone concerned. In the line of fruits, in order that the public may get any where near a fair deal, there must be the expense of classifying fruits. The large apples, oranges, grapefruits, etc., are packed in one crate and the smaller ones in another crate all of which calls for extra expense the people who do such work must be paid their wage. The buyer eventually pays the difference. If such fruits are shipped in bulk and sold by the pound, then the customer can pick out either the large or small fruit and pay for it by the pound and no one is cheated in any manner.

Eggs have been sold by the dozen the world over, since time immemorial. And yet, there is a variation in the weight of eggs that will range from one to five or six ounces per dozen. In some states eggs are sold by the pound, the price being computed on the basis of 24 ounce eggs per dozen and then sold by the pound.

In most cases people who go into a grocery to secure lettuce will pick around over the stock to secure the largest head whether or not they need it, just because lettuce sells for so much per head. The same is true of celery and other articles. If these articles were sold by the pound then it would not matter whether the head of lettuce were large or small. The customer would get the proper quantity by pound.

It is the purpose of the Safeway stores to try to equalize prices by placing such articles on the pound basis. It will be fair to everybody, you only pay for the merchandise you buy.

The Cotton Picking Problem

A number of farmers were talking the last of the week in regard to the harvesting of the present cotton crop. Some seem to think there will be a lack of pickers for the Dickens County cotton fields because of the select draft and the work of preparedness has taken out several people. If farmers will just think a minute that there have been fewer than 50 people taken out by the draft and that the work on the preparedness program requires men who never pick cotton, then possibly they may calm their fears.

Some cotton picking promoters have been talking about $1.00 per hundred and more for pulling cotton. Last year cotton sold for around eight cents and pickers were eager to pull cotton for 35 cents per hundred. At present cotton here is bringing around 16 cents and basis of that price cotton pulling would go at about 70 cents. Several farmers have stated they are going to start pulling at 75 cents per hundred, and possibly $1.00 to $1.25 per hundred for picking. One farmer stated pickers asked him as much as $1.50 per hundred to pull cotton and he told them he would not pay above 75 cents. That was three weeks before pulling began. Later he was asked when his cotton would be ready and he told them about a certain day. Again, the pickers asked the price and he told them 75 cents. He stated he had 20 pickers in his field when the weather had cleared up to where they could pull cotton.

The cotton crops in South and East Texas is short this year, and in many places they are through harvesting. Those farmers did not pay very high prices for picking. In eastern states cotton is being picked for 75 cents per hundred, and farmers here usually pay about the same price for pulling that the Eastern States pay for picking. Cotton here is much better than it was in those states. There will be plenty of cotton pickers, or pullers here before long and there is no need for farmers to become excited because some cotton pickers tells of a big price in other sections.

Again, the federal government has released 51,000 Mexican laborers and given permits for them to come across the border from Old Mexico to assist in harvesting the Texas cotton crop. These laborers will be in this section before long and will more than make up for any shortage of laborers that may have been caused in other ways.

It must be understood that 80 per cent of the cotton pickers that assist in harvesting the cotton here, are transient people. Most of these people pick over the best, get all the money they can and go to other sections. If farmers are forced to pay the worth of cotton to get it harvested, they had just as well leave it in the fields and use it for stock pasture and fertilizer to the soil. A fair price should be paid. That is right and just but a fair price should be satisfactory to everybody. The present price of cotton may not hold up and if picking is above the price and cotton prices go down, it will be difficult to get picking down to where it should be, once it is started high. There will be plenty of pickers by the time the cotton fields are white, and farmers can get it picked at a fair price if they will not get too anxious.

The group of farmers who were talking expressed their views along the above mentioned lines.

Differing Is Not Disunity

by RUTH TAYLOR

Strangers to our shores are often confused by the apparent lack of unity, by the vociferous expression of difference of opinion, by the heated arguments over everything and nothing, and by what they think must be undemocratic tendencies in our social life.

"How can such things happen in a democracy?" they say. "If a democracy makes all men equal, then why does everyone criticize everyone else?"

What they fail to realize is that this variance of opinions is democracy. It is a free expression and interchange of ideas.

The difference of opinion is not that of enmity, but rather that of an exchange of views in a large family, diametrically opposed to each other in their choice of desserts or movie stars, but basically in harmony when anything of importance comes up, and ready to act as a family once there is a decision made that affects the good of any or all.

The points of difference in America are far less important than the points of agreement. We may seem to devote more time to them and to grow more articulate over them, but as a people we speak more of non-essentials than of those more serious things to which we give allegiance. We still have the shyness of the idealist.

It should be remembered that the people who settled this country all wanted one thing—freedom to live their own lives and to gain for themselves and their descendants a better life than they had known. One thing that has kept America growing rather than static has been that for every man there has been the hope that his children would go farther and fare better than he had, both economically and socially. Our greatest unifying force is the ideal of religious, social, political and economic opportunity which in the last analysis motivates the majority of our citizens.

Because we have this inheritance of freedom, we can be intelligently a united nation—not in slavish obedience to orders, but because in times of emergency we choose to act as one people, never abdicating our rights to differ or to express that difference. We are one because we are free to know the truth and to speak it. We do not have to have it kept from us. In every time of crisis we have proven that we can stand together. We will not fail now.

Latin America Now Chief Source of Retenone Material

War-time shipping conditions having restricted access to the normal supply of rotenone material in the Far East, increased importation for Latin America is in prospect.

"Retenone," say Cameron Siddall, entomologist of the A. and M. College Extension Service, "has come into wide use as an insecticide in the United States in the past ten years. It is deadly to insects attacking livestock and plants, and to other cold-blooded creatures, but harmless to warm-blooded animals. While rotenone is not produced commercially in the United States, a plant commonly named 'Devil's Shoestring,' which grows freely in the deep sandy areas of central and eastern Texas, contains an extractive percentage of the poison and studies are being pursued by specialists at A. and M. College to determine productive types."

The most common source of rotenone is the derris root found in British Malaya and the Netherlands East Indies, and nearly one half of the 6,500,000 pounds imported into the United States in 1940 was of that origin. The remainder came from Latin America and consisted of cube, timbo and barbasco roots. Siddall quoted Dr. R. C. Roark, in charge of insecticide investigation for the Bureau, that "numerous tests have shown that rotenone is of equal potency whether produced from the barbasco of South America or the derris of the east, the only variation being in the rotenone content of the roots."

Although rotenone-bearing roots have for centuries been used as a jungle fish poison, Siddall says, their rise in commercial importance is a phenomenon in agricultural history. In 1930, trade in the roots was practically nonexistent.

"The Texas 'Devil's Shoestring' is equally toxic to fish."

Dairy Activities Reach Peak in 1941

Summing up 1941 dairy activities throughout the State, A. J. Riddle of Denison, President of the Texas Dairy Products Association, expresses the belief that dairying interest reached a new all-time high during the year. It has been said that under prevailing prices more revenue can be derived from 10 good dairy cows and their offspring than from 40 beef producing cows. That the demand is general is evidenced by the fact that the Farm Security Administration has in the past five years placed more than 500,000 dairy cows with their clients in Texas and Oklahoma. They report a steadily increasing demand during 1941.

Increased interest and production has been responsible for the extension of facilities at dairy manufacturing plants. This has been necessary to meet Secretary of Agriculture Wickard's request for increased dairy production for defense purposes.

Afton Mustangs Defeat Owls in Close Game

A hotly contested game and one that commanded much interest and many thrills was played Friday afternoon between the Dickens Owls and the Patton Springs Mustangs. Patton Springs received and carried the ball to the 35 yard line. During the next play a muster was made and Gib Ragland carried the ball 45 yards for a touchdown. Patton Springs failed for the extra point and the score was 6 to 0.

The Owls received next and were at their 24-yard line. They made four yards and four yards and failed on a pass. They kicked to the Mustang's 24-yard line. Patton lost three yards and then gained it back. Failed on a pass and kicked to the Owl's 35-yard line.

Dickens gained 17 yards for a first down. Gained nine yards, failed on a pass, then failed on downs and ball went over at the 19-yard line. Patton gained six, lost two and then made 17 yards for a first down. Attempted a pass which the Owls took over and carried to the five yard line. Gained three yards on pass, and then over for a touchdown. The Owls made the extra point and the score was 6 to 7 for the Owls.

Patton received with the ball going out at the 30-yard stripe. Patton lost seven yards and the quarter was called. Patton made no gain and kicked to the Owl's 43-yard line.

Dickens lost two yards, failed on pass and took a penalty of 15 yards. Dickens fumbled at the 24-yard line and took another 10-yard penalty. The Mustangs intercepted a pass and were at the 7-yard line. They went over for a counter. Converted and the score was 13 to 7 for the Mustangs.

Dickens received at their 17-yard line. Gained five yards and lost five. Gained two and three, and the ball goes over. Patton made one play and went over 23 yards for their third counter. Failed to convert and the score was 19 to 7 for the Mustangs.

The Owls received at their 33-yard line. Gained 5 yards, three yards and three yards for a first down. The Owls failed on three attempted passes. The Mustangs recovered the ball on their 24-yard line. They gained ten yards for a first down, and the half was up.

Dickens received and had the ball on their 18-yard line. They gained 10 yards and a bargain. See Mrs. W. Hutto. 9-25-41

Rate Reduction for Stock Shippers

According to information from Washington, railroads have granted a rate reduction designed to benefit livestock shippers. The rate concession, which became operative August 1, is experimental for one year. Sale-in-transit privileges will be accorded to shippers of stocker and feeder animals at the central markets at the through 85-per cent stocker and feeder rates from origin to destination. The rate adjustment is important to Texas cattlemen because this state is the largest shipper of livestock in the United States, said Paul G. Haines of the A. and M. College Extension Service.

"The privilege of sale in transit means that when a shipper finds a more favorable market during transit he can unload his cattle and sell them without rate penalty," Haines said. "This does not mean elimination of certain rate differentials affecting the southwest, but it is a step in the right direction."

The railroads announced that continuation of the new schedule would depend upon whether increased traffic justified it.

High blood pressure is called a serious disease. Also hand pressure from too sentimental charmers has gotten many boys into trouble.

Too many motorists are driving on the wrong side of the road. The police will say some of them will find themselves on the wrong side of the lock-up, if they are not more careful. If the young people drive so fast on the road they are liable to accident and if they stop and park, they are liable to get engaged.

Some husbands in Spur say they are in the doghouse. They should be let out long enough each day to provide food for the family.

Afton Co-Operative Holds Meeting

progress in any line is made. Joe Goss discussed the work and purposes of the Future Farmers of America. Miss Henrietta Perrin, County Home Demonstration Agent, made a very fine talk on Home Dem-onstration Work. O. L. Kelley, Coun-ty School Superintendent, made a very interesting talk on the impor-tance of farming. He stated that just everybody cannot be a good farmer, that it requires study and planning and wide experience to farm. The master of ceremonies then introduced a number of visitors. Mack Woodrum spoke on the field of work now being carried on by county agents.

Frank Campbell, of Lubbock, was then introduced who spoke of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation. Mr. Campbell is manager of the Farmers Co-Operative Oil Mill at Lubbock. He spoke of the importance of the farm-ers combining to advance their in-terests and that the Farm Bureau Federation is an organization where-by they can work together. He stated that the cotton seed oil mill at Lubbock has proven a success and it has made money for the farmers in various ways.

Mr. Campbell introduced Charlie Harmon who is president of the Lub-bock Co-Operative Cotton Seed Oil Mill. In addition Mr. Harmon, who

INDIANS DEFEAT SPUR BULLDOGS 18 TO 0

With a staunch holding line and a speedy back field the Haskell Indians were able to hold the Spur Bulldogs off and to cross the goal line for three counters in a fast game Friday evening. The Bulldogs put up a strong fight to hold the visitors down, but in spite of all maneuvering the In-dians slipped through for substantial gains in each quarter. The visitors scored in each of the first three quar-ters, but never could convert for the extra points, making the score 18 to 0.

There was a remarkable improve-ment shown in the work of the Bull-dogs Friday night over their form of a week before. They played a faster, better organized and better trained team than they played the week before, and still held them to eight points less than their record of the first game. If the Bulldogs make as much improvement this week in form as they made last week, they will be somebody's problem in their next game. Coach Duckworth has no assistant coach this year and it is a big job to organize and train 45 raw recruits into a good team within two weeks. Mr. Wadzeck is going and assisting what time he can and it is thought that they will have the boys in good fettle by the opening of the conference games whiie is Octo-ber 10 with the Matadors.

Haskell made 13 first downs and Spur four. Haskell chalked up five penetrations and Spur three. Haskell gained 164 yards on punts and Spur 173. Haskell attempted two passes and Spur three and no passes com-pleted. Each side intercepted two passes. Spur received 15 yards in penalties and the Indians were given 30 yards on penalties.

Starting line-up for Haskell was as follows:

- Halfbacks, Schaffeur and Holcomb; Quarterback, Oates; Fullback, Patterson; Guards, Reese and Brock; Ends, Car and Johnson; Center, Lusk. The Bulldogs: Halfbacks, Elkins and Weaver; Quarterback, Ball; Fullback, Adcock; Guards, Smith and Stanley; Tackles, Hahn and Ericson; Ends, Hines and Fletcher; Center, Boothe. The Bulldogs will play at Olfen next Friday evening.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS HAS SOCIAL

YOUNG GRANDPA

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Green are the proud parents of a new baby in their home. Mr. Green is 53 years of age, and his father is 89. Mrs. Green's father is only 35 years of age, making the baby have a very young grand-father on his mother's side and a much older paternal grandfather. Mother and baby are doing fine at the Nichols' Sanitarium.

lives at Amherst, is manager of two cooperative gins, manager of a co-operative service station, manager of the community cooperative cold stor-age plant, and manager of the co-operative compress at Amherst. He owns several farms around Amherst which he operates in a cooperative manner and is so cooperative that he lets his wife manage the home with-out protest. He is rather cooperative and believes in farm cooperatives.

The last speaker on the program was C. A. Vestal, of Childress. He spoke on the mission of cooperatives. He announced that farmers should know more about their business than anyone else, and they should have more confidence in each other than anyone. He stated that farmers are working together now is the best thing in the world for them. He stated that bankers are beginning to believe in the business ability of farmers because they have establish-ed cooperatives and have made them a success, and bankers want to assist the people who prove they are a success. He made many fine state-ments in behalf of the farmers work-ing together and finally said, if others can make a profit out of the farmers products, the farmers can do so too.

There were about 1,000 people who enjoyed the barbecue of the Afton Farmers Co-Operative Gin. All of them seemed to enjoy a fine time and it was a great community affair.

The ball game in the afternoon, the account of which is given also in this issue, the old fiddlers contest and the free picture show given by Carl Randolph, completed the program of the day.

McAdoo Eagles Defeat Roaring Springs Six

The fast McAdoo Eagles proved too many for the Roaring Springs six in a game at McAdoo last Friday after-noon. The game was full of thrills from the first whistle and the score piled up to 47 to 21 in favor of the Eagles.

Neff made the first score on a run-ning play for the Eagles and the extra point was made on a pass from Neff to McWilliams. Rose heaved a pass to McWilliams who went over for a second counter, and then Rose kicked goal for two points. A pass from Rose to Neff proved another counter and the Eagles had 21 points to their credit.

In the second quarter Rose passed to Allen for another counter. Then McWilliams lateralled to Allen who went through for their fifth touch-down making their points 35 to 0.

McAdoo made two touchdowns in the third quarter and one extra pt. One touchdown came on a running play and the other was scored by Rose who received a punt and went over for the counter. However, Roaring Springs began to interfere with the Eagles aerial work and in-tercepted two passes and went over for two touchdowns. Roarings Springs scored a third touchdown on a running play, and they were able to convert in each event.

The Eagles made another score in the fourth with a pass from Rose to Allen, making their total up to 47 points while Roaring Springs gained only 21 points.

Starting line-ups were: McAdoo—L. E. Bill Davis, Cen-ter, Rosco McWilliams; Right, Na-than Pipkin; Quarter, Austin Rose, Jr.; Half, Noble Neff, and Fullback, Roy Allen. McWilliams is captain and Allen is co-captain.

Roaring Springs: Left end, Wil-liams; Center, Roberts; Right End, Dillard; quarter, Harmon; Half, Thacker; Fullback, Swin. McAdoo plays Dickens at McAdoo Friday afternoon, September 26. The game will be called about 1:15 o'clock.

Can Hitler Tell the Truth . . . ? . . . Or Is He a Pathological Liar?

A new Nazi offensive has begun. It is a propaganda offensive, emanating from Berlin and designed to achieve a negotiated peace now, while Hitler is still master of Europe and rich with the spoils of war.

Hitler is reported to be willing, at last, to stop the war and allow both Britain and the United States to live in peace, side by side with his new world order—and presumably with no need to fear any further aggression on the part of Nazi Germany.

Isolationists, Nazi-sympathizers, and other persons devoted only to the ideal of peace believe that such an offer from Hitler should be accepted. But if Hitler were to state specifically that Nazi aggression is now ended for all time, could he be believed? Can Hitler tell the truth, or is he just a pathological liar?

A retrospective analysis of Hitler's record for keeping promises is presented in the latest March of Time film entitled "Peace—by Adolf Hitler." Thoroughly documented with exclusive pictures from inside Nazi-dominated Europe, the March of Time reveals clearly that Hitler is no man to trust.

EXPERT BETRAYER

No conqueror, the film points out, has ever exploited more shrewdly than Hitler the technique of systematic falsehood and betrayal. In taking over each of the fifteen countries he has conquered to date, he has loudly reiterated that Germany seeks only peace. On each occasion, he has declared Germany's territorial ambitions fulfilled.

While appeasers, taking him at his word, have repeatedly allowed him to prepare for further conquests and have themselves eventually succumbed to his war machine.

Adolf Hitler's public career as a liar began with his early campaign for power, the March of Time film shows. His oft-repeated promise to the war-weary people of the Reich was: "Germany needs peace. Germany wants peace. I promise you peace!"

Hardly had he become Fuehrer when he began to rearm his people secretly. Soon he marched into the demilitarized Rhineland in violation of the Versailles Treaty, pausing only to tell startled Europe: "Now, we have no territorial demands to make in Europe. Germany will never break the peace."

Adolf Hitler promised Austria that he would forever respect her independence, but early in 1938 a Nazi army of 150,000 men marched into Vienna and ended little Austria's 800-year-old independence.

To ensure "peace in our time,"

Britain's Neville Chamberlain went to Munich and acceded to Adolf Hitler's demand for the Sudetenland portion of Czechoslovakia. Following this act of appeasement, Hitler said: "This is the last territorial claim which I have to make in Europe. I shall not be interested in the Czech state any more, and I can guarantee it." But within six months, Hitler's war machine swept into Prague and all of the free people of Czechoslovakia became enslaved subjects of Nazi Germany.

With his eastern neighbor, Poland, Adolf Hitler not only made solemn treaties of friendship but even shared some of the territory he seized from Czechoslovakia. He said: "Our agreement with Poland will bring about lasting and continuous peace. Unconditionally we shall adhere to the treaty." But late in 1939 Poland was in ruins and her helpless people had been marched off to furnish slave labor for the great new Germany.

Again Adolf Hitler shared his spoils—this time with a new friend. He gave almost half of conquered Poland to Soviet Russia while he loudly proclaimed: "German-Russian relations have been finally settled. Any territorial differences between the two states are hereby excluded for all eternity."

SOVIET BEFRIENDED

With Soviet Russia thus befriended, Adolf Hitler felt that his path was clear to wage total war against vanquished Poland's powerful allies—France and England. He had reassured

Europe's frightened neutral nations that he would respect the sanctity of their frontiers; but within a few short weeks his armies marched across Denmark, Norway, Holland and Belgium—neutral countries all!

After conquering his old enemy France, Adolf Hitler turned to the East to smash through more neutral frontiers, until he had dragged into his Greater Germany a total of fifteen nations—nations which, with foolhardy optimism, had listened to the Fuehrer's solemn pledges: "We have assured all our immediate neighbors of the integrity of their territory. This is no hollow phrase; it is our sacred will. We have no interest in breaking the peace. We want nothing of these peoples."

NO. 1 DOUBLE-CROSS

But the newspaper headlines recording the most spectacular betrayal of Hitler's career are not yet dry! Within recent weeks he has struck with full force against his late partner, Josef Stalin.

This spring, when a rapidly-awakening America began to take Hitler seriously and to make herself strong, the Nazi Fuehrer was quick to say: "A German invasion of either American continent is as wildly imaginary as an invasion of the moon." This statement will unfortunately be accepted as true by appeasers, isolationists and others who are inclined to be guided more by their natural desire for negotiating an immediate peace than by hard-headed considerations of what it means to deal with Hitler. But the Fuehrer's record—so clearly pictured in the new March of Time film—is in itself conclusive proof that there can be no such thing as "Peace—by Adolf Hitler."

How Often Should We Pray?

by C. V. ALLEN

Most of us limit our praying to the times and occasions when we are asked to pray or when circumstances somewhat, force us to pray. We are at worship and someone calls on us; we sit down at the table to eat and it is expected that we give thanks; trouble or sorrow comes and we feel that we should pray; bedtime comes and we feel that it is our duty to pray. How skimpy is our idea of prayer. How imperished are our lives, thereby.

The Bible teaches that we should have a well ordered life of specific praying—certain times each day for talking with God. Daniel prayed three times a day. David prayed morning, noon and evening. Christ spent much time in pray "as was his custom". Paul speaks repeatedly about prayer. In the temple worship they had "hours of prayer". Bedtime is universally as the best time for prayer. It is a good time. We should never sleep without making peace with God, having made peace with out fellowman first), without having talked things over with God and obtained forgiveness for every mistake of our lives. We could well begin the day with a talk with God, which would help reduce the mistakes we have to confess in the evening. Mealtimes afford an ideal opportunity to offer a prayer of simple, heartfelt thanks for temporal blessings. There is this danger in a regular time for prayer; we are prone to limit our praying to this time, say "our prayers" (same one over and over) instead of really praying (talking with God). In spirit we get like the fellow we have heard of so often, who wrote out his prayer, tacked it on the wall over his bed and each evening pointed to it, before jumping in bed, with these words: "Lord they are my sentiments".

Also, every child of God should pray in public worship. Prayer is the core of all worship. Acts 2: 42 teaches that every child of God in the early church "continued steadfastly in prayer". Every admonition to pray is to all Christians. When we call on some brother to "lead us in prayer", the idea is, the assumption is, that the church is going to pray and this brother called upon is to lead. Every one should either pray his own prayer or enter into and make the prayer of the leader his own prayer. Have you been missing this great means of spiritual blessing? Beyond this, each worshipper should offer such prayers as may be in his heart at any time during the worship that he feels like it. We go to God's House to worship. Prayer is the core of worship. Try praying when no prayer session has been announced and find an undreamed of source of blessing. "Pray without ceasing" 2 Thess. 5: 17 teaches that our life should be so filled with and controlled by regular, specific praying that our lives (thoughts, words, actions, associations, etc.) will be one continual thanks and petition to God. Not that we have to go around mumbling words to God, nor continually thinking a prayer to God, but that our lives should be altogether in tune with God, so filled with a spirit of gratitude, reverence, humility, submissiveness and praise toward God that we could stop wherever we are, at anytime that a prayer would be needful or helpful for ourselves or others and pray to our heavenly Father. There is a danger here too—Danger that we will consider "the desire of our heart" as sufficient and neglect wording our prayers to God. Paul says Rom. 10: 1—"My heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved." Read: Luke 18: 14, 1 Tim. 2: 8, Eph. 6: 18.

The American girls are said to be the best lookers in the world. One more of the perils of living in this country. Ponce de Leon, famous explorer, came to this country to find the fountain of youth. The fountain the modern world looks for is contained in brightly colored pumps along the roads. The young people are told to be careful of their eyes. The boys say it rests them to look at the pretty girls. Some men, it is said, will walk a girl all over the floor, and think they are dancing. Well, it's something to show anybody that he or she can walk, and does not have to go anywhere in a car. Men over 27 may be released from military service, but they are still liable to be drafted for matrimony.

No Profits for Railroads if Labor Demands Met

Contending the pending wage requests by railway labor are "confiscatory demands," in his opening statement today before the fact finding board appointed by President Roosevelt, J. Carter Fort, chief counsel for the railroads, pointed out that if the wage requests of the operating and non-operating groups are to be taken seriously at their face value, and railway wages are boosted an estimated $900,000,000, virtually all earnings of the railroads will be expropriated from the owners of the properties and turned over to employees.

Speaking of the $900,000,000 which would be added to the railroad payroll annually, Mr. Fort said, "I do not think there will be much occasion to refer again to that fantastic figure because we have no desire to try this case on a fictitious issue as the figure in question was obviously put forward as an extreme and reckless trading proposition."

"I believe," said Mr. Fort, "that if the employees could fix their own wages they would decide in favor of a very small fraction of the increases set out in their formal requests. They know their welfare is inseparably tied up with the railroad industry and that the destruction or crippling of that industry would mean nothing but harm to them. They know that their industry is engaged in a bitter competitive struggle with new modes of transportation and must keep its costs at a minimum if it is to maintain its position in the transportation field."

It must be constantly borne in mind that the conditions now existing on the railroads, and in the country at large, are of a temporary and artificial nature due to the national defense program, he said.

"As a result of these expenditures and related matters, the demands for transportation have increased and the traffic, revenues and earnings of the railroads are at present more favorable than they have been for many years," Fort said.

"However, the railroad earnings, even in this temporary period are high only by contrast with those during the ten-year period of famine and distress which preceded the defense period. They are in no sense excessive. The return on investment for the calendar year 1941 will be about 4%.

Continuing, Mr. Fort said, "While no one knows how long the existing artificial situation will continue, it is plain that when the demand for transportation incident to defense work has ceased, the competition with other forms of transportation which the railroads have had to meet in recent years will reassert itself in aggravated form as a result of additional highway improvements, increased shipping and shipbuilding facilities, increased airplane production facilities and additional improved inland waterways."

"In short, the prevailing temporary situation in the railroad industry is not significant of the true condition of that industry and is not to be regarded as a demonstration or even an indication that the industry has returned to health."

"In view of the experience of the past ten years and of the prospects for the future, we cannot escape the conclusion that it would be reckless and irresponsible for those charged with the duties of management in the railroad industry to agree at a

A MESSAGE OF APPRECIATION

We can find no words to express our appreciation and love for our many friends who have in so many, many ways helped us to bear this greatest sorrow that can come to a home, the losing of our precious daughter and sister. We think this poem comes nearer to our hearts in expressing our appreciation of our friends than anything we could say:

FRIENDSHIP

They come, they go; we meet, we part,
 And there the contest ends;
 Save for the ones who really care,
 Our joys increase, our sorrows share;
 And these we call our friends.
 Oft when life's deep solitude
 Brings out our human needs,
 We take our friendship rosary
 And count its precious beads,
 One by one, they walk with us
 To lend a helping hand—
 These friends apart from all the rest,
 The ones who understand.

time like this to a permanent increase in the wage burden."

Once basic wage rates are increased it is almost impossible to bring about a reduction, he said.

Citing figures of the Interstate Commerce Commission showing average annual earnings of railroad employes as $1,821 in 1940 and $1,659 in 1929, Mr. Fort said it appeared that they have fared extremely well in the past ten years "while the industry that affords them a living has been in the deepest distress."

The industry's distress has not been reflected in the wages or compensation paid employes except during the short period between 1932 and 1935 when a temporary deduction was made from the pay checks, he recalled. "Even during that time the cost of living dropped enough to offset twice over the temporary deduction from compensation," he said.

Referring again to the necessity for the railroads to earn a reasonable return, Mr. Fort said "that this was necessary not only in justice to the owners of railroad securities but also because of an even stronger consideration, the reestablishment of railroad credit to enable the industry to command the capital funds necessary for constant improvements. The industry cannot survive if the employes receive virtually all the earnings available for distribution between owners and the employes."

Mr. Fort said that figures would be presented to show that the earnings of railroad employes as a group are substantially higher than the earnings of employes in other industries generally, and that the regularity or stability of employment on the railroads is much more favorable.

"The railroads have always been liberal employers," Mr. Fort said. "They led the field, I believe, in granting voluntary pensions. Their employes were strongly organized long before employes in industry generally." He read a paragraph from an article on railroad in employment that appeared in the official of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen in 1937 that concluded: "There is no group of more than half

Sunday, October 5th, will be observed as China Relief Sunday and Chairman Adams is urging all the ministers in Texas to observe this Sunday in their churches and Sunday Schools by taking up collections in behalf of United China Relief.

The school children of Texas are being asked to contribute toward helping the children of China who are in such desperate need. State Superintendent of Education L. A. Woods is Chairman of the United China Relief Committee for Texas Schools. Money contributed by Texas children will be used to buy food, clothing and medicines for suffering Chinese youngsters. On October 10th will be celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of Chinese independence which will be featured by special programs and entertainments in behalf of United China Relief. Now FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES BY THE POUND!

Select a dozen big apples out of the crate... or a dozen little ones that you like to serve, baked, around a pork roast... but don't pay the same for them just because they came out of the same crate! The price charged is fair only when it is figured by the weight of the apples, not the dozen. That is the reason that Safeway has stopped counting and begun weighing all lettuce, cauliflower, celery, oranges, lemons, grapefruit, artichokes, avocados and apples, just as we weigh tomatoes, cucumbers, beans, peas, potatoes. This way you pay only for what you get. This way you do not feel obliged to buy the big apples when you want the little ones, to get your money's worth.

This means, too, that you are going to get still better fruits and vegetables at Safeway from now on... without those blemishes and bruises caused by customers' handling and pinching. No longer need you hesitate over the possible difference in value between two heads of lettuce. If one is worth less, you'll pay less for it.

Questions and Answers About Buying Fruits and Vegetables by the Pound

- Q. For years I have been buying fruits and vegetables by the dozen or each. I don't know what they weigh. How can I calculate my needs by the pound?
- A. Make your selections by count, and then we will help you figure the price of your selection by the weight. You'll soon get the habit.
- Q. If this plan is so good, why have merchants been selling by the count so long?
- A. Selling by piece is merely an old trade custom. In many localities apples, cauliflower, etc., have been sold by weight for years. Safeway is convinced that prices fixed by weight are fairest.
- Q. You say that by buying by weight Safeway can make savings that will be passed on to the customers. How is that?
- A. Well, take oranges, for instance. When growers and grade oranges for size they charge us more than the price they ask when we buy the oranges as they come from the trees regardless of size... only checked for quality, of course. It would be hard for us to quote a fair price on these big-and-little oranges by the dozen, but with a price by the pound you can select either the big or the little ones. And in the end you will pay less, just as we have paid less.
