Congress convenes; spending top item

By DONALD M. ROTHBARG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Congress in a tight-fisted mood is opening its two-year term with a flurry of maneuvering to realign legislative power to reflect last fall's elections.

Federal spending looks like the top domestic issue for the 96th Congress while relations with the Soviet Union and China will dominate early debates on foreign policy.

Despite Republican gains in November, the democrats remain firmly in control of both houses. The Senate lineup is 59 to 41 in the Democrats' favor, while in the House the Democrats have 277 seats to 158 for the Republicans.

The Democratic House majority assures Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., of re-election to another two-year term as speaker. Sen. Robert V. Byrd, D-W.Va., will continue as Senate majority leader.

While Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., is unopposed for another term as Senate minority leader, there are contests for three other posts in the Senate Republican leadership.

Sen. Harrison Schmitt of New Mexico is trying to unseat Sen. Ted Stevens of Alaska as assistant minority leader.

Sens. Robert Packwood of Oregon and James A. McClure of Idaho are running for the chairmanship of the Republican Conference and Sens. Orrin Hatch of Utah and John B. Heinz of Pennsylvania are vying to lead the Republican Senate Campaign Committee.

There are no contests among the Democratic leadership in the Senate.

House Democrats and Republicans have already voted to keep Jim Wright, D-Texas, as majority leader and John Rhodes, R-Ariz., as minority leader.

The principal power struggle in the House involves the chairmanship of the Appropriations Committee, a contest that won't be decided for at least a week.

On the basis of seniority, Rep. Jamie Whitten, D-Miss., is in line to succeed Rep. George Mahon, who did not run for re-election to his seat.

But Democratic liberals hope to convince the Democratic Caucus to bypass the Mis-issippi conservative in favor of Rep. Edward Boland of Massachusetts.

Seniority is expected to prevail despite the fact that Boland is one of O'Neill's oldest and closest friends.

There also is likely to be an attempt to oust Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa., under indictment on perjury charges, as chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that handles the budgets of the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare. Flood is expected to retain the chairmanship.

Shah may not return to Iran

By ROBERT H. REID
Associated Press Writer

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, his 37-year rule rocked by months of mass protest and bloodshed, will leave Iran on Tuesday for Aswan, Egypt, on his way to the United States, informed sources reported today.

Many here believe he may never return. New political violence flared across the country, and it was reported that 20 persons had been killed Sunday and today, including a former U.S. Air Force colonel in the southeastern city of Kerman.

U.S. Embassy officials identified him as Martin Berkowitz, 53, of San Francisco. The embassy gave no further details, but the newspaper Khayan reported Berkowitz was apparently stabbed Sunday night in the kitchen of his home in Kerman and that the words "Go Back To Your Country" were found scrawled on the wall of the house.

Khayan said Berkowitz was head of the Parson-Jordan Co., a copper-mining concern. The paper said his killers had not yet been identified.

The sources here confirmed an earlier report by Egyptian officials that the beleaguered 59-year-old shah would travel to Aswan. The Cairo officials said he would meet with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in the southern Egyptian town. The shah had been a guest of Sadat's in Aswan last January.

Before departing, the shah is scheduled to hold a rare news conference late Tuesday morning at his palace outside Tehran.

The Iranian Senate today hurriedly gave its endorsement to the new civilian government of Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar. It had been expected that once the lower house of parliament gives its approval — the vote is scheduled Tuesday — the shah would leave the country, clearing the way for Bakhtiar to take over full control of the nation.

The shah's journey, ending in the United States, has been described as an extended vacation, but many political observers here believe the popular opposition to the monarch will make it impossible for him to return. He has named a Regency Council to replace him during his absence.

Once the shah leaves, Bakhtiar will face the opposition of the exiled Moslem holy man Aiatollah Khomeini and his huge following, who demand an Islamic republic guided by religious leaders. Khomeini has denounced the Bakhtiar government as "illegitimate" because it was established under the shah.

In Tehran today, more than 100,000 people, in a festive mood but as usual chanting "Death to the shah!" and "Long live Khomeini!", jammed the streets around the main bazaar for the second successive day of massive anti-shah demonstrations.

Berkowitz was the second American slain in the year-long political upheaval in Iran. On Dec. 23, Paul Grimm, an American executive of the Western-run Oil Service Co. of Iran, was ambushed and killed by terrorists in the southwestern oil city of Ahwaz.

Anti-Americanism has been strong among anti-shah elements because of Washington's support of the monarch and because of what many Iranians see as Western domination of their country.

The Khayan newspaper said 17 persons were killed in political violence in 21 provincial towns and cities on Sunday.

Today's Senate vote of confidence for the new Bakhtiar government — 38-2 with one abstention — was a surprise. The Senate had been scheduled to debate Bakhtiar's program today but had not been scheduled to vote until Wednesday.

The lower house opened its debate Sunday and is scheduled to vote Tuesday.

A vote of confidence in both houses will give Bakhtiar the go-ahead for a 17-point program which he hopes will restore order to the country and get the oil industry and the economy moving again. The shah is expected to leave on the foreign vacation he has promised to take after the votes, but Khomeini and the other political and religious leaders demanding his abdication have not modified their opposition to Bakhtiar and his government.

During the Senate debate, Bakhtiar said he was in constant contact "with most religious leaders" and that this included Khomeini.

WINTER WEATHER brought good and bad news to many Pampans over the weekend. The skier shown above seems to be enjoying the snow. However, some residents suffered from power outages. Fortunately, the bread truck shown below seems to have made deliveries despite the snow and slush. The weatherman promised warmer weather for today but temperatures are expected to drop later this week.

State refinery walkout averted

PORT ARTHUR, Texas (AP) — A late-night bargaining session by company and union negotiators averted a threatened walkout by 7,000 workers at a Texaco refinery today, but a final agreement has not been reached.

Contract talks between Texaco and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union were to reopen later today after union and company negotiators reached an early morning agreement on non-monetary issues that had bogged down negotiations.

The OCAW had threatened to strike over reported reductions in lump sum retirement benefits and demands for the right to strike over non-arbitrable issues during the term of the new two-year agreement.

"I think we are in the ball park for negotiating the national program now," said OCAW negotiator Larry Stefflen, referring to an agreement reached last week between the OCAW and Gulf Oil in Denver.

Texaco has offered the union a two-year contract with an across-the-board 73 cents an hour pay raise the first year, with a 5 percent raise in 1980, plus increased health insurance contributions. Texaco's offer is similar to the Gulf settlement.

Meetings between company and union negotiators broke up at 2 a.m. after Texaco agreed to drop the non-monetary demands. Following an "informational meeting," union officials advised rank-and-file members to report for work today.

A company spokesman said there were no picket lines when the first shift reported to work at 7 a.m. Stefflen said a number of local issues remained unresolved, and would be negotiated along with the national contract.

Meanwhile, at the huge Gulf refinery and a nearby Atlantic-Richfield plant, 3,000 to 3,500 union members remained off the job despite the settlement the OCAW and Gulf reached in Denver. A union spokesman here said local issues must be resolved before workers vote on the proposed national contract.

Davis could face conspiracy verdict

By ROB WOOD
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — State District Judge Wallace Moore ruled today that he would advise the jury that it could convict Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis of either solicitation of capital murder or conspiracy to commit capital murder.

The ruling came over objections from the defense that wanted the charge to the jury to include only the solicitation count.

The ruling will give the jury greater leeway in considering the evidence presented during the lengthy trial.

It may find Davis guilty of either count or bring in a verdict of innocence. Defense lawyers said there could not have been any conspiracy because the chief prosecution witness was an FBI informant and had no intention of carrying out a conspiracy.

The prosecution argued that there was evidence of a conspiracy and the judge agreed.

Both offenses are punishable by five to 99 years in prison. Moore plans to read his charge to the seven-man, five-woman jury Tuesday morning.

Then they will listen to eight hours of final arguments and begin deliberations of one of the most bizarre and expensive cases in Texas history.

Since the trial began, one witness has been charged with perjury, another may face the same charge, and others have testified they are former convicts and one said she earned part of her income as a prostitute.

Spicy lesson served

By MILLER BONNER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of West Texans got a spicy lesson in Texas-style politics along with their eggs and bacon this morning from Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, the new dean of the Texas delegation on Capitol Hill.

Brooks, presiding over a breakfast honoring Rep.-elect Kent Hance, quickly explained that the Lone Star State has enjoyed "considerable power, some prestige and, on occasion, some influence," by electing young men to Congress and keeping them there.

Texas voters, said Brooks, differ in that regard from their counterparts in other states who "elect a Democrat one year, a Republican two years later. 'I grin every time I hear of such things because I know that means just that much more for my folks and that much less for them."

Brooks said he never wanted to visit such districts because, "I don't even know if they've got roads. I know they don't have any dams or big (federally-funded) projects."

"It's strongly to your benefit and to the benefit of our state to elect a man who is young and keep sending him up here."

"As for myself, I don't want to make a career of it," joked the man about to begin his 14th term. "Twenty more years, when all the kids are out of school..."

Hance and eight other newly-elected Texans will take the oath of office later this afternoon, marking a dramatic change in the makeup of Texas'

24-member delegation to the House.

Hance replaces the retiring dean of the House, George Mahon, who had been the only person to represent the 19th congressional district in its 44 years of existence. Last year, the Texas members averaged nearly 57 years of age with almost 16 years of House experience.

Beginning today, the delegation averages 47 years of age and nearly 8 years of experience.

Brooks, the chairman of the House Government Operations Committee that will oversee any re-organization plans President Carter has in mind this year, said Hance, and the other rookies have already begun to rely on the unity of the Texas delegation.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

A restatement of old beliefs

We have been trying to come up with some splendid new ideas on how we as a newspaper might help readers, taxpayers, citizens enjoy a fuller and more fruitful life during the year ahead.

And we have come to this conclusion: that it really matters little what we do for you; it is what you do for yourself that counts. We can't give you self-discipline; we can't give you wisdom; we can't give you understanding.

All we can do is give you a newspaper, every day, and hope that what we have done - what is in that newspaper - will help you to achieve that richer, fuller life that everyone seems to want.

One of the things that we shall continue to do is be curious. It is our job to watch, carefully, and report what we see. We shall try to polish up our mirror so that events as they happen around us will be properly reflected in the light of truth and common sense. We shall continue to strive to improve on accuracy. Tell us, please, when we don't.

We get the feeling that the breezes of governmental expansion are picking up in the city of Pampa and the County of Gray. There is considerable agitation in certain areas to buy this and build that, to enlarge and remodel, to expand and build anew. No one has dared to estimate the total number of dollars that would be required to buy, build and or tear down, but the figure must be enormous.

A word of caution: Are those people who are pushing for new city halls, new courthouses, governmental complexes, etc., sure that the breezes they feel are blowing in the right direction? Just asking. We thought we had detected a reverse flow from Proposition 13 and allied negative votes and from general conversation on the local level.

We hope that in the year ahead we will be able to remind you that freedom is basic to the welfare and happiness of anyone, and when freedom is lost so is the ability to achieve happiness.

We remind you of the credo that is run at the top of this page every day. It sums up what is the strong belief of this newspaper and it says it with these words:

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

Now, that's what we pledge in the way of resolutions for the year ahead. It is not a new pledge, and it is not astounding. It is a reaffirmation.

Help us by telling us when we fail. Help keep us on our toes. Please.

Public rejects safety

The driving public remains adamantly opposed to any mandatory belt - use legislation, despite evidence that such restraints significantly reduce deaths and injuries from car crashes.

That was the blunt news conveyed to federal authorities by most of the nation's governors, who were responding to a call for "renewed consideration" of belt - use legislation by Joan Claybrook, head of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA).

According to the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, which checked the reaction to Claybrook's appeal, no state executives quarreled with her conclusion that "thousands of Americans are needlessly dying and being crippled in car crashes each year simply because they have failed to wear their safety belts."

But the governors and their representatives held out little hope that states will act to require safety belt use, primarily because public opposition to such laws remains high.

"It appears that our drivers are very hard to convince that it is safe and proper to use their safety belts," wrote Mississippi Gov. Cliff Finch.

"We currently do not have enough officers to enforce the 55 mile per hour speed limit, let alone a proposal such as you suggest," Kansas Gov. Robert Bennett wrote Claybrook.

Iowa officials noted a recent survey of more than 4,000 motorists in the state found only 31 percent would favor mandatory belt - use legislation - and that figure is double the number of motorists now using seat and - or shoulder belts.

Only 14 percent of U.S. drivers now use safety belts, according to a new NHTSA study, a drop from the 10.5 percent use rate of 1976. Federal authorities anticipate it will be another decade before virtually all the nation's cars will be equipped with air bags or other passive restraint devices that require no action by motorists.

Equal rights for all piecemeal

Although the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution continues to face an uphill ratification struggle, a new federal study indicates that similar amendments to state constitutions are having a positive effect in the 14 states that have them.

The report by the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights suggests that while women are the primary beneficiaries of state ERAs, men also gained some new rights.

A number of ERA states, for instance have now "sex - neutralized" their allocation of workmen's compensation benefits, these used to be awarded to survivors or dependents of a male worker but not to survivors or dependents of a female worker unless they could prove they were reliant upon her income. Now it's one rule for all.

Despite the progress in the states with their own ERAs, the Civil Rights Commission still sees a national amendment as crucial. "Although reform of the laws is possible on a state - by state basis, such a route is both plodding and haphazard," the commission said.

Maybe its not so bad

Maybe congressional Republicans who torpedoed President Carter's proposal for election day voter registration should reconsider their position in view of what happened in this year's elections.

GOP statewide candidates for governor and - or U.S. Senate won major victories in all three states - Minnesota, Wisconsin and Oregon - that instituted election day registration this year for the first time in a non - presidential election.

Furthermore, voter turnout in those states increased over 1974 (the last comparable election year) while analysis by the non - profit Committee for the Study of the American Electorate.

Indeed, Minnesota had the highest turnout in the nation - 55.2 percent of all those eligible to vote. The lowest turnout came in Jimmy Carter's home state of Georgia - 18.7 percent.

Obedient trendy souls sold Government bromides

by butler d. shaffer

Two seemingly unrelated events occurred within a few days of each other which, to me at any rate, have a common element to them. The first was Jimmy Carter's announcement that he had decided to extend diplomatic recognition to Red China and, at the same time, throw Taiwan to the cannibals. The second news event was the announcement that acoustical experts had concluded, beyond a reasonable doubt, that four shots were fired at President Kennedy in Dallas, and that two rifles were involved in the shooting.

Immediately following Kennedy's death, the federal government hurriedly undertook the task of convincing the public that Lee Harvey Oswald was a "lone assassin," a "nut - with - a - gun." The Warren Commission was created, a body which ended up doing little more than rubber - stamping the "lone assassin" theory.

In the years that followed, private inquiries have been made by a number of persons, the net effect of which was to cast considerable doubt on these "official" government explanations.

Nearly fifteen years later, the U.S. Congress was prodded - as a result of these private studies - to conduct a limited investigation of its own, a result of which was partial confirmation of the conspiracy theory of Kennedy's death. Stated another way, after fifteen years of being fed "official truth," the American public is now in possession of facts which, again, confirm that the emperor is naked.

All of those obedient, trendy souls who considered it the height of fashion to mimic the "Newspeak" bromides, must now retreat. "My gawd, Muriel, even cameras and tape - recorders have gone over to the side of those awful conspiracy - theorists!"

The relationship of this news story to the recognition of Red China seems rather clear. Not only has the government been spoon - feeding us official explanations of the Kennedy death, it has - for years - been concocting its own "enemies list" and inducing us to believe in it.

When I was a young kid (during World War II) I was told that Germany and Japan were the two most heinous nations on earth, and that Russia and China were our friends and allies. I was gullible at that age and simply accepted the pronouncement as fact. But no sooner was the war over than I was told to erase this programming: new directives had come down. We were now in a "cold war" and the roles had been reversed: Germany and Japan were now our friends and allies, and Russia and China were the two most heinous nations on earth.

I must admit that I never quite accepted all of this: there was simply too much contradiction in too short a time for so unconditioned a mind as a child has. Nevertheless, I was told that my personal freedom and the security of my homeland were threatened, and that I must be prepared to "make sacrifices" (i.e., go get killed) in order to keep these "commies" from getting their nationalizing mitts on such places as Wall Street, Pittsburgh, and Detroit.

During these years, all of us were told that freedom would be lost in this world if South Korea, South Vietnam, and Taiwan fell into communist hands. Well, South Vietnam fell when American forces pulled out, the United States involvement (militarily) in South Korea is minimal, and Jimmy Carter hands Taiwan over to Red China during a weekend telecast. Does that mean that we are doomed? Should I begin liquidating my assets... sell my home, my stocks and bonds, convert my insurance policies? Should I - like the South Vietnamese refugees - grab my family and flee across the border into Canada?

Or, on the other hand, is all of this but a prelude to a new round of official lies? Is Jimmy - the - illustrious preparing a new enemies list for the 1980's? If so, I wonder who will be on it this time. It might make an interesting theme for a new parlor game.

I hope that, by now, you have become sufficiently aware of the political and economic interests that are served by our "foreign policy" machinery. It was interesting to see how many American companies were already geared up for the production and sale of their products to Red China - all within a few days of Carter's announcement. While I have no quarrel with this (being a free - trader myself), I am very much opposed to the history - long practice of business interests joining forces with the political State to propagate, through the "big lie," both the fear of other nation and the belief that one should be willing to kill and to die for these institutional interests.

In the name of human decency, we must put an end to this insanity.

"Then you're of the opinion, Mr. President, that you'll soon find the cheese?"

Organized labors real goal: compulsory unionism

By REED LARSON

Two of the nation's top union officials have now publicly admitted what we at the National Right to Work Committee have been saying for years - Big Labor's real goal is to force every working man and woman in America into a union.

Andy Biemiller, who just retired as chief Washington lobbyist for the AFL - CIO, was asked in a recent newspaper interview to name his "greatest defeat" in working for Big Labor over the past 34 years.

Without hesitation, Biemiller named defeat of the phony labor law "reform" in 1978 and the failure to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft - Hartley Law in 1965-66.

As Biemiller put it, "They're birds of a feather; they go together."

There you have it, an open admission by Big Labor's top lobbyist on Capitol Hill that his greatest defeats were two legislative measures which would have severely reduced freedom of choice for the American worker and enabled Big Labor to force millions of additional workers into unwanted unions. As Biemiller made clear, there wasn't a dime's worth of difference between the two bills.

Please note that Biemiller did not mention minimum wage, national health insurance, or any of the other social welfare items that union officials like to say are so important to them.

Biemiller's comment is a self - indictment of the organized labor movement in America. For top union officials, compulsion of working people is the all - consuming aim.

I am proud to say that the National Right to Work Committee played a major role in both of organized labor's "biggest defeats." Without the Committee and its many dedicated supporters across the country, Biemiller and his fellow union bosses would have reached their coveted goal. Through repeal of 14(b) and passage of labor law "reform" they would have raked in billions of additional dues dollars from workers who want nothing to do with unions.

Al Barkan, director of COPE, the AFL - CIO's political action committee, has also confirmed organized labor's real goal by lashing out at a legal case - Ellis - Fails - supported by the National Right to Work Legal Defense Foundation.

The San Diego U.S. District Court ruled that it is illegal for a union to spend membership dues on anything but expenses related to contract negotiation.

Barkan has been howling that if this ruling is allowed to stand, "the labor movement as we know it will no longer exist."

But all the Ellis - Fails decision says is that unions may not spend compulsory dues and fees on non - collective bargaining activities like political conventions and elections.

Barkan's statement that the union movement would cease to exist is utter nonsense. Ellis - Fails doesn't touch on the costs of legitimate collective bargaining activities - it only affects the expenditure of compulsory dues dollars for Big Labor's "extra - curricular" activities in the political arena.

What it will mean, if the Supreme Court upholds the lower court, is that organized labor can no longer have American workers fired from their jobs for refusing to hand over their hard - earned dollars to union officials who will then use that money to help bankroll political candidates the workers themselves oppose. And that is all to the good.

The Biemiller - Barkan comments reveal that compulsion lies at the very heart and soul of the organized labor movement in America. It is such compulsion that the National Right to Work Committee will continue to resist and expose whenever we find it.

Public opinion

Last month we attended the trial of a Pampa welder who was accused of, convicted of, and sentenced for killing a young man three months ago while the young man was sitting with friends in his automobile on a parking lot in your city. While witnessing the proceedings, it was becoming more and more impossible to reconcile the anticipated findings by the selected jury, "voluntary manslaughter", of a man who lost his temper because he had to stop too fast behind another car, behind which it appeared that the welder was traveling too close. Sympathy is with the family whose husband has such fits of anger that any unsuspecting person's life may be in extreme jeopardy if in his presence during those episodes.

"The victim of the man's fatal outburst was a young man who was loved by his family and friends. It is sickening to think that the killer was stalking behind him on the night of August 4, and after provocation, went home, got his gun, returned to find that person, and in a fit of rage shot the young man to death; a young man who had only mistaken the flyng hands in the automobile driving behind him, for hands of friends trying to wave hello. That killer received only 5 years imprisonment for his violent act of crime and was portrayed by the defense as a fine husband and father, the issue being "whether or not the welder meant to pull the trigger."

The realm of fact was, he did pull the trigger and the young man fell dead. But elements of fact were allowed to become so obscured by intimation, innuendoes, slurs, unsubstantiated and irrelevant matters.... well planned defense.... that justice for the criminal was no longer the issue.

We left the courtroom, as did others, with a gloomy and bloody picture just painted of how little value was placed on a human life; also, with the strange feeling that the jury had found the killer innocent and the victim guilty.

Justice was truly un - done.

Inauguration festivities set

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Republicans will make up for lost time — 104 years — with 16 hours of almost non-stop celebrations Tuesday as Bill Clements becomes the state's first Republican governor since Reconstruction.

And added to inauguration day festivities are three fundraising affairs Monday night hosted by Clements' campaign committee.

Hotel rooms have been reserved 30 miles away in Georgetown and San Marcos to house the overflow crowd expected to watch the state's 41st governor take office.

Clements' inaugural office received more than 500 press credentials for the events compared to the usual 50-odd reporters who regularly cover the Capitol.

An estimated 50 to 150 persons will attend a $5,000-a-person cocktail party at a private residence in Austin Monday.

A total of 2,500 persons are expected Monday at the $125-per-person victory reception and cocktail party at the Austin Municipal Auditorium. Dinner will be served afterwards at the Texas Heritage Festival for $25 a head.

Inaugural day events begin with a breakfast at the Villa Capri Motel.

Dr. W.A. Criswell of the First Baptist Church in Dallas will lead a prayer service at the First United Methodist Church at 10 a.m. Also participating will be the Revs. Jack Heacock of the First United Methodist Church of Austin; E. Stanley Branch of Fourth Missionary Baptist in Houston; Byron Cro-

Dallas, which the Clements attend.

Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice Joe Greenhill will swear in Clements and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby on the Capitol steps at noon.

Clements will then eat his first meal with his family as chief executive in the Governor's Mansion. A traditional Texas barbecue will be served to everyone else for $4 plate in the Capitol west wing.

The North Texas State University A Cappella Choir will sing American music in the Capitol rotunda, including folk songs, Scott Joplin opera songs and excerpts of "George M."

An "All Texas" parade of bands, floats and military units will begin at 2:30 p.m. on Congress Avenue and pass by the governor's official reviewing stand.

Free ice cream, clowns and balloons will be served at the Celebration for Young Texans on the Capitol lawn following the parade.

The Austin Symphony Orchestra will give the first inaugural symphony concert at 5 p.m. at the Lyndon Baines Johnson Auditorium on the University of Texas campus. The free performance is open to the public.

Three formal balls will be held at the Driskill Hotel, Sheraton Crest Inn and the Special Events Center. The official party will stop at each event before the evening ends.

The people's pharmacy

by Joe Graedon

Q. My pharmacist made a mistake in filling a prescription for my glaucoma medicine called Acetazolamide (Diamox). Instead of giving me the correct drug he apparently filled the prescription with another medication that is spelled almost the same way called Acetohexamide (Dymelor). Since I take these pills every day, I immediately recognized the difference and was able to have the error corrected. This problem got me to wondering whether or not there are any other drugs that are spelled or pronounced in a similar way and if this kind of mistake happens very often.

A. It certainly is a good thing that you knew what your medicine was supposed to look like and recognized the blunder. Both drugs come as 250 milligram white tablets and although their shape is not identical, the difference is quite subtle. While Acetazolamide is good for glaucoma, Acetohexamide is prescribed for diabetes. Taking the wrong drug could have put you in the emergency room of your nearest hospital.

You are absolutely right that there are other drug combinations that are spelled or pronounced in a similar way. The following examples might help demonstrate how close they can be and alert other people to be on the lookout for the kind of problem you encountered: Bentyl - Benlylin - Betalin - Bristacycline - Bristamycin - Daldyne - Daliderm - Dexameth - Dexamyl - Digitoxin - Digoxin - Dimetane - Dimetapp - Elavil - Eladryl - Haldrone - Halodrin.

Jones was elected to the House in 1964 and served until 1972, when he defeated Rep. Tom Moore of Waco for the Senate. In the House he was chairman of the claims and urban affairs committees.

Moore, a fiery liberal orator, was favored to win, and Jones quips, "If I had known how many people thought I didn't have a ghost of a chance, I might not have run." He recalls winning the race by 2,500 votes out of 84,000.

"It was as clear a philosophical choice as any state race," said the conservative Jones.

Keflex - Kelex - Lasix - Laxsil - Orinase - Ornade - Prednisolone - Prednisone - Quinidine - Quinine - Quinamm - Sulfamethoxazole - Sulfamethizole - Sulfisoxazole - Valium - Valmid - Valpin.

Most pharmacists are extremely careful about checking, double checking and triple checking prescriptions and I am sure that a mistake like yours occurs very rarely. Unfortunately, sometimes they do happen and they can be serious. In fact, I was once personally involved in evaluating the consequences of an improperly filled prescription. Fortunately, the damage that was done was minimal but it could have been serious and I am sure that pharmacist is now much more careful. The difference between putting Digoxin or Digitoxin in a bottle could make the difference between safe therapy and disaster.

It is unfortunate, but some doctors specialize in illegibility. It is obvious that a minor misspelling or an inappropriate flick of the wrist while writing one of the previously mentioned prescriptions could result in an error that would be hard to blame on the pharmacist. The next time you visit your doctor ask how to pronounce the name of the drug being prescribed and then have the name printed out carefully, or better yet typed, so that you know exactly what you are receiving. That way you can double check with the pharmacist when the prescription is filled.

Q. I have high blood pressure.

diabetes, angina and heart failure. I take Inderal (Propranolol) for the high blood pressure and Nitroglycerin for my angina. I'm also on Lanoxin (Digoxin) and Lasix (Furosemide) for my heart. Last, but not least, is the Orinase (Tolbutamide) for my diabetes.

Last week I came down with the sniffles and went looking for some cold or flu medicine. I bought some Contac but when I got home and read the warning on the label that said people with high blood pressure, heart disease and diabetes shouldn't use it I got nervous and threw the "tiny time pills" away. Are there any cold medicines a person like me can take safely?

A. It certainly is a good thing you took the time to read the precautions and warnings on the label. All too many folks take the non-prescription drugs they purchase over-the-counter for granted and never check out the cautions. You may be just as well off if you stick with plain aspirin, plenty of fluids and rest. The decongestants that are often included in many cold medicines can reduce the effectiveness of your high blood pressure drug and may adversely affect your diabetes and heart problems. You must also be wary of products that contain a high alcohol content.

While there are a few medications on the market that do not contain a decongestant (such as Coricidin), the majority do. Before taking any additional drugs, including aspirin, you should check in with your doctor.

Jury selection to begin

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Jury selection was to begin in state district court here today in the capital murder trial of Linda May Burnett, a 30-year-old mother of three who is charged in the slayings of five members of a Winnie family last July.

Mrs. Burnett, of Nederland, and Ovade Joseph Dugas, 32, are accused of killing Bishop and Ester Phillip and their son Elmer, his wife Martha and their son Jason. 2 Elmer Phillips and his family, of Woodward, Okla., were visiting the elder Phillipses for the July 4 weekend. All five disappeared from the elder Phillips' frame home in Winnie on July 1. Their bodies were found nine days later in a wooded area about nine miles from the house. Mrs. Burnett and Dugas are being tried separately.

Senator asks where budget could be cut

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Asked how he feels about cutting $2 billion in taxes, Texas' new Senate finance chairman blows pipe smoke out of the corner of his mouth and says — show me how.

Sen. Grant Jones of Abilene emerged this week as one of Texas' most powerful legislators with his appointment as finance chairman.

Questioners have asked him to respond to Gov.-elect Bill Clements' proposal to make a massive $1 billion tax cut, in addition to a possible $1 billion reduction approved by voters in the November election.

"Suggestions that the Legislative Budget Board was carried away with grandiose funding are not realistic," Jones said.

The board's recent proposed budget would use virtually all the income the state can expect over the next two years, and it will be one of the major guidelines for Jones' committee.

He was interviewed in his third-floor Capitol office, which overnight has become a crossing point for legislators, lobbyists, state agency directors and taxpayers.

From being just one of 31 senators, Jones now faces 60-minute hours as chairman of the committee that writes the multi-billion dollar state budget. The committee's work could stretch to the final minutes of the 140-day session.

"If there are to be significant reductions, the advocates should point out the areas of state services which they want curtailed," said Jones.

This echoes Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, who chose Jones as chairman and placed 12 others on the solid-Democratic committee.

Jones tries to divert questions about his selection by saying, "Please, let's don't get into that."

The position opened up when the former dean of the Senate, A.M. Aikin of Paris, did not seek re-election because of painful rheumatoid arthritis. Aikin, 73, had served in the Senate since 1937 and been finance committee chairman since 1967. He had the rare honor of having his portrait hung in the Senate chamber while he was still in the Legislature.

In effect, made him a legend in his time: all Capitol observers have Aikin stories.

Jones' only budget committee experience came during one session as a House member, and he was surprised that Hobby chose him. "I don't have an answer for it," he said.

Although he has been in the Legislature for 14 years, Jones' soft-spoken manner has kept

FOCUS

"Tell Them I Tried..."

He was the son of a Baptist minister and the grandson of a sharecropper. He preached non-violence, and worked for civil rights, human justice, and peace. For his efforts he was praised, admired, consulted by presidents and awarded the Nobel Prize for Peace. He was also ridiculed, arrested, spat upon, stabbed, and finally shot to death at the age of 39. On how he wished to be remembered, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. once wrote: "Tell them I tried to feed the hungry; tell them I tried to clothe the naked; tell them I tried to help somebody." Today would have been King's 50th birthday.

DO YOU KNOW — Which of Dr. King's co-workers is now U.S. ambassador to the United Nations?

The Gray County Courthouse is one of the community's most important buildings—even if you never enter it. In its vaults are stored the vital statistics of our community—the birth certificate containing the community's first recognition that a human life has joined the community; the marriage certificate stating the community's recognition that two people now live as one; the tax records, litigation records, and finally, the death certificate which is the recognition that a life has finally left the community. The funeral is also a public record—sort of a certificate given by the entire community that a person has lived, had worth and meaning, has loved and was loved, and now has died. At Duenkel-Smith Funeral Home, the funeral—the community's death certificate for an individual—is handled with care for the same reasons: valuable records are placed in carefully protected vaults.

Seniors can get tax breaks
 There is some important news for senior citizens filing their federal income tax this year. Several tax breaks are available to those who qualify.
 Elderly Americans can reduce their taxes through "Tax Credit for the Elderly."
 While many senior citizens do not consider themselves elderly, the fact remains that they are eligible for the credit offered to persons aged 65 and over. Single persons over 65 can reduce their taxes by as much as $375 while married couples can qualify for a $562.50 credit.
 Because it is a credit and not a deduction, this amount is subtracted directly from taxes owed. Qualifications include U.S. citizenship and prior taxable income. In fact, if you are under 65, retired and receiving taxable income, you are also eligible for the credit.
 In cases where eligibility is uncertain due to age requirements, the IRS explains purposes, a taxpayer is 65 on the day before his-her 65th birthday. A taxpayer whose 65th birthday fell on Jan. 1, can file as if he or she were 65 during 1978.
 And did you know that the premiums you pay for Part B of Medicare are deductible if you itemize? One half of the premiums up to $150 is deductible outright.
 Liquor was made legal in the United States again in 1933 when the 21st Amendment to the U.S. Constitution was repealed.

Weather Texas forecasts

By The Associated Press
 Temperatures began rising across most of Texas today, but a natural gas line break in the Panhandle forced six school districts to close because of lack of heat and forced residents of several towns to turn down their thermostats in subfreezing temperatures.
 Highs were to reach the 40s and 50s over most of the state today. Skies were partly cloudy to cloudy, but no precipitation of any form was in the latest forecasts.
 A Lone Star Gas Co. gas line near Chillicothe in Hardeman County broke early today, forcing the public utility to ask residents in Clarendon, Hedley and some other towns to turn their thermostats down "as low as you can stand it."

Schools at Hedley, Clarendon, Paducah, Childress, Memphis and Wellington were closed because of the gas line break.
 Early morning temperatures dipped below freezing across all of the state except for the Lower Rio Grande Valley and along the Southeast Texas coast.
 Early morning extremes ranged from 18 at Longview to 39 at Galveston and 36 at McAllen.

National

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's second largest city was digging out from its second worst blizzard in history today with a special army of 2,500 workers. But the forecast was for possibly more snow by mid-week.
 Helicopters were used today to take sick and injured to Chicago-area hospitals because ambulances could not get through the 30 inches of snow, 20.9 inches of it from the weekend storm that hit the Midwest and left at least 29 persons dead — seven in Chicago alone.

WEATHER FORECAST by the National Weather Service calls for snow from the northern Rockies to eastern Pennsylvania. Rain is predicted for southern California, eastern Texas, the central Gulf and the upper Mississippi. Mild weather is forecast for Texas and the Gulf Coast but most of the country will remain cold.

Carter vows to fight for funds

ATLANTA (AP) — President Carter, facing complaints that his 1980 budget will not allocate enough money for the poor, is promising to fight for new funds for a host of social welfare programs.
 Without offering details, Carter said Sunday that in the budget he will unveil a week from today, he has preserved and "will fight for new support, increased support to educate disadvantaged children in our nation, for Head Start, for the handicapped and all those to whom America's promise has not come."

Carter used a speech at the Ebenezer Baptist Church, where slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King, Jr. once was pastor, to try to woo support from blacks, whose representatives have criticized the new budget.

Carter received the Martin Luther King Jr. Non-Violent Peace Prize at the brick church in a run-down section of Atlanta one day before what would have been King's 50th birthday.
 The president has gotten considerable political mileage from King's name.
 His father, the Rev. Martin Luther King Sr., endorsed Carter during the 1976 election campaign, boosting the candidate's standing in the black community on Sunday, the elder King told the 500 people crowded into the church Sunday. "I'm with him and I'm going to be with him. I'm not going to let anything turn me around."

Ironically, Carter, a Georgia politician while King was the state's best known black citizen, never met King, who was assassinated on April 4, 1968, in Memphis, Tenn.

The elder King called Carter "the greatest president in the world."
 Carter announced that he would support legislation to make King's birthday a national holiday. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said on Friday at the church that he would introduce legislation to accomplish that.

Invoking King's memory, Carter said:
 "Let no one doubt where I stand. My administration and I personally stand with you. We are committed to civil rights. We are committed to equal opportunity. I will continue to strengthen and enforce the civil rights laws of the land, firmly and without equivocation, not only the letter of the law but the spirit of the law as well."

Students opposing U.S. support for the Shah or Iran marched outside the church as did other demonstrators opposing what they fear will be insufficient money for program aiding the poor in the 1980 budget, which goes into effect Oct. 1.

Invoking King's memory, Carter said:
 "Let no one doubt where I stand. My administration and I personally stand with you. We are committed to civil rights. We are committed to equal opportunity. I will continue to strengthen and enforce the civil rights laws of the land, firmly and without equivocation, not only the letter of the law but the spirit of the law as well."

Used car dealers may face new rules

By LOUISE COOK
 Associated Press Writer
 Used cars and used car salesmen rank close to mothers-in-law as a target for comedians, but the subject is no laughing matter for the consumer who gets stuck with a clunker.
 The Federal Trade Commission is considering a staff proposal for new regulations to protect buyers by requiring dealers to provide more information about the vehicles they are selling. But the rules would not remove all the risks.

 The FTC plan would affect sales made by dealers only; it would not cover the private transactions in which half or more of all used cars change hands every year.

It would not require dealers to repair defects in the cars they sell; it would only force them to disclose the existence of such problems — in writing.
 With a little knowledge, you can protect yourself against problems. If you are shopping at a dealer, check his reputation in the community with friends and the Better Business Bureau. Inspect the car carefully; if you don't know anything about automobiles, bring along someone who does. Take the car for a test drive. And ask about the details of any warranty that is offered.

 To get a rough idea of costs, check the Used Car Guide of the National Automobile Dealers Association or the Kelly Blue Book, remember that individual prices vary widely depending on the condition and mileage of the car.

 There are three basic sources of used cars: the private individual, the dealer who handles only used cars and the new-car dealer who also sells autos that have been traded in.

Dear Abby

by abigail van buren

DEAR ABBY: I take strong exception to the writer who took you to task for addressing a clergyman as "Reverend So and So."

She wrote, "Reverend is an adjective, meaning honorable. You may say, 'The Reverend Mr. Blank,' or 'The Reverend Dr. Blank,' but, Abby, please do not address a clergyman as 'Reverend Anybody.' It's simply not done!"

How wrong! As a minister of the United Methodist Church I have always been addressed as "Reverend"—same as my father and father-in-law, and I love it. I would object vigorously were members of my congregation to address me as "Mister."

Our Episcopal friends address their bishop as "Right Reverend." I maintain that common usage by countless thousands makes it OK to call a pastor "Reverend."

If it's correct for our Catholic friends to call their priest "Father," or for our Jewish friends to call their clergyman "Rabbi," then it should be OK for my parishioners (and others) to call me "Reverend."

Sign me...

REVEREND H. IN ILLINOIS

DEAR REVEREND H: The English language purists will probably shoot me down, but adjectives serve well in addressing people. However:

The hassle over the use of Reverend Will never end.

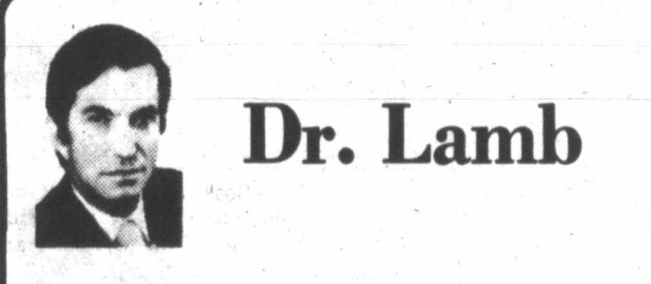

DEAR ABBY: K IN PONTIAC wrote to say that during a job interview she was asked if she had plans to start a family in the near future. She said, "I never dreamed that such an inquiry would be made in this day of equal rights." Then she asked if you thought that was a proper question to ask a woman applicant.

You replied, "When a new employee is hired, the employer makes an investment in time and training. He therefore has a right to know if the applicant plans to have a family—and, if so, when. Some women take a leave of absence from their jobs to have and raise children. Men do not."

Abby, your response may sound reasonable, but unless an employer asks the same question of men applicants, he is in violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 for sex discrimination.

DEAR L: My response was valid as far as it went, but I should have added, "However, employers must ask the same question of men applicants in order to stay within the law. Since that is a difficult rule to follow, most personnel directors now advise that questions about family plans not be asked."

by lawrence lamb m.d.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please tell me all you can about a goiter. I have an inside goiter in my neck. My neck is swollen behind, in front and on the side. I have lumps in my neck and my face is swollen. My doctor gave me thyroid tablets which will take from three to six months to reduce it and I have arthritis in my neck, back, arms and legs. Is it something that might choke me? Should it be taken out or wait? I had a thyroid scan.

I have heard that taking thyroid tablets makes you hungry all the time. Is there a good diet? I have just been taking thyroid eight days.

DEAR READER — An inside or inward goiter refers to an enlarged thyroid gland that extends below the breast bone just at the bottom of the neck. If part of the goiter is trapped behind the breast bone, it can produce pressure on the wind pipe. Since you've had a thyroid scan, I would presume that you had a rather careful evaluation of your thyroid status. I am not optimistic that your goiter is going to disappear in just a few months, however, even if you are taking thyroid medicines.

It is true that thyroid is given to help reduce the size of the goiter. It works best when the gland is relatively small. From your description, it sounds to me like your enlargement might be rather marked.

In any case, I am sure it's worth a trial to see if it starts to decrease the size of the thyroid gland. If it doesn't, you may need to have surgery to relieve the pressure created by the goiter. Whether this is necessary depends on what symptoms, if any, you may have currently.

Taking thyroid medicine shouldn't increase your appetite an awful lot unless you had a low thyroid state to begin with. You can have a goiter and have normal thyroid function. If you were low on thyroid, that can be a factor in contributing to obesity.

Most cases of obesity, however, are caused by simple overeating and not enough physical activity. Nevertheless, I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet so you will have a sensible well-balanced diet that you could use to control your weight.

If you don't need to lose weight, I'd suggest that you follow the diet and add whatever additional calories and other foods you like to maintain your weight level. If you want to lose weight, then just limit your foods to the items listed in the diet. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I would like to emphasize that most overweight people do not need thyroid medicine. In fact, thyroid pills are overused if anything and are often given when they shouldn't be. The good news is that you can control your weight by making an extra effort to discourage the use of thyroid medicines to treat obesity.

If you have normal thyroid function and then take thyroid medicine, all that really happens is that your own thyroid gland quits producing so much hormone. The end result is no real change in the amount of thyroid hormone available to your body. The difference is that your thyroid gland is less active.

Polly's Pointers

by polly cramer

DEAR POLLY — I am answering Sue who has trouble cleaning her white metal cabinets. I find that after they are cleaned for a long time there is not enough base left to keep them clean. I cured all this by covering them all with white adhesive-backed paper that is speckled with silver and gold to match my counter tops. No one who sees them knows they are so covered until I tell them. I have only changed this covering once in 15 years and find soap and water or a popular kitchen cleaner keeps them beautifully clean. — JOSEPHINE

Beauty improvement plan

by josephine lowman

BE A BORN - AGAIN REDUCER

(This is the sixth in a series of 15 articles in which Josephine Lowman, author of "Why Grow Old?" and leading authority on health and beauty, tells you exactly what to do to lose 20 pounds in eight weeks. You may want to save these menus and exercises to refer back to during the eight-week period.)

Are you a born - again reducer? Have you tried to lose weight over and over again and failed? Did you then give up hope of ever banishing those burdensome pounds that sap your energy, thicken your figure and make you look and feel so much older than you have to?

If you are a born - again reducer, congratulations! You have made a commitment to yourself. You are determined to resist the temptations of rich food, inactivity and procrastination. You are on your way to the thrilling experience of accepting a challenge and winning, of watching bulges turn into curves, fatigue into increased energy and shopping into fun.

I think women put off reducing because they think of it as such an unpleasant experience. It does not have to be unpleasant if you will combine diet and exercise. Caloric intake can be increased if you will increase your physical activity. Neither need be extreme. You do not have to spend long hours in exhausting exercise nor do you have to starve, but in order to lose weight you must spend more energy than you get in your food.

Recent studies have indicated that lack of physical activity causes more overweight than overeating. Some authorities now say that lack of exercise is the most important factor in "creeping" obesity, the kind that slowly slips up on you.

These studies compared the food intake and the physical activity of obese persons with those of normal weight persons. The results showed that the overweights consumed no more calories than those of normal weight but they were a great deal less active. Other studies have shown that exercise does not increase the appetite of those with too many pounds.

Look at the following figures and you will see how quickly a reduction in calorie intake and an increase in activity add up to a slimming total.

- Salami (3 oz.)
- Pecan pie (one moderate slice)
- One average serving of beef pot pie
- One 7-inch waffle with 3 tbs. syrup
- 1 cup chocolate pudding
- 10 french fried potatoes (3 1/2 to 4 inches)

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

January 16, 1979

Some exciting new friends who could introduce you to fresh interests and new enjoyment may enter your life this coming year. These relationships will lead to many happy adventures.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your usually prudent judgment could be distorted today by unrealistic thinking. Take off your rose-colored glasses and see things as they really are. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in 1979 by sending for your copy of the all new Astro-Graph Letter for 1979. Mail $1 for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 988, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Even though you may feel a pal owes you a favor, this is not a particularly good day to request it. Wait till your pal volunteers.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) An ally who usually delivers what he promises may let you down today because of circumstances beyond his control. Be ready to carry the ball if necessary.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be on your best behavior in career matters today. Take care not to do something outlandish that could lose you an important admirer.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Take pains not to be overly possessive of a loved one today. You'll drive the one you care for further away if you try to draw him or her too close.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) To sustain harmony on the home front today you might need to pamper your mate a bit more than usual. Why not? Your turn will come.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today, don't attempt to flatter unwilling helpers to do your bidding. The tactic will prove unproductive, and could even cause you some embarrassment.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your prudence could be tossed to the winds today if you see items you desire but cannot afford. Live within your means.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be careful today that you do not establish a precedent serving no useful purpose with persons for whom you are responsible.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be self-sufficient today. Don't rely too heavily on others. Disappointment is likely if you expect them to do what you should be doing for yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not keep company today with persons who are able to spend more lavishly than you are.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Important goals could be postponed today because you lack ambition and drive. Putting matters off will only cause future complications.

Mahaffey's putt nets title

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — John Mahaffey was talking to himself as he surveyed the 15-foot birdie putt he had to make to win the Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic. "You've been here before," he told himself. "Make up your mind, get the line and hit a good, solid putt." He did just that. "It's as good a putt as I've ever made," Mahaffey said Sunday. "I knew it was in."

fourth victory in his last 10 American starts. "I'm surprised," said Mahaffey, who capped one of golf's more dramatic comebacks with victories in the PGA national championship and the World Cup last year. "Nobody expects to be playing well in the first tournament of the year. It's a carry-over from last season. I guess," he said. And it was a carry-over for Trevino, too — but a less happy one. Playing immediately in front of Mahaffey, the leader through four of the five rounds of this unique event, Trevino finally caught him with a birdie on the 90th hole. He could do nothing but chop an apple, throw a one-liner at Arnold Palmer and watch while Mahaffey matched his birdie to win by a stroke. It was the sixth time in less than 12 months that Trevino had been a runner-up. And it kept intact his California jinx: He has yet to win in this state. Mahaffey won this one with a final-round 69, 3 under par at the Indian Wells Country Club — one of four desert layouts used for this marathon five-day event. He had a 90-hole total of 343, 17 under par. Trevino, who chased him all over the resort area, had a closing 69 and a 344. Mark Hayes got in the chase with a no-bogey, 6-under-par 66 in the last round and took third at 345. He was followed at 346 by Grier Jones, who had a 68. Lanny Wadkins and Keith Fergus were at 348, Wadkins with a 68, Fergus a 69. Jack Nicklaus scored his third competitive hole in one, dropping a 146-yard 8-iron shot on the sixth hole. He finished with a 69 and a tie for 11th at 350. Mahaffey, who had a 1-shot lead when play started Sunday, built it to two at the turn. But Trevino kept chipping away and finally caught him with an 8-iron on the par-5 18th. Then he watched while Mahaffey made his bid. Mahaffey had to hit his second shot from an awkward lie, laid up, then chipped over water to the green. Then he faced a 15-foot, uphill putt for the title and a $50,000 prize. You can't think about winning the tournament until it's over," he said. "Sure, there's pressure. But that's part of the game, part of the fun. This pressure, I love it. I absolutely love it." And he survived it, conquered it. And he won again.

SWC cage race to get wilder

BY DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
Texas Coach Abe Lemons and Baylor Coach Jim Haller didn't have games Saturday night but they were shaking their heads after what they had seen in Moody Coliseum. The two coaches, along with a record crowd of 10,276, witnessed an undermanned Southern Methodist team somehow holding on to outlast the 11th-ranked Texas Aggies 78-76 in a pulsating Southwest Conference basketball game. Then came the news from Lubbock that suddenly rejuvenated Rice had broken a long-standing losing streak to Texas Tech by upsetting the Red Raiders 62-56.

"It's going to get wilder than this before it's over," said Haller. Lemons, who had guided his Longhorns to a 66-63 victory over previously unbeaten Arkansas the night before, was virtually speechless for a change. Texas and Texas Tech each own a share of the SWC lead with 3-1 records while Arkansas and Texas A&M are close behind at 2-1. But the only team really out of the running appears to be Texas Christian. While Texas is at Rice Tuesday night, Texas Tech has to travel to SMU and try to stop freshman guard sensation Billy Allen, and Houston is at Baylor.

On Wednesday night, Arkansas is at Texas A&M in a joust featuring two teams trying to rebound from upset losses. But for the moment the surprise package of the year is the Rice Owls who were picked to share the SWC basement with Texas Christian. Rice upset Southern Methodist 78-76 last Monday night. The significance of the Owl victory over the Red Raiders can be found in the Rice record books. The Owls had lost 17 consecutive games to the Red Raiders before senior Elbert Darden scored 22 points in the Saturday shocker. The SMU-A&M game featured two of the finest freshmen in the country. Allen, the son of Mustang coach Sunny Allen, repeatedly drove down the lane against the muscular Aggies for acrobatic layups. And on the other end of the court, 6-11 Rudy Woods dominated the boards. Allen scored 24 points and had six assists. Woods scored 23 points and collected 17 rebounds. "I was very impressed with Billy Allen," said Texas A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf. Rudy Woods played very well for us. He made the big plays that gave us a chance. There were two fine freshmen out there tonight." SMU coach Allen said "it was a great college game and we won against a great team. Woods is just great. He has matured a lot since high school and he's not as wild." At Houston, the Cougars finally played an entire game. They scored only 17 points after intermission in the last two games against Arkansas and Texas A&M. But the Cougars blitzed Texas Christian with 57 points after intermission Saturday in a 95-66 rout over the freshmen dominated Horned Frogs. And what did Houston Coach Guy Lewis, whose team won the SWC post-season tournament last year, think of the victory over lowly TCU? "I've never been so happy in my life to get a win," said Lewis.

Harvester girls at Liberal tonight

After a pair of come-from-behind victories at Harvester Field House last week, the Pampa girls varsity basketball team takes to the road tonight to face Liberal, Kan. The girls, who upped their season mark to 10-9 with wins over Borger and Hereford last week, already own a victory over the Kansans. They took a 53-35 decision in Pampa exactly one month ago. Junior high basketball is also on tap for today. The Red and Blue boys teams will battle each other at the Pampa Middle School at 4 this afternoon, while the eighth and ninth grade girls teams travel to Dumas. The boys varsity, which opened its District 3-AAAA campaign with a 67-57 win at Caprock Friday night, travels to Tascosa Tuesday evening to take on the district favorites, who dumped Palo Duro in their district opener Friday. The Rebels will bring a 16-5 record into the contest, while the Harvesters will be gunning for their 11th win against as many losses. The girls will open their district schedule Friday night at Palo Duro, while the boys will end a four-game stretch on the road by hosting the Dons. This week's high school sports schedule:

MONDAY

Bobcat tagging posing few problems

By J.D. PEER
Texas Parks and Wildlife
LUBBOCK — Tagging agents of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department have experienced few problems since bobcat tags became mandatory Nov. 15, 1978. "We had one individual try to get his bobcat pet tagged by bringing in an old bobcat skull that must have been from last year's catch," said Weldon Fromm, regional supervisor from Lubbock. The numbers of bobcats tagged in northwest Texas indicate where the major bobcat populations are located with Wichita Falls and Abilene recording 159 and 117 respectively. Fromm continued. The High Plains area with fewer trees and less bobcat habitat recorded fewer animals tagged with Amarillo listing 31 bobcats and Lubbock recording 35. The tagging operations being conducted by the P&WD along with other states will allow these bobcat pelts to be sold for international trade. The tagging season ends Feb. 15 and the last tagging day will be Feb. 20. Big bobcat pelts with prime fur will continue to bring top dollar as the season progresses. A few pelts have already brought $175 each. Each successful bobcat hunter must bring his or her own pet and unfleshed skull to any one of the P&WD tagging stations in Texas on Tuesdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The unfleshed skulls collected at each tagging station will be examined and studied by research biologists at Texas A&M. This information will be used to help manage this valuable natural resource in Texas. Additional information about bobcat tagging is available by contacting the P&WD representative in your area or by calling 1-800-252-9327 toll-free.

LUBBOCK — Most hunters start their shooting careers on rabbits and the rabbit is still as popular as ever in Texas. Not only is the rabbit a worthy target as it races through the brush, it is also delicious to eat. The cottontail or jackrabbit found in northwest Texas will furnish the young hunter with most of the hunting situations to be encountered later while hunting bigger game. Valuable lessons in rifle control, target identification and wildlife habits are acquired by the young hunter as he pursues the rabbit out behind the barn. The young shooter soon learns the value of making the first shot count, too. With young hunters ready to try their new Christmas guns and with snow and rabbits available locally, parents have a real opportunity to start their children off on the right foot in the outdoors.

Additional trapping for the young shooter will probably be necessary and can be obtained in any of the volunteer safety classes sponsored by the P&WD. For more information about the Texas safety hunter program, contact the nearest Texas game warden or P&WD office. MOST BIRDS MANAGED LUBBOCK — Observations of hawk carcasses along public roads in Texas indicate a lack of knowledge by many shooters as to the Texas laws regarding birds. Only seven birds that call Texas home are not protected or managed by the P&WD. These include: European starlings, English sparrows, grackles, ravens, red-winged blackbirds, cowbirds and crows. However the federal government protects the crows, ravens, red-winged blackbirds and grackles. Crows can be hunted under certain circumstances. This means all other birds such as hawks, owls, eagles and vultures are protected by both state and federal regulations. All shooters are reminded not to kill birds of prey at any time, not only because they are protected, but because they are one of nature's best tools for controlling rodents. DUCKS ICED DOWN CANYON — Extreme cold weather in northwest Texas has moved most of the ducks from smaller shallow ponds onto the huge man-made reservoirs, according to an aerial survey last week by the P&WD. "We counted nearly 330,000 ducks in the Panhandle and South Plains with over 130,000 ducks staying on Greenbelt Lake near Clarendon and 71,000 ducks staying on Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge near Umbarger," said Max Trauwek, waterfowl biologist. Nearly 75 percent of the ducks are mallards, which are the most popular ducks in Texas according to game bag checks by game wardens and biologists. Although the January count appears to be high, it is low when compared with the normal one-half million ducks that usually winter in northwest Texas. Duck populations during peak years with plenty of available water have been estimated to number 1.5 million. The duck and goose season continues through Jan. 21, with the duck hunter using the point system to fill his game bag. The mallard duck is designated a 20-point duck this season, which would allow a duck hunter to bag five drakes before reaching his 100-point limit. More duck information is contained in the 1978 Texas Migratory Game Bird pamphlet available at most license vendors and all P&WD offices.

Sports in brief

By The Associated Press
CATHLAMET, Ore. — Claudio Panatta of Rome defeated American Ben Testerman of Knoxville, Tenn., 6-1, 6-1 to win the singles title of the Winter World Junior Tennis Circuit championship. OAKLAND, Calif. — Martina Navratilova defeated Chris Evert 7-5, 7-5 to win the $125,000 women's tennis tournament at the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

Evert then came back to win the doubles with partner Rosie Casale, beating Betty Stove of the Netherlands and Tracy Austin of the U.S. TRACK AND FIELD SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (AP) — Mike McLeod of England won the 36th international Memorial Juan Muguera 10-kilometer cross country race. McLeod was clocked in 30 minutes, 12.4 seconds for the race over the Lerun circuit.

McEnroe wins at Grand Prix event

NEW YORK (AP) — Though Arthur Ashe had dragged him through three hours of agonizingly close tennis, the final three games always in doubt, John McEnroe said he'd have preferred to play someone better. "It would have been nicer to beat Connors or one of the top players," said McEnroe after scoring a 6-7, 6-3, 7-5 triumph in Sunday's final of the $400,000 Grand Prix Masters, the richest event — if not the most prestigious — in the sport. McEnroe received $100,000 for the victory. He and Peter Fleming won the doubles final the night before over Wojtek Fibak and Tom Okker. So the 19-year-old's haul for the weekend was $120,000, plus another $116,000 for being one of the points leaders on the Grand Prix tour last year. Ashe won $64,000, plus a $50,000 points bonus. Brian Gottfried beat Eddie Dibbs 6-4, 7-6 for third place and $40,000. Dibbs won $32,000. The 35-year-old Ashe was the overwhelming favorite of the crowd of 17,000 at Madison Square Garden. He was prepared, eager, polite and well-controlled throughout, as he put McEnroe through his paces. McEnroe, who had bad lapses in timing, judgment and concentration, was sulky, sometimes desperate, sometimes overconfident. Ashe had double match point in the 10th game of the final set, a point of some controversy later. Ashe hit a backhand into the net to spoil his first match point. On the second he hit a return for an apparent winner — but as he finished the rally, the service line judge uttered a late call of fault on McEnroe's serve.

TOPPING IS MOSTLY CAUSED BY SWINGING DOWN SO STEEPLY THAT THE CLUBHEAD CHECKS BEHIND THE BALL BEFORE IT GETS LOW ENOUGH TO CONTACT IT SOLIDLY IN BACK.
MOVING THE BALL BACK IN YOUR STANCE A LITTLE AT ADDRESS CAN SOLVE THE PROBLEM, AS CAN KEEPING THE HEAD STEADY BEHIND THE BALL UNTIL WELL AFTER IMPACT. IF NEITHER OF THOSE TIPS WORK, CHECK THAT YOU'RE RELEASING FULLY WITH YOUR HANDS AND WRISTS COMING INTO IMPACT — HITTING TOO LATE CAN OFTEN CAUSE TOPPING.

Allred snares title

CANYON — Lou Allred of Palo Duro Canyon Marathon Club won the high school division of the 30-39-year-old division of the four-mile run. Allred covered the distance in 23:54 to capture his second straight trophy in the event. Mike Brent of Pampa took third place in the same division, touring the chilly four miles in 27:13. Annabel Morin of Lubbock was the only other runner to successfully defend her title. She took the women's crown in the marathon with a 4:08:28 clocking. Bob Arthur of Pampa, competing in the 30-39 men's division in the marathon, took fourth place in 4:47:40. Thomas Kempf of Springfield, Mo., was the overall winner in the marathon, covering the 26-mile, 385-yard course in 2:50:14.

Other marathon winners included William McCool of Lubbock in the high school division (20:00.4), Jeffrey Fischer of Bartlesville, Okla., in the 30-39 division (2:59:22) and Red Spicer of Amarillo (4:06:14) in the over-40 division for men. Joel Thompson of Amarillo took the open title in the four-mile run with a time of 21:18. Hereford's Cory Fox covered the distance in 42:36 to take the 12 and under boys title, while David Stans of Lubbock took the 13-15 boys crown in 35:04. Other winners in the four-mile event were Buddy Hutto of Clovis in the high school division (23:05), Dale Thompson of Amarillo in the 40-49 men's division (22:53), Brenda Barrett of Canyon in the ladies (over 25) division (38:14) and Isabel Navarro of Brownfield in the girls (under 25) division with a 27:18 clocking.

Democrat faces challenge

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Daniel J. Flood faced a tough, new challenge today as he returned to Congress for a 16th term. His task: helping lawyers pick a jury for his trial on federal bribery, perjury and conspiracy charges.

The colorful Democrat from Pennsylvania's anthracite coal region was to be sworn in at noon today along with other representatives and senators at the official opening of the 96th Congress.

But before Flood was to take his oath of office, U.S. district Judge Oliver Gasch was to begin questioning prospective jurors for Flood's trial on charges that he abused his office by trading his enormous political power for thousands of dollars in bribes.

Flood, 75, is accused of conspiring to collect $65,000 cash and 100 shares of bank stock in exchange for contracts, grants and other favors. Indictments were handed down last year by federal grand juries in Los Angeles and Washington.

He could be sentenced to 155 years in prison and fined $220,000 if convicted on all counts — 9 bribery, 3 perjury and 1 conspiracy.

The 13 counts, which were produced after an investigation by more than 100 FBI agents, were consolidated for a single trial in the nation's capital.

"I deny all these allegations totally and unequivocally," Flood said when he pleaded innocent.

Those absurd charges (were) brought by desperate men," said the flamboyant congressman, who is known as "Dapper Dan" for his fancy white silk suits and fur-lined capes.

Gasch has ruled that the 12 jurors and six alternates chosen for the trial will be sequestered — placed in the custody of federal marshals and locked up until the trial is complete.

Flood is a skilled orator, and left the stage to pursue a law career as a student at Harvard University. He got his law degree from Dickinson School of Law, and has served 15 terms in the House since 1944. He lost re-election bids in 1946 and 1952, but has not been defeated since.

Flood is accused of improperly trading his influence as chairman of a House Appropriations subcommittee that oversees about $75 billion for hospitals, schools, labor, welfare and defense.

The FBI began investigating Flood's activities in mid-1977 after his former administrative assistant, Stephen B. Elko, was accused of influence peddling.

Elko, who has since been convicted of bribery and is serving a three-year term. Flood's chief accuser. The indictments naming Flood listed Elko as a co-conspirator.

Man held in slaying

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Police have arrested a 29-year-old Hallam City man in connection with the arson-slaying of a 24-year-old woman who was held hostage with her son and two friends who lived with her.

Officers said they arrested the man early Sunday on a capital murder warrant in the death of Jayne Lynn Markham, who died Saturday in a fire police said was set at the house where she lived with her son Jinx, and two friends, Mary Crutcher and Steve Renick.

Officers said no bond was set for the arrested man, who was apprehended at a friend's apartment in Arlington early Sunday morning. Police said the man was named in a warrant issued Saturday.

Police said a gunman tied up and held Mrs. Markham, her son, Renick and Ms. Crutcher hostage in their home late Friday.
