Clements oil stocks 'in trust'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements has placed his shares of stock in a gas and oil well drilling and supply company he founded in a "blind trust" arrangement managed by three of his associates.

The governor transferred his 619,768 shares of SEDCO, Inc. stock to three trustees who will control the investment until Clements either leaves office or dies, according to a statement filed with the Security and Exchange Commission last month.

Under terms of the arrangement, Clements is guaranteed an income from the stock in "convenient installments."

According to documents filed with the SEC, Clements had pledged 158,000 shares of his stock to banks to secure guaranteed loans used to help underwrite his campaign.

"A man's own conscience is his sole tribunal and he should care no more for that phantom 'opinion' than he should fear meeting a ghost if he crosses the churchyard at dark."

64 dead in Iran

By THOMAS KENT
Associated Press Writer
TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Mutinous pro-Khomeini air force cadets backed by armed civilians battled the elite Imperial Guard Saturday in a virtual civil war that engulfed much of eastern Tehran. Hospitals reported at least 64 dead and 325 wounded.

Dozens of U.S. military advisers had to be airlifted out of a Tehran air base that was the center of the clashes. The fighting, the bloodiest here in five months, exploded any notions of unity among Iran's armed forces in the face of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's bid to oust the shah-appointed government of Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar. Strikes and rioting forced the shah to leave Iran in mid-January and he is now in Morocco.

Among the dead was an American correspondent, Joe Alex Morris, 51, of the Los Angeles Times. Morris, a veteran foreign correspondent, was shot in the heart as he and three other American reporters watched the fighting from an apartment window.

The Imperial Guard threw tanks, heavy machine guns and helicopter gunships into the battle. Hospitals were in chaos, the floors of some emergency rooms awash with blood. Pro-Khomeini civilians with automatic rifles threw up sandbag barricades in the streets as relays of ambulances carted off the dead and wounded.

Tehran's military governor, Lt. Gen. Mehdi Rahimi, decreed a 4:30 p.m.-until-noon curfew Saturday, but Moslem leader Khomeini urged his followers to ignore it. Heavy firing continued as darkness fell, and flaming barricades were reported throughout the city. By 8:30 p.m. most of the disorders appeared to have died down.

Police authorities said eight of the capital's 20 police stations had been captured or destroyed by Khomeini supporters armed with machine guns and hand grenades. One police source said at least 15 police officers or soldiers at the stations were among those killed in the day's violence. He said in most cases, police blew up their ammunition supplies before the stations were seized and set afire.

Near midnight, army units with tanks and armored personnel carriers were blocking off streets leading to police stations held by loyal officers.

In one incident after nightfall, demonstrators gathered outside the Lavisan Barracks, headquarters of the shah's Imperial Guard, and shouted anti-government slogans, and they dispersed when troops fired some shots, it was reported.

Khomeini, who seeks to establish an Islamic republic replacing the monarchy and the Bakhtiar government, threatened an all-out "jihad," a holy war, if the government continued its "atrocities."

But Rahimi said his officers "have been ordered to crush the aggressive saboteurs in any form and any means."

Bakhtiar said in speech to the Senate, "I would like to warn and inform the public for the last time that any aggression henceforth will be repulsed most severely."

Most of Saturday's fighting swirled around the Doshan Tappeh air base in southeastern Tehran, where the Imperial Guard attacked rioting cadets Friday night. Cadets claimed the guard provoked the riot by trying to suppress their exuberance during a television special on Khomeini.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said Iranian helicopters safely evacuated the 50 to 75 American military advisers who were at the base when the trouble started.

The spokesman said about 250 more Americans left Iran Saturday on military flights, and that those remaining were urged by the embassy to stay in their homes. There are fewer than 5,000 Americans still in the country, compared with 50,000 a year ago.

Saturday's battles near the air base were the first in Iran in which both sides were heavily armed. Rioters wielded automatic rifles seized from military arsenals. Others carried sticks, lengths of pipe, pistols and hunting knives. Boys raced up and down the stairs of apartment buildings on Damavand Avenue, the center of fighting, supplying gasoline bombs to rioters on the roofs.

Reporters saw one army helicopter, apparently hit by ground fire, veer away from three accompanying choppers and fly unsteadily back toward its base. At least two tanks were destroyed by gasoline bombs. The fate of their crews was unknown.

Armed civilians surrounded the Narmak police station in eastern Tehran. Attempts to ferry in more police by helicopter failed because of heavy shooting by the mob.

When the trouble started Friday night some 500 Khomeini supporters, many in nightclothes and brandishing staves, surrounded the 78-year-old Shiite Moslem leader's south Tehran headquarters to protect him.

Khomeini aides said a military patrol saw the crowd, which was out after curfew, and opened fire, killing one person and wounding two.

2 held in 'killing scheme'

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Two members of the Texas-based Bandidos motorcycle club remained in jail Saturday night in connection with what Sheriff Solomon Ortiz says was a scheme to kill him and a top deputy.

The men are being held on $100,000 bond each.

Ortiz said he had information that the two men intended to kill him and Sheriff's Capt. F.H.

Rendon. Larry Willis, 27, and Danny Johnson, 36, both of Houston, were taken before U.S. Magistrate Phillip Schraub and arraigned on charges alleging violation of federal firearms laws.

The pair was arrested Friday. Ortiz said Willis was nabbed as he sat in a van on the Nueces County courthouse parking lot. Johnson was arrested in a hallway of the sheriff's department, which is connected to the courthouse.

Inside the van, Ortiz said agents found an AR15 .223-caliber automatic weapon, a 12-gauge shotgun, binoculars and approximately 300 rounds of ammunition.

Ortiz said the weapons were loaded. He said the van was registered to Ronald J. Hodge of Houston, identified as the national president of the Bandidos.

Ortiz said law enforcement officers had received reliable information from police in Austin and Houston that the Bandidos were to execute a $100,000 murder-for-hire contract on himself and Rendon.

Rendon said, however, he and Ortiz had no information on when the attempt would be made on their lives.

'Oil cartel here to stay'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says the international oil cartel is here to stay and suggests that Americans may as well give up any idea of breaking it.

In an interview with out-of-town editors, Carter said he does not think it is possible to thwart the oil price-fixing of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) because oil importing countries are not willing to band together to do so.

"The best way to deal with this question, I think, is not to have an idle hope that we can destroy the structure of OPEC," Carter said. "I think it is very doubtful that anyone could break it down."

The president was questioned by newspaper editors and broadcasters on Friday and a transcript of the interview was released by the White House on Saturday.

"Whenever we have challenged the authority of OPEC or tried to influence their pricing habits, we have never found much response from countries that were much more dependent on imported oil than are we," Carter said.

He noted that some countries, such as France and Japan, import as much as 85 percent of their oil compared to about half the oil consumed by the United States.

He said the best thing to do "is to cut down on our dependence on imported oil."

On other subjects, the president: —Indicated he might veto any legislative effort to guarantee farmers prices at 90 percent parity level, a demand by some protesting farmers in the American Agriculture movement.

—Said troop withdrawals from Korea have been temporarily stopped pending a review of developments in the region.

"We are holding in abeyance any further reduction in American troop levels until we can assess the new intelligence data," the president said.

Carter said developments being reviewed include the build-up of North Korean forces, the impact of U.S. recognition of China and new peace proposals being put forward by the North and South Korean governments.

Carter already has announced his intention to withdraw all U.S. ground troops from Korea. He said only the timing of the withdrawal is in question.

—Said he supported Defense Secretary Harold Brown's suggestion that any draft registration scheme ordered by Congress should include registration for women as well as men, although he quickly added he does not foresee either induction of women or a return of the draft.

55 mph limit still popular

By The Associated Press
While more than a dozen states are discussing abolishing the 55 mph speed limit, a new Associated Press-NBC News poll shows that a majority of Americans want to keep the "double nickel."

It's been five years since they first posted those 55 mph speed limit signs — the "double nickel" in CB slang — and anyone who drives farther than the county line knows they don't slow down a lot of folks.

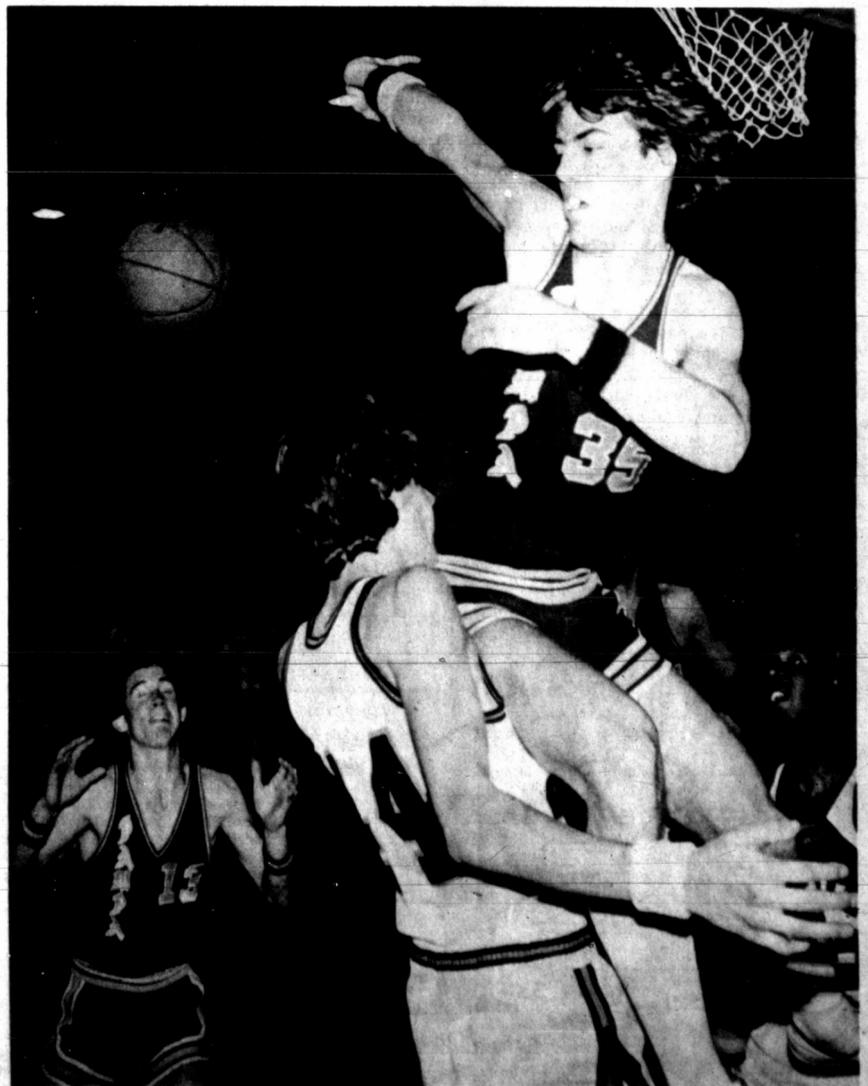

So perhaps Capt. Mike Feidenhausen of the Washington state police put it best: "In the biggest survey of all, out on the highway, people don't support it with their right foot."

Nonetheless, the AP-NBC News poll last week showed that 59 percent of the public are in favor of keeping the speed limit at 55 mph. At the same time, 39 percent said the individual states should be allowed to set higher speed limits, if they so choose, and 2 percent of the 1,600 persons questioned were undecided.

Even as the debates go on in the various statehouses, Washington has warned the states they could lose millions in federal highway money if they tamper with the speed limit and state police have been ordered to crack down harder on speeders.

"It's time we put an end to this silliness and told the federal government exactly what they can do with that double nickel," said Texas-state Rep. Fred Head of Athens, who is sponsor of a bill in the Texas House to increase the speed to 70 mph.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Covering Commandment.

Fulfillment of a travelers dream

Advertisements recently appearing in national magazines announced the culmination of Anaxitos Kyriadides' years of perseverance, the fulfillment of the Greek immigrant's dream.

The ads introduced Lexicon LK-3000, the scope of which will be revolutionary — politically, economically, culturally.

Lexicon LK-3000? The name lacks the revolutionary romance ordinarily associated with historical upheaval. But the technological age has changed the nature of our vocabulary of progress. Where once our renaissance spirit resonated to proper nouns like Newton and Jefferson, we now brace ourselves for the future shock of Univac and, well, Lexicon LK-3000.

Kyriadides nourished a simple enough idea. Those pocket calculators, which also had revolutionized every household's checkbook balancing and every student's arithmetic instruction conceivably could be put to use, in principle, in international discourse. Why couldn't those increasing hordes of globetrotters, Kyriadides wondered, carry with them a pocket linguistics computer?

Kyriadides met the resistance of virtually all the computer industry. He was told, again and again, that computers deal only in numbers; it would be impossible to feed a computer words and phrases and expect the multitude of foreign translations to be retrievable at the push of a button.

Like a character out of Horatio Alger, Kyriadides did not agree. He financed a prototype and hired people to develop a crude model. Deciding the first model was too large and clumsy, he had it redesigned to the size of a pocket calculator.

If a tourist is traveling through, say, Europe there are some 1,500 words-phrases he is most likely to need. At least that is what such specialists who labor at the Translation and English Language Center at Carnegie-Mellon University think; and it is the Carnegie-Mellon personnel whom Kyriadides has retained to devise Lexicon's lexicon.

Let us say you're in a Madrid discoteca and you need to find the men's room. Rather than struggling with "Donde los hombres?" thereby bringing embarrassment to yourself and risking incarceration on a morals charge, you slip the Spanish capsule into the computer, punch out the question on the keyboard, and Lexicon flashes the correct translation on a small screen. The Spanish, and the English translation appears. You make your way to the rest room confidently.

The uses for this device are infinite. Lexicon LK-3000 now has capsules available in Spanish, French, German, Italian and Portuguese. In time, promises Kyriadides, the computer will be able to translate into Hebrew, Chinese, Japanese, Greek, Arabic and Russian.

To be sure, there will be complaints that Lexicon LK-3000 will destroy appreciation for foreign tongues; that it reduces language to cold phrases robbed of nuance and richness; that it will encourage lazy Americans to forsake foreign language studies. Similar protests were made against pocket calculators. They would disrupt arithmetic classes.

But the revolutionary advantages of Lexicon LK-3000 outweigh the problems, and it is a reactionary spirit indeed who would try to block the multiplied intercourse, the expedited global communications, and the easier commerce.

What diplomacy, foreign aid and tariffmanship have failed to deliver, a Greek immigrant's perseverance and ingenuity may confer on us yet. If only Jimmy Carter had possessed a Lexicon LK-3000 when he was in Poland...

"You'll thank me in the morning. I'm simplifying your life."

Science and democracy

By Thomas B. Silver

What do his origins tell us of a man? Two babies come into the world on the same day of the same year of the same century. One is born in a comfortable, three story brick house in a pleasant English town, to a prominent, educated, and prosperous family. The other is born in a rude cabin in the midst of the American wilderness, to parents undistinguished, illiterate, and poor. Yet both babies are destined to influence profoundly the century that lies before them. The day is February 12, 1809. The babies are Charles Darwin and Abraham Lincoln.

A half century passes. In preparation for his life's work, Darwin circles the globe aboard the Beagle, wandering for years among strange peoples and through strange lands. Lincoln goes among his own people in his own land, steeping himself in their democratic ethos and in those old books that helped to form their souls: Euclid's Elements, the plays of Shakespeare, the Bible.

The visible achievements of Darwin and Lincoln during these decades of preparation give little hint of future greatness. Neither had death come to him in these years, would have merited more than a footnote in the chronicle of man.

But in 1859, on the eve of the publication of his Origin of Species, Darwin stands at last upon the threshold of scientific greatness, just as Lincoln, on the eve of his election to the presidency, stands upon the threshold of political greatness.

Some believe that there was a common denominator to the greatness of these two men in their dedication to human freedom. It is said of Darwin that he liberated the human mind from ancient superstitions. And it was the Great Emancipator's simple, clear, and brilliant articulation of the principles of our Declaration of Independence that stopped the expansion of human slavery in its tracks.

But others say that the Declaration of Independence is itself a relic of an unenlightened age, and that the scientific discoveries of Darwin destroyed forever the moral universe that informed and guided Lincoln's political actions.

What are those principles which Lincoln articulated so passionately and so persuasively, and which now allegedly have been rendered obsolete?

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.

Abraham Lincoln believed that all men are created equal. He believed that the race of man is situated in the moral world above the beasts and below God, and that no man is entitled to rule other men as though he were God or they were beasts. With Jefferson, Lincoln denied that some men are born with saddles upon their backs while others are born booted and spurred to ride them.

Because Lincoln believed that all men are created equal, he was a democrat; he believed in government of the people, by the people, and for the people. If all men are created equal, if no man is by nature the ruler of any other, then the true ground of political authority is consent. And consent, of course, means enlightened consent: The majority rules in a democracy, but it does so in order to secure the rights of all, including the minority, because it is "to secure these rights" that "governments are instituted among men." The rule of a people over itself, like the rule of an individual over himself, is rightful only when it is reasonable, not willful or arbitrary.

Democracy is self-government, and democracy at its best is the self-government of virtuous and enlightened men, whose virtue constrains them not to trample upon the rights of others, and whose wisdom allows them to discern and to promote justice for all. This is how, in the words of the Declaration, democratic citizens work "to secure their safety and happiness."

Lincoln, of course, knew that perfect virtue and wisdom are never to be found in this world. But he did hold that these constituted the end for man, and that men and nations should strive, everywhere and always, to approximate this end as closely as circumstances would permit.

In the last 100 years, Lincoln's moral vision has been replaced, in the minds of many intellectuals, by the philosophy of Pragmatism. Pragmatism is the celebration of means to arbitrary or willful ends. Pragmatists do not believe that man has natural rights and duties, or any natural ends at all. Man, they believe, acts not to fulfill his nature and to achieve his natural ends, but to achieve a "selected good" of his own choosing, a "value projected as end." This philosophy, contrary to the intention of its advocates, is absolutely destructive of democracy. As one student of Pragmatism has said, "Radical relativism is the natural consequence of this position." But democracy, once it is reduced merely to an arbitrary value, loses the sense of worth and purpose that it had in the days of Lincoln, and becomes easy prey in a world stalked by men who are certain of their purposes, however perverted or monstrous those purposes may be.

It is said that the moral universe of Lincoln was demolished by Charles Darwin. The most common interpretation of the moral significance of Darwinism is that of the Pragmatic philosopher, John Dewey, who wrote that as a result of Darwin's discoveries, "Philosophy foresees inquiry after absolute origins and absolute finalities in order to explore specific values and the specific conditions that generate them." It was for precisely this reason that Karl Marx wished to dedicate Das Kapital to Darwin.

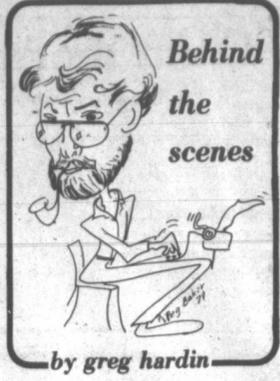

But it is necessary to remind ourselves that Darwin refused permission for Marx to do so. For Darwin was never as quick as were others to deduce moral conclusions from his brilliant speculations about nature. He never delivered himself wholeheartedly into the hands of the Social Darwinists of the right or the pragmatists of the left, or any of the racists or Marxists who claimed him. Perhaps he did not conceive of natural science as the ground for political partisanship: Certainly he did not allow his scientific theories to undermine his moral sensibilities; he was, even before Lincoln, an outspoken enemy of human slavery!

The error of the Pragmatists lies in their one dimensional view of the world. By looking only at the origins of things they cannot see things as they are and as they appear to any normal person. Because of their belief in the primacy of change and motion, the world of nature — both physical and moral — blurs before their eyes.

But the origins, or the efficient causes, of things are only one aspect of the world. Even if the human race is as mortal as the individuals of whom it is composed, even if man is a fleeting form churned up out of the vast and ceaseless flux it does not follow that human life is thereby stripped of its inherent preciousness and dignity. A true knowledge of man is not merely knowledge of his natural beginnings but of his natural ends as well. The former were hidden by the mists of time, and it took the scientific genius of a Darwin to discover them. But the latter are visible to every man, every day.

And the noblest human ends are most visible in the life of a great man. Such was the life of Lincoln. Even as the true ends of man are coeval with man, and are not the fleeting products of caprice or circumstance, so the example of Lincoln transcends his age and beckons to us from the timeless peaks of human greatness. He was an inspiration to mankind in his own lifetime, as he is now, and shall be, forevermore.

Rose Wilder Lane wrote that "In a republic, a majority of this population from time to time decides what candidate for public office shall have the use of the state's police power. From time to time, an action of the majority can alter the methods by which men get power, the extent of that power, or the terms upon which they are allowed to keep it. But a majority does not govern; it cannot govern."

Any government of multitudes of men, anywhere, at any time, must be a man, or a few men, in power, there is no way to escape that fact.

Our Constitution reflects this statement perfectly.

In the Constitution the word power is mentioned time and again but the word "rights" does not appear once. Only after Thomas Jefferson refused his approval of the Constitution was the Bill of Rights added. However the Bill of Rights does not solve the problems of the American people as they are just too vague to help.

Had men like Jefferson been able to carry out their plans for the liberty of their fellow Americans we would not be swallowed up now by a massive governmental system.

Currently the Executive branch of the federal government employs 3 million Americans. Those Americans live off our tax dollars, they are non-productive (and do not help to support the government by any means.)

Some might say that these people pay taxes also but they are just giving back some of the tax dollars they were paid to begin with.

Why does the president of the United States need 3 million employees? Beats me.

I understand that you need maids to clean the house and body guards to protect you from assassination attempts but what are all those other jokers doing?

I can give a little enlightenment on the subject. They are the welfare workers, federal trade regulators, and of course those wonderful boys from the IRS.

The Senate is bad enough with all their aides and secretaries but at least they don't have 3 million people on the payroll.

You must be thinking that the 3 million figure counts all the soldiers, sailors and marines. Well, folks those guys aren't even considered in these figures.

No wonder we can't balance the budget. If everyone just got a dollar a week the payroll would be 12 million a month. Businessmen would shudder to even think of the bookkeeping nightmares just to get everyone their dollar each week.

The more government we have, the more it is going to cost us, it is that simple. The more money the government spends the worse inflation will become. The worse inflation becomes the more each American suffers from the financial bind.

People, it is time we get our act together and start drastic cuts in the money that we are spending for all forms of government.

It is time that we start working out our own problems instead of crying to government that a new agency needs to be created to take care of our needs.

If you want to be governed, fine. But don't stick a gun to my head and say that I have to put up with those jokers that you elect. All I ask is to be let alone to govern my own life.

I might make mistakes but at least they will be my own and not some fool's 5,000 miles away.

The Carter budget

President Dwight Eisenhower brought inflation under control by slashing federal spending. Over the preceding four years our dollar had shrunk 10 cents. And considering black market prices which were masked by price controls, the inflation rate was actually worse than that.

The previous Truman budget had called for spending $78.6 billion with a $9.9 billion deficit.

Eisenhower's budget reduced expenditures to $67.5 billion with a deficit of $3 billion.

Eighteen months later, in August of 1954, the price index stabilized, our dollar stopped shrinking, economic activity resumed its progress.

But where the Eisenhower budget proposed $3 billion of red ink, President Carter now proposes almost $30 billion worth.

President Carter calls his proposed budget for fiscal 1980 "lean and austere." Critics say it is "too lean, too austere," that it "punishes poor people."

Yet the president proposes spending $68.5 billion on poor people — more than the total Eisenhower budget for everything in 1954. The Carter budget would increase government money for the poor by an additional $4.5 billion next year: Medicaid, food stamps, nutritional supplements, subsidized housing, educational grants.

So the president is not shortchanging poor people. Even allowing for inflation, more taxpayers' dollars will go to the poor than ever before.

Let's remember this about that: The moneys government spends fall into two categories — dollars which stay and dollars which go away.

Subsidies for poor people, for all the admitted waste, extravagance and inevitable fraud, continue to circulate through our own economy.

This is true also of the $8 billion Carter proposes spending on space exploration those dollars do not "go to the moon" those dollars go to workers in space-related industries in Houston and Seattle, Fort Worth and San Diego, and everywhere else that components are researched or produced.

On the other hand, American dollars spent to maintain foreign governments and/or American troops overseas are mostly gone forever.

President Carter wants to close military bases in the United States while increasing military money, generally, to almost $123 billion. He says "our NATO commitment requires it."

President Carter no longer talks of a "balanced budget" but he does hope to reduce the inflation rate from last year's 9.2 percent to next year's 7.4 percent.

What the president has done is to compromise the realities of inflation with the practicalities of the next election — and the unmentioned, unspoken, ominous and omnipresent threats of the have-nots — at home and abroad.

Explorers like to hike

By EUGENE LAYCOCK
Pampa News Staff

As the 69th anniversary celebration of the Boy Scouts draws to an end, local Explorer Posts prepare for future adventures.

Being the oldest group of Scouts, the Explorers can enjoy more illustrious trips and accept added responsibility over junior Scouts, said Doreen Miley, Kiowa District Executive.

Some of these High Adventure Trips, as they are called, include hiking at the High Explorer Field Base in Philmont, N. M., canoeing at the Charles L. Sommers Canoe Base in Minnesota and sailing in the Florida Keys.

Some memorable experiences for Miley took place at the camp in New Mexico where she and several girls followed some of the many trails for 12 days last summer.

Miley, a ranger stays with the group to make sure they are able to read a compass and map, put out campfires and hang a bear bag, which is a durable sack filled with the hikers' food. It is hung high on a tree that has many branches, making the climb hard for a bear.

She said that after the ranger leaves, various camps, located on the trails, have people there to aid the Scouts, as well as provide entertainment.

Miley said the group stopped at one camp, the Maxwell Tie and Lumber Co., where the occupants were dressed like lumberjacks.

She said two men buried in pouring rain, which is standing on logs while attempting to knock each other down.

The Explorers climbed 40-50 foot poles there and learned the history of the area, said Miley.

Some mountain men from another camp took the girls rock climbing.

Cowboys at the Beau Bien ranch area prepared the group a chuckwagon dinner by the fireplace.

At the end of the trail, the Scouts worked on a conservation project near the Tooth of Time, a geological monument.

The hikers are given tools and instructions for clearing and rebuilding the old trail, which is considered unsafe. "Sometimes, it takes three to four hours to clear two or three feet of trail," she added.

Some Explorers have climbed Mount Phillips in New Mexico, she said, while other groups have gone to Lake Meridith to learn the basics of sailing from local men, who own boats and who are members of a yacht club.

She said that another trip to the Explorers base has already been planned for this summer, as well as a trip to Florida Keys for snorkeling and sailing.

DECA wins prize

The Pampa Chapter of Distributive Education Cooperative Association (DECA) won the Area Traveling Trophy last week at an Awards Breakfast and Ceremony.

The students received the award for winning the most competitive events at the Area VI DECA Career Development Conference, which was held earlier this month.

A chapter that wins the trophy for three consecutive years can keep it.

Ricky Patton and Kim Smith raised over $1,600 to win first place for their Area MDA Project. They were awarded two trophies and a $75 check for the chapter.

First place winners will compete at the State Conference in Fort Worth. Other first place winners were: Nickita Kadango - Food Service, Tracy Dinkens - Apparel and Accessories.

Written Event, Theresa Hon-Finance and Credit Written Event, Leon Williams - Food Marketing Written Event, Janice Oliver - General Merchandising Written Event and Bud Kent - Phillips Petroleum Free Enterprise Chapter Project.

Nickita Kadango will also be running for state vice-president at the conference.

Kent won third place in Apparel and Accessories Competition while Patton won second as first alternate in General Merchandise competition.

Students can talk about jobs

Students will be given an opportunity to talk to consultants about different jobs at the biennial Career Clinic March 21 at Pampa High School.

Local women of the Altrusa Club, Junior Service League and Pampa Chamber of Commerce stuffed some 90 envelopes with Procedure Manuals in preparation for the clinic.

The three organizations have worked since 1950 to produce some 17 clinics to guide students in choosing their future careers.

The students will attend two one-hour sessions with career consultants of their chose.

Garry K. Kinder, a principal partner in Kinder Brothers and Associates, will be featured as guest speaker.

Postal exam offered to Pampans

The Postal Service will be offering an examination to Pampans from 8:30 a.m. Monday to 4:30 p.m. Friday that could lead to employment as a substitute rural carrier of record.

The service's active register is near depletion.

and will be updated by the examination. Postmaster J.D. Williams said he anticipates about two vacancies will occur in the next two years, and will be filled by hiring people from the postal service register.

The register is near depletion and will be updated by the examination.

Persons wishing to take the exam should contact Williams at the Pampa post office by calling 665-5713 during the examination period.

Starting salary for such carriers is $7 per hour.

Deaths and funerals

JOHN H. BIGGERS

John Henry (Johnny) Biggers, 76, of 404 E. Second Street, McLean, died Saturday at 5 a.m. in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

Funeral services will be in the First Baptist Church in McLean Monday at 2 p.m. with Rev. Bill Rushing of Lela officiating and Rev. Vuel Wells, pastor of the First Baptist Church in McLean, assisting. Burial will be in the Hillcrest Cemetery with Masonic graveside rites.

Born Dec. 15, 1902 in Whitt, he moved to McLean in 1965. He married Verna White in Eric, Okla. in 1932 and retired from Warren Petroleum Co. He was a member of First Baptist Church in McLean and of the Masonic Lodge in McLean.

His daughter Sherry Eagle, 35, died Saturday five hours after Biggers at Northwest Hospital in Amarillo.

Survivors include his wife of the home; two sons, Joe Don of Bowie and Jerry of Amarillo; one daughter, Margaret Thompson of Shamrock; one brother, D. V. Biggers of Pampa; three sisters, Annie Reeves of McLean, Laverne Johnston of Dallas and Louise Erskine of Ft. Worth; 14 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

ELVIN DARRELL LOWRY

Funeral arrangements for Elvin Darrell Lowry, 44, are pending completion at Duenkel-Smith Funeral Directors.

Lowry was born on Dec. 2, 1934 in Pampa and died at 3:45 p.m. at Highland General Hospital.

The long time Dallas resident came to Pampa two and a half years ago and lived at 2113 North Wells.

He was a Baptist and a member of the Meadow Gardens Baptist church in Dallas.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Eula Lowry and one sister, Mrs. Mary June Ledbetter, both of Pampa.

TONY EDWARD BAUERT

Tony Edward Bauert, 38, of Amarillo was pronounced dead at the scene of an accident shotgun blast Friday in Panhandle.

His body was taken to Smith Funeral Home at Panhandle. Services will be held 2 p.m. Monday in the N.S. Griggs Pioneer Chapel with the burial to take place at Llano Cemetery.

Bauert was born in Dumas and grew up in the Phillips area. He was a graduate of Stinnett High School and was a Marine Corps veteran.

He lived in Lubbock from 1964 to 1966 and moved to Amarillo from New Mexico in 1970. He operated Amarillo Millwright Service.

He is survived by his wife, Joyce Elaine, a son, Leslie, and daughter, Penny, all of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Bauert of Amarillo, and a brother Norman of Borger.

MAXINE CARD

JOLIET, ILL. - Maxine Card, 68, who was born in Hamilton County, Ill. and lived in Amarillo for 36 years before moving back to Illinois in 1965, died here Thursday.

She was a former charter member of the West Ministry Presbyterian Church in Amarillo.

Survivors include her husband, Albert of the home, one son, David of Amarillo; a sister Alice Short and one grandchild.

Police report

Friday

Dorothy Brewer of 225 Canadian St. reported the theft of a battery, valued at $45, from her vehicle parked at her residence.

Verlene Spriggs of 430 Oklahoma St. reported the theft of an ID card and an ATP card valued at $58 from the dash of a sanitation truck parked in front of the Black Gold Restaurant.

E. L. Palmer of 109 Montague St. reported the theft of a battery, valued at $50, from his vehicle parked in front of his residence.

Joe Randy Sheppard of 2409 Comanche St. was arrested for driving while intoxicated and failure to leave information after his car was reportedly observed by police jumping a curb at the corner of Wynne and Browning streets. The Sheppard vehicle reportedly matched the description of a vehicle described leaving the scene of a hit and run accident on Lefors Street earlier.

Police received 29 calls in the 24 hour period ending at seven Friday morning.

Saturday

Randy Kane, 18, and David Stevens, 19, were arrested for theft under $5 after reportedly leaving Ideal Food Store without paying for a carton of cigarettes valued at $4.90.

Weather

Texas weather

By The Associated Press

Most Texans enjoyed warmer temperatures and basked under clear skies Saturday.

However, a few low clouds did shade areas from McAllen to Cotulla, along the upper Texas Gulf Coast and between Waco and Austin.

Forecasters predicted warmer temperatures will prevail across most of Texas Sunday. Increasing cloudiness was predicted over areas of South Texas.

Temperatures Saturday afternoon ranged a 47 at Galveston to a 60 at Victoria, Lubbock and Amarillo. Readings over most of the state varied from the mid to upper 50s.

Extended

North Texas
Mostly fair through Monday with early morning cloudiness central and eastern portions. Warmer Sunday and east portions through Monday. Highs Sunday and Monday in the 60s. Lows Sunday night 34 to 42.

South Texas
Partly cloudy and a little warmer Sunday and Monday. Highs Sunday mid 60s north to mid 70s south. Low Sunday night 40s north to upper 50s south. Highs Monday mostly low to mid 70s.

West Texas
Mostly fair with warm afternoons and cool nights through Monday. Highs Sunday lower 60s to lower northeast to lower 70s south.

FORECAST

WEATHER FORECAST by the National Weather Service calls for showers in the Pacific Northwest while snow is forecast for North Dakota and parts of adjoining states as well as in Michigan. It will be cold in the north-central and Northeastern parts of the nation.

I was very happy to be asked by Rep. Bob Simpson to co-sponsor HB 880 that would exempt the Opportunity Plan Inc. from ad valorem taxation. This is a non-profit corporation located off-campus in Canyon. It has loaned millions of dollars to worthy Panhandle students who attend colleges and universities throughout the state.

For many years the students receiving these loans were primarily students of West Texas State University. It is my understanding they now make loans to students attending other colleges and universities. Our local Pampa 20th Century Cottillion Club has raised well over $25,000 for this good cause.

Milton Morris of Canyon is the founder and sponsor of this fine program. Both the Federal Government and the State of Texas would do well to consult Mr. Morris on how he has had such a phenomenal record of collection on these loans. The loss ratio has been less than two percent. I'm sure you have read where the losses of the Federal Government Educational Loan Program have run into the hundreds of millions. Losses by the state on student loans have been in the tens of millions. At the present time the state, in cooperation with the local school districts, picks up the $1,500 annual tab it costs to send each student to grade and high school. I feel the state has a real responsibility here. We need the best without waste at this level.

In addition the state picks up a $2,500 tab per year for each college and university student.

This represents about half of the $5,000 annual cost of sending one student to a college or university. It is a well established and documented fact that college and university graduates will increase their life earnings in the hundreds of thousands of dollars by gaining a degree. I feel a hard look should be taken on all loans and outright grants to students in higher education.

Visitors in our office this week from District 66 included Pampa residents Jack Osborne and Raymond Maddox.

The Committee on Government organization of which I am a member, heard testimony this week on the re-establishment of its first government agency. We heard five hours of testimony on one bill that would re-establish the state bar.

This committee was created to handle all the sunset legislation. During the 65th legislature, a law was passed that would cause every state agency to expire at a predetermined time. If new legislation is not passed to activate these agencies they will expire when the sun goes down on this predetermined date. Thus sunset legislation.

New Orleans police strike ends

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — New Orleans policemen agreed Saturday to end their three-day strike.

But officers warned they might walk out again if a new contract is not negotiated before Mardi Gras begins.

"We won!" exclaimed Vincent Bruno, head of the Policemen's Association of New Orleans as he opened a hastily called meeting in the Teamsters' hall. "Is there any doubt we won?"

About 650 of the city's 1,500

police officers shouted jubilantly. "No!"

Bruno said the city has until Feb. 16 — the day the hectic carnival gets under way — to negotiate a contract.

He said it would take a day or two to get all the men back on the job, but he said they had promised to begin going back with the next shift change.

"We knew we represented a majority of the police officers, and I think we have shown that," said Bruno, whose association called the strike Thursday.

Some dissidents had wanted to stay off the job and press for contract demands while they still had Mardi Gras on Feb. 27, the busiest day of the year for the police force, for leverage.

The agreement was worked out in the early morning hours with Mayor Ernest Morial, who said earlier that word of the strike had already produced hotel cancellations. Morial said the city would not try to discipline strikers.

Students win club award

Kerry Adair, left, and Susan Lane have been chosen as Young Texan and Tex-anne of the month by the Pampa Optimist Club. The two Pampa High School seniors were selected "in acknowledgement of exemplary leadership, citizenship and scholastic achievement," according to certificates they received. Kerry played defensive back on the Harvester football team this year, and won the team's "Fighting Heart" award. Susan plans to attend Oklahoma University after she graduates from high school.

The first meeting of a horticultural short course will be held to discuss Fruit and Nut Production at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Gray County Courthouse Annex Meeting Room. Blueford Hancock, Project Leader in Extension Horticulture, will discuss varieties, establishment, management, care and maintenance of fruit and nut trees.

More people are becoming interested in the potential this area offers for fruit production. Homeowners as well as a few commercial growers are learning that quality fresh fruit and nuts can be grown locally. Production practices and varieties adapted to our area have been identified to help fruit and nut producers expect crops on a fairly frequent basis.

Everyone interested in learning more about fruit and nut production is invited and encouraged to attend the meeting. Individuals that need some assistance and counseling on a personal basis can call the County Extension Office, 669-7429, for an appointment on Wednesday afternoon.

Additional meetings on landscape horticulture will be held March 20; vegetables on April 9 and turfgrass on April 10.

The attendance at the Range Meeting last week was a little on the short side. One of the most serious problems range land owners face is mesquite infestations. Where scattered mesquite infest range land, owners can control these trees on an individual basis. Once mesquite infest land to a heavy degree, then control is almost impossible.

Challenge range owners to make periodic checks of your land for the presence of any mesquite trees or even small bushes. Individual tree treatment can be done with kerosene or diesel fuel applied around the base of the tree or stem in sufficient quantity to penetrate to the lowest underground buds. This can be done most any time, but best results are obtained when the soil is dry.

If you need more information and assistance on mesquite control, please call 669-7429, or come by the County Extension Office.

On Feb. 20, Dr. Bill Black and Dr. Ron Knutson, Extension Economist - Marketing and Policy Specialists, will present information on "Who Will Market Your Grain" and "Who Will Market Your Beef". These sessions will start at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. respectively in the Courthouse Annex Meeting Room. This should be a most informative session for all agricultural producers. They will be discussing what farmers can do to improve your marketing situation.

If window space is limited in your home or apartment, try indoor gardening under artificial lights.

Fluorescent lamps provide an excellent source of light. They give off very little heat and can be placed near plants to provide high light intensities. The standard cool-light lamp is the most popular for growing plants; however, special bulbs are now available that have been designed to meet the plant's light requirements.

For best results, you will need a fixture with at least two 40 watt tubes. Suspend the fixture over a bench or table not more than one foot about plant trays or flats. This will provide sufficient light to produce top quality side by side, will adequately light an area four feet by four feet. As plants grow, the light or bench height should be adjusted so there is always at least eight inches between the top of plants and the light tube.

If the growing area temperature remains between 60 and 75 degrees, no additional heat is needed. However, if the room becomes cooler, supplemental heat may be needed. Control any supplemental heat with a thermostat to prevent overheating.

Many garden shops and hobby centers have units equipped with lights and trays for growing plants from seeds or cuttings.

The crop meeting originally scheduled for last Tuesday has been rescheduled for 7 p.m. Feb. 19, in the Courthouse Annex meeting room.

Dr. Frank Petr, Area Extension Agronomist, Amarillo, will lead the discussion on Soybeans and Sunflowers. Farmers with questions about cotton production will have the opportunity to get their questions answered also.

As winter's cold forms a layer of ice on ponds and lakes, children want to enjoy winter sports. The novelty of ice, however, lures many youngsters to their death.

"Ponds around here seldom freeze thick enough to support the weight of even small children," says Lee McDonald, district conservationist with the United States Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service in Pampa.

The most dangerous ponds, he stressed, are those that freeze fairly thick in areas around the edges.

"Usually the downwind edge of the pond will freeze first, and the ice may support a large person for several feet from the edge in that area. But, over deeper water and on the upwind side of the pond, the ice is usually very thin," McDonald said.

There is no really safe ice thickness for skating, according to the National Safety Council, because ice conditions are always changing. For example, four inches of new ice can support more weight than four inches of "old ice" that has been subjected to the effects of the sun, refreezing after thawing, wind, and changing water levels under the ice.

Realizing how hard it is to curb the natural curiosity in children, McDonald said. "If you must go onto the ice to help a drowning person, be sure to use a large board, ladder, pole, or sheet of plywood to distribute your weight. If none is available, lie prone on the ice and slide gently."

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — More boys than girls die before puberty because girls may have higher immunity to disease and a greater ability to overcome illnesses, according to a report by a Rutgers University professor released Saturday.

Dr. Helen R. Strausser, a researcher in resistance to disease and internal chemicals produced by the body, said research with mice financed by a National Institutes of Health grant showed body immunities in young female mice are "significantly more competent" to ward off disease than cells from young male mice. The researcher said she believes the same applies to humans.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — School prayer activist Rita Warren, charged in Massachusetts with kidnapping her 3-year-old grandson, was arrested while making a call from a telephone booth next to a police station.

The youngster later was found at the home of a friend of Mrs. Warren's and was returned to his parents Saturday. Mrs. Warren had lost a court suit for his custody. She was held in jail in Columbus on charges she is a fugitive from justice. She was arrested Friday afternoon after she was seen by a private detective working on the case.

Cuevas returns to court

HOUSTON (AP)—Ignacio Cuevas, the lone convict survivor of the 1974 Texas prison escape shootout that left four persons dead, goes back into a state district courtroom in Houston Monday to be tried for the second time on charges of murdering a hostage.

Judge Miron A. Love will preside as he did in the spring months of 1975 when a jury convicted Cuevas and sentenced him to death.

Defense attorney Will Gray once again will represent Cuevas, who was on death row for almost four years.

The chief prosecutor in that first trial—District Attorney Jerry Sandal—will be missing.

Since that time, the area served by Sandal has been divided with Walker County having its own district attorney.

The chief prosecutor will be Mark Ward, assisted by Harris County Assistant District Attorney Bert Graham, who also helped during the 1975 trial.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the conviction of Cuevas in a ruling issued Dec. 20, 1978.

The appeals court cited the trial judge's refusal to grant a defense challenge, to a prospective juror who had indicated he would vote for the death penalty in any case where the accused was convicted of capital murder.

The jury found Cuevas guilty of causing the death Mrs. Julia Standley, a prison librarian and one of two hostages killed in the blast of gunfire as the prisoners attempted to escape behind a movable shield of lawbooks, chalk boards and tape.

Judge Love had considered permitting the retrial to be televised.

But, he said Friday that televising the proceedings would violate the code of judicial conduct. The judge said he was disappointed that he could not televise the trial because "I am personally in favor of unencumbered First Amendment rights."

Both the prosecution and the defense approved Love's preliminary plans to allow the trial to be televised.

Love predicted it would take perhaps five weeks to select a jury. Graham said he expected the job to take three to four weeks.

On July 24, 1974, Cuevas joined Fred Carrasco and Rudolph Dominguez in the seizure of the top floor of the educational building of the Walls, a state prison unit near downtown Huntsville.

They attempted to escape Aug. 3 using the hostages and the movable shield.

Gunfire erupted when guards and Texas Rangers sought to block the fleeing convicts.

Carrasco and Dominguez died.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Acting Prime Minister Gen. Boonchai Bamroongphong ordered the executions of four men who allegedly raped a young girl last year and then murdered her and her boyfriend, prison officials said Saturday.

The executions were expected to take place in the next few days.

The constitution empowers the prime minister to order summary punishment for crimes such as narcotics sales and rape following police investigations. Prime Minister Kriangsak Chomanan currently is visiting the United States.

TOKYO (AP) — Most of the 200 dolphins trapped by the fishermen of Iki Island in southwest Japan will be given to a soap-making firm and a food processor, news reports here said Saturday. The rest will go to aquariums.

The fishermen hunt dolphins because they raid schools of food fish.

Rosalynn to visit children's museum

WASHINGTON (AP) — The morning before President Carter and wife Rosalynn leave for Mexico, she will visit a facsimile Mexican village, complete with goats, on Capitol Hill.

The village is part of a dual exhibition in the relocated Capital Children's Museum, opening at its new site Tuesday.

Mrs. Carter and members of the Cabinet attending the ceremonies will sit atop a municipal center, which overlooks a facsimile Mexican plaza in the former convent chapel, and includes an indoor fountain.

The 6,000-square-foot exhibit includes Artesanos Mexicanos, a display of fine crafts by three elderly Mexican artists, as well as a series of rooms dedicated to the "hands-on" concept that distinguishes the institution from traditional museums.

"A lot of people said this should be a national museum on the mall," said museum president Ann White Lewin, who objected to that idea.

Instead, the museum obtained a $17 million conditional grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development to move to Capitol Hill, one of several Washington neighborhoods still recovering from a riot in 1968.

Washington scene

Hearing set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two days of public hearings are scheduled later this month on proposals by the Internal Revenue Service to regulate church and private schools.

Last August, the IRS proposed procedures to determine whether such schools have racially discriminatory policies in an effort to decide if the current tax-exempt status of the schools should be continued. The move upset some members of Congress, who asked a House Ways and Means subcommittee to hold hearings Feb. 20-21 on the matter.

On Friday, however, the IRS announced a substantial revision in its earlier plan — a change which has the effect of softening the impact of the proposal.

The revised proposal gives "great weight to each school's particular circumstances than did the earlier proposal," the agency said. It was unclear Saturday whether the hearings would be canceled in view of the latest IRS action.

Black Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Community Services Administration is celebrating "Black History Month" with a series of seminars, lectures, art and music programs through Feb. 16.

"We are placing special emphasis this year on the histories of the black and Hispanic cultures and the crossing of paths of these two historically dynamic groups," said Graciela Olivarez, administration director.

Teamsters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Teamsters union said Saturday that it supports the Carter administration's proposed wage insurance aimed at protecting working men and women who cooperate with the anti-inflation program.

The union made known its position in letter sent to House and Senate leaders by Frank E. Fitzsimmons, Teamsters president. The letter says the union's board voted unanimously to endorse the legislation in principle.

However, our endorsement to the basic outline of this legislation should not be construed as an endorsement of the president's present wage guideline program, Fitzsimmons said. Carter is seeking to limit wage and benefit increases to 7 percent.

Washington authorities are taking prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Protesting farmers came to Washington intent upon challenging the Carter Administration's agriculture policy and taking no prisoners in the process. But the District of Columbia police did.

Following Monday morning's massive tractor-inspired traffic jam and the next four days of confrontation with police, 24 farmers briefly visited the city jail.

"I knew with this many people, we would have some problems," said Hereford corn farmer Gerald McCathern, the American Agriculture Movement's national tractorcade wagonmaster.

"But I think the farmers handled themselves all right... the police overreacted."

In addition to the tremendous traffic congestion, farmers irate over low prices and government apathy also caused more than $2 million in damage, according to police officials.

"There is more damage, over a wider area, than any other demonstration," said National Park Service spokesman George Berkley. "Even more than Resurrection City," the tent town that housed the 1969 Poor People's Campaign.

But the farm demonstrators were far from "poor" and had a complex cause that was harder to understand than the Vietnam War or Civil Rights.

The farmers came to town driving $30,000 tractors or expensive recreational vehicles — most equipped with Citizens Band radios and several sporting mobile telephones and color televisions.

"We're the only ones that can afford to leave their jobs and protest," said Marvin Meek, a Plainville cotton farmer who led the AAM's Abilene tractorcade into the nation's capital. "But we really can't afford it... we're doing it on borrowed money."

Rep. Mickey Leland, a newly-elected Democrat from a predominately black district in Houston, was asked to compare the farmers' economic protest with the black marches for civil rights in the 1960s.

"I don't recall any of us driving $30,000 tractors to town," he replied.

The first of almost 1,000 tractors have arrived. Farmers put the diesel monsters in Virginia and Maryland campgrounds and headed to Washington for a weekend of relaxation and sightseeing.

McCathern had obtained permits to move the tractors into Washington early Monday morning. As they did during four months of lobbying a year ago, the farmers claim crop prices are too low for them to make ends meet.

They want to force Carter to raise price supports and loan limits — "which don't cost the government a dime... we pay 'em back" — to the maximum limit under the 1977 Farm Act.

Carter has said through his Agriculture Secretary, Bob Bergland, that such a move would be inflationary and the USDA figures released in January show prices paid to farmers rose 25 percent in the last year, more than double the rate of inflation.

"You put a lie into those computers and you get a damned lie back," responds Quitaque cotton farmer F.G. Reed.

Specifically, farmers want 90 percent parity, the maximum percentage allowed under current law. Parity is an economic indicator set by the government. Under 100 percent parity, farmers would have the same buying power they enjoyed during 1910-14.

Following Saturday night's rally in Virginia featuring a blue grass band and steaming barbecue, more than 1,000 farmers attend a church service Sunday morning at the Commerce Department auditorium.

Commuters are warned to leave for work early and the Washington police called in extra officers in anticipation of Monday morning's problems.

When told that city police would not allow tractors on Capitol Hill, one farmer replied: "We didn't come this far to obey all the laws anyway."

Rumors circulate among the farmers that Iranian students may try to "infiltrate" their tractorcade and cause trouble.

Ropesville cotton farmer Preston Reeves stood over a stove in a camper at Virginia's Pohick Regional Park waiting for a battered coffee pot to perk. It was 2:30 in the morning but Reeves and his four West Texas counterparts had been dressed for an hour readying for the tractorcade's final push across the Potomac.

The conversation during that cold, windy morning reflected the nervousness of the group.

They spoke of the 1,800-mile trek from Texas that began Jan. 15, the almost month-long separation from wives and family and the hardness of the tractor seats.

"Didn't he put that coffee on when we left Abilene?" joked Dan Carter.

James Kirksey zipped up his insulated overalls and stepped into the freezing darkness to fetch his "Arab stick," referring to expected visit by Iranian students.

"I don't know if I've told you boys this before, but in tight situations I might run," said Kirksey.

"For a boy who works all week and goes to church on Sunday, this is a big deal," said Maurice Cain before boarding his tractor for the last 28 miles.

The roar of diesel engines shattered the morning stillness and minutes later chattering farmers were on their CBs.

"Do you think we can speed up a little," asked one trooper over his radio as the 25-mile long line of tractors and support vehicles crept over an interstate highway at 12 mph.

"I could get up to 14, maybe," replies Mel Cherry, a 63-year-old Lorenzo cotton farmer who has aided Meek in taking charge of the tractorcade.

"Mel's CB handle is Mad Dog," said Meek. "He's a stubborn old coot. But we needed someone with experience who could make all these fellows toe the line."

Clifford Hamilton of Shallowater drove the first tractor into Washington, crossing the George Mason Memorial Bridge at 6:01.

"I tell ya, it feels real good," exclaimed Hamilton into his CB and hundreds of farmers behind him cheered into their microphones.

Then an unidentified voice crackled over the CB: "Let's mosey over here and block this intersection."

Six lanes in front of the Agriculture Department were quickly filled with noisy tractors, trucks, recreational vehicles and a few trapped commuters.

With the farmers flocking to the Capitol — leaving their tractors, vans and trucks parked on a grassy area between the Capitol and the Washington Monument — Deputy Police Chief Robert W. Klotz saw his opportunity.

Within 90 minutes, Klotz had the area surrounded by city buses, garbage trucks, snowplows and squad cars.

The tractors were corralled.

Davis to detail night of shooting

HOUSTON, Texas (AP) — A lawyer for Cullen Davis said the millionaire plans for the first time to detail his activities on the night of the August 1976 shooting spree at his $6 million Fort Worth mansion.

Houston lawyer Donn Fullenweider said Davis will answer, under oath, questions from attorneys representing Gus Gavrel Jr., who was paralyzed in the shooting. Gavrel has filed a $13 million damage suit against Davis.

Davis' stepdaughter, 12-year-old Andrea Wilborn, and Stan Farr, the live-in lover of Davis' estranged wife, Priscilla, were shot to death at the mansion Mrs. Davis also was wounded.

The Fort Worth industrialist was acquitted in Amarillo — in the state's longest and costliest murder trial ever — of slaying his stepdaughter. However, Davis still faces charges in connection with the three other shootings.

Fullenweider said Davis has "always wanted to give his version" of what happened that night, but previously has not on the advice of his attorneys.

Davis is expected to answer the questions after completion of his divorce trial.

Retired District Judge John M. Barron of Bryan, who will preside over the bitter, 4-year-old, high-stakes divorce case, estimated Friday the proceeding could last two to four weeks.

However, Davis has been ordered by State District Judge Charles Murray to answer the questions of Gavrel's lawyers by April 1.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin Saturday issued its toughest warning yet to Peking to end its "unconcealed military pressure" on Vietnam. Hanoi and Peking, meanwhile, fired off bitter protests accusing each other of "brazen" and "sinful" provocations along their common border.

China claimed the Vietnamese had killed more than 70 Chinese border guards and civilians in small-scale clashes the past three weeks.

Moscow's warning came one day after the United States said it was concerned about the possibility of an expanded conflict in Southeast Asia. It was the first time Washington publicly cautioned China to observe restraint in the year-long series of border clashes.

The Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda charged Saturday that Peking was exerting pressure on Vietnam by massing troops near the frontier and provoking armed border incidents. The 1,500-word commentary was signed by "I. Alexandrov" which indicates it reflects top-level Kremlin views.

Western diplomatic sources here said that although the commentary contained no direct threat of Soviet moves against China, it was toughly phrased and should be viewed as a clear expression of Soviet concern.

Moscow bolstered its support of Vietnam last November by signing a treaty of peace and friendship that pledged Soviet assistance in case of aggression against Vietnam.

Saturday's commentary accused China of "systematically and deliberately building up tension on the Sino-Vietnamese border" in the past few months and added, "The scale of these provocations has notably increased in the past few days... matters have already reached a stage in which groups of Chinese troops have been attacking border-line regions of Vietnam."

China's moves, Pravda said, "are evidently directed at firing up a hotbed of military tension in its relations with Vietnam and — given the opportunity — expanding the scale of military provocations, while blaming Vietnam for deliberate aggression against China."

Pravda said such actions "prove once again that Peking regards Southeast Asia as a zone in which China's rule must be established in the long run as a bridgehead for eventual possession of all Asia."

The Chinese Foreign Ministry filed a protest with the Vietnamese Embassy in Peking Saturday, accusing Vietnam of killing more than 70 Chinese border guards and border-area residents. The incidents occurred between Jan. 15 and Feb. 7, according to a Radio Peking broadcast monitored in Tokyo.

Tass reported from Hanoi that Vietnam filed its own protest with the Chinese Embassy on Saturday.

The Vietnamese accused Chinese soldiers of killing three persons Wednesday in the ambush of a militia border patrol in Vietnamese territory. The protest said the Chinese fired into Vietnamese territory more than 60 times during the first week of February and that Chinese planes violated Vietnamese airspace "many times."

Awareness increasing on world human rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration reported Saturday an "increasing awareness" of human rights around the world in 1978, but torture and suppression of dissent remain widespread.

The assessment was made in the State Department's annual report on human rights in the 115 countries which receive U.S. aid or buy U.S. weapons. The report is required by Congress each year.

The picture of human rights painted by the report is incomplete because it does not cover some of the countries most often accused of human rights violations, including the Soviet Union, China, South Africa, Rhodesia, Argentina, Chile, and Uruguay. Those countries receive no American arms or aid.

The report already has stirred widespread controversy because of its charge that Israel mistreats Palestinians arrested in the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River.

That section of the report was released last week after portions were leaked to the press. The full report indicated that Israel is not the only country in the Middle East which can be accused of human rights violations.

In Saudi Arabia, the study said, Islamic punishments like beheading and the severing of hands still occur. Women are segregated and there is a prohibition against political parties and activity or union organizing.

In Syria, the report found "good reason to believe that physical coercion, even to the point of serious injury," has been used to extract confessions from prisoners.

In Egypt, it found that "bribery is a fact of life," and that the press is "under government influence."

New president nobody's man

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Peter T. Flawn, new president of the University of Texas at Austin, is "nobody's man" and knows all the ins and outs of the complex UT system, according to acquaintances.

Some call him "low-key," "cool" and even "not colorful," but all agree he is academically and administratively prepared for the mammoth job of governing the 40,000-student university.

Flawn, 52, a nationally recognized scholar in mineral resources and environmental problems, was picked Friday by UT regents over Paul D. Saltman, vice chancellor of the University of California at San Diego, and Wayne Holtzman, president of the Hogg Foundation for Mental Health at UT.

Flawn will succeed Lorene L. Rogers, who announced last year she would retire in August at age 65.

He was educated at Oberlin College and Yale University.

Nineteen die in accidents

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Nineteen persons died in Texas hunting accidents in 1978, two more than the previous year, the Parks and Wildlife Department reported Friday.

Game wardens reported 83 hunting accidents, three more than in 1977, the department said.

December was the most dangerous month, the department said, with 20 accidents.

The internationally famous Texas Rangers have served this state for over 150 years. Visitors to the Lovett Memorial Library may see a pictorial summary of their history in a Ranger exhibit produced by the Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio.

The Texas Rangers: Their First 150 Years will be on display during regular hours in the library's conference room at 111 N. Houston throughout February. The show, which comprises 150 pictures and large print texts mounted on 7-foot display panels, is being brought to Pampa by private residents interested in expanding library services.

Weekly oil report

by the associated press

HOUSTON — A cable message that was ignored holds a prominent spot in the history of the development of Iran's vast petroleum resources.

The message advised, because of lack of further funds, the cessation of operations on a syndicate's first test well after it had reached a depth of 1,100 feet.

Drilling continued, however, and oil was discovered two weeks later, on May 26, 1908, at Masjid-i-Sulaiman at a depth of 1,180 feet. A second well was completed seven days later, a third five months later.

The first discovery of oil in commercial quantities in the Middle East led to the April 1909 formation of Anglo-Persian Oil Co. Legislation by the British parliament in May 1914 authorized the British government to acquire just over 50 percent of the company's stock.

In June 1935, Anglo-Persian became Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. to conform with the ancient name which had officially replaced Persia as the country's name.

Iran's petroleum industry was nationalized on May 1, 1951 and Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, on a wave of nationalist fervor, evicted the British.

Economic chaos quickly followed. The world's largest refinery was shutdown. Crude oil production that had been averaging 700,000 barrels a day, then the largest in the Middle East, dropped to less than 20,000. Diplomatic relations with Great Britain were severed on Oct. 23, 1952.

A coup swept Mossadegh out of power in August 1953.

It was not until Oct. 29, 1954, however, that an agreement was finalized for Anglo-Iranian and seven other international companies to form a consortium and set up the Iranian Oil Operating Companies to restore the nationalized industry among the world's largest oil producers.

Production was back to 187,000 barrels a day by the end of the year, exceeded 700,000 in 1957, and broke the million-barrels-a-day mark in 1960.

Part of the agreement called for Iran to make payments to Anglo-Iranian over a 10-year period as settlement of nationalization claims and counter-claims. The other members of the consortium agreed to make payments to Anglo-Iranian over a period of years to compensate the British firm for its development expenditures prior to nationalization.

In December 1954, Anglo-Iranian changed its name to The British Petroleum Co. Ltd.

The consortium increased to 17 members in April 1955 with the addition of nine smaller U.S. firms.

The 1954 consortium agreement was terminated in 1973 and a new company, Oil Service Co. of Iran, was formed to give technical assistance to the National Iranian Oil Co., which took over all concession rights and operations. A new 20-year agreement guaranteed proportionate oil supplies to the participating companies.

The cable message that was ignored is recorded in the fifth edition of BP's "Our Industry Petroleum," a 600-page history of worldwide oil operations.

William Knox D'Arcy, a Britisher who had made a fortune in Australian gold, had obtained in 1901 a 60-year concession to explore for oil throughout Persia except for five provinces near Russia.

By 1904, only small quantities of non-commercial oil had been discovered and a syndicate was formed to bolster D'Arcy's financial resources.

It was the syndicate that sent the cable.

As a result of the Masjid-i-Sulaiman discovery, Anglo-Persian Oil Co. was formed to operate the original D'Arcy concession.

In 1933, the original concession was reduced from 500,000 to 100,000 square miles but the term was extended to 1993.

D'Arcy had been preceded to Persia by Baron Julius de Reuter, a naturalized British citizen and the founder of the Reuters News Agency.

In 1872, Reuter received Persia's first concession for oil and minerals explorations.

Art program presented

The program "American Indian Art" was presented by Mrs. Emmett Osborne.

Mrs. James L. Vaughn was welcomed as a new member. Gayle Collier, of Woodrow Wilson Elementary School was presented a Silver medal for writing an essay on the theme "Travel in the 13 Colonies." Gayle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Collier.

Officers for the next two years were elected. Mrs. J. R. Spearman, Regent; Mrs. J.S. Skelly, Jr., Vice Regent; Mrs. P. R. Britton, Secretary; Mrs. E. L. Norman, Treasurer; Mrs. L.A. Barns, Registrar; Mrs. J. F. McKnerney, Chaplain; Mrs. Walter Whatley, Librarian; Mrs. James Hopkins, Historian; Mrs. J. S. Skelly, Jr., Mrs. E.

L. Norman, Mrs. J. R. Spearman and Mrs. L. A. Barns were elected as delegates to the 80th State Conference to be held in El Paso March 13-15.

The Fourteenth Annual Colonial Tea, which will be held in Senior Citizens Center on Feb.

18, was discussed. Five good Citizens Awards will be given to area students.

The next meeting will be March 3 in Senior Citizens Center with Mrs. Turner Kirby, Mrs. Henry Merrick and Mrs. Walter Whatley as hostesses.

Installing Gas air conditioning now is a squirrely idea . . .

One you'll be nuts about this summer!

Some things are better planned ahead — ask any squirrel. Like gathering nuts. Or, getting your home ready in winter for summer's swelter. Install Gas air conditioning now, and you'll beat the rush that always comes with the first hot, dusty day. Then, while everybody else is all steamed up, waiting for overworked installers, you'll be cool, calm and collected . . . enjoying the comfort of efficient Gas air conditioning and the security of its full ten-year, no-sweat warranty.*

Gas air conditioning lasts and lasts with no loss of cooling capacity. That's because it's built with fewer moving parts and no compressor to break down or wear out. Heat from the steady blue flame circulates a refrigerant through the system to cool the air. It's this simple principle that gives Gas air conditioning its long life and easy maintenance.

Take a tip from the smart little squirrel. Plan ahead. Install Gas air conditioning this winter. You'll be nuts about it this summer.

Amarillo High trims Harvesters, 52-51

By JOE BLOBAUM
Pampa News Sports Editor
AMARILLO — Amarillo High tightened its grip on a District 3-AAAA playoff bid here Friday night by holding off Pampa's last-minute charge and claiming a 52-51 victory.

The loss left the Harvesters with a 13-15 record and a 1-3 second-half district mark. But those sub-500 statistics shouldn't imply shame on the Pampa team. They had plenty to be proud of in their performance against the Sandies.

Down 50-41 with 5 1/2 minutes to play, the Harvesters ran off 10 unanswered points to grab a 51-50 lead with 2:40 remaining. Forty seconds later, Amarillo High's Darrell Anderson connected for two free throws to close the scoring. But the excitement rolled on.

Two turnovers killed what should have been easy baskets for Pampa in the final two minutes. The first came at 1:19, when the Harvies converted a three-on-one fast break into an Amarillo possession.

Steve Glover, who came off the bench to lead Pampa's scorers with 15 points, gave the Harvies another chance by drawing an offensive foul from AHS' Kevin Peninger. A 45-second Pampa stall ran the clock down to 32 seconds, but a PHS time out couldn't prevent another turnover when a basket seemed imminent.

Peninger made up for his earlier foul by drawing a charge from Doug Skaggs with 20 seconds left, but missed his free throw and gave Pampa another chance to win it as Darryl Hughes rebounded the errant shot.

This time, the Harvesters set up a shot for Steve Stout, and the 6-6 senior fired from the free-throw line with eight seconds to play. The ball just rolled off the right edge of the rim and AHS had a lock on the game. Until the Sandies threw the ball away with one second left.

With possession on the backcourt's baseline, the Harvies attempted a long pass to Ronnie Faggins. The 6-3 sophomore caught the ball with his back to the basket and tipped it to Steve Duke, whose 30-foot effort fell short as the buzzer sounded.

"I don't think anybody can accuse us of laying down and letting Amarillo High have it," Harvester coach Gary Abercrombie said.

"I thought the effort was good," he said, "but we just made the mental mistakes down the stretch that have hurt us all year. We've been averaging 20 turnovers a game and that's going to hurt you."

But they put a great effort out. They played as hard as they can play. That's the way things have gone for us. We've had a bunch of balls fall the other way."

Abercrombie said he wanted Stout to shoot after Peninger's missed charity toss and Faggins to take the last-second shot.

"He played well," Abercrombie said of Stout's 14-point performance. "He had the game on the rim, but it just rolled out on him. We wanted him to take it."

"We wanted Ronnie to take the last shot. It was our only chance, but he had to catch it with his back to the basket and had to pass it off."

Pampa spurred to a 7-1 lead in the opening minutes as the Sandies missed their first six shots from the field. Amarillo High warmed up to tie the game at 11 by the end of the quarter, but Glover took his cue and scored 11 second-quarter points to pace the Harvesters to a 28-23 lead.

The 5-10 junior got a three-point play to open the second quarter and pushed the Harvies to a 20-16 lead by burning the Sandie defense for three straight backdoor layups. Steve Duke sandwiched two baskets between Stout's 15-footer and Glover's layups to give Pampa its halftime margin.

The third quarter was nothing short of a disaster for Pampa. The Harvesters sank just three of 14 field goal attempts while the Sandies were making eight of 13 tries to outscore Pampa 19-6 for the period.

Down 42-34 entering the final quarter, the Harvesters were behind by as many as 10 before staging their last-ditch effort. Stout led off the 10 points to the run, Hughes had another four and it was Glover's 18-foot jumper that gave the Harvies their final lead at 51-50.

Jeff Helton, who tallied 12 points in the third quarter to lead the Sandie comeback, took game honors with 17 points. Anderson added 16 for Amarillo High.

Glover and Stout were the only Harvesters to score in double figures. Duke had eight, but Faggins and Skaggs, who normally score in double figures, only had eight between them.

Amarillo High upped its second-half district mark to 3-0 with a Tuesday game at Palo Duro still on tap before the Sandies can gain a playoff with

The Pampa Shockers lost another close game, 54-51. Vic Wallace had 13 points to lead Pampa's scorers, while Kyle Bradford and Darrell Johnson had 10 apiece. Orlando Gilbreath had 17 and Aaron Cunningham 15 for AHS.

Heiden captures skating victories

By ERIK A. WOLD
Associated Press Writer
OSLO, Norway (AP) — "Now I'll go for a new 1,500 meters world record Sunday," exclaimed American Eric Heiden after he won the 500- and 5,000-meter races in championships times at the opening of the 73rd Speed Skating World Championships Saturday.

Cheered by a capacity crowd of 26,000, Heiden won the 500 meters in 36.22 seconds and the 5,000 meters in a lowland rink world record and American record time of 6 minutes 59.15 seconds. The latter time was less than three seconds off the world record 6:56.90 held by Norway's Kay Stenshemmet.

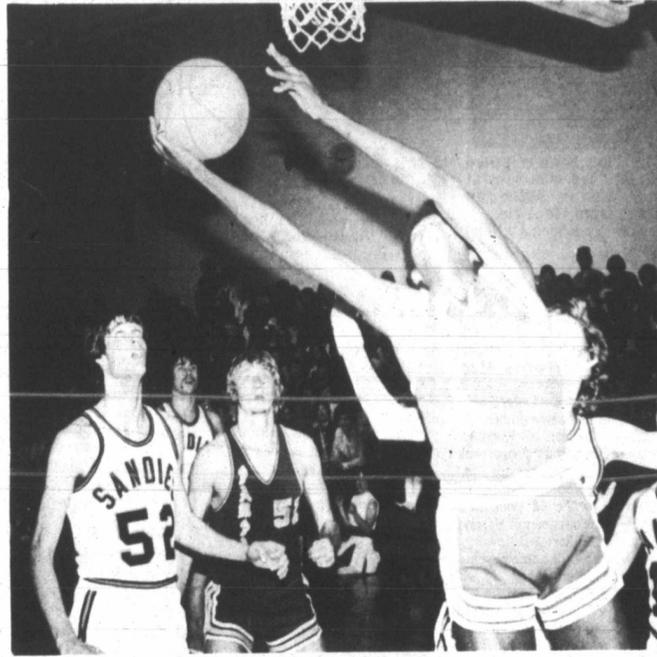

With such an outstanding start, which gave him an aggregate points score of 80.35. The 20-year-old star from Madison, Wis., was expected to clinch his third straight all-around championships world title and his seventh in a row including junior and sprint world titles. He also won the all-round titles in 1977 and 1978. Sunday's opening 1,500 meters race at Bislet Stadium is Eric's best distance. Saturday's overall runner-up, Jan Egil Storholt, the 1979 European all-around champion, said, "None of us can prevent Eric from winning the 1,500 meters race and his third title unless he falls. He is completely in a class of his own."

If Heiden wins the 1,500 meters race, he automatically will be the champion as long as he just completes the 10,000 meters, regardless of time or placing. But Heiden always tries to do his best in all races and in his present form he may win all four. He won the three first races at Gothenburg, Sweden, last year.

"With such fine weather and ice conditions we had today, I think Eric should go for Storholt's world record of 1:55:18 tomorrow," said Heiden's coach, Diana Holm.

"He likes the 1,500 meters. That is his favorite distance. Everything looks good now. He has been down to about 1:57 twice this season and under much worse conditions than here," Holm said.

Girls still without a district win

By EUGENE LAYCOCK
Pampa News Staff
Pampa's Lady Harvesters are still trying to tie all the strings together to wrap up a season's gift — a win — as a token of experience in their first year of District 3-AAAA play after Friday night's loss to the number-one ranked Amarillo Sandies (45-35) at the Green Pit.

As district play comes to an end with two games remaining, the Pampa women's basketball team has no wins. But the team has a lot of spirit and hustle left, according to Coach Mary Thomas.

"The girls have a chance to beat them," said Thomas, referring to Caprock and Tascosa, who are scheduled to play the Harvester ladies after an open date Tuesday.

Pampa's girls will go to Caprock Friday to play the Longhorns, who defeated the Harvesters 58-56 in overtime here Jan. 29 and who upset the Palo Duro Dons last week, 37-36. Palo Duro had been tied with the Sandies for the number one position in district until Friday's basketball activities.

The Lady Harvesters will be in Amarillo again Feb. 20 to clash with the Tascosa Rebels, who muscled Pampa's women 51-46 in their first meeting here at the Field House.

Thomas said that her players did a good job against the Sandies, but were again in the third quarter, which left the Harvesters 13 points (36-23) down at the end of the period. Melissa Polson scored Pampa's only two points, while the Amarillo girls accumulated 12.

Sandie Kim Helfenbein hit two quick baskets at the beginning of the third period before Marey Dale, who went on to win the game's high point honors with 19, planted herself along the baseline to be fed inside for a forced layup. She also made the first of two free-throw attempts later in the quarter.

The Sandies' Lori Watson sank three out of five free-throw attempts and threaded a four-foot shot to add to Amarillo's third-quarter lead.

In the opening minutes of the first quarter, Pampa's Kellye Richardson hit hard and fast with a driving layup to begin her rally toward her team's high-point honors (17). Dale, who was often double covered, backboarded a short one for two points to begin Amarillo's scoreboard activities.

Marilyn Bennett placed a three-foot jumper from inside the lane and later hit two more short shots to add to the Sandies' early scoring efforts.

Richardson maneuvered in a crowd of opposing players twice to find the backboard for two forced layups while Becky Davis flipped in a four-footer despite being fouled.

The scoring for the Pampa team in the second quarter was again paced by Richardson, who tallied two field goals and five out of six free throws. Teresa Adair hit a long jumper and four-footer to give the Harvies four more points.

But Amarillo's Dale was hot and in on four field goals and a free throw. Teammates Bennett, Rhonda Reed and Doris Henke had two points apiece while Lori Watson dropped in a free throw to give the Sandies a 24-21 lead at halftime.

The Lady Harvesters outscored the Amarillo team in the last quarter with 12 points over the Sandies' nine, but the cold third period was too big a gap for Pampa's rally to overcome.

The junior varsity, after last week's two-point win over Palo Duro in overtime, fell to Amarillo's JV team 40-26.

Coach Johanna Baedke said that her girls took bad shots and were outscored badly by AHS in the first and third quarters. Pampa had just six points in those two periods to the Sandies' 18.

Joni Hale held Pampa's high point honors with eight, while Karen Ladd contributed five.

Arkansas crushes TCU

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas relied on its man-to-man defense to snatch a 31-4 lead and the 14th-ranked Razorbacks coasted to a 108-65 basketball victory over hapless Texas Christian in a Southwest Conference match Saturday.

Sidney Moncrief scored 28 points and grabbed 15 rebounds as the Razorbacks upped their SWC record to 9-3 and season mark to 17-4 in the regionally-televised game.

Substitutes Mark Nickens and Terry Tibbs each hit 12 points for the Horned Frogs, who fell to 1-11 in league play and 6-16 on the year.

The Razorbacks staggered out of the gate offensively, scoring only one basket in the game's first five minutes.

But the Frogs could not get off shots against the Razorback defense.

In the first seven minutes, TCU connected on only two of 11 shots. The Frogs' first basket came when Hog center Steve Schall was called for goal tending when he touched a ball that was rolling off the rim at the TCU end.

Schall had 16 points and 10 rebounds. Scott Hastings connected for 14 points. U.S. Reed had 12 points and reserve Mike Young and James Crockett hit 10 points each for Arkansas.

Moncrief was flawless at both ends, hitting 9 of 12 shots from the field with seven assists. On defense, he covered TCU guard Scott Blackwell, holding him without a field goal in the first half.

The Razorbacks hit 66 percent from the field.

Green leading at Hawaiian Open

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — Defending champion Hubert Green blasted his way out of a massive logjam of players with a 9-under-par 63 and assumed a commanding 4-stroke lead Saturday in the third round of the rain-delayed $300,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

Eight players either led or shared the lead before Green took charge with a burst of six birdies in an 8-hole stretch beginning on the eighth hole of the water-logged Waialae Country Club course.

The lean and lanky man with the unorthodox but highly effective swing had a 54-hole total of 198, 18 under par and appeared on the verge of breaking the tournament record for 72 holes, also 18 under par. He'd need only a par-72 in Sunday's final round to match it.

The start of the day's play was delayed three hours by an overnight tropical storm that dumped more than an inch of rain on the already-saturated course that winds 7,234 yards by the Pacific surf. It left the course in a flooded condition.

Officials were able to clear the greens of standing water, but pools and puddles dotted most of the fairways. The delayed start also threw off the national television coverage to the mainland. NBC's cameras went off the air before the leaders made the turn to the back nine.

George Burns came on to take second alone at 202. He had a rallying 68 in the muggy heat, including birdies on three of his last four holes.

Rookie Lindy Miller, Jay Haas and Canadian surprise Dan Hallorsen were next at 203. Miller shot a 68 over and around the standing water, while Haas and Hallorsen — making his best showing ever in an American event — had 69's.

The group at 204, 12 shots under par but a distant 6 strokes back of the leader, included Hale Irwin, former professional dancer Tom Storey and a trio of veterans, Don January, Miller Barber and Charles Coody.

Barber shot a 65, Irwin had a 67, Coody, January and Storey all were 66's.

PHS netters fall to Lubbock teams

David Martin's tennis team spent Friday afternoon removing snow from the Pampa High courts, but the extra work didn't help the Harvester netters in their matches against Lubbock Dunbar and Estacado Saturday.

Playing with less than a full contingent of their regular members, the Harvester netters fell to Dunbar 12-4 in an abbreviated match, while Estacado took a 12-6 win in matches that lasted past 6:30 p.m.

Kris Douglass, Laura Johnson and Susan Lane were the most successful Pampa competitors. Douglass won her two singles matches and teamed with Lane to take a pair of doubles matches. Johnson had two singles and a doubles victory and Lane added a singles victory to her success in doubles. "Kris played real strong today," Martin said as darkness settled over the PHS courts. "She had to hurry up and go to her sister's wedding tonight, but I think her match (against Estacado) only lasted 20 minutes."

Douglass beat Estacado's Kathy Taylor 6-2 6-0, then teamed with Lane to down Taylor and Gracie Mendez 6-0 6-1 in doubles.

Lane had already won her singles match with a 6-0, 6-0 decision over Estacado's Laverne Crenshaw. In other girls matches, Laura Johnson (P) topped Mendez 6-4 6-3, Kathy Wall (P) stopped Pam Gilbert 7-5 6-3, Michelle Grant (E) beat Julie Colier 6-1 2-6 6-0 and Nora Sender (E) claimed a win over Cheryl Kessel.

In doubles, Johnson and Wall stopped Gilbert and Sanchez 6-2 6-1, while the Grant-Crenshaw team of Estacado held off Kessel and Colier in a match shortened by darkness.

Pampa's boys couldn't win a match all day. Estacado's Sammy Lovato and Kenneth Taylor polished off Kurt Krause and Jack Redus, Pampa's top two singles players, while Kenneth Carr took a 7-5 6-1 win over Mark Spence in the No. 3 boys slot.

In other boys matches against

Estacado, Freddie Green (E) defeated Sean Johnson 6-0 6-0, Marvin Skinner (P) dropped consecutive 6-0 sets to Ronald Dailey and Clarence Rigby (E) topped Randy Pryor 6-1 6-1.

In boys doubles, Taylor-Carr (E) stopped Krause-Redus 6-4 6-3. Green-Dailey whipped Spence-Johnson 6-3 6-1 and Lovato-Rigby downed the Skinner-Pryor duo.

Boys games against Lubbock Dunbar showed Walter Crockett downing Krause 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 and Kevin Bryant taking Redus 6-0 6-1. Spence, Johnson, Skinner and Pryor also lost their singles matches, but their scores were not available.

In an abbreviated doubles slate, Crockett and Bryant downed Redus and Krause 6-2 6-4 and Spence and Johnson dropped a 6-0 6-1 decision to Dunbar's No. 2 boys team.

The girls fared a little better by winning four matches. Besides Douglass' win over Hamilton, Lane fell 6-3 7-5 to Denny Flewelen, Johnson topped Rena Flewelen 6-1 7-5. Kessel held off Shelia Knighten 6-4, 6-7, 6-2 and Velma Garza defeated Colier 6-2 6-0 and Wall 6-4 6-1.

In doubles, the Douglass-Lane team topped Hamilton-Flewelen 6-3, 2-6, 7-5 and Flewelen-Garza stopped Wall and Johnson.

Martin's charges will be hoping for clear weather this week, as they'll host Palo Duro in a 10 a.m. dual Saturday.

Phillips, Irish win in overtime

A 100-point performance by Miami's girls and two overtime thrillers highlighted Friday night's area basketball action.

At Booker, the Miami Warriorettes got 31 points from Tracy Klasek and scored 62 points in the first half on their way to a 105-46 walkaway. Robin Cates' nine points topped Booker's scorers.

At Phillips, the Blackhawkettes took four quarters and three minutes to subdue Gruver 56-53, in overtime. Phillips' Debra Rankin poured in 41 points to lead all scorers, while Callie Barkley had 19 in a losing effort.

Shamrock, meanwhile, had to play four quarters and six minutes before disposing of White Deer 58-56. Carl Bennett's 20 points paced the Irish and Allen Weese had 15 for the Bucks in the double-overtime affair.

White Deer's girls took a 45-25 decision over the Irish girls as Mary Ann Miller led the Does with 11 points. Brenda Campbell had 10 for Shamrock.

Joe Lemley's 26 points weren't enough to keep Phillips boys from dropping a 61-50 contest to Gruver, which got 22 from Bruce Ammons. At Booker, Randy Daugherty had 26 points in a 78-51 Miami win. Jay Barton's 15 led the Kiowas.

Canadian topped Spearman 59-44 behind Micah Lewis' 22-point performance. James Whitaker had 13 for the Lynx, who won the girls game 48-30 behind Tracy Keetch's 21 points. Dea Steine had 12 for the Wildkittens.

The Groom Tigerettes crushed McLean 91-30 with 28 points by Connie Crowell. Jamie Trew had eight for McLean. The Groom boys showed little more prize in taking a 77-40 win. Neil Wieberg had 24 for the winners, while Randy Suggs led McLean with 19.

Randy Cady's 21 points led Lefors to a 54-50 boys win at Claude. Wes Stockett had 17 for Claude, which took the girls game by a 49-38 count. Jonetta Dunn had 15 points in a losing effort, while Bob Ann Wheichel had 14 for the Mustangettes.

Wheeler took a pair of games on its home court, beating Briscoe 77-47 in boys play and 53-43 in girls action. Boyd Waldo (18) and Missy Wiggins and Beth Willis (10 apiece) led Wheeler's scorers. Keith Horn led Briscoe's boys with 15, while Rolonda Hill took the girls game honors with 21.

Mobeetie and Allison split games at Mobeetie. The Hornets took the boys game 64-49 behind Dean Hathaway's 20 points, while Allison won 49-42 in girls play. Allison's Kenneth Keys took the boys game scoring honors with 24 points, while Mobeetie's Sheryl Estes had 14 to lead all scorers in the girls game.

Country Inn takes city bowling crown

Outstanding bowling by Ricky Bryan propelled the Country Inn Steak House to a one-pin victory over Lee-Valve in team competition at the Pampa Bowling Association City Championships.

Bryan rolled scores of 218, 261 and 180 for a 659 series. Dr. Pepper, Four R Supply and Miller Jewelry rounded out the top five finishers in the team standings.

Bryan took the singles championship with a handicap score of 716 and added the all-event handicap title to his trophy belt with a 2138 total. Cliff Westbrook (698) was second in singles, followed by Scott Owens, Shawn Potter, Roger Burdick and Ernie Byars. Jim Eakins' 1995 total was good for second place in the all-events handicap.

Dickie Rogers and L.E. Vanderbrook grabbed the doubles event with a handicap score of 1324. Alvin Achord and Jerry Simpson were a close second at 1321, while the duo of Kevin Davis and Jack Sutton was third at 1313.

Roy Don Stephens won the scratch all-events crown with an 1862 pinfall. He averaged 206.8 per game to become the tournament's top bowler.

Optimist cage results

The Celtics and Bullets scored 30 points apiece Saturday morning to record victories in the Pampa Optimist Boys League.

Ben Sanchez had 12 points as the Celtics tripped the Rockets 30-26. Brent Crier and Jimmy Bridges tallied six apiece for the Celtics, who also got some good defensive play from Tim Woods late in the game.

John Tarpley had 14 to lead the Rockets, who got another 10 from Tate Eldridge.

Gene LaRue tallied 14 points to win a dual with Mike Treadwell for game scoring honors, but his Bucks still dropped a 30-24 game to the Lakers. Raymond Wyant added five points to Treadwell's 13 for the Bullets, while Jeff Gaines put in six for the Bucks.

Tuesday night's games will feature the Spurs and Warriors at 5:45; the Lakers and 76ers at 7 and the Bucks and Rockets at 8:15.

Texas teachers may have louder voice

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The State Board of Education took a step Saturday toward giving teachers a louder voice in the setting of professional standards.

Board members approved the first reading of an amendment that would beef up the authority of its State Board of Examiners for Teacher Education.

The education board will have to take action on the amendment again at meetings later this year before it becomes official.

Colleges and universities with education programs would then have to get them approved by the new examiners board. The education board presently has that authority.

Appeals of the examiners board's decisions could be made to the education board.

"Professionals in the field will have a voice in setting standards," said Mary Ann Leveridge of East Bernard, a member of the education board.

The Texas State Teachers Association, a group of college deans and a school administrators organization have endorsed the plan, Mrs. Leveridge added.

The examiners board would have to include six classroom teachers, four administrators, two education school deans and two education professors.

The education board would continue to establish policies, but the examiners board would be presenting its recommendations.

Commissioner of Education M.L. Brockette said the education board will be asking the Legislature to change the examiners board's name to the Commission on Standards for the Teaching Profession.

The education board will also be asking for increased authority to create new types of teacher certification, Brockette said.

In other action Saturday, the board overturned Brockette's ruling against the Beeville school district in a case involving the dismissal of an elementary school principal.

The board, by a 12-5 vote, said the Beeville ISD had adequate cause to terminate the contract of H.L. Mullins for alleged failure to make proper records of vending machine receipts.

Brockette in October had ordered the school district to reinstate Mullins with back pay. The Beeville school board had fired Mullins in February 1978.

Fishermen cry for seafood

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Two years ago, the rallying cry of fishermen against state Sen. A.R. "Babe" Schwartz's marine proposals was "redfish."

This year, with Schwartz sitting as chairman of the Natural Resources Committee, the cries might be "shrimp" or "finfish" or a go-for-broke "seafood."

Schwartz, D-Galveston, said, "That (new chairmanship) is my main committee responsibility so I don't have to be out in Jurisprudence Committee while my bills are being eaten up in natural resources."

Schwartz was jurisprudence chairman in 1975 and 1977.

The veteran senator said he does not have a coast program in mind, just bills to take care of specific problems.

He drew his first howls of the current session Wednesday when bay shrimpers turned out to oppose two Schwartz bills.

A bill dropping minimum size requirements for shrimp caught in outer waters of the Gulf — not in the bays — drew the most attention. It would take effect only after a federal management plan is adopted for the waters past Texas jurisdiction.

Both shrimp bills were sent to a subcommittee for review.

Commercial fishermen are unhappy with a Schwartz bill that would extend the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's authority over virtually all saltwater marine life.

"Parks and wildlife has not had the authority to enforce the law to the degree that I think it ought to be enforced," Schwartz said.

Shrimp would be excluded because shrimpers are a battle all to themselves, he added.

Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, took a sizable geographical area out of consideration.

Local senatorial courtesy apes to the bill, and Parker appeared at the committee hearing to ask that counties in his district be excluded.

He said parks and wildlife has yet to demonstrate it is sufficiently responsive to the citizens to merit extra authority.

"There seems to be a tendency in this department to try to catch them rather than help them stay within the law," Parker said.

Chambers County is part of Parker's district, so his decision takes a large portion of Galveston Bay out of the picture when the bill is discussed in subcommittee.

Galveston Bay is a centerpiece of any coastal legislation for Chambers, but he shrugged off the loss.

"I think Senator Parker is wrong, but Chambers County is his district," he said. "The idea of the bill again is the protection of the resource itself."

Schwartz's redfish bill two years ago, officially known as the Red Drum Conservation Act, touched off a fight between sport and commercial fishermen when catch limits were proposed.

A bill this session would apply to commercial fishermen only: Schwartz freely calls the proposal to limit the number of finfish fishermen "an experiment."

Therem finfish would include spotted sea trout, red drum, southern flounder and Atlantic croaker.

"What I'm trying to do is provide some sensible management," Schwartz said.

Instead of limiting the amount of fish a fisherman can catch, the bill would limit the number of commercial fishermen plying the waters for a 5-year period to those already holding licenses.

"The commercial fisherman is a disappearing species... Commercial people just don't understand the philosophy of limiting people in the business," the senator said. "Substantial numbers of people are making a good living."

Students celebrate OEA-Week

Text by Eugene Laycock

PRINCESS KILCREASE, foreground, and Brenda Veach prepare for OEA Week by displaying posters at Pampa High School (Pampa News photo)

Office Education Association of Pampa will share its purposes of developing leadership, social awareness and competency in office occupations, as well as promoting interest in the American business system, during national OEA Week, Feb. 11-17.

Vocational Education Week will also be honored those seven days. Vocational Office Education students are seniors who have completed the Pre-Employment Lab their junior years.

The daily two-hour lab is designed to extensively train its students in office skills in preparation for future jobs, said Pat Marcum, VOE instructor.

The VOE student, she added, is required to have an office job, as well as to participate in classroom activities for half a day. The local business, employing students, pays its students a beginning wage.

Students from the junior and senior classroom programs comprise the membership of the OEA, she explained.

The association will allow parents, VOE employers, faculty, administrators and advisory committee members to observe classroom activities Wednesday.

Marcum said that students will be found in regular class sessions, working with electronic calculators, electric typewriters, transcribing machines, duplicating equipment and 10-key adding machines. "Participants can examine office machines," she said, "and later have refreshments."

Friday, OEA members will explain to junior high students in the Occupational Investigation Class, a business course designed for this age group, that the organization allows a student to earn while he learns business ethics.

High school students in other business-related programs will also be addressed by the OEA.

The Area OEA contest will be held March 2-3 in Lubbock where 19 members, 11 seniors and 8 juniors, from Pampa will compete. Office skills, job interviews and extemporaneous speeches will be some of the contested matter.

Winners will go on to state competition in Houston, which is the launching pad to nationals at Cincinnati, Ohio.

During the school year, the OEA has various projects to raise money. Basketball programs with advertisements have been sold at recent games.

Valentine garters are presently being sold. And earlier in the year, jewelry was sold through a New Jersey firm.

YESTERDAY'S saggy gray sweatsuit is out and active sportswear now has to look as good as it feels. Bright sun-drenched colors such as canary yellow, orange or turquoise combine with white, soft metallic gray, or even sandstone beige, for a new look. There are color coordinated shoes, bags, visors and headbands to match her warmup outfit, too. The shiny look is especially nice on running shorts when they have a plushy soft velour on the inside. From waffles to lugs, almost every imaginable pattern is showing up on running shoes. The pressure of almost three times one's body weight is put on the knee and lower leg during running, so those fancy trends not only look good, but perform a vital function.

THE FOREST AND YOU

Nature's Way

This article has been prepared by Georgia-Pacific, the growth company interested in protecting our natural resources.

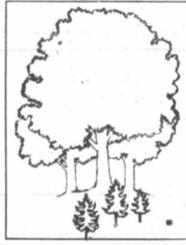

Just for a moment, think of the forest as a crop—a long-term crop of trees. How would you go about harvesting that unusual crop?

Actually, there are several ways. The most common are selective, seed tree and clearcut harvesting.

In the selective method, mature timber stands are "thinned," and many trees are left for later harvest. From these come seeds to start new trees.

In the seed-tree method, relatively few mature trees are left per acre. In time, these reseed the area.

With the clearcutting method, all the trees in an area are removed. The area is laid out to fit the terrain, drainage characteristics and future management objectives. The open area can be restocked with wind-blown seeds from nearby trees, or it can be restocked with nursery-grown seedlings that are hand planted. Clearcutting is believed the most beneficial to man, and to many forests, and has been used for centuries. Feudal lords in Europe, alarmed at their dwindling forests, charged their foresters with finding a system to permit further logging and future forests. Clearcutting was the way. Germany's Black Forest has been clearcut for 600 years and is healthier and more productive today than ever, as well as a haven for wildlife.

Some trees require more sunlight than others. In a mixed forest, the shading is believed the most usually eliminate the other—often more useful—trees. The shade-intolerant species are assisted by nature, which "clearcuts" vast areas with fires, earthquakes, landslides and windstorms, allowing trees to grow without interference. Clearcutting rids the forest of old diseased trees and gives it a fresh start. The young trees are less likely to be attacked by insects, fungus and the diseases that plague older growth timber.

Nature practices clearcutting at great cost to man and wildlife. Man practices clearcutting on a much more limited, controlled and orderly scale with benefits to all, but to the same end: stronger, healthier, better forests for tomorrow.

PRIVATE CORNERS

After the holiday hubbub, most of us welcome a chance to be by ourselves, off in a private corner. Such personal sanctuaries are a valuable part of planning for any home, a welcome bonus in livability, at any season.

Even a small bedroom can offer such a retreat for the woman of the house, a place to relax and be by herself if she chooses, to sew or knit or read, have a cup of coffee or just "take a breather."

The first thing to provide in such a private corner is a comfortable chair, or a chaise, with a table for a lamp, knick-knacks and other small needs. If you have a hobby that needs storage, consider a small storage piece that can double as a lamp table.

Almost equally important, give your private corner a personal touch with a special "favorite" color in a fabric, with plants or accessories you like, with something that speaks privately to you -- and of you.

Looking for a pretty bedroom chair or chaise, that special table or lamp that is just right for any corner of your home? Stop in and browse through our collection of quality home furnishings, and get your new year off to a lovely start!

At wit's end

by erma bombeck

Wars may endure. Crime may increase. Disease may go unchecked. The quality of life may deteriorate.

But by golly, I think we've got the problem of bad breath on the run.

You have to give the bad breath people their just due. They've taken something downright unpleasant and made it downright repugnant. And they've done it the hard way... no letheons... no lobbyists... no celebrity spokesman... no government endowments... just plain hard-hitting commercials.

The other night I saw a commercial where a husband arrived home from a 12-hour day. He was beat. He opened the door and about 75 people who had had a chance to shower and change yelled out, "Happy Birthday! Surprise!"

The man grabbed his wife, kissed her and said, "Honey, what a surprise!" She backed off from him like he was a three-day-old dead chicken and said, "What a breath! You'd better do something... and fast."

Now if that doesn't take the hats and horns out of a birthday... nothing will.

The next scene, she had him in the bathroom where he was gargling and trying to make himself socially acceptable.

The final scene was one of joy. His bad breath in remission, he was kissing everyone in the room and had finally been allowed to attend his own party. Bad breath was discovered just after World War II and has since worked its way up to a major cause of air pollution. You can't hold a job if you have bad breath. Can't lead a normal social life, have a successful marriage. You cannot ski with bad breath, nor can you teach Sunday School. Just about all that is left open to you is making an occasional obscene phone call. (Even then, if you don't floss, you can be traced.)

Fresh Breath advocates have only begun. In the future, there are plans to have separate sections on planes for BB's and CB's. After awhile, no BB will be allowed on elevators, in doctor's or dentist's offices.

(ESPECIALLY dentist's offices.) There will be separate sections of dining rooms for those who plan on Scampi with garlic and those with onions on hamburgers.

Look for the new signs to Stamp Out Bad Breath. THANK YOU FOR NOT BREATHING.

THE FASHION PLACE

By Elaine Monroe, Fashion Director, Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Did that famous actress in that famous film inspire the fashion look all by herself—or was the style merely waiting in the wings, needing only a tiny push?

Whichever came first, the movie costumes or the street clothes, that nonchalant menswear look is a look that Sears endorses.

It's showing up in everything from fabrics like tweeds and corduroys, patterns like foulards and tattersalls, to accessories like hats and ties. The accessories are the true stars of this fashion spectacular—bow ties, stick and scatter pins, suspenders, handkerchiefs to tuck into blazer pockets, newsboy caps and roller hats.

In most haberdashery outfits it's the vest that provides the fashion link between tops and trousers and skirts. These vests go under blazers; over shirts, sweaters and even dresses. They come in all shapes and go to all lengths. Sometimes they reverse from one fabric to another.

The new look often features a mix of textures—tweed plus corduroy, knit plus challis, for example—

BORROWED FROM THE BOYS. That all-girl menswear look is the latest fashion rage. One outfit idea is shown here: tweed blazer, corduroy skirt, checked shirt and knit vest. And don't forget the right accessories. A newsboy cap pulled low on the forehead, jaunty necktie and low-heeled riding boots, and a mix of compatible colors. It all adds up to an outfit with visual interest.

A beauty note for the menswear wearer. Hats and caps draw attention to the face, so makeup is a must with lips in vibrant reds or wines, eyes in tawny browns.

Lots of hair is all wrong for haberdashery hats. A neat, short hairdo is one way to go. Or the hair can be swept away from the face and then pulled to one side in back, clearing the shoulders. The big-frizzed head has fizzled.

Mrs. Francis Thomas Szalejko

Douglass-Szalejko vows

Dixie Lynn Douglass became the bride of Lt. Francis Thomas Szalejko at 7 p.m. on February 10 in the First United Methodist Church in Pampa. The Rev. Jim T. Pickens of Pampa and Father Lawrence Quinn of Lubbock officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm C. Douglass of Pampa and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis John Szalejko of Philadelphia, Pa.

The music during the ceremony was provided by Ann Thomas at the organ; Steve Skoog from Dallas was the vocalist and sang "A Gift of Love" and "Ave Maria".

The maid of honor was the bride's sister Stacy Douglass and the bridesmaids were Nancy Neill, Midland; Lynn Samples, Lubbock; and Kristen Douglass, Pampa, sister of the bride.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother Jim Szalejko; the groomsmen and ushers were Joe Szalejko, brother of the groom; Lt. Eric Conrad, New Iberia, La.; Fred Stampone, Philadelphia, Pa.; and Clay Douglass, Pampa, brother of the bride.

The bride's gown was an original design of candlelight Peau de soie and Alencon lace. The lace applique bodice featured a scoop neck and empire waist. The skirt was gathered at the back waistline and fell into a chapel length train bordered with lace. The fitted, lace applique sleeve had an extended wrist. She wore a modified Juliet cap of lace holding a fingertip length veil of illusion. The bride carried a bouquet of gardenias, white roses and stephanotis.

The reception was held in the Church Parlor. Assisting were Leigh Sidwell, Pampa; Brenda Boley, cousin of the bride; Richardson; and Teresa Shaw, Ozona. The white wedding cake consisted of three separate tiers and was topped with an arrangement of fresh flowers.

The new Mrs. Szalejko graduated from Texas Tech University with a master's degree in education. She was on the Dean's Honor Roll and was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. She is currently a teacher with the Lubbock Independent School District.

Lt. Szalejko graduated with honors from the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Col., where he earned a bachelor's degree in engineering science. He is currently stationed at Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock as an instructor pilot.

Upon returning from a ski trip to Colorado, the couple will be at home at 4425 82nd St., Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hodger

Cox-Hodger wedding

Lorraine Cox of Pampa became the bride of Gene Hodger of Miami on Jan. 26 in the First Baptist Church in Pampa, with the Rev. Claude Cone officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Lillian Murphy and the late W.B. Murphy of Pampa. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hodger of Miami are the parents of the groom.

The brother-in-law of the bride, Darrel Dupy of White Deer, attended the groom in the ceremony.

The bride is employed at Texas Panhandle Community Action. The groom is the postmaster in Miami.

Their honeymoon will be spent in Hawaii.

FOR SPRING: BRIGHT LIPSTICKS
NEW YORK (AP) — Colorful lips are forecast for spring, to go with the new fashions sizzling with vivid color, advises Holly Flor, director of cosmetics and beauty services for Glemby International.

"Neutral makeup was fine when fashions were smoky and smudgy. But to keep the face in focus now, you need a look that's bright, lively with color," says Mrs. Flor, who advocates brilliant lipsticks in cheerful, vibrant hues.

Valentine's Day 1979: Love's not what it was

By JOE WING

For AP Newsfeatures
This being the season of St. Valentine, let us consider the status of love in America. The status of romantic love, since its invention in the 12th century by French troubadours, has rarely changed more than in the decade past. Originally, the idea was for a knight to sigh after the favors of a high-born lady. Now, hopeless sighing is out of fashion. A young man is likely to move right in with his girl friend.

Recently, the Population Reference Bureau estimated that nearly a million unwedded couples are living together, an 83 percent increase since 1970. It's not only the youngsters who are doing it, but also oldsters who fear marriage will slash their Social Security benefits. Unmarried bliss is not unalloyed, however. Psychologists observe that unmarrieds have many of the same problems of money, personality conflicts, division of labor and sexual conflicts as do marrieds. And their breakups are often as traumatic as divorces.

- By no means are all singles enamored of one-night stands or two-name households. A New York man who announced in singles bars that he was looking for a wife received 5,000 letters from women.

There have been commentaries by the yard on how pervasive sex is in America's culture. Advertisements and novels, as well as movie, TV and theater themes, bear this out. Obvious also is the spread of prostitution, massage parlors, sex shops, racy entertainers, girly magazines and peep shows. Police are hampered in efforts to control this, they say, by court rulings.

With such goings on, it might be expected that the nation's birth rate would shoot up. Instead, there was a decline from 18.4 births per thousand to 14.7 in 1976. This edged up to 15.2, however, part way through 1978. Even that small rise was puzzling to those who noted that in a decade the number of working women had risen from 29 million to 35 million, legalized abortion had spread, zero population growth had been touted and birth control techniques and materials had proliferated.

A rise in the marriage rate to 10.1 per thousand population was reported in 1977 after a drop from 10.6 in 1970 to 9.9 in 1976. That was still double the divorce rate, even though the latter had risen spectacularly.

One story is that this thirteenth-century saint, on the night before he was beheaded, wrote an affectionate note to the jailer's daughter, whom he had cured of blindness, and signed it "Your Valentine."

Dear Abby

by abigail van buren

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Karla, is 20, and Bill, her boyfriend, is 22. They've gone together for nearly two years and have just announced that they plan to live together for about a year. Then, if they are compatible, they'll get married.

Bill's parents seem to approve of this, but I do not. I think it's immoral and that they would be living in sin. My husband doesn't really approve of the idea, but says if it doesn't work out it will be easier on Karla than a divorce.

Abby, I say if Karla and Bill love each other and want to live together they should get married now! Karla is the youngest of three daughters. Her sisters both had beautiful church weddings without any "compatibility tests" beforehand, and they are happily married. I promised Karla a lovely church wedding, too, but told her if she lives with Bill for a year, a wedding would be a mockery, and not to expect us to give her one. Am I wrong to feel this way?
SYRACUSE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You are entitled to feel any way you wish, but children who are of age (and self-supporting) have a right to determine their own lifestyles. If you believe a church wedding would be a mockery, it's your right to refuse to foot the bill for one.

DEAR ABBY: Someone asked you whose name should be listed first, the man's or woman's, when couples sign something. You said "Ladies first," but I think the reverse is true.

I've made a list of some famous couples, and found many more in which the man's name comes first. Examples:

- Adam and Eve
- Romeo and Juliet
- Sonny and Cher
- Napoleon and Josephine
- Donny and Marie
- Anthony and Cleopatra
- William and Mary (the college)
- Punch and Judy
- Burns and Allen
- Jack and Jill

On the other hand, I could come up with very few famous couples in which the woman's name is mentioned first. Namely:

- Bonnie and Clyde
- Frankie and Johnny
- Maggie and Jiggs
- How come?

EDIN VAN NUYS

DEAR ED: When you're right, you're right. Beats me. Readers?

DEAR ABBY: This is not a prank. I have heard there is a place in Texas where I could send cremated ashes to be made into pottery. If there is such a place, one's ashes would not have to be kept in a container and possibly lost.

My husband and I plan to be cremated, and this would be an ideal solution for our remains.
Can you help us, please?

MAKING PLANS

DEAR MAKING: I am not aware of such a place. But if one exists, I'll surely be advised.

If you need help in writing letters of sympathy, congratulations or thank-you letters, get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for all Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212 by lawrence lamb m.d.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A year-and-a-half ago I had an X-ray series of my stomach and it showed I had a gastric ulcer. My doctor told me that he was going to put me on medicine and if it wasn't healed within a month, he'd have to remove half the stomach and some nerve endings. He added that gastric ulcers have a tendency to become malignant. I took the medicine and after a month when the tests were repeated, my ulcer was gone.

About three months later, I had some family problems and my old familiar pain was back. He took X rays and my ulcer was bigger than ever. He asked me what I wanted to do and I said, "I'm ready for surgery."

So he operated and removed half my stomach and cut nerve endings to the stomach and also removed the gall bladder while he was in there. My surgeon was recommended by our dear family doctor who has since retired, so I trust him.

Our paper carried an article on ulcers. It stated that it was a myth that a gastric ulcer could cause cancer. Now my family does not believe me when I tell them what my doctor told me. This has me so upset. I don't think my husband believes me either.

This doctor has done surgery on me before. He gets me up on my feet quickly and without a lot of medication which is important to me. Could you please discuss gastric ulcers in your column? Incidentally, it's nice not to have that terrible pain anymore.

Of course, I can't say why your surgeon decided you needed surgery, but perhaps because of the size, extent and recurrent nature of the ulcer, irrespective of his concern about the cancer. Sometimes patients do have severe, recurring ulcers that can't be controlled with medical treatment and need such surgery.

A person can have ulcers in the stomach which are essentially the same as ulcers in the duodenum. These are the ulcers associated with an overproduction of stomach acid. A person can also have cancer of the stomach with an ulcer of the cancer. That's where all the trouble begins.

Doctors used to believe that peptic ulcers in the stomach might become malignant. Cancer cells were noted around some ulcers. Now most doctors believe the cancer was there first and the ulcer formed in the base of the cancer. It really doesn't make a lot of difference because if a doctor has any reason to suspect that an ulcerated area in the stomach is associated with a stomach cancer, he would want to perform surgery at once.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-5, Ulcers, Duodenal, Stomach, to give you more information about ulcers, which appears to have been your primary problem. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR READER — The important point is in the bottom line of your letter. Your medical problem has been relieved by the surgery that has been performed. After all, that's the most important thing.

NUTRITION TODAY - WEIGHT CONTROL TOMORROW

Families can change eating habits as a result of overeating by enrolling in a letter series available free from the County Extension Office - Call 669-7429 or write Star Route 2 Box 33, Pampa, Texas 79065. The monthly series of seven letters features ways to determine overweight; normal weight and underweight; why people overeat and how to plan nutritionally adequate meals with low calories.

BROCCOLI - A FEBRUARY FAVORITE

Broccoli is a favorite not only for its flavor and bright green color, but it is chock-full of vitamins A and C. One-half cup contains one-third of the daily need for vitamin A - and more than enough vitamin C needed daily. Vitamin A promotes growth and seeing in the dark. It also helps prevent infection by keeping the linings of the mouth and digestive system in good condition. Vitamin C helps hold body cells together and keeps blood vessel walls strong; it also helps heal wounds. Also, without enough vitamin C, gums may bleed.

Select broccoli with a firm, compact cluster of small flower buds. Make sure none are open enough to show the bright yellow flower. Bud clusters should be dark green or sage green - or even green with a decidedly purplish cast. Avoid broccoli with stems that are thick or tough. Also, avoid broccoli with spread bud clusters, enlarged or open buds, yellowish green color, or wilted condition - signs of overmaturity and overlong display. In addition, don't buy broccoli with soft, slippery, water-soaked spots on the bud cluster. These are signs of decay. Broccoli thrives in cool weather, so it is in greatest supply during the cooler months of the year. Store fresh broccoli in the refrigerator only a short time before use for best quality. To freeze fresh broccoli, select tight, compact, dark green heads with tender stalks free woodiness. Wash, peel stalks and trim. If necessary to remove insects, soak for one-half hour in a solution made of four teaspoons salt to one gallon cold water. Split lengthwise into pieces so that flowerets are not more than one and a half inch across. Heat in boiling water for three minutes. Cool in ice water, drain, package in moisture-vapor-proof package and freeze immediately. To prepare fresh broccoli for cooking, trim to serving size before cooking. Then boil quickly in small amount of water until tender crisp. Since the fleshy stems take longer to cook than the buds, stand stems down in a covered pan. Cook in boiling salted water letting the buds steam cook. Or cut in pieces and cook the stems a short time before adding the buds. Or place broccoli one-layer deep in a saucepan. Pour boiling water over it and cover with a damp towel. Boil broccoli gently for about 10-15 minutes until tender. The towel helps steam the stalks evenly. Broccoli cooks well in a pressure saucepan. Wash broccoli and slit stems to one-half-inch thickness. Place on rack in saucepan with one cup water to six-quart saucepan. Fill no more than two-thirds full with broccoli. Season with salt if desired. Put cover on pan on heat. Allow steam to flow from vent pipe to release air from pressure saucepan. Place weighted gauge on vent pipe and cook 1 1/2-3 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Cool saucepan at once under a faucet of running water or in a pan of cold water until steam is down. Then remove lid and season. Season broccoli with allspice, basil, caraway, mint, poppy seed, sage, tarragon, cheese, sausage, honey, mustard or onion. Try these recipes for tasty broccoli treats:

HOT BROCCOLI AND CHEESE DIP
1/4 cup butter or margarine
3 stalks celery, thinly sliced
1 medium onion, chopped
1 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained
1 10-ounce package frozen chopped broccoli, thawed or 2 cups fresh

broccoli, chopped
3 tablespoons flour
1 10 1/4-ounce can condensed cream of celery soup
1 garlic cheese roll, cut up (5- or 6-ounce roll)

In small skillet, melt butter and saute celery, onion and mushrooms. Stir in flour. Turn into lightly greased slow cooker. Stir in remaining ingredients. Cover and cook on high setting, stirring about every 15 minutes until cheese melts. Turn to low setting for about 2 hours or until ready to serve. Serve hot with corn chips, crackers or raw vegetables. Makes about 1 quart.

SCALLOPED BROCCOLI

2 cups fresh broccoli, chopped or 1 10-ounce package frozen broccoli, thawed and chopped
1 cup cheese, grated
1/4 cup onion, chopped
2 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup (1 slice) soft bread crumbs
1 2-ounce jar pimientos, chopped
1 10 1/2-ounce can cream of celery soup

Beat eggs slightly and add broccoli, cheese and onion. Mix in salt, pepper, bread crumbs and pimientos. Then add the cream of celery soup and stir all ingredients together. Turn into a well-buttered one-quart casserole. Set in a baking pan partially filled with hot water. Bake at 374 F. for 50 minutes. Serves four.

BROCCOLI - RICE CASSEROLE

1 1/2 cups cooked rice (1/2 cup raw)
2 cups fresh broccoli, chopped or 1 10-ounce package frozen broccoli, chopped
3/4 cup chopped onions
1/4 cup margarine or butter
1 10-ounce can cream of chicken soup
1/2 cup cheese spread
1 teaspoon butter or margarine for greasing casserole dish
In a 10-inch skillet, saute the chopped onions and broccoli in the butter or margarine until the onions are tender, but not brown. Cook rice according to the cheese spread to the onions and broccoli. Stir all this into the cooked rice. Grease a two-quart casserole dish with one teaspoon butter or margarine and pour rice and broccoli mixture into the dish. Bake at 350 F. for 20 minutes or until it is bubbly. Serve warm. Serves six.

BROCCOLI SUPREME

4 cups fresh broccoli or 2 10-ounce packages frozen broccoli spears
1 cup American cheese, grated
1 10 1/2-ounce can cream of mushroom soup
1/4 cup evaporated milk
1 3-ounce can french fried onion rings

Prepare the frozen broccoli as package directs, but cook only five minutes; or cook fresh broccoli in boiling water until tender crisp. Drain and put into greased two-quart casserole. Sprinkle the grated cheese over broccoli. Pour over top a mixture of milk and mushroom soup. Bake 25 minutes uncovered. Remove from oven and add the onion rings. Bake 8 to 10 minutes longer, until onions are crisp and golden brown. Makes six servings.

A Fonzie funeral farewell?

No need to get your black leather jackets cleaned after all. Just as the media was readying for the funeral, the New York Post has reported that a "Happy Days" script entitled "Fonzie's Funeral," does not really spell the end of The Fonz.

Paramount TV's Dick Winter said in response to all the questions about Henry Winkler's unhappy end, "well, not quite." The script is just a mid-season maneuver to boost ratings even higher than the number one and two spots they've scored all season. If the ploy works the first time, maybe they'll do it for real when Winkler's contract expires and he tries once again to make it without the Fonzarelli following.

Some 500 date-palm shoots were recently airlifted from California to Bombay and New Delhi. The shipment, arranged by the United Nations Development Program, is part of a project to assist India to re-establish its self-sufficiency in the cultivation of date palms.

THEN and NOW

A century ago, prosperous Americans such as Ebenezer Maxwell of Philadelphia built magnificent mansions that were the glory of their era to show off their wealth. Today, many people are working hard to restore these beauties of the past. Among them is Paul Oversmith, who is helping make the Maxwell mansion the first of its kind open to the public in Philadelphia.

A manager of product development for Sun Information Services, a unit of Sun Company, Oversmith applies the financial knowledge he developed in business to his volunteer work as treasurer of an organization that's restoring the mansion.

So far, nearly $270,000 has been spent on refurbishing the house and gardens. Sections of the mansion that are not restored will be used for classrooms and displays.

Courses in restoration and repair techniques will teach home owners how to preserve and refine the charms of an older home today.

THIS MAGNIFICENT MANSION is being restored with the help of volunteers like Paul Oversmith.

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

Joint ventures appear very promising for you this coming year. One in particular, where you will be associated with someone very practical and ambitious, should pay off.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have an instinctive knowledge of what is valuable to others as well as for yourself today. If you're looking to acquire something, do a little old-fashioned horse trading. Like to find out more about yourself? Send for your copy of the all-new Astro-Graph Letter for 1979 by mailing $1 for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't be shy about accepting help when offered. Others want to lend a hand and will be hurt if you don't allow them to do so.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Starting the day in a good frame of mind helps you to tackle your work. You'll do a better job because it won't seem like drudgery.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're a good friend to have around today. If you see a pal needing help with anything, you'll pitch in before you're asked.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Although you're not a stay-at-home, that's where your interests lie today. You need to touch home plate once in a while to recharge yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Extra money jingling in your pocket will be the result of paying attention to small details today. Things have a way of adding up.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) By tackling priority issues first you'll reap unexpected benefits that will put you on a good track for the next couple of days.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Patience is your long suit and it'll pay off today. The clock is in your corner, giving you more time to gain control over important situations.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Take the time to digest new or revolutionary ideas presented to you over the weekend. You'll then be able to put them to the proper use.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The little things you'll remember to do for people today make you popular among your peers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There's a world of difference between your outlook today, as opposed to yesterday. With a positive attitude you'll apply effort necessary for success.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There's no pulling the wool over your eyes today and you'll let others know it. You've done your homework and know the answers.

SOUND COUNTRY

Music fans who criticized Debbie Boone for attempting to pass herself off as a country music artist will have little to shoot at in her newest Warner Brothers single, "My Heart Has a Mind of Its Own" is the country standard, and it's country music all the way—right down to the steel guitar.

If her previous efforts to sell in the country field have been questionable, her new effort will no doubt lead a lot of country music lovers to the watering trough. For the ninth consecutive year Rex Allen, Jr. participated in a telethon to raise funds for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene, Tex. This year's telethon, held Jan. 6th, reaped $580,000 for the Center. Rex Jr. is now working on a new album to be released in April. Donna Fargo recently appeared on "The Today Show" and talked for the first time about her battle against multiple sclerosis (which was finally diagnosed after a month-long stay at Santa Barbara Cottage Hospital last June).

Shakespeare comes to public television

With the fanfare befitting the kings he chronicled, Shakespeare comes to public television this week.

All of him. All 37 plays by the man acknowledged to be the preeminent master of the English language. Seventeen comedies, 10 histories and 10 tragedies written in the 22 years from 1591 to 1613.

The series, produced by the British Broadcasting Corporation and cast entirely with British actors, is being shown in this country by the Public Broadcasting Service. It is one of the most ambitious and expensive projects ever undertaken for television. For a while, it seemed on its way to becoming one of the most controversial as well.

Six years will pass before the series is completed. What starts here on Feb. 14, with "Julius Caesar," won't end until the spring of 1984, with a play yet to be chosen and a cast yet to be hired.

In between, millions of viewers will be able to see the whole range of Shakespeare's art—the early works of the developing genius like "Romeo and Juliet" and "Richard III"; the mature masterpieces like "King Lear" and "The Tempest"; the puzzling tragicomedies like "Measure for Measure" and "A Winter's Tale"; and even a couple considered clinkers by some, "Titus Andronicus" and "Henry III."

The Shakespeare cycle, budgeted at more than $14 million, is the largest project in the 51-year history of the BBC. Time-Life Television is helping finance the project, while Exxon, Metropolitan Life, and Morgan Guaranty Trust are each contributing about $35,000 per play to help secure the American rights for ten years.

When plans to show the series on U.S. television were first announced, some American actors and producers protested. Chief among them was Joseph Papp, head of the New York Shakespeare Festival, which performs Shakespeare for free every summer in Central Park and is responsible for the current Broadway smash hit, "A Chorus Line."

Papp and others objected to so much American money and television time being devoted to a completely British project. They said many unemployed American actors were just as qualified to participate. Some also worried that hearing all the plays performed by actors with British accents would make it harder for Americans to accept American actors in the roles. Some plays are being filmed in the BBC studios, some on location. The longer plays will be cut to fit the 2½-3 hour TV package.

The plays are not being shown in chronological order. That would have meant a preponderance of weaker works at the beginning, when the producers wanted to build an audience that will see the series through.

Besides "Julius Caesar," the plays during the first season are "As You Like It" on Feb. 28, "Romeo and Juliet" on March 14, "Richard II" on March 28, "Measure for Measure" on April 11, and "Henry VIII" on April 25.

Shakespeare says

Julius Caesar noblest Roman of them all

NEW YORK (AP) — In "Julius Caesar," Brutus joins in assassinating the title character, leads an army into civil war, and eventually kills himself. But he's still the "noblest Roman of them all" in Shakespeare's eyes.

"Brutus is a tragic hero in the mold of Hamlet," said Richard Pasco, the British actor who performs the role in the BBC's televised production of the play. "His tragedy is that he does everything for the right reason — he alone of all the characters is not selfish."

"Julius Caesar" is being shown by the Public Broadcasting Service Wednesday night as the American kickoff to the BBC's six-year cycle of all 37 Shakespeare plays.

It's a stirring production, directed at a fast clip by Herbert Wise, known here for the British series "I, Claudius," and well-acted by a large cast that includes Keith Michell as Marc Antony. Michell is remembered by American audiences as the title character in another British series, "The Six Wives of Henry VIII."

Pasco said Brutus reluctantly goes along with the evil conspirators who want to kill Caesar because he sees "the possibility of Caesar becoming a dictator figure capable of carrying out great persecutions, like Hitler."

As an actor, Pasco said his greatest challenge came in the assassination scene, "to make it seem convincing that Brutus can actually stand there, and thrust that steel into another human being." The thrust, made with chilling effect in the BBC production, prompts Caesar's famous dying lament: "Etu, Brute?"

Performing the play for television created special problems for the cast, said Pasco, who was interviewed while on a recent U.S. tour to promote the Shakespeare cycle.

They had five weeks' rehearsal, compared to the nine weeks he is used to as a member of Britain's Royal Shakespeare Company. Shooting was done over six days at the BBC studios. But because it took the crew so long to shift the heavy sets around, the play could not be filmed in sequence.

"First we shot all the street scenes, then the crew would work all night to set up the battle scenes and we'd do those," Pasco said.

For example, on stage the long and grueling assassination scene in the forum is followed immediately by a crowd scene on the street, in which Brutus and Antony rush in fresh from the horror of Caesar's death to harangue the populace. But in taping the play, the forum scene was performed one day, and the crowd scene another.

"This called for colossal concentration on the actors' part, to keep a sense of the emotion and pacing," Pasco said. "Otherwise, we'd have become puppets and the technical medium would take over."

PBS is showing the Shakespeare plays on alternate Wednesdays. Other plays to be seen during the first season are "Romeo and Juliet," "Richard II," "Measure for Measure," and "Henry VIII."

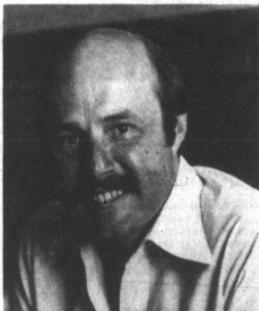

CLARK GABEL and VIVIEN LEIGH star as Rhett Butler and Scarlett O'Hara, one of Hollywood's most memorable screen couples, in Gone with the Wind, the classic romantic tale of the Old South, to be broadcast as a two-part special, Sunday, Feb. 11 and Monday, Feb. 12 on CBS-TV.

Great Train Robbery

"THE GREAT TRAIN ROBBERY" offers high adventure in splendid style, written and directed by Michael Crichton from his own novel. The robbery takes place not in the Old West but in 1855 England; it is said to be based on the first real-life heist of a moving train. The crime is perpetrated by a group of polished crooks headed by Sean Connery, who is able to function equally well in high society and the underworld. The pace is leisurely, most of the film concerned with the theft of four keys required to open the strongbox of gold headed for the Crimean battleground. The climax is thrilling, with Connery himself scrambling atop the moving train. He gets fine support from Donald Sutherland, Lesley-Anne Down ("Upstairs, Downstairs") and an English cast. Rated PG, the film contains a number of double entendres but little else to corrupt the small ones. Except perhaps the message that crime can not only pay but provide jolly good fun.

Motion Picture Association of America rating definitions:
G — General audiences. All ages admitted.
PG — Parental guidance suggested. Some material may not be suitable for children.

R — Restricted. Under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian.
X — No one under 17 admitted.

Commission proposes fee

NEW YORK (AP) — It was, perhaps, the most novel of the fund-raising proposals from the Carnegie Commission on the Future of Public Broadcasting: Why not a fee for using broadcast frequencies? "CB radio operators, for example, would have greater incentives for efficiency," the blue-ribbon panel wrote.

Indeed, the commission suggested in almost the same breath the most practical application of the spectrum fee might be to commercial broadcasters — radio and television stations — but the proposal as it would affect CB operators is intriguing nonetheless.

Some background: The Carnegie Commission was created nearly two years ago to devise a plan for the development and operation of non-commercial radio and television. The panel suggested, among other things, an overhaul of the present system and an increase in funding for public broadcasting to $1.2 billion by 1985.

Of the increase in funding, about $590 million would come from the federal government and, the commission said, a "spectrum fee" on commercial broadcasters alone probably would generate "no more than $150 million to $200 million, and perhaps considerably less," each year.

"It is equitable and proper for the government to charge private users of any scarce public resource," the Carnegie Commission wrote of its "spectrum fee" proposal, "just as it charges for mining, grazing, timber, and oil exploration rights on public property."

"A fee for the use of the spectrum would serve to stimulate more users to seek greater efficiency," the commission continued, "because the fee relates to the portion of the spectrum occupied."

The part of the spectrum used by commercial broadcasters does not vary, the panel said, but that is not the case with CB operators.

Devising a means for calculating the fee would be difficult, the commission acknowledged, and several factors, "including revenues of the user and some consideration of the 'scarcity value' of the frequency assigned, would probably be included in the calculation of the fee."

That is the essence of what the Carnegie Commission said on the "spectrum fee" suggestion. William J. McGill, the panel's chairman, told reporters later, "This idea has been circulating in the Congress and the administration for some time. It appeals to the Carnegie Commission as well."

Crafty TV programmers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — You may have noticed that some television shows stay on the air even though they are crass and lack wit and originality. You may have noticed that some of them become big hits.

You may have wondered why. TV programmers are a crafty lot, at least when it comes to herding television viewers. They have clever ways of getting an audience to watch a show they're not particularly crazy about.

A favorite viewer herding device is called "hammocking." This is the practice of hanging a weak or new show between two strong favorites, like nailing a cotton hammock to a pair of oaks. The assumption is that an audience drawn by the first show will sit through the hammock show to get at the third program.

Oh, you could read a book or balance your checkbook or simply switch channels, but network guys don't think you will. They believe in the notion of "audience flow," which is to say, they believe in the tranquilizing effects of TV.

BUILD YOUR FUTURE HERE AT HOME.

Long John Silver's has more than 1,000 shoppes open coast-to-coast, and we're adding 225 new ones this year. That creates a lot of room to grow. But if you'd rather stay at home, you can still make your mark. We offer growth here, too.

Join our management team and you'll get in-depth management training that's second to none, plus one of the best benefit packages in the business.

And you can do it right here at home.
