Price surges to continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's advisers are offering little hope that consumers have seen the end to price surges such as the 1 percent increase in March.

"We can still expect months of bad news on the economy," especially on the inflation front. White House press secretary Jody Powell said Thursday after the Labor Department reported the latest rise.

The March increase — fueled by large price rises in food, fuel and housing — followed boosts of 1.2 percent in February and 0.9 percent in January. That translates to an annual inflation rate of 13 percent for the first quarter — the worst quarterly rise in 4½ years and far above the president's 7.4 percent target.

Despite continuing sharp increases in prices, Powell insisted the administration will stick to its anti-inflation policies that include voluntary wage and price guidelines.

Many officials — from Federal Reserve Chairman G. William Miller to Barry Bosworth, director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability — have warned that the public needs signs soon that inflation is slowing.

Bosworth, in a recent interview with The Associated Press, said, "The next two to three months are crucial."

He explained that "if the price situation doesn't begin to improve," wage earners will abandon hope that government policies can soften the bite of inflation and start demanding ever higher wages that would only worsen the inflationary spiral.

Alfred E. Kahn, the president's anti-inflation chief, told the Congress' Joint Economic Committee on Thursday: "We still have some bad months ahead. We can win this fight if we persevere. There are no other quick fixes around."

Only last month, Kahn said, "I will regard this program as having failed if by sometime like the beginning of the summer, we don't see the inflation rate tapering."

The Commerce Department reported that gasoline rose in March by nearly 4 percent, while food, housing and transportation costs all rose a percentage point or more.

Bosworth said consumer and business activity were not as high during the first quarter of 1979 as at the end of 1978, indicating a slowing of the economy that could translate into a more modest rate of inflation.

Supporting his premise that a "price explosion" could come soon if inflation continues at current rates, Bosworth noted that most workers have been settling for wage increases of 7 percent or 8 percent — well below the inflation rate — over the last couple of years and will not do so indefinitely.

Already, President Carter's 7 percent guidelines for wage increases were stretched by the recent Teamsters contract calling for a 9 percent annual increase. The United Rubber Workers, meanwhile, are negotiating for a potentially guideline-busting contract

Other news Thursday indicated the economy could be further fanned.

Social Security benefits rose 9.9 percent to offset the impact of inflation on the nation's 35 million recipients. The average benefit will increase $25, to $283 a month, starting in July.

The House Agriculture Committee voted 29-9 to raise sugar prices late this year and twice more by 1982 in an effort to help U.S. growers withstand cheaper foreign competition. The bill must be approved by the full House Ways and Means Committee and both the House and Senate.

Automobile manufacturers told Congress federal regulations could add as much as $1,000 to the price of a new automobile by 1985.

School board approves bids

Approved bids for band instruments, paper and duplicating supplies will be added to the expenditures of the Pampa Independent School District's budget, but the system's School Board tabled other future expenditures at Thursday night's meeting.

Bids on renovation work and typewriters were set aside for further consideration.

The school board has scheduled a meeting for next Friday pending the decision of the architect, who is evaluating renovation bids.

The board unanimously approved a bid of $5,464 for 16 band instruments, recommended by Assistant Superintendent James Trusty. Jeff Doughten, high school band director, was on hand for any questions on the selected instruments.

Another unanimous vote carried the acceptance of an $18,900 bid from Carpenter Paper for 10,000 reams of all purpose paper.

Copy Craft's accepted bid of $1,197 will purchase 300 boxes of 100 master units for spirit duplicators. Its submission for 400 boxes of 100 thermal spirit master sets was approved at $1,548.

On approval of the board, First National Bank will withdraw $50,000 of its pledged security bonds to leave a coverage of $1,750,000 on the $1,747,000 deposited there.

The deposits are also insured up to $140,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Company, making the total insured monies $1,890,000 in secure funds.

A $900 tuition rate was accepted for out-of-district transfers during the 1979-80 school year and increase of $80 over last year's $820 charge.

The rate is calculated by dividing the anticipated average daily attendance by the amount of local revenue budgeted in 1978 and 1979.

The board approved the due bills and invoices of the last fiscal month, showing a total of $208,718.01 in checks written with general operating being the largest expenditure at $177,588.21.

The budget report, also unanimously approved, showed a total balance of $1,326,390.41 in realized funds from $345,717 budgeted for the past fiscal month.

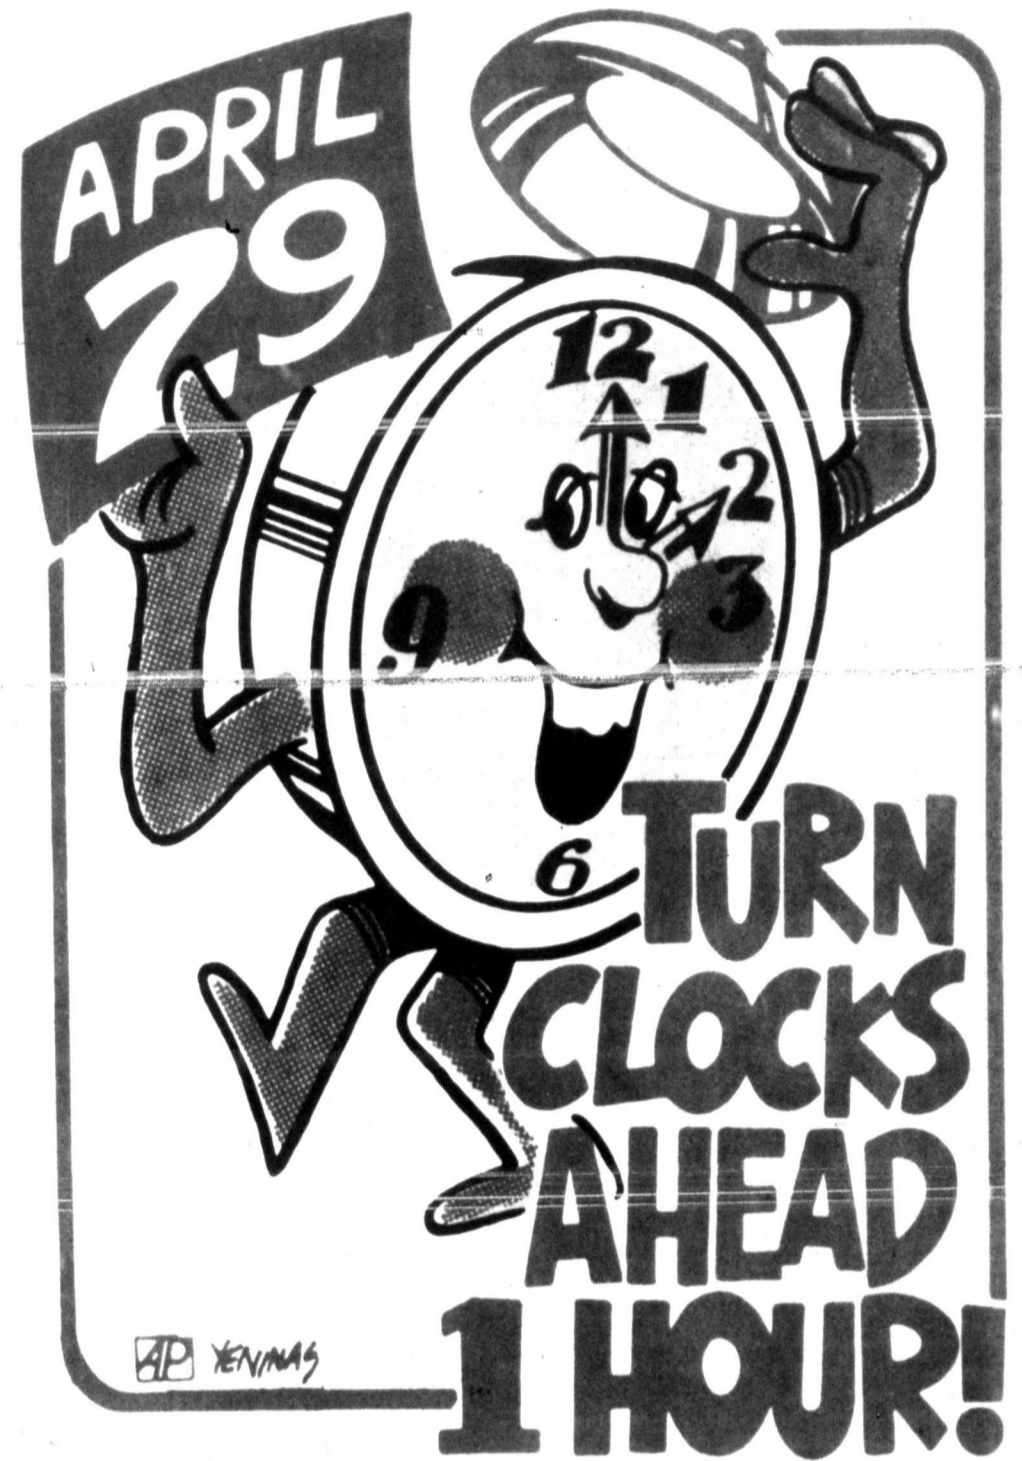

General operating of the school incurred the greatest expense with $5,188,618.36 being spent during the fiscal month. $6,672,597 had been allocated for general operation.

The board renewed its USDA Commodity Agreement, which provides food services to school districts.

USDA commodities will be provided to an average of 3,897 students in the local district during the 1979-80 school year for $741,600, according to the estimations attached to the contract.

In executive session, the contract of speech therapist Sue McMahon was terminated. She was replaced by Miss Melinda Boddie.

The board accepted the resignations of Mrs. Tonya Burton, math teacher at the high school, and Mrs. Betty Prescott, a teacher at Travis Elementary.

Art show Saturday, Sunday

Art students at Pampa High and Middle schools will display their work in the First Invitational Student Art Exhibit, to be held Saturday and Sunday in the gallery at the Lovett Memorial Library.

The exhibit is sponsored by the Pampa Fine Arts Association, and is under the direction of Doris Johnson, Pampa High art teacher.

At least 150 works in 13 media categories will be on exhibit, including oil paintings, sculptures, ink and pencil drawings, jewelry, copper enamels, and textile design.

The exhibit will be viewed by a panel of ten judges and ribbons will be awarded for Best of Show works in each category. Middle school and high school students will compete separately.

The exhibit will be open to the public Saturday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Sunday, from 12 noon to 5 p.m.

Woman wakes up after year in coma

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (AP) — When 23-year-old Karen Delahanty regained consciousness, she asked her mother, "How long have I been sleeping?" The reply: "A year."

Miss Delahanty spent that year in a coma — a year in which doctors first said she would not survive, then predicted she would not awaken.

Doctors aren't sure if she will regain use of her paralyzed legs and right arm, but to her parents, the fact that Miss Delahanty is alert and talkative is a miracle and a blessing.

The Avon, Conn., woman went into the coma when the car in which she was riding collided head-on with a police cruiser responding to an emergency call.

Less than a month ago, the mother, Lorraine Delahanty, affirmed her faith that recovery was possible. She told a reporter simply, "I believe in miracles."

Miss Delahanty had responded to pain, even had wept, but never had spoken. On April 12, nurses at New Britain Memorial Hospital excitedly telephoned her mother to tell her that a nose tube used to feed her daughter had become dislodged. When a nurse went to reinsert it, Miss Delahanty cried out, "No!"

The next day, Good Friday, Mrs. Delahanty was ready to leave after her daily visit to her daughter's bedside. As was her habit, she was talking to her daughter, despite the comatose woman's apparent inability to comprehend. Her mother said she had to go home and prepare dinner for the rest of the family.

"I don't want you to go," the daughter responded, speaking slowly but clearly, according to Mrs. Delahanty.

But her prognosis remains blurry, according to her parents. She has some pain and the paralysis.

"I am hoping," Mrs. Delahanty said.

The body of Edwin Pearce of Muskegon, Mich., was found by his room mate and another friend shortly before 10 p.m.

Funeral arrangements are pending with Stickley-Hill Funeral Home in Canadian.

Survivors include his mother, Victoria Pearce of Muskegon, Mich.

Floods continue costly pattern

By MICHAEL KUCHWARA

Associated Press Writer

Rising Red River floodwaters, surging toward an expected crest today, churned along a 150-mile front of prime prairie farmland from Grand Forks, N.D. to Winnipeg, Manitoba, threatening the area's important wheat crop.

National Guard helicopters swooped low Thursday over the upper Red River Valley, their crews scanning vast flooded areas in search of marooned farm families. "There was water as far as you could see going north into Canada," said one helicopter pilot.

"Our chopper pilots reported a couple of farm families who said they hadn't seen anybody in four days and appreciated the food brought in," Lt. Col. Adrian Beltrand said Thursday.

In East Grand Forks, Minn.,

and its sister community, Grand Forks, N.D., the Red River climbed to more than 48 feet late Thursday, 1½ feet under its expected crest. An estimated 2,000 persons remain away from their homes in the beleaguered communities, civil defense officials said.

A hot, steady sun baked South Florida Thursday as residents of the wealthy Gold Coast area north of Miami tried to dry out following Wednesday's record rainfall of more than 16 inches in a 24-hour period.

"It's like a big swimming pool here and it's impossible," said Mayor Lenny Kimmel of North Lauderdale, Fla. "The kids are out of school and they're swimming along with the fish and the snakes and the alligators."

In Broward County, hardest hit by the deluge, Lew Watson of the Agricultural Extension Service said farm, nursery and livestock business may have been set back by as much as $20 million. Some 5,000 acres of vegetable crops, worth an estimated $5 million, were destroyed by the torrential rains in Palm Beach County.

President Carter declared 40 counties in North Dakota a federal disaster area Thursday

Carter rescues rationing plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has rescued his standby gas rationing plan from almost certain death in Congress by promising special help to states where motorists drive greater distances.

The Senate Energy Committee voted 9-8 Thursday to recommend that the full Senate adopt the proposal, which would go into effect only if the president declared an energy emergency.

A House committee previously voted to reject the proposal, but there are indications sentiment in the House also is shifting in its favor.

Under the rationing plan, gasoline coupons would be issued on the basis of how many cars are owned by each motorist. A person who commutes 50 miles to work in Texas could receive the same number of coupons as a resident of Connecticut who commutes 10 miles.

Late Wednesday, White House aides agreed to a compromise under which 10 percent of the nation's gasoline reserves during a serious shortage would be used to alleviate regional inequities.

Governors in states of high per capita gasoline usage, mainly in the West and South, would be allocated extra coupons which could be used to make the rationing system more fair.

The 10 percent allocation proposal was contained in letters from White House domestic adviser Stuart Eizenstat to key members of the Senate committee and the House Commerce Committee.

Until Carter promised to offset the potential imbalance, key House and Senate members had said the rationing plan was dead.

Among them was Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., chairman of a Senate energy conservation subcommittee, who said the rationing plan would have been rejected in the committee without the president's new proposal.

"That tipped the balance," he said, "along with the realization that the (energy) situation is really serious."

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the full energy committee, said members of the House and Senate are becoming aware that there will be serious gasoline shortages this summer, and that there will be insufficient reserves of heating oil this fall and winter.

INFLATION: A CLOSE R LOOK

"Inflation is a form of taxation that has one very special feature. It's the only form of taxation that can be imposed without anybody voting for it."

Milton Friedman

EFFECTS

Inflation affects everybody, but its negative effects do not fall on people in proportion to their income or wealth, or in any other way that a reasonable person would consider equitable.

Basically, inflation hurts creditors (people who have loaned out their money) and benefits debtors (people who have borrowed money) simply because the debtors are able to repay the creditors in dollars that are worth less than the dollars they originally borrowed.

The biggest creditors are people on fixed incomes, such as those who are on pensions. In a sense, they loaned money to their companies, unions, or the government when they paid into the plan, hoping to be paid back with interest when they chose to retire. Unfortunately, this is not the case. For example, at a 7% inflation rate, persons retiring on a monthly income of $500.00 will see their purchasing power cut in half in less than 10 years.

The government is the biggest debtor. Deficits are running about $1 billion a week, accumulating a federal debt that siphons off another $1 billion a week in interest payments. The government also benefits from inflation through the graduated income tax. As inflation occurs, people are pushed up into higher tax brackets and thus are subject to higher tax rates without change in their real income.

FALSE CAUSES

Everything under the sun has been cited as causing inflation. Here are a few false causes and some reasons why they don't cause inflation.

Shortages of anchovies, wheat, oil and other consumer goods.
These will cause price increases of individual products, but not a rise in the general price level.

Unions.
Historically, there has been inflation in times when there were no unions and recently in Japan, where labor unions are of little importance, there has been substantial inflation.

Government Regulations.
These cause individual prices to go up, but they are not inflationary in themselves. The regulations may be wasteful, but they result in a new product at a higher price, e.g., seat belts, pollution control devices on automobiles.

The list is as long, as it is ridiculous.
Careless shopping, producing disposable items, individuals spending too much money, blah, blah, blah.

"IF THOSE THINGS DON'T CAUSE INFLATION, THEN WHO'S TO BLAME?"

"GLAD YOU ASKED..."

There is one thing which government and government alone can do. Government... has an effective printing press on which it can turn out green pieces of paper and, as a result, government and government alone is the source of inflation. Nobody else is responsible for it.

Milton Friedman
Inflation is a monetary phenomenon. Prices rise whenever the quantity of money is increased rapidly in relation to real output.

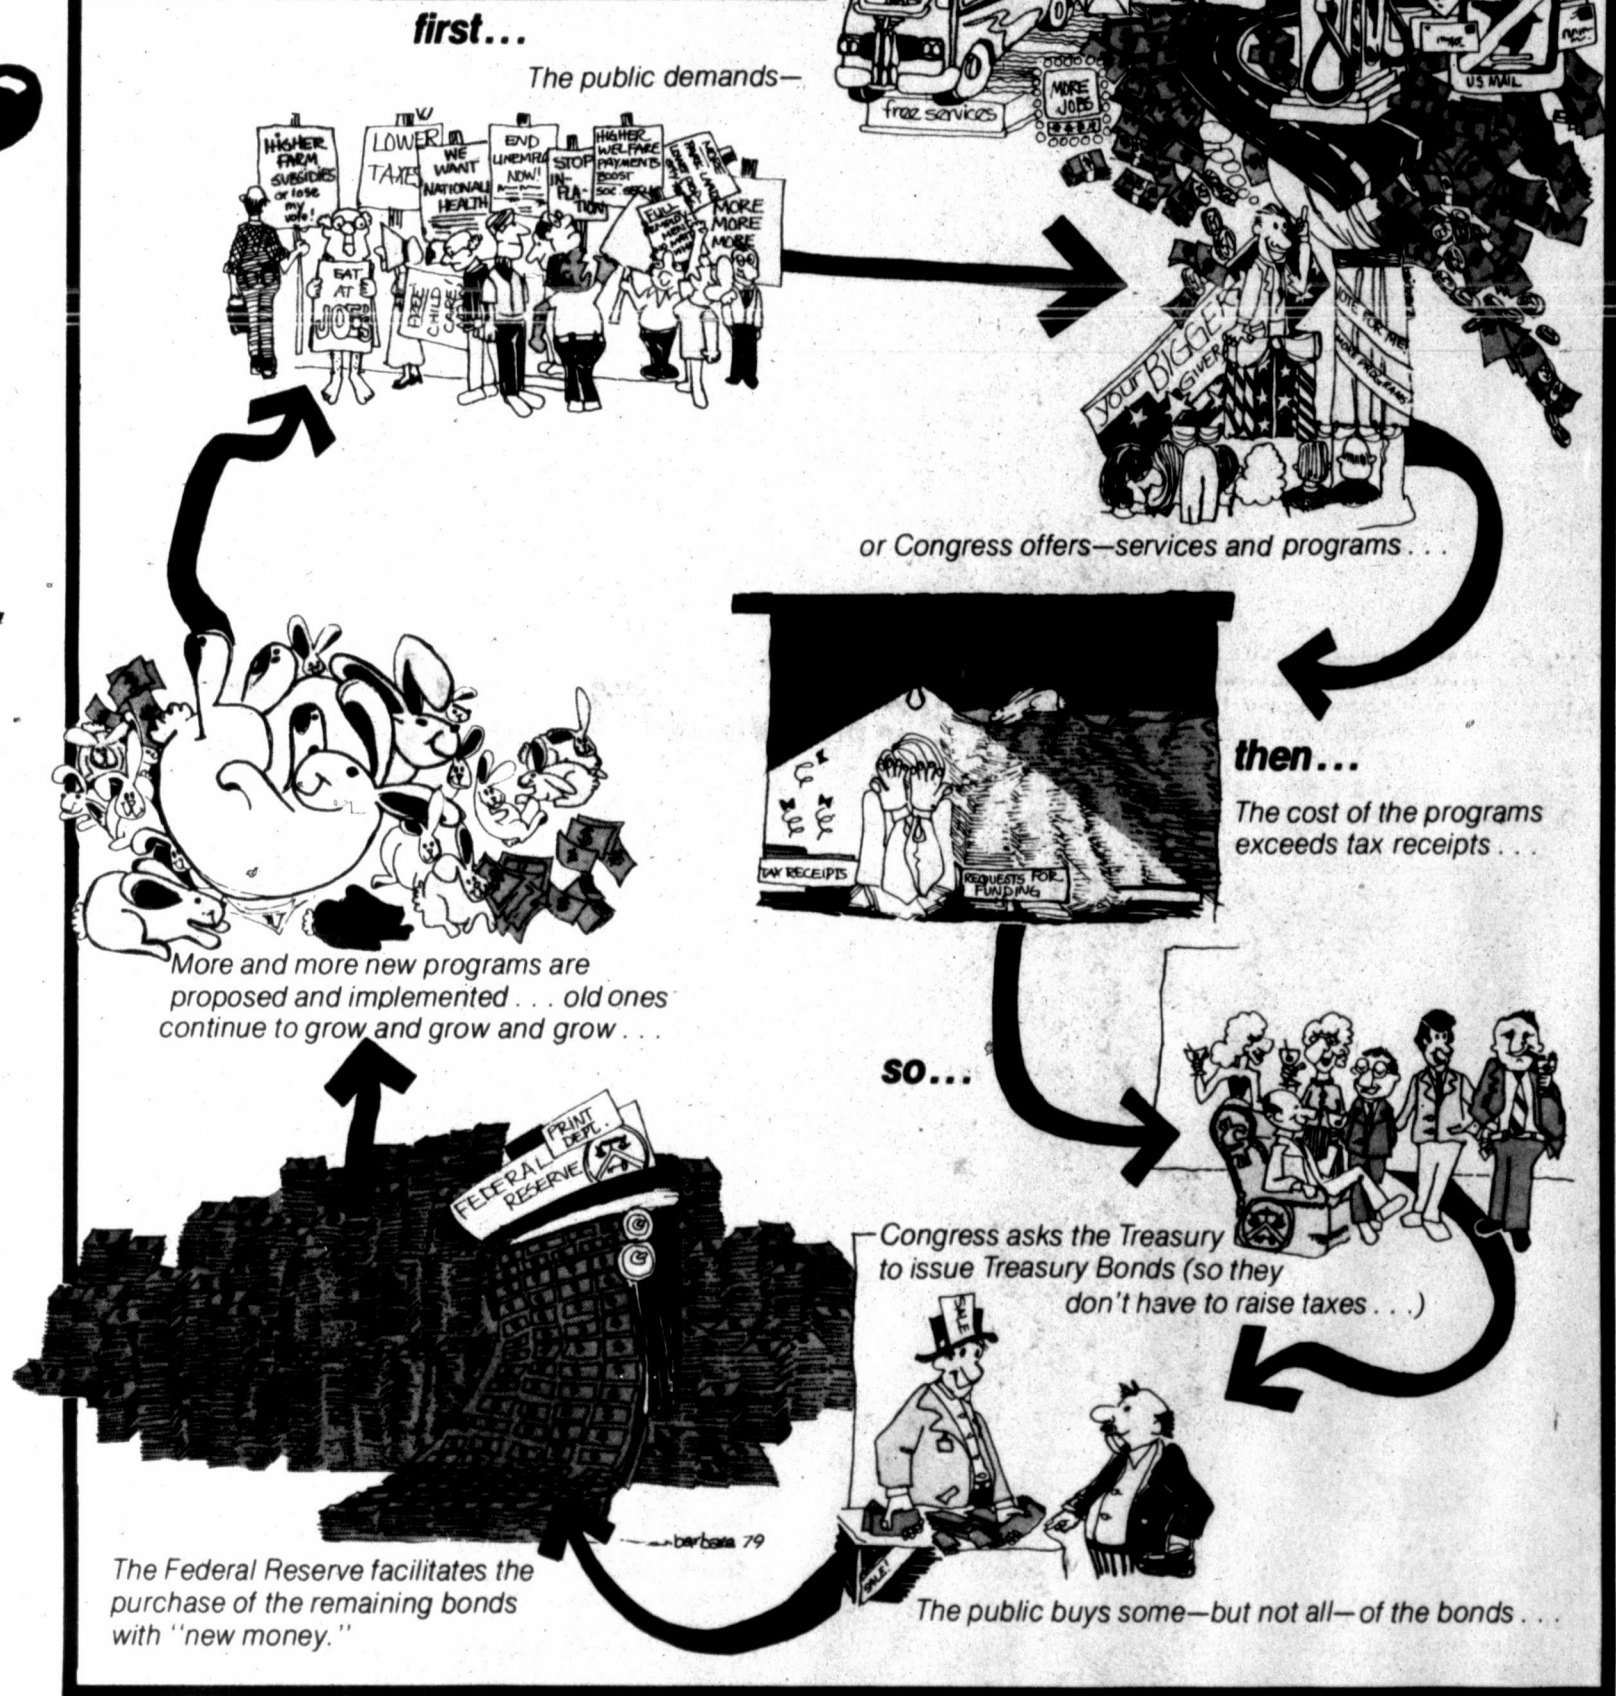

Between 1971 and 1976, the output of goods and services rose by eighteen percent; the money supply by seventy-eight percent. During the same period there was a fifty percent increase in consumer prices.

So, the real cause of inflation is printing too much money and the only source of printing that money is the federal government. They have formed a monopoly, the Federal Reserve Board, and they alone have the power to print paper dollars (legal tender cash). The Fed is the only agency allowed to manipulate, govern, and determine the total supply of "checkbook dollars" issued by the banking system. Therefore, the government has complete control over the amount of money in circulation and because of its desire to benefit certain interest groups—the Fed keeps pumping new money into the economy.

Source: Inquiry, September 18, 1978

THE PROCESS:

But how does the government increase the money supply—and why do they do it?

FIGHTING INFLATION

The government creates inflation because it is politically expedient to do so. The Congress can win the support of special interests by funding their programs without having to increase taxes. Politicians then blame inflation on the greed of the private sector, or on some mystical workings of the economy that no one yet seems to understand.

The moral equivalent of war on inflation has begun. No prisoners will be taken. Unfortunately, the first person wounded was the commander-in-chief, who shot himself in the foot with the declaration that it is a "myth" that government can stop inflation.

George F. Will
Pulitzer Prize winning columnist

Congress is reluctant to reduce the money supply and slow down inflation because it reduces the politicians' image as gift-giver, and subtracts from their power over the economy.

Happily, some people learn from their mistakes... In 1971 I urged wage and price controls under former President Nixon and I was wrong. We went through a period of wage and price controls and it ended up with labor being especially penalized, and when the lid came off, the entire nation faced a new round of inflation. I know now what I should have known then: Letting the free economy and the free marketplace operate is the best way—the only way—out of our economic troubles.

Cuevas returns to death row

HOUSTON (AP)—Ignacio Cuevas will return to the only home he has known for the past four years — death row in the Texas state prison system. Cuevas, a Mexican-American described by his defense attorney as "stupid," was sentenced to die by injection for the second time in a verdict returned by an All-Anglo, six-man, six-woman jury.

There still is an appeal route to take and defense attorney Will Gray said he would use it. For Cuevas, it was back to the 5-foot-by-8-foot-by-9-foot cell on death row. A short, stocky man with black horn-rimmed glasses who used a Spanish interpreter throughout the trial, Cuevas showed no emotion when the verdict was read. His wife and four young children, ages nine to 14, were in the courtroom. They left about 30 minutes after the verdict was announced. Mrs. Cuevas lowered her head, and there were tears in her eyes. The children didn't seem to understand what had happened to their father, a man they have not really known since his 1970 conviction for murder in the West Texas town of Pecos.

Cuevas was convicted in 1975 of causing the death of a hostage during a prison uprising in the late summer of 1974. He was sentenced to death.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, citing a judicial error, ordered a new trial.

This verdict of guilty and the decision by the jury for a death penalty were the same as in 1975. In Texas state courts, the jury has the final say on punishment.

Cuevas and two other prison inmates, Fred Carrasco and Rudolph Dominguez, took over a prison educational building and conducted the longest siege in U.S. penal history, 11 days.

On the night of Aug. 3, they attempted to escape behind a moveable wall of lawbooks and chalkboards and 11 handcuffed hostages.

Gunfire erupted. Carrasco and Dominguez were shot to death.

Two hostages, prison librarians Julia Standley and Elizabeth Beseda, were shot to death.

Father Joseph O'Brien, the Roman Catholic priest at the prison, was wounded.

Cuevas was accused of causing the death of Mrs. Standley, although evidence showed she was killed by bullets from the gun of Dominguez. Other evidence presented during the trial, indicated Cuevas had fired at Father O'Brien.

Defense lawyer Gray left the courthouse by a back exit and did not talk to newsmen.

Senate budget $20.9 billion

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee completed work Thursday on a state budget for 1980-81 which exceeds a House proposal by $600 million. Chairman Grant Jones estimated the Senate bill totals $20.9 billion. If adopted, the spending total would exceed the House's $20.3 billion proposal—either tax relief or other spending, said Assistant Director Jim Oliver of the Legislative Budget Board.

Clements told a news conference Thursday the House bill was unacceptable because of its dollar total and some appropriations.

Adding that "the appropriations process is barely underway," Clements said, "It will be settled in conference committee...I am not unhappy at all as far as the budget is concerned."

The $20.9 billion would leave about $40 million available for either tax relief or other spending, said Assistant Director Jim Oliver of the Legislative Budget Board.

The LBB proposal for 1980-81 totaled $20.8 billion.

Clements had proposed a $19.8 billion budget, with a plan to cut state taxes by $1 billion.

The Senate proposal now limits annual teacher pay increases to 5.1 percent — the increase Clements is supporting for all state employees. The House voted teachers a 7 percent hike Tuesday.

Autopsy shows no trace of poison

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP)—A pathologist says preliminary autopsy results show no traces of poison in the body of fired federal undercover drug agent Sante Bario, who died early Tuesday after more than four months in a mysterious coma.

"At the time of autopsy, there was no sign of any poisoning," Dr. David M. Spain of Brooklyn, N.Y., said Thursday after he took part in the autopsy.

Bario, who was charged with accepting a $9,000 bribe last October to overlook a cache of cocaine, lapsed into the puzzling coma Dec. 16 in his individual jail cell after eating part of a peanut butter sandwich. Bario had suffered massive brain damage and died about 1:30 a.m. Tuesday without regaining consciousness. He had been removed from life support systems in January.

Spain said Bario died from a respiratory infection spawned by life support efforts.

It was first believed he had been poisoned after traces of strychnine were reportedly found in initial tests last December.

Windfall profit tax lacks teeth

WASHINGTON (AP)—President's Carter's proposed tax on oil profits would have far less bite than generally supposed on the additional billions of dollars oil price decontrol will give to producers.

Although described originally as a 50 percent tax, the levy actually will cost oil companies only about 13 percent of the first three years' worth of extra income from decontrol, according to figures made public by the administration for the first time Thursday.

Carter's decision to eliminate gradually the federal ceilings on domestically produced oil will transfer $15.4 billion from consumers to oil companies by the end of 1981, administration officials said.

Drug busts to continue

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Police say a drug bust described as the biggest ever in East Texas will continue until all 121 warrants are disposed of.

A few more arrests were made Thursday, and Police Lt. Tim Jayroe said 80 to 85 persons have been arrested so far. He said most have been freed on bond.

About 75 local and state law officers began the roundup Wednesday after a grand jury returned indictments against 121 suspected dealers in marijuana, cocaine, heroin and other illegal drugs.

"The raid is to continue until all warrants are no longer outstanding," Jayroe said. "Several have come in in the company of their attorneys today."

The highest bond was $500,000 set for Ken Bora, 39, of Tyler, accused of delivering a controlled substance and threatening arresting officers. Police declined to give details about the threat.

Carson 'stroked' by ABC

NEW YORK (AP) — Will Johnny Carson leave "The Tonight Show" for a job with ABC? "I can't answer that," Carson tells CBS' Mike Wallace, conceding ABC may be "doing a little stroking, as all networks do," in an effort to attract him.

Carson, in an interview for CBS' "60 Minutes," to be broadcast Sunday evening at 7 p.m. EDT, recalls an informal get-together after his appearance as host on ABC's broadcast April 9 of the Academy Awards show.

"They...made no direct overtures of my coming to the network," Carson says. "I would assume that when somebody has you socially for dinner — I'm not that naive — that they might say, 'Hey, it would be nice possibly if Johnny Carson worked over here...'"

Wallace and the "60 Minutes" crew visited Carson April 15 at his home in Bel-Air, Calif., about a week before the story broke that Carson wanted out of his NBC contract, which runs until mid-1981.

CBS had planned to produce a profile of the entertainer for fall broadcast, but pulled some of the newsworthy material from the footage shot Easter Sunday for immediate broadcast.

The segment runs about 14 minutes, Carson tells Wallace he

Weather Texas weather

By The Associated Press
 Widely scattered thundershowers were forecast today for much of West and Central Texas, but most of the state was to have partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures.

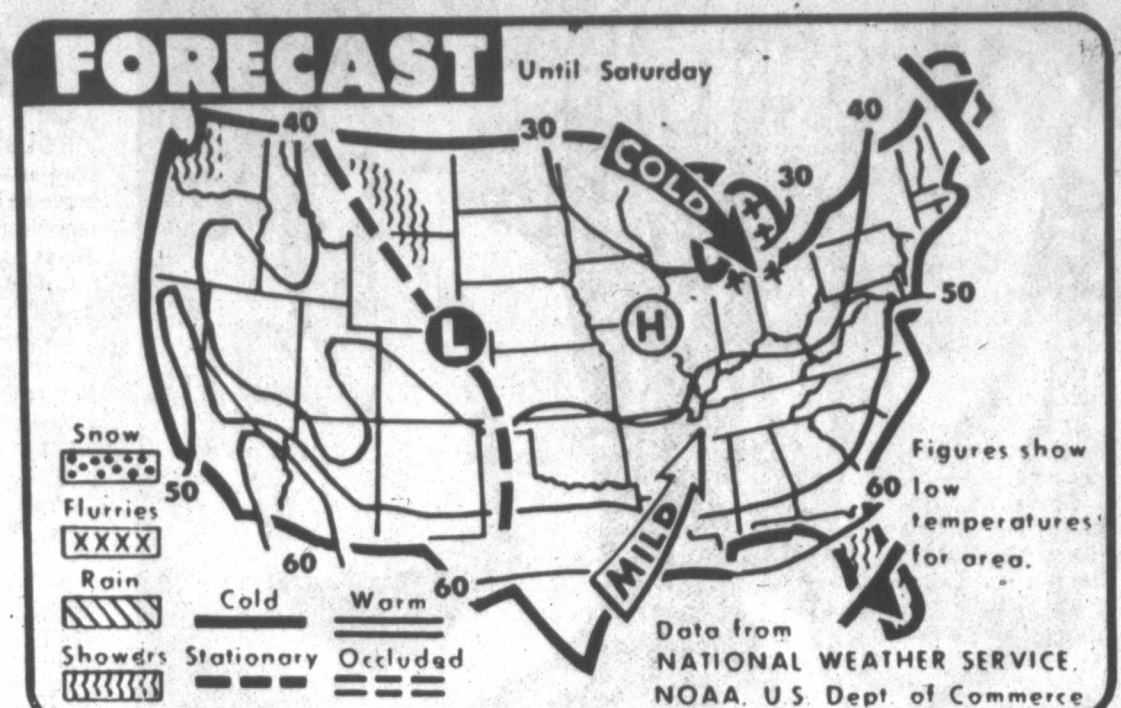

A few showers dumped light amounts of rain over West Texas during the night with Abilene and Amarillo receiving only a trace. Some light rain was reported in far South Texas early today.

Highs today were to range from the 60s in the Panhandle and the 70s in Northeast Texas to the 80s in South Texas and the lower 90s in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the middle 40s in the mountains of Southwest Texas to the middle 70s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Most of the state had early morning readings in the 50s. Extremes ranged from 49 at Dalhart and Lufkin to 76 at McAllen.

National weather

Rain dampened a wide area of the nation today, extending from eastern Tennessee and North Carolina into Ohio and New England. A few thundershowers were scattered along the Gulf Coast from Louisiana to northwestern Florida into Georgia. Floodwaters still swirled through southeastern Louisiana as thundershowers dumped more rain and hail. The Pearl River produced flooding of streets and highways in the New Orleans suburb of Slidell.

SUNNY, MILD weather is expected in the forecast period until Saturday morning for most of the nation. Colder weather, with some snow flurries, is expected for the upper Great Lakes. Small areas of showers are forecast for the Pacific Northwest, northern Plains and Florida.

Bill would aid crime victims

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Violent crime often inflicts not only pain but financial hardship on victims, a bill introduced in the Texas Legislature today would help ease those hardships.

A bill setting up a state fund, taken from the pockets of criminals, to help ease those hardships won tentative House approval Thursday, 91-43.

Final passage would return the bill (SB21) to the Senate for action on changes made by the House.

One amendment would see to it that a criminal's profits from writing about his experiences were available to compensate people he injured.

Victims of criminal violence or their survivors could receive up to $50,000 from the state for medical or funeral expenses, lost wages and rehabilitation expenses. To qualify, a victim would have to report the crime within 72 hours.

Only victims whose economic losses resulted in financial hardship for themselves or their families could collect.

Hospital emergency rooms and policemen would have to inform victims of the availability of financial help from the state.

The Texas Industrial Accident Board, which decides workers' compensation claims, would administer the crime victim program.

Money for compensating victims would come from court costs of $10 paid by persons convicted of serious misdemeanors and $15 paid by convicted felons.

Dear Abby

by abigail van buren

DEAR ABBY: STAN, who complained a lot in restaurants, may have gone overboard but he had the right idea. He had a habit of sending back food that was either overcooked, cold, smelled "funny" or wasn't what he ordered. And if the service was poor he left no tip and complained to the management.

Stan also carried a little battery operated fan to blow smoke back into the faces of people who smoked while he was eating.

With the prices one has to pay in restaurants today, we should demand top quality food and first-class service. It is our willingness to accept mediocrity that makes for sloppy service, bad food and shoddy merchandise in general.

As for Stan's little fan, he should be congratulated for having the courage to give those inconsiderate boors a taste of their own pollution.

You probably think I'm just another cheap, demanding, hard-to-please klutz like Stan, but I'm not. I'm one of the millions of weak, gutless wonders of the world who gets ignored, pushed around and walked over while continuing to overtip for second-rate service because I never had the guts not to.

NO GUTS IN FARMINGTON

DEAR NO GUTS: It takes a lot of guts to admit you've got no guts. So you may be a gutless klutz than you think you are.

DEAR ABBY: Do you believe that only the good die young?
RUPERT IN TORONTO

DEAR RUPERT: Not necessarily. I'm more inclined to believe that only the YOUNG die GOOD!

DEAR ABBY: A friend recently invited us to her home for a salad dinner.

Every guest was asked to bring a salad as well as a going-away gift for a mutual friend who was moving.

When we arrived, there were no less than 75 people standing around. There was no place to sit. The guests were trying to juggle their plates in one hand and coffee cups in the other.

I am of the opinion that when you invite people to dinner you should provide them with a comfortable place to eat.

This was a building contractor's home. Maybe they just wanted to show it off to as many people as possible. Or perhaps they wanted to round up as many gifts as they could.

I've had it. The next time they invite us, I'll say, "Thanks, but no thanks."

PASADENA, TEX.

DEAR PASADENA: How does that little dirty go? "Fool me once, shame on you. Fool me twice, shame on me."

Dr. Lamb

by lawrence e. lamb, m.d.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a multiple anemia. The bones don't make blood and my doctor has tried medicines but it doesn't work. The only way to build up my blood is to take transfusions. My blood is extremely low and I have difficulty in walking. My thighs and hips are sore and hurt. Is there any cure for this? I have a mild heart condition and take medicines for that. I'm 78 years old and live alone.

DEAR READER — The condition you have is reasonably uncommon. In adults the major source of our blood cells is from the bone marrow. Sometimes it quits functioning and doesn't replace the cells that our body destroys regularly. Each one of our red cells has an average life span of only 120 days.

There are so many red cells in the blood that to replace these as they are destroyed, your bone marrow has to manufacture three million new red cells each second. You have so many tiny red cells in your blood that if you measured the surface area it would represent an area of 40,000 square feet.

We tend to take all these things for granted and are only aware of what enormous changes are occurring in our body when some balance is disturbed. There are many reasons why the bone marrow may stop producing enough blood cells to maintain a proper balance.

The bone marrow can be replaced with tumor growth. It can stop functioning because of the toxic response to medicines. Many common medicines can cause this in a few susceptible individuals. There is a long list of chemicals which can induce it also. Finding out which medicine or chemical may have precipitated such a response literally requires a Sherlock Holmes.

Then, of course, your body has to have adequate nutrients to stimulate production. Pernicious anemia is caused by an inadequate amount of vitamin B-12 which is essential to the formation of the new red blood cell. In some people the chronic loss of small amounts of blood, for example, caused by bleeding from the digestive tract, may exhaust the bone marrow's ability to form cells. In its exhausted state, it's unable to respond adequately.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-3, Understanding The Anemias. It will explain to you the delicate balance between the formation of red blood cells and the destruction of the cells plus all the different things that can affect this balance. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As you see, the proper treatment of your blood cell balance mechanism depends entirely on what has caused it. In many instances medicines are very helpful in correcting the problem. In others, treatment is exceptionally difficult and blood transfusions may be the only immediate adequate support, providing adequate support.

Because of many of the true miracles that are accomplished in medicine, I sometimes think that the general public believes that all medical problems can be cured and that the cure should be simple, immediate and cheap. Unfortunately, that's just not the fact of life.

Young scientists offer predictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Real-life bionic women and men, people talking to computers that have consciences, a solution to the energy crisis and a cure for cancer. These are among the advances some of the nation's top junior scientists expect to become realities before the end of this century.

The predictions were made by 40 high-school seniors who met in Washington recently to receive scholarships and awards for original scientific-research projects as winners in the 38th annual Westinghouse Science Talent Search.

She speculates that by the 21st century, "We shall have control of genetics. Also, we shall be living in a computer world, communicating with computers to help solve our problems — including computers into which consciences have been programmed."

"We shall also have reached the point where we shall have to go from earth to outer space to get the natural resources we need."

For her winning project, she established a quick and reliable test to identify endothelial cells (the cells that line internal body cavities). For a career in either medicine or biochemical engineering, Ms. Olazabal will attend the University of Miami.

Ron K. Unz, the 17-year old winner of the first-place $12,000 scholarship, foresees "mechanized, almost completely automated homes and the disappearance of cash through the use of universal credit cards."

Unz, top student in his class of 650 at North Hollywood High School, North Hollywood, Calif., believes that a solution to the energy crisis may be forthcoming. "If a great deal of effort is expended," he predicts, "nuclear fusion may be accomplished by the turn of the century."

"Nuclear fusion is the way the sun and other stars generate energy," he explains. "In the sun, this occurs billions of times every second, and scientists are now trying to duplicate that process to furnish a viable energy source on earth."

The original research project submitted by Unz relates to the possible effects of gravitational fields on electromagnetic interactions. After further study at Harvard College, he is planning to be either a theoretical physicist or mathematician.

"Cancer will be licked soon,

It's inevitable," said John P. Karis, 17-year old from Durham, N.C. His winning entry was the development of an electronic safety device he developed at the Charles E. Jordan High School there.

His invention has been used successfully during open-heart surgery at Duke University Medical School Hospital. After studying electrical engineering at Princeton University, Karis expects to enter medical school.

"For a complete health evaluation and medical diagnosis, the patient of the future will either have a light beam passed over his or her body or place the hand into a liquid," he says. Far from achievable right now, he concedes, but, he adds, who knows what a future scientist will perfect?

"The sky's the limit," says Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, professor of chemistry, University of California at Berkeley and winner of the Nobel Prize for Chemistry in 1951. He also serves as president of Science Service, the non-profit organization that administers the $89,500 in scholarships and awards of the Science Talent Search program for Westinghouse Electric Corp.

engineering at Tulane University, but she feels technology may be moving too fast. "Problems cannot be solved by technology. They have to be solved by people," she said.

In contrast, Bertha M. Olazabal, 18-year old senior at Hialeah Miami Lakes Senior High School in Hialeah, Fla., views the rapid pace of technology as a challenge to scientists. First in her class of 800 high-school seniors, Ms. Olazabal is hopeful that both scientific progress and the democratic process will prevail.

For her winning project, Ms. Sandborn developed a theory to explain why some flying insects can generate more lift than others, concluding that butterflies are the most efficient fliers and flies the least efficient.

She plans to study biomedical

Seeking clues to life in slime mold

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — They look like melted pints of vanilla ice cream and have a pretty primitive sex life — but slime molds may hold the clues to the origin of human life, a University of Florida microbiologist says.

Henry Aldrich, director of the school's electron microscope lab, and six graduate researchers are studying nearly 500 species of slime mold.

Slime molds are actually colonies of single cells generally found growing on damp soil, rotting logs and other decaying organic material. Aldrich said they were common to Florida's moist woods where they looked like glistening, viscous masses of slime.

"The slime molds tell us how cells become tissues, how they stick together and cooperate with each other," Aldrich said. "By studying their behavior in a controlled environment, we hope to discover more about human cells and how they stick together."

Slime molds measure up to 4 inches wide and their average lifetime is four months, but some species have lived since 1960 in a lab at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, said Aldrich.

"With proper food and climate, I don't see why the molds couldn't live forever," Aldrich said. "Year after year they could eat bacteria, reproduce and do everything good slime molds do."

Aldrich said slime molds had got out of hand one spring morning in Texas 10 years ago when they had begun crawling over the landscape, up telephone poles and on the sides of houses. He said local newspapers called the slime molds the "Texas Blob."

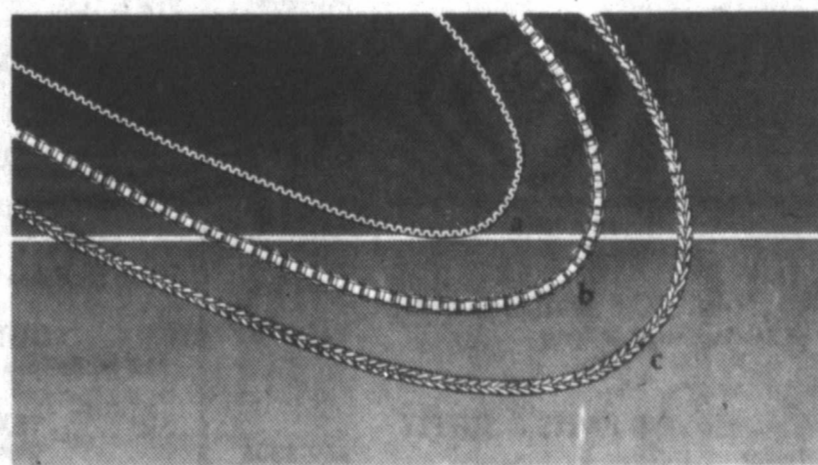

"When there are moist weather conditions, the molds will grow out of control," Aldrich said. "They move perceptibly, creeping along 3-4 inches an hour, which is fast for a blob of cells."

The microbiologist said slime molds were hungry creatures whose favorite foods were oatmeal flakes, bacteria and even baby food.

"They're quite fond of baby food," he said. "But we prefer feeding them bacteria because baby food isn't good for their growth."

DEAR POLLY — I have a great timesaver for those readers who sew. I use clear transparent nylon thread in the bobbin of my sewing machine so do not have the worry of changing the bobbin each time I sit down to sew. This is especially good when I am in a hurry. It is much faster when I only have to change the top spool of thread to match the material I am going to sew, rather than changing both top and bottom and often having to rewind and rethread. Also I find this method makes any necessary ripping easier since I can easily tell which is the bottom and which is the top thread. — BETTY

DEAR POLLY — I have a good solution for the problem of lint building up around buttonholes. This sometimes shows up through lighter colored fabrics and looks unsightly. Since the space is so small between the button stitching and the edge of the shirt, a finger is too large. I use the small spiral brush that came with my husband's electric shaver, slip it in the space and pull it out with the lint clinging to it. This is so easy and quick and also works well in the bottom of shirt pockets. — CONNIE

DEAR POLLY — I have help for Joe who wanted to know how to remove body odors from shirts. As shampoo removes the oily smell from hair, I thought it should work on shirts and pajama tops and have since learned many people have done this for years.

I dip the top part of a garment in water then saturate the back and collar with an inexpensive hair shampoo. Then I roll the shirt up, leave for half an hour and put in the washer with the other clothes. Do not dilute the shampoo because this will weaken its effectiveness. — ANN

Religious roundup by the associated press

WASHINGTON (AP) — A church-state controversy was reported brewing this week over a proposed federal move to cut participation by church-related schools in a job-training program in which they have long participated.

Voicing "grave concern" about it, Bishop Thomas C. Kelly, general secretary of the U.S. Catholic Conference, sent detailed documentation about the move to all Catholic bishops in the country.

He cited preliminary steps by the labor department to draft new regulations against participation by church-related schools in the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, a job-training program in which they have participated since it began in the 1960s.

He said the proposed new labor department regulations were advised by the justice department in reaction to an American Civil Liberties Union lawsuit in Milwaukee against CETA participation by church schools.

He said the move not only would directly affect ability of Catholic and Protestant schools to participate in a major national welfare program, but also implies "far broader" limitations on the role of church-related institutions.

NYACK, N.Y. (AP) — The Christian and Missionary Alliance is establishing a "China Office" in Hong Kong to make Bibles and evangelistic tracts available to lay Christians entering China.

"It is our first step toward the goal of reaching the people of China with the redeeming love of Christ," says the Rev. Dr. Louis L. King, president of the evangelistic denomination.

He says the new office also will provide information on employment opportunities for those planning to work in mainland China.

"By the way Christians conduct themselves and quietly bear witness will the Chinese come to know Christ," he adds. "Never has the church faced such a challenge... We believe God is calling the Alliance to evangelize China."

Religion today by the associated press

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Mormon leaders, whose church cherishes its American roots, have called for struggle against "growing efforts to establish irreligion, such as atheism or secularism" as the official position of the United States.

Such efforts are contrary to the "historical facts" and founding principles of the nation, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints says.

It was the most direct appeal of its kind from a major denomination, although individual church leaders have previously spoken against modern pressures to restrict public marks of faith.

Urging Americans "to resist the forces that would transform the public position of the United States from the constitutional position of neutrality to a position of hostility toward religion," the church's first presidency said: "We urge our members and people of good will everywhere to unite to protect and honor the spiritual and religious heritage of our nation."

"Thou wilt shew me the path of life,

PSALM 16-11

HERE IS THE PATH

HEART

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Man's first reactions to another is based on outward appearances, and only time will help him to know the heart of another. God knows, immediately, every attitude of the heart, whether it is good or bad.

"Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God."

There are many rewards for those that follow the Lord. "Let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord."

The Other Two-Thirds

Americans depend on oil — 17 million barrels per day. Despite this dependence, domestic wells, which supply half the nation's needs, recover only about one-third of the crude oil in the earth. The other two-thirds, estimated at more than 300 billion barrels in the U.S. alone, has been considered too difficult or expensive to remove. Energy officials believe the decontrol of domestic oil prices will encourage companies to spend more to recover this hard-to-get oil. "Enhanced oil recovery" techniques force steam, hot water, or chemicals into the well to increase the oil flow. Experts believe enhanced oil may increase the annual domestic yield by 25 to 50 percent.

Farmers stepping up production of pork, poultry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers are rapidly stepping up production of pork and poultry, a development that has already helped cool rising food prices and will continue to do so in the coming months, says the Agriculture Department's chief economist.

Howard W. Hjort said Thursday the latest figures "do indicate a significant slowdown in the rate of food price increases" and also suggest "that pattern will continue for the rest of the year."

Hjort's comments followed the Labor Department's report that showed retail food prices rose 1 percent in March, compared to a 1.6 percent gain in February.

Meanwhile, a farm spokesman said talk of beef boycotts and export embargoes are disturbing to producers, even if such comments are not supported by action.

Administration officials, including Hjort, say they do not favor a consumer beef boycott as a remedy to record prices at meat counters.

A month ago Hjort predicted that the March food price increase would be between 1 percent and 1.5 percent.

Hjort said his prediction for April, when Labor issues its next report a month from now, is that retail food prices will be up less than 1 percent.

No FHA or VA loans to be made

HOUSTON (AP) — Until the Texas usury law is clarified, there will be no FHA or VA loans made in the state at the new 10 percent interest rates, say state mortgage bankers.

The Federal National Mortgage Bankers Association, also called Fanny Mae, said Thursday it, too, planned to avoid such Texas mortgages if they exceed 9 1/2 percent.

In Austin, Gov. Bill Clements stood firm for the time being on his threat to veto a bill raising the Texas ceiling on mortgage rates, but said he would reconsider his position in light of the new development.

Usury law now limits Texas home loans to 10 percent, and the bankers are afraid the 1 percent origination fee charged purchasers at closing would be construed as interest on the loan.

"The origination fee, which is how the mortgage banker makes his money, comes out as an effective 1/2 percent," said W.E. Daniels, president of the Texas Mortgage Bankers Association.

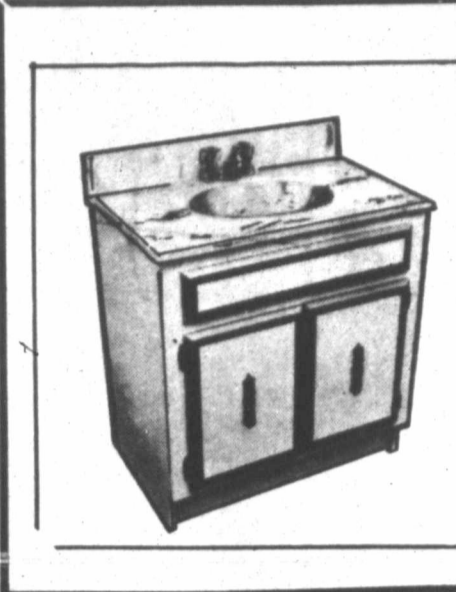

Daniels said the only home FHA and VA mortgages being made now involve commitments made before the federal officials increased the authorized rates from 9 1/2 percent to 10 percent on Monday.

"We want to know if this would be interpreted as a 10 1/2 percent interest charge and put us in violation of the state usury law," Daniels said at the opening of the Texas mortgage bankers' annual meeting.

Claude E. Pope, president of the Mortgage Bankers of America, said the state usury law is outdated and creates a "trade barrier" by curtailing the flow of mortgage money into the state at a time when the national rate ranges from 10 1/4 to 11 percent.

Oakley Hunter, president and chairman of the Fanny Mae agency that borrows money on the open market and purchases home mortgages, said Texas mortgages will be acquired only if the rate does not exceed 9 1/2 percent.

DOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Del. (AP) — The first of a convoy of trucks is en route to California with 50 coffins containing the remains of Peoples Temple cultists.

One truck left here Thursday. Today and Saturday, five more are scheduled to pick up the last of the 297 identified dead. Next month, more trucks will haul away the remaining 248 unidentified bodies, most of them children. Relatives will have a month to claim the identified bodies at Oakland Army Base near San Francisco or MacArthur Army Base near Los Angeles. The unidentified bodies will go straight to Evergreen Cemetery in Oakland for burial. The cultists were led in a murder-suicide ritual by the Rev. Jim Jones at his jungle compound in Guyana last November.

Your material picture could brighten considerably this coming year. Persons who are sincerely interested in your welfare will work on your behalf behind the scenes. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Financial conditions could be a mixed bag for you today. The rewards you've earned will be worthwhile, but where you've contributed little dividends will be small. Your new Astro-Graph Letter tells you with whom you best get along romantically. Send for yours by mailing $1 for each to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be careful today that you don't show more favoritism to friends than you do to members of your family. Pals come and go, but family is always with you. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Let your heart rule your head today. Instead of worrying about what's in it for you, bend a bit to do more for others. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Enjoy your friends for their companionship today, but be wary of being drawn into deals that could cost you money. Someone might get burned. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) There's a possibility today that you could get in your own way and bungle something that could be profitable. Size situa-

Such tactics could cost you a friend. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Attitude is all-important today. If you start out thinking something is tough, it will prove to be so. If you see it as a snap, so will it be. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're very good today at managing things affecting your self-interests, but you may not be too adept at mastering things for others. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Concerning family finances today, you may be a shade sharper than your mate. He or she should talk money matters over with you before making decisions. ARIES (March 21-April 19) Some of your friends will enjoy your repartee today, but it's not likely to be co-workers. # Strike hurting baseball

By WICK TEMPLE
AP Sports Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — The umpires' strike has gone on long enough. Baseball is being hurt by a cheap image and by bad calls from well-meaning but not-quite-professional substitute umpires.

The problem is not money. Baseball drew over 40 million people last year. A few teams are in financial trouble, but most are doing well. What the umpires are asking would cost each team about $20,000 a year.

It's peanuts, literally peanuts. The proceeds from a few concession stands.

The umpires are getting the heat from owners who want to present a tough front for upcoming negotiations with the players' union. These negotiations could cost them plenty. Marvin Miller and his players' association are tipping the balance of power in the game and a lot of baseball people are understandably worried.

The owners have had their way for so long that they tend to be very stubborn. The umpires may be a convenient target for a show of strength because of an attitude that nobody appreciates them anyway.

But the umpires are picking up a lot of sympathy. Anyone who travels in a job knows that you can't make it on $53 a day expense money in major league cities.

Fortunately, there is a solution that will permit the umpires to be treated better and will allow the owners to save face.

All the owners have to do is cut out the free food and beer in the press box and use that money to pay umpires' salaries and expenses. The food and drink should be there but the news people could pay as they go.

Some teams already have cut out free items to the media. Some newspapers are refusing to take free food and beer. The Boston Globe, for instance, sends a check to the Red Sox every year for food and drink its writers have consumed in the Fenway Park press box.

This is a way of demonstrating that, sports writers, long reputed to be free-loaders, are not. The argument in journalism is that the city council doesn't feed the reporters for free, so why should the sports teams?

In the past, some baseball teams have given regular writers expensive gifts, including TV sets.

The National Football League once passed out wrist watches to media people covering the Super Bowl. No more. Each gets an inexpensive carrying bag full of the brochures, statistics and other printed material he or she needs to cover Super Bowl week.

But football and baseball still spend many thousands of dollars wining and dining the press. This is incongruous when juxtaposed with the cheap attitude toward the umpires.

Defense carries Hawks, 76ers

By The Associated Press
Defense was the difference as the no-name Atlanta Hawks and the big-name Philadelphia 76ers stayed alive in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Both clubs were one loss away from elimination prior to Thursday night's games, but both postponed their summer vacations with lopsided victories in the Eastern Conference semifinals.

Steve Hawes and Eddie

Johnson scored 12 points apiece in the second half as the scrappy Hawks beat the defending champion Washington Bullets 104-86 to even their best-of-seven series at three victories apiece.

"The most important thing in the game was defense," said Hawks Coach Hubie Brown. "It was absolutely great."

Meanwhile, at San Antonio, Julius Erving was shifted to guard as Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham juggled his lineup to give muscleman Darryl Dawkins a start at center. The Doctor responded with 32 points, 24 of them in the second half, as the 76ers routed the Spurs 120-97.

The Sixers, who now trail 3-2 in the series, will attempt to draw even on their home court Sunday.

"Our defense was the key," said Sixers Coach Billy Cunningham. "They missed some good shots, but it had a lot to do with our defense."

In the Western Conference semifinals, the Phoenix Suns will attempt to close out their series with a victory over the Kansas City Kings tonight at Phoenix in a nationally televised game.

The winner of that series will take on the Seattle SuperSonics, who eliminated the Los Angeles Lakers 4-1 in the other West semifinal.

Atlanta went ahead to stay on a 12-foot jumper by Johnson that made it 35-33 midway through the second period. Hawes poured in 10 points during the third quarter and Johnson got 10 points in the final period.

Johnson and John Drew scored 22 points each for Atlanta and Hawes finished with 14 points and 14 rebounds. Washington's Elvin Hayes led all scorers with 24 points.

Owls hope to improve mark

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice University's sprint medley relay team set a national record last week and finished second in the race.

The Owls hope to put it all together this weekend at the Penn Relays when they try to improve on their American record 3:14.47 clocking in last week's Baylor Invitational.

Rice finished second to Missouri, which recorded the world's best time of 3:13.91. Rice claims the American record, however, because two Nigerian athletes were members of the Missouri team.

The Owls' surprising finish took awhile to soak in.

"It took me until Monday to realize what we had really done," Rice Coach Bob May said. "An American record doesn't come along too often. It caught us by surprise. The weather was bad and it looked like a bad weekend."

Another fast field is lined up at the Penn Relays this week, and the Owls say they could run even faster. Sprinters Darrell Mouton and Carlton Darrett ran the 220 yard dash legs followed by Steve Baldwin in the 440 and Bruce Gingrich on the 880.

Gingrich, the second fastest half-mile in the Southwest Conference this year, ran a blistering 1:45.7 anchor leg but it wasn't enough to catch Missouri's Scott Clark, who ran a 1:46.1 anchor for Missouri.

Conner takes New Orleans lead

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Frank Conner, leading the $250,000 Greater New Orleans Open after one round of play, said he became a professional golfer when he found out he couldn't eat tennis trophies.

Conner shot a seven-under-par 65 over the 7,000-yard Lakewood Country Club course Thursday, missed the tournament record for 18 holes by one stroke.

Doug Tewell, Curtis Strange and Jim Colbert were a stroke back at 66 after Thursday's first 18 holes. Allen Miller and Phil Hancock were at 67.

Tom Watson, leading money winner on the PGA tour this year, was at 71. Lon Hinkle, fifth on this year's money winning list and defending tournament champion, was at 69, and Lee Trevino, ninth on the list, was in a six-way tie at 68.

Conner is in his sixth year on the PGA tour after starting his career in professional athletics playing on the World Championship Tennis circuit.

"I wasn't going quite as far in tennis as I thought I should be, and professional tennis wasn't as big then, so I figured I'd better do something else," Conner said. "I was 24 years old, and I felt I wasn't going as well as I should have been."

"I played golf about three months and turned pro. I didn't want to spend time as an amateur. You can't eat those trophies. I have a shelf full of tennis trophies."

He turned pro in 1971, spent three years on the mini tours and got his PGA card in 1974. Golf hasn't put a lot of steaks on his table, either. Conner has earned only $40,155 since joining the PGA tour.

He failed to make the cut in the past four tournaments he entered, but he said he was confident he could put four good rounds together.

"Maybe I shouldn't say that, because I've never done it," he said. "But I'm in good shape. I jog every day. I've got my game together, and I feel like I can do it."

Conner opened his round with three straight birdies, shot par on the fourth hole, then birdied the next two holes. His putts lipped the cup and rolled away on the next three holes.

His only bogey came on the 16th when he rushed himself off the tee and had to take a penalty stroke after his shot went into the water.

Terrell tied for first in regional

LUBBOCK—After the first round of the Class 4A regional boys golf tournament, Pampa's Barry Terrell is tied for first place.

Terrell shot a 71 on the first 18 holes, which ties him for the top spot with Clark Colville of El Paso Eastwood and Ron Clark of Bryan.

The competition is real tight at this time as nine others are within three shots of the trio that now has the lead after the first day of action.

Team wise, El Paso Eastwood is the leader after the first day's completion with a score of 296. Back in fifth place is Amarillo High. The Sandies have a total of 303.

Pampa does not have a team total, since Terrell is the only Harvester competing. Terrell qualified for the regional competition last weekend because of his second place finish at the district meet.

The final round of the tournament will be held today. There again will be 18 more holes played. All of the competition is being played in Lubbock.

Regional set

WHEELER—This weekend will be a busy one for Wheeler participants as representatives compete in regional competition in track and tennis in Levelland.

In the tennis competition will be Ty Henderson and Phillip McWhorter, while in track, there will be seven representatives.

Henderson, a sophomore, is in the mile run. His best time thus far as he is a 4:55 clocking. Kevin Andis, a junior, who has run a 2:06 in the 800 will be in action along with sophomore Mike Gallagher. He will run in the 330 intermediate hurdles. His top time at the present is a 43.23.

In the long jump competition is sophomore Benny Baker, who has a personal best of 20-8 1/2. In addition, freshman Toby Bradstreet will compete in the pole vault. His top clearance has been 11-6.

Batters break slumps

By The Associated Press

Call them the modern-day hitless wonders—Robin Yount, 1-for-29; Gorman Thomas, 0-for-24; Ben Oglivie, 1-for-31.

The three Milwaukee Musketeers broke their slumps with a vengeance Thursday night, collecting 12 hits in 25 at-bats with four doubles, three homers and nine RBI as the Brewers snapped a five-game losing streak by sweeping a 5-1, 7-5 double-header from the Detroit Tigers.

In a yroke of genius, Manager George Bamberger made Yount and Thomas the 1-2 hitters in the Brewers' batting order and it paid off. Yount broke his slump with a three-run sixth-inning double in the nightcap and doubled home another run in a three-run eighth. Thomas, who homered in each game, followed with a decisive two-run single.

The Brewers won their first game from Detroit as Cecil Cooper homered and Charlie Moore lined a two-run single in a three-run seventh inning.

Springtime... a time to skip in a field of daisies and picnic next to a bubbling brook. Spring is year-round when you have a bedroom as fresh and delightful as its name... Springtime. Burlington House Furniture, keeping the young and young-at-heart in mind, created this collection using the finest veneered construction techniques, selected hardwoods, with laminated plastic tops, and decorative simulated wood components. A softly stated traditional design, Springtime is alive with a dainty profusion of embossed flower nosegays, kissed with painted details, in rich buttermilk white or pale celery finish. See the pretty arches here, crowns of lattice-work there, the exquisite hardware everywhere... And pieces for every dream, day or night. For daytime, there's a desk for study, a vanity for primping, a chest for hoping, mirrors for reflecting, shelves for showing, and storage pieces in a happy array of sizes and styles. For nighttime, there's romantic canopies, old-fashioned spindles, graceful panels beribboned with flowers... a bed design to make every dream come true. Here's a sensibly priced collection of sheer delight, day and night. Put a bouquet of enchantment and color in your bedroom. You'll love having Springtime... Forever!
