Sidelights From Washington

BY GEORGE MAHON

On all sides one hears comments to the effect that President Truman has got off to a good start as President. He is friendly, and he would not know how to be arrogant or aloof. There has probably never been a more informal, down-to-earth, friendly sort of fellow in the Presidency than Harry Truman.

Most people in public life have referred to former Presidents as Mr. President or Mr. So-and-So. Even President Roosevelt was generally called Mr. President in public life. But scores of men in public life call President Truman by his first name, Harry. It seems to fit in perfectly with the man. He appears to think of himself as just an ordinary fellow with a big job to do and who needs a lot of people to help him.

He was extremely well received when he appeared before the Senate last week to deliver the United Nations Charter. The Senate has been consulted from the beginning of the proposed plan, first by President Truman, and later by President Roosevelt, and the ground work for favorable Senate action has been laid.

Speaking of President Truman's informality, on the first occasion when he addressed a joint session of Congress, he forgot to wait until Speaker Rayburn presented him before proceeding with his speech. He was about to do the same thing on the next occasion, when Speaker Rayburn whispered audibly, "Hold on, Harry, let me introduce you!"

Not long ago I had occasion to call on President Truman at the White House. He had on a blue shirt and was in his shirt sleeves. With complete informality, he began the conversation by inquiring about conditions in Lubbock, recalling his visit there last year. Of course, the President has a hard road ahead of him, but all our people wish him well, particularly in the field of foreign policy and in his capacity as Commander-in-Chief for the knock-out blow against Japan.

Lt. Cooper To Remain In Germany

Lt. W. C. Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cooper of Haskell, who has been overseas with the 8th Air Force since January, has orders to remain in the European Theatre for 2 years in the army of occupation, his parents have learned.

Lt. Cooper was stationed in France until the war ended—then he was moved to Belgium where he expects to stay until September and then move on into Germany.

In a recent letter to his parents he wrote about one of his fishing trips while in France. Part of the letter follows:

"Saturday at noon I fixed up a box of food, rolled up a blanket and checked out a bicycle and took off on a fishing trip. I rode several miles to a river and began to fish—by dark I had caught eleven fish. I built me a fire and began to cook—when a Frenchman attracted by my fire came down to where I was. Since my ability to speak French is somewhat limited I had some difficulty in understanding he wanted me to come to his house. So I got my stuff together and went with him. He had a fairly nice farm home, a wife and two kids. He and I cleaned the fish and since they had no grease, I had his wife fry some salt bacon (very fat) I got from the mess hall before I left. Then his wife fried the fish in the meat grease. She boiled some potatoes and fried some eggs after straining the grease from cooking the fish.

They good French Bread and I had some light bread from the mess hall, so we ate French bread during the meal and they served the light bread and they called it cake. They seemed to like it, but to me it was still light bread.

They served good French wine all during the meal and very black coffee after the meal was finished. I spent the night with them and the bed was nice, clean with sheets. The next morning they woke me about 8 o'clock and had my breakfast in bed. Three nice fried eggs, French toast and coffee. No cream or sugar for the coffee. After breakfast I got on my bicycle and began to ride down the river, when I came to a good place I tried my luck. Then I rode the bike on back, getting to camp in the afternoon. I really enjoyed the adventure and getting away from camp for a change."

Drying Suggested For Preserving Peaches

With this year's large surplus of peaches and a scarcity of sugar, homemakers are concerned with the problem of how to conserve this crop. Mrs. Winifred J. Leverenz, specialist in food preservation at the A. and M. College Extension Service, offers the reminder that it takes no sugar to dry peaches, and the results from this process will offer an attractive addition to the family menu during winter months ahead.

To prepare the fruit for drying, prepare as for canning, either peel or halve, as desired. Treat with sulphur to keep color and food value. One method is to dissolve 3 1-2 tablespoons of potassium metabisulfite or sodium sulfite in 1 gallon water, drop peaches as they are peeled or cut into this solution for 15 minutes. Drain and arrange on tray for drying.

The other method is to burn flowers of sulphur under the fruit. Use 1 teaspoon sulphur for each pound prepared fruit. Put the sulphur in a small piece of paper, roll it loosely and twist the ends. Arrange a place out of doors. Place fruit in a tray and put the roll of sulphur in a pan about 12 or 15 inches under the trays. Start burning the roll of paper containing the sulphur. After it has started burning, put a box or barrel down over the trays and pull some loose dirt up around the edge of the box to hold the fumes. For peeled peaches, sulphur for 20 minutes. For unpeeled peaches, leave under the box with the sulphur fumes about three hours.

Complete the drying process by sun drying, or by controlled heat in an oven. If sun drying is used, arrange fruit on slatted or wire trays covered with cheese cloth; cover peaches with a layer of cheese cloth or regular screen dryer. Place where air can circulate around fruit.

When the peaches are dry they are pliable and leathery and not sticky. Heat them to 150 degrees in an oven from 15 to 30 minutes. Place in hot, dry jars or cans and seal immediately. Store in a cool, dry place.

In Automatic Refrigerators it is

THE MAGIC FLAME that makes the difference!

- CONSTANT COLD No stopping and starting of refrigeration cycle!
- TROUBLE FREE No moving parts to wear and need replacing!
- LOWEST OPERATING COST Takes little natural gas to run!
- LONG LIFE Parts that do not move do not wear out!
- SILENT No moving parts to make noise!

The gas refrigerator is basically different from all other automatic refrigerators. A tiny gas flame does all the work. Keep this fact in mind when buying the new automatic refrigerator after the war.

With this simpler refrigerating method, there's nothing to wear—nothing to get noisy—nothing to need fixing.

Wartime is proving the value of the silent, trouble-free performance. With repair men hard to get, owners are happy they chose a gas refrigerator.

...Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief naval strategist in the Pacific, was born in Hawaii. Three vice admirals are from Texas—Admiral Adolphus Andrews, Admiral Samuel Murray and Vice Admiral Wilbur B. Smith. The Navy's fleet includes Rear Admiral Charles H. Davis, also a Texan. Rear Admiral Lewis, Emil A. and Augustin T. Beauregard, James Otto Richardson and William T. Tarrant.

A roster of the Marine Corps shows that nearly 12 per cent of the entire corps are from Texas. Texas stands unchallenged throughout the nation in that 18 Texans have been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Three of these men in the Navy and Marine Corps. They were First Lt. William Dean Hawkins, USMC, of El Paso; S-Sgt. William James Bordenlon, of San Antonio, and Seaman First Class Johnnie David Hutchins, of Leslie.

The Battleship USS Texas led the Allies in the invasion of Normandy. The Cruiser USS Dallas and the Cruiser USS Houston named for the original Houston which went down in the Battle of the Java sea with her guns still blazing, are now at sea.

The Aircraft Carrier USS San Jacinto is now part of the fleet. A new cruiser USS Galveston has been launched.

Frigates have been named for the cities of Orange, El Paso, Brownsville and Corpus Christi. Thirty-seven transports and cargo vessels of the Navy now bear names of Texas counties. Counties honored include Bogue, Bowie, Briscoe, Burleson, Clay, Eastland, Freestone, Cottle, Crockett, Dawson, Grimes, Hansford, Haskell, Hidalgo, Karnes, Knox, Lamar, Lavaca, Leon, Lubbock, Menard, Midland, Montague, Navarro, Presidio, Randall, Rockwall, Shelby, Starr, Nueces, and McLennan.

Even Texas rivers have their nominal counterparts in the United States fleet, for Navy tankers have borne such names as USS Brazos, USS Trinity, USS Sabine, USS Guadalupe, USS Nueces, USS Navasota, and USS Rio Grande. The USS Matagorda, an airplane tender, was christened after the Texas bay by that name.

The Navy said Texas had produced and provided 46.1 per cent of all the petroleum and petroleum products used in powering and lubricating the American war machine through lend-lease.

Texas has produced practically all the helium used in Navy lighter-than-air craft; a high percentage of all the sulphur; much of the toluene used in manufacturing TNT, and a great deal of the vitally needed 100 octane gasoline.

Texas' shipyards combine to form a billion-dollar industry and produce combatant cargo and auxiliary vessels of all types.

21st Has Been Eventful Date In Life of Haskell Soldier, Prisoner of Nazis 5 Months

For Pfc. Robt. E. (Ed) Bledsoe, who arrived home last week after being overseas nearly three years, and a prisoner of the Germans for five and a half months, the 21st day of the month has become a significant date in his memory.

The Haskell soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bledsoe Sr., sailed for overseas August 21, 1942.

A member of the 634th AAA battalion, attached to First Army Headquarters, Pfc. Bledsoe went into combat in the Normandy invasion, fought through France, Belgium, and the approaches to the German border without receiving a scratch, although he declared there were many times when he would not have bet 1 dollar against a million that he'd come out of it "all in one piece".

Then came the German breakthrough in the Belgium Bulge when Pfc. Bledsoe and his company were surrounded and taken prisoners by the Nazis after the Americans had exhausted their supplies. That happened on December 21, 1944.

The American soldiers were started marching toward Germany. After the first day's march they were loaded into railway cars and headed in the direction of their destination, which turned out to be Leipzig, Germany. While the Americans were locked in the cars, the Nazis pulled one of their favorite tricks—stopping the cars on railway sidings when Allied bombers and fighting planes approached. Allied planes invariably strafed the cars, the Germans had learned. At one stop Pfc. Bledsoe was wounded during the strafing, and between thirty and forty American prisoners were killed.

Pfc. Bledsoe said the group of Americans he was with were fairly well treated during the five months they were held at Leipzig, although their food allowance was almost nothing, consisting principally of soup. Red Cross parcels came through only three times in five months, but they Shipyards are at Orange, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Houston, Galveston, Seabrook, Rockport, Aransas Pass, and Brownsville.

Listed by the Navy as among the "major items" manufactured in Texas by Texans are ships, planes, guns, projectiles, rockets, depth charge throwers, and other ordnance.

Texas has trained hundreds of thousands of not only its own native personnel in the Navy, but from all over the nation, at its huge air training centers, its "boot" training and distribution centers, and in the state's universities and colleges through the Navy V-12 educational program.

The world's largest naval air training center at Corpus Christi has graduated thousands of naval pilots. Other thousands of pilots have passed through the Dallas naval air station.

where a Godsend to the American prisoners, he said. Bledsoe lost 30 pounds while he was a prisoner. Prisoners unfortunate enough to be under SS guards were cruelly treated, and the Storm Troopers would deliberately fire into columns or groups of prisoners without provocation.

Around April 1st, the Nazis apparently knew that defeat was near, and the prisoners at Leipzig were started marching away from the advancing Allies.

At a point near the Elbe River, the group of prisoners in which Pfc. Bledsoe was held was again "captured" but it was by their own American troops. The date—April 21, 1945.

After their liberation, the American soldiers were flown to Paris, and from there to an embarkation point to board ship for the United States.

The troop transport carrying Pfc. Bledsoe and thousands of other liberated American soldiers took nine days in crossing the Atlantic, and docked in New York on May 21.

The Haskell soldier came home on a 60 day furlough, after which he will report at Fort Sam Houston for an honorable discharge which will be waiting for the 108-th day around Sept. 1. He'll get the Purple Heart, too, for the wounds suffered while a prisoner of the Germans.

Although he is due to report Sept. 1 for his discharge, Pfc. Bledsoe wouldn't be surprised if he doesn't have to loaf around a while longer, say until about Sept. 21.

Mother of Rule Soldier Given His Decoration

The Bronze Star posthumously awarded to Pvt. Billy G. Yarborough, was presented to his mother, Mrs. Minnie B. Yarborough, at her home in Rule Tuesday afternoon by Major Sam L. Palmer of Fort Worth, veteran combat pilot, of Abilene Army air field in behalf of Col. Harry Weddington, commandant.

Presentation of the medal was made to Mrs. Yarborough in the presence of her husband, W. I. Yarborough, following the reading of the citation by Capt. Irby T. Petsick of Comanche, also a veteran combat pilot.

Young Yarborough, born March 16, 1925, entered the Army Oct. 9, 1943, to receive basic training in the infantry at Camp Wolters, Texas, prior to being moved overseas in May, 1944. He first landed in North Africa and later joined the Fifth Army in Italy. His parents were notified in October of 1944 that he had been killed in action near Florence, Italy, on Oct. 3, 1944.

The citation awarding the medal to Pvt. Yarborough follows:

"For heroic achievement in action Oct. 3, 1944, in Italy. When an enemy force supported by a tank made four determined counter-attacks upon his company's position under cover of darkness, Private Yarborough as a rifleman occupying an outpost one hundred yards to the front of the line, remained courageously in his position to engage the oncoming group. Although exposed to heavy and unceasing fire of the enemy force, he continued to assist in successfully repelling their onslaughts until mortally wounded by machine gun fire. His resolute determination to cling to his position in the face of overwhelming enemy firepower served as an inspiration to his hard pressed comrades and reflects the finest traditions of the American infantrymen."

RULE VISITORS

Mrs. W. L. Whited of Carlsbad, New Mexico visited a month in the home of her sister, Mrs. E. O. Wilson. Other visitors recently were a niece Mr. and Mrs. Ross Smith and son, Ross Earle, from Mission, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith of Hamlin, also daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Winford Davis and baby, Joy Belle, from Borger, Tex.

School Tax Plan Cheap For the District

According to available records, non-resident tax payers pay approximately fifty percent of the income of Haskell Independent School District. These are utilities, oil, gas, telephone companies, and many individual property owners who do not help support our community except by taxation. If we attempted to raise the debt by donations these would not participate.

It seems from all observations that this plan of paying off in two years the local debt by taxation is the most logical and equitable. Many of the larger towns around us are voting a permanent tax raise under the same bill. We should be one of the few who are able to lower our tax to the original $1.00 after this emergency has been met.

Your interest in your school will be shown by your vote for the maintenance tax to be raised for a two year period.

Vote Saturday, July 28, at the City Hall.

Economic Security

Back in 1865 senators and representatives in the Congress of the United States began drawing $5,000 a year; $100 a week. That was good pay 80 years ago but a first-class welder can do better now. Congressmen have had two raises in salary since then. The last one was 20 years ago when they started earning $10,000 a year which was, at the time, a comfortable living for them.

A great many executives in private enterprise earn more money than senators although they do not claim superior ability. Why do our legislators not earn more? Because their salaries are fixed by law and they themselves are the gentlemen who make the laws. They could vote themselves a raise in pay but there is always reluctance to introduce such a bill.

Throughout Government

There are politics in it, of course. Revenue measures never are popular. Congressmen who vote for a dip out of Mr. Taxpayer's pocket come to regret it on election day sometimes. That's exactly why employees in the Post Office Department haven't had a boost in pay since the congressmen did, a matter of 20 years ago.

Wage Rates in Private Industry

Wage rates in private industry have advanced from 42 cents to $1 an hour in the last 20 years. They have more than doubled. Informed authorities say that living costs have gone up 30% or more during that time. Doubled pay for workers in private industry offsets the living costs that are about one-third higher, but what about government people from mail clerks to senators?

Ask for Consideration

One of the biggest newspapers in my state published an advertisement recently calling the attention of the people of Arkansas to the unhappy plight of the postal employees who serve them. The display advertisement was bought and paid for by the postal workers themselves. In a diplomatic way they are asking their neighbors to help them ask Congress for better wages.

I want to see the postal people earning more money. I favor the passage of currently proposed legislation to boost the pay of senators and representatives 25% or better. I hope to see the day when a self-respecting poor man can afford to represent his state in costly and wealthy Washington. These are details however. It is wrong in principle that government employees wait 20 years for a raise.

Dangers Bureaucracy

The important thing is that every workman who quits a job in private industry to enter government employ gets his wage scale frozen. The change of work may bring more pay but that's temporary. Whoever works at that job a generation from now will probably be earning the same amount and spending a lot more to live. Remember that the laborer of today is earning senatorial pay for 1865.

These facts are understood well by men of industry and leaders in labor movements. It is encouraging to observe how the Labor Management Charter, signed in Washington last March by labor union executives and prominent men of business, deals with the subject. In brief it states: Private enterprise is the necessary foundation for the welfare of labor as well as management.

INDUSTRY HELPS VETERANS

What industry is doing to meet problems of the returning soldiers, is illustrated by the announcement of the Texas Company that a special leave of absence will be granted employees of that company who return from military service and desire to take advantage of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act to pursue studies that will benefit them in

AMERICAN HEROES

WAR Bonds are appreciated when used to put machine guns into the hands of such heroes as Pfc. David Daily, U. S. Infantry, of Richmond, Texas. When the forward motion of two platoons was halted in a Pacific island attack, he stood up, draped an ammunition belt over his shoulder and opened fire from his hip, spraying enemy pillboxes. His action permitted fellow fighters to withdraw safely. He was cited for heroic action.

Last Friday Sheriff J. C. Turnbow confiscated a 95-gallon still which he had found located in a small farm building north of Jud. The still was in good operating condition when seized, but no one was on the premises when the raid was made.

A severe sand and windstorm struck here Tuesday afternoon, causing some damage to small barns and outbuildings. Near Iowa Park and Wichita Falls, the windstorm developed almost into a cyclone and it is estimated that thousands of dollars damage to property resulted in that area.

THE ARMY ANSWERS YOUR WAR PROBLEMS

Your questions on allotments, insurance, legal problems or other matters as they relate to Army personnel and their dependents will be answered in this column or by letter. Write Headquarters Eighth Service Command, Dallas 2, Texas.

Q. Is there any way a soldier who has been sentenced to a year in the guardhouse can be released from the services for good without serving his one year's sentence?

A. If the soldier's sentence stated that he is to be dishonorably discharged following a year's detention, the headquarters which reviews his case after the court passed the sentence, or a higher headquarters, may remit his detention and allow him to be discharged. His sentence may also be commuted by the Secretary of War.

Q. I am an Army veteran. I am employed in an essential industry, but have a chance to take a better job. Is it true that I can take this other job without getting a release from my present employer?

A. Yes. If you are a veteran of World War II, you are not subject to War Manpower Commission rulings and do not need a release to accept other employment.

Q. Is there any limitation as to the time a veteran has in which to apply for schooling under the G. I. Bill of Rights?

A. Yes. To obtain the educational privileges of the G. I. Bill of Rights, a veteran must go to school within two years after the end of the war. If he is discharged after the war is over, he has two years following date of his discharge in which to apply for the educational benefits.

Q. My son had eighty discharge points to his credit last May. Will he continue to draw points each month?

A. No. There are no points given for service after May 12, 1945.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui, many women say, has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come. Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic distress. Try it!

IT'S GREAT TO GET BACK FROM NATURE

POISON IVY, mosquitoes, ants, sunburn, rain—

Roughing it on a camping trip is great stuff. For a week or so. Then you begin to long for the comforts of home. A good light to read by... a hot shower... your electric razor... an electric range... and, of course, your radio.

It's surprising the number of every-day conveniences made possible by electricity. You take them for granted—until you have to get along without 'em.

The big reason why you forget 'em is because electric service is so good and cheap. Electricity is still available at low pre-war prices. There have been no shortages. And you can be sure there will be plenty of power for the post-war electric era—thanks to the practical experience and sound business management of America's light and power companies.
