When You Were Three

Tying your own shoes was a tough job. But your parents let you try. They knew it would help you to help yourself. Remember the thrill when the knot stayed tied?

Shifting for yourself has always been an American custom. As a boy or man, just give an American an even break—a chance to get ahead—and he'll do the rest.

But when government goes into business, in competition with its citizens, the American idea of an even break is destroyed... for government in business takes special privileges that are denied the people.

Consider government power projects for example. They are TAX SLACKERS—DO NOT pay federal taxes; but get YOUR money from the U. S. Treasury at little or no interest; make up losses out of the pockets of the patriotic taxpayers.

On the other hand, America's business-managed power companies—owned and operated by millions of folks like you—are on their own. They pay their full share of taxes (near one-third of each gross dollar collected). They pay through able management, fair interest on money loaned by people like you to build the property.

Maybe you run a store or service station or beauty shop. View then—a next-door government politically managed competitor who has little or no rent, or taxes, or interest to pay, and who is kept in business partly by your tax money.

It is a tribute to American self-reliance that tax-paying, self-supporting companies supply over 80% of the tremendous amount of electric power used in this country. And it is a further tribute to the American system of private initiative that these companies provide America with enough electricity to meet even the gigantic demands of war—and, when most things cost more—still deliver this electricity at low pre-war prices and without political tax favors or subsidies.

Babson Discusses Labor Unions

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Park, Mass., Sept. 7.—I have today received a telegram from a returned serviceman who has just arrived from Europe. He states that, after paying certain bills and providing for his board and lodging, he is broke. "But," says he, "I cannot get a job until I pay a labor union twenty dollars or more. Please wire me some money immediately."

POSTWAR EMPLOYMENT

I am continually being asked "What will the employment situation be now that Japan has collapsed?" I have replied that we will have a slowdown for a few months during the changeover of factories from war to peace goods; but after that we should have a few years of excellent business and fair employment. Certainly, there need be no serious unemployment while people have excess money in their pockets and bank accounts.

Every employer is prepared to take back such returning servicemen as were in his employ when they were drafted. After this, difficulty will come in deciding who shall next be in line for jobs. The young fellow who never had a job before entering the service, or the man who has been employed in shipbuilding, airplane construction or munitions manufacture? Certainly, many married women and old people will be expected to step aside and return to their prewar status.

LABOR UNIONS ARE "BIG BUSINESS"

But then I am asked a second question:—"How long will this postwar prosperity last?" To this I am prepared to answer: The length of the postwar prosperity depends largely upon the labor union leaders. They can make the prosperity short or they can have it extend over a long number of years, according to how they act. As to what they will do, no one— including themselves— knows. Why? Because the actions of these labor leaders will be determined by the returning servicemen and we do not know what their attitude will be.

There is little real democracy in a big labor union. Members vote as ordered; they have far less freedom than the stockholders of any corporation. Often even the officers of the union are mere figureheads without real authority. The typical labor union today is a "big business" run by dynamic leaders primarily for their own advancement and profit. They make demands and call strikes to have their members think they are doing something.

WATCH RETURNING SERVICEMEN

Labor leaders can bluff their present membership which has become docile from browbeating and blackmail. But these labor leaders may meet their match in the returning soldier. He is no namby-pamby. Hence, the important question is, "What will the attitude of these returning servicemen be toward the labor union leaders?" If the returning soldiers insist upon the open shop and peaceful collective bargaining, the postwar prosperity can be bright and of long duration with little unemployment; but otherwise, there will be much unemployment.

I do not attempt to guess what attitude these returning servicemen will take. They seem to be influenced by the feeling of their families. Those who came from homes which are independent— especially white-collar homes— are against union domination. This especially applies to boys from Republican homes or from Southern Democratic homes, including boys from the farms. But those who are returning to homes having brothers or fathers as union members are most favorable to the unions.

HOW TO AVOID UNEMPLOYMENT

It is not necessary that the postwar prosperity should be short. It is not necessary that it be followed by another period of severe depression and unemployment. But I fear that these labor leaders who came into power during the war, have not yet learned their lesson, as the telegram above mentioned sadly illustrates. Hence, I am much disturbed and say that postwar employment will depend upon the attitude of the returning servicemen. They should insist upon freedom to work where and for whom they wish, with or without union membership, unless they become employers themselves.

There is a thriving raw silk industry at Mineral Wells, Texas, harvesting the largest crop in the nation.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui, many women say, has brought relief from the cramp-like aches and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come. Started 3 days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. TRY IT!

Behind Your Bonds Lies the Might of America

INDIANA'S MINERALS

Indiana might not be expected to add mineral assets to the Government resources that will stand behind the War Bonds we buy yet that state produces $107,000,000 worth of coal, clay products, lime, peat and petroleum each year. Vast supplies of rock wool to insulate buildings will be made from the marlstone still imbedded under the limestone in Lawrence county. Thousands of employes probably will be added by these industries when the war ends and output will soar to assure income to Indiana and the Nation whose shareholders are the buyers of War Bonds. U. S. Treasury Department

UTAH'S METALS

In reckoning the Nation's wealth from which War Bond holders will be beneficiaries in years to come, most people fail to recognize the importance of Utah as a mineral producer. They will be surprised to learn that the value of Utah's total ore in 1943 exceeded that of all other states. It gave the world gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc worth $12,348,452. It topped all states for gold output with $13,301,705 and stood second for copper, $33,893,999; lead $9,805,000 and silver $5,619,322. Its ore deposits have scarcely been touched. U. S. Treasury Department

LEAD AND SILVER

Discovery of gold attracted the Nation's attention to Idaho in 1859 but the surrounding "worthless rock" that gold hunters spurned 25 years later became the foundation of an enterprise that brought the state into first place in the production of lead and silver. Elimination of waste, big-scale operations and new scientific processes of milling, smelting and refining have enabled the industry to provide livelihood for 20,000 people. It has added to the Nation's wealth that will be enjoyed by holders of War Bonds. U. S. Treasury Department

Statehood Centennial Edition of Texas Almanac Ready

The new Texas Almanac is off the press, the 1945-1946 edition being commemorative of the Centennial of Texas Statehood. Although print paper is still alarming scarce, the fact that the new book contains 608 pages—the largest in history—is considered adequate proof of its value to the public. In harmony with its dedication a considerable portion of the book is devoted to historical matter. There is a revised history of Texas from Cabeza de Vaca to Coke R. Stevenson, and there are additional chapters on events and places of historic interest, including an extensive current account of Texas' participating in World War II. As usual, data and statistics on rainfall, crops, mineral deposits, farm demonstration, railroad mileage, rosters of state and county officials, Mayors and

City Managers, sources of state revenue during the latest fiscal year and articles on Texas counties, with individual maps, are included in the current issue, together with revisions in up-to-date form, covering rail, highway air and shipping commerce; banking an insurance; Texas athletic events, parks and tourist attractions, schools, libraries, health and hospitals.

In view of the postwar program of economic development, special attention is given to Texas manufacturing industries between 1940 and 1944, when pay rolls and volume of production more than trebled. There is full treatment also of Texas minerals, of which more than sixty kinds were produced last year, for a total value of more than a billion dollars—the greatest value of mineral production of any single state in the history of the nation. Included also, are late developments in soilistics and water conservation, the construction of such new projects as Lake Texoma, near Denison, one of the largest reservoirs in America. Approximately 85 per cent of the current edition of the Almanac had been sold before the first volume came from the press a few days ago.

TAX SPENDING WILL BLOCK TAX REDUCTION

It seems rather futile to talk about substantial postwar tax reduction when new measures in Congress ask billions of dollars for various schemes to put the government into business in competition with private enterprise. All such government projects are tax exempt, while private enterprise must pay all known forms of taxation to maintain government and its tax-exempt activities which destroy private enterprise.

was indicated, the Federal and local public works should be put under contract. In those years when there is a high construction program—the board, through Congress would defer any Federal public works and recommend the deferment of local public works beyond the absolute minimum requirements. A stabilization board could work with Congress and control these activities in such a manner that there would be prosperous conditions.

Thus government could cooperate with industry and private investors, rather than discourage them by uncontrolled and often useless and unnecessary government expenditures.

LET REASON PREVAIL

During the war, the major cost of all production has been paid by the government. There was no competition. There was no question of whether John Jones or Bill Brown could pay the cost of an article. That situation will no longer prevail now that the war has ended. John Jones and Bill Brown will be looking for a saw, hammer, stove, washing machine, radio or automobile at a price. If the price is too high, they won't buy it. And the price will be based on the cost of production. Labor leaders can block reconstruction at the outset by exorbitant demands.

A PRACTICAL IDEA

"When construction falls below a figure approximately 12 per cent of our national income, depression threatens," Charles M. Upham, Engineer-Director of the American Road Builders' Association, told a conference considering postwar methods for maintaining sound conditions in this country. He recommended a stabilizing board representing all construction agencies, which by controlling public investment, would maintain the 12 per cent figure as a minimum. He said: "It is significant that in times of prosperity we have a relative large construction program—above 12 per cent of our national income—and in times of depression, we have a low construction program, considerably below 12 per cent. When a total construction program of insufficient size to maintain a prosperous economy

Freedom

Individual liberty is one of the teachings of Jesus. It goes hand-in-hand with personal responsibility. How can a man be held responsible for his acts unless he is free to determine how he shall act? The understanding that certain rights are everybody's rights, and that no man can rightly deprive another man of them, is an idea for which the world is indebted to Christianity.

Compulsion in religion is older than history. Every nation's lore is colored with tales of forced worship. In fact, the history of Christianity is marred with a shameful record of coercion. Just the same, obedience to Christ is voluntary or it is not obedience at all, and being an every-day thing Christianity lives and grows best in surroundings of personal liberty.

A Moral Duty

Opposing dictatorship, resisting infringement by a few upon the liberties of many, is a reverent act of fidelity to the source of all freedom. No government is perfect; no economic system is perfect. For that matter, no church is perfect. All are subject, more or less, to leadership by imperfect people. Nevertheless some principles are right and worthy of vigorous defense.

Harry Emerson Fosdick said: "One of the great hours in history struck when mankind ran into the idea that all the people should unite in making laws, which then all the people should obey. Behind our pitifully fallible experiments with representative government stands the ideal, worth everything our fathers gave for it and all that we can give—the democratic state."

Godless Laws

One-man governments traditional become jealous of their subjects' loyalty to God; covetous too, perhaps, of their free-will offerings, large or small. Rarely do totalitarian states begin at the church when they start cutting off people's liberties. They get around to it in the long-run, however. There are about enough exceptions on record to prove the rule.

Dictators usually start their trespasses on freedom by presuming to say who shall engage in trade. It is the natural way to commence. Never do they find a large class in commercial pursuits, so they can begin grabbing power without antagonizing a majority. The next big strategy is to dominate the news. By this method a dictator can make his people think what he pleases.

Step at a Time

With buying and selling pinched under government's heel, one emergency follows another, accidentally or by design; either way serves the purpose. Consumers, the class most hurt by government in business, never learn the truth if press and radio are under control. Selfish rulers snatch away comforts and dole out confusion and suspicion, the chains of serfdom.

Traditionally tyrants work this way; it has happened all along through history. After business is confiscated and the news agencies seized, the people are poisoned with malice, and malice destroys living souls. Americans who value their religious liberty have no choice but to defend representative government, free enterprise, free speech and free press. They can fight on the front line and win, or wait to fight in the last trench and lose.

SUNDAY LESSON

Lesson for September 9

A NATION GOD USED

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 41:46-57. GOLDEN TEXT—He hath given meat unto them that fear him; he will ever be mindful of his covenant.—Psalm 111:5.

Conservation of natural resources—that phrase has a modern touch to it, and yet we would do well to turn back to the story of Joseph in Egypt and learn anew the importance of not wasting what we have if we are to be fed in the days of shortage.

Certain it is that we should face at once the shameful record of waste in the manufacture and sale of intoxicants. This is temperance Sunday. Let us not fail to stress this truth.

Joseph recognized the provision of God and made use of it for His glory and the good of the people.

As men work with God in the cultivation of the land they are apt to begin to think of themselves as producers, when they are actually only the servants of the Lord in the orderly care of that which He provides.

We need to renew our sense of complete dependence upon God lest we become proud of our own supposed attainments and forget Him. Then He will have to withhold His beautiful hand and we shall stand with empty measures.

Remember, too, that what God has given to feed the nations cannot with impunity be used for the manufacture of intoxicating beverages which are designed and used for no good purpose—only for destruction. Let's not forget that God could send us a famine, too!

The manner in which Joseph cared for the gathering of the grain is worth noting. He did not sit in his royal office and send out an edict. He went throughout the land building storehouses, seeing that the grain was properly conserved.

We need more of that personal touch in government. Too much of life is controlled by "directives" and "rules" with too little of the touch of human kindness and a personal knowledge of the needs of the people.

Observe also the wisdom of storing the food in the place where it was raised and where it would eventually be needed. No shipping and re-shipping, no undue centralization, and no temptation to form a special "grain bureaucracy."

II. Family—God's Gift (vv. 50-52).

From among the Gentiles, Joseph took himself a bride. While it is not indicated, we have reason to assume that she was a believer in the true God. One cannot imagine a man of Joseph's character and spiritual integrity marrying an unbeliever.

The sons which came into the home were recognized as God's gift. Note how God was counted into the life of these boys and of the home.

We spoke above about the need of conserving grain. Think now of the infinitely more important conservation of boys and girls.

The liquor interests have used this war to create a taste for beer on the part of millions of young men and women, both in the armed services and in our war plants. They have broken down the objections and the religious principles of many and we are almost at the point where one who objects is regarded as a foolish fanatic.

If America cannot with impunity use her grain to make booze, do you think God will hold us guiltless if we stand idly by and let the rapacious breweries and distilleries take our boys and girls? It is high time that we awakened to our responsibility and stood up for our convictions, come what may!

III. Famine—God's Opportunity (vv. 53-57).

Now the time had come when God's word to Joseph was proved to be true. When his loyal servant stood before the world as the one who was in touch with the infinite One, he had the food to give out because he had obeyed God's command.

It is in the crises of life that the things of God prove themselves. When man's hand drops in weakness and despair, God steps in and does the abundant thing; that is, if we are willing to recognize Him.

There is another sense in which the coming of famine was God's opportunity, for it gave Him the chance He wanted to speak to men. In the days of plenty and prosperity mankind is self-sufficient and too busy to listen to God, but when there is no food to eat, he has time to hear God.

One wonders, with a wonder that is almost agonizing at times, whether America is going to force God to bring hunger of body to her children in order to make their hearts hunger for Him. Will we wait to cry out to God until we have felt the sharp pangs of hunger, or will we by our obedience and gratitude of heart encourage Him to continue His abundance toward us? Reader, how do you feel in your own heart?

Employment First

People who work in the fields, in mills, mines and shops, on railroads and in industry generally, are to be congratulated upon President Truman's choice of Fred M. Vinson, the new Secretary of the Treasury of the United States. His undertaking is enormous, delicate and vital. But it is my belief that nobody else in government is quite as well qualified to handle the job as Vinson.

The new cabinet member knows taxes. Things he has said already prove that he is keenly aware of two things that are currently the most important facts about taxes. (1) High taxes are necessary, now and for some time to come. (2) Wrongly devised taxes in the United States can wreck the financial structure of the entire world in a few months. Dark Ages might visit the earth again.

A Dependable Thing
The "yankee dollar" is one of few known quantities left in the financial world. While this condition lasts, there is a way for weak and depleted countries to gain industrial and then financial strength. The dollar will remain good so long as Uncle Sam keeps meeting his obligations promptly, fulfilling promises and paying the interest on his stupendous national debt.

Our debt is so big and America's moral obligations are so exacting that taxes must be high after the war, much higher than they have ever been in peaceful years before. Government has no way to get money except by taxing its citizens. Consequently the citizens have to be prosperous. There must be full employment, plenty of jobs at good wages—otherwise not enough taxes.

Holding our Ground
The world is relying on the sturdiness of the dollar, and it all depends on jobs. Mr. Vinson said: "Taxes should be levied in such a way that they have the least harmful effect on the expansion of business investment and the creation of jobs because productive employment is the source of . . . revenue which the government collects from taxes."

The Secretary's eye was not on taxes alone. In a recently published report he made it clear that productive employment is the foundation of America's living standard (highest in the world), the source of all income and the basis of prosperity for business and agriculture. We may be assured that Vinson will always do his best to prevent ruination of jobs by taxing business to a standstill.

A Rational Economy
Here is a powerful and rational sentence from Vinson's pen: "The sooner uncertainties in the post-war tax structure are removed, the sooner business management will be inclined to make firm commitments for expansion and the faster men can be put back to work following the wholesale cancellation of contracts that will occur with the unconditional surrender of Japan."

Persons who would like to see America in chaos, people who would like to see a dictator climb to power over America's wasted estates, may call the new Treasury head a friend of big business. He apparently is, to whatever extent such a friendship means jobs for workers, prosperity on the farm, customers in the store and food on the table for America's plain people.

VISITING IN GATESVILLE
Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Watson left this week for Gatesville where they will spend several days with relatives and friends. They will be accompanied home by Mrs. Watson's mother, Mrs. Sallie Crow, who will spend the winter in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Watson.

Army Cuts Age and Discharge Restrictions

The Army this week ordered promised V-J day cuts in age and discharge point restrictions to speed release of enlisted men and women.

Effective today, all enlisted personnel of 35 years or over — who have had a minimum of two years of honorable military service — will be released from the Army upon application. The previous age limit was 38.

The War department also announced that the critical score for discharge of enlisted men was cut today from 85 to 80, and for enlisted WACS from 44 to 41. Points of all Army personnel except those already eligible for discharge, will be recomputed to include all points earned since the defeat of Germany.

The department promised further cuts in point scores as transportation facilities from Europe and the Pacific become available. The personnel discharge under the new standards will occupy all space in homeward bound ships and planes, the Army said.

Both tactical and transport planes will continue to be used to bring home personnel eligible for discharge, the announcement said. The announcement made no mention of one other revision promised by top officials last week in testimony before the House military committee.

At present no man with 75 points is shipped overseas. They said then that when the points were cut this figure would be reduced to 60.

The announcement said recomputation will have the effect of adding from four to eight points to the score of every man and woman in the Army since May 12, 1945, and would make thousands more eligible for discharge.

"This program is in conformity with announced War department policy that the critical score would be allowed progressively and as frequently as necessary to keep the flow of discharge at the highest possible level, the announcement said.

"The amount of available transportation is the primary factor governing the speed with which the mobilization plan can be carried out."

The only exceptions among enlisted men who must remain in the Army regardless of their point scores are those trained in three highly technical skills which are considered essential. These are: Cathodic mechanic, transmitter attendant (fixed station) and electroencephalographic specialist.

A War department official told the House Military committee last week that there are only about 500 men in these groups. Even in these groups, the War department

Weinert Soldier In Philippines Is Promoted

With the Amphilippines-LeRoy D. Vaughn, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Vaughn, Route 1, Weinert, Texas, has been promoted from Pfc. to Sergeant after serving through the bitter Cebu campaign.

Veteran soldiers of Vaughn's unit say the fighting on Cebu was tougher than anything the American Division hit in its previous campaigns at Guadalcanal, Bougainville, and Leyte. On a battlefield tour, Lt. Gen. Eichelberger, Eighth Army commander, said Jap positions on Cebu were the toughest to reduce that he had ever seen.

Dug in like termites in a system of pillboxes, caves, interlocking tunnels and trenches, the Japs inflicted heavy casualties on advancing ranks before a combination of air power, artillery, and virtually every known infantry weapon forced them to retreat. Vaughn's regiment, the 182nd, a veteran unit with more than three years' overseas service behind it, was in action almost constantly.

The Weinert soldier has been overseas 8 months and has the Infantry Combat Badge. Before entering the service he worked on his father's farm.
