Announcing Change In Ownership of The Haskell Free Press

After this issue of The Free Press, ownership of the newspaper changes hands for the third time since its establishment in January, 1886. Effective November 1, 1945, The Free Press goes into the hands of a new owner, Fred Jones, recently discharged from the Navy, an experienced newspaperman in civilian life, and who will be the new editor and publisher. After devoting almost 30 years at a task willingly assumed to make The Free Press a newspaper truly representative of one of the best and most progressive cities and counties in Central West Texas, we believe that experienced younger publishers can best continue this work in the years ahead. This belief was the main consideration in our decision to dispose of the newspaper property, purchased by the present owner in May, 1916. During the twenty-nine years and six months which have elapsed, the cordial business associations and close friendship of patrons and readers have made our work pleasant through good years and bad, and contributed in a material degree to our endeavor to make The Free Press a better newspaper. We are certain that the new owners will be able to inaugurate improvements which our readers and patrons will appreciate, and we ask for them your continued loyalty and support of the newspaper in the future. SAM A. ROBERTS.

First Since War, New Ford Arrives At Wilson Motor Co.

A new 1946 Ford, the first new car to be delivered in Haskell since their production became a wartime casualty, was received Thursday morning by Bill Wilson Motor Co. and will be on display beginning today at 8 a. m. The public is invited to inspect the black super deluxe two-door Ford. Showing a marked change from the 1942 model, the newest Ford is liberally trimmed in shiny chrome, including a newly designed grill front. Heavy bumpers at the front and rear offer added safety. The interior also reflects a number of changes. The instruments are plainly seen with red lettering and figures against a grey background. Upholstery of the Ford received here is in two-tone gray, with matching leather for added strength. Offering considerably more power than pre-war models, the new Ford has 100 horsepower, as compared with 85 horsepower in 1942. Wilson said Ford will offer a 90 horsepower automobile with six cylinders. Other engineering changes include a piston with four rings, a sealed-dry distributor, and a new gear ratio which allows the motor to operate on less gas. The Ford has a 114-inch wheelbase. Wilson said he does not yet know just what the price of the new Ford is to be since OPA has not made public a price schedule. It is believed rationing will be lifted, Wilson said.

New Map of Haskell Will Be Prepared For Mail Delivery

Another step forward toward starting city mail delivery service in Haskell was made this week when Calvin Henson was employed by the city to correct and make additions to the only available map of the city. A new map will be made and used in making a survey of the city to determine just how many street markers will be necessary before postal authorities are asked to come here in the interest of starting the service, J. Belton Duncan, city secretary, said. Henson is expected to complete his work on the map in a week or ten days, at which time it will be sent to a concern in Fort Worth for the purpose of making a new map. When the map is available, the precise number of necessary street markers can then be determined. It has been estimated that about 200 of the markers will be used in the entire city. However, only the northwest part of the city meets necessary paving and lighting requirements which the Post-office Department demands in instituting city mail delivery service. Mayor John A. Couch said he believes the markers can be installed for about $7.50 each, making necessary an outlay of about $1,500 from funds of the city. It is not known how long it may be required to have the markers made and delivered here.

British Coal

England is a coal country; 70% of the island's export tonnage is coal and it goes all over the world. England's 706,000 miners produce 200 million tons of coal a year. These are big figures until you compare England and America. We have only 283,000 miners in the United States but they produce 588 million tons of coal a year; more than five times as much per man as in England.

Coal miners in England draw $25 a week. American coal miners get $52 a week and they earn it. Don't let anybody tell you that American workers are super-men who hit harder and work more hours a day, because it's not true. Don't let anybody tell you that coal veins in the western hemisphere are richer and better and easier to work, because that's not true either.

Modern Machinery
In America miners use power cutters. Automatic loaders put the coal in cars and electric locomotives pull them away. In England men dig coal out with picks and pitch it in cars with shovels. The power that pulls the car to daylight is a scrub mule with a rag over his eyes. That's how they used to mine coal in America when grandpa was a boy.

Getting a ton of English coal to the top of the ground costs $4.20 for labor alone; $1.40 in America. The manpower shortage, incidental to war, ran the price of British coal to $6 to a ton—twice its pre-war price. American coal advanced only 60¢ a ton. Hand work is what commands the premium when men are scarce. This economic fact has worked a hardship on the English.

Food and Clothing
England does not raise enough food for her people, nor enough fibre to clothe them. Such necessities are imported by the shipload. In a practical sense, they are bought with coal. Plain to see, with coal costs doubled, things to eat and wear became very dear in England. People blamed the war, of course, but the real trouble was lack of modern coal mining machinery.

With a nation so dependent on coal, why didn't the mine owners equip their properties with modern machinery, get out more coal per man and pay better wages? Answer: Government interference! Tax laws discouraged replacing old machinery. Regulations placed a penalty on efficient methods. The results were three: High prices, low wages, and a ruined export trade.

Might Have Been
Workers in British mines blamed the mine owners. The squeeze that pinched their wages to half the American scale was a political vice. Government regulations and taxes retarded production and choked prosperity. This was so craftily hid from the workers that they shouted loud for nationalization—government ownership. It will come now, with Churchill out and Attlee in.

With most admirable fortitude the English came through denials abuse to victory. Peace might have brought England prosperity; ability to pay her 12 billion dollars of war debts. With business men free to compete and produce, earn profits and raise wages, it might have been. But socializing all industry will start a long detour off the road to a better England.

Grubs Cause Heavy Losses to Farmers

Cattle grubs collect a big toll in money from Texas farmers yearly. Grubs also take a heavy toll indirectly from non-farm people. This is in the form of meat which the grubs make unfit for eating. F. W. Martin, County Agent of Haskell County, estimates that grubs levy a tax of about five million dollars a year upon Texas cattle growers.

Here's the way he figures it. About 840 thousand of the two million Texas cattle slaughtered yearly are grubby, and these animals are discounted an average of nearly four dollars each. This is the human item of loss. But the remainder of the five million is in damaged hides, a reduction of twenty-five per cent in milk flow, and greater expense in feeding stock infested by grubs.

And here's what the parasites take from folks who eat the meat: An average of two pounds per infested animal is destroyed. Martin estimates that this would be sufficient for the meat ration of forty-six hundred persons. And the leather lost because of damage by the grubs is sufficient to make about one million pairs of shoes. The money represented in the loss of meat and hides falls upon the cattle producers, but during meat and shoe rationing the consumer also has a large interest in the problem of controlling the parasites.

Martin says that rotenone and sulphur is the most effective treatment for grubs. This mixture may be applied as a dust or spray, and as a dip when both grubs and lice are to be controlled. The time that the first treatment for control of grubs should be given varies according to section of the state. Generally, Martin says, it should be made in the southern half not later than October twentieth. In the east and northeast sections November fifteenth to December fifteenth is the most desirable period, and October twentieth to December first in the Panhandle and West Texas.

For more complete information see your county agricultural agent or write to Paul Gregg, Extension Entomologist, College Station, Texas.

Automatic Weapon Owners Warned

If a friend or relative in the armed services has sent home automatic firearms, such as machine guns or sub-machine guns, as souvenirs, it must be registered with the commissioner of internal revenue, an investigator for the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue Dallas, advised Monday on a visit to Haskell.

Under provisions of the National Firearms Act, it is mandatory that automatic firearms from which a number of shots or bullets may be discharged with one continuous pull of the trigger be registered with the bureau of internal revenue, and Haskell County persons having such weapons in their possession should get in touch with the Texas investigator in charge, alcohol tax unit, post office box 5566, Dallas.

On request, all details of the provisions of the National Firearms Act and forms for registration of firearms will be furnished. The National Firearms Act provides a fine not to exceed $100 or imprisonment not to exceed one year, or both, in the event a person is convicted of a violation of any provision of the act, and transfer of this type of weapon without payment of transfer tax.

RUPTURE SHIELD EXPERT HERE

H. M. Shevnan, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Windsor Hotel, Abilene, Saturday only, Nov. 3, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Mr. Shevnan says: The Zoetic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly no matter the size or location but it will increase the circulation, strengthen the weakened parts, and thereby close the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.

Mr. Shevnan will be glad to demonstrate without charge. 6508 N. Artesian Ave., Chicago, 45. Large incisional hernia or rupture following surgical operation especially solicited.

Fill Your Tires ONCE and Forget Them — Get Goodyear

"Solution 100"

Filling tubes of your tractor and implement tires with Solution 100 means filling them with 100% water or calcium chloride solution.

This is done with a new Goodyear patented pump sucks ALL the air out of your tires and fills them COMPLETELY with liquid.

With Solution 100 you never need check tire pressure. Liquid cannot escape, as air does. Your pressure stays constant.

This constant pressure saves your tires; you get no pressure break failures; you ride much easier.

Moreover, the added weight of 100% filling means traction. For example, when you fill a 10-38 size tractor tube with Solution 100 you add 415 pounds to the weight of the tire. It works this way—for every 5¢ you spend on filling, you increase your drawbar pull one pound.

Solution 100 gives you advantages not only on tires, but also for farm implement tires.

See us right away for a "fill" of Solution 100.

During Planning Stage

is the time to decide on house heating

Building a new home or bringing an old one up to date with a remodeling job requires many decisions in the planning stage. Probably none is more important than deciding on the method of heating the house since heat is so essential to comfort and health.

Whether you decide to heat your new home with floor furnaces, circulating heaters, gassteam radiators or a combination of these, or with a central furnace, the location of the equipment should be determined during the planning stage of the house so the necessary flues for venting the equipment can be shown in specifications and on plans.

The new gas heating equipment for venting to a flue will be coming off production lines in substantial quantities by January. So there is time to carefully plan with your architect or builder the heating of your new home. It is most important to plan heat as part of house if sought-after natural gas heat is to be enjoyed at its best.

 In money World War I cost us twenty-six billion dollars ($26,000,000,000). Total expenditures for World War II, including the money spent on national defense just prior to the war, will exceed three hundred and forty billion dollars. The amount of money being recovered now as a result of the end of this war is twice as much as the cost of World War I. And these figures do not take into account the greatest cost, the cost in human life.

Recently a visitor from Lub-bock told me that he planned to attend the Sunday morning service at a certain Washington church. I cautioned him to arrive at the church by ten-thirty or be prob-ably could not get a seat. He later reported that he followed my instructions, but was only able to get standing room in the rear of the church. The minister of this church began last Sunday a sys-tem whereby he will conduct two identical services on Sunday morn-ings, one at nine o'clock and one at eleven. This practice is al-ready being followed by a few other churches in the city. There are many churches in the city where people have difficulty in getting seats at the eleven o'clock hour.

But unfortunately the people of Washington are not breaking any records for church attendance. Only eighty thousand out of a pop-ulation of well over one million in metropolitan Washington attend church on Sunday. According to a report recently made, twenty-

RED CROSS HOME NURSING ARE YOU AS SMART AS YOUR BABY?

WHEN YOUR BABY CRIES do you fly into a panic, wring your hands and wonder, "Oh dear, what can the matter be?" Try giving him a bottle of water if he cries between feeding times. He might only be thirsty. Or loosen his clothing so that he can move freely. Your baby's cries are not always a sign of serious trouble. He just wants to tell you that he needs attention.

WHEN JACK REFUSES HIS CARROTS do you angrily force him to eat them or threaten, "I'll take you to the doctor unless you do?" A wise mother would substitute another food of equal value or gradually teach him to like carrots by feeding them to him in small amounts. Young children have taste likes and dislikes just as adults do. And never instill fear of the doctor in a child's mind with threats.

RED CROSS HOME NURSING teaches you how to care for yourself before the baby is born and how to care for him during the pre-school years. You also learn what precautions will prevent illness in your family and how to be of assistance to your doctor when illness does occur.

If there is no home nursing course offered at present in your community, ask your Red Cross chapter how you may help organize one.

Velma Alice Ballard Is Pledge at TSCW

Denton, Texas.—As pledges to the 11 literary and social clubs on the Texas State College for Women campus, 269 students have ended the informal initiation period and are now considered active members. Miss Velma Alice Ballard of Haskell is included in this group.

Chores imposed on the lowly pledges during the initiation period included the usual "maid service" for old members, carrying loaded suitcases to classes, counting all the steps on the campus while holding an egg in a spoon, and obtaining faculty autographs.

Purpose of these clubs is to stimulate interest in literature, art, or music, promote social activities for members, and encourage the achievement of high scholastic standing.

Miss Ballard, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Thomas L. Ballard, is a member of the James H. Lowry Club.

Farewell From A Publisher

It happened nearly thirty years ago. The date was May 1, 1916. That was the date we came to Haskell as owner and publisher of The Free Press.

We found the citizens here were wide-awake, progressive and interested in the welfare of their city. And today, nearly thirty years later, we find the same kind of citizens here. The people of this city have shown they are ready to back their community. You have lived through hard times and good. You have shown the fortitude and the courage that are so necessary in building a progressive community and in keeping it going through years of hardship.

As publisher of The Free Press since that day back in 1916, we owe you a debt for accepting us as a part of the community and permitting us the privilege of working and living with you.

No place but Haskell can ever again be home to us. We are glad to call it our home. We do not think there are any finer people than you are and we are thankful that we have had the opportunity of being a citizen of this city. We will always have many fond memories of the pleasant cooperation you have given us.

A newspaper may be much worse than the community that supports it, but it can hardly be any better. We are thankful to you that we have been able to attain a measure of success.

Whatever contribution we have made to this community, we have done so gladly and with the humble thanks and knowledge that you have made it possible for The Free Press to be one of the institutions of Haskell.

We hope you can believe we are sincere when we say it is with a great deal of regret that we leave the management of The Free Press, a regret that is born of our association with the citizens of Haskell. We feel a sense of gratitude that we can never forget.

We do not feel that these words are an adequate tribute to you, because we do not know how to pay the proper tribute. In continuing to make our home in Haskell, we want to make the best citizen that we know how to make. We will be as interested in the welfare of Haskell in the future as we have been in the past.

To our friends who have stood by us during our years as publisher, we offer a sincere and simple "thank you."

-SAM A. ROBERTS.

A Memorable Birthday

Back in 1775, on October 27, this government launched the tiny fighting ships as the first step in inaugurating the principle of Freedom of the Seas. Thus was born the United States Navy, the greatest force in seeing that such freedom has been preserved down through the years.

Since its inception, the Navy of this nation has written many a bold saga in defending our shores and protecting the rights of free men throughout the world. The story of the Navy is a striking parallel to the story of America, particularly in more recent history. From the time John Paul Jones made his famous declaration, the Navy of the United States has asked no quarter and given none. Every school boy knows of the heroic Old Ironsides and the Constitution.

There is no story more dramatic than that dealing with our Navy from December 7, 1941, to the day humbled Nimitz bowed low and signed the surrender document aboard the mighty Battleship Missouri. A great power even when the war started, the Navy became more than a match for the rest of the world's navies. The mightiest seaborne force ever conceived, it stands today as a tribute to its millions of fighting men, its doughty commanders and the other millions of workers and engineers who planned and built it.

The place of our Navy will hold forever a proud place in world's history, a place of brilliance that adds much to the story of the fight against tyranny and the fight for liberty. The American people seem particularly suited to plan and operate a great Navy, and the leaders of this nation have exploited that advantage to the fullest. Texan Chester W. Nimitz, brilliant strategist, made possible the great teamwork such as that used by Task Force 58 which sought out and utterly destroyed the Jap navy.

It is a proud Navy that stands now as guardian over our rights, and a thankful America that observes its 170th birthday.

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Newspaper Union

Lesson for October 28

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education, used by permission.

TEMPERANCE BEGINS AT HOME

LESSON TEXT—II Timothy 1:1-5: 3: 14-17; Titus 2:1-4, 11, 12.
GOLDEN TEXT—As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.—Joshua 24:15.

The influence of the home on the character of a child is the strongest factor in the development of high and holy standards in the life of the man and woman. "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it" (Prov. 22:6).

Emphasis is placed on temperance in our lesson, and it is clear that in the home real temperance principles may be built into the thinking of boys and girls. It is not easy for a young person who has been brought up right on this matter to go astray, no matter how severe the temptation.

I. Our Family Is God's Gift (II Tim. 1:1-5).

Paul, the apostle of Christ, addressed his son in the faith, Timothy, with affection and appreciation. He knew the good which was in this fine young man and saw the possibilities for service for God.

He knew that as the background of that faith, there was a godly line of ancestors, those with an "unfeigned faith." This young man, so precious to Paul and so successful in the ministry, owed a deep and abiding debt of gratitude to these godly women who had directed his steps aright, who had instructed and encouraged him in the right way.

Let those who are young recognize parents and grandparents who admonish and instruct them as God's gift. Let them not regard them as those who would restrict or restrain them unduly, but who for their own good and the glory of the Lord teach them the way to God.

II. Our Faith in God's Guidance (II Tim. 1:6; 3:14, 15).

The gift of God for preaching which Timothy had for preaching by the church, and he was sent forth to proclaim the gospel. But alas! the burdens of life and the pressure of service cause a man to forget or neglect his calling so there comes often the need of stirring up the gift of the Lord.

God gave it. He will bless us as we use it to its fullest possible extent. He wants us too, to stir it up—this blessed, divine gift and calling.

The admonition (v. 14) is to "continue" in that which was learned, to remain true to the Word of God. We show our faith in His guiding hand, as we resist by His grace, the ever-present temptation to get away from the only true foundation of a life of usefulness and joy.

What we have learned as children we should hold fast in spite of all the devices of Satan and every weakness of the flesh. Stand fast in the faith!

III. Our Fellowship in God's Gospel (Titus 2:1-4).

Old and young are to be united in a great communion of believers proclaiming the gospel of God's grace by a living testimony, by a life devoted to the things of God.

Sound doctrine is the only source of sound living. To be "sound" means to be healthy, vigorous, free from defects, suited to a purpose. That means that everyday Christian living must express the vigorous soundness of the gospel.

Men and women are to be "temperate," not given to excess, and particularly in mind here is the use of intoxicants. To be temperate in such a way and land as ours can mean only one thing, and that is to abstain altogether. Christians ought to keep entirely away from intoxicants, and that includes beer and wine.

There is a positive side to the admonition, for soundness of life and faith shows itself in holy living, love, patience, the teaching of God's Word, and in fine fellowship among the people of God. We need to stress that side of the teaching of this passage.

IV. Our Faithfulness by God's Grace (vv. 11, 12).

God's grace has brought salvation to man through Jesus Christ and His atoning death on the cross. That grace calls for and calls forth from the believer a renouncing of that which is ungodly and lustful (and you can put intoxicants right in there!) and a determination to live right in faithful devotion to God.

That brings about right relationships to self, to others, and to God. The Christian is sober and self-controlled as to anything which could "intoxicate" him, whether it be liquor, or lust, or pride, or any other such thing. He also shows that grace of God before men in a life of righteousness. Then he finds his true place in a reverent devotion to God which makes him a worshiper "in spirit and in truth; for the Father seeketh such to worship him" (John 4:23).

Faithfulness to our Lord will count more than our words in the great battle against intemperance. Let us stand true to Him.

RED CROSS HOME NURSING

WHAT'S YOUR BEDSIDE MANNER?

THIS IS GRANDPA, CROSS AND GROUCHY, confined to bed with chronic arthritis. His arms are cold so you bundle heavy blankets around his shoulders and then wonder why he complains, "The pain in my joints is worse." His feet are cold so you tuck a hot water bottle, filled to the top with scalding water, next to them and his thanks is, "Are you trying to burn me to death?" So in desperation you turn to...

RED CROSS HOME NURSING where you learn the easy way to care for bedridden patients—how to arrange equipment to save yourself steps—how to prevent bedsores—how to bathe, feed, and comfort an impatient patient. And now...

THIS IS GRANDPA, COMFORTABLE AND HAPPY, even though he is still in bed with arthritis. A lightweight bed jacket gives him warmth without weight. A hot water bottle wrapped in towels keeps his feet warm. And he puffs contentedly on his pipe with your full approval because you understand that clinging to a favorite habit is more important to Grandpa's happiness than a clean, but empty, ashtray.

If there is no home nursing course offered at present in your community, ask your Red Cross chapter how you may help organize one.

He has on display at the bank a stalk of peanuts that he raised this year. The stalk is an extra fine specimen and is well loaded with nuts.

VISITS PARENTS HERE

her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. V.
Robertson.

We have been repairing radios in Haskell since 1928 and have built a new building where we have an up-to-date service department.

We have added an extra service man, Walter Hadley, who has the advantage of the most modern radio repair methods which he learned while serving with the United States Navy. He is now ready to give you the advantage of his knowledge.

We will always do our best to keep your radio working. We intend to be servicing radios when your set plays out again. We have a fine location and are not looking for a better place to move to.

We gave you the best service we knew how to render during the war period, considering the shortage of labor, tubes and parts. We kept our prices down and refused to repair your radio with improper parts. The result is that these radios will still give good service.

We had every advantage of the customer during the war as we had no competition. Our policy was and still is to treat our customers as we would like to be treated.

New Radios, Washers, Refrigerators, Irons,
Electric Mixers, Electric and Gas Ranges, Food
Lockers, Oil and Gas Heaters and small appliances will soon be coming in. We will have the leading brands in this merchandise and will be here when they need servicing.

Suggests Canning Culled Hens

Haskell County farm women who are culling old hens from their flocks will find a ready market for these birds if they are placed for sale as dressed or canned hens. Supply of dressed or canned hens has never equaled consumer demand in most sections of Texas, and poultry products "standardized" under the Extension Service requirements always find a ready market, says Myrtle Murray, home industries specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. Many consumers buy canned chicken to send overseas, Miss Murray states, and old hens are good for canning because they do not overcook. A standardized product bears the 4-H Label, which is identified in marketing circles with high quality products. In order to get hens "standardized", the seller must have her county home demonstration agent score method of killing, bleeding, dressing and wrapping. In the case of canned chicken the agent must check recipe and method used in canning. (Other considerations, such as cleanliness of the seller and her kitchen and work area, also enter into the score as well as the product itself.) The agent will then score the product and methods used and if it scores 90 or above, the product then may be submitted to an Extension Service headquarters specialist for her scoring. A sample of dressed chicken will be scored by the food preparation specialist, who will check it in the seller's home if the product is perishable. The food preservation specialist will score canned chicken, if two cans of each kind are sent to her. Only after the food specialist has approved the product as standardized and Miss Murray has sent a statement to that effect to the demonstrator or seller, the county home demonstration agent, and the distributing agency, can the product bear the 4-H Label.

When a consumer sees a 4-H Label on a dressed hen or canned chicken—or any other product—she knows it meets the Extension Service standardization requirements and that she is getting a high quality product.

Liberalism

Back in America's colonial days before the Revolutionary war when everybody was underprivileged, there were only three freedoms. Everybody had a right to work hard, save as much as he could of his earnings and use his head as profitably as possible in business. If you have a taste for long words you might call the three freedoms industry, frugality and ingenuity. Politics in those days were all of rich-man vs. poor-man problems, same as now. They were, to be sure, better decorated with pretty English but the issues were about the same: What will we have to work with? If we do well, how much can we keep, and how much will be taken by the government? Government in those days was the English king, of course.

Lovers of Freedom

People who thought the king ought to show more liberality called themselves liberals. In theory the king owned the land. In reality he held a tight rein over his subjects. He taxed them plenty and his subsidized buying concern paid little enough for what they produced. A liberal, in those days, was a man who wanted government to loosen up a bit in favor of the individual. Affairs of the people were not changed very much by the Revolution. Colonies changed into states and new issues arose but still there was an over-all government. In this over-all government were people who had power—just, or else feared to trust the common people with vital decisions. Opposed to these power-hungry folk were the liberals, still plugging for personal liberty. Liberals Won Out

The liberals were right. Time has proved beyond a doubt that people act better and live better and make more progress materially and spiritually when they have more freedom. Since the United States became a first-class power in record time, the world's wealthiest and happiest people, the word "liberal" has been popular here. A liberal, to us, is one who wants the individual to be free.

Through the same historic periods America has had reactionaries. They were the people, in colonial days, who wanted the king to rule them. After the Revolution, the same element wanted an iron-rail rule in Washington—something like a dictator. Small wonder that reactionaries have always been unpopular in America, people who howl against the system and try to grab power for themselves.

Try to Swap Labels

Reactionaries in America today are smart. They have learned one lesson well. They are very sure of one thing: they have a bad name. They know also that the word "liberal" is an asset. Accordingly they have adopted the term "liberalism" and call themselves liberals. This is the very same political element that supports more government rules and less liberty for individuals.

By the same strategy, this political element has begun to call people reactionaries who hold precisely to the liberal teachings of Thomas Jefferson. Don't let anybody tell you that government control of everything, and the destruction of individual freedom and opportunity, is the liberalism that Americans think so highly of—nor that it is liberalism at all. It is a counterfeit road sign designed to misdirect American thinking away from the ways of freedom.
