Recently the story was told of a modern child who, when asked to offer thanks at the dinner table, said "This food comes to you through the courtesy of God Almighty. Amen." Which seems to us a pretty good expression of the child's belief.

VA Representatives Help Veterans With Varied Problems

There are approximately 200-300 veterans in West Texas. Last month, 150,000 of them asked the Veterans administration some form of question concerning their rights and benefits as veterans. They wanted to know about National Service Life Insurance, education or training-on-the-job benefits, hospitalization and medical care, loan guarantee or disability compensation claims. These are the benefits about which most questions are asked.

Oessa, Big Spring, San Angelo, Abilene, Lubbock and Amarillo. Contact men are later to be stationed at Childress and Burger. Collinsworth, a World War II veteran and former contact representative, has the responsibility of training and supervising the men who provide the answers to the 864 questions. His job is administrative, though he gets his greatest pleasure from visits to the contact units where he rubs shoulders with the many veterans who pour in with their varied questions. Collinsworth is a native West Texan and knows and appreciates the West Texas veteran. He is a former resident of Rotan and Abilene.

"Ours is a highly personalized service to the veteran or his dependents. The contact representative is his source of relationship with the veterans administration. Instead of the veteran having to go to each of the eleven divisions of the VA Regional office to receive whatever information he may wish, or whatever benefit he may be entitled to, he may consult the contact office nearest his home," Collinsworth explained.

George A. Sesums is the assistant contact officer in the regional office. He is a veteran of World War I and prior to his present assignment was VA contact representative for Lubbock and surrounding fifteen counties. He is widely known in this area and highly respected for the service he has rendered the many veterans who have come to him with their problems. "I have been asked every question from 'how can I get another discharge button' to 'how can I buy a farm.' Since becoming assistant contact officer, I miss the personal touch with the veteran which a contact representative may enjoy," Sesums said.

The contact representative is not only a source of information for the veteran, but he is a source of actual help in preparing necessary forms, and applications, and in securing the necessary certificates, and documents the veteran will need in order to receive his benefits from the VA. In many cases he fills out the forms for the veteran. All interviews are private and confidential. The first purpose of the representative is to put the veteran at ease and to assure him of his genuine interest to be of service.

The veteran's problem may be simple, it may be complicated. In any case the contact representative knows how to apply his specialized knowledge in the best way suited to the needs of the veteran who has come to him for an intelligent and workable solution to a problem that is all important to him.

The career of a contact representative is one which combines the professional techniques which may be compared with those of a lawyer practicing before the bar, and the human understanding and skill in counseling and helpfulness which are expressed by a social worker.

He knows exactly what he is talking about when offering advice and assistance to a claimant. He knows the extent, meaning and application of the laws that have been passed by Congress in the interest of veterans and their dependents. He has the knowledge and common sense to interpret these laws, together with regulations made by the VA, into understandable language for the veteran.

Knowing that many veterans come to the VA poorly informed about the extent of their rights and benefits, he proceeds on the assumption that it is his job to see that the veteran does not miss out on some particular benefit just because he did not remember it, or because he was too confused to ask about it.

The greatest reward the contact representative can earn is the knowledge that because of his individual effort a veteran who so richly deserved help, received that help, courteously, accurately and completely.

But the services of the VA contact man does not end in his office. Surrounding towns are visited on an itinerant basis. The VA contact man to the veteran or his dependents who live in surrounding

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui, many women say, has brought relief from the cramp-like aches and nervous strains of functional periodic distress. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, and thus help build resistance for the "time" to come. Started 3 days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. Try it!

Haskell Soldier On Holiday Cruise In Tokyo Bay

At 7:30 Saturday morning, August 10th, the enlisted men of Legal Section, including the Australian and British Divisions, went aboard two stateside buses and were off for the day. Capt. Martin L. Gross, of the Investigation Division, was the officer in charge and it was through his planning and efforts that the trip was possible. Captain Gross also celebrated his 41st birthday.

Haskell soldier in the group observing the holiday was Mart G. C. Middleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Middleton.

It was "All Aboard" as they boarded the FP-47, now known as the "Off Hours" at South Pier in Yokohama, for an old-fashioned picnic and boat ride on Tokyo Bay. At 9:30 the "Off Hours" pulled out into Tokyo Bay, passing the newly docked passenger liner "Monterey."

The FP-47 left the United States in 1943 for Australia to act as a communications and Public Relations vessel. The ship participated in several major campaigns and saw action from Australia to Manila. It is credited with downing two Japanese planes in the Northern Philippine Campaign.

Upon arrival at Yokohama, it was turned into a recreational ship sponsored by Yokohama Base Special Service. A record player complete with records is on the ship available for use by any group making a cruise.

The refreshments taken along on the cruise were the usual picnic style, with plenty of cold coke.

A piano was taken aboard by an advance detail, along with the refreshments. A guitar was also taken for group singing and an amateur contest which was held in the afternoon on the return trip up the Bay. Winners of the amateur contest were: 1st prize, a silver cigarette case, was won by Sgt. Cliff Hill, a member of the Australian Liason Division; 2nd prize, a set of 6 lacquer plates, was T-4 Samuel Ua, Administration Division; and the winner of 3rd prize, four silk handkerchiefs, was Cpl. Phil McMahon, also of the Australian Division.

Group singing which lasted almost the entire trip was led by S-Sgt. William C. Fowler, at the piano, and Captain Gross on the vocal.

During the course of the trip, which covered about 300 miles of the Japanese coast, a Japanese aircraft carrier loaded with people was passed. The cruise came to an end at about 11:30, as the "Off Hours" docked at South Pier. Dressed and unbundled, the men clambered onto the dock and into the waiting buses, ready to call it a successful operation.

Uncle Sam Says

All of us are familiar with quizzes about this and that. Let's take this question: What is the strongest, economic family asset in America? Millions of you could win the jackpot prize for the correct answer. U. S. Savings Bonds, of course. Ownership of U. S. Savings Bonds is now part and parcel of our American way of life because Americans know that Savings Bonds help to build a better, firmer future. Americans know that they yield a good profit at no risk at all to the principal.

ACC Wildcats Vs. Oklahoma Tech On Grid Dish Sept. 14

When Abilene Christian College fields its first Texas Conference football team in four years Saturday night at Abilene against Oklahoma Tech, followers of the purple and white will notice there have been some changes made.

First, they'll see the T formation in action for the first time under the Wildcat banner. Coach A. M. "Tonto" Coleman is considered by those in the know as being one of the best of the T addicts. While scouting for the Randolph Field team during the war, he saw most of the major teams in the country on the field using every brand and variation of standard formations, and became convinced the T was the thing.

Second, the Wildcat rosters will see a team of men on the field instead of college boys. Average age of the probable starting lineup is 23 1/2 years; average weight of the probable lineup is 182 pounds. Of the ten lettermen that have returned to ACC, all of them likely will see action during the game. The returning lettermen are Joe Akins, Sweetwater, line; James Alexander, Pioneer, line; Bert Brewer, Eden, back; Buster Dixon, Ennis, back; Charles Floyd, McAlester, Okla., line; J. E. Mullins, Olney, back; Gladstone McLennan, Leuders, line; Willard Paine, Merkel, line; and Dick Stovall, Abilene, line.

Hall of State Seeks County Histories

DALLAS, Sept. 10 (Spl.)—The Texana Reference Library in the Hall of State, Dallas, wants materials on the History of Haskell County, and officials of Dallas Historical Society are appealing to citizens of the county to help locate the needed items.

Placing them in this great shrine of Texas History for the use of the public, will not only be a permanent memorial to the donors, but a genuine service to those seeking accurate information about the county."

Information regarding available county materials should be addressed to the Director, Hall of State, Fair Park, Dallas 1.

THE MEMORIAL BUILDING

Plans have been put into operation by Haskell County Veterans to add final funds needed to erect an American Legion Memorial Building in Haskell. The building would be built as a memorial to the hundreds of Haskell County sons who gave their lives in World Wars I and II, and dedicated to serve as a county-wide gathering place not only for veterans but for any worthy group.

Fitting tribute to the sacrifices made by veterans who gave their lives for the American way of life in the world wars cannot be made. Their deeds of valor call upon the best there is in Haskell County people to preserve the peace won on battlefields around the world. A building seems an almost empty token of appreciation for the spirit of self-sacrifice manifest by those who did not come back. Yet, a building dedicated to their memory would be a hallowed place to plan activities and programs that characterize the democracy for which they died. And it would be more than a shrine—for it is to be dedicated to service in promulgating the principles which make this country American. It is to be open to any cause which is for the good of humanity.

Haskell County folks have not established a concrete example of their appreciation for the men who left loved ones and homes and businesses and all that was dear to them to defend their beliefs in freedom. They cannot put into things that can be seen their fullest feeling. But the men and women who did come back have conceived a memorial building worthy of the support of every boy and girl, man and woman of this area. The veterans have given liberally of their time, talents and money to plan the project so that it would be a fitting remembrance. How can the general public keep faith with those who served—both living and dead—better than by pledging whole-hearted support in seeing the American Legion Memorial Building a completed project?

A CALL FOR NURSES

The hospitals of Texas are facing a crisis more serious than any in recent years. Already 23 per cent of the nation's beds are closed and undoubtedly this figure will be larger because of the alarming shortage of nurses. Inadequately-staffed hospitals constitute a serious menace to the health of every community in the state. And particularly at a time when many diseases have grown to epidemic proportions because of the population increase during the war.

Although educational, recreational and living facilities currently are the best in the history of the profession, student nurse enrollment in the 37 accredited schools of nursing throughout the state declined to 1,137 during 1945, and now has dropped to the pitiful figure of 300 for this year. The fall term, scheduled to open September 1, has been re-set to September 15, and to October 1, in some instances, in an attempt to help this situation. A great number of young high school graduates in Texas are not yet aware of the opportunity for an education and for giving service while obtaining this education.

Joined together are the Texas Hospital Association, the State Medical Association, the Texas Graduate Nurses Association, the Texas State Board of Nurse Examiners, and the State Organization for Public Health Nursing, all of whom are vitally interested and concerned, in pointing out the need for enrollment of all interested young people in this worthy and humanitarian profession.

It is of utmost importance to this community and the state as a whole to see that adequate health standards and care of the sick is maintained.

It is the old lesson—a worthy purpose, patient energy for its accomplishment, a resoluteness undaunted by difficulties, and then success.—Punshon.

Hold the Line
The Office of Price Administration died officially on June 30, 1946. Before it had been inoperative ten days, everybody whose life and work were affected by it knew the nation had sustained no serious loss. Calamities that were supposed to fall upon the consumers of America did not happen. Some prices rose a little; others fell. The law of supply and demand was still working. It had not been on vacation.
In the building industries, among real estate and lumber people, timid home seekers had predicted the wildest of run-away prices because of the unprecedented housing demand. Everything necessary to make prices sky-rocket was present, but the crepe-hangers were disappointed. Industrial leaders went into huddles and resolved for moderation, regardless of pressure from eager buyers.
Returned to Life
The dead bureau was resurrected on July 25 by political pressure. One powerful factor was the influence of thousands of bureaucrats whose easy jobs were all but lost. Lane and weakened by legislative modifications, the OPA lives and has certain functions. But those 25 inactive days proved something: The longer we lived without the OPA the more useless it appeared.
Individuals who want to stay in government, whether they serve any useful purpose there or not, may be expected to keep on trying, during the next few months, to justify a supposed necessity for government price-fixing. In reality, increasing production may be depended upon to hold most prices down. Prices of some things will advance in spite of anything the OPA can do.
Look for Advances
In subsidized industries, where sharp advances were expected at first, operators are using moderation in making upward revisions. While industrial leaders "hold the price line," channels of trade are filling up steadily with new production and growing stocks hold prices down. Meat is only an example. Livestock hurries to market. Steaks and chops are on the menu again.
There will be exceptions! It is likely that the human race will never be free from opportunists ready to profiteer when there are no restraints and crafty enough to run black markets when restrictions are in force. Maybe there actually was an unhappy couple in California on July 2, whose sandwiches advanced in price from 15c to 40c while they were being toasted. Anyway it was a good story.

Mulch for Flowers Advised by Specialist

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 10—Mulch material will protect the roots of flowers and other landscape plants, and enriches the soil when it decays.
According to Sadie Hatfield, specialist in landscape gardening of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, the best mulch for flowers is the decayed material found around oat, wheat and hay stacks or near feed grinders and trench silos. Leaves in ditches and under trees also make good mulch.
In applying the mulch, it should be spread six to eight inches deep, Miss Hatfield says. When that has settled to as low as a two-inch thickness, more should be added.
Many flowers that were killed by heat in August may be replanted in September. In the colder parts of the state, only hardy plants like the hollyhock

We, the American people, are heirs of a dearly bought liberty. We have an opportunity to prove that we are worthy to inherit it. We can do this by a fair approach to every price problem. Whether we are manufacturers, marketers, or consumers, we have a part to play. We do not need anyone to play the role of dictator. Truly no price was ever fixed successfully by statutory law. Consumers can keep prices right by shunning racketeers who play their customers for suckers, by patronizing merchants who appreciate their confidence and by refusing to buy unnecessary things. We should be slow to retaliate against price rises that are needful. If workers, especially, will let growing production adjust prices before calling for higher wages, it will go far toward hastening recovery for everybody.

We really got the most good from the school of experience. We didn't get a sheepskin; just had ours removed. The class yell was "ouch."

PEOPLE
 Mrs. W. J. Adams and family returned last week from a trip to Arkansas. The family includes the children, Mrs. Adams, and Mrs. Adams.

Administration to
 Veterans in education of the changes in allowances necessitated by the changes were emphasized.

Disability
 Public Law 346, which provides for the payment of a minimum net income of $100 a month during the period of his entitlement.

Q. I have had no farm experience, but I believe I could learn quickly to operate a farm successfully. Is there any way I can get training under the GI Bill so that I could later qualify as a good risk with a lender?
 A. Under both Public Laws 16 (vocational rehabilitation) and 346 (GI Bill) eligible veterans are entitled to both on-the-farm training and institutional education which give them a practical and a scientific knowledge of agriculture.

Q. I obtain a real estate loan to purchase a farm and it is guaranteed by VA, may I also obtain a VA guarantee on a loan to purchase machinery, livestock, seed and other farm equipment?
 A. Yes, you may obtain a combination of real estate and non-real estate loans. However, the percentage of the guarantee maximum used by a veteran in obtaining one type of loan reduces by that percentage, his entitlement to guarantee of another type loan. For example, if a veteran obtains a farm real estate loan guarantee of $2,000, his non-real estate guarantee maximum would be $1,000.

Q. I am planning on going into business for myself with the aid of a GI loan, but I don't intend to make this move for another 3 or 4 years. Will it be too late for me to apply for a government loan then?
 A. No. The time limit for loan applications is now ten years after your separation from the service or ten years after the end of the war, whichever is the later date.

Club Women Have Money-Saving Hobby

A money-saving hobby has become popular with home demonstration club women and other rural homemakers in Haskell County within the past year in the making of candlewick bedspreads.

A tufted spread can be made of new material for approximately four dollars and those made on bleached food sacks cost even less. Some spreads have been made for as little as one dollar.

Members of the Blue Bonnet Home Demonstration Club have ordered more tufting yarn for making bedspreads than any other group in the county after Mrs. Tom Rowan brought some of her spreads to a club meeting. Mrs. Rowan is now completing a tufted house coat.

Several candlewick spreads have been made by members of the O'Brien Home Demonstration Club at their all day meetings and other clubs have invited non-club members to visit their demonstrations on making spreads.

As the tufting yarn used in making the spreads is becoming more plentiful, some are making throw rugs and bath mats from the yarn. Mrs. Jim Perrin and Mrs. Woodrow Perrin of the Jasselet Club have completed tufted housecoats.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Adams and family returned last week from a several days visit in Fayette, Ark., with Mr. Adams' father, J. Q. Adams and other relatives and friends.

That Ladd With the Gun

Alan Ladd never lived so desperately, never loved so dangerously as he does in his new Paramount adventure, "O.S.S." showing Sunday and Monday at the Texas Theatre. The thrill-film co-stars Ladd with lively Geraldine Fitzgerald and features Patric Knowles and stage star John Hoyt.

W.M.U. Installs New Officers

Members of the First Baptist W. M. U. met in the church annex Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The president, Mrs. Hugh Watson, presided for the program, which was opened by singing "Throw Out the Lifeline." Prayer was offered by Mrs. B. M. Whiteker.

Mrs. John Tinkle led the devotional, using scripture quotations which threw light on the Good Neighbor policy, which was the theme for the afternoon program.

Mrs. R. C. Couch, Jr., in her talk made clear the intent and purpose of our Good Neighbor policy, concerning the people of Latin America, saying the movement was first started in 1848. The religion of these countries, predominantly Catholic, forms a barrier in many instances and prevents the plan working to the best advantage. Special prayer was offered by Mrs. H. R. Whately that these people might come to know the true religion and put aside the fetters that bind. "I Love To Tell the Story" was sung.

Mrs. B. M. Whiteker conducted the installation service for new officers, as follows: President, Mrs. Ed Fouts; Vice Presidents and Circle Leaders, Mesdames Jno. Tinkle, Jno. E. Robison, Jno. A. Adams and R. C. Couch, Jr.; Recording Secretary, Mrs. B. C. Couch; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. I. N. Simmons; Treasurer, Mrs. E. L. Turner; Counselors, Mesdames H. R. Whately, Jno. E. Robison, W. M. Woodson and Thomas E. Roberson; and the Standing Committee Chairmen: Benevolence, Mrs. John Ellis; Bible, Mrs. R. P. Glenn; Education, Mrs. F. W. Martin; Publicity, Mrs. B. M. Whiteker; Stewardship, Mrs. Ed Cass; Community Mission, Mrs. Jess Josselot; Missions, Mrs. Thurman Bynum; Mission Study, Mrs. R. J. Reynolds; Social, Mrs. Hugh Watson; Periodicals, Mrs. Arthur Merchant; House Chairman, Mrs. John Fouts; Pianist, Mrs. Jim Fouts; and Chorister, Mrs. John Ellis. Mrs. Hugh Watson offered prayer for the group.

On behalf of the society, Mrs. R. C. Couch presented Mrs. Watson, retiring president, with a lovely gift as a token of our love and esteem. Many were outpoken in their words of commendation for her leadership the past year.

Mrs. Thomas Watson and Mrs. R. C. Couch, Jr., served iced tea, sandwiches and cookies to those present. Others present than those whose names were mentioned: Mrs. J. A. Bailey, Mrs. L. F. Taylor, Mrs. Floyd Lusk, Mrs. J. C. Whately and Mrs. Joe Maples.

Walter Burton of Arlington, outstanding poultry authority who has served as superintendent of the State Fair of Texas Poultry Show since 1913, has again been appointed to that position for the 1946 State Fair, held at Dallas October 5-20, announced Ben E. Uncle Sam Says

No farmer will question the link between this familiar September scene of filling up the silo and his United States Savings Bonds. Farmers must reckon with the future every moment of their lives. The crushed green corn stalks which they are storing away this month by tons will assure their livestock of winter feed. The Savings Bonds which they are also storing up will add to the security of their families.

Texas Boys Win

Carson Barton McLendon

TOP HONORS for Texas in the 1946 model car design competition of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild went to Jean Carson of Borger, who won the state junior award, and Charles D. McLendon, of Longview, who took senior division honors. Young Carson's model also received a regional award as the best junior in the states of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma. Because he is the son of a GMC truck dealer, Craftsman's Guild rules require a duplicate award to the next highest ranking boy for state junior honors. This was received by Dan K. Barton of McAllen, while Robert Eskridge of Little Rock, Ark., was named a junior co-regional winner. Carson and Eskridge will attend the national convention at Detroit, Mich., to compete for university scholarships. The Craftsman's Guild is an educational foundation sponsored by General Motors to encourage development of handicraft and craftsmanship among teen-age boys.

They were later taken into custody at Knox City after a filling station attendant became suspicious when one of the youths attempted to cash a fifty dollar check.
