

Youth Leader for Methodists Enters Scarritt College

Miss Lucile Hester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie B. Hester, Route 4, Merkel, Texas, has returned to Scarritt College, Nashville, Tennessee, according to the announcement from President H. C. Stuntz. Miss Hester, who previously attended McMurry College, is taking advanced training in preparation for work in religious education under the Methodist Church. She has served as a director of youth work in the Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Church, and has been very active in local church activities. Miss Hester was director of the Methodist Kindergarten here last year.

Scarritt College is a senior college and graduate school for men and women preparing for all types of Christian lay activities: missions, religious education, social work and the teaching of Bible. Scarritt offers courses in the two upper years of undergraduate work leading to the Bachelor's degree and graduate work leading to the Master's degree. Special advantages are provided for nationals and missionaries, who in turn create an international atmosphere of real educational significance. The settlements, churches and social agencies of Nashville and surrounding rural area afford opportunities for field work. The Scarritt College Rural Training Center, located on the Cumberland Mountain Plateau, makes possible internships under supervision and with academic credit.

Practically all students of Scarritt College enter the service of church and social agencies, and a large number work abroad.

State Session Works Toward Good Roads

An important step toward establishing a sound financial policy to provide for the farm-to-market roads and primary highway needs of Texas was taken in Austin Monday night when the State's road leaders launched a campaign on behalf of the Good Roads Amendment to the Constitution.

Mayor John A. Couch and C-C Secretary Ralph Duncan of Haskell were among the approximately 500 advocates of better roads for Texas who heard Governor-Nominee Beauford Jester, Lieut. Governor-Nominee Allan Shivers, Congressman O. C. Fisher, San Angelo, State Representative Neville Colson, Navasota, and John S. Redditt, Chairman of the State Highway Commission address the huge kick-off rally and urge the adoption of the Good Roads measure in the November 5th General Election. Col. Ike Ashburn, Houston, served as master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers and other outstanding personalities present.

Jester, whose campaign platform stressed more and better roads, declared, "We face a critical need for more farm-to-market roads, a need we propose to meet. The roads Texas needs cannot all be built in a day. And if they were all built today it would not be long before the normal growth of Texas and the obsolescence of our road system would require still more roads."

"We must," the Governor-Nominee asserted, "recognize the fact that road building is a continuous, never-ending operation which must be planned and financed on a long-range basis if our road system is to approach the minimum needs of a growing Texas."

Jester said that Texas cannot realize the greatest value from its road funds until revenues are stabilized and agencies can effectively plan more than a year ahead. "The Good Roads Amendment," he asserted, "has been proposed—not in the spirit of distrusting some future Legislature's motives in diverting road funds to some purpose other than roads—but rather in the spirit of trusting the people by giving them the opportunity to vote on the disposition of their own road user taxes, and to assure that the financial policies the people shall approve by their vote will not be changed without their full knowledge and consent."

Pioneer Resident Here for First Visit In Forty Years

Returning to Haskell after an absence of 40 years, two former residents found several old-time acquaintances during a brief stay here Friday. The former Haskellites were R. H. Wright, building contractor of Spur, Texas, and his sister, Mrs. Stella Lindsey of Wichita Falls. Their father, Tom Wright, was a pioneer blacksmith in Haskell. His shop was located on the present site of Thomas Bros. Service Station one block north of the square.

The Spur contractor recalled that as a youth he helped his father paint the roof of the old Haskell County courthouse shortly before they left Haskell. The present building has no resemblance to the structure he remembers, Wright declared. The old building, remodelled in 1930, had a tin roof and numerous chimneys and flues, he recalled. Another change he noted was absence of the chain fence around the courtyard, and water troughs on each corner of the square. Despite these changes, Wright was pleased with the progress made by his former home town, and as a property owner here, plans to visit Haskell more often in the future.

May we express our gratitude, to you our friends, for the many acts of kindness and sympathy extended us in our bereavement, in the loss of our husband, son and brother. Especially do we wish to thank Bill Holden and Covell Adkins for the personal services and tenderness given all funeral arrangements; also Bros. W. T. Priddy, Jordan Grooms, the T. E. L. and Fidelis Classes of the church. May God bless each of you.—Mrs. Mae Wright, Mrs. Theo E. Wright and family.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. MRS. CARROL DEAN BLEDSOE Photo By DeMa

Dale Bartlett-Carrol Dean Bledsoe Vows Said in Church Ceremony

In an impressive ceremony solemnized in First Baptist Church Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock, Helen Dale Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Bartlett, became the bride of Carrol Dean Bledsoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bledsoe.

Officiating minister was Alfred Waller, Jr., who read the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with gladioluses and fern. The church was light by 50 candles placed along the front and sides.

Jean Conner sang O Promise Me and Because preceding the ceremony and traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Wallace Cox.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of heavenly white brocaded satin, the full skirt ending in a sweeping train. The long sleeves were pointed at the wrists and the veil of white illusion was fastened to a crown of pearls and flowers. For something old she wore pearls belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. W. C. Tidwell of Abilene, and the tiara holding her veil was something new.

A lace handkerchief was something borrowed and she tucked a blue ribbon in her bridal bouquet of white orchids. For going away she wore a black brocaded taffeta suit dress with black fur hat and other accessories of black. Bridesmaids wore marquisette dresses over taffeta in blue, pink, aqua and yellow. They were Beverly Hernden of Dallas, Ruth Stanford of Tempon, Patricia Harrison and Catherine Davis. They wore pearls and headpieces of ribbon and flowers. The ring bearer and flower girl were cousins of the bride, Burline Thorneberry, daughter of Mrs. Mick Torneberry of Abilene, and Jimmy Dan Snow, son of Mrs. Margaret Snow.

The bride's mother wore a black wool suit with white and black accessories and corsage of white glads. The bridegroom's mother wore a black crepe dress with black accessories and white glads.

Immediately following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett hosted a reception at the Magazine Club. The three-tiered cake with miniature bridal couple on top was on a mirror surrounded by the bridesmaid's bouquet. The punch bowl was set in a shallow bowl of water in which rose petals were floating.

The bride is a graduate of Haskell high school and the University of Texas. She was a 1946 candidate for Sweetheart of the University and was listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities.

Sign Up Now for Poultry Culling!

As a special service to poultry raisers of this section made available by Market Poultry & Egg Co., Drs. M. L. and G. W. Sharpe will begin work in the Haskell territory in culling non-laying and diseased birds from poultry flocks this week.

This service is available to you, provided you sign up during the next few days. The cost is very small—in fact the best investment you can make to insure full production from the feeds consumed by your flock. Non-laying and diseased hens consume as much or more food than healthy birds. Get rid of them and your poultry will pay bigger dividends.

"Mother Will Do It"

A familiar phrase in almost any home is "mother will do it." Especially is that true when other members of the family want to be sure that a job is done right.

Last week at the fair that slogan paid off for at least one group. Members of the Haskell High School Band were badly in need of funds for uniforms and other expenses, so they sponsored a cold drink concession at the entrance of the exhibit building. Fair officials were happy to see so much ambition in the group of aspiring musicians, and expected to see members of the band selling "pop" and eats at a merry clip.

Well, fair goers were thirsty and hungry, and they patronized the band-sponsored cold drinks and eats stand. But band members (who, incidentally, have gained wide acclaim for themselves and their bandmaster, Elbert Fagan, as fast-improving young musicians) got tremendous help from band mothers who managed the concession for them. At all hours during the fair there were from one to a dozen mothers serving pie or sandwiches or hot dogs or soda pop and making folks glad to support the worthy project.

Band members have made marvelous progress as musicians and fair well to present a first-rate band for Haskell in another year or two, but they can't beat the performance band mothers exhibited at the fair concession.

Who Made The Fair A Success?

Last week's Central West Texas Fair was hailed by those who attended as amazing in one respect—there were far more and better exhibits than anyone expected. It would be hard to lay the laurels for the fair's success at anyone's feet. Fair Association President Courtney Hunt and Secretary Ralph Duncan put in long hard hours to see that folks would witness a fair which was a credit to this section. Chairman of the parade did a good job in getting activities off to a good start, and heads of all departments had their divisions well in hand before the show opened Thursday morning. All those called upon to render special duties responded beautifully.

But did those in charge of divisions do all the work? Dozens of home demonstration club women, FFA and 4-H boys and girls were in the exhibit building and livestock building getting things in readiness with as little coaxing as any group could be expected to be. No fair would be even close to complete without exhibits of work done and plans of farm women and boys and girls. They are the ones who were careful to display their products of garden and field and to show their handiwork in clothing, home-making and foods.

Commercial exhibitors showed for gain in their business, some stock was shown that better prices be received, everything on the midway was there to make money, concessions were operated for money to be used for worthy enterprises . . . but those who made the fair a success were the ones who exhibited for the love of their work at home.

Oil for National Emergencies

It has been urged that, in the interest of national defense in some future emergency, the government should take over certain oil fields, and that government, rather than the private oil industry, develop oil on public lands. These ideas are often accompanied by the additional suggestion that an enormous quantity of crude oil and oil products be stored indefinitely in preparation for the possible emergency.

This whole plan is in contradiction to the lessons of history. Emergencies are met by aggressive and highly developed producing industries. That was true in the last two wars. The very cost and mechanics of storage make it unfeasible to keep an adequate emergency supply on hand at all times. And it is not necessary to have large supplies on hand so long as the industry in question is able to immediately step up production to meet whatever need arises.

There will never be a shortage of oil for national defense. The reserves for that purpose, as one authority put it, "will comprise all the oil of the entire nation and owned by all the citizens." When emergencies come, in other words, the government takes all that it needs and what is left must suffice for the rest of us. And to "lock-up" or freeze reserves under government ownership or control would endanger emergency supplies by hampering the producing industry at a time when it would otherwise be developing, conserving and exploring old and new oil lands and mapping reserves to serve coming generations.

Oil consumption during World War II was unprecedented—but we never lacked for a single barrel. Better techniques minimized waste and loss, and kept our reserve supplies at adequate levels. Should another emergency occur, the oil industry, if it is left free of government restrictions which destroy initiative, will do whatever job is given to it.

Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy.—I. Timothy 6:17.)

So he's an electric eel, so watt?

All right, then, he r-e-e-l-y isn't an eel at all, if you want to be technical. His name's Electrophorus (Gymnotus) Electricus—Jim for short. He's a South American cousin of the carp and catfish.

Maybe Jim does pack a wallop of 600 volts when he's hungry or annoyed (and he has a shocking temper)—BUT—

Can he wash 3 tubs of clothes?

Or tell the correct time for 4 days?

Or light a hundred-watt bulb for 3 hours— for a penny?

You bet he can't. He's not usefully eel-ectrified. Frankly, you'd better flip a switch if you want convenient, dependable electricity—all you need—at low cost.

And speaking of low cost—did you know that the average family is getting twice as much electricity for its money as it did 15 years ago? That's no accident—like Jim and his temperamental voltage. Folks in this company have done a good job under sound business management. That's why your electric service is lower in cost—and higher in efficiency—than ever before.

Rainbow Club Has Annual Dinner Party

Mrs. W. E. Johnson and daughter Mrs. J. A. Potts were hostesses for the annual dinner party given for the Rainbow Sewing Club members in the lovely Johnson farm home Sept. 26.

Guests arrived at 5:30 p. m. and were taken on a "Treasure Hunt." The group was divided by the lawn entrance and guided by arrow signs in rainbow colors to the old rustic mill where the treasures were found.

Guests were then invited into the dining room where two tables were laid in white linen. Baskets of fruit were used as centerpieces. A two-course chicken dinner with all the trimmings was served.

An outlined program of singing, games and contests was sponsored by the hostess. Outstanding feature was the "wishing well" with its old iron-bound bucket. Each guest was asked to look in the well, make a wish, and draw up their fortune. In turn each fortune was read aloud.

Mrs. Ethel Bird presented a lovely gift from the club to the hostess and our club mother, for her wonderful hospitality. Good-byes were said at a late hour, with each guest declaring the annual party gets better each year.

Present for the enjoyable affair were: Mesdames Dow Bland, Ethel Bird, John Tinkle, Bell Pennington, Walter Rodgers, Larry Bass, Floyd Lusk, O. W. Tooley, Jess Jossellett, E. H. Denney, Tony Patterson, and the hostesses, Mrs. J. A. Potts and Mrs. W. E. Johnson.

MAN HAD BRICK IN HIS STOMACH FOR 10 YEARS

One man recently stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. He was weak, worn out, headachy, swollen with gas and terribly constipated. Recently he started taking INNER-AID and says the feeling like a brick in his stomach disappeared the second day. Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man.

INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get INNER-AID. Sold by all drug stores here in Haskell County.

Pasteuray Added At Piggly-Wiggly

Innovation at Piggly-Wiggly Grocery this week is a "Pasteuray" attachment in the meat vault. Owner J. B. Claiborne saw the light exhibited at a convention of Piggly-Wiggly operators in St. Louis during the summer, and has been trying to secure one for the local store since.

The Pasteuray "does for meat what pasteurization does for milk" according to Claiborne, who declares all meat sold at his store will be treated by the new process. At the St. Louis convention beef which had been treated by the Pasteuray hung in a hotel lobby at room temperature for four days and nights and still was found to be in perfect condition, he says.
