40,000 Veterans In Farm Training Program

Agricultural training for nearly 40,000 World War II veterans on farms in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi probably will not be materially affected by new legislation passed by the 80th Congress a Veterans' Administration official said this week.

William T. Murphy, VA director of vocational rehabilitation and education for the three states, said the new law (Public 377) assures continuance of full subsistence allowances for veterans engaged in approved institutional on the farm training.

New regulations under the act will be discussed by VA officials in St. Louis this week, Murphy said. He pointed out that the law actually stabilizes and gives congressional approval to most policies already established by VA in the Southwest for the farm training program.

Any new regulations made necessary by the act will be available to veterans, educators and agricultural leaders by October 1st, Murphy said. World War II veterans taking institutional on the farm training in the Dallas branch area under the GI Bill include 21,500 in Texas, 11,000 in Mississippi and 6,500 in Louisiana. As more qualified instructors become available, an increase in this phase of veteran training is expected by VA.

Early reports indicate a good producer is expected.

Fifteen miles east of Haskell Thomas D. Humphrey has filed application to deepen to the Ellenburger on his No. 1 Gertrude Swan, wildcat located 330 feet from the north and west lines of the center one-third of H. R. Craig survey. Terminal Leave Pay Bonds Now Mean Ready Cash

The government will start cashing terminal pay bonds one week from Monday.

Approximately 8,900,000 bonds worth about $1,800,000,000 already have been issued and 5,000,000 more are still eligible to apply. They have one year and one week to do so.

Estimates of the number who will turn their bonds into immediate cash range upward from 50 per cent.

In passing the original terminal pay act last year, Congress decreed that the bonds could not be cashed until five years after date of discharge.

In the closing weeks of the last session, however, the lawmakers relented and set Sept. 1 as the date ex-GIs and former officers can start turning their pay for unused furlough time into folding money.

The GI newspaper Army Times estimated on the basis of a recent survey that fewer than one per cent will "squander" their bond cash for vacation or other non-essential purposes.

It is said 25 per cent need the money to pay current debts, 18 per cent for payments on homes, 17 per cent for insurance premiums, 15 per cent for medical services, while a wide variety of purposes accounting for the remainder. The paper did not seek to guess how many plan to hang on their bonds.

Sponsors of the cashing legislation in Congress said they expected only about the holders to apply for quick payment.

The bonds carry 2 1/2 per cent interest.

With $20,700, New York leads all states in number of veterans who have applied for terminal pay bonds. In Texas, 445,780 have applied.

Public Asked To Cooperate During Main Construction

Supt. Gilstrap believes the extensions can be completed in a short time.

What to Do About It

There is one way, and only one way, to avoid a serious depression, and that way is open to the American people. Responsibility rests firmly upon each of us, no matter what may be our economic status or individual social background, to choose out this proper course. There is no way to go, if we should face into a depression, except toward hard work and the high productivity of industrial peace.

That's the formula that will enable us to weather a business recession, provided we begin to use it now. We must all tighten our belts, get our feet on the ground, and go to work just as hard as we can work. A greatly increased measure of productivity per man-hour is the best answer to the present situation that can be thought of.

Down With Prices
With increased productivity, with an honest hour's labor given for every hour's pay, we could see a considerable lowering of prices. Indeed, with genuine whole-hearted cooperation from labor and industry, it would be quite possible to increase output as much as 40% generally. This should be enough to bring about a general 25% reduction in prices. This could be done with our present labor force and without increased working hours.

This would in fact bring prices down until it would be equivalent to an increase in wages. This is the one sound answer to the present threat of a depression. Such answer would also give us hope of regaining our foreign markets, which have had little attention paid to them since the war.

Wisdom of a Sage
The importance of this thing prompted Bernard M. Baruch to state recently that the whole post-war world would "get out for a 5 1/2 day, 44 hour week. The seriousness of the problem we face is such that we may be able to save civilization if we accept the challenge. Mr. Baruch said, adding that this would mean greater effort than that exerted during the war.

In proposing a 44 hour work week, "with no strikes or layoffs to January 1, 1949," as a means of increasing production, Mr. Baruch recognized our present tendencies to put limitations on our work. He emphasized that a way must be found for production to flow smoothly. This achieved, then a "sense of security would return to worker and employer, and the reaction upon the economy of the world would be deep and lasting."

Heads Together
The sage Mr. Baruch has more. "Until we have unity, until we straighten out and solve our problems of production, and have internal stability, there is no basis on which the world can renew itself physically or spiritually," he continued. If labor and industry would put their heads together, come to a realistic solution of their problems, shake hands across the table and go to work in earnest to whip this threat of immediate depression through maximum and whole-hearted production, then no one would have anything to fear.

Ford Raises Prices Of Cars $20-$97

President Henry Ford II announced in Detroit Sunday that prices on "most models" of Ford Motor Company passenger cars and all truck models "are being raised from $20 to $97, effective immediately."

"This is an average increase of 4.2 per cent," the announcement said. "This action has been dictated by the simple necessity of keeping Ford Motor Company on a sound economic basis."

The action followed price rises recently announced by other members of the automotive "big three" Chrysler and General Motors, and several smaller manufacturers, including Hudson, Kaiser-Frazer, Nash and Packard.

Pointing out that last Jan. 15 the Ford Company had reduced its automobile prices from $15 to $50, Ford said that "at that time we expressed the hope that our action, taken in the face of rising prices in almost every other part of the economy, would help reverse this trend."

"We were convinced then, as we are now, that the economic future of the country lay in the production of more and better things at lower, rather than higher costs and prices," Ford's statement said.

"At least within the automotive industry this action had the effect of retarding the upward move of prices. Slowly but steadily, however, the cost of things we buy to make our products has risen."

Ford's statement listed the following "abnormal costs" that had resulted in the price increases.

1. "Millions of dollars above regular operating costs to maintain stable employment and to attain production schedules of less than 70 per cent of capacity . . . but we shall be forced to make 135,000 less cars and trucks than we had contemplated making during 1947."

2. "Numerous interruptions due to strikes, chiefly in plants of important suppliers, and consistently increasing material costs."

3. "Steel . . . has cost us an extra $5,000,000 alone so far this year to obtain . . . through the regular channels."

Hot Weather Makes Planning Necessary In Keeping Gardens

Hot, dry summer weather usually takes toll of blossoming plants in the flower garden. To brighten the late summer and fall months Louise Newman, county home demonstration agent has the following check list to remind gardeners of things they can do to improve their plantings.

1. Cut old blossoms and seed pods from crepe myrtle and other plants. It will keep them blooming longer.
2. Make out your list of bulbs to plant this fall. An early order gets the choice ones.
3. Order flower seeds to be planted this fall. Calendula, larkspur, snapdragon, phlox, petunia, dianthus, pansy, stock, hardy poppies, cornflower, scabiosa and candytufts are recommended.
4. Chrysanthemums are heavy feeders; they need a monthly shot of commercial fertilizer and plenty of water. Stake plants. Pinch off some of the early buds and force the remaining ones for larger blossoms.
5. If you have any thin spots in the lawn, mow the grass high, fertilize and water.
6. After perennial phlox and verberna have passed their glory, cut the tops back pretty severely, fertilize and water for lots of late blooms.
7. Trim back limbs and twigs from shrubs and shade trees that are growing out of proportion for the rest of the plant.
8. While your plants are still in bloom make a few notes on the changes you will want to make for next season.

Tomato Season Adds Problems For Cannery

Tomato season always means canning season to the home gardener. Canned tomatoes are rich in flavor and Vitamin C and are one of the easiest vegetables to can because they are the only common garden vegetable that does not require a steam pressure canner.

Use only perfect, ripe tomatoes for a good quality canned tomato. The skins may be loosened by dipping the tomatoes into boiling water for about half a minute. They should be dipped into cold water immediately after scalding. Cut out the stem ends and peel the tomatoes.

Small tomatoes such as Porters are better if left whole. Larger varieties may be quartered but to make a pettier pack they should be packed whole. Pack tomatoes to within one-half inch of the top, pressing to fill in spaces. Fill with heated tomato juice or hot water. Add a half teaspoon of salt to pints and one teaspoon to quarts. Put the jars into a canner with enough hot water to reach to within two inches of the top of the jar. Place the lid on the canner, steam pints for 10 minutes or the quarts for 12 minutes. Remove from canner, refill if necessary, seal jars, return to the canner and add enough boiling water to cover the jars at least two inches, replace the canner lid and process for 25 minutes in boiling water.

A. Your education must be completed 9 years after July 25, 1947.

Q. I have a service-connected disability and would like to know how long I will be eligible for admittance to a hospital.
A. Hospitalizations, medical treatment, domiciliary care, and outpatient treatment are available to you during your entire life.

Q. I would like to appear before the Rating Board in my own behalf. May I do this?
A. Yes, but a definite appointment should be made and you should be there at the time for which the hearing is designated.

Q. To what benefits is a man with a yellow or blue discharge entitled?

The same procedure applies to blue discharges from the Army.

Q. May a veteran receive compensation from Veterans Administration and State benefits for old age?
A. Yes. There is no restriction as far as VA is concerned.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to take this means of expressing our thanks for the many nice things done for us during my illness in the hospital. Especially do we thank members of the Lucky Home Demonstration Club and our neighbors of the Foster community.

Farmers and other members of the cotton industry across the nation are being called on to support the National Cotton Council's worldwide program to increase the consumption of American cotton and cottonseed products. Cotton producers throughout the Belt are asked to aid in building a "bridge of dimes" across the dangerous chasm of cotton's competition by contributing ten cents on each bale ginned. The funds are used to support the Cotton Council's program of cotton research, production efficiency, sales promotion, and foreign trade.

Tuesday night we had a scavenger hunt at the home of Rose Ann Johnson.

Wednesday night a slumber party will be held at the home of Nancy Ann Furrh. Thursday night we plan to go to the show in Stamford.

Friday night a garden party will be held at Chan King's home.

Clear the Decks

During a recent trip to the nation's capitol, I found the air filled with talk of reducing the budget. Many legislators are now becoming economy conscious. However, one item of the budget—national defense—has been given a respectable detour by many Congressmen. Although its proposed $12.7 billions represents almost one-third of the 1948 budget, most legislators seem content to economize only on the other two-thirds.

National defense has been given a "halo" of untouchability. Current thought trends believe that any reduction of a defense appropriations would cripple our military and naval potential. John Q. Public will gladly pay through the nose to avoid the unpreparedness experienced in the early stages of World War II. Estimates of defense cost by the military forces are accepted without question.

Waste Hangover
However, there is every indication that wartime waste and extravagances still exist in peacetime operation of the armed forces. During the war the over-all annual cost for each fighting man was $6960. This included everything consumed in combat—ships, guns, planes and ammunition. The proposed budget calls for an annual average of $6790 per man in uniform. Only $170 less for the peacetime soldier than when he was maintained in a round-the-world conflict.

In January, 1947—the third year of peace—the Army and Navy had 1,006,577 civilian employees. Two civilians for every three soldiers. During World War II there were two civilian employees for every fifteen soldiers — this during the most wasteful war in all history. The civilian employees represent a yearly outlay of $3 billion. There should be no room in an efficient fighting force for a costly "bureaucracy."

Excess Baggage
No sane admiral or general would take his force into battle without making it as efficient as possible under existing conditions. Confusion and inefficiency within his own ranks are more deadly than any enemy. He must clear his decks of anything which will get in the way and keep the guns from firing smoothly. We must now use the same technique in peacetime to fight financial suicide.

The armed forces have everything to gain in pruning away their deadwood. The result will be a more efficient and effective defense force. Also, this will promote the confidence of a public that knows its tax money is being wisely spent. A future forced cut might come at a time to really cripple defense operations.

Fighting Weight
It is not a matter of cutting appropriations that would result in a weakened Army and Navy. The reverse is actually true. First, efficiency must be created within the operations themselves. Then the path is open for expenditures more in line with sane economy. Efficiency of operation, public confidence, and sensible financing all depend upon each other. None can stand alone.

This is one of the first steps in bringing our wayward economy back to earth. In our zeal to spend recklessly for national protection, we should acknowledge the presence of more than one type of enemy. It is sure folly to pour an endless stream of money into a wasteful machine to protect ourselves from an outside aggressor, only to result in financial chaos within our own borders. A good deal of economizing can be done within the services without crippling our defense.

Will you be the GOAT —ten years from now?

Why should you be the goat, and risk your present and future reputation, when it's a demonstrated fact that unless new homes are wired for ELECTRIC RANGES they're not modern now and will be even farther behind the times ten years from now. Survey after survey proves that!

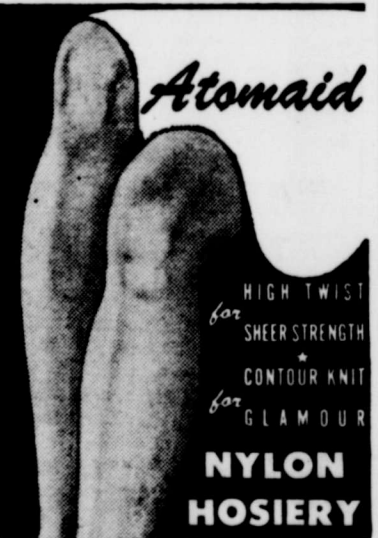

Protect your reputation by building houses that are truly modern. Avoid kick-backs by including wiring for an Electric Range.

An Electric Range requires only: 3-wire service from point of cut-in to the distribution panel; a minimum of two No. 6 wires and one No. 8 wire; a 60-amp. switch with overload protection and a 3-wire circuit from the distribution panel to the range outlet in the kitchen. Make this your minimum wiring specification.

Ninety-five pounds of ground wheat or 99 pounds of un-ground wheat is equal to about 100 pounds of No. 2 shelled corn in a hog ration. Wheat is lacking in vitamins A and D, however, which can be made up with alfalfa meal or hay, or green grazing.

Club Women Find Training Classes Help In Work

Haskell County home demonstration clubs are finding the leadership training program which they are using for the first time this year is strengthening their work, according to Louise Newman, county home demonstration agent. Miss Newman reports that attendance has been better during the summer months than in previous years, the programs have been more interesting and the members are able to give more help to non club members.

Fifty-seven leaders have attended subject matter demonstrations and twenty-six have attended an officers training school this year. Under the leadership training plan each of the twelve clubs in the county sends two leaders to receive training and subject matter help which they will use in giving demonstrations to their clubs. They are then responsible for training club members in their particular demonstration.

Food preparation leaders and demonstrators presented their demonstration on preparation of attractive party or refreshment plates to their clubs in February following a training meeting in January. After club leaders were trained in the use of sewing machine attachments most of the members can identify and use the various gadgets which came with their sewing machines. In preparation for their work in refinishing furniture, the bedroom leaders and demonstrators met in June to mix paint and varnish remover and renovate a piece of furniture they had brought to the club meeting to give the steps in refinishing wood and another club member removed the old finish from a piece of furniture that she had brought to the meeting.

Strict Traffic Rules Face Drivers After Sept. 1.

Any driver who turns, slows down or stops a vehicle without giving a proper signal after Sept. 5 will be violating the new Uniform Traffic Code, Director Homer Garrison of the Department of Public Safety emphasized recently.

Signals may be given by electrical or mechanical devices or by use of the driver's hand and arm. "Most drivers will use hand-and-arm signals," Garrison said, "and I don't mean fingertip signals."

The safety director emphasized that the hand and arm must be extended to give a signal—out and up for a right turn; straight out to the left for a left turn; out and down toward the street for slow or stop.

The new traffic law requires drivers to signal 100 feet before turning or stopping.

"Drivers who get half way across an intersection before they decide to turn, and others who swoop into parking places all of a sudden, will not only be liable to arrest but will be legally responsible for any collision damage that results from such irresponsible driving," Garrison said.
