W. H. Harrell Brings In First Bale Today

First cotton from Haskell County's promising 1948 crop began moving to gins this week, forerunner of what is expected to be one of the best yields in several years—some estimates forecasting a 60,000—bale crop which should bring an income of well over a million dollars, with favorable weather and barring heavy insect damage.

Haskell's first bale from the 1948 crop was brought in this morning (Thursday) by W. H. Harrell, farmer living northwest of town. The bale was rinned at Haskell Co-op Gin No. 2, and weighed 400 pounds, a turnout from 1,555 pounds of seed cotton.

Mr. Harrell has about 150 acres in cotton on his place, and expects a good yield on the basis of present prospects. He went over about 30 acres in gathering the first bale.

This season's first 1948 bale came in three days ahead of last year, when Walter Kretschmer ginned the first bale from the 1947 crop on August 23.

First-bale honors in the county went to Ennis Carter, farmer living near Rochester, who brought in the first cotton of the season Wednesday of last week. The huge bale, weighing 656 pounds, was ginned at the Paymaster Gin in Rochester and merchants of that city contributed a sizeable premium for the early cotton. In addition to the "first," Mr. Carter has gathered three more bales from the new crop which are stored awaiting processing at the Co-op Gin in Rochester, it was reported Thursday morning.

Close behind the Rochester farmer for first-bale honors in the county was J. S. Bell of O'Brien, who brought in his first bale last Thursday to the O'Brien Gin. He got a 500-pound bale from 2080 pounds of seed cotton. The bale was sold to the gin at a premium price of 31c per pound. Bell ginned a second bale at O'Brien which weighed 490 pounds, gathered from his field of approximately 40 acres of early cotton.

September 15th is the closing date for receiving entries in the Texas Farm and Home Egg Laying Contest, sponsored by the State Poultry Council, and supervised by extension poultrymen of Texas A&M College, and county agricultural and home demonstration agents.

The contest is state-wide, open to all poultry producers (except R.O.P. breeders) who own and manage 100 or more hens of not more than two breeds or varieties.

The objectives of the contest are to get higher egg production in Texas poultry flocks, to demonstrate the value of record keeping in the poultry business, to poultry production on a sound basis, to demonstrate the advantages of good feeding, breeding and management, and to market eggs on a quality basis when it is possible to do so. If these objectives are reached, extension poultrymen said, the contest will have been a complete success.

"Jack," asked one of the visiting sportsmen of an Arkansas hunter, "do you think that mail-order outfit of yours helps to get more bears?"

"You're dern tootin' it does!" rejoined the veteran hunter.

"Well," said Jack, "when them bears see me dressed up like a dude from Memphis they decide right away that I couldn't hit the side of a barn at ten paces, and that, anyhow, I'm pretty sure to be too drunk to do any shooting a tall. So they just don't pay no attention to me. I'm able to shoot 'em at point-blank range!"

Speed up Baling with the New OLIVER "88" and Automatic-Hydraulic Thresher

Here's a great time-saving combination!

The remarkable direct drive power take-off of the big new 3-4 plow Oliver "88" tractor is one of the greatest boons to baling. To "ease" the baler's load or clear the machine, just step on the clutch of your "88"—the Oliver power take-off keeps on running! Let out the clutch and you're on your way again. No time wasted by declutching, gear shifting, and reclutching!

Come in and check the high-tonnage features of the Oliver-Ann Arbor Automatic-Hydraulic Thresher Pick-up Baler, too. Neat, firm, sliced bales that come apart in good-sized sections are produced.

You can get almost any combination of ground speed and drawbar pull you want. With its 6-forward-speed transmission, 6-cylinder engine and Fuel Miser governor, you can fit the tractor to the load—and use only the fuel that's needed to do the work.

There are many other valuable, money-saving farm features, plus a choice of three great engines for the fuel you prefer, including a farm-engineered diesel that will be available later... interchangeable cast and stamped steel wheels and basic interchangeability of mounted tools with other Row Crop models.

Fourth Army Seeks Civilian Doctors And Dentists

Civilian doctors and dentists may now be employed at stations in the Fourth Army Area, it was announced today at Fourth Army Headquarters.

In order to alleviate the critical shortage of doctors and dentists in the Army, the Surgeon General has been authorized by Secretary of Defense Forrestal to procure civilian applicants to fill existing vacancies in military authorizations. Col. Robert P. Williams, Fourth Army Surgeon, explained.

Vacancies now exist at Camp Hood; Fort Sill; Camp Chaffee; New Orleans Port of Embarkation; Sandia Base at Albuquerque, N. M.; Red River Arsenal at Texarkana; Pine Bluff Arsenal; Fort Bliss; and at Fort Sam Houston.

This program affords an opportunity for qualified civilian doctors and dentists to assist in maintaining the "high quality of medical and dental service desired by the American people for the men in uniform," Col.

Williams pointed out. All service will be within the United States. "The importance of medical and dental service in the present effort toward national preparedness cannot be over-emphasized," Col. Williams added.

Applicants who hold an appropriate degree and are duly authorized by the state to practice in the locality of employment are urged to contact the commanding officer at stations listed above.

Guest in the home of Mrs. Mamie Alley last week were her children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Meisenheimer from San Antonio, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Wood and daughter, Sandra K. Wood, Oil Center, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Detsan and family of Weinert, Texas, Mrs. Golda Alley and children of Haskell, Tex. Eleven of twelve grandchildren were present. Wanda Alley was visiting her aunt and uncle in New Mexico.

VISIT IN THROCKMORTON

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Martin and son visited relatives and friends in Throckmorton Sunday.

Arrangement Of Foods In Ice-Box Is Important

The refrigerator is one of the coolest items around the house these hot, sunny days. And it's a good thing, too, because it keeps food fresh and wholesome. If the food is put in the refrigerator properly.

Maybe you didn't know there was a proper way to put things in the refrigerator, says Miss Louise Newman, Home Demonstration Agent. Some people just put things in and shut the door. However, here are some ideas on the proper way to store food.

The coldest spot in the icebox is nearest the freezing cabinet. This is where the most perishable foods go—such foods as fresh and cooked meats, poultry and fish, meat broth, gelatin dishes, milk, milk-and-egg dishes like custard and cottage cheese. These foods need a temperature of around 40 degrees F. or slightly colder.

Take a look at modern refrigerators. They are built to store these foods near the freezing compartment. Tall shelves for milk bottles are beside the unit, and a meat compartment is just underneath. Keep perishable foods covered, and uncooked meat loosely covered or taken out of its wrapping and put in the meat compartment of the icebox.

Don't crowd foods too closely together because this will cut off the circulation of the cold air around them. Let cooked food cool to room temperature before putting into the refrigerator. "Put it into refrigerator as soon as it cools," Miss Newman says. "You don't want to leave it out any longer, for it may spoil."

Wilton O. Davis will have charge of the music during the revival meeting which is being held at the First Baptist Church.

Cotton Industry Is Warned To Fight For Existence

The cotton belt must mechanize or it will pass out of existence. Top leaders of the industry itself have handed down the verdict, according to the Roy Roddy, agriculture editor of The Dallas Morning News.

Otherwise the time surely will come when cotton will not be able to compete with synthetic and inferior fibers. That critical period will arrive when surpluses once more have grown, when demand has slackened and prices have slumped.

Cheaper substitutes will grab the markets unless the individual farmer cuts production costs. Otherwise he cannot continue to grow cotton profitably. And the best way he can cut production cost is through mechanization.

That is what cotton leaders—particularly those of the National Cotton Council—are preaching. It is of vital concern to the 13,000,000 Americans dependent upon the crop for their livelihood. It is of extreme importance to Texas.

The agricultural income of this state last year was $2,382,363,000. More than one-fourth, $630,785,000 came from cotton and cottonseed alone. With the exception of livestock, which contributed $837,144,000, cotton was and is, the most powerful influence in the lives of Texas farm people.

Yet less than 3 per cent of the cotton belt is fully mechanized. That includes Texas. The industry is prosperous now. Demand has wiped out surplus. The market is good, but what about the future.

The National Cotton Council keeps pounding home the necessity of mechanization. Last year at Stoneville, Miss., the council called together for the first time all the various interests involved in the job of mechanizing the cotton belt. Research and equipment manufacturers sat across the table from agricultural engineers of the nation's leading experiment stations.

Extension and vocational agriculture workers heard cotton men explain the educational job required to put mechanization over. That interchange of ideas was good. The industry found out where it was going. It cut the pattern for the future.

RETURN FROM VISIT IN EAST TEXAS
Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Smith have returned from a visit with relatives and friends in Dallas, Fort Worth and other points. Mr. Smith and a son visited the former's old home place in Williamson County and in Caldwell County while away. Mr. Smith said that although he found many old landmarks in that section, the country in general had changed considerably since he lived there forty years ago.

Accordingly, the council has set the second annual mechanization conference for Oct. 14 to 16 at Lubbock. Co-operating with the council in arranging the Lubbock conference are the Extension Service and the Experiment Station of Texas A&M College, the experiment substation at Lubbock, United States Department of Agriculture, Farm Equipment Institute, Texas State Board for Vocational Education and various farm organizations. The Stoneville conference will be re-enacted on a much larger and more comprehensive scale at Lubbock. The industry will depict every phase of the cotton cycle from preparation of land through planting, thinning, cultivation, weeding and defoliation to harvesting. Airplanes will apply insecticides from the sky. Those who are at Lubbock will hear and see history in the making—history which will be recorded through the years as one of the greatest advances of one of America's greatest industries, the mechanization of cotton. The council has announced.

That may be true. The significant fact is that cotton has fought its way back from a very low estate. Apparently its leaders are attacking the future with the same tenacity that has won the industry its present status.

ARRANGEMENTS BEING COMPLETED FOR WORLD COUNCIL'S 1ST ASSEMBLY

August 22—September 4 meeting to draw 1,400 delegates and visitors from more than 148 denominations in countries.

The first Assembly of the World Council of Churches was planned for the summer of 1941. With the coming war, arrangements have carried over longer than anyone imagined.

Now 450 delegates from 42 countries representing 148 denominations (possibly more by now) with 350 alternates, 100 youth delegates, and 500 consultants, observers, staff members, reporters and accredited visitors are converging on Amsterdam, Holland for a meeting of world-wide consequences.

While church bells are tolling everywhere on Sunday, August 22, that afternoon at 3:00, these 1,400 will engage in worship in the ancient cathedral which is always known as the New Church.

Our local First Presbyterian Church and First Methodist Church, through their denominations, are officially represented by delegates.

With other church bells throughout the world, the local First Presbyterian Church bell will toll August 22, hourly from 9:00 A. M. to 6:00 P. M. to "call Christians to a moment of silent prayer that the Amsterdam Assembly may mark a rebirth of Christian faith." Let all Christians pray!

Veteran's News

A limited number of internships in Veterans Administration hospitals will be offered qualified medical graduates, VA announced this week.

The internships will be limited to the 75 VA hospitals now offering residency training programs in cooperation with 59 Class "A" medical schools over the country. They will be further limited to those hospitals which have bachelor quarters available on the station grounds. A survey is in progress to determine what housing is available.

Southwestern VA hospitals where internships are available are at McKinney, Dallas and Waco, Texas, New Orleans and Gulfport, Mississippi. Negotiations are in progress between VA and Deans' Committees of Medical Schools for similar internships at Temple and Legion, Texas, Jackson and Biloxi, Miss.

Two types of internships will be available:

- (1) "Straight," for surgery, general medicine and other "straight" subjects, and
- (2) "Rotating," in which interns study, under a rotating schedule, surgery, general medicine, general medical training in other than clinic and other related subjects.

Arrangements will be made for VA hospitals for obstetrics and pediatrics. Such affiliated training may not involve more than 20 per cent of a year. The hospital at which such affiliated training is secured must be approved for internships by the Council on Medical Education Hospitals of the American Medical Association.

Questions and Answers
Q.—If I apply for hospitalization, how long will I have to wait before I am admitted to a VA hospital?

A.—If you have a service-connected disability you do not have to wait to receive hospitalization. If your disability is non-service-connected but is an emergency, you are admitted immediately. Non service-connected ailments that do not require emergency treatment have to wait until a bed is available, and the time varies at each hospital. Non service-connected veterans also must sign statements that they cannot afford to pay for treatment elsewhere.

Q.—May I go to my own doctor for treatment of my disability and have VA pay the bill?

A.—Only if you receive prior VA approval for such treatment or care. Approval is based on the following conditions: (1) you must have a service-connected disability; (2) VA must not be able to provide the treatment in its own hospitals or clinics; (3) travel to a VA station would work a hardship on you. In emergency cases, a veteran may apply to the nearest physician and have the physician notify the VA regional office having jurisdiction over the area.

Infant Mortality Rate Lowest In State's History

Infant and mortality rates in Texas are at their lowest level in the history of the state, according to figures released by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Health Department. Infant mortality has reached a low of 41.2 deaths for every 1000 live births.

Compared to the figures for 1940, this represents a reduction of more than 39 per cent. In that year, there were 197,923 live births and 8,685 deaths. But despite these gains, Texas still has the sixth highest infant mortality rate in the United States, with forty-two states reporting lower rates.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, attributes the reduction to the increase in public response to the educational efforts of the Texas State Department of Health.

"We have reason for pride in our reduced infant and maternal mortality when it is realized that the reduction means in excess of 5000 babies being saved annually which would have otherwise died," Dr. Cox said. "In addition, the birth rate is higher than the 1940 figure by more than 71,000."

The comparison between the live births figures for 1940 and 1947, shows white births up 22,707; Latin American births up 7,186; and Negro births up 3,297.

The report also shows maternal mortality has been reduced over 65 per cent. In 1940, the rate was 4.6 for every 1000 live births as compared to 1.6 for 1947.

S. P. Woodward, farmer of the O'Brien section, was a Haskell visitor Thursday. He reports some early cotton in his section opening fast, with prospects for an excellent yield. However, Mr. Woodward says farmers in that area have been faced with considerable damage from insects, and that farmers are still struggling to control bollworms and other pests.

New 'Baby' Model Graham Plow Now Available

The new 'baby' model of the revolutionary Graham Plow will be available to 25,000 farmers in 1948," announces the Graham-Hoeme dealer Chas. E. Smith of Smitty's.

Designed for use with Ford or Ferguson tractors, Jeeps or horses, the five-and six-foot models will supply a market heretofore deprived of the benefits of "the plow which gives life to the land."

Mr. Woody Davis, who is manager of agricultural sales, said today that the new sized plows are smaller plows in width only, as they have the same heavy, carefully-balanced construction as the large Graham plows. All models are built to last a lifetime. Most models, including the smaller sizes, may be increased in width by the addition of standard extensions.

"The small plows," says Mr. Davis, "use the same tilling equipment, spikes, chisels, sweeps, lister-sweeps, or the patented Graham knife attachment used by the larger plows."

"Although intended primarily as a tool for preparing land for planting, many of the smaller sizes of the plow are used as field cultivators."

The Graham plow has reclaimed fowl and abandoned lands and has proved its value in preventing erosion from wind or water. Lowered plowing costs and increased production following the use of the plow has impressed farmers. The Graham plows are made in sizes ranging from five to 44 feet in width.

NO STEERING WHEEL

Los Angeles. — Police stopped Everett Miller, 23, for driving 50 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone and found that he had been doing it—without a steering wheel. Miller was using a pair of pliers on the steering shaft to guide the car. He was charged with reckless driving, speeding, having faulty headlight, defective windshield, stickers placed illegally on the windshield, no registration and failure to observe a stop signal.

ADVICE

If you don't claim too much wisdom, people will give you credit for more than you have.—Sunshine Magazine.

Soils don't wear out like a pair of shoes. They can be used and made better at the same time. They can become poor through use and can be rebuilt, says Dr. C. E. Kellogg, in charge of the USDA Division of Soil Survey.

Wash bulbs and light fixtures often, as a film of dust and dirt cuts down their efficiency and dims the light. Never allow water to touch the metal part of a light bulb.

Housewives that find their biscuits are burning on top and still remain pale on the bottom can usually remedy the situation by using a smaller baking sheet. Too large a baking sheet tends to hold the oven heat from the burner to the bottom of the oven.

NATURAL

Quick Relapse

An asylum patient who had been certified cured was saying goodbye to the doctor of the institution. "And what are you going to do when you go out into the world?" asked the director.

"Well," said the patient, "I have passed my bar examinations so I may practice law. I have also had quite a bit of experience in college dramatics, so I might try acting."

He paused for a moment deep in thought. "Then on the other hand," he continued, "I may be a teakettle."

Evasive

"When your papa was courting me he always kissed me on the brow."

"Harold usually kisses me on the steps," replied Evelyn absently.
