McCamey coming up on Thursday . . . . .

Lions have good showing at Wall

By Cynthia Harrell Hodges

Ozona will prepare for its next scrimmage at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in Lion Stadium against McCamey. The junior varsity will play first, Head Coach Jim Green reported.

Though the Ozona High School junior and varsity football teams were on the short end of the scoring following a controlled scrimmage against Wall Friday, Green said he was pleased with the overall performance of the teams. Team members were assigned various playing positions to help the coaches determine who could best play each position.

"Both teams make rookie mistakes that are easily corrected," Green explained. The varsity lost to Wall by a score of 1-0, while the junior varsity was defeated by a 3-2 margin. "We let the Wall teams make the big plays (the varsity allowed 101 yards on three plays, and the junior varsity had two plays for 102 yards), but we were able to shut them down on short yardage plays."

Offensively and defensively, the teams are "where they were at the end of three or four regular season games. We were able to sustain our drives," said Green.

Standouts on the varsity defense included Harvey Fierro, with two interceptions; hitmen Bret Thompson, and John Stokes; linebackers Chuy Hernandez and Don Guterrez, and defensive linemen Brian Morrow and Butch Gonzales.

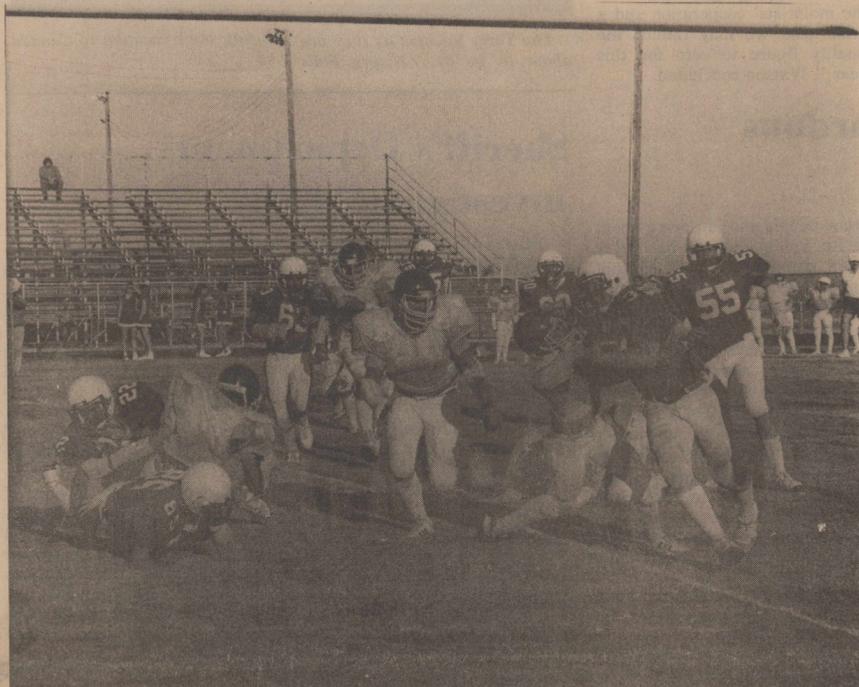

Don Guterrez and Abel Lara provided punch on the offensive line. The four backs, Steve Sanchez, Harvey Fierro, David Adams and Valdo Galindo, all gained valuable yardage. Galindo led the team with 50 yards on nine carries; Adams had 20 yards on seven carries; Fierro gained 11 yards on two carries and had pass completions totaling 14 yards.

Roger Flores also gained 17 yards in pass completions.

Junior varsity standouts included offensive linemen Jim Etheridge and Ben Rios, linebackers Bret Hood and Richard Vargas. In the secondary, Sub Fierro had a strong game. The offense was led by Oscar Payne, leading rusher, and scoring was done by Sub Fierro and Oscar Galindo.

buckle up

The mandatory seat belt law which goes into effect September 1 in Texas is the result of a U. S. Department of Transportation ruling last summer. Under the ruling, American automakers will be required to install automatic seatbelts, air bags or alternative safety measures on 1989 cars unless mandatory laws are passed by states which represent 2/3 of the population.

Seat belt laws will save 2,000 to 4,500 lives a year nationwide estimates Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole.

Statistics show that about 20 percent of drivers use seat belts. With the new law, an estimated 60-80 percent will use the belts.

All front-seat passengers in Texas will face a $25 to $50 fine beginning September 1 for not using lap seat belts in a moving auto or small pickup. Warnings will be given by State Troopers to those not wearing belts, with fines issued after December 1.

Under the new law, anyone at least age 15 in the front seat of a vehicle weighing less than 1,500 pounds is responsible for wearing a seat belt while the vehicle is in operation. The driver is required to buckle-in any front seat riders between the ages of 4 and 15.

Passengers who are between two and four years old must ride in child-restraint devices or be strapped in the vehicle, and children younger than two must ride in child restraint devices.

The law applies to vehicles made with seat belt anchors. Vehicles manufactured without anchors will not have to have seat belts installed. Those who have had seat belts removed from their cars must have them put back in in order to comply with the law, however.

The seat belt law is one of 1,024 bills passed by the Texas House and Senate during the legislative session ending May 26.

Not wearing seat belts is a prime factor in the accident death rate says Department of Public Safety Sgt. Kenneth Hailey of Ozona. During the January through July period, there were eight accidents resulting in nine fatalities in the four county sector under Sgt. Hailey's supervision. All eight were one vehicle, run off the road accidents says Hailey. Five of the eight were on the Interstate, two on ranch roads and two were motorcycle accidents. Counties in Hailey's sector include Crockett, Sutton, Irion and Schleicher.

In general, vehicle accidents result when the driver gets busy talking, falls asleep or has been drinking according to Hailey. Once a vehicle leaves the road, the reflex jerk of the wheel to put the auto back on the pavement causes sliding on the gravel median. The tires catch hold when they hit the pavement, causing total loss of control in most cases.

Of the fatalities recorded by Hailey during the January - July period, three were under 20 years of age, three were in the 20-30 age bracket, one in the 30-40 group and two between 40 and 50.

Troopers are available to give public service talks on safe driving, seat belts, or drinking and driving. Public programs will be prepared and presented upon request, says Hailey. Any organization or group wishing to have a speaker from the DPS should contact Hailey at 392-2621.

Early enrollment figures indicate increase

Classes for Ozona students will begin September 3 after the long Labor Day weekend. Teachers have been in class for in-service training all this week.

At the primary level, kindergarten, first and second grades begin at 8:10 a.m. Kinder will dismiss at 2:00 p.m., first grade at 2:25 and second grade at 2:35.

There will be two sessions for the new pre-kindergarten class. The first session will be held from 8:15 to 11:15. The second session will run from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Intermediate grades three, four and five will begin class at 8:05 and dismiss at 3:15 p.m. Junior high and high school classes begin and end at 3:30 p.m.

Registration at the Ozona Public Schools is up from 1984. The totals for 1985 were 1010 as of Monday morning.

According to Ozona Primary School Principal Walter Spiller, 27 students enrolled in the new prekindergarten program.

Enrollment figures for the 1985-86 year at Ozona Primary are: 97, kindergarten; 89, first grade; 78, second grade, for a total, including the prekindergarten, of 291 students. This compares with a total first day enrollment of 237 students in 1984 and 241 in 1983.

At the Ozona Intermediate

School, housing third, fourth and fifth graders, only about 60-70 percent had registered, Principal Bob Wallace reported. There were 70 third, 70 fourth and 105 fifth graders registered for a total of 245. Registration at the school in 1984 was 249 students, down from 274 students enrolled in 1983.

Junior high school Principal Jack Probst reported that 200 students had preregistered. There were 64 sixth graders, 73 seventh graders and 63 eighth graders. Probst estimated that the figures for this year were "roughly the same as for last year."

Registration figures at the high school included 79 freshmen, 85 sophomores, 61 juniors and 49 seniors for a total of 274 according to Principal Jim Payne. This is up from 1984 when the enrollment at the high school was 258.

Total enrollment figures, according to Assistant Superintendent Ted Cotton, were 969 students in 1984 and 1009 in 1983.

A new parking system has been devised at the high school this year. The curb is color-coded as to where persons can park. Students will park in the green parking area, faculty only in the orange area, visitors in the yellow area and no one in the red curbed area.

Wool and mohair business brisk

By Cynthia Harrell Hodges

Wool Growers and Ozona Wool and Mohair both reported brisk business from the spring clip of mohair this week.

Prices at both warehouses are $5.25 for kid mohair and $3.15 for adult hair. Jim Adams of Wool Growers says that he had handled about 290,000 pounds of mohair and 500,000 pounds of wool. Approximately 150,000 pounds of mohair and 250,000 pounds of wool have been handled at Ozona Wool and Mohair, new manager Brian May said earlier this week.

Adams says that he is busier this fall than he was in the spring. "Everyone is in a better mood, thanks to the plentiful spring rains." Ranchers are restocking their ranges after the recent droughts, and also, "I am handling some out of town business. Spring kid and yearling hair are moving very slow, with some sales not being finalized until the end of next month." Adams said that coarser grades of mohair are down about 20 cents per pound, clean. "There is some defect in the hair, due to grass burrs and horehound, caused by the rainy spring weather."

May reported that he had "been real lucky. I've sold all my adult and kid hair at the market value. Many warehouses still have spring mohair, but I have been able to move it all."

Most of the sales at Ozona Wool and Mohair were to top makers - those three or four major companies that sell the raw product to spinners. May has handled about 114,000 pounds of adult mohair and 10,000 pounds of kid.

Labor Day fatalities estimated

The Department of Public Safety estimates that as many as 45 persons may lose their lives in traffic accidents in Texas during the 78-hour Labor Day holiday period.

"This number is an estimate, not a prediction," said DPS Director Jim Adams. "We hope this number will prove to be far too high."

In 1984, 41 persons were killed in collisions during the holiday period, with five others dying later of injuries suffered on the labor Day weekend.

In an effort to hold down the number of deaths, the DPS again this year will conduct operation Motorcade, in which the deaths during the period beginning at 6 p.m. Friday, August 30, and ending at midnight Monday, September 2, will be counted with periodic reports being made to the news media.

"Our philosophy is that public awareness of the number of people who are dying on our streets and highways will make drivers more cautious and help reduce accidents," Adams said.

On September 1, Texas' new mandatory safety belt law goes into effect. The law provides a 90-day grace period before fines can be assessed.

"We're hoping Texans will start getting in the habit of using safety belts," Adams said. If the vast majority of motorists make a conscious effort to buckle up during this Labor Day holiday period, we will see a dramatic decrease in the number of deaths."

Last year, 28 of the 46 persons who died were killed in accidents where speed or drinking were factors, Adams said.

"That amounts to 61 percent of the fatalities for the period," the director continued. "The message to Texas motorists is obvious: speeding and drunk driving kill."

In addition to conducting Operation Motorcade, the DPS will place additional troopers on duty to deal with the higher volume of traffic anticipated during the period.

KWIK-MARC grand opening August 31st

A grand opening will be held Saturday, August 31, at Kwik-Marc, formerly Adobe Mini Mart, says store manager Debbie Moore.

The building has been remodeled to include an area for tables in the front so customers may better enjoy the many deli items available at Kwik-Marc. There will be daily deli specials featured. For the grand opening only, customers may buy one deli item at the regular price and get a corn dog free. Buy one, get one free fountain drinks will also be part of the grand opening event.

Customers may register this week for a free ice chest and case of Cherry Coke to be given away at noon Saturday says Mrs.

Moore. You do not have to be present to win.

Shoppers at Kwik-Marc will notice lower prices throughout the store, and new store hours from 6:00 a.m. until midnight seven days a week.

Low cost VCR and tape rental is available at Kwik-Marc with current prices at $7.95 for VCR rental and $1.99 for tapes per day.

A handy auto oasis with air, water and vacuum facilities is available for motorists along with regular and unleaded Shamrock gasoline and diesel fuel.

The store is owned by Mike Walters of San Angelo who also has a Kwik-Marc store there and in San Saba. Walters purchased the Ozona store this spring.

Community Center registration down

At the Community Center, Mrs. Stella Valadez reported that registration for Kiddie Klub was way down this year. She attributed the sharp decline from more than 50 students in the pre-school program last year to just 27 students this year to the offering of the public school pre-kindergarten program for economically and English language deprived students.

The registration of three year olds in the Tinyville program was 19 students, about the same as last year.

Jeffery Young receives degree at ASU

Jeffery Wayne Young of Ozona was among two hundred and four students receiving degrees August 16 during summer commencement ceremonies at Angelo State University in San Angelo.

Young is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Young of Ozona. He received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree with a major in finance.

The graduates included nine masters of arts in teaching, 17 masters of business administration, eight masters of education, two masters of public administration, one master of arts and seven masters of science.

There were 27 bachelor of arts degrees conferred, one bachelor of music education, 62 bachelors of business administration, 67 bachelors of science and one bachelor of science in nursing.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Young, Dennis Young and Pam Young Groll were in San Angelo for the ceremonies.

Watch those school buses

It is nearly back-to-school time, and those big yellow school buses will be taking to the streets and highways once again.

"With the increase in the number of vehicles on our highways, it is more important than ever that motorists be alert for the return of the school buses," said Highway Department District Engineer D. R. Watson of San Angelo. "Motorists have had a summer vacation of sorts, too, and are not accustomed to seeing the school buses pulling onto the highways or stopping to let schoolchildren on and off."

State law requires drivers to stop when meeting or overtaking a school bus from either direction, on highways not separated by a median, when the school bus has stopped and is displaying a visual signal. The driver shall not proceed until the school bus resumes motion or the bus driver signals to proceed. This does not apply when the driver and the school bus are on separate roadways and where pedestrians are not permitted to cross the roadways.

There are some 32 school districts operating buses in the 17-county San Angelo district, many of which travel rural highways as well as city streets.

In an effort to increase school bus safety, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation sponsors special schools for bus drivers and even for student riders. A typical region trains upward of 215 drivers in safe bus driving operations each year. Last year, statewide, some 810 drivers and 70,000 students underwent safe bus procedures training.

And the training is paying off. "When you consider that school buses traveled more than three million miles in Texas last year and there were only 11 fatalities, the record is pretty good," Watson said. "At the same time, the number of accidents is on the rise, primarily as a result of having more vehicles of all types on the highways."

"That is why it is so important that Texas motorists become aware that the school buses are about to return to the highways, and that they know the rules about stopping. Perhaps, with the motorists' cooperation and a little luck, we may reduce the fatality figure to zero for this year," Watson concluded.

Wasp sting hazardous to Joe Ramirez

Shearer Joe Ramirez learned just how allergic he was to wasp stings two weeks ago. While taking a break from work to wash his face, Ramirez was stung on the left ear by a wasp. Within five minutes, he had blacked out from the reaction, striking his head as he fell and causing two large gashes on his forehead.

Ramirez was out about fifteen minutes says shearing capitan Hector DeLa garza who administered mouth to mouth resuscitation to the stricken man. Other members of the shearing crew helped revive Ramirez so that he could be rushed 28 miles to Crockett County Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment.

Ramirez, who received stitches and shots at the hospital, says this was his first time to ever be in a hospital "and I was dying".

Stings from various insects cause a highly allergic reaction in some people and can bring about death. Ramirez says he had never been stung before and did not know that he would be allergic to the wasp sting.

There are several over-the-counter products which can be carried by a person who has a severe reaction to stings.

Liquid antihistamines begin to work immediately to combat the reaction, and tablets such as Dimetane, Cloretrimetron and Benadryl, which was just made available over the counter last month, take five to 15 minutes to breakdown before they can begin to work.

Insect sting emergency kits which contain an automatic injector are available by prescription. The kits, called Epi-pen, contain epinephrine which helps to fight the internal swelling that causes suffocation and death in patients with severe allergies. The drug is similar to adrenaline.

Accidents investigated

Texas Department of Public Safety Troopers investigated two accidents within the county August 23. At 8:29 a.m. a one vehicle accident on the north side of Mitchell Blacktop knocked down a telephone pole and caused loss of service to several ranches. The driver escaped serious injury in the truck turnover. A truck-tractor accident on Farmers Field Road at 7:17 p.m. resulted in the driver being taken to Big Lake hospital for treatment. The vehicle received heavy damage.

A subject was arrested August 24 by Trooper Neil Lovorn on a charge of larceny out of the Galveston sheriff's office.

Sheriff's Department investigates thefts

Officers of the Crockett County Sheriff's Department are investigating two burglaries at the Jose Tobar home of Fifth Street. The house was broken into August 20 with seven rifles, bottles of liquor and a sack of coins reported taken.

The home was burglarized again on the 23rd and ransacked according to officers and family members.

Both break-ins are under investigation.

A pump meter was reported stolen from a local company on August 21.

The theft of a pickup and jeep from the W. A. Childress ranch is under investigation.

On August 25, an air conditioner was reported stolen from a local restaurant.

Two family disturbance calls were answered on August 18.

One individual was arrested for public intoxication and disorderly conduct and fined $100 for each count on the 18th. Another subject arrested for disorderly conduct on that date was also fined $100.

Officers arrested a subject on a charge of auto theft on a warrant out of Bexar County on August 19.

A subject arrested on a charge of injury to a child was released on $2,000 bond.

A $100 fine was assessed a subject arrested on charges of public intoxication and disorderly conduct on the 19th.

An arrest on a charge of bootlegging on August 21 resulted in the subject being fined and put on one year probation.

A disturbance at a business was investigated on the 21st.

One subject charged with driving while intoxicated was released on $500 bond August 23. Two arrests on that date on charges of public intoxication resulted in $50 fines. Officers also answered a call on a family disturbance on that date.

A subject arrested August 25 on a charge of driving while intoxicated was released on $500 bond. In a separate case, an individual arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and public intoxication was fined $100 and released.

READ TO YOUR CHILD

The earlier you begin reading to your child the better. Read to your child regularly before he or she begins school, and the child will learn to read faster and more easily. And most important, he or she will enjoy reading.

It is important to read to your child for several reasons:

1. It shows that you, the parent, think reading is important, and the child will value reading because you do.
2. It's a time of closeness and sharing for both of you.
3. It helps him or her learn to talk. As he or she hears stories and descriptions of pictures, he or she will learn to listen to words and sounds.
4. It will help the child learn that pictures represent objects and actions and that words on the page tell about the pictures.
5. And it will help him or her learn that reading is a source of pleasure and information, as well as a way to learn about new things.

Here are a few things to remember when you read to your child:

- If your child is very young, or if you are just beginning to read to him or her, start with "picture reading". As you show the child the pictures, then name and describe them.
- When your child is able to pay attention for longer periods of time, you can make up short stories about the pictures, and you can begin to read short stories.
- Every word of a story does not have to be read. The story may have to be simplified for a particular child.
- Children enjoy hearing stories with dramatic emphasis. For example, make the sounds of animals or machines or give characters different voices.

Representatives attend August Museum programs

Eight persons from Crockett County Historical Society and Crockett County Historical Commission attended a seminar on museum departments and activities in San Angelo August 20.

The two-hour seminar included a tour of Fort Concho and a training session that helped persons learn how to plan for future exhibits in museums.

Those attending the seminar included Roberta Cooper, Geniece Childress, Violenne Stanton, Camille Jones, Clara B. Freeman, Nora Lou Spencer, Marie Pierson and Ann Childress.

Mrs. Childress and Mrs. Stanton also attended a museum program entitled "Permian Basin Museum in Resources" in San Angelo Saturday.

Speakers at the program included Amanda Stover, executive director of the Texas Association of Museums; Cindy Sherrell-Leo, director of field and Museum Services Department for the Texas Historical Commission; and Kit Neumann, administrative assistant and field consultant for Field Museum Services, Department of the Texas Historical Commission. All three women are from Austin.

The program lasted from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and was followed by a two-hour tour of the museum. Mrs. Childress reported, with the program detailed where small museums can find resources, both locally and on the state level.

Fort Concho officials were "very helpful and graciously shared their information with us," she said.

Protecting consumers from dietary fraud

When it comes to the extravagant, misleading and sometimes dangerous claims from manufacturers of dietary products, government consumer protection goes only so far.

Three federal agencies have some jurisdiction over all advertising and labeling, and the merchandising of mail-order products. They are the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), and the U. S. Postal Service. All three agencies handle complaints on a case by case basis.

The FDA can block interstate commerce of unproven drug products. It can also seize products which are hazardous or misbranded with false healing claims. But the FDA has been stopped by Congress and the courts from requiring that high-dosage vitamin supplements be labeled and regulated as drugs.

Although the FDA is empowered to prosecute when false claims occur on product labels, it has no power to prevent the making of false claims through broadcasts and publications. These claims are protected by the U. S. Constitution's First Amendment provision for freedom of speech and expression.

Both the FDA and FTC also have difficulty in regulating printed matter because manufacturers are careful in their claims. They know the loopholes in the regulations and consumers don't. In addition, for the FTC to follow-up on a complaint, the agency must deem it "within the public interest."

The Postal Service investigates mail fraud and mail-order complaints on an individual basis. They have been successful in halting some diet schemes, such as the grapefruit pill diet, while the regulators and the manufacturers go to court. But their authority extends only to dietary products sold by mail.

The government can help some, but for the consumer, the motto "let the buyer beware" still applies to all diet products. Before starting any new diet, consult your physician or a registered dietitian. Protect yourself from fraudulent diet schemes.

One type of fraudulent diet scheme that continues to flood the markets are various "Appetite-control diet" candies, lozenges and gums on the market. Most contain corn syrup or sugar and local anesthetic benzocaine, a common ingredient in first aid creams and sprays. Benzocaine numbs the taste buds and decreases the dieter's pleasure in eating.

III Encuentro Nacional Hispano de Pastoral

By Nina Martinez

Hispanic Catholic participants of all the United States were united in Washington, D.C. in the Catholic University of America from August 15-18 to adopt a Pastoral Plan of the Hispanic Ministry.

It was estimated around 1,500 persons participated in the Tercer Encuentro Nacional Hispano de Pastoral, with 1,200 of these persons as delegates which included 60 Bishops, three Archbishops, 110 priests and numerous Religious Sisters. Also present were two Cardinals and a video tape message from His Holiness, Pope John Paul II, giving his support toward this Encuentro Nacional of Hispanics.

The opening of the Encuentro started with a procession to the national shrine of the Immaculate Conception. The shrine is the seventh largest Church in the world. It opened with the Liturgy in commemoration of the feast of Mary's glorious assumption. The welcome address was by Bishop James Malone and president of the assembly, Archbishop Robert Sanchez. Closing remarks were made on August 18 by Msgr. Daniel Hoye, National Conference Catholic Bishop, General Secretary.

There have been two Encuentros in Washington D. C. before; one in 1972 and the other in 1977. This was the first time for grassroots needs and recommendations to be heard. A Pastoral letter on Hispanic Ministry was drafted by the Bishops of the United States in 1973. It was the first official step taken toward the Encuentro process. The letter was calling to the Hispanic Presence to its challenge and commitment to a Pastoral Plan.

This year's Encuentro is the accumulation of a process that started over two years ago in May of 1983. Pastoral groups visited hispanic communities to determine their needs. In April of 1984, several Diocesan meetings took place in eight region assemblies to select the themes and places of workshops. In this gathering, the five themes for the Encuentro were selected. The themes were: Youth, Evangelization, Integral Education, Social Justice and Formation of Leaders.

Each Diocese was to have sent seven representatives, three of which should have been the Bishop, the Diocesan Director and a youth. The Catholic Diocese of San Angelo sent five representatives. They were: Deacon Manny Maldonado of San Angelo, Gilbert and Delfina Delgado of Sheffield and Nina Martinez and Margaret Porras of Ozona.

A working document for the III Encuentro Nacional Hispano de Pastoral was sent to the representatives containing the Voice of our People Across the Country. The document was divided into three parts: recommendations gathered for the eight Regional Encuentros; the reality which serves as a basis for them; and the theological reflection and documentations. They were asked to study and discuss this material with each other so as to come up with the prophetic guidelines to them.

Before leaving the Encuentro, the Hispanic Pastoral Plan was presented to the Bishops. The delegates were presented with a plan of commitments and a follow up of the process so that it would not end but be carried out according to the needs of the Diocese and Parishes. The delegates committed themselves to work with the Bishop, Priests, Deacons, religious and pastoral agents and lay persons, to let them know the conclusion of the III Encuentro and insure their cooperation in implementing their commitments.

The representatives of Ozona stated that this event was for them a very happy, loving experience which created and deepened a consciousness of the Church. It was a study and reflection upon their reality and Catholic teaching.

Gilbert Delgado and Delfina Delgado of Sheffield, Margarita Porras and Nina Martinez of Ozona were San Angelo diocese delegates to the National Meeting of Hispanic Ministry in Washington, D.C. August 15-18.

Encuentro

The third annual National Meeting of Hispanic Ministry (Pastorals) held in Washington, D.C. started out at the local level with eight or nine local groups and two other groups from Sheffield meeting with Archbishop Flores, Our Lady of Perpetual Help priest, Father Richard Altenbaugh, said recently.

These reflection groups selected persons who could attend a regional meeting in San Antonio. Those who attended the regional meeting included Margaret Porras, Nina Martinez (they attended the national meeting), Thomas DeHoyos, Carmen and Chele Fuantoz, Elliot and Esmie Barrera, Roberta Schoenhals and Deacon Manny Maldonado of San Angelo.

The local group had three recommendations in each of the categories. The recommendations have now been turned over to bishops throughout the United States and will be enacted in each area as part of the pastoral plan. Ms. Porras, Mrs. Martinez, Gilbert and Delfina Delgado of Sheffield and Manny Maldonado of San Angelo met with Bishop Michael Pfeifer of San Angelo Friday to discuss the recommendations from the national meeting.

The parish is the grass roots level of the national program, Fr. Altenbaugh explained. Parrishes make up the diocese, headed by Bishop Pfeifer. The diocese includes Ozona, San Angelo, Junction, Sanderson, Midland, Abilene and Brady.

In the United States, the hispanics number about 20 million -- 15 million counted in the 1980 census and the remainder from the Mariel boat lift and undocumented aliens residing in this country.

The United States is ranked fifth among the world's Spanish speaking countries, behind Mexico, Spain, Argentina and Colombia. Of the 20 million hispanics, about 18 million are Catholic, Fr. Altenbaugh said. There are about 50 million Catholics in this country.

Cattle market drop perplexes

The weather continues to be very hot and dry in West Texas, and many pastures are "burning". Ranchers in the region are moving cattle, culling heavily and looking for alternatives for their livestock as a result of the shortage of forage.

As ranchers look for alternatives, however, they are faced with the recent drop in the beef cattle market, according to Ed Uvacek, Extension economist-livestock marketing. Uvacek, who is headquartered at College Station, said that large marketings from heavyweight cattle and low yields from feed lots have combined to weaken the cattle market.

"Each of these two symptoms must be solved before any real recovery can materialize," Uvacek said. "The good news, however, is that these symptoms are realted and can be solved almost simultaneously if feedlots act rationally. The feedlots have already made some adjustments."

The cattle industry has finally been blessed with some good news - the July cattle on feed report and the mid-year cattle inventory, the economist said. Both reports indicate that the outlook for beef will be improving later this year, he said.

"Cattle feeding is down and cattle/calf numbers on farms has decreased even further," he explained. This downward adjustment appears to indicate that the current drop in cattle prices is temporary in nature and prices should recover as soon as current oversupply is exhausted.

How much salt in snack food

If you like to munch on chips or other salty snacks, you may want to know exactly how much sodium you're getting.

Some manufacturers list sodium amounts in milligrams per serving on food labels, but they are not required to do so.

However, a recent study of 15 popular national brand snack foods, reported in the Journal of Food Science, provides some information on their sodium content.

Researchers determined the average amount of salt in 100 grams - or about 3 1/2 ounces - of the snack. A typical single serving size bag of chips contains one to two ounces.

Of the products tested, pretzel twists have the most sodium with 2370 milligrams per serving. But saltines with 1794 milligrams, puff balls with 1190 milligrams and some corn-based snacks with 1014 milligrams are also high in sodium.

By comparison, 1100 to 3300 milligrams of sodium is the recommended amount for daily intake.

Even one serving of the snacks, assuming you can eat just one, provides a substantial amount of the day's allotment for sodium.

Obviously, the salt content of different brands can vary, and the quantity of salt you eat depends on how much and how often you eat these snacks.

The researchers found a wide range of sodium levels within some of the individual products they tested, and snacks made by regional and local companies were not tested at all.

Salt, or more correctly sodium (salt is 40 percent sodium), is important to the body. However, excessive salt in the diet has been linked with hypertension, or high blood pressure. High blood pressure, in turn, may lead to heart or kidney disease or stroke.

The sodium content for the national brand snack foods tested is as follows:

Snack	Mean salt content (mg/100g)
Corn Chips	741
Taco tortilla chips	868

Toasted corn	1307
Salted peanuts	595
Corn-flavored snacks	1014

Fish can be fat or lean

COLLEGE STATION -- We tend to think of meat as fat or lean and fish as just plain fish. Yet fish do vary in fat content, and the degree of fat can be important, especially when it comes to freezing them.

"Fatty fish are more susceptible to rancidity due to exposure to oxygen," says Annette R. Hegen, seafood consumer specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"With fish such as tuna, the high fat content of the raw fish will oxidize when exposed to even a small amount of air and gradually cause the frozen fish flesh to become strong, taste 'fishy' or even taste rancid," she adds.

According to Hegen, analysis of fish fat content is also complicated because the quantity of fat varies from fish to fish, even in the same species, and may differ with the seasons of the year or temperatures of the waters where the fish is found.

As a result, most statistics now available are based on relatively small samples of fish.

However, Texas A&M University Sea Grant researchers have assigned some categories that can be used to classify fish as fat or lean, until more information is available.

A fish is categorized as lean when the fat content is less than 2.5 percent. It's classified as moderate if the fat content falls between 2.5 and 6.5 percent, and fat if the fat content is over 6.5 percent.

Using these guidelines, Hegen says tuna, mackerel and salmon herring are classified as fat fish, while cod, flounder, croaker drum and trout are lean.

Some fish, like halibut or mullet, which seem to be oily and might be thought of as high in fat content, are actually classified as lean. But Hegen says that larger samples of these fish will need to be tested to more accurately establish their level of fat content.

Why do you call me Lord....?

By Rev. Ken Eppler
Calvary Baptist Church

Scripture: Luke 6: 46 and Matthew 7: 21-23

In the scriptures above, there is a scene described in heaven on the Day of Judgement, in which Jesus says, "Not everyone that calls me Lord will enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, but only those who do the will of my Father which is in heaven."

There are many reasons that people give, stating why they believe they will go to heaven. Some say: "I'm just not that bad", or "I'm better than most churchgoers", or "I believe you just have to live a good life". Others may say: "Well, I go to church everytime the doors are open", "I tithe", "I teach Sunday School", "I've been baptized", "I've spoken in tongues", or "I've had some other experience", "I preach the Gospel", and of course, "I'm saved". As good as these reasons may sound, the sad truth is, they're full of holes; they won't hold water. It's not by our works of righteousness that we are saved, but by that precious blood of Christ, shed for you and me. Also, with this marvelous work of grace comes a knowledge of what the will of the Father is and an ability to do that will.

Do you know what the Father's will is for you? Most people don't.

Back to the scene in heaven (Matt. 7:22). Many will say to Jesus in that day, "Lord, Lord, haven't we preached in Your Name?" There are going to be preachers stand before Christ, pleading their defense. "Haven't we cast out demons in Your Name? and in Your Name done many wonderful works?" Those wonderful works can be anything from healing the sick to feeding the poor, and yet Christ says, "I never knew you, depart from Me, you that work iniquity".

What a horrible scene. People giving their entire lives thinking they were doing the Father's will. When all the time, they were doing their own will using His Name.

Their problem? They had never been born again, and you must be born again, only then can you know the will of the Father which is in heaven.

Would you like to be born into the Kingdom of God? You must first recognize you are a sinner, and because of that sin you are separated from God and bound for an Eternity in Hell (Romans 6:23). Next, confess your sins before the Lord (1 John 1:9), and He will forgive you and cleanse you. Then repent (Luke 13:3), which means turning from the life that you are now living, to follow the Lord from this point forward. Now ask Him to come into your heart, by faith, to be your personal Lord and Savior. At this point, the Holy Spirit will come into your heart and give you new life. He holds the knowledge of what the Will of the Father is, and also has ability to perform that Will. As you submit yourself to Him, He will accomplish His will in and through you (Galatians 2:20). A marvelous work of grace in which your salvation is not based upon "My Good Works" which are dead, but upon the forgiveness and grace of God working in and through you.

Now you can state with confidence - "Jesus Christ is Lord of my Life", and you will not have to be concerned about hearing Christ say unto you "Why do you call me Lord and not do the thing which I say?" (Luke 6:46).

May the Lord richly bless you.

Ft. Lancaster: frontier outpost and historic site

PART 3

By Cynthia Harrell Hodges

Though the struggle of making Fort Lancaster a state park was over, the Crockett County Historical Survey Committee (renamed the Crockett County Historical Commission) remained involved in the project that had taken much of its time.

Due to vandalism, markers commemorating the old government trail, Fort Lancaster and the Escondido Water Hole were relocated at the fort. In July 1968, following a visit to the fort, Mrs. Mable Lowry, state historian with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, started writing a background history of Fort Lancaster. "I started work on Fort Lancaster first because I am so deeply interested in...the fascinating history of the area and the picturesque beauty of the site."

William W. Johnson, assumed duties as the first park supervisor at Fort Lancaster on November 17, 1968. Johnson immediately requested that the commission assist in "securing as early as possible funds for archaeological exploration."

In August, 1969, the contract to restore the soldier's barracks' building was let. The proposed restoration, which was excavated by a 1966 archeological team, would be 75 feet long and 25 feet wide.

Work on the combination museum/visitor's center started in January 1970. The $75,000 center, contracted by J. D. Burk of San Angelo, measured 66 feet by 61 feet. The center contains two large display rooms, a lobby, a park superintendent's office, restrooms and utility rooms, and was completed on October 2, 1970. The center's architecture strived to maintain and develop as realistic a setting as possible.

An additional archeological team, headed by Mrs. Desimae Lorraine of the University of Texas, began work at the fort in June of 1971. John Clark, a team member, said the purpose of the work was to provide "detailed architectural information for possible reconstruction of the officer's quarters, hospitality kitchen and commissary store". The work was funded by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department through a grant to the Texas Archeological Salvage Project.

Bill Armstrong, present supervisor at Fort Lancaster, said that the last restoration occurred in 1976. Armstrong, who has worked in supervisory capacity since 1974, said "no restoration is planned here in the foreseeable future." Armstrong is assisted by Tom Pulliam, a park ranger.

"The whole effort to save Fort Lancaster was a perfect example of community cooperation," Mrs. R. A. Harrell, chairman of the commission at that time, said recently. The detailed records of what happened at the fort are the result of accurate record keeping by the secretaries of the commission, the late Mrs. L. B. Cox and Mrs. Joe Clayton, and treasurer, Mrs. W. D. Cooper.

"The attraction of the ruins centers around an air of mystery. Our hopes are that visitors will use their imaginations to picture what it was like here at Fort Lancaster in 1855," Mrs. Harrell said.

The outpost, at the base of Lancaster Hill, near the confluence of Live Oak Creek and the Pecos River, lives in solitary splendor like an exiled queen in a landscape unmatched for physical beauty. Her buildings may lie in ruin, but the fort's historic importance remains undimmed by the passage of the years. The whole atmosphere of mystery would be destroyed if complete restoration of the fort were attempted.

The continuing crowds of 30-60 persons per day from all over the United States and abroad attest to the continuing attraction of this historical site.

Locals attend ceremony

The Texas Department of Public Safety celebrated its 50 years of service (1935-85) to the public with activities appropriate to publicize this important event in 1985. Various activities were held throughout the state and culminated with formal anniversary activities held at the DPS headquarters facility in Austin.

The August 9, 1985 program consisted of a historical, pictorial review of DPS operations; exhibits of past and present uniforms, equipment and processes; recognition of significant individual and organizational achievements; and ceremonies to honor DPS officers who have given their lives in the line of duty. Numerous demonstrations and guided building tours highlighted the observance which was attended by dignitaries, officials and citizens from throughout the United States.

Among the activities conducted was a special demonstration given by the DPS SWAT Team. Several types of repelling were demonstrated from the top of a building, down the sides. Also included was a repelling exercise from a hovering helicopter to the ground. Trooper Mark Sassman of Austin (formerly of Sonora Highway Patrol) is a member of the SWAT Team and participated in the demonstration.

Attending the Austin celebration from this area were: Trooper Dale Burger, Vehicle Inspection Service (and family), Ozona; PCO Robbie McDaniel, Communications Service, Ozona; and Trooper John Ferguson, Highway Patrol Service, Sonora.

Agents arrest wanted subject

Border Patrol agents of the Ozona Station apprehended a total of 28 deportable aliens for the week ending August 24.

In addition, agents encountered one alien who made a fraudulent claim to United States citizenship. Another alien was detained and transferred to San Antonio on a warrant of arrest.

Sunday, August 25, Border Patrol agents arrested two resident aliens near Ozona on I-10. At the time of arrest, subjects were transporting two illegal aliens to the San Antonio area.

Through routine record checks, it was discovered that one of the resident aliens is wanted in San Francisco, CA on a warrant for murder and two counts of assault with a deadly weapon. This investigation is continuing.

Reports from Washington

FEEDING OUR SOLDIERS AMERICAN BEEF

Our American soldiers overseas contend with many hardships — low pay, bad hours, tough duty. But giving them soyburgers for six straight years may be an unfair test of their patriotism.

No offense intended to American soybean producers, but considering the problems of red meat producers in Texas and other parts of the U.S. today, the government shouldn't be adding soybeans to mess hall burgers.

Soyburgers have been served to GI's based in Europe since 1979, when President Carter responded to a national shortage of red meat by directing the military to reduce its red meat use.

The result was a 20-percent soy meal filler added to ground beef in military mess halls. The beef shortage went away, but the soyburger never did.

It's time to rescind that policy, and add in its place a couple of new ones to stimulate Uncle Sam's appetite for American-produced red meat during times of low prices and large supplies.

Uncle Sam — primarily the USDA — is already the largest food consumer in the nation because of its school lunch, family nutrition, military and other feeding programs. In my opinion, people in government-related food programs could benefit from more red meat.

Beef and lamb producers are suffering through the same farm financing and market fluctuations that crop farmers endure. But unlike a wide range of U.S. farm managers, they receive no government subsidies or supports on the meat they produce. Nor are they asking for any.

That doesn't mean the government can ignore them. Keeping U.S. red meat producers stable keeps their products available and affordable. It's just as important to consumers as the stability of other producers who now get direct help.

The "near-burger" given to more than two million GI's serves as an example of one way the federal government can use more American-grown red meat.

Increased federal purchases would allow more red meat meals in school lunch and family nutrition programs, even after we return 100-percent "meatburger" to Europe-based GI's.

U.S. military commissaries in Europe sell red meat produced in Europe near the bases, even though new shipping and packing technologies exist that would permit purchase of American red meat. An amendment to the House-passed 1986 military authorization bill would allow a six-month American red meat sales test by these commissaries using the new technologies. If the test is successful, these breakthroughs could broaden both military uses and overseas sales of red meat by bringing costs down.

In fact, the government can buy more American-produced red meat right now, under authority and appropriations that already exist. We could administratively fine-tune our buying programs to take advantage of bargain prices created by the free market's supply and demand.

In other words, we can help red meat producers without creating another perpetual government subsidy program. Nothing is added to the budget, consumer prices at the market earn new stability, and red meat producers give their business a badly needed shot in the arm.

In my opinion, it's worth a try.

Barhnart Kwik Stop

Traveling to and from San Angelo will be easier for Crockett County residents now that the Barnhart Kwik Stop has opened. Housed in a building to fit the town, a big red barn, the Kwik Stop is a pleasant place to stop and break the trip.

The store has a small deli with delicious homemade burritos by Bea Lindsey, former owner of the cafe in Barnhart, chicken strips and nuggets, made-to-order hamburgers, corn dogs, french fries and fried pies.

Groceries, dairy products, beer and ice are sold at the Kwik Stop which also has regular and unleaded gasoline and diesel fuel at competitive prices.

Owners of Barnhart Kwik Stop are Joseph and Helen Wilde and Floyd and Martha Schwartz, all "St. Lawrence cotton farmers," says Mrs. Wilde. The store came into being because of the Wilde's frequent trips from St. Lawrence to San Angelo and Wall to visit their families. Returning home late one night, they saw a for sale sign on a lot in Barnhart. The land was purchased in March, and construction began in June.

The store opened for business August 19, and a grand opening is planned for early September. The peak of the barn is 24 feet high with 2,250 square feet of floor space in the building. "You can't miss it," says Mrs. Wilde. The business is located just east of the highway intersection in Barnhart.

Plumbing and electrical work on the project were done by Ozona businessmen, Bob Davee of Davee Plumbing, and Dale Hobson of Dale's Electric.

Pattye Furr is manager of the Kwik Stop which employs six other people.

The Kwik Stop is open Monday through Saturday from 6:00 until 9:00 and on Sunday from 1:00 until 6:00.

Yogurt not necessarily low calorie

COLLEGE STATION -- Yogurt can be a dieter's delight -- or downfall.

According to a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist, it all depends on the type of yogurt you eat.

"Yogurt's calorie count depends on the butterfat content of milk from which it is made," says Dr. Alice Hunt. "The more butterfat, the higher the calories."

One cup of nonfat plain yogurt contains about 90 calories, while the low-fat type has about 150 calories and the whole milk product can have 180-210 calories.

Many of the new custard-style or creamy style yogurts use whole milk, Hunt observes. The fat from the whole milk adds flavor and creaminess, but also makes some of these products almost equal to ice cream in calories.

"Dieters should also consider the serving size on yogurt products," says the nutritionist, "since more manufacturers are using six-ounce containers instead of eight-ounce containers for the higher calorie yogurt."

She cautions consumers to note the serving size when comparing calories among yogurt products. "A six ounce container of a higher-fat yogurt may have the same number of calories as an eight-ounce cup of low-fat yogurt because the serving size is reduced."

Flavoring in yogurts is another source of calories a dieter may want to avoid, says the nutritionist.

Flavored yogurts contain two to three times more calories than plain yogurt, with the extra calories coming from fruit and sugars such as sucrose, fructose, corn sweetener or honey.

Whether you eat high-calorie or low-calorie yogurt, both have one big plus, says Hunt. Most yogurts contain about 350 milligrams of calcium per serving which is about 35 percent of the U. S. Recommended Daily Allowance.
