New president will be the same

The American people remain eager to be persuaded that a new president in the White House can solve the problems that plague us. Yet no matter who wins this next presidential election, you can rest assured that the new boss will be the same as the old boss, and we—the permanent underclass in America—will continue to be forced to march in lockstep with the police state in all matters, public and private.

Indeed, as I point out in my new book Battlefield America: The War on the American People, it really doesn't matter what you call them—the 1%, the elite, the controllers, the masterminds, the shadow government, the police state, the surveillance state, the military industrial complex—so long as you understand that no matter which party occupies the White House in 2017, the unelected bureaucracy that actually calls the shots will continue to do so.

Speak truth to power
by John Whitehead

Consider the following a much-needed reality check, an antidote if you will, against an overdose of overhyped campaign announcements, lofty electoral promises and meaningless patriotic sentiments that land us right back in the same prison cell.

FACT: For the first time in history, Congress is dominated by a majority of millionaires who are, on average, fourteen times wealthier than the average American.

FACT: "Today, 17,000 local police forces are equipped with such military equipment as Blackhawk helicopters, machine guns, grenade launchers, battering rams, explosives, chemical sprays, body armor, night vision, rappelling gear and armored vehicles," reports Paul Craig Roberts, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. "Some have tanks!"

FACT: Thanks to an overabundance of 4,500-plus federal crimes and 400,000-plus rules and regulations, it is estimated that the average American actually commits three felonies a day without knowing it. In fact, according to law professor John Baker, "There is no one in the United States over the age of 18 who cannot be indicted for some federal crime."

FACT: The number of violent crimes in the country is down substantially, the lowest rate in forty years, while the number of Americans being jailed for nonviolent crimes such as driving with a suspended license is skyrocketing.

FACT: Despite the fact that we have 46 million Americans living at or below the poverty line, 16 million children living in households without adequate access to food, and at least 900,000 veterans relying on food stamps, enormous sums continue to be doled out for presidential vacations ($16 million for trips to Africa and Hawaii), overtime fraud at the Department of Homeland Security (nearly $9 million in improper overtime claims, and that's just in six of the DHS' many offices), Hurricane Katrina, and Hollywood movie productions ($10 million was spent by the Army National Guard on Superman movie tie-ins aimed at increasing awareness about the National Guard).

FACT: Since 2001 Americans have spent $10.5 million every hour for numerous foreign military occupations, including in Iraq and Afghanistan. There's also the $2.2 million spent every hour on maintaining the United States' nuclear stockpile, and the $35,000 spent every hour to produce and maintain our collection of Tomahawk missiles. And then there's the money the government exports to other countries to support their arsenals, at the cost of $1.61 million every hour for the American taxpayers.

FACT: At least 400 to 500 innocent people are killed by police officers every year. Indeed, Americans are now eight times more likely to die in a police confrontation than they are to be killed by a terrorist. Americans are 110 times more likely to die of food-borne illness than in a terrorist attack.

FACT: Police officers are more likely to be struck by lightning than be made financially liable for their wrongdoing.

FACT: On an average day in America, over 100 Americans have their homes raided by SWAT teams.

FACT: Comprising an $82 billion industry, at least 30,000 drones are expected to occupy U.S. airspace by 2020.

FACT: Devices are now being developed that would allow police to stop a car remotely, ostensibly to end police chases.

FACT: If knowledge is power, it's no wonder Americans are in hot water. According to a study by the National Constitution Center, 41 percent of Americans "are not aware that there are three branches of government, and 62 percent couldn't name them; 33 percent couldn't even name one."

FACT: Only six out of every one hundred Americans know that they actually have a constitutional right to hold the government accountable for wrongdoing, as guaranteed by the right to petition clause of the First Amendment.

FACT: According to a Gallup poll, Americans place greater faith in the military and the police than in any of the three branches of government. However, when asked to name the greatest problem facing the nation, Americans of all political stripes ranked the government as the number one concern. In fact, almost eight out of ten Americans believe that government corruption is widespread.

Perhaps the most troubling fact of all is this: we have handed over control of our government and our lives to faceless bureaucrats who view us as little more than cattle to be bred, branded, butchered and sold for profit.

If there is to be any hope of restoring our freedoms and reclaiming control over our government, it will rest not with the politicians but with the people themselves. When all is said and done, each American will have to decide for themselves whether they prefer dangerous freedom to peaceful slavery.

Rolling with life's ups and downs

I have reached that place in life that virtually all that I see, hear or do reminds me of something that's already happened, often decades ago.

As an example, when whisked to the top of a skyscraper recently by state-of-the-art elevator, I thought of its association with music we liked to joke about in another century. Elevator music was scoffed at—often disparaged, rarely praised. It has gone the way of the wild goose, what with most elevators now devoid of music, friendly small-talk of riders and the gentle patter of usually-older men or women at the controls.

Gone, too, are elevator jokes, such as the one shared a zillion times about the Baylor graduate who dreamed he'd died, then faced St. Peter—of all places—in an elevator. The grad assumed, of course, that it would zoom skyward. Instead, it began a rapid descent into colder and colder climes. It was a frozen encasement, and when the door opened, he beheld a wintry wonderland. "Oh, my," he exclaimed, "Baylor must have beaten Texas." ...

That's pretty much the way it was when heralded Coach Grant Teaff came on the Baylor University scene 40+ years ago. He preached and lived the "yes-we-can" approach, and both the Bears and their fans believed him. Sure enough, the 1974 team, piloted by All-American quarterback Neal Jeffrey, won the Southwest Conference.

Most memorable was the Bear's 34-24 comeback win over UT, despite being on the short end of a 24-7 half-time score. (First win over UT in 17 years; first SWC championship in 50 years.)

Coach Teaff invited me to address the Bears and their faithful at the euphoric post-season banquet. Happiness ruled and was contagious. It mattered little what I said. That night, I was privileged to meet Jeffrey....

A long-time staff member at Prestonwood Baptist Church, Neal is widely-known for his amazing pilgrimage of service, inspiration and encouragement. His career is amplification of the credo engrained by Teaff and by the late James Jeffrey, his dad. (In the early going of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, James was executive director for almost a decade.)

Neal has addressed audiences of all sizes and types since his BU years, often beginning with remarks like "It's good to see you again."

He always claims that he stutters extremely well. Prayerfully dealing with the condition across the years, Jeffrey has long since cleared the hurdle of embarrassment that once loomed. Audiences readily believe he's comfortable with stuttering that caused football signals to be "sung" during his BU years. Hearers, in fact, pull for him during silent moments that sometimes occur in presentations today. During pauses, he explains that whatever he intended to say will happen soon....

Neal's endorsements are many. Masterful motivator Zig Ziglar said, "Brace yourself! You're about to be charged and challenged." Similar accolades are from Andy Pettitte, all-star

the idle american by don newbury

pitcher for the New York Yankees; Dr. Kenneth Cooper, founder of the Cooper Clinic and Aerobics Center, Dallas; legendary broadcaster Pat Summerall, and Lovie Smith, coach of the NFL's Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

In both pulpits and at lecterns, Jeffrey speaks unashamedly of his Christian walk, and when he's putting words together—verbally or in print—he's an energetic encourager for both the here and the hereafter.

He has no greater fans today than Sheila, his wife of 39 years, as well as three children and their families. The Jeffreys' have eight grandchildren and counting, with a ninth on the way....

A while back, we "tag-teamed" at a regional senior adult conference in Amarillo. I was humbled; what could I say that Neal couldn't say better? Nothing.

I did mention, however, that if we were ever on the same program again, I'd stay at a different hotel, kidding that I was wakened several times by a stuttering snorer—or vice versa.

And we were on different wings of the hotel, four floors apart....

Whatever, no one is happier than Neal that the Bears' current football resurgence has put those "put down" stories to rest.

He's a walking testimonial to Teaff's claims.

'Course, dear old dad got in the first formative shots. And if heaven has a glass bottom, there's a smiling father, mighty proud of his son....

Reader offers thoughts on crosses

Think about it. The January issue of "Voice of the Martyrs" magazine tells of a movement in the Zhejiang Province of China. Xi Jinping, the current leader of Communist China has made statements indicating that he would like to "revive" Buddhism, Taoism, and Confucianism in China to help strengthen the "moral fabric" of the nation.

Apparently the governor of Zhejiang has taken this to heart. As he drove through the city of Wenzhou, he noticed crosses dotting the city's skyline and decided they did not fit with Xi's vision of reviving China. He then started a campaign against the crosses, especially those that were visible from the highway.

In 2014, Chinese government authorities in the City of Wenzhou, Zhejiang Province carried out a sustained campaign against churches in the area. China Aid Association has reported that crosses were removed and church buildings demolished or seized to use for other purposes.

It began with the crosses...

USDA to issue disaster assistance to help producers

WASHINGTON – The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Farm Service Agency today announced that nearly 2,700 applicants will begin receiving disaster assistance through the Emergency Assistance for Livestock, Honeybees and Farm-Raised Fish Program (ELAP) for losses experienced from Oct. 1, 2013, through Sept. 30, 2014.

The program, re-authorized by the 2014 Farm Bill, provides disaster relief to livestock, honeybee, and farm-raised fish producers not covered by other agricultural disaster assistance programs. Eligible losses may include excessive heat or winds, flooding, blizzards, hail, wildfires, lightning strikes, volcanic eruptions and diseases, or in the case of honeybees, losses due to colony collapse disorder. Beekeepers, most of whom suffered honeybee colony losses, represent more than half of ELAP recipients.

The farm bill caps ELAP disaster funding at $20 million per federal fiscal year and the Budget Control Act of 2011, passed by Congress, requires USDA to reduce payments by 7.3 percent, beginning Oct. 1, 2014. To accommodate the number of requests for ELAP assistance, which exceeded 2014 funding, payments will be reduced to ensure that all eligible applicants receive a pro-rated share.

Today's announcement was made possible by the 2014 Farm Bill, which builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past six years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for the taxpayer. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. For more information, visit <http://www.usda.gov/farmbill>.

To learn more about ELAP, visit www.fsa.usda.gov/elap. For more about USDA Farm Service Agency disaster assistance programs, visit disaster.usda.fsa.gov or contact your FSA office at <http://offices.usda.gov>.

Watson's house gets Easter surprise

Hi, gang! Well, Easter is over, I sure hope you enjoyed it. I got my house egged. Apparently a gang of kids did it. Dorthy found a note on the front door saying that there were 13 eggs hidden in our front yard, and there was. Twelve of them had 2 little Tootsie Rolls hidden inside. Thanks to the youth from the Assembly of God church for making our day. What a great way to celebrate Easter.

The FTC has a Special Alert right now on reporting a person who pretends to be from a governmental agency with subcategories. You may select from the following categories: Pretend to be a representative or employee of a local, state, or federal government. Pretend to be a representative or employee of a business? Pretend to be a family member or friend? Or pretend to be associated with a company offering to remove a virus or malware from your computer?

You may want to check out the FTC web page, <https://www.ftc.gov/> for other scams.

Below is an article from their website.

"Consumers told it to the FTC: Top 10 complaints for 2014" by Colleen Tressler, Consumer Education Specialist, FTC:

"Today, the FTC announced its top 10 consumer complaints for 2014. Of the more than 2.5 million consumer complaints received...

Identity theft once again tops the list, with 13 percent of total complaints filed. Debt collection held steady as the second-most-reported complaint, with 11 percent.

"Imposter scams - where con artists impersonate government officials or others - moved into third place on the list of consumer complaints, entering the top three complaint categories for the first time. The increase in imposter scams was led by a sharp increase in complaints about IRS and other government imposter frauds.

"Rounding out the field: Telephone and mobile services; banks and lenders; prizes, sweepstakes and lotteries; auto-related complaints; shop-at-home and catalog sales; television and electronic media; and finally, internet services.

"Florida, Georgia and Nevada are the top three states for fraud per capita and other complaints, while Florida, Washington and Oregon are the top three for identity theft complaints. For a complete list of all complaint categories, check out page six of the FTC's 2014 Consumer Sentinel Network Data Book.

"Your complaints matter at the FTC. If a business doesn't deliver on its promises, if someone cheats you out of your money, or if you've spotted a scam, tell it to the FTC. Your complaints help us stop rip-off artists, scammers and fraudsters. The FTC's aggressive law enforcement efforts put the bad guys out of business, and our vigorous consumer education campaigns empower people just like you to make well-informed buying decisions and recognize frauds and scams."

Stuffing bags, taking names

On Thursday before the Chance Jones 5K we had to stuff bags at the college. We had around 50 college kids come and help us. We put a t-shirt, a Clarendon College pen, a Clarendon College clip, a map, and a post card in each bag. We finished stuffing 170 bags in eight minutes.

On Friday I had to move all the bags that were in the boxes to the Bairfield building at Clarendon College.

On Saturday I got to run in the 5K. I got to run with my big cousin Nathan. I only stopped to walk five times. It took me 46 minutes and 7 seconds to finish.

We do the 5K to help prevent child abuse and for a friend of mine who was abused.

Glory days at Alanreed High School

Oh, thank you, sweet Jesus, for the wonderful, life-giving rain! You may remember the song about April showers bring May flowers; that applies to wheat, alfalfa, fruit trees and gardens. We are truly blessed!

I was visiting with Beth Hall Sharp, a fellow alumni of Alanreed High School when the subject of girls basketball came up. Alanreed, located about seven miles west of McLean on Route 66 had a high school of about 40 pupils at that time, and everyone who wanted to played basketball which meant we had a pool of about 10 girls to pull from to play six-player, half-court basketball.

The rules stated for each team three girls were forwards and could shoot, three girls were guards and could not shoot, if you crossed the half court line you received a foul and, depending on your coach, may be pulled from the game. Two dribbles at a time were allowed, passing was allowed, and like today 2 points were given for a basket, one point for a free-throw. I was the tallest on the team and played guard so I can't brag about how many points I scored. After I received my letter jacket I do remember swaggering into the opponents gym with a "here I am" attitude, head held high. The game was fast-paced and fun. With that many total on the team this meant no competition and everyone was assured to play.

Howardwick • 874-2886

Beth and I reminisced about the bus rides with one small heater sputtering warmish air toward the driver's feet and missing the kids who tended to congregate to the back and out of sight of that big mirror. We discussed the towns played who are no longer in existence such as Goodnight, Lelia Lake, Lela (near Shamrock), Kellerville, and the most dreaded was Samnorwood because they could beat anyone. McLean and Clarendon would be practice games for them, but we were determined to at least keep up. A small school coach was expected to coach both boys and girls, drive the bus to and from the games, keep an eye on those kids with raging hormones, sooth nerves and dry tears with maybe a little first aid thrown in. No wonder they tended to stay a couple of semesters then move on.

Half-court or six player basketball was begun in Texas in 1898, the first high school tournament was in 1906, in 1918 the Texas State Athletic Commission stopped sponsoring girls' state tournaments but continued for boys. It wasn't until 1951 girls state tournaments were officially reinstated but larger schools were playing full court ball with rules similar to boys; small schools continued playing half-court ball. Schools continued to transition from half court to full court basketball, the last games were officially played in 1978 when they were phased out.

Alanreed High School was consolidated with McLean in 1954, but memories remain of the fun in the gym and on the road.

Drugs in the News

ADHD Drug Approved for Binge-Eating

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) recently approved the use of Vyvanse (lisdexamfetamine dimesylate) for the treatment of binge-eating disorder in adults. Binge-eating disorder is characterized by a pattern of eating more food than needed, in the absence of hunger, until the stomach is full. Binge-eating can lead to unhealthy conditions such as obesity and depression. It is reported that approximately 8 million people in the U.S. have been diagnosed with binge-eating disorder. This is the first medication FDA-approved to help in the treatment of this condition. The results from two clinical trials, which included over seven hundred adult participants with the condition, showed that there were less episodes of binge-eating in the group that took Vyvanse than the group that took a dummy pill. The most common side effects reported included dry mouth, trouble falling asleep, increased heart rate, and jittery feelings.

Vyvanse is a central nervous system stimulant that is approved to help treat attention deficit hyperactivity disorder in persons age six and older.

NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE REQUEST

Southwestern Electric Power Company (SWEPCO or Company) publishes this notice that on March 4, 2015, it filed its Statement of Intent and Application for Authority to Amend Transmission Cost Recovery Factor (TCRF) with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUCT or the Commission) in Docket No. 44496. The filing was made in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act (PURA) § 36.209 and Commission Substantive Rule 25.239. The TCRF will recover SWEPCO's reasonable and necessary costs for transmission infrastructure improvements, as well as changes in wholesale transmission charges under a tariff approved by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC). In this application, SWEPCO seeks to recover its transmission capital investments through December 31, 2014. SWEPCO also seeks to recover through the TCRF approved transmission charges that are not otherwise being recovered through current rates.

This notice is being published in accordance with PURA § 36.103 and Commission Procedural Rule 22.51(a) (1).

STATEMENT OF INTENT TO CHANGE RATES

SWEPCO requests that the Commission approve a TCRF that would result in an increase in SWEPCO's Texas retail revenue requirement of $9,267,375 per annum above the amount approved in SWEPCO's previous TCRF case (PUC Docket No. 42448). This amounts to a 3.01 percent increase in SWEPCO's overall annualized current Texas retail revenue requirement. SWEPCO has proposed that its requested rate change become effective 35 days after the filing of the Statement of Intent and Application. The proposed effective date is subject to suspension and extension by actions that may be taken by the Commission.

All customers in SWEPCO's Texas retail rate classes will be affected by this change. The impact of the rate change on various customer classes will vary from the overall impact described in this notice.

REQUEST FOR TEMPORARY RATES

SWEPCO requests that the Commission or assigned administrative law judge issue an order establishing SWEPCO's existing TCRF as a temporary rate effective 120 days after the filing of the Statement of Intent and Application subject to refund or surcharge to the extent the TCRF established pursuant to the Statement of Intent and Application differs from the existing TCRF.

CONTACT INFORMATION

Persons with questions or who want more information on SWEPCO's Statement of Intent and Application may contact SWEPCO at 428 Travis Street, Shreveport, Louisiana 71101, or call toll-free at (888) 216-3523 during normal business hours. A complete copy of the Statement of Intent and Application and related filings is available for inspection at the address listed in the previous sentence.

The Commission has assigned Docket No. 44496 to this proceeding. Persons who wish to intervene in or comment upon these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible, as an intervention deadline will be imposed. A request to intervene or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, P.O. Box 13326, Austin, Texas 78711-3326. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission at (512) 936-7120 or (888) 782-8477. Hearing- and speech-impaired individuals with text telephones (TTY) may contact the Commission at (512) 936-7136. A request for intervention or for further information should refer to Docket No. 44496. Unless otherwise ordered by the presiding officer, motions to intervene will be due 45 days from the date SWEPCO filed its Statement of Intent and Application with the Commission.

Ceniceros, Lockhart named District champs

By Sandy Anderberg

Junior Cenicerros and Chance Lockhart were named the champions at the District tennis tournament in Wellington last week. The win gave the doubles team the opportunity to advance to the Regional Tournament April 20-21 in Odessa. The team were awarded a bye in the first round and won their second round match against Quannah's number two team at 6-1, 6-0. They then defeated Wheeler's number one team 6-0, 6-3 in the finals.

"They are the Boys Doubles District Champs," coach Brandt Lockhart said. "Junior and Chance were dominating all day long and played their best tennis of the year."

Zack LaRoe and Nick Shadle won their first match 4-6, 6-1, and 7-5 against Quannah's number two team, but then lost in the semi finals to the Wheeler number one team 2-6, 6-2, and 3-6. The duo then defeated Quannah's number two team 6-2, 6-2 to win third place.

"The boys team are district champions," Lockhart said. "Zack and Nick played very well and with a few different shots were very close to making the finals."

On the Lady Bronco side, the team of Kendra Davis and Sterling King lost their match 4-6 and 3-6 to Wheeler. "I felt like they improved throughout the year," Lockhart said.

Sterling King was on the mound Monday for the Lady Broncos during the ladies game against Booker. The Lady Bronco's next game will be Friday, April 17, 2015, at Gruver.

Broncos slam Wellington early

By Sandy Anderberg

The Wellington Skyrockets never saw it coming as they were demolished by the Broncos in Clarendon's 17-7 win. The Broncos set a precedent in the first three innings of play scoring nine runs early in the contest. Offensively, the Broncos took charge. Caleb Cobb got things rolling with a two-run double and then stole home plate to go on top. Izzy Osburn and Zack Laroe each earned an RBI single, Cobb blasted an RBI double, and Nick Shadle singled in the second inning keeping the Broncos' rhythm going. Osburn was credited with three RBIs on two hits.

LaRoe was on the mound and got the win for the Broncos, allowing only three runs over four innings. He was able to strike out seven, walked three, and gave up five hits.

The Broncos were able to hold the momentum in the final innings as Kade Hunsaker earned an RBI single when he hit Clay Koetting home. In the fifth, Osburn hit a two-run double and Joshua Cobb hit a two-run single.

"I thought we hit the ball really well," head coach Brad Elam said.

"Charles Mason and Izzy Osburn both scored four runs from the 8 and 9 hole. When you do that, it is going to be a good game."

On Friday, the Broncos took care of the Swifts in Nazareth 16-1. Once again, the Broncos struck early scoring 11 runs in the first three innings. Hunsaker was on the mound and did a good job striking out seven hitters. He allowed only one earned run on five hits and walked two.

Chance Lockhart hit a single and scored Shadle in the third inning and Bryce Hatley turned up the heat with a triple, bringing home J. Cobb, Clay Koetting, and Lockhart. Osburn and Shadle scored again in the fourth when Hunsaker slammed a single.

"We are 5-0 after finishing the first round of district," Elam said. "Played really well today and hit the ball well. Defense played great. Ray Jaramillo made a ton of plays in center and we turned a 6-4-3 double play. Kade Hunsaker pitched well."

The Broncos will continue their dominant play in Memphis next Friday, April 17, beginning at 4:00 p.m. and will play Kress at home on Tuesday, April 21, at 4:00 p.m.

Texas Healthcare System, Professional Case Management, Roadrunner HomeCare, Shepard's Crook Home Health, Texas Dept. of State Health Services /Tobacco Education & Cessation, TTUHSC Breast Health Center of Excellence, Thrive by Le-vel, Tralee Crisis Center, DSHS/Children with Special Health Care Needs, and Texas Dept. of State Health Services/ Immunizations.

Health fairs are excellent ways to offer screenings for some health problems like diabetes and high blood pressure. Catching them early can help reduce the risks for costly complications. Both diabetes and high blood pressure can go undetected for up to ten years. Health fairs can also raise awareness of issues like preventing heat exhaustion, heat stroke and even skin cancer. Preventing or delaying the onset of chronic health problems can produce significant savings for many insured employee groups. Thanks to all the generous sponsors, these services will be offered at no cost to the public.

The fair is being sponsored by Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service, Clarendon Family Medical Center, Northwest Health Care System, Mike's Pharmacy, Pilgrim Bank, Clarendon College, Donley County Memorial VFW Post #7782 Ladies Auxiliary and Roadrunner Home Care. Donations are still being accepted at the Extension Office to help with the expense and keeping it a free event for the attendees.

Beef cattle producers advised to get grazing leases in writing

FORT WORTH – Surprisingly, some grazing leases are simple verbal agreements, but for both parties' protection it is always best to get the agreement in writing, according to a Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service law specialist.

Tiffany Dowell-Lashmet recently gave an overview of grazing leases at the 2015 Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association Convention in Fort Worth.

"Sadly, the most common situation is two guys in a pasture who come to an oral agreement," she said. "Some of you may not think you need a written lease, but you will wish you had one if there is ever a problem. Additionally, in order to be legally enforceable, any real estate lease for a year or more has to be in writing."

Lashmet advised to have limits in a lease. For example, if you lease property, Dowell said be clear on what you are leasing.

"If the lease is for grazing and you want to reserve hunting rights, you need to have that spelled out," she said. "If the landowner wants to reserve the right to go in and inspect anything, then the landowner has to specify that in the agreement."

She also advises to consider having stocking-rate limits specified in the lease, particularly when drought conditions prevail.

Additionally, a pasture lease should specify which tracts are included in the agreement.

"A legal description is good, but you may want to include additional information as well," she said. "For example, if you want to lease a specific pasture, but not the peach orchard in the back of the property, you need to spell that out."

The lease should also include provisions specifying who is responsible for maintenance, such as pasture shredding, fence repair, barn maintenance and other items that could become issues.

For cattle producers leasing bulls, Lashmet advised to include liability issues in the agreement. For example, if a bull is injured during the time he is leased, it is a good idea to have provisions in the agreement to handle that situation.

"One term to consider when leasing out a bull is whether it might be prudent to require a monetary deposit from the lessee that will be returned upon the bull's safe return at the end of the lease."

Finally, she said there should be inclusion of penalties and consequences for late payment in the lease agreement.

"There should be a set penalty for late payment," she said. "These provisions can be drafted in a variety of ways. For example, you could have a set late fee of so much for each day, and once the fees add up to a certain amount, the lease will terminate."

Overall, Lashmet said it's a good idea to have a lawyer review the agreement.

"Prior to taking it to your lawyer, you can do some things that will save you some money," she said. "For example, if you go online at the AgriLife Bookstore, there is a grazing lease checklist available for individuals that will help you draft an agreement. Once you have taken a first crack at it, then take it to a lawyer for review. The lawyer will not have to start from scratch and will likely bill fewer hours to simply review and revise."

For more on agricultural law, Lashmet has a blog at <http://agrilife.org/texasaglaw/> providing regular updates on various topics and weekly recaps on legal issues.

Vegetable study targets water savings in the High Plains

AMARILLO – Vegetable production is not new in the Texas High Plains, but it is being re-examined in a Texas A&M AgriLife Research study to see if it might offer a water-savings alternative to some cereal grain production.

“Everybody knows we are generally water short in the Texas High Plains and can no longer meet 100 percent of all crop water needs,” said Thomas Marek, AgriLife Research senior research engineer for irrigation water conservation and management in Amarillo. “We grow a tremendous amount of corn for the cattle industry. And we know from our regional water plan that corn production is going to have to be reduced in the future.”

Marek said production changes, preferably to higher valued crops such as certain types of vegetables, may be a partial solution to sustaining future profitability for Texas High Plains’ producers, particularly those within the northwestern area facing water shortages.

“Water is the largest input factor in economically feasible crop production, so numerous water management strategies have been proposed by the region’s water planning committee, the Panhandle Water Planning Group,” he said. “One of those strategies being considered is that of crop changes to reduce irrigation water use.

“While water use for vegetables may not be less per acre than that of some currently produced cereal grains, less overall regional acreage may be required to potentially maintain or even increase existing profit levels for producers,” Marek said.

He conducted a relatively small demonstration in 2014 with several categories of vegetables at the AgriLife Research James Bush Farm north of Bushland. This study was supported by the U.S. Department of Agriculture Agricultural Research Service’s Ogallala Aquifer Program, AgriLife Research and the USDA National Institute of Food and Agriculture. Marek said they grew the higher value runner-type vegetables such as squash, zucchini, cucumbers, as well as peppers, onions, melons, tomatoes, black-eyed peas and okra.

“We have a pretty definite range of what we are evaluating at this point,” he said. “The potential has been promising to date.”

All vegetables were grown under a single irrigation level targeted at a high evapotranspiration, known as ET, level. A weather station, which is part of the Texas High Plains Evapotranspiration Network, was located near the plots and was used to compute daily reference ET to know what the actual water demand was.

Plots were planted on May 29 and again on June 10. This was later than desired, but scheduling conflicts prevented earlier operations. Irrigation was applied using surface-flow irrigation. As the total plot area was relatively small, Marek said irrigation efficiencies were very high, and the total amount of irrigation applied from planting to harvest was 17.46 inches. The in-season rainfall in 2014 was 12.61 inches.

Each vegetable was evaluated on a bedded, two-row, 20-foot long plot size. Row spacing was 30 inches. Vegetables were hand-harvested on a two-to-three-day basis. Data regarding plant count, harvested fruit number, total harvested weight per picking and water use were recorded for each harvest event.

Several things Marek said they determined with the first round of the study were: earlier planting would help increase yield output per plant; and plant establishment with transplants needs to be augmented by the use of protective wind cylinders due to early season high wind speeds in 2014.

“We had area folks driving by the field who asked ‘what are all those white things out there in the field and what are y’all doing?’ so I knew the local community was paying attention to what we were doing,” he said.

Marek said they will need to look at the heat unit requirements to be sure vegetables can be routinely produced. Also, more research is needed regarding production water use and management within the region before adequate assessment can be made with vegetables as a viable water-saving alternative to current cereal grains production.

The demonstration-type assessment is planned again for 2015 and will be complemented with related projects in the Texas A&M AgriLife cropping system program with wheat stubble involving AgriLife Research scientists and Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service specialists, he said.

“The results so far have been promising that we can produce vegetables,” Marek said. “What’s going to be needed ultimately is to develop the needed market structure again. What we will continue to determine are the production aspects and water-use efficiency of various vegetables and determine what is most efficient over time.”

Red River Days SpringFest will honor military, first-responders

Salute The Uniform, Inc., has announced its free spring concert in downtown Pampa taking place on April 25 from 11:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on downtown Pampa's "Red Brick Road" of Cuyler Street, between Kingsmill and Browning Streets.

"Our SpringFest is named 'Red River Days' to celebrate generations of heroes from this region who protect us and fought for principles that made America great," said director Vickie Goheen.

"The many that did not pay the ultimate price, still paid a price, and we cannot forget any of them. We are raising awareness of post-traumatic stress syndrome, which is near epidemic. One of Salute The Uniform's senior projects is to organize a phone center for PTSD sufferers to call. We are also engaging discussion with health experts to find other avenues to assist them with much-needed treatment."

Salute The Uniform honors and salutes those past, present and future who wear a uniform in support of others, and particularly military and first-responders.

The concert is bringing multiple bands to a stage at Browning Street, on the north end of Cuyler street, which will be closed to traffic between there and Kingsmill, and will provide hours of music to please all generations, various service organizations and others lining the street with a panoply of booths serving foods, selling crafts and providing a variety of interesting notions.

The CJ Cody Band is head-lining the event.

"CJ served in Iraq with the Thunderbird Battalion," Goheen informed. "We are also bringing Paula DaNell, a White Deer native, Bailey Westberry, the 2013-14 National FFA Talent Event winner, and the Blaine Gillespie Band."

"This is just a Hometown USA event, where people can bring their lawn chairs and kids to relax and sit out in the street, dance, sing, listen to the music, stroll the booths, visit the stores, just smile for the day and be happy we have folks looking out for us. And there will be moments to honor and remember those heroes too, of course," Goheen explained.

The outdoor portion of Salute The Uniform's Red River Days SpringFest will continue until about 4:30 p.m., and then stop to enable people to walk to the historic First National Bank building at the other end of Cuyler Street for the White Deer Land Museum's free talk by nationally-renowned author S.C. Gwynne about the Red River Wars and people who settled and made this region.

"While folks are enjoying that event, we will be moving Salute the Uniform's concert indoors for the evening to the Lone Star Dance Hall just down the road on Cuyler Street, and begin again around 8:00 p.m., so everyone can come out for an evening of old-time Texas music hall dancing and music."

"Nowhere in the country can people come for free to a fabulous day of music, booths of a wide variety, enjoy a nationally-renowned writer and speaker who is the expert about our region, then close the evening at a good old-fashioned Texas music hall. There is plenty of free parking all over downtown Pampa. We invite one and all to come out for day, and thank you for coming."

"As always, we greatly appreciate and thank our great supporters with the City of Pampa, our local Pampa Police and Gray County Sheriff's Department, area first-responders, the Pampa Downtown Business Association, and Pampa Chamber of Commerce."

Additional sponsors are invited and welcome. People and organizations with booths, as well as sponsors, can contact Salute The Uniform Director Vickie Goheen at scooter11buddy@gmail.com or call at (806) 662-4424.

TxDOT launches 'Talk, Text, Crash' campaign

CHILDRESS - With more people dying senselessly on Texas roads due to distracted driving, the Texas Department of Transportation kicks off its annual "Talk, Text, Crash" campaign to urge drivers to give their full attention to the road. TxDOT's campaign coincides with National Distracted Driving Awareness Month in April.

"Nearly 1 in 5 traffic crashes in Texas is caused by a distracted driver," said TxDOT Deputy Executive Director John Barton. "Last year, 468 people were killed because someone took their attention off the road. How important is a fleeting distraction when it could end in the death of someone, perhaps even one of your loved ones?"

Distracted driving-related crashes in Texas are highest among 16- to 24-year-olds. In 2014, there were 100,825 crashes in Texas involving distracted driving — up 6 percent from the previous year.

According to the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, drivers using a mobile phone are four times more likely to cause serious injury in a crash. Text messaging is particularly dangerous. New research conducted last year by the Texas A&M Transportation Institute showed it takes a driver double the amount of time to react when they are distracted by text messaging. Additionally, sending or receiving a text takes a driver's eyes away from the road for an average of 4.6 seconds. At 55 mph, that's the equivalent of driving the length of a football field while blindfolded.

While mobile phone use is the most recognizable driving distraction, any type of behavior that draws a motorist's attention away from driving is dangerous. TxDOT urges drivers to refrain from: Texting, Checking email, Eating and drinking, Grooming, Reading, Programming a navigation system, and Adjusting music or other audio device.

If a distraction absolutely requires immediate attention, TxDOT reminds drivers to pull over to a safe location and come to a complete stop before diverting their attention.

For more information, contact Barbara Seal at Barbara.Seal@txdot.gov or (940) 937-7288.
