The shooting of Senator Kennedy yesterday was shocking and deplorable. But who can be surprised. We have for some time now been coddling the criminal element of the land and have been pinning medals on those responsible for acts of violence. From the Supreme Court on down, the criminal has been given every encouragement, and sympathy has been on the side of the wrong doer rather than his victim.

Why wouldn't these events encourage murder and mayhem? Any sick mind with an urge to kill would have to be encouraged in this violent atmosphere.

Maybe, just maybe this tragic event will put the nation back on the road to sanity and the guilty will be punished again, rather than lauded. If the present condition is allowed to continue nobody will be safe walking the streets of America.

Already public officials are in danger every time they mingle with a crowd. It is high time we restore order and punish those who break any law of the land. Although this nation has a long way to go in its return to sanity, this would be a step in the right direction.

While we are diametrically opposed to Senator Kennedy's political views, we are shocked and infuriated at the act of violence which struck him down. However, we are quite prepared to have the conservative ranks blamed for the incident. That seems to be the normal course any national tragedy takes these days. Seems odd, since the liberals and socialists are running the country and have been for several years.

We are sorry you got your Stockman a day late last week. No, we did not close down for the holiday. It was business as usual around here and the papers were ready at the usual time. However, the post office was closed and there was no one to put up the papers. They usually manage to get the papers out even though they are closed for a holiday, and we were a little miffed that everybody managed to get their out-of-town papers. Oh well, maybe they just forgot about us.

"Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds." This is an excerpt from a quote which is supposed to describe the postal system. However, if you will notice, it doesn't mention holidays.

Lucky are those elected officials who have no opponent this year. I've never heard of so many incumbents biting the dust in local elections. Here in Ozona Saturday all three incumbent commissioners were ousted in the only locally contested races in the second Democratic primary.

One can't help but wonder if this signifies some sort of change in voting habits. Maybe it's the majority's way of protesting. If so we may have a sweeping change in November from top to bottom. This may be a very healthy sign indeed.

Polio & Measles Vaccines Will Be Given June 16th

A community-wide polio and measles vaccine drive is underway here, with the first vaccines to be given Sunday, June 16, between the hours of noon and 5 p. m. at North Elementary and South Elementary schools. The vaccines will not be given this Sunday as stated in the San Angelo paper.

The Rotary Club is in charge of publicity with Al Fields as chairman.

A house-to-house canvass will be made to distribute information about the vaccines and urge that residents participate. The Ozona Lions Club, the local women's clubs and the Southside Lions Club along with interested volunteers will be in charge of the canvass.

Plans for the massive drive were put into motion by Judge Bernice Jones and Dr. Lloyd Sherrill, who will head up the medical staff, in cooperation with the Texas State Health Department furnishing the vaccines. Officials began work on the drive after an Ozona youth died of the disease recently.

The vaccines will be offered free of charge. However, donations will be accepted and Ozona National Bank officials will be in charge of this part of the drive. No one is obligated to pay or donate funds.

Booster polio vaccines will be given June 16 to those who had the series of vaccines more than five years ago. This will include those who participated in the drive (Continued on Last Page)

Winners Named In 4th Annual 4-H Dress Revue

Skookie Edgerton and Susie Russell were named winners of the Fourth Annual Crockett County 4-H Dress Revue in the senior and junior divisions respectively at the Civic Center last Wednesday. Enemencia Diaz was runner-up in the senior division and Romelia Vela was named runner-up in the junior division. The two winners will represent the county in the District-6 4-H Dress Revue on July 18 in Crane.

Forty 4-H girls participated in the county event. Watson's Department Store furnished ribbons and rosettes for all the winners. The Ozona Home Demonstration Club presented awards for the four top winners and furnished refreshments following the program.

Judges for the show were all from Crane and included the following: Roberta W. Watters, CHD; Mrs. E. J. Simmons and Mrs. R. D. Penny, 4-H adult leaders; and junior 4-H leaders Paula Davidson, Janet McManus and Vicky Bratton. Mrs. Roberta Johnson, District Home Demonstration Agent from Fort Stockton assisted local 4-H leaders and county agent Pete W. Jacoby with the show.

Woman Dies In One Car Crash West Of Ozona

One fatality was chalked up during a rash of accidents in Crockett County during the past week. One man was seriously injured and property damage was high.

Dead is Mrs. Eleanor Scott, 54, of Riverside, California, who was dead at the scene of an accident eight miles west of Ozona on U. S. 290 Tuesday afternoon. Her husband, Harlan Scott, 61, was hospitalized with fractures and lacerations, but is in fair condition at this time.

Mrs. Scott was driving a 1964 Volvo, traveling east, when her car ran off the right shoulder of the highway. She was approaching a culvert and apparently cut back short, causing the car to go into a broadside skid across the road, off the left side and overturn three times. The two were trapped in the wreckage until seatbelts could be cut away. Investigating officer Del Copeland said the woman's glasses were found approximately in the place where the car overturned the second time and apparently her head struck the ground at that point. Both doors were open at the scene of the crash. The car was a total wreck. (Continued on Last Page)

Dr. Curl Returns For 2nd Year As Methodist Pastor

Dr. R. F. Curl was re-appointed as pastor of the Ozona Methodist Church at the recent annual Southwest Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church in Austin. Dr. Curl returns for his second year as pastor of the local church.

Announcement of the appointments of pastors for the coming year for the 300 churches in the Conference was made by Bishop Eugene Slater of San Antonio. As presiding Bishop, Bishop Slater released the new clergy list at the closing service of the 110th annual meeting of the Conference held in Austin where some 600 delegates represented 117,812 Methodists in 76 counties in three days of business sessions.

The Rev. Kermit Gibbons of San Angelo was re-appointed District Superintendent of the San Angelo District.

For the first time in modern Crockett County history, three incumbent commissioners were beaten by their opponents in the second Democratic primary Saturday. In a large turnout for a run-off election, Crockett voters elected new commissioners in precincts one, two and PRESTON SMITH of Lubbock, won an overwhelming victory over liberal Don Yarborough in Saturday's runoff primary for the Democratic party nomination for governor of Texas. Lt. Gov. Smith will face Republican Paul Eggers of Wichita Falls in the general election in November.

Plan New Push For Screwworm Control Program

T. A. Kincaid, Jr., of Ozona and LaVernia, Texas, here early in the week looking after things at his ranch south of Ozona, said the screwworm program is facing a critical time just now.

Kincaid, a member of the committee administering the screwworm program in Texas, has just returned from a trip into Mexico with members of the committee conferring with their Mexican counterparts.

The Mexican ranchers are enthusiastic about the program, Kincaid said, and more and more cooperation is expected from the Mexican government.

Right now, Kincaid said, the threat of widespread infestation of screwworms hangs over Texas. Already, more cases have been re-three. Precinct four commissioner does not come up for election this year.

With the total county vote 1,136, local residents went along with the remainder of the state by giving Preston Smith a large majority in the run-off for Democratic nominee for governor. Smith received 719 votes to Don Yarborough's 387. Smith will face Republican Paul Egger in the November general election.

The race for commissioner precinct 1 was the closest of the three county contests. Jesse C. Marley beat incumbent commissioner C. O. (Lefty) Walker by 42 votes to become the Democratic nominee for that post. Marley polled 245 votes to Walker's 203, making a much closer contest than in the first primary. Marley will face James Baggett, Republican, in the November election.

Bill Black took an easy victory over his opponent, Mrs. Rex Halydier in the race for commissioner precinct 2. Black received a total of 151 votes and Mrs. Halydier got 85 votes. The precinct two race was a special election for the remaining two years of the four year term of Rex Halydier, who died shortly after winning a four year term two years ago. Mrs. Halydier was appointed by the court to serve in her husband's place until the election. Black will also have a Republican opponent in the general election in November, Charles G. Applewhite.

Jack Williams, who led the field of eight candidates in the first primary, beat U. S. (Rusty) Smith by 80 votes to become the new commissioner of precinct 3, by virtue of having no opponent in November. Williams will take office January, 1969. He polled 225 votes and Smith received 145.

Voting by boxes went as follows: Courthouse, precinct 1; for governor, Smith 166, Yarborough 188; commissioner, Walker 155, Marley 220.

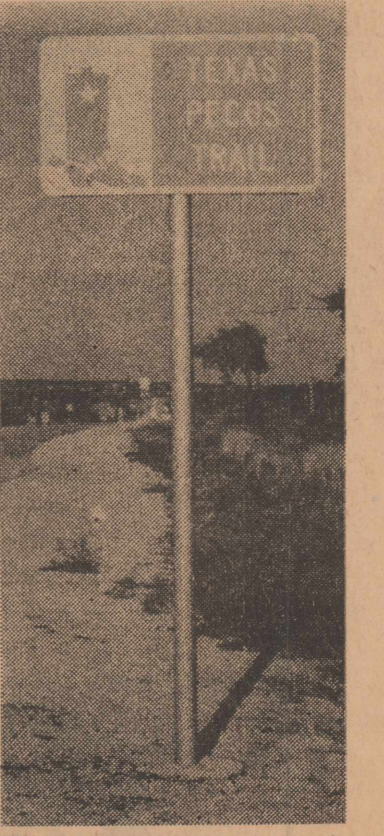

High School, precinct 2; Smith 137, Yarborough 38; commissioner, Black 193, Halydier 72.

Powell Field, precinct 2; Smith 10, Yarborough 6; Black 11, Halydier 5.

GREETING THE CAVALCADE — Ozonans gathered at the downtown park Saturday morning to greet members of the 18-car cavalcade making the tour of the Texas Pecos Trail. The touring party formed at Midland and went from here to Sonora, Junction, Rocksprings, Brackettville and Del Rio, where dedication ceremonies were planned. A heavy rain interrupted the proceedings, however, County Judge Bernice Jones (dark glasses, left) and numbers of other Ozonans were on hand to greet the cavalcade. Other Ozonans in the picture are Mrs. Bascomb Cox, facing Judge Jones, A. R. Rutherford, far left, and Chamber of Commerce President Dean Rippetoe, fourth from right. Chamber Manager and Mrs. Hubert Baker joined the cavalcade for the trip to Del Rio.

This sign guided the travelers over the route.

Washington News Letter

Congressman O. C. Fisher

If Abe Lincoln were alive today, he'd be eligible for the Poor People's march, and he could qualify for the $4,000 annual guaranteed income the marchers are now demanding — that is, during most of his life. Yet such thoughts would undoubtedly have been repulsive to him. He was proud, and he believed in work.

The families of other Presidents could also have qualified during their younger years. Former President Eisenhower is an example. Visiting his old home in Abilene, Kansas, where he and his brothers grew up, Ike, while looking around the old place, was quoted as saying: "You know something? I didn't know until years later that we were poor."

That reminds us that Ike was actually born in Denison, Texas.

I saw Eisenhower for the first time in September of 1944 at his secret headquarters near Paris. Congressman Bob Poage and I had hitchhiked a flight to London on an old British flying boat. The war was raging, and London was blacked out. Col. Earl Rudder had led his Rangers over the Normandy cliffs at Omaha Beach 100 days earlier, followed by the successful invasion. Paris had been liberated 30 days.

Through his aides, who often commuted across the channel, General Eisenhower learned we were in London. He invited us to visit him, which we eagerly accepted.

After lunch the Allied Commander insisted that we remain at the table for a while pending a staff meeting for two o'clock. He shared much interesting information about the war with us.

At one point in the conversation Bob Poage said: "General, we in Texas are real proud of the fact that you were born in the Lone Star State!"

"So am I," replied Ike, with a nostalgic glitter in his eyes. "You know what caused it? Grasshoppers!"

He then explained that his father, with a big family to feed, had his Kansas farm crop wiped out by an invasion of grasshoppers. His father heard about railroad construction work at Denison and loaded the family in the wagon and headed for Texas.

"While he was down there working, I was born. So I reckon I'll have to say that grasshoppers caused me to be born in Texas!"

Outside we paused for a picture on the steps, then departed. As we walked away I said to Poage: "Bob, that man'll some day be President of the United States!" It was as plain as the nose on your face.

The "Spotting & Finishing Award", which is now prominently displayed in his store, reads: "To Arthur Kyle, Kyle Kleaners, in recognition of professional drycleaning skill demonstrated by actual test performance."

Some people plant tomatoes in the spring

Others plant carrots, or onions, or cucumbers, or asparagus, or lettuce. But there's one thing you can plant now that will create a variety of tastes. A gas barbecue grill.

We have several varieties. Any one lets you harvest a delicious meal any time of the year. Its perfect heat control and permanent briquettes give you year 'round cooking pleasure without the mess of a charcoal fire.

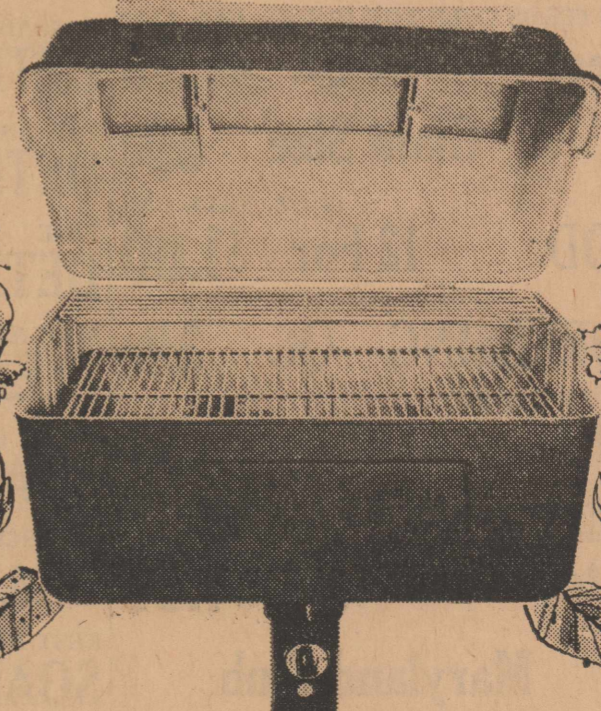

For best results, we recommend early planting. This will guarantee larger yields because you can start your harvest immediately.

New lower prices on the '68 models are in effect through July 31st. Prices start at $77.52 cash (includes installation and tax) or as little as $2.50 a month, whichever you prefer. After that, it will only cost a few cents per month for us to feed it.

Call us. We'll plant a gas barbecue grill in your yard.

That is, if you have a taste for the outdoors.

Buy a PATIO PAIR (one gas light and one gas barbecue grill) and save $26.00. Prices start at $103.70 (includes installation and tax) or $4.00 a month.

GARDEN HINTS —

Water Is Vital Ingredient For Healthy Lawns

If the grass is always greener across the fence, it may be that your recipe for a healthy lawn includes too much or too little water. So says Dr. J. R. Watson, noted agronomist and lawn care expert for the Toro Manufacturing Corporation. For the modern homeowner, the lawn has become the summer livingroom — an extension of the family's living space. In order to get full use out of that extra room, it must not be cluttered up with sprinkling equipment. And the grass must be kept springy enough to resist the wear of foot traffic.

Water is vital for various growth functions in the plant: germination, cellular development, tissue growth, food manufacture and as a temperature regulator. Too little water can leave your lawn dry, parched and brown. Grass that is in a state of wilt or near-wilt is easily damaged by traffic. Too much water develops weak grass, susceptible to weed invasion, diseases and insect attacks.

Dr. Watson suggests that homeowners who want to develop a luxuriant, green lawn should first determine their watering needs and then set up a sound watering program.

"The need to water is affected by the length of the growing season, the rate of growth, the amount and distribution of rainfall, the soil texture, moisture content of the soil, the kind of grass, and rate of evaporation. The interaction of these factors determines the water deficit or surplus," said Dr. Watson.

But there is an easy guide to watering, based on data accumulated by Toro. These tables trace precipitation and evaporation averages for the past 30 years throughout the United States and in most areas of Canada. They show that no area in the U. S. and only a few in Canada receive sufficient rainfall during the grass-growing season. The number of months in which there is insufficient water delivered by nature to sustain satisfactory growth varies from three to four in the Northeast to over eight months in the more arid Southwest.

According to Hartley Johnigan of Hartley's Corner Service, normal soil in this area requires approximately 3 inches of supplemental water per week in order to grow healthy turf. Although this increases during July as the temperature goes up, it is a good starting point for determining specific water needs.

Careful observation is the next step. Johnigan offers this hint: when you can see footprints in the lawn, it's a sign of thirty grass and that's the time to water.

Once you've determined your lawn's watering needs, set up a regular program. For best results start watering in the early morning hours (after midnight). Winds are usually calm, evaporation is at minimum and water pressure is at its highest.

Johnigan recommends the use of an automatic underground sprinkler system that works like a clock radio and can be programmed to operate while you sleep. Such a system can be set to put down the correct amount of water for your lawn.

Water should be applied to the soil no faster than it can be absorbed. Delivering water at "cloudburst" intensity — which many sprinklers and most hoses do — results in erosion run-off and wastes one-third to 45 percent of the water applied. In order to conserve water and get best results, sprinkler systems should deliver water at the slow rate of a "gentle rain" — only as fast as the soil can absorb it.

Mr. Johnigan also noted that although automatic sprinkler systems cost less than many home appliances, they now qualify for FHA home improvement loans. He is representative in this area for Toro's Moist O'Matic underground sprinkling systems.

Voters of Precinct 1:

Look to November!

You still can have CHANGE but with Maturity and sound judgment — plus an opportunity to establish a TWO-PARTY system of government for Crockett county that will, in future years, make for healthier, more responsive and responsible government.

I intend to make an active campaign for your vote in the Republican column in the November general election. I feel that the voters of Precinct 1 are intelligent enough to want representation on equality with the other precincts of the county. I hope to have the opportunity to talk it over with you between now and Nov. 4.

Meantime, I hope you will give serious thought to joining me in this campaign to bring two-party government (the only true democracy) to Crockett county. I will appreciate your support and influence in the coming months.

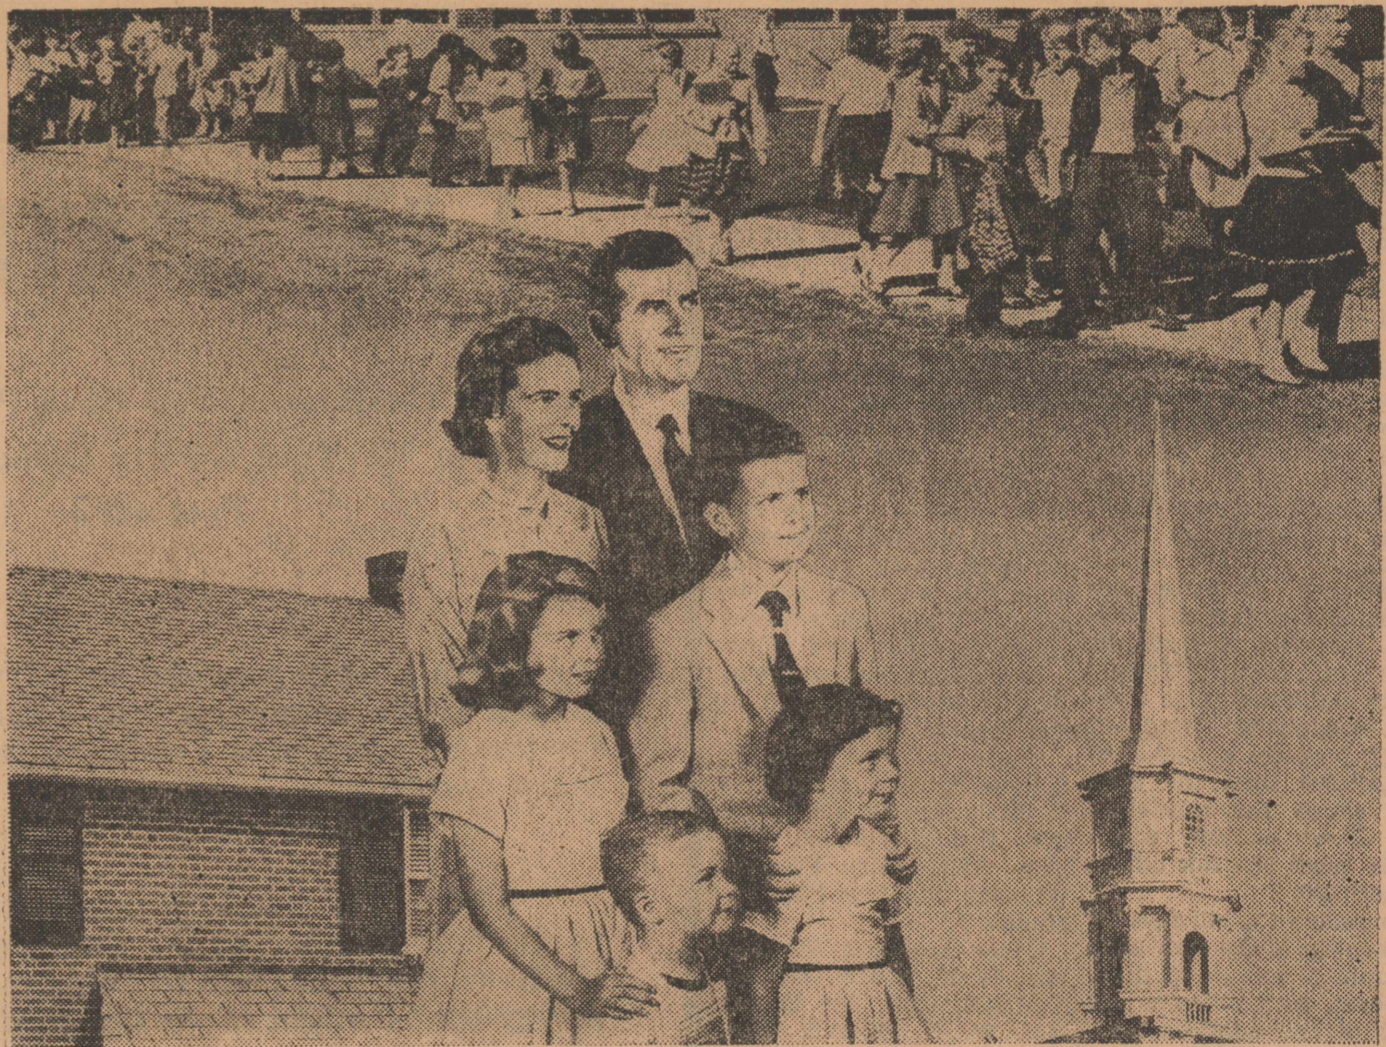

Sincerely,

JAMES BAGGETT

TRIUMPHANT TRIANGLE

HOME . . . SCHOOL . . . CHURCH! The predominant influences in the life of a child.

The Home provides love, security, example—to shape the growing personality.

The School develops the mind, stimulates initiative, nurtures social responsibility.

The Church cultivates faith and character, building the spiritual foundations of a noble life.

Wise parents understand the vital importance of each of these influences in the growth of their child. They work faithfully to strengthen all three.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

From Your State Capital

Austin, Texas — Texas Constitutional Revision Commission has completed its series of winter and spring work sessions, rewriting the Texas charter of government. It will not meet again until August.

Any fair analysis of the status of constitutional revision in Texas would have to be based on a note of pessimism regarding the chances for ultimate acceptance of the committee's work to date.

Main problem for the 25 revisionists to overcome was created when the Commission was established — by a divided legislature — in the spring of 1967.

Originally the Commission was to be formed by a joint House and Senate resolution. However, the Senate refused to go along with the plan so the House acted alone. Speaker Ben Barnes named a House Committee. But Lt. Gov. Preston Smith declined to make any appointments. Gov. John Connally gave considerable moral support to the Committee, but now he is a "lame duck" and will not be governor when the Commission submits its report to the Legislature next January.

In terms of the substantive proposals for a new constitution, the Commission has been far from decisive to this point.

Connally Win Certain — Governor Connally's control of the State Democratic Convention in Dallas on June 11 apparently will be by overwhelming majority.

Will Davis, Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, says 215 of the 254 county conventions passed resolutions endorsing Connally's favorite son candidacy, and 22 more counties are sending uninstructed delegations to the state convention.

Special Session — There will be a hot time in this old town . . . extending from the June 4 opening of the special legislature session until whenever it ends . . . and that is anybody's guess.

Main business, of course, is passing a $2,500,000,000 appropriations bill to finance state government for the 1969 fiscal year beginning September 1 and approval of about $125,000,000 in new taxes.

Governor Connally has recommended general revenue spending $45,200,000. That would require $123,800,000 in additional state taxation. Legislative Budget Board proposes a budget of $471,000,000 from the fund over which the legislature has direct control, which would boost the tax bill to $129,600,000.

Connally's tax bill calls for an increase of the state sales tax rate from two to three per cent, with cities to get most of the additional revenue in the form of a direct rebate. Many services not now taxed also would be included in the three per cent levy. Statewide tax would do away with one per cent local sales tax now charged in more than 300 cities that contain the vast majority of Texas' population.

Session also is expected to come to grips with the explosive issue of liquor by the drink. A slight majority of the legislators live in districts which approved the May 4 mixed drink referendum by margins ranging from slight to overwhelming. But that's no assurance the measure will pass.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and House Speaker Ben Barnes also are urging Governor Connally to submit riot control bills to the legislators. They propose laws which would give cities authority to contract with each other for the exchange of police officers in the event of violent outbreaks; empower cities to enact strict curfew ordinances curbing sale of liquor, flammable materials and weapons; make it unlawful to trespass on public property with intent to interfere with public business; ban disturbances of public meetings and provide stiff penalties for interfering with police and others performing public duties in riot-hit cities.

Hold onto your hats and fasten your seat belts. This could be a good one!

President Johnson's popularity dropped another notch last week when he made his Memorial Day speech during "As the World Turns." Had he been running for office again, he would never have scheduled it at that particular time.

Woman Dies —

No injuries were sustained in another accident occurring around noon Monday just south of Barnhart in Irion county. C. O. Walker of Ozona, travelling north on Hwy. 163 in a 1966 GMC pickup hit the rear of a 1966 Ford driven by Foy J. McClelland of Barnhart, as it pulled out of a side road directly in his path. Damage to the Walker pickup was $600 and $300 to the Ford. Walker was pulling a trailer load of sheep. None of the sheep suffered injuries.

Minor damage was sustained to an Atlas Van Line furniture van Monday night around 9 o'clock six miles east on U. S. 290. The rig, driven by Charles Howell of Midland, hit a sign as it entered the construction detour. The diesel fuel tank was punctured and damage was estimated at around $100.

Two wrecks were investigated Saturday, the first occurred around seven miles west on U. S. 290 when a 1963 Plymouth, driven by Douglas Seaver of Melbourne, Fla. went out of control after going off the road on the right, veered roadside across the highway and overturned on the left side of the road. Seaver was uninjured, but damage to the car amounted to $800.

The second mishap Saturday occurred at 7 p. m. at the intersection of Hwy. 137 and 29. A Ford truck, driven by Calvin Bullard of Odesa, was stopped at the stop sign on 137, when a 1956 Ford driven by Catarino Perez of Rankin turned off Hwy 29 onto 137, skidded on wet pavement and hit the truck. Damage to the car was $300. The truck was not damaged and there were no injuries.

ported in the state than last year, when the worm nearly got out of hand, and the weather continues favorable to further infestations. Earliest outbreaks were in the lower valley where the screwworm fly overwinters. But in the last few years, outbreaks have been reported as far west as Terrell coun-

Ranchmen should continue to keep vigil over their livestock and to check all wounds and treat them promptly. Spraying of sheep and goats after shearing and frequent checks of cattle is advised. Any worms found should be promptly sent to the Mission screwworm control center for investigation. If found to be screwworms, prompt drops of sterile flies will be made.

The latest move in the control program is the proposed outfitting of a surplus troop ship into a floating sterile screwworm factory.

Plans are under way to make new requests of Congress for additional appropriate funds to continue eradication work in Mexico and to extend the operation farther south, Kincaid said. In order to get such an appropriation it may be necessary to go back to the producers for a moderate donation to go with the government funds sought, he said. Further announcements will be made on this program later.

which began in the fall of 1962. The first vaccine, which is given orally, will be given to those who have not been vaccinated for the disease and eight weeks later the second dose will be given. Measles vaccine will also be given on the 16th. It is recommended for all those who have not had measles.

L. B. T. Sikes Superintendent of schools, will be in charge of preparing both schools for the inoculations. Records of each vaccine administered will be made by another group of volunteers.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Perner and son Mike, of Friendswood, Texas, were here over the week-end visiting Mr. Perner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Perner, and brother, Sam Perner, and family. Mike is staying over for a couple weeks visiting.

My Thanks to All --

It has been a pleasure visiting and getting better acquainted with the people in Precinct 2.

Thank you all for the confidence you placed in me by your vote and support in the Democratic run-off primary last Saturday, June 1.

Your continued support through the November election will be most sincerely appreciated.
