Kitty's Korner By Kitty Montgomery

A great deal has been said and debate abounds about the passing of a gun law by Congress. Isn't this just locking the barn door after the horse has been stolen?

Will a gun law really stop the violence that has this nation in its grip? How many people have been killed and injured by molotov cocktails, the chief weapon used in the riots in the cities? Will any law really stop this madness, in a time when breaking the law is acceptable.

Will sick minds inflamed with the sight of riots, murders, protests and demonstrations of violence be restrained by a gun law? Will an assassin be stopped if he has no gun? Will he not find another way?

These are some of the many questions one must ask about this nation today. We have laws. Why are they not enforced? Why must the cry of "police brutality" render our law enforcement agencies helpless and make a hero of a thug with his head bashed in? Why does the Supreme Court of this land pass and put into effect laws which allow murderers to go free on technicalities? With a malignant tumor in the brain, does the surgeon remove the patient's appendix? Of course not. Yet, that is about what a gun law would amount to as a cure for violence in this nation.

After looking through an American history book the other night, I promised myself to quit nagging Jim about getting a hair cut. I am also going to overlook the clothes fads the younger generation comes up with.

Our founding fathers wore their hair much longer than our local teenagers, along with powdered white wigs. Their attire consisted of silk shirts with ruffled collars and cuffs, knee pants, along with brocaded coats and britches. Ornate buckles adorned their shoes, silk knee socks were the thing and ornate rings adorned the index finger.

Yet, we never think of them as peculiar or way out, so why should we complain about boys with "longer than we think proper hair." As long as they are clean in mind and body, what the heck. After all, it's really what's under the hair that counts.

Everybody makes mistakes with the exception of those who read newspapers. That's why they make pencils with erasers on the other end. Politicians explain away their mistakes, doctors bury their's, but we in the newspaper business just have to live with ours. When we make one, it's right there for all to see and not a darn thing we can do about it. We don't make mistakes deliberately, although you will find those who swear we do.

Our mistakes are really quite painful to us and we usually know about them before we hear about them. The one thing that makes us able to bear hearing about each printed mistake so long and so often is the sure knowledge that we are well read. And, after all, that's what we are here for.

It's really pretty quite a round town this week. With school out, kids away at camp, families on vacation or off to the ranch for the

Polio & Measles Vaccines To Be Given Sun. 2 to 5

Registration forms for the measles and polio vaccine are being distributed by various civic clubs and women's clubs throughout the town this week. Inoculations will be given Sunday for measles, the first in a series of three polio vaccine and polio boosters.

Parents are urged to fill out the form for the entire family and bring it to either of the schools Sunday. The vaccines will be given at North Elementary and at South Elementary schools from 12 o'clock until 5 p. m.

Dr. Lloyd Sherrill is in charge of the medical staff. The Texas State Health Department is furnishing the vaccine and will have observers on hand Sunday. There will be no charge for the vaccine, but donations will be accepted.

Records will be kept at both schools and will be on file for future checks. All residents are urged to participate in the drive and urge those who have not had the vaccine to fill out a form and be on hand Sunday.

The registration form states that children one year through nine years who have not had regular (10-day) measles or live measles vaccine should have the measles vaccine.

Children should not have the measles vaccine if they are sick with a high fever the day of the campaign, or are ill and under the care of a physician, unless he is consulted beforehand.

Children six weeks and up should have the complete series of oral polio vaccine. This is also recommended for adults. A complete series is at least three doses. Polio boosters should be given to all those who had the series longer than five years ago.

Those ill with high fever or having vomiting or diarrhea the day of the campaign should not have the vaccine.

The form has a space for listing members of the family, age and what type vaccine is needed. It is to be signed by the parent.

Leigh, John and Scott Perry of San Antonio spent last week here with their granddaughter and aunt, Mrs. Gertrude Perry and Miss Mildred North. Their parents Mr. and Mrs. Joe Perry, came for them during the weekend.

Korean Orphans Well Supplied With Clothing Thru Generosity Of Americans Col. Cannon Reports

Lt. Col. George Cannon, whose wife and children are living in Ozona while he is serving as commander of a U. S. Air Force base in Korea reports from Kuan-Ju, Korea that the response to an appeal for clothing for a local orphanage there has been tremendous. He said boxes of clothing had arrived from the home towns of most of the men in his command.

He sent a special thanks to Ozona residents and clubs, who have contributed so generously to the cause. The last boxes were sent early this week from the Ozona Home Demonstration Club. They contained clothes for infants. Col. Cannon says, with the last donations, all the children, one hundred and eighty, have clothes to last a long time.

GOVERNMENT BY BLACKMAIL

It would indeed be difficult to find a person in these United States who doesn't have one or more proposals that he'd like to submit to the Congress in Washington. Every ranchman we know has a few, as does every housewife. We suspect that law enforcement officers even have a few bills they would like to see placed in the hopper. To a degree, every citizen is a lobbyist.

And all these lobbyists have a right to petition their representatives for their personal self-interest. That right is important in our country. But the so-called "Poor People's March" is violating the code of civilized lobbying. In the first place, the billing as a poor people's march is misleading, as any recent visitor to the Lincoln Memorial area can testify. There are just too many high-priced automobiles parked at the perimeter of the plywood shanty town, and there are too many people coming and going from the fenced-in compound with expensive cameras hanging about their necks. Any protest that the automobiles and cameras don't belong to residents of the commune can be ignored because no one else is allowed inside by the civilian guards at the gate.

In any event, on May 24, a mass demonstration was held in front of the Washington apartment building where Representative Wilbur Mills lives when the Congress is in session. The assembled lobbyists chanted and sang despite the fact that they had been informed that the Congressman was not at home, but had gone out for the evening to celebrate his birthday. The Reverend James Bevel, of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, shouted to the throng that, "Wilbur Mills has snuck out of his rat hole and made a run for it. He's out getting drunk; but he'll be back! Surely it is obvious that anyone who would throw around slanderous statements such as this and expect favorable legislation in return is truly trying a new form of salesmanship.

A couple of days later, the leader of the march, the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, was quoted as saying that if his poor people's demands are not met the march will continue to the home town of each Congressman. Is that a petition? From where we sit it sounds more like blackmail. And our hunch is that home town neighbors of Congressmen will prove to be less tolerant of such demonstrations than Washington has been.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Oswald and children of Fairburn, Ga. arrived Monday night for a visit with Mrs. Oswald's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Baggett, and other relatives.

Washington News Letter

Congressman O. C. Fisher

The terrible tragedy of the murder of Senator Robert Kennedy sent shock waves throughout the land. It serves as a grim reminder of the presence of a criminally infested atmosphere. The public reaction was displayed in many ways.

By way of coincidence, at the time the homicide was committed, the House was in the process of acting upon a controversial crime control bill, bitterly resisted by many in the liberal ranks who opposed court-directed wiretapping to help apprehend dangerous criminals, and who opposed the nullification of Supreme Court decisions which have hampered law enforcement. The bill dealt with both.

Despite these and other desirable contents, opposition to the measure endangered some of its more effective provisions. Opponents were determined to water it down, and the vote was expected to be close.

Shortly before the House was to act, the awful tragedy struck in Los Angeles. A final vote was taken. Opposition crumbled in the face of the massive public demand for better law enforcement and the firm belief that the crime bill would help. Public opinion asserted itself.

The vote was 368 to 17. It was rated as a triumph for law and order.

While the killing of Kennedy was too awful for words, it amounted to the snuffing out of one human life. Scores of other victims, equally as free of mischief, are ruthlessly cut down by murderers each week.

Senator Kennedy was shot at 3:15 a. m. on Wednesday. Fifteen minutes earlier, three men entered the Little Tavern shop in Washington's Georgetown district, and, without provocation or warning, shot and killed two young Marine lieutenants, and wounded another Marine and a girl. Two other youthful Marine officers escaped the fusillade of seven shots that were fired.

The Marines, fresh from a social event and dressed in starched white uniforms, with a young lady were sitting at a counter sipping coffee, tending to their own business. Three bearded Negroes came in, one of them made an ugly remark about a name on one of the Marine's uniforms. Words were exchanged. The three intruders went to the door as if to leave, then suddenly wheeled around and fired the fatal shots.

A passing policeman heard the shots, pursued the culprits, arrested them and recovered two pistols. The trio had arrived in Washington two days earlier to join the Poor Peoples' Campaign, police said.

Miss Cathy Miller Becomes Bride Of Billy Carson In Sat. Ceremony

Miss Catherine Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Miller, became the bride of William James Carson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William James Carson, in a formal ceremony Saturday afternoon, June 8, at the Ozona Methodist Church.

Dr. Clyde Childers of Abilene performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of pure white peau de soie, fashioned with a softly scooped neckline-outlined with imported French lace. A molded bodice topped the A-line skirt and a Wateau train, full and luxurious, bordered in the French lace completed the bridal gown. Her veil of French illusion was applied and bordered in matching lace, and worn forward to frame her face.

She carried a small olive wood Bible brought from Bethlehem in 1955 and presented to the groom by Dr. and Mrs. Childers. It was topped with a bouquet of white orchids surrounded by white carnations and ivy.

Julia Miller served her sister as maid-of-honor. Bridesmaids and matrons were Bonnie Carson, sister of the bridegroom; Janis Walker, Vicki Applewhite, Brenda Brentz, Mrs. Jeffery Sutton of Ennis and Mrs. David Smith of San Angelo. Jana Lilly served as flower girl.

The attendants wore identical yellow linen gowns with white embossed lace forming the empire bodice and sleeves. They carried bouquets of daisies framed in ivy.

Dan E. Gary of Alpine was best man. Groomsmen were Ronnie Mason, Larry Don Webb, Hank Miller, brother of the bride, Jeffery Sutton of Ennis, Ken Black of Big Lake and Jim Gary.

Musicians were Mrs. L. B. Cox, III, organist and Mrs. Brooks Dozier of Irving, soloist. Vocal selections included "A Wedding Prayer" and "No Other Love."

The church was decorated with arrangements of white spider mums, carnations, gladioli and pale yellow roses.

A reception followed the wedding in the fellowship hall. White and yellow floral arrangements were used in decorations with the exception of the groom's table which was centered with an arrangement of red carnations.

THE CONQUEST OF FEAR

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

One of the earliest emotions a child experiences is fear. And from the first loud noise that awakens him until the moment of his death he knows no day without the recurrence of some foreboding danger.

From the beginning of time religion has been our tested antidote to the poison of fear. In the dark forests of antiquity, on the boiling seas of exploration, in the foxholes of modern strife, men have calmed the body's trembling with the soul's faith. We have faced the unknown, the hostile, through trust in the Known, the Faithful; we have challenged the insurmountable, confident in the power of the Almighty.

How essential, though, that each generation passes on our Faith to the next! Who dares deprive a child of the chance to conquer fear? Who would rob his son's soul of the Christian heritage martyrs died to preserve?

Bring your children to God's House every Sunday.

The Lesson of France

The chaos that has overtaken the French Republic is a grim warning to free men everywhere that anarchism, unless promptly and firmly curbed, can destroy the most solid structures of government and disrupt the most prosperous countries.

No excuse existed for revolutionary upheaval in France. In the last decade, the French economy has moved forward steadily. The French people are better off financially than ever before. More young people have access to higher education than at any time in the history of the country. Nevertheless, France has been torn apart by disorders.

Why? To be sure, France has tolerated a large and active Communist Party. As a result, many working men in France still are influenced and conditioned by Marxist ideas. But the regular Communist Party of France did not spark the explosion in early May. It began at the University of Paris and had its roots in the anti-American agitation of leftist students opposed to U. S. involvement in the Vietnam struggle. Only when the student anarchist disorders began to grow in size did the regular Communist Party Organization order major strikes and take over the control of the disorders.

The anarchist groups that have been creating small-scale violence in France for over a year were not taken seriously by the French authorities. So long as the USA was the target of demonstrations, the De Gaulle government apparently didn't mind a little disorder and lawlessness. It learned the bitter lesson that a little strife soon grows into a monster of strife.

In the United States, good citizens can only hope that governmental authorities and heads of educational institutions will learn from the French experience. The groups of anarchists and civil disobedience advocates in American colleges and universities are numerically small. Too often they are dismissed as insignificant. Well, Columbia University at long discovered that the anarchists aren't insignificant at all.

It takes only one individual yelling "fire!" in a crowded theater to cause a disaster that takes a terrible toll of life. And it takes only a scattering of organized, violence-inclined groups to upset great universities and throw chaos into towns and cities.

Most Americans don't understand the conspiratorial mentality. They don't grasp that the anarchists and civil disobedience types think along totalitarian lines — that is to say, that they are planning actual war within our country. Most Americans think in terms of practical discussions and sensible negotiations. But the radicals in the universities are like the North Vietnamese communists at the Paris conference table — they believe in total war to the end.

The anarchists are playing for the highest stakes — the destruction and takeover of western society. The example of France shows how far small militant groups can go in creating havoc. The example of Columbia University, which has been crippled, provides further confirmation.

It is not clear what else the anarchists may be planning in the United States this summer, but they surely will not be idle. It is possible, even likely, that they will try to repeat the Columbia University performance at the nominating conventions of the two national political parties. They may try their force methods as an attempt to demand political concessions from the convention delegate.

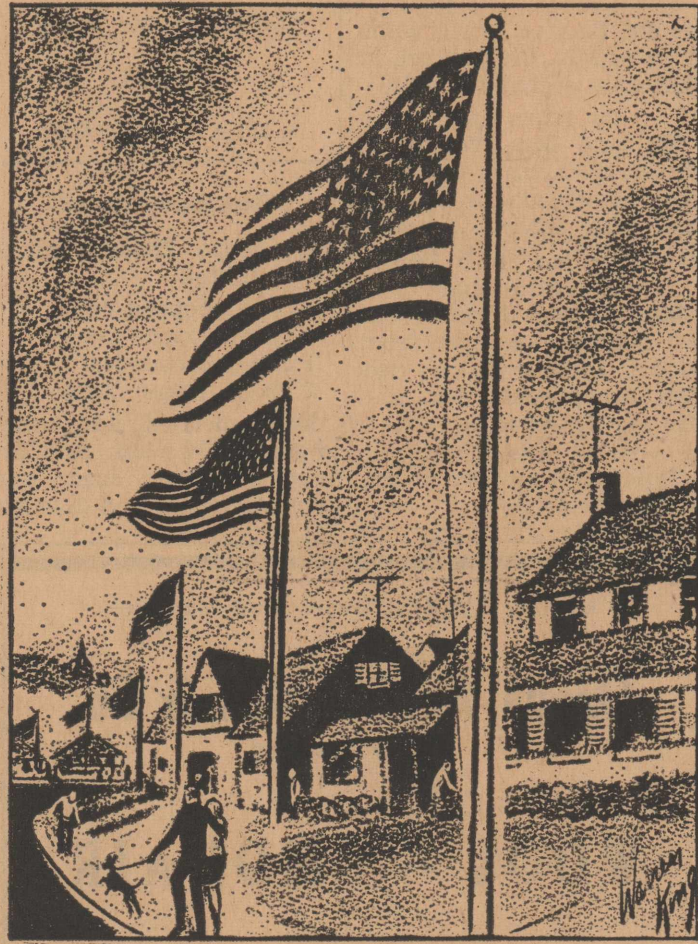

On the college and university front, however, it is time that responsible citizens realize that they cannot just stand on the sidelines and deplore what has taken place. A writer for Barron's Financial Weekly has spoken to this point. "Now is the time for intelligent counter-actions," said the writer for Barron's. "One means is to withhold financial support from colleges which condone or compromise with student terror tactics."

College and university trustees are under heavy pressure from the Left. Radical faculty members, as well as the militant students, are threatening strikes and other forms of intimidation. The trustees need to know that alumni and the general public feel very strongly on the subject of law and order in educational institutions.

At Columbia University the students who want to study and who oppose the radical rioters are organizing. Such students at Columbia and elsewhere deserve assistance from alumni and other interested students. Efforts should be widened to get the views and proposals of these law-abiding students into the news media. As the writer for Barron's declared, "A free society cannot survive unless men of reason rally to its defense."

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Kirby and daughters, Kristy and Karen, will spend the weekend in San Antonio touring the HemisFair.

FLAG DAY

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

From Your State Capital

Austin, Texas — Sitting in special session to approve appropriations and tax bills for the fiscal year beginning September 1, the House and Senate began deliberations on how to distribute some $2,500,000,000 in appropriations.

When that little problem is taken care of, the Legislature will worry about one that's potentially more disastrous, politically. Raising taxes or passing new ones comes next. They must raise the $125-130,000,000 difference between what the state will have and what it will need.

Gov. John Connally's special session opened on schedule June 4 in a storybook setting: The newly-elected Democratic nominee for governor, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, presided over the Senate, and the newly-elected Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, Speaker Ben Barnes, held the House controls.

Governor Connally spelled out basically this tax program: A one-per-cent raise in the state sales tax rate to three per cent with the bulk of the increase going to cities. Sales tax base would be extended to cover cigarettes, other tobacco products, and such services as haircuts and beauty treatments, laundry and dry cleaning, repairs, telephone and telegraph, and auto parking ($76,800,000). A $3,200,000 cut in taxes on the gross receipts of telephone companies was incorporated in his recommendations, same being more than offset by the inclusion of telephone service in the three per cent sales tax.

A boost in the auto sales tax rate to three per cent ($30,600,000).

Legalization of liquor-by-the-drink in small bottles, with each bottle individually taxed, and private clubs assessed a 10 per cent gross receipts tax ($14,500,000).

Transfer of $7,500,000 from the operators and chauffeurs license fund to the general fund spending pocket.

A realty transfer stamp tax ($1,000,000).

Initial reaction to the $127,200,000 package was generally cool or downright unfriendly, although many legislators were plainly waiting to see what the folks back home thought of it. Outlook was dimmest of all for the mini-bottle bill. Even many liquor-by-the-drink advocates didn't like it, but they admitted that from their standpoint it was better than nothing. Hearings on it were started this week by committees of both the House and the Senate.

Austin Report

By Hilary Doran, Jr.

The special session of the 60th Legislature opened at high noon on Tuesday, June 4th. Governor Connally addressed a joint session of the House and Senate approximately one hour after we were formally called to order. In his address, the Governor presented his recommendations for tax measures to raise approximately 129 million dollars which will be needed for the operation of our State agencies this next fiscal year. There were many reactions to his tax proposal from various legislators, many of them being unresponsive to the Governor's proposals. However, the majority of the legislators, like myself, are refraining from making any definite comments either favorable or unfavorable until we have had a chance to study and evaluate the Governor's proposals.

The remainder of the week was completely overshadowed by the tragic slaying of Senator Robert F. Kennedy in California. There is not much that I can add about my own personal feelings other than what has been said and felt by people across the nation.

Rambling Reflections
By Dr. R. F. Curl

Twelve days away from home make Ozona all the more attractive. The twelve days were scattered and crowded and bore all too much of the usual urban bustle and confusion.

The Methodists had a conference in Austin. Many former Ozona pastors asked me and I am sure also were asking the Harrels, who attended as lay representatives about the community and many different individuals. And every pastor I talked with had happy memories of his residence in this community.

Ozona residents can take pride in the contribution they made to the development of our Presiding Bishop O. Eugene Slater during his younger, formative years as he was pastor here. He creates confidence and stimulates co-operation in his conference sessions as he wisely guides the deliberations. This, he follows up, by careful diligent, and exact executive direction to all the work of the church throughout the year.

The big event of the Conference for Mrs. Curl and me was to be returned to the Ozona Methodist Church for another year. When we came here a year ago, the entire community gave us a cordial welcome that made us feel we had "come home." Throughout the year the community has made us feel we are "one of you."

We have really enjoyed a halcyon year and look forward to the next twelve months with keenest delight.

The cleanliness, the neatness, the decency, and the warm openness of Ozona make a unique community. I have never seen anywhere finer "give and take" than that which characterizes our community. To be able to give and to take and to work out our differences and across them to live together in genuine community is the basis and backbone of democracy. This I see in our community and rejoice.

I had three days in New York. It seems to me the old town gets dirtier and more grime and drab every time I see it.

And this time there was a pall of uncertainty, perplexity, and grief enveloping the city over the death of Senator Kennedy. While many of us disagreed with much of his political philosophy and policy, all of us would, I believe, have to agree that the common people loved him. This was manifest in his home town by the almost endless line that waited patiently for hours to enter the cathedral and just pass by his unopened casket. Were Lincoln correct in his statement that God must have loved the common people or he would not have made so many of them, then no higher praise can be bestowed on a man than to say common people loved him.

While in New York I was privileged for the first time to hear the new Roman Catholic Archbishop of that city, Francis E. Cooke, successor to Cardinal Spellman, as he spoke to an inter-faith luncheon. He makes a good impression by his urbane spirit and clear thinking. There is high significance in the fact that a ranking prelate of Catholicism appears before a Protestant group to

PLANNING A VACATION?—
Don't Forget Your Lawn!

Eighteenth Century French noblemen dismantled their furniture and brought it with them on vacation. Victorian families traveled with everything from steamer trunks to caged birds. Today we travel light and make a minimum of preparations for vacations. Modern homeowners lock the doors and windows, board the dog, stop newspaper delivery, and, if they are smart, prepare the lawn. Although the grass will still be there when they return, two weeks of total neglect can help wreck it.

To prevent vacationers from returning home to a parched and arid wasteland, Hartley Johnigan of Hartley's Corner Service offers the following suggestions:

First, make sure the lawn is healthy before you leave. The stronger the grass is, the better it will fare while you are away.

In order to accomplish this, Johnigan advises homeowners to fertilize a week or two before departure. Trim and edge around walks, driveways, shrub and flower beds. Remove all crabgrass and weeds. A day or two before leaving, mow the lawn and give it a thorough watering. Wet the soil to a minimum depth of 12 inches, so that the subsoil will be moist.

Precipitation data gathered address them as "dear brothers in Christ", and the event is so commonplace as not to be newsworthy. We Christians have gone a long way in accepting one another and can rejoice that the procession still continues.

But again it is good to be home. You know when you go to a Church meeting, it is all work and grind and no fun. Not a party or a social event but just the toil and moil of a ceaseless agenda which at times becomes deadly dull.

ed over a 30-year period by the Toro Manufacturing Corporation, world's leading producer of lawn care equipment, shows that no area in the United States and few in Canada receive enough rain during the hot summer months to keep a lawn healthy and green. But proper preparation of the lawn can protect it for at least a week and with luck and a little rain — for two weeks. The only sound way to have a self-sufficient lawn is to have an automatic underground sprinkler system installed. When properly installed by a professional these systems require little or no care. According to Mr. Johnigan, systems such as Toro's Moist O'Matic sprinklers can be set like a clock and programmed to deliver the exact amount of water the lawn needs.

Upon returning Johnigan suggests that homeowners repeat the deep irrigation process. If the lawn has grown excessively, do not attempt to cut it back to normal height in one clipping. It should be mowed frequently and reduced gradually over a period of a few weeks. This is particularly true if the temperature is high. It is also advisable to remove the clippings during this cutting-back period to prevent smothering the grass.

Mr. Johnigan feels that this is often a good time to make an application of organic nitrogen so that the lawn will have adequate nutrients to accelerate growth and recovery from any adverse conditions arising during the vacation period.

Depending, of course, on the time of year, it may be necessary to begin (or perhaps continue) an all-out program against crabgrass. Even if crabgrass was under control prior to vacation time, there is to be more germination and need for additional chemical treatment.

CHARACTER CREATES CREDIT

The common-sense view-point is that when people apply for credit they must expect to be investigated and furthermore, that credit is a PRIVILEGE and not a RIGHT.

The summer vacation season is upon us. A time when our minds and thoughts usually turn to far away places and changes. Changes in the weather—changes in our manner of living — changes in the type of clothing we have been wearing.

This is a time when we are glad to be able to use the privilege of charging the things that we need at this season of the year — whether it be clothes, lawn or garden supplies — or whatever it may be.

There is not, as yet, any constitutional right to good credit. That is something that only you, as an individual, can develop by paying your bills promptly.

CHARACTER CREATES CREDIT — PROMPT PAY MAINTAINS IT. It is as simple as that.

With the Junior Rodeo on tap for next weekend, things should pick up considerably. Since affiliation with AJRA has been severed, we may look forward to seeing more of our home town talent in the arena.

Saw something last weekend that must have been an original. It was a small car belonging to a couple of new-layeds and painted all over with push-button cake icing in every color the pranksters could buy.

in the VIP (multipay Clearfork oil and gas) field of Southwest Crockett County, 20 miles southwest of Ozona.

It was firmed for a calculated, absolute open flow of 350,000 cubic feet of dry gas per day through perforations at 2,301 to 2,651 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons and fractured with 40,000 gallons and 50,000 pounds of said.

Top of pay was picked at 2,312 feet on ground elevation of 2,312 feet.

Total depth is 2,900 feet, with 4 1/2-inch casing set at 2,894 feet; plugged-back depth, 2,870 feet.

Shell Oil Co. No. 2-37 Cowden, in 37-31-H&TC, assured 3/4-mile south extension to lower Leonard northeast of a recent dual 5,500 lower Wolfcamp oil pay opener and 1 1/4 mile south extension to lower Leonard oil production in the Tippet multipay field of Crockett County and nine miles south of McCamey, apparently has assured production as a second lower Clearfork gas producer extension to that pay in the same field.

Swabbed two hours through lower Clearfork perforations at 4,371-473 feet, it recovered 22 barrels of load water, and then flowed 12 hours on an 18-64-inch choke, making eight barrels of load water, plus gas at the rate of 402,000 cubic feet daily, with tubing pressure of 550 pounds.

Tested eight hours through an 18-64-inch choke and lower Leonard perforations at 4,636-46 feet, it made 12 barrels of new oil and one barrel of load water, with gas-oil ratio of 4,583-1. Tubing pressure was 280 pounds.

There are 88 barrels of load water remaining to recover from each zone. Forty-four barrels of new water have been produced from the Leonard zone.

The lower Clearfork gas opener, Gulf Oil Corp. No. 7-E Tippet, was firmed March 8 for a calculated, absolute open flow of 1,480,000 cubic feet of gas per day, with gas-liquid ratio of 184-200-1, through perforations at 4,502-504 feet. It was triply completed from the lower Leonard in the same field and as a 5,050-foot Wolfcamp oil opener in the Tippet, West multipay field.

Lamb Of Future Show Set In San Angelo June 21-24

A top flight program is in store for those planning to attend the "Lamb With a Future" show in San Angelo June 21-24. On June 1 over 36 groups of lambs had been entered for the show.

The show is based on requirements set down by the National Meat Type Lamb organizations and is designed to assist sheepmen to produce a more acceptable lamb for the market.

A symposium to be held at the conclusion of the show will feature Drs. F. A. Orts and Z. L. Carpenter of Texas A&M, Dr. Dale Zinn of Texas Tech, Dwight Koeing of Armour and Company in Chicago, Eddie Kimbrell of the USDA Consumer and Marketing Service in Washington, D. C. and James A. Gray, sheep and goat specialist with the Texas Extension Service. They will discuss the results of the show and give pointers on how to put the results to use in a selection program.

Visitors for the program will view lambs and weights before slaughter, afterward and in dressed condition.

The carcass show and evaluation workshop is one of many activities being held in Texas in conjunction with the state's wool and lamb month. It is sponsored by the lamb committee of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association. Roy Jacoby of Me-nard is committee chairman.
