Kitty's Korner

By Kitty Montgomery

The hysteria created by our most recent assassination has subsided somewhat and most of the nation's lawmakers are receiving thousands of letters and petitions daily asking them to vote against a national gun law.

Statistics show that there is no significant difference in crime rates between states that have fire-arms licensing laws and those that do not.

After giving the matter serious thought, the majority of Americans have come to realize that forcing registration of all guns would only penalize the law-abiding citizen and create a traffic in illegal firearms that would top the illicit sales of booze during the prohibition era. The proposed law would serve no purpose, save to tax the gun collector and sportsman and boost organized crime, creating an ideal atmosphere for a lucrative black market in guns.

The professional killer would also benefit by having access to gun registration lists. He would enjoy a big advantage in killing with a registered gun belonging to an innocent citizen. If Mr. Citizen had not noticed or reported the theft beforehand, he would most naturally be a prime suspect.

In these days of rising crime, our government should be concerned with arming the law-abiding citizen rather than taking the first step toward disarming the populace and really turning the criminal element loose in this nation.

Trying to stop political assassinations by outlawing guns is typical of the political element in this country that has no concern with facts. The fact is the killer had already violated a gun law. Aliens in California are forbidden to own a handgun, much less carry one around. But that law didn't stop him. Why would any other?

While the 4th of July was quiet downtown, the outskirts were jumping. The boys golf tournament, scheduled for Wednesday at the country club, was rained out. The result was the boys teed off with the women the morning of the fourth. Most were still on the course when the men took to the greens that afternoon and the fairways and greens had the appearance of a big ant hill. They all made it in finally, but it was way after dark for some. I'm glad I had the good sense to play bridge. I had toyed with the idea of entering the tournament, after playing a few holes with Jim a couple of weeks ago, but found out they didn't give trophies to the ones who had the biggest score. On the contrary, the one with the lowest score wins. What kind of a game is that?

Rainfall In First Half Of 1968 Averages Over 2 Inches Per Month

Ozona's rainfall average for the past 37 years is 18.11 inches per year. Last year's fall was under average with 13.69 for the entire year of 1967.

Indications point to an above average year for 1968, with over two inches of moisture falling monthly. January recorded 2.08 inches of rain, February, 1.12 inches; March 1.28 inches; April 2.60 inches; May, 3.06 inches; June 2.14 inches for a total of 12.28 inches of rain at the half year mark. The first two weeks in July 2.63 inches of rain fell to bring the yearly total to 14.81, only 3.30 inches short of the yearly average, and already more than the entire yearly total of last year.

Since the Stockman began compiling rainfall records 37 years ago, 1951 was the driest year on record with a year's total of 7.23 inches. The highest amount of rainfall came in 1941, when the total was 38.08 inches for the year.

The record rainfall for a month occurred in June of 1954, when 12.46 inches fell and Ozona suffered its most disastrous flood. During the flood 40 inches of rain fell in 36 hours on the Marshall Montgomery ranch south of Ozona. This heavy fall was reported to be the most rain to fall in the length of time ever recorded on any spot on the earth. After this heavy fall, only four inches fell in the second half of 1954 and a fall drought inflicted heavy losses on ranchers in the county.

During the past 37 years there were fifty months which recorded no rainfall at all and well over that which recorded less than .25 of an inch of rain.

So far this year, it has rained almost weekly since the first of January and only February and March recorded less than 2 inches of moisture.

No Injuries, No Damage In Mishap

There were no injuries and the only damage was a demolished guard post Tuesday morning around 9:30 in a wreck east of Ozona at the detour on Hwy 290.

Hortense Pinon of Mexico driving a 1962 Ford Falcon, tried to avoid a rock and ran off the edge of the detour and into about 2 feet of water. None of the passengers were injured and the car was not damaged, according to investigating officer Del Copeland.

LL All-Stars Begin Practice For Play-Off

The Ozona Little League All-Stars began practice Monday night with manager Byron Stuart, who managed the championship Flying W Ranchers Team, and coach Jamie Knox, manager of the B&B Grocers.

Stuart said he was short on outfielders and short-stops among the all-stars this year, but expected to have a good team whipped into shape before meeting the Sonora team here next Thursday night. With only a few days of practice, he said he had no idea what the starting line-up would be. He has an abundance of catchers and pitchers and more than likely will have to groom them for positions they have not played before.

However, he thinks with the material he has he will be able to get an inning team together and that playing on their home field will give the boys an advantage.

Game time is 8 o'clock next Thursday night. The winner of the first game will play the winner of the Midkiff-Big Lake all star game the following week.

WHAT PRICE BRIDGES?

Let's retrace some of those steps across the bridges of understanding with Moscow. President Roosevelt told his son, Elliott, that he liked Stalin. Truman once referred to him as "good old Joe." Eisenhower fraternized with Khrushchev in the spirit of Camp David, and the Soviet Premier declared publicly in Paris six months later that President Eisenhower "should have his head bashed against the wall like a cream-stealing cat." Early the next year, President Kennedy flew to Vienna to "negotiate" an understanding with Khrushchev. By October of the following year, he discovered that Mr. K's official representative had brazenly lied to him, and that missiles had been installed in Cuba, pointed at the United States.

Truman and Eisenhower negotiated in Korea — behind Communist lines, where the Communist press photographed the arrival of our negotiating team in jeeps flying white flags — and photographs were circulated throughout Asia claiming

We thought we were becoming shock-proof as crisis piled upon crisis and we concentrated on doing our daily chores as usual. Then we chanced upon a report of a speech delivered by Walter Knott, head of the famous Knott's Berry Farm in California; he was speaking to the Commonwealth Club of California, in San Francisco. Here is part of what he said — the shocking part:

"Mrs. Knott and I started as tenant farmers 46 years ago on a piece of land that had never raised enough to pay any income taxes or had never made employment for as many as 10 people. Today it furnishes employment for more than 1,000 and besides all the city taxes, county taxes, state taxes, franchise taxes, and sales taxes we are able to make enough to pay the federal government more than $1 million a year in income taxes. We felt we knew how to run the place and even... take a little pride in ownership.

"When the government agent moved into my office for six months I found out that we really did not own the place. We were running it for the government. This man looked into every aspect of our business, spoke to all our employees, and when he found one that was doing any anti-Communist work, any free enterprise work, such as making talks like I am making today, he told me to take them off the payroll. When I asked if I could not hire whom I pleased, he replied, 'Don't you know that you are in a

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

The U.S. Agency for International Development (AID) is collecting a unique file of marketing surveys written by U.S. businesses. Each report explores a possible foreign investment and every one concludes that the outlook is unfavorable.

AID is paying money for these ill-fated studies. It does not pay for successful ones; just the duds.

From this, it might appear that anyone could make a profit by grinding out marketing surveys on dubious enterprises . . . like selling snowshoes in Algeria, or automobiles in Venice, or computers in Borneo.

However, the agency must approve the project before it starts and pays just half the expenses incurred if the enterprise is dropped, so apparently there is no chance for profit. At most, it provides an opportunity for cheap travel.

The agency was established a few years ago to promote investment of U.S. capital in underdeveloped countries. More than 30 companies have collected under the Investment Survey Program and 31 others have made investments. Pan American World Airways, for example, recouped $20,000 on a study of a luxury hotel in Tunisia.

This unusual technique of encouraging investment abroad is doubly interesting in view of the Administration's new efforts to improve the unfavorable balance in international trade. While asking that citizens refrain from overseas travel, the President also indicated steps will be taken to discourage or prohibit U.S. businessmen from making foreign investments.

Does foreign investment of U.S. money constitute a negative factor in the balance of payments, as the President implied? And if so, why have we been so avidly encouraging it?

The Administration's own Economic Report of 1967 stated: "Over the years, the outflow of U.S. capital has made a major contribution to world economic growth . . . U.S. foreign investment also has yielded handsome returns to American investors and substantial investment income receipts for the balance of payments . . . U.S. investments abroad generates not only a flow of investment income but also additional U.S. exports. From a balance-of-payments standpoint this is an additional dividend."

Does the captain of our Ship of State know which way the wind is blowing?

And under the newest policy, what is to become of AID? Old Bureaus never die and they seldom fade away. Perhaps the bureaucrats at AID may be able to save their jobs by launching even more vigorous programs to promote an increasing number of futile market surveys.

Washington News Letter

Congressman O. C. Fisher

A busy three days in the House preceded the long July 4 holiday week-end. The School Lunch program was continued and expanded; the Federal - Aid Highway program was extended; a Natural Gas Pipeline Safety Act was approved; and two major appropriation measures were cleared — making adjournment in early August more likely.

Right now it appears unlikely that gun legislation will get anywhere in the Congress this year. Congressional authorities, including Carl Albert, Democratic leader of the House, are now saying that to require registration and licensing "would put a burden on the law-abiding citizen and would have no way of reaching the criminal who intends to use his gun for illegal purposes."

Many experts agree with me that mandatory registration would not make a dent in the crime rate. There are more than 100 million guns privately owned. The criminal element would not voluntarily register their guns. That's been the experience in States which require registration. Besides, police records reveal that most guns used in crime are stolen.

Since 1938 all gun dealers have been required to keep records of all sales and to whom sold. That's the law now. Mail orders of pistols are now prohibited, and police scrutiny is applied to all mail order movements of rifles and shotguns. The 1938 Federal Firearm Act, under which Rap Brown was convicted and received five years, covers a multitude of illegal uses of guns. But there has been only token enforcement.

Some improvements to prevent sales of guns to children, the mentally ill, dope addicts, and criminals, can do some good, without interfering with the right of the law-abiding to continue to purchase guns from dealers, and use them in any legal way desired.

The big need at this time is for more vigorous enforcement of laws we already have — particularly with respect to those who use guns for illegal purposes.

THE AMATEUR HOBBO

Answer to crisis: Run away from home!
Run away from love to a world where hate often prevails. Run away from understanding to a city that seldom understands. Run from tomorrow's hopes into a desolate and hopeless today. Sure, Son, there's something wrong at home — something more spiritual than physical would be our guess!
To live as a family we need foundation—something firm and sure—to be confident of when nothing is going our way. To live as a family we need meaning in our relationships; meaning that cannot be eclipsed by the emotions of the moment.

When church bells ring on Sunday morning, they are calling families to worship! Faith is the foundation of love, and understanding and hope. The teachings of Christ give deeper meaning to all relationships.
Can't guarantee you won't get a lickin' for running away. Can't guarantee you won't feel like running away again sometime.
But can guarantee this: When there's the religious foundation and meaning we're talking about, any crisis can be seen in clearer perspective . . . and solved more sensibly.

Rambling Reflections
By Dr. R. F. Curl

Some weeks ago I was eating in John Held's Hi-Way Cafe, where, by the way, I always find both food and service excellent, when I saw a young couple with a child eating at a nearby table. Seeing that they were not established residents I went over to give a friendly greeting.

They proved to be temporary residents for a month or six weeks with a seismograph crew. Naturally I asked how they were liking Ozona and they replied with genuine enthusiasm for the cleanliness, neatness, attractiveness, and friendliness of our community.

But the wife then remarked that of all the places they had lived we seemed to have the most peculiar weather with hot days, unseasonably cool days, two heavy hails, and more rain than she had expected.

I answered by saying that I knew old-timers who had lived here for fifty years and more who would agree with her that we were having peculiar weather.

Certainly we have been fortunate to have had such good rains for so long a time, such an extended Spring season, and all the consequent blessings of water and forage for stock. And it just keeps up.

Folks ought really to be grateful for such provisional blessings, which if they continue for the next two months, mean we can enter the winter season assured of ranch prosperity.

Adults who invest their talents in serving children and youth become the benefactors of both the present and future. We are fortunate in having in Ozona very capable persons who take out of their heavy, time-demanding schedules necessary time to work with the very fine young people for this community.

I wish to mention two recent illustrations. Not long ago Chick Womack took a group of boys from Boy Scout Troop No. 153, where Garland Young is Scoutmaster, to Camp Sol Mayer. In the group were Steve Wilkins, Chris Reeves, Rick Hunnicutt, Dan Davidson, Chuck Womack, Stanley Flanagan, Dennis Hester, Gerald Olson, and Rodney Walker. These boys earned forty-three merit badges to bring credit on themselves and their leader.

On July 6th Charlie Edgerton, Associate Advisor of Explorer Post No. 148, where Kent Johnston is Advisor, left with Tom Davidson, Cuatro Davidson, Freddie Deaton, Bobby Mayfield, Wesley Key, Chuck Womack, Bill Edgerton, and Monty Pelto for Charles L. Sommers Canal Base in Minnesota. From this base they will canoe in the vast stretches of Quetico National Park in Canada in the land of 10,000 Lakes for ten days as they camp and live together.

Service such as that rendered by these adults is Christian service and can be an effective witness of untold import.

Our community is proud of these boys and their leaders including not only those mentioned but others who contribute in other ways to the success of services rendered to youth.

Kitty Montgomery is more often right than wrong in her musings. Recently she was half right and half wrong. She was right in suggesting that it would be well if Jim Hancock would preach in the Park on Sunday nights while I led the singing. The idea is half good because Jim can preach and I can't sing. I pray the good Lord to give me a strong and true bass for the heavenly choir but I don't expect it this side the pearly gate.

Seriously, though, community Sunday night services used to be held in the Park. They would be a good idea for 1969 with all churches on both sides the draw, who wished to do so, participating. I pass the idea on to Jim who is President of the Ozona Minister's group, for implementation.

PRIVILEGES WE ENJOY

It would be hard to enumerate all of the privileges we enjoy as Americans — but there is one that certainly plays an important part in our way of life:

This is the privilege of CREDIT.

How many things would we have to do without if we were required to pay "cash in full" with each purchase?

When we consider this possibility, we are made to realize how important it is that we keep or maintain this privilege of saying "charge it."

Yesterday was the 10th of the month — the day generally recognized by our local merchants for the paying of current purchases made the previous month.

Have you kept your part of this obligation to pay on time or as agreed?

Let us guard our credit record as a sacred trust. There is nothing that can take its place — not even money.

Austin Report

By Hilary Doran, Jr.

The first called session of the 60th Legislature adjourned sine die at 12:45 p. m. on Wednesday, July 3.

The mini-bottle bill advocated by the Governor went down in defeat in the Senate and the general feeling among members of the Legislature was one of relief since this bill had been amended so many times and in such a manner that it was probably the sorriest piece of legislation that could have been foisted on the people of Texas.

There was one bill that did pass that, in my opinion, is a good bill and one that I supported. This was House Bill 16 which makes the carrying of guns, knives and other weapons by a person other than a commissioned peace officer into a place where alcoholic beverages are served for on-premises consumption a felony. In my opinion, this bill will discourage and reduce the number of murders that are committed each year in Texas because of a hot afternoon, a pint of whiskey and Southern pride.

A tax bill was passed which will increase the State sales tax by one cent effective October 1, 1968. This bill carries out my predictions of last week that instead of affecting a savings of $50 million, it will increase the tax burden on the people of this State by approximately $50 million. In other words, it missed the predicted mark by a total of $100 million.

The appropriations bill was an example of no economy in government and I left that it should be reduced by many millions of dollars.

This special session should point out to the people of Texas that annual sessions are not desirable and one-year appropriations are doubly costly to the taxpayers.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

Austin, Texas — When the special session of the 60th Legislature called it quits and went home, its accomplishments seemed scant — from a cold statistical point of view.

During the 30 days of the session called by Gov. John Connally, the 150 House members introduced 32 bills, and the 31 senators kicked in 30. When all was said and done, only five House bills and no Senate bills were passed.

However, two of those House bills were the reasons Connally called the session in the first place. So their passage within the allotted 30 days gave an appearance of success to the session.

One, of course, was the bill making state appropriations for the fiscal year beginning September 1, and the other was the tax bill to raise the money to pay for all those appropriations.

Texas taxpayers will start feeling the bite October 1 when the one-cent increase in the state sales tax, the one-cent increase in the motor-vehicle sales tax and the 50-cent-per-$1,000 increase in the franchise tax go into effect.

Only other thing of substance that the two houses agreed on was creation of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Physical Fitness. This was done by resolution.

Each house did create interim committees to study certain problems and report back to the next Legislature.

Senate set up a committee "to study the problem of locating and securing more land which could be set aside for parks and recreational purposes, the better utilization of existing parks and development of existing parks to accommodate more visitors."

House created interim committees to study the Texas Election Code, the financial relationship between permittees and licensees under the Liquor Control Act and the need for laws on organ transplantation.

Also, the lower chamber set up a Natural Fiber Study Committee and a Family Law Study Committee and asked the University of Texas Graduate School of Business to study the possible creation of a Texas Stock Exchange. Sales-Tax Schedule — When the new increase in the state sales tax goes into effect on October 1, shoppers in cities which have adopted the city sales tax will begin paying the first of the four pennies when they spend their first 13 cents.

Tax applicable to city-sales - tax - covered sales: From 1 cent to 12 cents, no tax; 13 cents to 37 cents, one penny; 38 cents to 62 cents, two pennies; 63 cents to 86 cents, three pennies; and 87 cents to $1.12, four pennies.

Shoppers in areas where there is no city sales tax are facing this schedule: 1 cent to 16 cents, no tax; 17 cents to 49 cents, one penny; 50 cents to 83 cents, two pennies; and 84 cents to $1.16, three pennies.

However, the Legislature did kick in a few more exceptions. One exempts sales through a coin-operated vending machine when each sale is for 16 cents or less, and another will exempt shipping charges when they are figured separately from the price of the commodities.

A third will exempt machinery used exclusively on ranches in the building or maintaining of roads and water facilities, and exempted from the new third state penny will be sales resulting from a written contract entered into before October 1.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lee Henderson, Jr., had as guests over the Fourth of July holiday week-end, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Horne and children, Kathy and Paul, from San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Downing of Odessa, and Joe Bailey of Midland.

the past week include dialing the first two numbers of a local number, then getting a busy signal; dialing and having a ring at the other end which sounds perfectly normal, only to find out that that particular telephone has been out of order for several days, and last but not most peculiar is carrying on a conversation and suddenly its a four-way conversation, somehow two more people are chatting away right in your ear. Then too, there's that waiting to get the dial tone after a long distance call, makes me think they are charging me for all that extra time.
